Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

"We recognize the vital part newspapers play in the overall picture of communications."

That statement was made by Joe H. Collins, director of public relations for the General Telephone Company of the Southwest in a letter to this newspaper.

Collins stated in the letter that his company will continue its advertising program on about the same basis as last year. "We look forward to 1965 being a year of advancement and are pleased that our plans can include advertising in your newspaper."

We imagine that similar letters went to 142 other editors of the area served by this company, which will use 143 newspapers for its scheduled ads. Advertising rates vary with newspapers, but even at our own rate the telephone company is spending quite a sum of money when an ad is placed in all these newspapers.

The company has made advancement in the Munday area, too. It has just completed installing nearly 100 rural telephones in the area, using the underground cable system of connections.

The deadlines are beginning to gain headway on us!

We here at the newspaper office face a deadline every week, so it's nothing new to us. But the deadlines we're referring to now are of a different nature.

First, there's the deadline for paying your taxes. This will be January 31, which is on Sunday. If not paid by then, you'll wake up on Monday morning with your taxes delinquent. That old penalty and interest stuff that is tacked onto delinquent taxes kinda leaves a bad taste on one's mouth.

The same date is the deadline for paying your poll tax—and securing that little receipt that means you're a full-fledged voter this year. You may think this of little importance this year, since it's not a regular election year—but there's no way of telling what might come up that will require a vote.

Just one opportunity to vote for or against some movement might be well worth the dollar six-bits that little receipt will cost you.

Then there's a deadline for that little job of having a new safety inspection sticker placed on the windshield of your car. The cost here is small, and it don't take long to get it done if you don't wait until the last day!

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety in Texas, says we're kinda lagging in this little detail this year. We're carrying his story elsewhere in this paper, in which he says he'd like for you to get those stickers (for your own good) before the deadline nears.

Another deadline is in regards to your annual payment to Uncle Sam. We guess you've already gotten your income tax forms, as we have, and these have served as a reminder of that painful chore.

We don't like this chore at any time, because we are not too adept at juggling figures. Much of the time, we can look at figures until they began to sorta run together and get confusing. Another painful part of it, too, is that we've never been able to juggle the figures enough to show that we don't have to pay any income tax!

Funny, too, that most of us prolong the agony as long as we can when we're pretty positive we're gonna have to dig up some cash. But if there's a prospect that we don't have to pay any—and maybe get a refund—then we can get our returns in early!

We used to think that maybe a tax collector didn't have a very high social standing, but not anymore! When the state sales tax went into effect, it sorta made tax collectors out of all of us.

Tater planting time will soon be here. We noticed a batch of the seed potatoes being stored in the Mayes building on Main Street a few days ago. One report we received is that the acreage will be a little smaller this year.

Sen. Hightower Is Appointed To 23 Committees

Senator Jack Hightower, who was sworn in Tuesday as the new Senator for the 23rd Senatorial District, received appointment to ten of the Senate's 23 Standing Committees. The appointments were announced Wednesday by Lt. Governor Preston Smith.

Senator Hightower was named as chairman of the Labor and Management Relations Committee, a signal honor for a freshman Senator. The other committees to which he was appointed are: Agriculture and Livestock, Contingent Expense, Counties Cities Towns, Insurance, Legislative Congressional and Judicial Districts, Military and Veterans Affairs, Oil and Gas, State Affairs, and Water and Conservation.

Senator Hightower said "I am delighted that Lt. Governor Smith has given me these opportunities to serve on committees which will be considering legislation vitally important to our District."

Auto Inspections Lagging In Texas

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, this week encouraged Texas motorists to "start the new year with a safe vehicle" by securing the 1965 vehicle inspection sticker without delay.

The Public Safety Director said that approximately one-half of the inspection period has expired and only about one-fourth of the vehicles in the state have been inspected. He added that unless the inspection pace is stepped up, motorists may expect to find the usual waiting lines at the inspection stations when the April 15 deadline approaches.

"The inspection stickers for 1965 have been available since September 1," Garrison said, "allowing ample time for all vehicles to be inspected without delay prior to the deadline. There can be no extension of the deadline and vehicles not displaying the new sticker will be in violation of the law after April 15."

Texas now has more than 5,200 authorized inspection stations over the state. According to Garrison, these stations are ready and capable of handling the remaining uninspected vehicles without delay provided vehicle owners do not wait until just a few days before the deadline.

He pointed out that the basic function of vehicle inspection is to detect and correct vehicle defects that might cause an accident. He said that last year vehicle defects contributed to fewer traffic accidents than ever before in Texas.

Post Office Store Looted At Truscott

TRUSCOTT — Energetic burglars broke into the post office here Thursday night, "peeled" its safe, battled through a wall into an adjacent grocery store and then escaped unnoticed.

Total amount of their loot—exclusive of stamps and money order blanks which were being checked Friday by a postal inspector—was $24 cash from the post office, 19 full cartons and nine part-cartons of cigarettes, several pounds of coffee and a jar of old coins from the grocery.

Resting from their labors, the burglars drank several bottles of soft drinks, leaving them on the grocery counter.

Paul Bullion, husband of the Truscott postmaster, discovered the crime about 7:30 a.m. Friday. K. H. Bullard of Wichita Falls, a postal inspector arrived Friday to investigate.

A set of post office wire cutters, used by the burglars, and the soft drink bottles were checked for fingerprints. He also examined a couple of foot-prints in damp earth below the window through which the burglars entered.

Plastic screening over the north post office window had been torn off and the nailed shut window broken open.

The safe had been peeled, apparently by use of pinch bar, sledge hammer and chisel. After one unsuccessful try to go through the wall into Bates Grocery, the burglars moved over to a closet for another, more successful try using the wire cutters.

The grocery safe, blown open in a burglary two years ago and never repaired, contained no money, nor did the cash register.

The grocery has been burglarized six times in 19 years. The post office was burglarized in February two years ago and a safe—smaller than the one now in use—carried away and abandoned a mile west of town. Two men later were arrested in Reno, Nev., with stolen money orders.

The latest burglars left behind three sacks apparently intended to haul away the loot.

Representatives Of Four Counties Are Told Need Of Junior College Is Urgent

A representative group of people from Haskell, Stonewall, Knox and hockmorton counties heard Dr. William A. Hunt of Big Spring speak on the needs of a junior college last Friday night at Rochester.

Dr. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, said the college "is fast reaching the point of being forced to limit our enrollment." Emphasizing that education is not only the friend but the partner of business, Dr. Hunt said that "the areas that have colleges have a bright future. They will attract industry. They will grow in population."

Dr. Hunt was introduced by Mrs. Luther Burkett of Haskell, chairman of the steering committee which is trying to secure a junior college for the four-county area.

The Big Spring educator, basing his conclusions on the premise that "the next few years are going to see years of tremendous population growth in Texas," declared, "In a time of unprecedented growth and scholastic enrollment, the need is great for community colleges, such as that projected for this area, that will serve the total population."

"Education is not a costly thing, but is actually pays dividends to an area," he continued. "The basic answer to the question of 'What is a college worth to an area?' is that the per capita wealth varies with the amount of educational opportunity offered."

"The greater the education offering, the greater the per capita wealth," Dr. Hunt said. "Above all, the junior college is the school for the working man's offspring or for the working man himself," Dr. Hunt pointed out. "It is the college of the people and is closer to the people than any other type of institution of higher education."

The junior college program, he stressed, serves the needs of the community and is more economical to operate and to attend.

"At present, there are 33 junior colleges in 31 districts in Texas, with an enrollment this year of more than 30,000," he said. "Texas' population growth in the next 10 years will exceed the national picture and therefore, I think you can see, we face some serious classroom space problems in college education in Texas."

Dr. Hunt reasoned that if something isn't done immediately, 40 per cent of the boys and girls desiring to do so cannot get into college and "we can't go on building senior colleges to solve the problem of mounting enrollment because the cost is prohibitive, about $900 per student, to the state."

In junior colleges, he said, "request is made for an average of $500 per student or the cost of instruction in teacher salaries and supplies. A local junior college district builds the buildings and puts up the money for the maintenance for the plant."

Feeling that local areas "must help themselves if their children are to be educated," said Dr. Hunt, "the state of Texas is placing itself in a position to help."

Other advantages of an area junior college, Dr. Hunt summarized, are: It keeps the student at home two more years under parental guidance until he or she is more mature and better able to deal with social problems; reduces the cost of a college education to the parent; it has a low tuition cost of $50 per semester per student set by the Texas Legislature, placing a college education within reach of every boy and girl; stimulates local economy because studies show each student is worth $1,000 per year to the merchants in the community where he or she lives.

Contrary to public opinion, the cost of the operation of a public junior college "will be negligible," declared Dr. Hunt. "Realistic studies show that education pays dividends to an area—in many cases—$20 for every $1 invested."

POWER AT THE TOP

The proposal that a portion of federal income tax revenues be returned to the states, so that they can do needed things for themselves instead of having to look to Washington for help, isn't likely to get anywhere in the foreseeable future. It is a highly complex and controversial matter.

But the mere fact that so revolutionary an idea is urged by responsible people is in itself a biting commentary on what has happened to the American system of government.

The founding fathers established a central government of severely limited powers. It was to do what only a central government could adequately do, such as to provide for the national defense. The states and local governments were strong and independent entities, entrusted to meet the varying wants, needs and problems of their populations.

The formal structure of state and local government remains. But the foundation has been largely whittled away by legislative acts, by administrative decisions, and by judicial interpretations. In more and more areas of our national life, Washington calls the tune, and all must dance to it.

This is costly in dollars—the vast administrative bureaucracy must be paid. It is costly in a more important coin—that of diminished or destroyed state and local rights, obligations, responsibilities, and power of decision. Unless a halt is called, the end result can only be a federal welfare state in which the individual is only a number and all power is concentrated at the top.

FREE SPEECH AT STAKE

Has the National Labor Relations Board the authority to abrogate an employer's right of free speech?

The Board, in a late 4-to-1 decision, says, in effect, that it has.

The decision concerns contract negotiations between an international union and a major manufacturing company in 1960. The company used available media—such as plant newspapers, press releases and radio—to present its side of the case. This, the Board now holds, amounted to failure to bargain in good faith.

The dissenting member, Boyd Leedom, was clearly confused and disturbed by the decision. He pointed out that it provided no guidelines for the employer, and added, "Surely the respondent . . . can lawfully communicate with its employees."

The company will now take the matter to the courts. A spokesman says, "In our judgment this split decision rewrites the law and, if upheld by the courts, it would undermine free collective bargaining and freedom of speech." It is certainly hard to believe that Congress ever intended to limit or prohibit the right of either labor or management to give its views on controversies.

YMCA WEEK

Next to the cross and the crescent, the YMCA's Red Triangle is the world's most widely known religious symbol. And this splendid organization will be given thoroughly earned recognition during YMCA Week, January 24-31.

The "Y" was organized 121 years ago in London for the purpose of "the improvement of the spiritual and mental condition of young men engaged in houses of business." Shortly after its transplation to America in 1851, it broadened its aims to include improving minds, bodies, spirits and the social outlook of youth on all levels.

Among its most notable achievements has been 75 years in two major fields of current interest—the teen-ager and our relations with other peoples of the world. The largest single teen-ager program in North America today—the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y program of the "Y"—has over 350,000 boy and girls members in more than 12,000 clubs. With "service" being the major aim, the clubs have as their purpose "to create, maintain and extend throughout school and community high standards of Christian character." And abroad the "Y" is at work in 83 countries and territories. Significantly, the World Alliance of YMCA's is today headed by an African, Dr. Charles Sherman of Liberia.

The "Y" has earned your salute—not only during the Week honoring it but every week.

A REMARKABLE YEAR

John A. Conway contributed an impressive article to the December issue of The Exchange Magazine, the monthly publication of the New York Stock Exchange. It details the economic performance that distinguished 1964.

It is a dazzling story of material advances. Just about every index showed gains. To list a few, Mr. Conway tells us that even before the year-end checks were written, corporation dividends were running at a $20 billion-a-year clip, up $2 billion from 1963. Personal income approached the half-a-trillion mark. The gross national income was in the neighborhood of $628 billion, well above early predictions.

So it goes. At the same time, Mr. Conway touched on two worrisome elements. One is the possibility of more inflation. The other is that unemployment, holding at 5.2 per cent of the work force, remains too high.

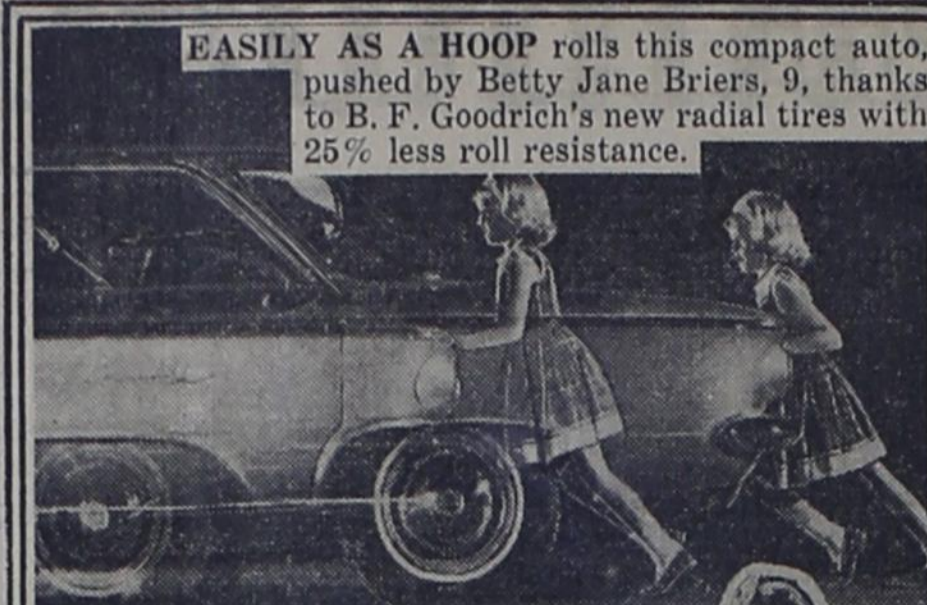

These problems aside, 1964 was a remarkable year in which our economic system—whether we call it capitalism, free enterprise, or anything else—demonstrated its vast vigor, imagination, will-to-progress and ability to serve. The task ahead will be to protect and nurture that system.

Decision is a sharp knife that cuts clean and straight; indecision, a dull one that hacks and tears and leaves ragged edges behind it.—Gordon Graham.

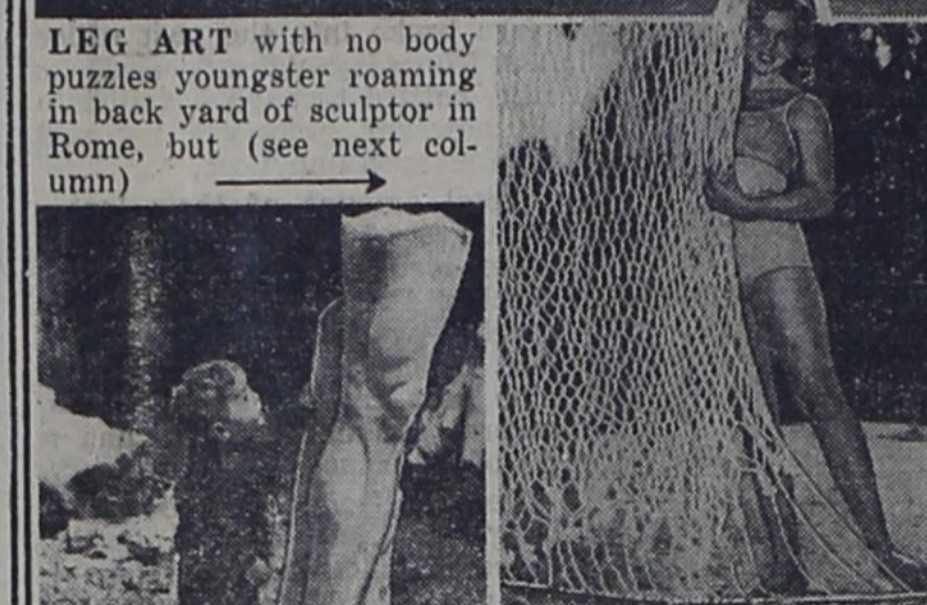

BEDFORD, IND., TIMES-MAIL: "Treasury Secretary Dillon has said that the administration will seek the elimination of excise taxes on toilet articles, cosmetics, jewelry, furs and leather goods. But among the excise taxes which would be left standing are those on admissions, gasoline, autos, liquor, tobacco, telephone service and air passenger travel . . . it is difficult to make a case for continuing the taxes on telephone service and air passenger travel. Taxes on essential services tend to discourage the use of these services and to hold back their expansion."

Danger: A Stale Will

Unlike wine, wills seldom improve with age. Events that occur after your will is made may turn its wisdom into folly, its plans into pitfalls, its kindness into cruelty. Yet, when you die, the law will usually follow your instructions to a T, heedless of what has happened in the meantime.

In a few special situations—suppose you got married, or got divorced, or had a child, or lost a child—local statutes may make automatic changes in your will. But such changes are cut to a standard pattern, perhaps bringing results you may not have wanted at all. Worse, there are all sorts of possibilities that statutes simply cannot deal with in any orderly fashion.

Consider this case: The father of two daughters, disappointed in the men they married, wrote a will cutting them off with almost nothing. But he lived on for seven years, during which time he had a complete change of heart. Unhappily, he neglected to bring his will up to date. The court had no choice but to enforce the will as written, with the old rancor left in and the new affection left out. Here are some other circumstances that may justify a change in your will:

A son, who at the age of 14 seemed the quiet and sensible type, by 16 shows alarming signs of becoming a spendthrift... an uglyduckling daughter, thought to be headed for spinsterhood, lands a good husband... you move to another state... you become much richer (or much poorer)... a change in the tax laws gives you an opportunity to save on inheritance taxes... you gain new attachments (or lose old ones).

Of course, you shouldn't redraft your will every time you have a tiff with Aunt Kate. But reviewing it at regular intervals—perhaps every year or two—is plain common sense.

If your lawyer sees the need for a review, he may send you a reminder to that effect. Still, even though such a reminder is perfectly ethical, many lawyers are leery of anything that might be interpreted as soliciting legal business.

The best way is for you to authorize him in advance, preferably when you first make your will, to send you a regular reminder—just as your dentist does. Very often, no change will be necessary. But if a change is necessary, delay is dangerous. The change that is delayed may never be made at all.

Mission of Ysleta by E. M. Schwetz

THE MISSION OF YSLETA

The Church that changed sides!

When the Indians revolted against Spanish rule in 1681-2 in the upper Rio Grande Valley in New Mexico, refugees sought safety at the mission at El Paso del Norte (now Juarez). One group settled on the Mexican river bank and named its community Ysleta del Sur (South). This settlement was established in 1681 and a mission was completed the following year on a small island in the Rio Grande.

The Rio Grande changed its course and the site is now in Texas. Ysleta and its mission are generally given the distinction of being the oldest permanent settlement in Texas... truly a church that changed sides!

CHOOSE THE SIDE OF FREEDOM...with U. S. Savings Bonds!

Thus, Ysleta del Sur, the refuge of the oppressed, became the earliest of settlements to identify itself with a brave, new land of freedom.

Today, millions of Americans choose the side of freedom and they do something about it — by purchasing U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every dollar you invest in Savings Bonds gives Uncle Sam exactly that much help in the vital task of safeguarding liberty for yourself and your family. Buy Savings Bonds at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.

FARM and RANCH Notes

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Vegetable growers in Knox County are invited to attend the High Plains Vegetable Growers Council meeting which will be held, Thursday, January 28. The meeting will be held in the Al-cove Restaurant in Plainview and will last from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The main theme of the meeting will be Weed Control in Vegetables.

We have just completed the assembly of the 1964 Result Demonstration Manual. Copies are free for the asking as long as they last.

One of the better demonstrations which was just completed last week was on the farm of L. D. Offutt, just north of Munday. Mr. Offutt conducted this demonstration on the problem of mechanical cotton picker versus mechanical stripper. A picker-type cotton, Stoneville 7A was planted along with the stripper varieties, Lankart 57 and Gregg. Eight rows of each were planted which in this field amounted to .58 of an acre. The entire field was planted, fertilized, irrigated and otherwise treated the same except for the method of harvesting. Total cost of fertilizer was $13.05 per acre while the insect control cost $32.70. The field was irrigated four times.

The Stoneville 7A was picked twice by mechanical picker with a total yield of 707 pounds of lint. All figures have been projected to an acre basis for easier comparison. Net value of the lint after ginning costs were paid was $223.25.

The Lankart 57 yielded 741 pounds of lint per acre worth $198.86 while the Gregg produced 604 pounds worth $152.77.

The cost of harvesting was obtained from a study by Beverly Reeves, Cotton Ginning and Mechanization Specialist. His figure of $20.92 per bale for harvesting by picker include depreciation, interest, housing, taxes, insurance and repairs based on 250 hours machine operation per year. The cost of stripper harvest was figured at $4.76 per bale. Both figures also include desiccation and defoliation costs.

The total cost of fertilizer, insect control and harvest was $75.25 per acre for the Stoneville 7A, $53.09 for the Lankart 57 and $51.75 for the Gregg.

This left a profit of $148.00 per acre for the Stoneville 7A, $145.77 for the Lankart 57 and $101.02 for the Gregg. This is not net profit as the cost of seed, irrigation, other machinery and other costs must be deducted. It does however, give a good figure for comparison.

The Stoneville 7A didn't produce as much lint per acre but it was worth more than the stripper varieties. The cost of harvesting by picker was greater than stripping so the net result came out about the same.

On the basis of this one year, a farmer can take his choice of picker or stripper in this one area of Knox County. This test was grown on very fertile, abilene clay loam soil that produces a very large stalk. Many farmers on this type of soil have concluded they must go the picker route. This may not necessarily

Only 223 screwworm cases reported in Texas during 1964—4.5 per cent as many as in 1963 and 0.45 per cent as many as during 1962. New Mexico recorded 14 cases; Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana none. Arizona reported 158. More than two-thirds of the 4.7 billion sterile flies produced and dispersed were released in Mexico. The breakdown is as follows: Texas, 1,219,340,764; New Mexico, 84,101,200; Mexico 3,224,374,200; and Arizona, 163,718,000. The outlook: a continuation of isolated outbreaks of screwworms this year, although probably fewer cases will occur than during 1964.

New Cookware Rates Your "TLC"
by LOUISE ALLEN

Are you cooking without grease—both the elbow and vegetable variety? If so, you know the answer is in the bottom of your Teflon-coated cookware. DuPont's Teflon, of course, is the completely stick-free plastic lining that makes every pan a cook's treasure.

But as any treasure, this cookware needs your Tender Loving Care.

Before using for the first time, wash and spread a teaspoon of salad oil over the black interior, to prepare the surface.

From then on, the magical material needs no help from fat or oil. Whether or not fat is used, your Club Aluminum "black-magic" Teflon-finished cookware stays stickfree.

Before frying foods, always preheat the coated pan for about a minute over a medium heat. Add chops or steak, and turn to proper temperature.

Throw away steely scouring pads when it comes to cleaning your new cookware. Food and heavy grease can be rinsed away with a little sponging.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says He Just Can't Estimate His Costs Any Better Than The Road Bureau

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek reviews the highway situation this week.

J. A.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper last night while my television set was having cable trouble, the Bureau of Public Roads has discovered it has underestimated the cost of the vast interstate highway system which is supposed to span the United States by 1972 by about $6,000,000,000, or 6 billion, to spell it out in case The Munday Times doesn't have that many zeroes in its plant.

Originally, they'd figured the 41,000 miles of super-highways would cost 41 billion, or a billion dollars a thousand miles, but due to rising costs, such as higher costs of land as everyone knows farm land is worth more in a highway than in cultivation, the cost has risen to about 47 billion dollars.

I know how these things are. You start out a year in January figuring it'll cost so much to get by on, but by the time September rolls around you find so many unexpected things have piled up your estimate was no better than the United States Bureau of Public Roads.

But what interested me in the highway article was the statement that the vast system was "designed to handle traffic 20 years beyond the design period." As I understand it, the project is supposed to be completed in 1972, however they've been working on it for several years already, with 19,000 miles open to traffic and 22,000 still to go.

What this means is that by the time they get the last of it built, the first of it will be 20 years old and already out of date. It'll be like a woman wearing a 1965 hat and 1945 shoes. In other words, we're building new cars faster than we can build roads to run them on and the future looks dark unless we can step up the rate of accidents.

I don't like to stand in the way of progress, sit, maybe, but not stand, but it is hard for me to figure out a place a thousand miles from here which it's worth a billion dollars worth of highway to get to. Certainly I can't imagine anybody that far from here willing to spend that kind of money to reach this place.

This figure out to be $1,000,000,000.

you are more likely safe. But it's even safer to leave a rear window open a crack.

While the car is moving you probably can escape danger even with a leaky exhaust. The most dangerous time comes sitting in a parked car with the motor running and the windows closed. This is a frequent occurrence in cold weather when the auto heater is turned on. Always open a window when you're parked with the motor running.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is a serious health hazard. Remind yourself and your family to be on the alert against this danger.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

If you haven't read your tax instructions that you received in the mail about January 1, now is a good time to start. There are more taxpayers that cost themselves by simply failing to take time to read the instructions than there ought to be. These folks simply don't take the deductions that they have coming to them.

Most of us don't like to read, but being lazy when it comes to reading tax instructions costs more than we can afford. If you start now, April 15 will be a nice beautiful day.

Beef And Chicken On Lunch Menus Of Texas Schools

Texas schools participating in the national school lunch program have been allotted 8,022,000 pounds of frozen beef and 2,490,000 pounds of frozen chicken bought by the U. S. Department of Agriculture during 1964.

This represents Texas' share of the 51.9 million pounds of chicken and 178.5 million pounds of frozen beef purchased to help schools meet protein requirements for lunches served under the school lunch program, explains John J. Slaughter, area food distribution director of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

The allotments will provide about 1 1/2 servings of beef per child per week, and 7 1/2 servings of chicken per child during this school year.

Around 3,320 schools operated cafeterias under the national school lunch program in 1964—the largest single feeding operation in the state. These cafeterias feed nearly 30 per cent of the students enrolled in elementary and high schools.

Under the program, USDA contributes cash and foods accounting for about one-fifth of the cost. Children's meal payments make up around 60 per cent of the cost and local and state sources pay the remaining 20 per cent.

The State Education Agency will allocate the beef and chicken among Texas schools participating in the national school lunch program and the State Department of Public Welfare will make distribution.

Veterans Office At Lubbock To Be Closed June 30th

The official order closing the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock, Texas has been issued by the VA Central Office in Washington, D. C., R. H. Todd, Jr., Acting Manager of the Lubbock office, announced today. The Lubbock VA Regional Office will be consolidated with the Waco VA office.

This is a part of the nationwide reorganization to be completed by June 30, 1965, in which VA includes the closing of 11 hospitals, consolidation of 17 regional offices, and phasing out of 4 domiciliary homes. The reorganization of these functions is in consonance with the President's appeal to Government departments and agencies to increase efficiency and reduce spending. Annual savings are estimated in excess of $23 million.

Other VA installations in Texas affected by the recently announced reorganization include the consolidation of the San Antonio VA Regional Office with the Houston office and closing of the McKinney VA Hospital.

Veterans Administrator William J. Driver said the reorganization will be carried out without impairment of essential services and with full consideration for the personnel involved. Every employee involved will be given an offer of a job somewhere in the VA system.

The Lubbock VA Regional Office, established in June 1946, serves 79 West Texas counties. The veteran population of the area is estimated to be 178,000. At the present time, there are approximately 200 employees at the Lubbock VA office, Mr. Todd said.

No definite date has been established for the closing of the Lubbock office, except that the entire reorganization is to be completed by June 30, 1965.

Coy Phillips, Jr. of Levelland was a business visitor here last week. He stated that he and his family will soon be moving to near Wilcox, Ariz.

Mrs. W. F. Prater spent a week recently with her son and family in Eldorado and Mrs. J. P. Lowrance spent a week with her son, G. D. Lowrance, in Iran.
