Odd Bits Salvaged By The Editor

Some high school boys ran across the following poem one day, and brought it in to us. We don't know just why they remembered it when they ran across it!

k-k EDITOR

An editor knocked at the Pearly Gates His face was scarred and cold; He stood before the man of fate For admission to the fold. "What have you done?" St. Peter asked, "To gain admission here?" "I've been an editor, sir," he said, "For many and many a year."

The Pearly Gates swung open wide, St. Peter touched the bell. "Come in," he said, "and choose your harp, You've had your share of hell."

He and his family were visiting relatives in the Baird area, and he and his brother-in-law decided to pass the time away at fishing—a pretty good pastime, a lot of folks will agree.

k-k

They arrived at a private tank and began making preparations with enthusiasm and anticipation. He baited his hooks, then made a big casting heave to place his bait about midway in the tank, when hook, sinker, rod and reel all slipped out of his hand and into the water.

k-k

His brother-in-law started casting for the float, which was still bobbling in the water, trying to hook the line and bring the rod ashore. Directly, the float went under and stayed there.

k-k

Both were about ready to bid goodbye to a good casting rod and reel. After much casting and a lot of patience, the brother-in-law finally hooked the line. When he got near enough for Barton Carl to lay hands on the line, he started coming in with it, hand over hand.

k-k

He felt a tug on the line and began maneuvering more carefully, finally landing a 3½-pound catfish! "Biggest fish I ever caught in my life," Barton said, "and we thought we were in for a field day—but that was the only fish caught all afternoon!"

k-k

And that's the best fish story we've heard lately. Barton told us about it last week, and we think he said it was a 3½-pounder. He was called to Arkansas to the bedside of his mother during the week end, and we were unable to check with him again.

k-k

It's hard to carry on a conversation these days without the subject of our needing a rain coming up. We've seen lots of times when we needed rain in this section, and a few times when we thought we'd had too much rain—but not many.

k-k

After the shower the other day, Irey Belcher surveyed the Rob Myers garden spot back of our place, which Irey had in peas last year, and said: "It's going to have to rain more than this if that makes a garden." "Yeah," we replied, "at least twice as much."

k-k

Perhaps the dry spell is one reason why officials at Wichita Falls turned "thumbs down" on the proposal to repair and raise the dam and spillway at Lake Kemp at a cost of some $9 million. On top of what the government would have put up, the proposal would cost the city of Wichita Falls and the water district several millions.

k-k

Now, the proposal is off for at least two years, we understand. Not much chance of the city of Wichita Falls being washed away within the next few days by a break in the dam at Lake Kemp, but engineers seemed to find the possibility is there if flooding conditions occur on the Kemp watershed.

k-k

They're in about the same position of the old boy whose roof didn't need repairing in dry weather because it wasn't leaking. Anyway, a lot of people with cabins on Lake Kemp which would have to be moved when the dam is raised may be glad of the postponement.

Knox Accidents Cost $2,130.00

The Highway Patrol investigated 4 rural accidents in Knox County during the month of February according to Sergeant Frank Jircik, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,130.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Knox County from January through February of 1962 shows a total of 7 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were no persons killed and six persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $3,595.00.

The patrol supervisor reported that as of Thursday, March 1, a total of 227 traffic deaths had been reported to the department, as compared with 264 during the same period of 1961. "This represents a decrease of 37 deaths or 14 per cent," he said, "and presents all of us with a stern challenge to help in further reducing deaths for the remainder of 1962." This will not be an easy job.

"Defensive driving is one of the keys to traffic safety," the sergeant added. "If all motorists were alert when driving and knew the defensive procedures used by a professional driver, the number of monthly traffic accidents would drop sharply."

A report by an economics organization says that the number of full-time workers in food processing and distribution has increased by about 700,000 in the brief span of years since 1947. Moreover, this year it is expected that the number of these workers, plus those engaged in food transportation, will equal the number of farm food producers—a circumstance which certainly would have seemed impossible not so very long ago.

Among other things, these figures indicate the changing nature of the food business. The housewife today has an enormous choice of foods with "built in maid service"—food which are ready to eat or virtually so. She now needs to spend only a fraction of the time preparing meals that she spent a few years back. And she's taken full advantage of this opportunity, which largely accounts for the heavy increase in food industry workers.

They also point to the ever-expanding rule of retailing in modern life. This isn't just true in foods. It is true in varying degrees of retailing in all its many branches. The store used to be considered something of a stepchild of the production system—it was there, it offered goods for sale, and that was about the size of it. But now it is recognized that mass distribution is the full partner of mass production—one is as important as the other, neither could exist without the other. Stores show the same kind of enterprise and will to progress that successful manufacturers do to produce, otherwise many factories would close. All of us live better because of that.

THE RESEARCH GAMBLE

Research, lifeblood of a pharmaceutical company, is also its biggest gamble. The researcher never knows where his experiments will lead him. And the company never knows how commercially valuable the research will prove to be. Admittedly, when a new product lives up to expectations, rewards can be great. This is almost invariably, the mark of high-risk venture. It is the reason why South African gold-mining shares yield a higher return than 91-day Treasury bills. The history of profits in the pharmaceutical industry shows that what goes up can come down, often at dizzy speed.

That quotation is taken from a publication of one of the leading ethical drug companies. Almost everyone who understands that particular problem and situation will echo it, whether or not they are connected with the industry. Huge sums have been spent on research activities which produced nothing of value, or returned less than the cost. Huge sums will have to be spent in the future if progress against disease and disability is to continue.

Here is way the proposed law which would reduce the life of a drug patent from 17 years (which applies to all patents) to only years would be asking for disaster. At the end of that three year period, the discoverer and developer would have to license production of his finding to all comers. Under these circumstances who could take the risks that are implicit in research? The successful discovery must be allowed to pay the way of the unsuccessful—or discovery will slow down and ultimately stop.

IN PRAISE OF THE CAT

The dog is universally known, in the English-speaking world, as the friend of man. The cat—though he has legions of admirers and even idolators—has not been quite so fortunate. His virtues are not so widely understood.

Charlotte Mish, of Portland, Oregon, has paid the cat an eloquent tribute. To quote from it: "The cat's bravery is almost beyond belief and no animal (including man) can exceed the cat's admirable persistence and determination when it sets its mind purposefully upon some objective. Its loyal devotion to home and family is intense . . . Nothing surpasses the cat's curiosity and it is curious about anything and everything in the world, animate and inanimate. Most of the cat's seeming cruelty is actually innocently based on the same urge that drives the explorer, scientist and inventor: curiosity, wanting to know 'What makes it do that?', 'What will happen next?'"

"We have only to call up one by one in 'person' or in memory all the cats in our lives. What a strange and adorable procession they make; each one so dear, each such a personality, so different from all the others. None will ever be forgotten."

Give felis libyca domestica his just due—no less than canis familiaris!

RANDOM LAKE, WISC., TIMES: "Talking about the transportation of the nation there are some unionists suggesting the socialization of the entire transportation industry: trains, trucks, aircraft, boats, buses or what have you. That would really be fun! fun! fun! No government yet has ever made a success of anything they stuck their nose in including the utilities, transportation, mail service or any other service. Maybe it's a retroactive spirit but we're still for less and less government and more and more private business."

CHURCH OF CHRIST

GOREE, TEXAS

The Name Of Christ

When Peter healed the lame man he said, "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk" (Acts 3:6). It is said that the people were filled with wonder and amazement when they saw this man walking. His face was familiar to those who entered the temple to worship. They knew he had been unable to walk, and thought his lameness was incurable. The rulers of the Jews apprehended Peter and John and placed them in prison for this deed.

The offense was not so much for healing the lame man, it was for preaching in the name of Jesus. If they had ascribed this miracle to their own power, there would have been no trouble; but they said the healing was due to the power vested in the name of Jesus. The apostles were set at liberty with the warning that they must speak no more in the name of Jesus.

Peter was now facing the same group he faced when he denied Jesus, yet he was not afraid. He had learned the power in Jesus' name, and his heart was filled with courage. He and John answered the threats of the Sanhedrin by saying, "Whether it is right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:19-20).

In this same connection it is said, "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Paul says, "Wherefore God hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name" (Phil. 2:9). The name of Jesus stands above other names, because it is the only name in which salvation from sin is provided.

The name of Jesus must be preached. All who would become Christians must believe in his name, and be baptized into his name. To do any thing in his name is to do it by his authority as given in the New Testament. Christians can work and pray only in the name of Christ.

Let each of us stop and think about the Sunday School lesson for March 11. "Tell the Truth" was the subject. That's each one's obligation as a Christian as we stop to listen to the voice of God in these trying times we are living in.

The brotherhood at West Beulah is doing a great work.

The Church of God in Christ is going forward under the leadership of Elder Sander. Brother Wicks is doing a fine job with the Methodist Church.

The West Beulah Missionary Society is really doing fine under the leadership of Sister Lola Jones. The lessons are great women of the Bible.

Safety Inspection Deadline Nearing

Texas drivers have approximately one month in which to have their vehicles inspected before the April 15 deadline.

"After that date," said Captain Alan Johnson, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety, "enforcement officers will begin to issue tickets to those drivers who fail to display the new 1962 safety stickers." There are over 325,000 vehicles in the North-west Texas Region of the DPS that must be inspected before the April 15 deadline. Although there are 611 approved inspection stations in this 60 county region, these stations will be hard pressed to finish the job before the deadline, unless the motorists start having their vehicles inspected now.

Johnson stressed the importance of car owners having their annual safety check at a licensed inspection station as soon as possible. The DPS captain cautioned that motorists are likely to experience last minute traffic jams at inspection stations if they don't move without delay. "As spring approaches, we face the possibility of wet weather, which means that most inspection stations cannot utilize all of the working days left. Take advantage of this pretty weather and take your vehicle in now for the state inspection," Captain Johnson concluded.

This friend of mine is a pretty good auto mechanic. He worked hard and saved some money. He wanted to invest his money in a privately-owned company. Lucky for me he picked my company. Knox Prairie Philosopher Takes A Look At The Educational System, And Then Backs Way Off In Fright

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek looks at education this week, but not for long.

J. A.

Dear editor:
I'll admit before I get started that some people will say a farmer hasn't got any business trying to solve the educational problem when he can't even solve the agricultural problem, but actually the very time to switch to some other problem is when you can't handle your own.

I read in a newspaper last night that educators have been looking closely at the educational system in this country and in a meeting in Chicago the other day an expert from the U. S. Office of Education said the traditional 12 years of public education should be increased to 14.

He said the reason is that 12 years is not long enough to prepare a boy or girl for modern life, even if they're going on to college.

"The present 12-year program of elementary and secondary education is not strong enough for an era in which the body of man's knowledge doubles every 15 years," he explained.

I have been thinking this over and have come to the conclusion that this expert is wrong. The way I figure it, if the body of man's knowledge doubles every 15 years, a 14-year school period is far too short if a boy learned everything there was to know in 14 years, the year after he graduated he'd still have it to do all over again, as the body of knowledge would have doubled by then. Even if he stayed in school all his life and made 100 on every subject on every report card, he couldn't keep up and would die a comparatively ignorant man.

Also, if total knowledge doubles every 15 years, what about the teachers? If they don't stay in school themselves full time, 12 months a year, no time out for teaching, every 15 years they're 100 percent behind.

And also, when you consider the fact that knowledge is mounting up even on Saturdays and Sundays and during summers when kids aren't even in school, you can see it's impossible for anybody to ever be truly educated for longer than possibly ten or fifteen minutes at a time.

In the future, I think I will stick with solving the farm problem.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

HAIL HEADQUARTERS

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Jack Moore, Knox County Agent

Feed Lots

The League Ranch has just completed the first portion of their feed lot for cattle. The first part of the lot has the capacity for 500 heavy feeder cattle. The feed pens are located on the Benjamin side on the Davis Lake near the farm headquarters.

The Knox County feed lot has also just completed their second portion to their feeding facilities and will be able to handle 1500 head of feeder cattle. These feed lots were both under construction this summer and are now in full operation. These feed lots are using silage feed rations at the present time and are set up primarily for silage feeding.

These, as the other feed lots in the county, were primarily set up to finish out cattle that are pastured on the small grain pastures in this area in the winter.

Soil Testing

Soil testing is the only way to properly determine the correct amounts and the correct fertilizer to use on crop land. From some of the soil sample reports that are being taken in Knox County, some of the farmers are finding out that fields that they thought to be the same as far as nutritive requirements are concerned are requiring different fertilizer treatment.

Fertilizing is becoming more popular due to not only an increase in production but also increased net profit to the farmer. Soil sample bags and information sheets have been placed in several locations in the county for the farmers so that they can pick up the necessary information easier. Bags and information sheets are available at the First National Bank in Munday, The Citizens State Bank in Knox City, at the Gilliland Co-op gin in Gilliland, and at the county agent's office in Benjamin.

Irrigation Clinic

All farmers in the area will want to mark Thursday, March 22, on their calendar. This is the day the "Irrigation Clinic" sponsored by the Stamford and B.K. Electric Cooperatives, Inc. will be held in the High School Gymnasium at O'Brien, Texas. The clinic starts at 9:00 a.m. and ends at 4:00 p.m. with free lunch and door prizes through courtesy of the sponsors.

TOP ROAD KNIGHT—Walter Eugene Turner, an East Texas Motor Freight Company truck driver with more than two million miles of accident-free driving to his credit, has been chosen "Most Representative Hobbs Knight of the Road for 1961" by the Texas Department of Public Safety and Hobbs Trailers, co-sponsors of the Knights of the Road program. The 51-year-old Dallas resident won the state's top trucking industry safety award for his outstanding driving history and for aiding victims of an auto crash near Marshall, Texas. Turner won the top award over 58 other "Knights" named during 1961, and is on entry in the current search for a Texas "Driver of the Year."

An excellent group of speakers are scheduled to talk on all phases of irrigation; including pump design, frequency of irrigation, crop management, use of fertilizer and pumping costs. The talks will be designed to give the farmers information they can take home and put to good use in increasing their yields, reducing irrigation costs and making maximum use of a limited amount of irrigation water.

Week end visitors in the home of Mrs. W. A. Smith were several of her children and Mrs. L. P. Jones of Amarillo. The children were Mrs. Wilma Lusk and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith of Burkburnett, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Smith, John and Rick, of Munday, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith of Rule and Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Jones of Lubbock. Mrs. Jones is the mother of Mrs. Carl Smith and was a former resident of Munday and the Hefner community. Mrs. Jones and the late Mr. Jones moved to Amarillo in 1942.

Mrs. E. J. Cude and Mrs. Ralph Weeks visited Mrs. A. H. Hargrove in Goree last Friday. Other guests in the Hargrove home were Mr. and Mrs. Royce Teaft and daughter, Diane, of Bula.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scott and children visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lemley and daughter, Betty, of Wichita Falls were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lemley.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my humble thanks to all my friends who were so nice to me during my recent illness. The visits, flowers, cards and gifts were deeply appreciated. May God bless each of you.
