

MUNDAY PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSE SUCCESSFUL TERM WITH 23 FINISHING WORK

The final chapter of the 1929-30 school term has been written, the commencement exercises having been held at the community auditorium on Monday evening, at which time diplomas were given to twenty-three students who have completed the courses, and whose names were published in our last week's issue. However, we would add that special awards were announced on Monday evening by Supt. Rhodes as follows: Highest average grades in high school were made by Ruth Womble for the girls and by Earl Newsum for the boys, and each were awarded scholarships in Texas Technological College, John Tarleton and Southern Methodist university, and other scholarships are expected to be tendered to these youngsters by other institutions of learning, as is their custom. The cup for the best all-round student in high school was awarded to Hazel Dean Elland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Elland.

The address at the commencement exercises was delivered by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, dean of the students at Simmons university, and was heard by a large and attentive audience, and this as well as other numbers throughout the commencement season was thoroughly enjoyable.

The baccalaureate address was made on Sunday morning at the community auditorium by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, and the large auditorium was comfortably filled at this service. The cap and gown ceremony was carried out by the graduating class in all their programs.

Grammar School Graduates. There were twenty-nine students to graduate from the Grammar school, and the exercises for this event were held on Saturday evening, at which time the Rev. H. E. Whately, pastor of the Baptist church at Haskell, delivered the address, following which certificates were awarded to the following students: Lily Albertson, Opal Armstrong, Virginia Bess Atkinson, Albert Aycock, Ralph Blanton, B. B. Bowden, Inez Campbell, Hazel Clough, Ida Dean Guffey, Billie True Hill, Rosalind Houser, Jerry Kethley, Myrtle McNeill, Bessie Sue Munday, Irene Newsum, Docia Phillips, Willa Mae Price, Buddy Rayburn, Bonnie Scott, Arthur Smith, Jr., Jessie Mae Webb, Jack Williams, Loy Patterson, Lillian Henderson, Jeff Henderson, Cleve Hogue, Irene Little, Earl Nichols and Mack Vassar.

Myrtle McNeill, with a general average of 93 5-8, was valedictorian of the class, while Jerry Kethley, with an average grade of 88 3-8 was salutatorian.

Munday Quartette Will Give Radio Program On Radio

Munday radio fans will want to tune in Saturday night with KGKO, Wichita Falls, and hear the famous Munday quartette, composed of Elkin Warren, Cleophas Harrison, Eugene Montandon and Roy Warren, who will be on the air from 10 to 10:30. They will be accompanied to Wichita by U. R. Houser, local agent for the Orient Oil Company, who is sponsoring the program, and by Mrs. Louise Ingram, piano accompanist.

Miniature Golf Links; Something New For Munday

A miniature golf course is being installed in Munday on the lots on the north-east corner of the square by R. L. Ballenger, and will be open to the public within the next few days. Those who play golf will especially enjoy playing this game, and in doing so will get some good practice that will help them lower their score on the regular golf course.

These miniature courses are being installed in a number of towns over the country and are proving a most interesting and enjoyable game. The course will be well lighted and the game can be played at night, affording many an opportunity to play who cannot get away to play during the day.

Mrs. W. J. Mayhew Has Operation At Temple Hospital

The Times is in receipt of a letter from the Rev. W. J. Mayhew at Temple, stating that Mrs. Mayhew underwent a serious operation there Saturday, but was resting well and on the road to recovery, however, he stated that it would be at least two weeks before she would recover sufficiently to be brought home.

THINKING OUT LOUD

BY J. A. K.

The cyclops of this column believes in honesty. He believes that honesty is the best policy, even in golf, and with a view of upholding these lofty ideals, we wish to say that we were defeated recently by none other than the affable and urbane Thomas Greene Bengé.

FOR SALE or trade, set of left-handed golf clubs, been used only about three seasons, better than new. Will trade for marbles or what have you.—TOL.

Now that Thomas Greene has succeeded in knocking the president-elder of this column for a row of fools, he is looking for other worlds to conquer, and is very badly in need of a partner who can lend him aid in bringing under submission E. W. McGlothlin and Hap Pendleton.

He has tried a number of good golfers, but to date has been unable to find anyone who can take him as a partner and beat this combination out.

Happy days are here again. The kiddies are out of school and are looking out for some means whereby they may enjoy themselves during the vacation season.

While TOL wouldn't live any anywhere else on a bet, we're mighty glad our folks didn't come out this way when we were a kid. Happy days were those when we took our rabbit dog and went to the timbers and twisted rabbits out of hollow trees, fished in the clear waters of running streams and took our daily plunge into the old swimming pool.

Kids out this way only have synthetic amusements. Swimming pools are few and far between, fishing must be done on artificial and treeless lakes.

The Times has received a letter from Felix H. Decker at San Mateo, California, in which he states that he gets a great deal of pleasure out of reading the news from home each week, but says he cannot say much for the weather we are having down here, he having read where the bride had been washed out on the Brazos. He states that California is the land of sunshine and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hopkins, W. E. Reynolds, C. C. Pippin and Jack Whitaker attended a safety meeting of employees of the West Texas Utilities Company at Quannah on Friday of last week. The meeting was held at the auditorium of the company at Lake Pauline.

Guinn-Tull Hdw. Co. New Concern With Old Heads

The newest business concern in Munday is the Guinn-Tull Hardware Company, which concern is opening for business this week in the E. B. Tull building recently vacated by the Tate Furniture Company, and the new firm is composed of Ben I. Guinn, E. B. Tull and E. E. Chamberlain, all of whom are too well known over the Munday country to need any introduction through these columns.

The new store is one of the prettiest in this section of the state, all the fixtures and even the floor being finished in the regulation hardware colors of black and orange, and when their large stock is completely arranged this will be one of the most attractive places of business in the city.

As we have stated before, the men at the helm of this firm need no introduction, as Ben Guinn has been associated with the hardware business in Munday since the time when the memory of man runneth not. Some months ago he disposed of his interest in the Guinn Hardware Company here and at present has no connection with this concern which still bears his name. E. B. Tull has been engaged in the lumber business in Munday for many years and is one of the town's real builders, being the owner of some of the city's most attractive business property.

JOE PUCKETT'S DRUG STORE

Mayor C. L. Mays recently received a personal letter from Walter Cousins of Dallas, editor of the Texas Pharmaceutical Journal, recalling some of the good old days when Mr. Cousins was a resident of Munday. Some of these reminiscences furnished the background for a little literary effort on the part of the writer and a copy of same was enclosed in the letter, which we are pleased to publish herewith, believing that it will prove interesting and also recall some of the incidents of years gone by in the minds of some of those who have witnessed these ferocious encounters.

Joe Puckett was a talkin' To a feller from New York Who 'lowed he was a sportsman Headin' for the Double Mountain fork Huntin antelope and quail birds An' mebbe so some Grizzley bears Joe 'lowed a plumb nice pastime Was shootin' Grizzley bears.

But of all the fightin' varmints Joe told him with a smile, A Texas badger takes the cake He's got 'em beat a mile. He took the dude to the back yard Inside the high board wall Where a brindle bull dog tugged the leash An' snarled at his master's call.

This here ferocious canine sir To fightin' born an' bred Is to fight a badger here today Till one of t'other's dead. Red Rube has bet his hosses An' a thousan' dollars cash That the badger licks the bull dog An' chews him into hash.

Joe 'lowed he'd another thousan' That he'd bet on this here dog If a disinterested referee Would pull the badger for the dog. The jelly got pert plumb sudden Said he'd be powerful glad to act An' pull the badger fairly Just as the pistol cracked.

When he climbed into the mail haek An' was leavin' town next day He warn't so cute an' saucy An' didn't have much to say. The gang 'round Puckett's drug store Was kinda snickerin' so to speak Curley Moore said all the suckers Didn't live on Gray Mare creek. —Cousins.

Munday Has Entry In My Home Town Contest at Abilene

Munday will be represented in the "My Home Town" contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Abilene this week by Jesse George Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, who has been designated by the Munday High School and the Munday Chamber of Commerce as Munday's entry into the contest, in which forty West Texas towns will have entries.

City of Abilene Extends Welcome To the Convention

Mayor C. L. Mays Saturday received the following telegram from Mayor Thos. E. Hayden, Jr. of Abilene: By formal resolution of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Abilene I am directed to invite you and the people of Munday to visit Abilene during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. We have planned a constructive program for the engaging of West Texas, in the adoption and execution of which your citizens should share. Pleasures as well have been provided. Convey this message to your people.—Thos. E. Hayden, Jr., Mayor.

R. G. Campbell Is Moving Business To New Location

R. G. Campbell is having the building formerly occupied by the Home Bakery remodeled for his funeral parlors and will move into his new quarters within a few days. The building has been completely remodeled and repainted within and partitions have been placed in the building for the big stock of funeral supplies carried by Mr. Campbell, and among other features that will be available for patrons will be a chapel where services may be held where the necessity may require, and this new establishment will be one of the best of its kind in this section of the state, as Mr. Campbell not only maintains a large and complete stock of merchandise in his line, but maintains a modern hearse and ambulance service as well.

SENATOR SMALL SPEAKS IN INTEREST CANDIDACY FOR GOVERNOR AT GORE

Judge Clint C. Small of Wellington spoke to a representative audience in the school auditorium at Gore Monday evening at which time he outlined his platform in his campaign for Governor of Texas. While Judge Small is the only West Texan in the race for governor, he denies that he is making the race solely on that basis, but promises a constructive administration to all sections of Texas alike if elected, and while proud of the fact that he is a West Texan, he is also proud to be a Texan, and injects no sectional feeling into his address.

Judge Small promises a sound business administration, without quarters for political demagogues who try to control important state affairs, which he contends is the one thing that will bring Texas to a profitable development to which it is entitled. He made it plain that he was not seeking the office through the influence of political "pull" of any clique or faction, in fact Mr. Small said in his address, "We must declare a political armistice, bind up the wounds of the past, turn resolutely to the future and work for the inauguration of a new era devoted to the building of Texas institutions and to the development of Texas resources."

For Prohibition Judge Small stated that a great fight is now being made by the enemies of prohibition toward the repeal or weakening of the Eighteenth Amendment, and he made it plain to his audience that no movement directed toward the repeal or weakening of our present prohibition laws would receive one iota of encouragement from him, and he promised his fullest cooperation as Governor in the enforcement of this and other laws of the state.

Judge Small spent some two hours in Munday on Monday afternoon in company with Chas. Hamilton, who is an old schoolmate in the University of Texas, and Judge Small met with many of our local citizens as the time would permit.

Judge Small expressed his opposition to selling the valuable land now owned by the penitentiary system of Texas and buying land elsewhere. He stated that he favored the sale of a few isolated tracts and the concentration of the penitentiary system on lands now owned by the state, and pointed out the grave responsibility that rests upon the state in the matter of caring for its charges, stating that it was the obligation of the State to return these unfortunates who enter the walls of the penitentiary better citizens than when they entered, and pledged his best efforts toward this program.

Among the twenty-one students who received their degrees from St. Edwards university at Austin Sunday was Albert Loran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Loran of the Rhineland community, who received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Engineering at the annual commencement of the university.

During his university days Albert has been one of the leaders in baseball and other athletic activities of the school, and his many friends in this section will be glad to know that he has completed his course in this institution and trust that he may find a connection that will prove profitable and pleasant where he may put to actual practice the technical education he has received.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Donna David of Garman, Texas are here this week visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Akers.

M. Bruce Oates, agricultural agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Railway was through here Wednesday afternoon enroute to Abilene to attend the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. J. O. McMahon and John McMahon went to Seymour on Wednesday to attend the funeral of a Mr. Atkins, who is a brother to Mrs. McMahon's son-in-law, who lives at Throckmorton.

Carl Mahan of Abilene spent Tuesday night here enroute to Memphis.

Judge Small outlined his long fight in the State Senate in behalf of the land owners of West Texas. He declared that there was a movement on foot to rob the land owners along the streams of Texas of land which they had undergone hardships beyond understanding to acquire. He introduced and succeeded in having passed the law that had as its aim the validating of the titles to this land, which in many instances has been found in recent years to be rich in oil. After he had succeeded in getting the law passed it was vetoed by Governor Moody, who declared the law unconstitutional. The attorney general of the state also declared the law unconstitutional. Notwithstanding the obstacles which he encountered in protecting the property rights of the citizens of Texas, Senator Small introduced the bill again in the Senate and succeeded in having it passed over the veto of Governor Moody, and since that time it has stood the test of both the district court and the court of civil appeals of Texas.

"The Jazz King" Wears His Crown In A New Role

Paul Whiteman Invades Sound Pictures with "The King of Jazz"

New York City.—A very modern man has invaded "Ragamuffin Romeo," composed by Mabel Wayne for the sound revue King of Jazz. John Murray Anderson, director, colored the song by photograph from Hollywood. Miss Wayne in New York sang her first version over long distance telephone and it was immediately accepted.

The revue, featuring Paul Whiteman, will mark an epoch in motion picture production.

To begin with, it is the first picture in which the talent has been entirely recruited from the professional stage. Heretofore, motion picture stars have been the chief actors with a few stage celebrities thrown in for good measure. In the King of Jazz, everybody concerned, from performer to Anderson himself, are famous Broadway names.

Moreover, the revue has the unique and important distinction of having two song hits, both known in the Pan Alley as "ragtime." "Ragamuffin Romeo" and "It Happened in Monterey" is a very special type of novelty foxtrot and falls in song and lyric the Galatea story of a rag doll. "It Happened in Monterey" is a waltz ballad, sung by John Boles with all the color and tenderness of old Mexico.

Picture fans from all over the country are keenly interested in this phenomenon of talent from the legitimate to the motion picture stage. The picture's success will doubtless be responsible for an entirely new galaxy of film fans.

ROULRY

CULL EVERY TWO WEEKS UNTIL FALL

Get Rid of Nonproducers for Poultry Success.

The success or failure of a poultry enterprise may depend on proper culling, according to the poultry department of the New York State College of Agriculture. Poultrymen should cull regularly every two weeks, from June to September 15, but if only one culling is to be made, wait until September 1.

A first-class culler can tell three things about each hen he handles: Whether she is laying; how long she has, or has not, been laying; and what is the rate of egg laying. No hen should be kept longer than three years. Close culling limits the number of old hens and raises the average egg production of the flock.

The easiest and most satisfactory way to catch hens is to pen off a corner of the house with a piece of chicken wire fencing about twenty feet long and five feet wide. Attach the end of the wire to the side wall about two feet from a corner and unroll the wire toward the center of the room. This acts as a barrier to drive the hens into the corner. The end of the wire can then be brought around to the side wall, rolled up and fastened, leaving enough slack between pens on the floor of the crate, drive a few hens quickly into it, and close the sliding door. Each hen is then easily caught and removed.

Germ Responsible for Blackhead in Turkeys

It has been recently learned that the chicken has been infected with a certain germ which is responsible for blackhead in turkeys. By using the semi-continuous plan, which consists of placing turkeys on virgin soil, preferably sown to alfalfa and not inhabited by chickens for at least two years, the possibility of infection from chickens will be eliminated and turkeys can be raised without the danger of blackhead.

The name blackhead is a very poor one for the disease for there are many diseases in turkeys in which the head of the diseased bird turns dark blue or a dark color just before death.

Use Infertile Turkey Eggs for Shell Pattern

To break a fresh turkey egg for the pattern of the shell would be vandalism, but if an infertile egg is left in the nest, marked with the hen's number, it is well to blow it out, string it and keep for a guide, since the turkey hen may steel her nest in a different place next time.

No two turkeys lay eggs that are exactly alike. The early clutch is said to be invariably of a darker tint than those laid later, but the spots are the same. One enthusiastic turkey woman used to cut outboard eggs and stifle them as nearly as possible like the mother as a sort of tramping for her small flock.

Grass for Goslings

Ordinarily goslings will not and should not be hatched before the grass and clovers will be of sufficient growth to provide them with good grazing. In growing goslings it must be remembered that grass is the principal constituent of the ration and that grain should be fed only as an accessory feed. The grass should not be fed before the second day and then in the form of a crumbly moist mash. It should be fed in very small amounts and three or four times per day.

POULTRY NOTES

Many men on the farm have taken over the farm poultry business after their wives have demonstrated that it is a paying proposition.

Hungry hens usually aren't profitable layers. They need a full feed of grain in the afternoon to last them through the long winter night.

Cod liver oil is usually fed to adult birds in the proportion of one quart to 100 pounds of mash and for chicks one pint to 100 pounds of mash.

When breeding stock or chicks are purchased, be sure that they have been produced by flocks which show outstanding vigor and give evidence of good health.

Chicks need exercise. Pieces of potato, mangel, cabbage or meat tied to strings hanging within reach of the chicks will often keep them from picking each other's feet.

Clean, healthy young stock is the key to success in poultry management. Breeding, for instance, can be purchased, but sanitation must be lived, practiced, and continued.

The best time to market Leghorn cockerels is when they are broiler size, and the earlier you market them the more you get for them, though they bring a good price up to July 1.

Name "Taffy" Traced to Javanese Word for Rum

The American word taffy and the British word toffee, for candy made of molasses, originate from the Javanese word for rum; tape, or tafe, distilled from molasses. Very often the home-bound cargoes of the old time sailing ships trading to the South seas were molasses from Java.

The word came to the Philippines with the Indonesian colonies from Asia that had long inhabited the mountains of northern Luzon; these people, however, do not make rum, but ferment wine from rice and give it the Javanese name for rum. Some tribes call the wine taffy, some tape, both obvious variations from the original tape.

Another variation is the name of the wine from sugar cane juice base. When the British freebooter, Captain Abson, conveyed a prize he had taken, the silver-laden Spanish galleon, Chachonaga, around Lamon toward Maco, he sent ashore for water and the islanders gave him men copious drinks of bashi that had lightning effect.

Returning to ship, the men's tongues were thick, and in explaining their condition to Abson they said they had been enjoying a few cups of Baski. Captain Abson charted his channel and named it Bashi channel, and the islands, really the Babuyan group, he called Baski islands. So goes, round the world of commerce, a bit of taffy on the tongue.

Man of Peace Honored for Wartime Invention

A clergyman who evidently did not consider that there was anything incongruous in serving the Prince of Peace at the same time inventing "gadgets" to help in the mauling and killing of his fellow men has a tablet to his memory at the Tower of London—quite an appropriate place.

He was Rev. John Alexander Forsyth, a Scotsman, who invented the percussion lock for small arms, and also produced a detonating powder for which it is said, he was offered $100,000 by Napoleon. For 50th left his quiet manse to work in the Tower, and when his duties were over, he returned to his old life with an honorary LL.M. degree. The reverend inventor died in 1843. His is the first memorial to a private individual that has ever been erected in the precincts of the Tower.

Heat Homes From "Bottle"

Homes of the future will be heated by electricity "bottled" up in a reservoir in the houses at night when the electric company's facilities are not busy, and used the next day, in the opinion of Chester L. Hall, an electrical engineer. The "bottle" containing water, would be heated during the night by electrodes which would raise the water temperature to boiling. Its reason of interest is that the reservoir would retain its heat during the day. It would be equipped with thermostat controls. Such a heating plant would be economical, it was estimated, if the power company could store the heat during the idle hours of the night.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Right Diet Affects Teeth

If you want strong, white teeth pay attention to your diet as well as to your toothbrush. The food you eat is just as important as the dentifrice you use.

Dr. Walter H. Eddy, food chemist and health authority, offers this advice. Several recent surveys, he reports, have shown that individuals whose diet was deficient in milk and green vegetables were possessors of weak and quickly decayed teeth, because the food which feeds the teeth was not sufficiently supplied with the necessary lime salts to give them strength.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Wily Elephant

Though tigers and leopards can not, as a class, be said to shun death, there have been instances in which one of these fierce hunters in all appearances, been shot dead—has suddenly "come to life" and been very much alive, until finally distracted. There is an instance on record of a newly captured elephant playing the "artful dodger" so successfully that it completely deceived its captors who releasing its bonds, left it for dead, but scarcely had they gone a little distance when, to their amazement, the creature rose, and trumpeting loudly, made good its escape.

Beautiful English Cathedral

England's most beautiful cathedral, at Salisbury, has been called England's finest. It is, indeed, the most harmonious and best proportioned of the English cathedrals, for it was built within the short space of 40 years (1220-1260), where many others have taken centuries to complete them. It is a pure example of early English architecture, unalloyed by foreign influences. Its spire, rising from the very middle of the church, is the loftiest in England.—Detroit News.

British Sailors in 1812

Historians of the British navy indicate that the British sailors were manned principally by Englishmen during the War of 1812. They are described as a mixed class of men, being secured in various ways. Bounties were offered for enlistment in the navy and when this did not bring enough recruits each county was required to raise a certain number in proportion to population. They were known as quota men. In addition, numbers were pressed into the service.

Apology for Errors

My errors, I hope, are only those of charity to mankind; and such as my own charity has caused me to commit, that of others may more easily excuse.—Dryden.

Goes to Town Alone First Time in Months

MRS. ALICE BRADLEY

"I don't know what there is in Sargon, but it's the most wonderful medicine I ever took in my life! Today is the first time I've been able to come down town alone in six months and it is due to the wonderful strengthening effects of this remarkable medicine!"

"For months my nerves were upset and I was so rundown that I was unable to do any housework, and hardly able to get out of the house. I was so weak I spent most of my time in bed. My appetite was poor, the lightest foods disagreed with me and I suffered continually with chronic constipation. I am on my fourth bottle of Sargon, my appetite is splendid, my digestion is perfect, I'm strong and energetic, my nerves are strengthened and my housework is really a pleasure. Sargon Pills have rid me of constipation for the first time in years."—Mrs. Alice Bradley, 855 Capp St., San Francisco.

Essentials of Happiness

What makes for happy living? Three things above all else. A healthy body, first and foremost. Then an environment which offers fair opportunity for a man's normal activities and aspirations. And finally a community of people who do two things; they must respect each individual's personality and leave him to work out his own salvation according to his own nature in so far as he harms nobody; and they must co-operate good-naturedly with him in his work and his play.—Prof. Walter B. Pitkin in the Household Magazine.

Half And Half

S. N. REED O'BRIEN, TEXAS

Clean chicks, clean soil, clean feed and clean management work wonders in raising thrifty young birds and insuring their future as laying hens.

After the usual crop of broilers goes on the market, the prices are materially reduced as compared to those that are paid for the early hatched chicks.

Wire platforms may be used for chicks—but only when the range is infected, or the space limited. The system is expensive and involves a good deal of labor.

Try the sanitary plan this year: healthy chicks, disease free ground, brooder stove in disinfected brooder house, balanced feed in self feeders, brooder house and equipment kept clean throughout the season.

Ventilation in the poultry house must be secured without drafts.

More revenue from farm flocks is obtained from eggs than from broilers or roasters sold.

Hatching eggs need careful handling. Eggs that become chilled and wet are not likely to hatch well.

Owners should not attempt to raise chicks in makeshift quarters, as the results will not be satisfactory.

If the farmer and his wife took as long a vacation as the average farm hen the bankruptcy law would soon be overworked.

If the turkey hen is to be allowed to hatch her own eggs, the nest should be made where it can stay through the hatching season.

Daily Fed for Young Ducks Varies Greatly

The amount of feed needed each day for young ducks varies as much as does their growth. Their growth averages a half pound a week, and to make this increase of weight each week requires an additional quantity of feed over the preceding one. The rule is, feed each meal what they will eat up clean with a relish, and do not allow them to linger over the feed trough.

It is better they should have not enough than too much, as they will be in a much better condition to relish the next meal. One thing is considered to be of as much importance as the feed, and that is removing the feed left over and thoroughly cleaning the troughs after each meal. This is scrupulously attended to by successful duck raisers.

Private Ownership of Utilities

Capital for the development of electric companies comes, after all, from the public.

These companies may be owned either by public investors or by local governments. The chief difference between the two is that ownership by the investors means working on a business basis, while municipal ownership too often results in political operation.

Private ownership keeps them out of politics, puts a premium on efficient operation and encourages service satisfactory to you.

The West Texas Utilities Company, with its three major generating stations, fifteen auxiliary plants and more than 2,500 miles of transmission lines, insures you dependable service, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

WHY NOT A WEST TEXAN

We believe we are correct in the statement that West Texas has never had the honor of furnishing a Governor for the Lone Star State. Numbers of East Texans have been so honored. Several have hailed from the central and south and east portion of the state, but not one has ever been chosen for this high position of honor from West Texas.

In years past West Texas has been handicapped by reason of its thinly populated regions, but this handicap is rapidly being overcome, and the time is close at hand when West Texas can well have an influence in the political destinies of our state.

We would not be understood as advocating sectionalism in suggesting that a West Texan be honored.

notwithstanding the fact that other sections of the state have diligently pressed the claim of their favorite citizen in years gone by.

We are simply calling attention to the fact that among the twenty candidates so far announced that one of them—Senator Clint C. Small—is a West Texan. Not only is he a West Texan but he has demonstrated his ability to stand for the rights of the citizens of West Texas, and his willingness to do so. So, while we're considering the matter of choosing a favorite among the twenty, let's consider this lone citizen of West Texas who has shield his hat into the arena.

ELECTIVE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

We believe with Gov. Dan Moody that it is unwise to have an elective Highway Commission in Texas. We believe that this important office should be kept as far from politics as is possible, and to make the office elective is to place it on the auction block to the highest bidder. Notwithstanding the fact that laws have been enacted curtailing campaign expenses it will be found usually that the candidate who spends the most money gets the office.

And another objection we find to the fact that it would be natural for the members of the commission to spend large sums of money in sections that are densely populated and neglect the thinly populated areas. The commission would in a large measure be dominated by the desires and wishes of those residing in the densely populated area. Dallas county, with a population of approximately 250,000, could demand more special favors from an elective commission than any county could with its population of approximately 10,000. In fact, if the office should be made elective it is only reasonable to believe that its policies shall be dictated by Dallas, Harris, Tarrant and other counties with large population and hence with large voting strength to throw to candidates who show them special favors. An elective highway commission would retard road building in West Texas ten years.

Wolf Killed by Brave Woman
 There are many stories of how the last Scottish wolf met its doom; many places in Scotland claim the honor of being the scene of the kill. One, Morrison, may be the one and here a woman was the slayer. On her return home from taking food to her men-folk, she was attacked by an angry and famished wolf, but she wound a cloth round her wrist and hand, then, gripping a knife, thrust it down the animal's throat and dispatched it without receiving a wound.

Mrs. Barnes Entertains Friday Bridge Club

The home of Mrs. H. F. Barnes was made very attractive with cut flowers Friday afternoon when she entertained the Friday Bridge club and guests. Mrs. Wm. P. Farrington scored high in the games. Ised lineads refreshed the guests during the game and at the close dainty refreshment plates of cream and cake were served. Mmes. W. H. Atkinson, T. G. Bengt, M. F. Billingsley, E. H. Bauman, Joe Davis, F. L. Decker, Wm. P. Farrington, J. D. Kethley, J. A. Kennedy, H. H. Langford, Bess Neff and P. V. Williams.

Friday evening Mrs. Barnes entertained with three tables of bridge, using dainty tallies carrying Spring blossoms and serving refreshments of cream and cake. Mrs. John Lane scored high for the ladies and Mr. Barnes winning high among the men. Guests were Messrs and Mmes. R. D. Atkinson, Glen Dobbs, Tom Haney, L. E. Lovelass and John Lane.

Little Billie Joe Burton Has Birthday Party

On Wednesday, May 21, Little Billie Joe Burton was seven years old, and to celebrate the occasion his mother, Mrs. Howell Burton, invited a number of Billy Joe's little friends to a party Wednesday afternoon. In entertaining the little guests Mrs. Burton was assisted by Mrs. H. P. Hill, Mrs. Adrian Macdon, and Misses Kathleen McAfee and Billie True Hill. During a series of jolly games the children enjoyed drinks of cool lemonade and later Dixie cups and cake were served. The guests, all bringing gifts to their little host and wishing him many, many more happy birthdays, were Mickie Joe and Emmett Ophelia Macon, Allene and Kathleen Houser, Zell Spann, Virginia Sue Duval, Mattie Marie Isabel, Genevieve Decker, Winona Coxsey, Kate Nell and Belva Mauldin, Shirley Nell Kethley, Glen Rayborn, Joe Dean Clough, Foy Hogan and Sam Wesley Easley, Lynn Chapman, L. E. and Jimmie Lovelass, William Gayle Kennedy, Dan Garret of Abilene, Jimmie Smith, Lewis Coxsey, Joe Whittemore, Bobby Dobbs and DeFrance Burton.

Mrs. W. M. Taylor Hostess at Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Wm. McKeown Taylor entertained Saturday at her home in Goree with a prettily appointed bridge luncheon, complimenting Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Buchanan, of Atlanta, Georgia, sisters of Dr. Taylor.

Lovely Luncheon Cloths of Cutwork Covered Each Table

The central adornment being Spring flowers of varied colors in crystal baskets, with the Spring motif reflected in the dainty hand painted place cards and tallies. A four course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Louise Ingram and Mrs. Osh Coffman Delighted the Guests with Vocal Solos

Mrs. Louise Ingram and Mrs. Osh Coffman delighted the guests with vocal solos, Mrs. Ingram also playing several piano numbers.

Fire Department Auxiliary Entertains

The auxiliary of the fire department entertained on Friday evening of last week at the city hall. Games of various kinds were enjoyed by those present, following which delicious refreshments, consisting of sandwiches and punch were served. Dr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Spelce, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mayes, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hawes, Mr. and Mrs. Branham Payne, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rigby, Mrs. U. R. Houser, Mrs. Florence Williams, Mrs. Dee Clough, Mrs. Al Cousins of Haskell, Miss Florence Williams and Bill Shaw.

Missionary Society

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met in a business and social meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. J. T. Lee with Mrs. F. H. Russell and Mrs. W. T. Ford assistant hostesses.

The meeting opened with singing "He Leadeth Me" followed by prayer led by Mrs. W. T. Ford.

A short business session followed after which the following program was rendered:
 "Women and Children in Country Places"—given in three parts by Mrs. S. A. Bowden, Mrs. P. V. Williams and Miss Shelly Lee.
 "Devotional"—Mrs. W. D. Ford.
 At the close of the social hour delicious sherbet and angel food cake were served to the following: Mesdames S. A. Bowden, J. C. Campbell, J. N. Campbell, Austi-Caughran, W. A. Smedley, W. I. Farrington, D. E. Holder, W. E. Atkinson, E. B. Bowden, P. V. Williams, C. R. Haymes, W. B. Aycock, W. D. Ford and Miss Shelly Lee.

Stanley McCarty of Estelene, Texas, came in Sunday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McCarty.

Closed Contract With Proffer of Iced Pears

New stories about O. Henry seem almost as constant as his fame as a short-story writer. One of the best concerning his charming idiosyncrasies is related by Bob Davis, newspaper man and editor, in the Golden Book magazine.

In his early New York days O. Henry had a quaint way of changing addresses without notice to anyone, disappearing from his friends for weeks. Davis, then a stranger to the author, had been instructed to find him and to offer him first $10, then $50, and, as a limit, $100, to write introductions to a series of stories. After searching five buildings he finally found the author in a dark, cheap hall bedroom—but with a half dozen fine pears buried in a bowl of ice, as a relief from the heat.

"I have three propositions," he announced. "But I shall make the last one first." And he made the $100 offer.

"If that last one is the best, you needn't make the other two," drawled O. Henry. "And moreover, mister, you can have the rest of the pears."

Mutton Dear to Both Stuart and Hanoverian

Mutton used to be regarded as having a definite if somewhat indefinable association with loyalty to the throne. When "blitz-nine" noblemen and gentlemen zealously attached to the Protestant succession of the house of Hanover founded the Ki-Kat club for the furtherance of their principles, they ordered that the steaming dish at all their dinners should be mutton pie, to which they attached symbolic significance.

Why mutton should be thus identified with the Hanoverian dynasty is far from clear, but possibly George I, like George II, esteemed boiled mutton and turpiss the choicest of dishes to be set before the king. The Ki-Kats, however, must have overlooked a similar fondness on the part of the Stuarts, especially in the case of Charles II, whom Bushyhead dubbed "our mutton-loving king"—Manchester (Ding) Guardian.

Wooden Bowl Has History

An extravagant amount of money the exact amount of which has not been made known, was paid for the famous bowl known as the Popes' mazer, for four centuries the property of the Kings of England, and which was used by the monarchs at Salfron Walden, Essex, England.

The Popes' mazer is a small bowl of suspended wood, 2 1/2 inches in height and 7 1/2 inches across. Around the lip is a plain band of silver gilt, a little deeper outside of the bowl than inside. It bears the London livery coat of arms, and the head of the maker's mark, which is the head of a saint. Inside the bowl is a circular medallion, a plate of silver gilt, and an engraving of the Virgin and the Child in a glory of long rays. It is now known to America. It is so called because it was referred to in the writings of Ptolem.

Culveridge's "Dream Poem"

Culveridge himself told how he came to write the poem "Kubla Khan." In conversation with a slight indisposition, an absolute had been prescribed—"from the effects of which he fell asleep in his chair at the moment when he was reading a sentence in Purchas' "Pilgrimage," beginning "Here the Khan Kubla commanded a palace to be built and a stately garden thereunto." He slept for three hours and on awakening wrote down all the lines of the poem that had been reserved. Then he was called away on business, and his return was unable to recollect the remainder of the lines that had been composed by him in his dream.

Use of Nutgalls

Nutmegs are hard outside galls, especially those from Persia, Turkey, which are produced largely in Asia Minor, Syria, Persia, Cyprus, Italy, etc. The Chinese and Japanese nutmegs of commerce, however, are from trees of the species Illipe and they are large and irregular in form. The nutmegs are rich in resin, which makes them valuable in the eastern and western industries, in the making of ink, the preparation of medicines, etc. Several New York firms are listed as importers of nutmegs from China and other countries.

Punishment

The lady of the house was telling the maid the woman across the hall who had become extremely disturbed over the playing of the radio all night and who had gone so far as to complain to the police.

"Ain't that awful?" exclaimed the maid. "Sure, an' she ought to be put in the home they have out in the country."

"What home is that, Norah?" "Sure, ma'am, an' they call it 'The Home for Indigent Women.'"

First Methodist Chapel

The first Methodist church erected in John Wesley's chapel at Broadmead, England, has been completely restored and was recently reopened with impressive religious services. It stands on the first plot of ground that Wesley ever bought and in it is the pulpit from which the noted evangelist so often preached.

First Aid to Trouble

A family on the East side keeps a phonograph, and for only one purpose. The husband, who has refused to part with it despite the good services of their radio, calls on the phonograph when all other means fail to soothe a tiff. And he means fail to soothe a tiff. And he has only one record, but this one is a waltz in which the wife always brings in a wife and to good humor.—Parrot News.

Tea for Long on Sale by Ship's Chandleries

Some drinkers are habitually referred to as "hard drinkers" and it might have had a certain verisimilitude had, at some time, hard liquor been dispensed in hardware stores. But just what verbal, or spiritual, relation there can be found between a hardware shop and so soft a beverage as tea we can not imagine. And yet on high authority it is stated that in early days tea was regularly stocked by hardware dealers and constituted a fast-moving article of merchandise for such establishments. This custom, we are told, existed in some places as late as 1875. Our own theory is that just as sugar, sully and paste have long been sold by tobacconists, because both came most often from Cuba, so it is likely that it was not exactly hard ware stores but their close relations, the ship's chandleries, that sold tea, this because ship men from the Orient, bringing in packages of the leaves, swapped them at the chandler's for more useful articles, and the chandler sold the stuff at a profit.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

"Spick" Not Correct in Phrase "Spick and Span"

"Spick and span" is the correct spelling. The phrase is frequently but erroneously written "spic and span," due apparently to a mistaken notion of its derivation. The original phrase was simply "spic new," "span" being an old word for a chip or splinter, "span new" meant bright and new as a chip just cut in Iceland, it is "spic," from the "spic," chip, and "span," new "spick and span new" was merely an emphatic extension of the earlier phrase, "spic" being an old word for a chip or splinter. There is no evidence that "spick" in the sense of a splinter was ever spelled "spic." "Spic" meaning lichen or lichen, "spic" meaning lichen or lichen.—Pittsburgh Courier.

Lichens in Polar Mountains

Scientists are greatly interested in the report that specimens of lichen have been found in the Queen Maud mountains, about 500 miles from the South pole. Lichens have been found in some parts of the earth, but never have they been located so near the poles as in this case. And yet there is no reason why they should not be found in even more remote localities, for the demands of the plant are very limited. It is well known that it resists temperature to a very great extent. It requires only a piece of rock to cling to, and it can live in snow for a considerable part of the year, but for a short period, at least, it must be exposed to the air or moisture. That is all the lichen requires.

Beware!

There's nothing such to do for collapsible bridge tables, play-tables, folding beds and music racks since they are overtaken by weakness of the joints. You can patch them temporarily with rubber bands or wire tape, but someday just when you are enjoying a grand slam or a low ball or turning over to shut off the alarm clock or raking a high note, there'll be a crack, and you have your fingers in the house with a snapping rattle or shake lands with a live lobster.—Texas City Star.

British Party Names

The names Whig and Tory were introduced in England in 1679 during the struggle over the bill to exclude James, Duke of York, from the succession to the crown. The term Whig was used of cattle and horse thieves and was thence transferred to the Scottish Presbyterians. During the Seventeenth century, therefore, it denoted Presbyterianism and rebellion. Tory was an Irish term suggesting a Papist outlaw who supported the hereditary right of James in spite of his Roman Catholic faith. The names were party badges until the Nineteenth century.

Must Be Done in Time

A Portland letter writer says that pedestrians who stand correctly are not likely to be run down by automobiles. He says you may know that you are standing correctly by "marking the center of the car, the shoulder and the hip, and dropping a plumb bob through the center of these marks." That is highly interesting and very valuable information, but would you have time to attend to it before the auto hit you?

S O S for Derelict Humans

In London there has been organized and inaugurated the S O S society, which is designed to take care of poor and unemployed men. Five board and bed are given to deserving men who have been thrown upon the city for one reason or another and their welfare looked after generally while efforts are made to find work for them and even advanced. The famous old "Cheshire Cheese" is the headquarters of the society.

Crab's Emotions Shown

That crabs have some emotions and not others was demonstrated by scientists in London recently. It was shown that a crab fed with one claw and left with food just out of reach will starve to death, but the placing of a polyp, the crab's deadly enemy, near it, will cause the prisoner to become convulsed with fear. The shock causes the tied claw to come off so that the crustacean can scuttle away to safety.
