HAPPY NEW YEAR

AS TWO EX-GRID GREATS MEET

Ten years ago these two well known men were bloodthirsty rivals on the Southwest Conference grid-iron. Joel Hunt, at the left, was star quarterback for A & M and Jerry Mann, right, was making football history as ace quarter-back for Southern Methodist Mustangs. Hunt today is backfield coach for the L.S.U. warriors and Mann is flitting with the race for Attorney General in Texas. "If you hit the line as hard in politics for the people of Texas as you did for the Mustangs, your opponents will know that they really have had a battle," Hunt told Mann on the tenth anniversary of their last grid joust.

Congressman W. D. McFarlane Returns For Busy Session

Predicting that the new session of Congress will be the most important and busiest of the Roosevelt Administration, Congressman W. D. McFarlane in the eve of his departure for Washington Tuesday made the following statement concerning his plans: "I would like to remain at home longer. There are several matters I would like to further investigate and attend to, but Congress convenes January 3rd and this will be the most important session of this administration. The President's whole governmental policies and program face the test of congressional and public approval. I have and will continue to heartily support the President in enacting into law the policies of the Democratic platform as announced in the President's Madison Square Garden speech before the last election. Much has been done this year, it is true, but many of those policies have been turned down by the Congress, following the bitter opposition of 'big business,' supported largely by the same crowd that opposed us in the last election. I will stand squarely behind the President in his efforts to make good the promises made to the people in the last campaign. I believe that he will win."

When asked about the work of the Appropriations Committee, the Congressman said, "I am on the agricultural subcommittee and have just received notice to be present for meeting as soon as possible."

When asked about his announcement for reelection, he said, "I will be a candidate for reelection next year and my announcement through the press of the district will follow early next month."

Gain Registered Over 1936 Cotton Ginnings in Knox

Census report issued from the Department of Commerce, under supervision of Hoyle Sullins, of Vera for this county, showed that ginnings from the 1937 cotton crop totaled 37,353 bales prior to December 13.

The report was more than twice the figure for the same period in 1936, which read as 15,525 bales.

HUGE THROG IN CITY FOR FINAL HOLIDAY BUYING

Roxy Theatre Annual Free Show Well Attended

BUSINESS BRISK ALL DAY FRIDAY

Christmas Tree Is The Feature During The Day

Munday closed out the Christmas buying rush in metropolitan fashion last Friday when the largest crowd in several years thronged the business streets of this city.

With two events featuring the day, every person of the large Munday trade area apparently was here purchasing merchandise to make the day the best in years for business houses.

The free show for kiddies, Christmas gift of the Roxy theatre, featured the morning and the show house was filled to overflowing by kiddies from throughout the area.

At one o'clock the Chamber of Commerce Christmas tree was held on the city hall square, was the outstanding event of the day. Old St. Nick arrived as scheduled and passed out more than 1,000 toys and hundreds of sacks of candy and fruit to make the day one to be remembered by every child in this sector.

Merchandising events in the late afternoon caused the crowd to increase heavily and buying was at fever heat throughout the day. The stores were packed until late in the night by last minute shoppers. Everyone concerned says that it was the biggest Christmas ever enjoyed in this city. Bigger plans will be made for next year, is the promise of business men and of Chamber of Commerce heads.

Reeves Purchases Mauldin Hatchery From D. Mauldin

Formal announcement was made this week of the purchase of the Mauldin Hatchery, owned and operated by Dave Mauldin for the past three years, by M. H. Reeves.

Following announcement of the purchase Reeves stated that the hatchery will be opened for the new hatch season Saturday, January 1st.

Emory Mullican, who has had two years of experience operating the Buckeye setting and hatching machines will be retained by Reeves during the coming season.

Mauldin at present is connected with the J. I. Case farm implement company, operating out of Abilene, a position he will devote his full time to in the future. Reeves, present manager of the Farmers Elevator company, will also retain his position with that firm.

Chicken feed, brooders, and other chick necessities will be stocked by Reeves, as had been the policy of Mauldin in the past three years. Read the announcement ad in this issue, of the Munday Hatchery.

Allen Wildcat Is Down to 400 Feet

The Allen No. 1, wildcat oil test on the Frank Allen ranch, located eight miles southeast of Goree, which was spudded in recently, had reached a depth of 400 feet by last weekend.

The test is being drilled by the Spoons Bros., of Fort Worth. The test is about 400 yards from the ranch house. Contract depth of the test has not been learned, but a fairly deep test is expected as that section has not been drilled very extensively in the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Taft Green of Quanah visited in the home of Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mabry, during the Christmas holidays.

TO ENTER RACE

John Wood of Timpson, Texas, present chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, will enter the race for membership to the Texas Railroad Commission, it is reported. Wood has been chairman of the highway group four and a half years.

Dr. R. E. Bailey Delivers Address To Lion Members

Members of the Munday Lions club heard a short talk by R. E. Bailey, Doctor of Foreign Languages at Oklahoma A. & M. college, in their regular noon luncheon Wednesday, at the Eland Hotel.

Following the luncheon a short business meeting of routine affairs was conducted by Lion President R. E. Davenport who called on Lion E. B. Harrell to introduce the speaker. Dr. Bailey is a nephew of Lion Harrell.

Bailey commented on attitudes of the Italians and French toward war and their actions towards citizens of other nations who tour or live in Italy and France. He cited economic reasons for the aggressive action of Italy and other nations.

At the close of his talk he answered questions of members of the club. The talk was thoroughly enjoyed by every member and proved educational to an appreciative group of listeners.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McStay had as guests Christmas Day their son, J. Dee McStay and Mrs. McStay of Vernon.

Political Calendar For 1938 Studded With Important Dates Of Coming Eventful Elections

The year 1938 is studded with many important political dates. The subjoined calendar, compiled by Vann M. Kennedy, Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee lists the most important dates and events.

The time for holding the next state democratic convention is uncertain because of conflicting election laws, Kennedy explained.

The calendar:—

Jan 31st—Last day for obtaining poll tax receipts.

June 6th—Last day upon which state office candidates and district office candidates (in districts containing more than one county) may file applications to have their names listed on the Democratic Primary ballot.

June 13th—State Democratic Executive Committee meets to make up ballot for primary election.

Committee also designates place where State Democratic convention will meet in September.

June 18th—Last day upon which county and precinct office candidates (in districts composed of only one county) may file applications to have their names listed on the primary election ballot.

June 20th—County Democratic executive committee meet to determine, by lot, the order of names listed on the ballot; to estimate expenses of the Primary; Election to assess costs against candidates.

TRAILER AND CAR STRIPPED HERE BY THIEVES

Former Munday Boy Faces Forgery Charges

Local officers were called out twice last Friday night on a car theft and theft of a trailer. Tag Nesbitt, city chief stated this week. Both vehicles were recovered but they were stripped of tires and other accessories.

A Chevrolet, belonging to Tom Martin, farm resident two miles south of Munday, was stolen off the streets here Friday night and found Sunday near the Lake Creek bridge east of the city. The machine had been stripped by the thieves.

A trailer belonging to Weldon Fild was taken from his farm Friday in the forepart of the night and tires were taken from it. The trailer was discovered a short distance from the home in a ditch by a neighbor.

Monday morning officers were called to the Farmers Elevator when it was discovered that the safe had been tampered with, in a futile attempt to crack it open.

The knob, which contained poison gas, had been pulled out enough to let the gas escape forcing the person or persons to leave. Entrance to the office had been gained through a window on the east side of the room. No damage was reported.

Nesbitt was also taking active part in the piling up of evidence in a forgery case in Vernon, when one of the parties arrested was found to be a former Munday youth.

Edward Stafford was arrested there when he attempted to pass a forged check for $173.25, it was reported. Other checks had also been sent him by another man in Raymondville, Texas, the officers stated.

The checks were made payable to G. E. Jackson and were on the Allen and Morris Drilling company of San Antonio and were signed "Charlie Bryan." The youth stated he had burned the other checks, Sheriff Williams of Wilbarger county announced.

THROCKMORTON MAN IS KILLED

Car Overtakes Sunday Morning at 4:00

An overturned automobile on the highway about four miles north of Throckmorton at 4 a.m. Sunday brought death to Will H. Davis, 19, Sunday afternoon at a Seymour hospital.

The youth was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, where it was discovered he was suffering from a fractured skull. Cause of the accident was not learned. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Davis of Throckmorton, prominent residents of this sector for years.

Services were held for the young man Monday afternoon from the Throckmorton church.

Davis was well known to many younger set of this city who extend sympathy to the family.

Knox City Will Stage Basketball Tournament Soon

With ten teams already entered, the Knox City annual high school tourney will be much larger and afford a faster basketball for fans than in the past, it is believed.

Teams that have signified their intention of playing include Sunset, Weinert, Rule, Rochester, Westover, Bomarton, Mattson, O'Brien, Mattson and Knox City. Trophies have already arrived for the champion and runner-up of the meet.

Date for the tourney has been set for Friday and Saturday, January 7 and 8, school officials have announced.

It is not known whether Munday will enter the meet or not.

SAMS WARNS TO PAY POLL TAX

Exempt $1,000,000 in State Tax For Homesteads

Evidencing the better conditions of Knox county in general can be cited by the valuation assessed for taxation given out by Earl Sams, county assessor-collector at Benjamin.

Valuation of the county has been placed at at $6,577,750 for the past year, which will net $125,130.18 for county and state treasury coffers.

The state will not collect taxes on the same dollar valuation as the county, as more than a million dollars of assessed property is not taxable by the state due to the homestead exemption.

Total assessed valuation of county property taxable by the state has been announced at $5,106,340. The county can levy upon and tax homesteads.

Total collections for 1937 taxes as recorded on county records December 28 was $34,730.66 which is about one-fourth of the total to be collected. A small part of the collection is delinquent taxes, Sams stated.

November led October and December in collection when property owners paid in $23,076.90. October brought in $3,629.28 while $8,204.48 was reported for December.

Sams also reported that poll tax collections were somewhat slow, and stated that the tax will have to be paid in at the courthouse. The poll tax books will be closed January 31st, Sams warned.

The $125,130.18 in taxes collected will be ratified out to different governmental agencies as follows: to state treasury, $25,021.06; to county government, $62,488.82; to bonded roads, $5,303.15; and for common schools of the county, $32,317.35.

Lions to Start Grid Project

Another project that will fit in with the "Build Munday" movement, is the possibility of night football for this city next fall. As was announced previously in the Times, the members of the Munday School board of trustees, unanimously passed a resolution to improve the athletic situation of the local school system.

A new head coach will be secured, with the present coach probably acting as assistant coach, new football equipment will be purchased and the school will enter Class B competition next year instead of class C.

The Munday Lions Club is sponsoring the movement and will undertake the lighting of the local grid field. The lighting movement will get under way soon after the first of the year.

Munday Should Get Calf Show

Munday's wide-awake business men have a wonderful chance to aid the county 4-H youths and at the same time aid the City of Munday by securing the Knox County 4-H Calf Show.

Knox City had the show last year. Any way you figure it, it is Munday's turn, but we should want it and go after it whether it is our turn or not.

Munday is the largest and best town in the county and should be the show place of the county's products, 4-H or otherwise. Our facilities are better, and if they are not we should make them the county's best.

It's a wonderful project for the Chamber of Commerce to work on for the new year in putting over a program of "Build Munday." Build Munday and you build Knox County, since this city is the merchandising center of the county.

LOOKING FORWARD—BUILD MUNDAY

During the past fall the business men of Munday and the farmers of the Munday trade area prepared for the largest fall business and cotton harvest that had been forecast for years—but nationwide production was so heavy that the price was depressed with each month crop forecast—thus shattering hopes for many men for a really prosperous fall business.

However, local merchants and farmers have much to be thankful for. In 1936 no bumper wheat crop was sold at a long price—feed was short—farmers were forced to sell cattle and cut their chicken flocks—the cotton crop was extremely short—all in all the farmer and business man was not in a sound financial condition in most instances, and many probably could not have stood another crop failure.

But this year is a different story. The wheat crop aided many farmers to pay debts, buy items they needed and wanted, the feed crop was bountiful, and as a result cattle are being fed out here this year, a bumper cotton crop was produced, true not at a fancy price, but with the aid of the government loan it will mean a money making crop.

For the incoming year, most farmers are better off financially than they were last year, practically all of them have cotton in the loan, which should pay bigger dividends and go on this year's business, the Soil Conservation program will pay farmers who participated thousands of dollars during the next two months, and the new wheat crop is in excellent condition.

The new year is even brighter than last year proved to be. The new year is an election year, which is also an aid to business. Munday is experiencing some expansion, the new warehouse of the compress and the new Banner Ice structure, which will house an ice cream freezing room, remodeled ice plant, together with the already established West Texas district office, West Texas Cottonseed Company, Compress, four gins, two grain elevators, and district Coca Cola plant will give this city a brighter aspect for the future.

There's always a bright side to everything, and it is brighter than usual for Munday and its immense trade area. Munday should be the best town between Wichita Falls and Abilene. Let's work to that end.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Austin—Few Texans who have not seen the project with their own eyes have any conception of the possible social economic consequences of a great piece of public work that is nearing completion in the heart of the State.

Reference is made to the extensive system of flood control and hydro-electric generation that is being developed along the Colorado River, near Austin. As a guest of the directors of the Colorado River Authority—the State agency which is directing the work that was financed through cooperation of the Federal Government—this writer together with half a hundred other Texas newsmen, was recently privileged to inspect the project.

For many years, the Colorado River, one of the most beautiful and attractive in Texas at low-water, and one of the wildest and most destructive during flood times, has taken annual toll of the farm lands and cities and towns lying in its basin. The average flood damage has been compiled at $4,000,000. To control this situation, the Colorado River Authority has planned a series of four dams—Buchanan, 45 miles above Austin, with a two-mile concrete dam impounding a million acre feet of water, and with a perimeter of 250 miles; Inks Dam, immediately below Buchanan dam, creating a lake 20 miles around; Marshall Ford dam, about 15 miles above Austin, impounding a lake 190 miles around; and Austin Dam, adjacent to the city, which was built many years ago, destroyed by flood, and is now being rebuilt and operated under lease to the CRA, impounding a lake 100 miles around. Hydro-electric equipment that will generate power at each of the four dams, and the project is so financed that the directors believe power can be furnished Texas consumers at rates approximately equal to those established by the TVA, in Southern States.

Two Dams Completed
The first two dams mentioned above have already been completed, and machinery for generating electricity is now being installed. The others will follow immediately. In addition to ending forever the flood menace on the Colorado, the project will furnish water to irrigate about 50,000 acres of rice fields in Colorado, Wharton and Matagorda. Normal flow of the stream is to be maintained at all times, and additional water required to irrigate the rice crops will be sold by the CRA at a low rate.

Financing involved a total of $25,000,000, of which $10,500,000 is a loan secured by bonds of the CRA to be repaid over a 30-year period from earnings on the project. The remainder was a grant from the emergency relief funds. The authority directors have used no state funds, neither asked nor received any tax remission, have no power to tax and may not mortgage or sell its properties.

Recreational Use
Plans for disposition of the power produced by the system are as yet not complete, except for the fact that the City of Austin will take power for serving the capital city, now served by a municipally operated steam plant. Private power companies already have a rather extensive network of distribution lines accessible to the lake area, and they could easily be connected, if plans are perfected for selling the power at low rates in this manner. If a cooperative distribution plan with the private companies cannot be worked out, the Authority may establish its own distribution system to strategically located large centers of population within economical distribution distance, which is said to be a circle with a diameter of 600 miles from the generating plants. The Authority has been hampered somewhat by litigation still pending, instituted by a group of private power producing and distributing concerns. The time and extent of the power benefits to Texans may hinge on the outcome of this litigation, or a compromise settlement of the case.

CRA Makes No Profit
The CRA is a state-chartered non-profit organization, created by Act of the Texas Legislature. The Chairman of its board is Roy Fry and directors are Fritz Engelhardt, vice chairman; A. J. Reinhard, C. R. Pennington, J. F. Huthins, Carl White, T. H. Davis, W. B. Arnold, and S. Raymond Brooks, Secretary. Brooks is an Austin newspaper reporter, widely popular and recognized as an authority on the reporting of State capital news throughout Texas. Officers of the authority are C. McDonough, general manager; A. J. Wirz, former state Senator, general counsel; L. C. Clark, treasurer; and C. B. Sheffield, auditor.

Austin—The Christmas season brought a moratorium on State politics for a couple of weeks, but it brought little peace or good-will to those who live by the whims of the voters.

The Statewide Jackson Day dinner, to be held in Dallas January 8, under sponsorship of the National Democratic Committee and the State Democratic Executive Committee, was the focus of political interest. Jesse Jones, chairman of the RNC, and a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940, was scheduled as principal orator. Although this is to be the only official Jackson Day dinner in Texas, attendance is limited to those who contribute $25 or more to finance the National Committee for a year. The idea is to spend $5 for the dinner arrangements, and turn in about $20 per capita, or around $20,000 to the National Committee, Postmasters, collectors of internal revenue, and other New Deal jobholders, together with State office-holders, will doubtless insure a capacity crowd of 1,000.

$2 DEMS TO DINE, TOO
Chairman Myron Bialock of the State Committee encountered some slight difficulty however, when announcement of plans for the official dinner was followed immediately by an announcement of a second Jackson Day dinner for "32 Democrats," to be held across the street in another hotel at the same hour as the official dinner. No part of the proceeds of the $2 Democrats dinner goes to the national committee, and the "official" dinner is the only one authorized by the national committee. The $2 dinner was sponsored by Emory Wiley, of Dallas. Mr. Wiley is something of a political promoter himself. He managed the unsuccessful campaign of Frank Morris for Railroad Commissioner two years ago, later toured the state seeking to promote a gubernatorial campaign for Freeman Burford, Dallas oil man. There was a slight suspicion that the $2 Democrats' dinner might be an effort to promote a candidate for Governor or Railroad Commissioner, more than to do honor to the memory of Old Hickory.

Centennial Backwash
An interesting flare-back from the political wounds left after the fighting that centered around the organization of the Texas Centennial Exposition of Dallas two years ago was staged in Dallas this week. When the banker group which ran the show threw out Walter Cline of Wichita Falls, the original director-general, they also ousted Otto Herold, Dallas Capitalist and president of the State Fair of Texas, who was Cline's first assistant. When the State Fair stockholders met the other night at Dallas, the banker group was shocked and surprised to find friends of Herold there with sufficient proxies to take complete charge of the election of directors. Five directors, generally recognized as belonging to the banker group, were denied re-election, and "new blood" substituted. The retired directors included R. L. Thornton, banker, who was chairman of the Centennial control committee.

Nathan Adams, head of Dallas' largest bank, and long a dominant figure in North Texas business and banking circles, made a vigorous personal fight on the floor for the bankers' group directors, but the voting ended in complete victory for Herold's forces.

Farmer Is Endorsed
Wrangling among members of the "everybody" convention, recently held in Waco, has ended in an endorsement of Clarence E. Farmer, the voluble little house member from Fort Worth, for Governor. Farmer's coup was accomplished by appointment of a committee which handed down the endorsement later, after a floor fight over the endorsement broke up the convention, when agents of Attorney General Bill McCraw sought the support of the pension group for their man. The smart politicians in Austin have been contending for some time that the strength of the pension-for-everybody group has been greatly exaggerated, and is virtually nil. They point out that with the pensioners split between Farmer, a candidate who probably will not run very fast, and Jim Ferguson, who didn't cut much figure in the last race for Governor, their votes will hardly be a deciding factor in July.

Notes
Laudatory editorials about Attorney General Bill McCraw published in one of the Houston newspapers owned by Jesse Jones recently have inspired one Dallas political writer to see an alliance between Jones and McCraw. He overlooks the fact that Jones is generally supposed to control another Houston paper, which usually takes the opposite side on political questions, so that Jones is "on a winner" regardless. Another Dallas political writer sees visions of an "all Dallas" state administration with this ticket: Bill McCraw, governor; Ex-Senator George Purl or Rep. Dallas Blankenship, Lieutenant-governor; Gerald C. Mann, ex-Secretary of state, attorney general; Frank Morris or Ex-Mayor Sergeant, Railroad Commissioner. He recalls that Dallas hasn't won a major state office since the days of Senator Charles E. Culberson, until McCraw was elected Attorney General, but thinks McCraw's victory has wiped out the apparent prejudice toward Dallas candidates, and the "All

'The REST Of the Record'

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

AUSTIN—It should be good news to Tom, Dick and Harry that unemployment insurance starts in Texas next Saturday, January 1st. It means that these workers that in the event they lose their jobs in 1938, they will have a windfall to help out until they can find employment.

Who doesn't remember those depressing days of 1933 when men walked the streets searching for employment, knowing that their cash reserve, if any, was rapidly dwindling? These men had no hope of help then from the government, only a blind faith that somehow we would "muddle through." To prevent the recurrence of those cruel days, something has been done about it!

1938 marks the era as the state and federal governments jointly enter upon the humanitarian program of the president by assisting out-of-work employees in finding new employment and in providing him with funds during unemployment. Already in the field are sixty employees of the Texas Unemployment Commission stationed at twelve district offices ready to serve the 12,600 employers and 875,000 employees who are enrolled under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act.

In almost every town in Texas, the Texas State Employment Service has an office where the unemployed may register for work. Every effort will be made by the service office to place the applicants. During the past few months scores of thousands have secured jobs in private employment arranged through the Employment Service.

Under the Compensation Act, if Tom, Dick, and Harry lose their jobs, these men must go to the Employment service office in their town and register for work. During a two weeks period in which time the applicant must report once a week to the office, every effort will be made to find them jobs. If the search fails, these men will be entitled to receive cash benefits payable weekly. The maximum payment is $15 per week, minimum $2, but they will be eligible for benefit payments not more than sixteen weeks in one year provided that their earnings have been sufficient to allow it.

If the applicants are receiving Workmen's Compensation or Old Age Assistance unless the assistance for benefit payments not more than sixteen weeks in one year provided that their earnings have been sufficient to allow it.

An employee to be eligible under the law must have been employed by an employer of 8 or more persons and his wages must have been reported to the Unemployment Compensation Commission by that employer and the employee name and social security account given.

Every employer is being furnished with detailed instructions concerning the proper form of reports and the method of filing of claims for benefits. Employees should acquaint themselves with this information either through their employer or by writing directly to the Unemployment Compensation Commission at Austin.

Shortly after the enactment of the Federal Social Security Act, I commissioned two attorneys to study unemployment insurance systems in other states and countries in order to determine the system most suitable to Texas. Such a system has been worked out with proper regard for two important features: first, that the system would not cause a tendency to lower wages; secondly, that no great hardship would be created for business and industrial employers.

Already a reserve fund amounting to approximately eighteen million dollars has been built up resulting from taxes collected during 1937. Such taxes were levied by the Federal government and would have been collected whether the state joined in the program or not. In submitting the subject at the called session in September, 1936, where it was passed and signed by me, Texas was insured of participation in this humanitarian program.

Thus, Texas enters a new era where a helping hand is being extended by the state to the unemployed. The New Year should bring a feeling of security to Tom, Dick and Harry!

Mrs. Annie Isbell, who resides four miles southwest of Munday and Mrs. Olga Reed, of southeast of the city, and Miss Myrtle Munday, daughters of J. E. Munday, all spent the holidays in the home of their father during the holidays. It was the first time in several years that the family had gathered together.

Jesse H. Jones Will Be Honor Guest At State Jackson Day Banquet Slated January 8 At Adolphus Hotel, Dallas

Dallas, Dec. 28.—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will be the honor guest at the State Jackson Day Banquet to be held at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas on the night of January 8th. Mr. Jones has wired chairman Myron G. Bialock of the State Democratic Executive Committee and Harold H. Young, Chairman of the Texas Jackson Day Campaign, his acceptance of the invitation given him by Democrats of the State. He promises a message of importance to business and political interests of Texas.

More than a thousand Democrats, representing every county in Texas are expected to be present at this dinner which will be the greatest Democratic rally to be held in Texas during the coming year.

The Jackson Day Banquet closes a month's campaign for funds for the National Democratic Party in Texas. Each State in the Union will stage a Jackson Day banquet under the auspices of the National Democratic Committee. Every Democrat contributing or pledging the sum of $25 or more to the National Party's treasury is being given an invitation to the banquet. Hundreds of reservations have already been made.

"This is the only official Jackson Day Banquet in Texas," Democratic Chairman Myron G. Bialock says. "The Dallas banquet is sponsored by Vice President John N. Garner, James A. Farley and the National Committee. No state will have more than one official dinner under sanction of the National Democratic organization. This is the only occasion that Democratic funds will be asked in Texas during the coming year."

PROMINENT BENJAMIN MAN VISITS IN MUNDAY

Chas. Moorehouse of Benjamin was in our office today and made a social call. Mr. Moorehouse is an old-timer of this county, having lived here over thirty years. He was in the cattle and mercantile business for many years, but for the past five years has been in the cattle commission business. He has served his city for several years on the local school board and on the county school board, also many years as Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee. He is expected to be a candidate for County Treasurer of Knox County and will announce at the proper time.

Mrs. Anna Simonish of Rhine-land, who has been visiting in that community and Munday during the past few weeks, left last Thursday for Abilene to make her home for the present. She renewed her subscription to the Munday Times before leaving for her new home.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTIAN SERVICE
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 2.
The Gospel of St. Mark: a Preview. Text: Mark 10:35-45

The Gospel of St. Mark will form the basis of lessons for the first six months of 1938. The text of the first discussion, which forms an introduction to the series, is taken from the middle of the Gospel. Subsequent lessons will be based upon texts taken from chapters in regular sequence.

The general title of these lessons is "The Gospel of Service," and this introductory lesson has to do with the spirit of the Christian disciple, and with the nature and privilege of service following the example of Jesus Himself.

Primarily in all moral life and especially in Christian living is the matter of motive. There are many ruling motives in life. There is the motive of gain, or of self-interest, which may be very low and sordid, or which may be more refined and enlightened.

There is the motive of love or place or of fame; there is the motive of the love of power; and there are many other motives which consciously, may influence men in their thoughts and actions.

In our lesson, by way of contrast with the Christian motive and to bring out strongly the reality of Christian service, we have two sons of an ambitious mother, who request that the positions of honor and preferment, when Jesus comes in His kingdom, may be given to them.

They have not realized the spiritual mission of Jesus; and thinking chiefly of a kingdom which they assume Jesus is going to establish as the Messiah, their request is that one should sit on His right hand and the other on His left hand when He assumes the throne.

Jesus reminds them that they do not know what they ask. He inquires whether they are willing to drink of the cup that He drinks, and be baptized with the baptism that He is baptized with, apparently having in mind the persecution and ultimately the crucifixion that await Him.

But James and John, the so-called Sons of Thunder, are insistent. They declare that they are able and willing to assume all the rigors of the kingdom. Jesus accepts their declaration of ability and loyalty; but He assures them that the places that they ask are not His to give.

Naturally, the 10 other disciples, when they heard of this effort of James and John to secure the foremost places, were very indignant. And it is to this indignant company of disciples that Jesus declares the law of His kingdom.

It is a kingdom of love and righteousness very different from the kingdoms of the world. In the kingdoms of the world, those who lord it over the others are called great ones; but there is a different standard in the kingdom of Christ. There, greatness is measured by the extent to which one has given his life to the rule of love, and become a ministering servant to his fellowmen.

"Whoever shall be first among you," says Jesus, "shall be the servant of all."

This plain and simple teaching Jesus enforces concerning His own life. He is not asking other men to assume a way of life and duty that He Himself has not undertaken. Rather, He sets His own life and purpose as the example.

"For the Son of man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

Hospital Dismissals

Patients who have been dismissed from the Knox County Hospital at Knoxville during the past week end were listed as follows on the hospital records:

Mrs. J. S. McBeth and baby, O'Brien; Mrs. Lamar Searcey and baby of Munday; Mrs. J. D. Smith Rochester; Mrs. Bob Jones and baby, Knox City; Mrs. S. A. Billingsley, Elbert, Texas; and Mrs. L. A. Shelley and baby of Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hollar and son spent Christmas Day with Mr. Hollar's mother at Dumont, Texas.

Over 4,000 Loans Received by Land Bank During Year

Houston, Texas, Dec. 28.—Of the 4,513 applications for loans received by the Federal Land Bank of Houston during the first eleven months of 1937, 1,424 were for funds to be applied in the purchase of farms and 3,089 were for other purposes including the refinancing of existing loans, according to A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank and General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston. The amount applied for totaled $15,069,200, and the requests came from all over Texas.

Mr. Williams explained that the large number of requests for loans to purchase farms reflects a rising real estate market and a revival of the general belief in the desirability of a farm as an investment.

"Another factor in the increase which to help purchase farms is the availability of Land Commissioner Loans," Mr. Williams continued. "The interest rate on new loans by the Federal Land Bank is four per cent, and on Commissioner loans five per cent. By a special act of Congress, a temporary interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent on Federal Land Bank loans will be in effect until June 30, 1938, and of 4 per cent on Commissioner loans until July 22, 1939."

Looking Backwards And Looking Forward

As we look back upon 1937, we are thankful for your consideration during the year and wish to express our gratitude.

Looking forward into the days of the New Year, we see evidence that good efforts will be worthily rewarded, that progress and prosperity will make this land and this community its abiding place. Full steam ahead—with confidence, courage and co-operation.

The following spent Christmas visiting friends and relatives here:

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kubecka and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jones and Miss Clara Strubel of Wichita Falls, Texas, Miss Veronica Schumacher and Mr. Albert Loran and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herman and family of Abilene, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hood and daughters of Trent, Texas, Misses Alice and Bertha Birkenfeld and Mr. John Mingle of Scotland, Texas.

Miss Jean Walsh spent the holidays visiting relatives in Wichita Falls, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hoffman and family spent the holidays in Scotland, Texas.

Sr. M. Coletta, O.S.B., had the misfortune of being burned very badly about the arm Christmas day. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Messrs Alfred Diersing and Robert Albus spent Christmas at Pep, Texas.

Miss Sophie Herring returned home to spend the holidays after an extended stay in Mountaineer, New Mexico.

Senior Report

The Seniors had quite a time during the Christmas holidays. Santa Claus was very good to us all.

Heed ye: A man has less conscience when in love than in any other condition. The Seniors are wondering to whom this applies. We don't think this refers to us.

Examinations are just around the corner but the Seniors have no fear, because they have worked diligently.

We were very much satisfied with the Christmas program and are grateful for the large attendance.

We wish to take this opportunity to wish all of our friends and patrons a very, very happy and prosperous New Year. We wish that the New Year will be filled with many joys and no sorrows for one and all.

Junior News

All the Juniors came to school Tuesday morning looking bright and jolly. It seems as if Santa treated us very nicely, but how long will the jolly look last when exams are just around the corner. Those of us that have worked diligently in keeping up our lessons need not fear.

Since Santa did not bring the T model that the Juniors wanted, they will have to make some arrangements to get enough money to buy one so they can cross the Atlantic or the Pacific, it makes no difference. Some of you readers that have agreed on our plan and would like to help us in our great despair may send us a few pennies. We would like to trade our geometry books for a Ford that has streamlined wheels, knee action on the back springs and a loud horn to blow and let people know we are coming.

The Juniors have been quite puzzled over Theresia wearing gloves during class time. We have been thinking she must have some sort of ring that she does not want to see.

Sophomore News

The Sophomores looked rather bored when they came to school after the Christmas holidays, but we suppose they will soon get into the spirit of readin', writin' and 'rithmetic.

From reports the Christmas program on Thursday night was enjoyed by all. That makes us feel that our efforts were not in vain. After the program which included

The Lutheran wedding march greeted the bride and groom as they entered and the Mendelssohn recessional was played at the close of the ceremony. The bride and groom were unattended.

The bride wore a powder blue costume with navy blue accessories, and her flowers were a corsage of white carnations.

THE ROAD TO BETHLEHEM
When Mary went to Bethlehem
One day so long ago,
I think her heart was filled with peace,
Her voice was soft and low.
For holy thoughts of motherhood
To nature's ways were blent.
To make the path a worship place,
A silent sacrament.

She must have seen the grazing sheep
And shepherds watching them.
She saw the thread of low-hatched roofs
As she neared Bethlehem.
No doubt her serious thoughts
Gave way
To words of ecstasy
When she first saw the silvery green
Of fig and olive tree.

And when she reached the city's gate
She quenched her thirst, I think
With cooling draughts from out the spring
Where David longed to drink,
And looking down to water's depth
With wonder in her eyes—
Perhaps a star was mirrored there
Reflected from the skies.

Had Mary known the things she saw
Would play a vital part
In bringing honor to her Babe.

Could it have caught her heart
With any sweeter, holier thoughts
Than those she had that day
Along the road to Bethlehem
As she went on her way?
—Mrs. E. L. Robertson, Lubbock

ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Hear the glad bells ringing
on Christmas Day,
Hear the happy children singing
on Christmas Day.
On the air the music swelling
on Christmas Day,
Oh the stories they are telling
on Christmas Day.
Blessed story of the birth,
on Christmas Day,
When Jesus came from Heaven
on Christmas Day.
Coming as a tiny stranger
on Christmas Day,
Born within a lowly manger
on Christmas Day.
Glory be to God in Heaven
on Christmas Day,
For the Savior He has Given
on Christmas Day.

PEEP SHOW

FOR LADIES ONLY
—BY—
MIGNON

Light tall, stately candles and sing carols sweet
Ring joy bells of gladness, lay gifts at His feet—
For 'tis the king's birthday, and angels join in Singing peace and good will on earth to all men.

That's the soul-shine Demma Ray Oldham can express at Christmas time. I picked up that little gem bodily for the Farmer-Stockman and so you have both Demma Ray and Lola Clark Pearson to thank for it. Demma Ray is that soft-eyed short story writer who is some kin to me on the Pictorial Review side of my family. At least I love to feel that way about her. I didn't know she was a poet too. But I did know that anything she might write would be as lovely and delicate as a frost etching on a stained church window.

All up and down my quiet little street red candles burn on window sills. They are to guide the Christ Child to that little home whose window is so cheery. Should He come down our little street we would be expecting a chubby curly haired dimpled boy. How we would welcome him, how we would groom our household to receive him. We would use our guest linens and shining glass, and our guest silver and fine lace. On top of the Christmas tree there would be placed a golden star in honor of Him. Beneath the tree would repose gifts that were in keeping with so wonderful a guest. He should sleep beneath silken coverlets, which had been scented and warmed for him. And yet it is it were possible for him to come down our little street he would have none of these. He would lie sleepless and tossing, his clear eyes troubled with sorrow. For he would remember the little family that he had passed huddling from the cold in a cotton picker's shack who was burning corn stalks on Christmas Night. He could see the old crippled lady and her son whose dragging feet pattered between the dugout door and the rags upon which she lay. He would cringe at the thought that another little babe was on its way in a home where eight little mouths had to go without a plate of soup on this frosty night of magic and moonlight. As he warmed his hands by our cozy hearth-fire he could see the blackened oil-barrel stoves which had been filled with tumble weeds and grass and old automobile tires to belch the smell of tar and grease over the huddled children of our neighborhood only a few blocks away. The hot spicy punch from our mirrored centerpiece would be a bitter drink to Him for he could not swallow the lump in his throat after seeing the table of that family who is camped at the city dump ground. No, it is well perhaps that the Christ Child cannot come down our quiet little street. And yet He may in spirit. And may this spirit of love and compassion dwell beside our hearth fire of each home that our eyes may see what He would have us see and our ears hear and heed the cry of want and suffering.

I read a believe it or not this week that said one guy held a certain note on his cornet for twenty-nine minutes. Poohy... I've held a note on a certain guy in Missouri ever since 1932.

Christmas—the old joyous message of peace on earth good will toward men. As long as words are in our language and sentences are our means of communication they will be the most beautiful. A time when "morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy." For lateness, for reverence for the quality of mother love, for humility and for great joy. It is a time for opening the door of your heart a little wider. It is a time for giving and forgiving. Old hurts can be healed, old wounds forgotten. It is a time when memory waits beside you like a presence. Old fires can be rekindled and the coals of friendships and have begun to grey can be fanned again into warmth and beauty and then banked by gentleness and kindness can be kept alive through the years. In the words of Timmy Tim, "God Bless us Every One."

Miss Gail Reynolds, who is attending Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, is visiting friends and relatives here during the holidays.

They Keep Childhood Oath

"We solemnly swear . . . to stick together . . ." Thus these six girls formed a secret society in fourth-grade days in Belton, Texas. Now that college days are here, the six original members are still banded together at Texas State College for Women, Denton. From top of circle to right, these young ladies are Val Jean Singleton, Violet BeVillie, Gladys DuBose, Dorothy Pirtle, Mary Alice Garner, and Rosemary Pelk.

Old year has meant in our lives, does it make the chest lift upward and a voice from within whisper to the soul that "It isn't so bad." Frankly, do we get all out of life that one should get under existing conditions? Well, that is a question that every fellow must answer for himself. I have yet to find the person that has tapped every resource of life and exhausted every possibility of becoming his best self. At least the future possibilities are a challenge to most of us. Let's talk more about this Sunday at the morning service in our "New Year's Resolutions."

The many Christmas cards, with cheery greetings, were received graciously, and so appropriate were the verses. I take it that they were selected with care and purpose. Now my time has come to say "Cheerio," with a "God Bless You"—"And I Do Mean You." A unique little gift will be awaiting each one that attends Sunday School of this church Sunday morning. I tie my first "Cash-in" on my New Year's resolution, be on hand for your share in it, won't you?

The church exists to meet your spiritual needs. Its future depends on its ability to do just this for the people who attend its services. If it is failing to meet your needs all us about it and suggest possible ways in which its services may be improved and thereby render a greater service in the community. The milliones that grind no grist turn in vain. "Approximately 80,000 people have left Germany since the advent of the National Socialist regime—approximately 12,000 to 14,000 of them are Christians." I wonder why they are leaving?
H. A. Longino

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The bells ring out the Old Year and ring in the New Year. Whatever of failure and disappointments we may have sustained during the past year let's work them into stepping stones and from them climb to better things this year. Every day will bring opportunities for service and life-investments.

We wish for everyone the joy and blessings of a well-regulated life. Joy and peace come to those who fore themselves in service to God and humanity. The spring is purest when it is running at its greatest capacity, so is life.

May we start the year right by giving God and His church the proper place in our life and plans. Job said (5:8) "I would seek unto God, and unto God would commit my cause." "Commit they way unto the Lord, trust also in Him, and He shall bring it to pass." (Ps. 37:5.)

He's An Industrial Worker!

YOU would naturally think of the man operating the tractor as a farmer. And he is a farmer, but he's also an increasingly important figure in the industrial world, not only as a consumer but as a producer. He's engaged in hoeing up a field of soy beans which later, after passing through various factory processes, you'll be using in the form of paint and varnish, soap, linoleum and scores of other products. Consumers Information points out that 91 million pounds of soy bean oil, a comparatively new crop for American farmers, was produced in one recent year. Of this amount, 2 1/2 million pounds went into the soap kettles, 5 million into linoleum and 13 million into paint and varnish. This brand new market for American farmers, who are now growing a large number of industrial as well as food products, has been developed, like many others, through the vast research programs undertaken by American industry, whose laboratories have added untold millions to the national wealth and also thousands of jobs for American workers.

feet of hose was laid.

During the past year eleven fires were fought by the local fire department with the small damage of $8,595 according to reports made to the state fire marshal, for an average loss at each fire of $781. This is considered extremely low. Five of the past twelve months no fire alarms were turned in, which can be partly attributed to elimination of hazards by the local department.

Every citizen of Munday, regardless of personal feeling, owes every member of the local volunteer fire department a hearty vote of appreciation. Where can you find a more efficient and better trained active volunteer fire department?

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS

"For thirty years I had stubborn constipation, awful gas bloating, headaches and pains in the back. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better."

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL
by MAX BERN'S

Binding the Union

During the first hundred years under our Constitution, what part did the Supreme Court play in cementing the union of States?

Because it lacked the necessary powers to enforce its acts, the union of States under the Articles of Confederation, almost collapsed. To give it the required strength and to correct other faults, our Constitution was adopted. Under it the States surrendered to the Federal government certain specified national powers and defined the Federal Constitution as "the supreme law of the land." . . . anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

The States knew from experience that this was necessary to preserve the union. But in actual practice they frequently adopted or changed State constitutions or passed State laws in conflict with the Federal Constitution. When such cases came before the Supreme Court it found such State laws unconstitutional. In fact, during the first century of the Supreme Court's existence, the chief conflicts over Court decisions were not in connection with the Court's action regarding acts of Congress, but in the limitations which Court decisions placed upon State authority.

As time passed it became clear that if different States had been allowed regularly to pass laws in condict with "the supreme law," there soon would have been no supreme law, that is, no Constitution. Chaos would have resulted and the union would have collapsed. Especially by its work during the first century of its existence the Supreme Court was an important factor in preventing this and thus binding and preserving the union.

Examination For Health Should Be Part of Inventory

Austin, Texas, Dec. 28—Stock taking or inventory time will be here in just a few days and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges everyone to visit their family physician and have a thorough physical examination.

Each year merchants take an inventory of their assets to determine the condition of their business. Personal health is a big business for everybody, and they should take stock of their physical condition at least once a year.

Perhaps it is lack of persistent warning, but it seems to be downright carelessness that permits one of the greatest life savers yet devised by science to be scorned by the majority. For, in spite of repeated statements concerning the advantages of early discovery and treatment of conditions which are only possible by way of a physical examination at a time when one feels and looks well, the antiquated idea of snubbing the doctor until the pain and illness overtakes one still rules.

Cancer, tuberculosis, nephritis, diabetes and heart ailments are below the belt hitters. Being master criminals they attack silently, and frequently have their victims in their power before they are aware of their presence.

It is urgently recommended that those who wish to live throughout the year and other years to come, as healthily and happily as possible, should have a complete physical examination. The correction of any defects in their early stages will save much time, suffering and money.

Why Newspapers Ask For "Early Copy"

The Advertiser Is Unfair to Himself When He Sends His Advertisement to the Newspaper Office Just Before the Dead-Line

Early "Copy" Late "Copy"

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1. Better position. | Risk of poor position. |
| 2. No errors. | Risk of typographical errors. |
| 3. Time for store corrections. | No opportunity for store corrections. |
| 4. Good typography. | Risk of poor typography. |
| 5. Prompt delivery to reader. | Risk of late delivery. |
| 6. Fair to mechanical staff. | Unfair physical and mental strain. |
| 7. Advertisement well written. | Advertisement hurriedly written. |
| 8. Advertisement inserted. | Risk of omission. |
| 9. Overhead normal. | Often cause of rate increase. |
| 10. Illustrations correct. | Risk of misplaced cuts. |

- While a newspaper is a marvel of mechanical efficiency, there are limits on what can be done by a given force of printers, stereotypers and pressmen in a short, crowded period of stress.
- There is plenty of time to give every advertiser good service when early copy is sent in.
- The Times believes that its advertisers desire to be fair to the printers, stereotypers and pressmen who serve them as well as to be fair to themselves.
- Visitors to the mechanical department are invited so that the process of handling advertising may be thoroughly understood and the mechanical problems fully realized.
- Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated by the entire personnel of The Times.
