AMA'S 10-POINT MEDICAL PROGRAM

Health care—not only for the elderly, but for the population as a whole—has become a much debated issue in this country. It has become a political as well as social and economic problem. And, as is the inevitable case with all such controversies, some of the debate generates a great deal more heat than light.

A positive contribution has now been made by the American Medical Association, in the form of a 10-point program. The program was described in a recent address by the AMA's president, Dr. E. Vincent Askey. He prefaced it by saying that the medical profession pledges to the American people its "continued dedication to provide the finest health and medical care ever offered in history." In summary, the program goes like this:

1. Help to the Needy and Near-Needy. The AMA supports a federal-state matching program of funds for financing the full medical care of the aged in these categories. It urges quick and full implementation of the Kerr-Mills law, which was passed by Congress last year, as the logical first step.
2. Health of the Aged. The majority of elderly Americans are well, and the program is designed to keep them that way. Stress is laid on preventive medicine. AMA also supports flexible, non-compulsory retirement programs, good housing, sound nutrition, periodical health examinations, and other aids to healthful and prolonged life.
3. Voluntary Health Insurance and Prepayment. The AMA is working with the health insurance agencies and others to accelerate progress. Aims are to increase the number of persons covered, and to broaden both the extent and adequacy of coverage.
4. Cost of Medical Care. This is now under exhaustive study, with three basic committees working on various phases of the problem.
5. Physician Supply. The AMA states that it is intensely concerned over the supply of the physicians to care for our expanding population. It is carrying on a medical recruitment program, designed to lure talented students into medical careers and to provide scholarships and loans. It also urges the expansion of existing medical schools and the creation of new ones.
6. Mental Health. Next winter the first National Congress on Mental Health will be held. Authorities and interested personnel from every aspect of American life will join together in a vigorous effort to combat mental illness.

7. Research and Continuing Education. The AMA will play an extremely active role in encouraging basic and long-range research in the medical sciences. As an example, an extensive campaign has been launched to mobilize the medical fraternity, hospitals and state health departments in a nationwide program to reduce infant mortality and morbidity. It is hoped that deaths and disorders of babies may be reduced by 25 to 50 per cent in the next decade.

The next two points in the program deal with Health and Safety Education, and with International Health. The final one has to do with the Preservation of Freedom of Patients and Physicians. As part of it, the AMA will intensify its efforts to guarantee that every person receives good medical care, no matter where he lives, and regardless of his ability to pay. County and state medical societies are urged to make this policy known to all Americans.

Dr. Askey, in his conclusion, made it clear that this 10-point program isn't just a blueprint. All of the projects are either already started or will be launched shortly. They will be developed with speed and firmness. In his words: "We assure the people, on our integrity as physicians and scientists, that their faith in American medicine will be rewarded a hundred fold. We shall equip them with something that no politician can provide—good health, freedom from disease and misery."

BENNINGTON, VT., BANNER: "We are witnessing a mushrooming attitude that what local governments will not or cannot provide must be done by the central government. Hence, if some legislator in Washington decides that every Vermont school should have a swimming pool and taxpayers won't tax themselves for such purposes, then, by gosh, Washington will endorse the plan and provide the money (or at least a share of it) and soak the taxpayers from on high for the 'improvement!'"

According to the Tax Foundation, government spending, federal, state and local, will break all records this year for an estimated total of $161 billion, an increase of $8 billion over last year. That works out to $2,850 for every family in this country.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

A few days ago I heard a preacher state on television that the Bible contained many contradictions. He cited as an example the "apparent inconsistency" in God permitting, even endorsing the taking of life under the Old Testament and the condemning of such a practice under the New Covenant. "Someone was wrong," stated this preacher.

Few things have shocked me more than this bold assertion. I am persuaded that such unfortunate statements can only produce infidelity.

To discredit even a portion is to void all of God's Word. The New Testament sustains the inspiration of the Old Testament in no uncertain terms. Therefore, to deny the validity of the Jewish scriptures is to reject the divine inspiration of the New Testament. Hear the apostle Peter! "For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." (II Peter 1:21). This verse does not harmonize with the statement that "someone was wrong."

Hear the apostle Paul "All scripture is given by inspiration of God . . ." (II Tim. 3:16). Context reveals that Paul has specific reference to the Jewish scripture, or the Old Testament as the New Testament was not yet written in its entirety. And yet this preachers says that this scripture, which is "given by inspiration of God," contains errors.

I pray that none will be led astray by the error taught by this individual. I trust that you will honor and respect the word of God as revealed in the Bible.

TEXAS EGG OUTLOOK

As National Egg Month nears its close with the end of March, various indications are that egg prices may show a slight downward trend during the last two quarters of 1961 in comparison with the first two quarters of the year.

This is because of the anticipated larger hatch of replacement chicks and a monthly egg production after the middle of 1961 that will exceed the output of the same period in 1960.

These expectations of larger egg production during the last half of 1961 may have effect in a downward influence on egg prices even before the increased production actually develops. This would come from the effect on storage demand during the spring of 1961. If spring egg prices continue at a level discouraging to storage, the slack in strong storage demand would tend to weaken prices sooner than otherwise might be expected.

Using the month of October, 1960, as an example, figures show that hatcheries in Texas produced 1,451,000 egg-type chicks in that month. This was 22 per cent above the same month in 1959. At the same time, national production of egg-type chicks during October, 1960 increased 13 per cent above the hatch in October, 1959.

The number of layers on farms in Texas during October, 1960 was about the same as in October, 1959. Because of the marked upward movement in the number of egg-type chicks hatched, there is little doubt that by October, 1961 the number of layers in Texas will be larger than for the same month in either 1959 or 1960. Obviously, monthly egg production in Texas during the last months of 1961 will be larger than a year earlier.

However, the demand for eggs in 1961, while fairly encouraging, is not likely to keep pace with the increase in production even through the price of eggs remains relatively low in comparison with many other foods. The per capita consumption of eggs, unfortunately, has been declining for several years. Indications are that this trend is likely to continue and some experts predict that the per capita consumption in 1961 will be about six per cent below that of a year earlier. Even so, 1961 got under way with egg prices at a level relatively favorable to producers in Texas and elsewhere in the U. S.

It is certain that egg producers in Texas will continue to face strong competition from other areas of production in the rest of the country. To compete successfully, Texas farmers will

Back in the mid-1920's, when I was an Eastland County editor, one could see jogging along a road a horse and buggy. The elderly driver would stop at a farmhouse to see if the family didn't want to have a photograph made. If so, he brought forth an ancient camera complete with tripod and black cloth. The man was John S. Blount of Crisco, one of the last of the old-time traveling photographers.

More than 60 years before that time, in the vast, unpeopled spaces of West Texas, a lone horseman saw an Indian pony. Although he knew that the animal had wandered from a camp of redskins and that the warriors were not far away, the temptation to possess the wiry mustang was too great and he started to rope the animal.

But at that instant he heard a heart-chilling war whoop and, glancing over his shoulder, he saw a party of Indians galloping toward him, the leader not fifty yards away. As the white man began his race for life, he heard the whistle of an arrow and felt a sting in his foot. Urging his horse to its swiftest pace, he dashed over the ground, the redskins strung out in a long line, single file.

A mile away stood twin mountains and his hope was that he could reach the valley—and that there he would find the cowpunchers led by Tom Hart, for whom he was working. His horse swept through the opening between the emountains but the rider's heart sank as he saw no sign of his friends. Still urging his steed to its utmost, the pursued man had proceeded several hundred yards when he heard the crack of a rifle and then a volley. All unwittingly, he had led the Comanches into an ambush!

Tom Hart had seen the Indians pursuing him but instead of rushing to the rescue, Hart had concealed his men in the tall grass and dense undergrowth; then when the last savage had entered the defile, the Texans poured a fire so deadly that not a redskin was left alive. The rider was Blount and when he was well past the mark of three score years and ten, he sat on the porch of his little home and enthralled the young Eastland editor with episodes from a life bristling with adventure and hair-breadth escapades. He was a lad of 17 when the event just described took place, southwest of Jacksboro. Then he told of the deceiving of another force of Indians, his participation in this instance being intentional.

"We saw the war party, posted ourselves, then one of the boys rode out to where the savages could see him and they gave chase. He led them into the canyon. Well, sir, if you visited that canyon today and looked around, you would probably find about forty skeletons."

RETURN HOME FROM CALIFORNIA VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAfee returned home on Wednesday of last week from a five weeks vacation in California. In Los Angeles they visited with their children, Miss Polly McAfee, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McAfee and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McLeond and family and in Deluda with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gaines. They also visited many other places of interest.

They attended the funeral of their nephew, Reginald Gaines in Dinuba on February 22. Reginald was a Marine biologist for the government and was working in the Palua Islands when he died suddenly of a heart attack. Other than the tragedy that occurred Mr. and Mrs. McAfee reported a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips Celebrates 85th Birthday Sunday

Mrs. Tom Phillips, lovingly known as "Aunt Darcus," celebrated her 85th birthday Sunday, March 26, 1961, at her home in Munday with all her children present as well as a number of other relatives and close friends.

Not only was she 85 but she had two birthday cakes to prove it. Her two daughters, Nina Johnson and Estelle Morrison, presented her with one bearing the inscription "Happy Birthday Mother on your 85th." The other was presented by Mrs. Lillie Green, Mrs. Coy Tuggle and Mrs. Cecil Gulley and bore the inscription "Happy Birthday Auntie."

"Aunt Darcus" was also strutting a lovely orchid which her great grandson, Carl Evans, gave her. Mrs. J. C. Campbell and her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Allen, of Amarillo gave her a beautiful bouquet of white and pink gladioli which served as the centerpiece for the table covered with a white linen outwork cloth. A crystal punch bowl and cups and the two cakes completed the table decorations.

Present to help her celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Woods of Harrah, Okla.; Mrs. Ross Johnson of Lawton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Horne of Wynnewood, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Horne of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Evans and son of Irving; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Johnson and family of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson and Jack of Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Morrison of Faxon, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Ous Phillips of Dora, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coffman of Goree, Mrs. Clinton Allen of Amarillo and the following from Munday: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Leflar and family, Mrs. Coy Tuggle, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gulley, Rhessa Reddell, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Phillips, Miss Helen Phillips, Mrs. J. C. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, Mrs. Lillie Green, Mrs. John Bowden, Mrs. Ellie Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hobert, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burnison, Mrs. Emma Mayo and Mrs. Jim Phillips.

The honoree received many nice gifts and as she said "I was the happiest one there and will be looking forward to another birthday celebration next year."

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Harper of Goldthwaite visited last Sunday and Monday with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Harper and children.

Band Boosters To Meet On Monday

The Band Booster Club will meet Monday night, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

At this meeting there will be a discussion on taking the band on a trip to Crayterville Park in Oklahoma so all members are urged to attend.

Buy-points for frozen foods. Look for frozen foods which are stored in cabinets that are clean and orderly. Temperature indicators should show zero degree Fahrenheit or below.

Choose packages that are clean, in good condition and that are frozen hard. Frost or ice crystals inside or outside the package may indicate that the temperature is not low enough or has fluctuated in the frozen food cabinet. (Fish may be frozen with an overglaze of ice.)

Buy only the quantity you can use within a few days or can store at zero degree f. or below.

Ask for insulated bags in the store for use in keeping food frozen while transporting it home. Take the food home and store it as promptly as possible.

Store commercially frozen foods in their original packages. Self-service packaged fresh foods should be rewrapped in moisture proof and odor proof wrappings.

Mrs. Ky Hunter and Mrs. Alton Hunter and children, Tim and Tammy, of Iowa Park visited here over the week end. Mrs. Ky Hunter visited with her mother, Mrs. F. T. Jarvis and Mrs. Alton Hunter and children visited

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Jack Moore, Knox County Agent

4-H CONTESTS

Knox County held their eliminations contest last week for some of the district contests to be held May 6. The contests held were in the Electric, Soil and Water Conservation, Dairy Foods, Team and Individual, Vegetable Team and the Safety contests. Not all of the contest results are available because there must be a record book contest in connection with some of the final placings.

Frances Reneau and Clyde Burnett of the Sunset 4H Club placed first in the Electric contest, while Sharon Burgess and Janis Cook from Gilliland 4H Club placed first in the Soil and Water Conservation contest. The safety contest had both junior and senior teams and the first place junior winners were Anita Bartos and Loretta Burgess of Gilliland and the Sr. winner was Mary Nell Miller and Norma Jo Naveratill of Gilliland.

Winner of the Dairy Foods individual contest was Dorothy Edrington of Rhineland and the winner of the Vegetable Food demonstration was Jeanette Brazell and Shirley Richards on the Munday 4H Club. There were a total of 26 entries in the 7 contests. Winners of the Dairy Foods teams are not available until the record book judging has been completed.

4H club members giving these top teams stiff competition were: Beth Hargrove, Jennie Hynes,

FIELD DAY SET AT TEXAS EXPERIMENTAL RANCH

Local ranchmen, farmers and businessmen are invited to attend a special field day at the Texas Experimental Ranch on Monday, April 10, according to Jack Moore, Knox County Agent. The ranch is located 10 miles north of Throckmorton on U. S. Highways 183 and 283.

Guided tours of the pastures will begin at 9:00 a.m., followed by a barbecued beef lunch at 11:30 a.m. The first 100 visitors from counties other than Throckmorton and Baylor will be given free lunch tickets by the Throckmorton and Seymour Chambers of Commerce, the agent said. Tickets will be available to others at $1.25 each. P. T. Marion, Supt. Texas Ag. Experiment Station, Spur, will preside at the afternoon session.

The featured speaker will be Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dean of the School of Ag. at Texas A&M College, who will discuss research and educational needs for modern ranching. Results of grazing studies at the ranch will be presented by Project Leader W. J. Waldrip, followed by a report from the Texas Experimental Ranch Committee given by Chairman John Matthews of Abilene. Other timely topics will include, "Use of Records for Beef Cattle Selection," by Dr. O. D. Butler, Head of Dept. of Animal Husbandry, A&M, and a talk on brush control.

FEED LAW

Many of the farmers and ranchers have been asking questions on the new feed law that has been passed. At the present time there is not much that anyone of local level can say. It is expected that in the next few weeks that a state and local interpretation of the law will be made. At the present time we do know that a farmer must reduce acreage by 20% to comply.

According to present information as applied to grain sorghum, this is not to be a plow up program and a farmer cannot become eligible under the law if he plows up after the initial measurement has been made.

Mrs. Mary Welch and her daughter, Mrs. London Walling, and children visited with their daughter and sister in Colorado City over the week end.

Jim Wright U. S. Senator

Congressman Jim Wright

Candidate For U. S. Senate

A number of Knox County Democrats are working hard toward electing Jim Wright Senator from Texas to fill the vacancy left by Lyndon B. Johnson when he became Vice President.

Four times elected congressman from the 42nd District (Tarrant County) Wright has an admirable history of public service. Born in Fort Worth, he was educated in Weatherford College and the University of Texas. An Air Force veteran of World War II, he is a former state legislator and former mayor of Weatherford.

Veteran lawmakers of both parties are impressed with the widespread respect and effectiveness Wright has achieved on the Washington scene in the short time he has been there.

Wright's efforts to pass legislation to carry out major economy proposals of the Hoover Commission were highly lauded by newspapers all over the land but particularly by Texas newspaper editors.

Considered an independent thinker, constructs moderate Wright is one of the leading contenders for the Senate position. He is an elder in the Presbyterian Church and is teacher of the couples class in Washington's historic New York Avenue Presbyterian Church and a frequent contributor to Christian periodicals.

He and his wife, Mab, have four children.

Wright's remarkable record of better than 90% attendance for all roll call votes, which is evidence of his attention to taxpayers interests in the Capitol.

SUNDAY BEST—Jacqueline Schulten, 1960 Little Miss Cotton, wears this gold cotton broadcloth dress for Sunday best or dress-up school affairs. Fancy embroidery decorates the skirt, while lace edging on the bodice of this Petite Fleur fashion gives a bolero effect.

Farm Storage Loan Program Modified

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has taken action to modify down-payment provisions of the farm storage facility loan program, reports the USDA. Purpose of the measure, which the President called for in his message to Congress on farm program proposals, is to encourage storage of grain on farms and strengthen economic activity in farming areas.

The new provisions will enable farmers to borrow up to 95 percent of the outlay for farm storage facilities which cost 40 cents per bushel or less to build. Previously, loans on these types of structures were limited to 80 percent of the cost.

For facilities costing more than 40 cents per bushel, farmers may borrow up to 40 cents per bushel or 80 percent of the cost whichever is greater, but not more than 50 cents per bushel of capacity.

These loans are made at 4 percent interest and run for five years from the time the loan is taken out. They may be repaid in four annual installments, with the first installment due on the first anniversary of the loan. Since the program started in 1949, 135,991 loans totaling approximately 149,196,000 have been made for storage facilities with a total capacity of about 546,380,000 bushels. Loans outstanding at the end of January amounted to $43,799,000, with $105,399,000 loaned to farmers having been repaid.

According to the USDA, approximately $40 million will be spent by farmers for storage facilities under the broadened program. This will give added stimulus to the general economy because of the increased demand for steel, wood and other building materials.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cowan visited their son and family, Mr. and Harry Cowan and sons in Denison over the week end.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tuggle were Mrs. Evelyn Malmos of Seymour, Mrs. Henry Bell and children, Charles Elliott and his fiancée, Miss Becky Cope, and Billy Frank Fitzgerald all of Abilene.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Despite what most people think, venereal diseases are not a thing of the past. Case rates over the entire nation are showing a decided increase.

In keeping with the national trend, Texas State Department of Health statistical records show that there has been an overall increase of 93 percent in primary and secondary syphilis for 1960 compared to 1959 in Texas.

"That is sufficient reason for concern," a State Health Department official recently declared, "but it pales in comparison to the concern we feel about the 112 percent increase among youngsters under 19 years of age."

Gonorrhea statistics have indicated similar increases.

Improved epidemiological techniques which rapidly uncover more cases of venereal diseases, may be partial reason for the rise in statistics concerning the diseases.

"Epidemiologists" are highly trained disease investigators.

These investigators thoroughly scrutinize each link in chains of infection to insure that all persons in need of examination are placed under medical observation.

Investigation is aimed at persons who are the original source of infection as well as persons to whom the patient may have spread the infection. This service is made available through local health departments to public clinics and private physicians.

Today, State Health Department epidemiologists use long-distance telephone calls, enabling speedy intercity—even interstate—communication, via telephone, to trace down elusive cases which may move from area to area.

The lightning-fast results obtained from telephone calls, permit locating and curing infectious cases before further spread of the disease.

Increased epidemiological and educational efforts, especially among teenagers, is urged by State Health Department authorities.

One pamphlet—What Everyone Should Know About Syphilis and Gonorrhea — was recently made available by the Texas State Department of Health.

Schools, P. T. A. groups and other organizations may obtain copies on request from their local health department or the State Health Department in Austin.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Up In Arms Over The Idea That The Farmers Are Writing Their Own Farm Program

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is upset this week, but he'll probably get over it.

Dear editor:
I have seen some strange and hard-to-believe things come out of Washington in my time, but the one I have now found out about has bowled me over. That is, it would have if I hadn't been sitting down already at the time. These days, a man has to be in a position to handle any new idea, and the best position I know is sitting.

At any rate, as I understand it, and I checked it in three different papers, even went into town and paid money for two of them, Washington has come out with the proposal that the farmers themselves figure out the answer to the farm problem.

"Let the farmers themselves write their own farm program," is the way the idea goes, and I don't mind admitting I'm in a state of shock.

Up to the present, one of the real and I thought enduring satisfactions of farming was the realization you could always explain away an unsuccessful year by saying: "What did you expect me to make, under the farm program we got? Them birds that write the farm programs don't know anything about farming. We haven't got a chance."

But now some smart alec has fed the President the idea that the farmers themselves ought to write their own farm program, and I'm calling on you right now to help put a stop to it. It's the most outrageous thing I ever heard of.

You don't hear doctors asking patients to do their own diagnosing and write their own prescriptions, do you? You don't hear bankers asking their customers to set their own interest rate and borrowing limit, do you?

You let the government turn the farm program over to the farmers, and farmers then wind up in the same shape they're in now, and who're we going to point our finger at?

No sir, it's the government's job to figure out the farm problem solution. If us farmers could have figured it out, we'd have done it long ago. The tried and true method is for the farmers to create the problem, and some-

Arizona Quail Now Released In Black Gap Area

A shipment of 419 Gambel's quail from Arizona has been released on the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area in West Texas. This has been announced by E. A. Walker, director of wildlife management of the Game and Fish Commission.

These quail were obtained from the Arizona Commission on a trade. Texas provided 40 turkeys from the King Ranch in exchange. The Gambel's quail is found in West Texas along the Rio Grande, and for short distances up its tributaries, and mostly in the El Paso Valley area. This is an attempt to get a better distribution of the birds further south, and in an area where they can be protected.

Previously, chukars from Nevada have been released on the area. They were obtained in a trade with Nevada, in which Texas had supplied trapped javelinas.

Another release on the Black Gap Area is the desert bighorns trapped in Kofa Range of Arizona. Through a joint program with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Arizona Game and Fish Commission, and the

New Education And Scholarship Program

The American Legion's educational handbook, "Need a Lift?" containing hundreds of college and vocational school scholarships for qualified high school students of this area has been presented to Munday High School and Munday Public Library by Lowry Post No. 44 of the American Legion.

This revised publication for the 1960-61 school year is recognized as one of the most complete sources of career and scholarship information in the United States. The handbook does not limit its listings to children of Veterans but contains scholarship and education aids which are available to all students.

John L. Phillips, Commander of the American Legion, stated that thousands of young people have not taken advantage of the generous educational aids which are available due to a failure to plan early for their future education.

He mentioned in particular the Junior GI Bill which provides up to $110.00 per month in educational help for sons and daughters of veterans who lost their lives as a direct result of war-time military service. Over half of the young people eligible for this help have failed to apply, Mr. Phillips said.

Experience has proven that plans for higher education should begin during the student's sophomore year in high school. "The boy or girl who starts considering career and scholarship sources early is the one with the best chance of going on to school," he said.

Parents and students are encouraged to make use of the copies of "Need A Lift?", provided as a service to the community. The publication, prepared by the Education and Scholarship Committee of The American Legion in Indianapolis, is now in its tenth edition with distribution of more than a quarter of a million copies since its first issue in 1951.
