Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Spring has come,
Winter has flown...
But that wintry blase
Sure made us groan!

k-k
Talk about a dizzy, all-mixed-
up world!

k-k
Even the weatherman got so mixed up that he dished out to us
some of winter's severest weather on the first day of spring. So when "spring" arrived, much of the nation was shivering in the coldest weather of winter.

k-k
People turned up the fires, piled on more cover, chinked up the doors and windows, tried to cover up blooming or budding fruit trees, flowers, etc., to make a sort of protection against this delayed cold spell.

k-k
An all-time record breaking low for this time of year, nine degrees was recorded in Wichita Falls on the date spring arrived,
while in Munday we didn't fare
so badly. Our low only reached an official 12 degrees!

k-k
Much of the nation, in addition to Texas and Oklahoma, experienced this wintry blast at spring's approach. And what made the cold more biting was its coming right after some shirt-sleeve days—which has kinda been the weather pattern all winter.

k-k
So the weatherman got mixed up, and it would appear our government is all mixed up on quite a number of issues.

k-k
Probably the most mixed up people are those down in "ole Alabama" who are torn in racial strife—not the people of Viet Nam, who are in the bloody throes of war.

k-k
We viewed the story of Selma, Ala., last Sunday afternoon as it was televised, and we experienced a feeling of awe at the entire spectacle. In our opinion, that "freedom march," we believe it was called, that started in Selma was the most uncalculated for thing of our time.

k-k
President Johnson, who federalized the Alabama Guard to help protect the marchers from violence, after the Alabama governor and legislature failed to do so, might possibly disagree with us. People may be entitled to march in Alabama—and to march on the White House in Washington—but we are one who believes those who do so are not endowed with enough of that old common horse sense.

k-k
They are incited by such leaders as Dr. Martin Luther King and his ilk. There's a man who,
in our opinion, may be recorded in history as a martyr for his cause, but who stirs-up trouble
where he goes. We think, too, there's something lacking in the "upper story" there!

k-k
There's quite a strip, too—not locally, we understand—about the proposal to govern sale of firearms and to require registration of all guns. Some say it will fail in its purpose—to eliminate criminals. The criminal will only steal your own gun, which you have registered, and go ahead with their business of crime.

k-k
They won't walk into a place,
we heard via radio, and say: "I want to register my gun. I'm going to rob a bank!"

k-k
"This is the wittiest club I ever attended," said Cayce Moore,
speaker at the Chamber of Commerce banquet, at the close of Tuesday noon's session of the Munday Lions Club. "If I stayed here long, I could get plenty of material."

k-k
And in case you attended the banquet, at first glimpse of Cayce you probably thought he was an old sourpuss who would bore you for an hour or longer.
It seemed that Cayce's role was to never smile, but to make his audience laugh and smile. This he did for 45 minutes with his wit, humor and philosophy. One could study a humorous story
and find the philosophy in it.

k-k
We think Cayce did the job assigned him. His humor was entertaining, his philosophy sound, his jokes—in the main—clean. People need to take time out from periods of work, worry and frustration for occasional laughs.
Cayce Moore give us that opportunity!

Conservation Leader Attacks Proposal To Cut Back In Federal Resource Funds

The President's budget proposal to cut back federal support for conservation on privately-owned lands of the country is under attack from supporters of soil and water conservation as a shocking and dangerous reversal of national policy on resource development.

"A 20 per cent cut-back in technical assistance and a 40 per cent reduction in cost-sharing aid, along with reduced federal support for conservation research programs, would reverse a national policy started 30 years ago and force a severe set-back in America's soil conservation and water development efforts," declared Jack Idol, chairman of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District.

"More than 70 per cent of the nation's land is in private ownership. This is where the lion's share of the resource work for America's future must be done," Idol added. "The cuts would destroy the momentum built up during the past 30 years by the federal-state-local partnership that has given our country unprecedented conservation know-how and progress."

Idol voiced particular opposition to a proposal in the budget that Congress authorize a revolving fund through which soil and water conservation districts, and individual farmers and ranchers, would make $20 million in payments to the federal government for scientific and technical assistance provided by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture.

"This proposal by the Bureau of the Budget shows a total lack of understanding about the national interest in conservation and the nationwide benefits realized from this work," Idol declared. "Landowners already contribute far more than the government to conservation and development of soil and water resources. The results benefit all Americans—the businessman, housewife, sportsman, consumer, and especially the children who will inherit our land—and all these must be listed among the chief beneficiaries."

Under the revolving fund proposal, federal appropriations for "Conservation Operations" of the Soil Conservation Service would be reduced from $104,223,000 to $84,103,000 in fiscal year 1966. The $20,000,000 difference would be made up by payments into the revolving fund by districts, farmers, and other landowners. In our Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District it would amount to about $10,000 each year, which we could not possibly raise.

"The revolving fund proposal, coupled with the recommended cut-back of 40 per cent in cost sharing funds, would result in a decrease of at least 50 per cent in the application of conservation practices in our Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District, and would reduce the quality of the practices applied, Idol predicted.

"The revolving fund proposal would reverse a policy of 30 years standing. With the creation of the Soil Conservation Service in 1935, Congress began a policy of providing SCS technical assistance."

CLEARING THE CLOUDS

The balance of payments problem, which is responsible for the gold drain, is a major issue. Discussions tend to fall into complexities that baffle the layman. A wide range of restrictive measures are proposed as solutions.

Writing in Newsweek, the distinguished economist Henry Hazlitt clears clouds of confusion away in these words: ". . . if the government authorities adopt a self-imposed monetary discipline, if they stop the deficits, cut the foreign giveaway, stop flooding the market with more paper dollars, and allow interest rates to rise to free-market levels, the deficit in the balance of payments will stop overnight, and the elaborate tax penalties, quotas, surveillance, and 'voluntary' controls of foreign investment will be entirely unnecessary."

Steps such as these would, in addition, provide a needed barrier against the renewed inflation that must ultimately follow continued deficit spending.

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS

Millions of people favor Daylight Saving Time, other millions oppose it. Other millions still probably don't particularly care, one way or another. But all these groups should be able to agree on one point—the coming of DST, under present circumstances, is accompanied by a welter of confusions.

The date is April 25. On that day about 100 million of us will enter this year's DST period. But 85 million will stick to Standard Time, though some of these will move to DST at a future date. In any event, the mix-ups will begin once more. The transportation services—rails, airlines, buses—will, figuratively speaking, go slightly crazy. They will be constantly moving from one kind of time to another, to the consternation of travelers who aren't sure which is which. Tourists, driving in and out of DST and ST areas will find themselves off schedule, often with expired reservations. And the confusions are not limited to those concerned with mobility. In some states, where local option is the rule, one town may be on DST and the next one, just a jump away, on ST.

So it goes in many fields—radio and TV broadcasting, farming, etc. That's way there is increasing interest in the efforts of the Committee For Time Uniformity to do something about it. It has distinguished support from industries, organizations of varied kinds, government departments and agencies, and individuals interested in bringing order out of chaos. It wants, as its name implies, to end, through agreements and necessary legislative action, the present "scrambled time" problem. May it succeed.

BESTIAL "DUTY"

With sickening regularity, the press carries accounts of Nazi atrocities committed during World War II. The accounts come to light during trials of those accused of participating in the atrocities. One of the most shocking aspects of the testimony of the accused is the standard excuse they offer for their acts. Time after time, they have claimed immunity on the grounds that they were, only acting under orders. The most recent instance has occurred at the trial of 14 nurses who brought death to handicapped patients with lethal liquids either given orally or in cases where the patients were too weak, by enema. In defending these acts, one nurse said, "It was a law and I had to obey . . . After all I was a civil servant and could not turn down my duty."

It seems the definition of "duty" becomes more deadly and inexorable as society edges closer toward a total state. A mass dedication to dictated duty submerges any normal concept of right and wrong inherent in the individual. Those imprisoned by a perverted sense of duty are escapists of the most despicable sort. In the name of duty, they abandon conscience and decency, compassion and fundamental truth. In minor ways, the excuse of doing one's duty covers all kinds of spineless acts in business, private and public life.

We think we are different than the Nazis, but human nature is pretty much the same the world over. Remove individual responsibility, turn to the state as the final arbiter of right and wrong, abolish personal courage; put in its place the bestial creed of duty that we have seen under totalitarian government and man is no longer fit to grace this earth. This is why people cannot be thought of in a mass. They are individuals and as individuals must be held accountable for their actions individually.

Whatever our shortcomings, U. S. citizens are a kindly, tolerant people. From the day this country was founded, they have believed in the importance of the individual—and in his inescapable personal responsibility to tell right from wrong and to act accordingly.

More than 105 million Americans are expected to spend approximately $22 billion on pleasure trips taking them a hundred miles or more from home during 1965, according to an officer of American Oil Company. Almost 49 per cent of this expenditure will be for gasoline, motor oil, motels, and hotels. Some 28 per cent will be spent on food, 11 per cent on entertainment, and the balance of 12 per cent on a variety of items from sun glasses to fishing tackle.

Bills have again been introduced in Congress to prohibit the federal government from purchasing items manufactured abroad which are made from stolen U. S. patents. One of the sponsors said this bill results from the Defense Department practice of purchasing foreign-made drugs produced from pirated American patent secrets. Under his proposal the federal government could buy a foreign product made from a stolen American patent only if the national security is involved.

With one of every three new automobiles rolling by rail from manufacturing plants, U. S. railroads boosted their auto-rack traffic to a postwar high in 1964, the Association of American Railroads reports. They hauled approximately 3 million new motor vehicles during the year. Triple-deck cars each can carry 12 standard-size or 15 compact autos as compared with the four once hauled in the conventional wide-door boxcar.

MEDICAL CARE

OR

"MEDICARE"

WHICH DO YOU WANT?

TEXAS today has one of the nation's finest, most comprehensive programs of medical care for the aged. These programs—the Texas approach, we call it—include medical benefits to Old Age Assistance recipients and extensive health cost protection through the use of special insurance plans for the aged. The Texas legislature is also expected to implement a medical care plan for those who are not on Old Age Assistance but who do need help in meeting medical expenses.

Consider these facts:

- 229,000 needy aged, representing 30 per cent of Texas' entire aged population, now have a Blue Cross-Blue Shield health insurance policy paid for by the State,
- This State program provides hospital, medical, surgical, x-ray, and nursing home benefits,
- 72% of the aged in Texas now have one or more health insurance policies,
- Through the "Texas 65 Health Insurance Plan," Blue Cross' "Senior Texas Service," and other special programs offered to the aged by private companies, health insurance is available to all who want it at a reasonable cost,
- Studies by Belden Associates indicate that only a small percentage of the aged actually still need and want help in paying health costs (these aged would be covered by the program now being considered by the Texas Legislature).

In view of these facts, the national "medicare" tax proposal (the King-Anderson bill, H.R. 1) is not needed. "Medicare" benefits are very limited, covering about one quarter (25%) of the total yearly health care costs of the average aged person. "Medicare" would not cover physicians' services or surgical charges, nor would it cover the cost of drugs outside of institutional care.

The "medicare" proposal is an extremely expensive one. While we all are starting to enjoy a reduction in federal income taxes as a result of action by Congress last year, the "medicare" program would cost an estimated $1.7 billion dollars in additional taxes the first year. "Medicare" would increase payroll taxes to cover everyone over 65—even the wealthy. The employee who now pays a maximum tax of $174 annually would find the amount for Social Security benefits and "medicare" increased to $291 by 1971. Employers would pay a similar increase for each employee, thus resulting in higher prices for goods and services.

The Texas approach of providing medical, surgical and hospital care to those who need it is a more comprehensive, more economical program than "medicare," and it provides more benefits. If you object to paying higher payroll taxes for an undesirable, unneeded program, write your Congressman today. Ask him to oppose the "medicare" tax proposal, mentioning the programs for the aged now available in Texas. Ask him to support the Herlong-Curtis Eldercare Bill (H.R. 3727), which would make possible the broadening of the existing Texas program to provide medical, hospital and nursing home care for those few remaining aged who are still in need of help.

The Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation is again asking livestock producers for help in screwworm eradication. The Federal government is due to take over the normal program of maintaining barrier zones on July 1. It will take $1,100,000 between April and June 30 to run the program. The Texas Legislature has recently appropriated $250,000. If livestock producers will raise $300,000, then these two figures will be matched by Federal funds.

Contributions are based on 10 cents per head for cows or horses and 10 cents for each 5 sheep or 5 hogs.

J. D. Smith, Truscott, is Knox County chairman and B. B. Campbell, Sr., Knox City, is treasurer.

Producers may turn their contributions over to any one of the following men: Truscott—J. D. Smith; Gilliland—J. T. Cook; Vera—Gaylon Scott; Benjamin—Pate Meinzer; Ed Moorhouse; Knox City—Victor Thomas, Cliff Cornett; Munday—Kenneth Baker, W. R. Moore, Jr.; Goree—John Broach, George Hunt; Rhineland—Marvin Zeissel.

Results of analysis of irrigation well water from two wells near Munday show an alarming increase in salt content of the water. One well has a total salt content of 1.6 tons per acre foot while the other has 2.4 tons. This would indicate that salt water is breaking through to the Seymour formation. This amount of salt added to the soil could cause accumulation of salts that would be very injurious to cropland.

The soil testing lab at College Station will make analysis for salts in irrigation water. Forms and instructions for taking samples are available from my office. Plastic bottles should be used

Atomic Energy Symposium To Be Held In Abilene

Outstanding high school students from the Abilene area will attend a symposium on atomic energy featuring some of the nation's leading scientists to be held April 2 on the Hardin-Simmons University campus.

The all day conference will be sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company and Hardin-Simmons.

It is the hope of WTU that this program will not only prove to be extremely informative to the high school students but will also be an inspiration to those students who may be considering science as a career.

The program has been arranged by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation of which WTU is a member. The Foundation, which is composed of 10 investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas, is engaged in a program of nuclear fusion research with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation seeking to harness the energy process of the hydrogen bomb for peaceful purposes, including the generation of electric power.

An outstanding nuclear scientist, Dr. Martin Stern, will appear on the program. He is from General Atomic's John Jay Hopkins Laboratory in San Diego, Calif., where the fusion research is being carried out.

Other speakers at the conference will include Dr. W. T. Guy, Chairman of the department of math at the University of Texas; Dr. Harold P. Hanson, Chairman of the department of Physics at the University of Texas; and Howard R. Drew, Executive Vice President for the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

Nuclear fusion is the process which provides the power for the hydrogen bomb and is responsible for the energy of the sun and the stars. The Foundation program is the world's first and largest privately-financed project in the field of controlled fusion research.

About 600 students will attend the symposium representing high schools in cities from a wide area of West Texas served by WTU. Many will be accompanied by science teachers.

The sessions will be held in the H-SU Chapel-Auditorium. WTU will be the host to the students and teachers at a luncheon on the day of the symposium.

Here's cotton growers' first step in the Chemagro Practical Cotton Program

Give your crop an early, vigorous start by protecting against early-season pests with Di-Syston—the proven systemic insecticide

Di-Syston is your first insect-control step toward a high quality cotton crop. This proven systemic insecticide prevents stunted, crooked plants caused by aphid, mite and thrips damage during the early seedling stage. Cotton sets fruit and squares early to make a good bottom crop. Di-Syston is applied with seed at planting time and works from inside the plant where it is unaffected by weather. And, since Di-Syston is inside the plant, it will not harm beneficial insects... kills only the insects that suck plant juices. Start your cotton off right this season. Apply Di-Syston at planting time.

Di-Syston protection is absorbed as soon as root system forms. Entire plant is protected against aphids, mites and thrips up to 8 weeks.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Anyone who thinks measles is a harmless childhood disease is sadly mistaken.

In the first place, "childhood disease" is a misnomer. Any person, regardless of age, who has not had measles may have them. Measles is, however, rightly associated with childhood since 90 per cent of our children have it before their fifteenth birthday.

Secondly, measles is not the harmless illness that most mothers seem to think it is.

Although recovery is routine for most children, about 500 children in the nation die every year from illnesses stemming from it. Or, a side-effect can be inflammation of the brain, leading to men-

Spring Comes To Japan

Chairman Reed Say Fight on Boll Weevil In Area Will Take Cooperation; Money

Members of the Steering Committee of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Inc., of which Sam N. Reed of O'Brien is chairman, is seeking matching federal funds to help finance a campaign to control boll weevil in 23 West Texas counties.

Reed and members of the committee are seeking assistance through the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The group has conferred with Cong. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls a member of the Agriculture Committee of the House of Representatives.

The attack on boll weevil in the Rolling Plains area is patterned after that on the High Plains, initiated by the Plains Cotton Growers Inc.

Chairman Reed points out that the organizational meeting was held in Knox City on October 26, attended by 375 men, including Cong. Purcell of Wichita Falls.

A meeting of the steering committee was held two days later in Haskell and since then area meetings have been held throughout the 23-county area, including one Thursday in the Wall School Auditorium in Tom Green County.

50-Cents Per Bale

At the Haskell meeting, Reed stated, it was agreed that financing of the fight against boll weevil would be financed largely through the collection of 50 cents from the producer on each bale ginned.

The steering committee has asked each of the 23 counties to raise an additional $1,000 per county for administrative purposes.

He said these contributions are "coming in fine."

"It is absolutely necessary for the cotton producer to pay his 50 cents per bale in order for this program to succeed."

"We hope every community will do this, even if the gin has to put up the 50 cents, as some are doing where it was not collected from the producer."

Reed points out the seriousness of this fight to control boll weevil and boll worm. They have taken the profit out of cotton production, he said. If the farmers of the area lose this cash crop, their agriculture and those who depend upon agriculture are in real trouble, he asserted.

"We ask the support of the various banks, oil mills, other public institutions, and public spirited men who are willing to help put this fight over," the Steering Committee chairman said.

In brief, the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Inc. plans to sponsor a diapause control program. In late summer and early fall adult weevils attain a physiological condition called "diapause," which enables them to survive winter and re-infest cotton fields the following spring.

With from three to five applications of malathion in the fall at 10 to 14 day intervals, the number of weevils going into hibernation can be reduced as much as 90 per cent, tests have shown.

Prevent Weevil Buildup

By spraying heavily infested acres of cotton within the 23-county area, a control of population build up will be started. This reduction of weevil will be maintained each year by spraying hot spots as they are determined by entomologists.

It is planned to start the first spraying under the program around Sept. 10, 1965.

It is proposed that all infested cotton fields which entomologists determine are a threat to the 23 county Rolling Plains area will be sprayed, and because that is all boll weevil eat.

The Growers association is seeking technical assistance from the Plant Pest Control Service, Research and Extension Service to conduct surveys to determine which fields are infested.

Following are the counties included in the Growers association:

Childress Hardeman, Cottle, Foard, Wilbarger, King, Knox, Baylor, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Coke, Runtel, Tom Green and Concho.—Abilene Reporter-News.

tal retardation.

Last year 71,629 measles cases were reported in Texas. Statistics show several characteristics of the disease. One is that every two or three years, a reservoir of susceptible children builds up. A measles epidemic empties the reservoir. Nearly all children who are exposed and not protected come down with measles.

Another fact the figures show is that February through April is the measles season—that is, more cases occur during this time of the year.

A virus so small that it measures only from two to five millionths of an inch in diameter is responsible for the disease.

A child coming down with measles may seem to have cold symptoms—a dripping nose, watery eyes, wheezing and similar discomfort—about 10 days after exposure. The first sure sign that it is measles is the appearance of "Koplik spots"—bluish-white specks surrounded by redness in the mouth. A blotchy rash follows on the child's face and body, as the sign most of us recognize as measles. If your child develops any of these symptoms, contact your physician at once.

Today, you can keep your child from having measles and eliminate the possibility of serious side-effects with immunization against measles. Why take a chance; see your family physician.

What Progress Cancer Research?

How soon can we expect a cure for cancer?

It is a disease of tremendous complexity, yet research gains already made have led some scientists to predict we will see the problem solved within our lifetime.

There is reason for this hopeful outlook. Within the short span of 25 years, we have made such progress as this:

A drug has been developed in treating a rare type of cancer found in women after pregnancy. It is the first solid tumor ever to respond favorably to chemotherapy.

The "Pap" smear was developed making it possible to discover uterine cancer cells in an early and curable stage. The mortality rate of cancer of the uterus, once the most feared of all forms of cancer in women, has dropped 50 per cent in 25 years.

At present, there is no preventive or cure for leukemia, but the lives of patients are being prolonged with new combinations of drugs, and many scientists believe that cures will be found for this type of cancer sooner than for any other cancer.

Hundreds of scientists in many branches of cancer research are working long hours in laboratories across the country to find new clues to fathom the mysteries of a disease which takes the lives of more than 800 Americans a day.

The head of one of the largest research centers has said, "People think there is a lot of money available for cancer. There really isn't. There are many things we wish could be done . . ."

This is worth keeping in mind when you are asked to contribute to the American Cancer Society during its annual April Crusade against Cancer. The pace of support for cancer research must be stepped up to bring closer the day of victory. Your dollars can help.

Leslie Phillips was able to be brought home from the General Hospital in Wichita Falls last Monday after a week of medical treatment. He is reported to be doing fair.

"How To Blow Your Nose"

Physicians advise that one should not stop up one side of the nose and then blow the other. Some of the force will back up into the throat. Also, germ-laden mucus might be driven into the middle ear with a possible infection resulting.

Blow your nose gently. It must last you your lifetime. Don't pick or pull hairs from it. A serious infection may be caused. And if it troubles you and home remedies don't give quick help. Don't delay. Go to your Physician for inspection and skilled treatment.

On the other hand, if I had 200 million hungry Chinese slaving under a dictator and clamoring to break through my sagging fences, I might be hollering for all the help I could get.

Don't ask me the answers to such problems. Don't even ask me who to ask. In fact, if some of those reporters know what's happening in Viet Nam, why doesn't Congress subpoena them at once to come home and testify, so it can get in on it too?

Yours faithfully,

tance without charge to the private landowners of the country willing to adopt farm-wide conservation programs on their properties. A reversal of this policy is wholly unacceptable to the nation's 3,000 locally-organized and operated Soil and Water Conservation Districts," Idol declared.

"It took the dust storms of the thirties for this nation to realize that all of the people who live in towns and cities depend on our limited supplies of soil and water for their daily requirements of food, water and productive countryside. I don't believe that Americans in our towns and cities now expect the farmers and landowners of the country to take on a still larger share of the cost of soil and water conservation."

We are asking the following friends of conservation to help: Farmers and ranchers—our SCD Cooperators, all farm organizations, county officials, conservation contractors, state legislators, equipment dealers, bankers and all businesses, Chamber of Commerce, all civic clubs, women's clubs, ministers, newspaper editors, and educators. We know that these people believe as we do that conservation has played a major role in attaining the standard of living that we in America enjoy today.

What Can We Do?

Write and ask friends to write protesting these proposed cuts to: Congressman Harold Cooley—Chairman, House Agriculture Appropriations Committee; Congressman Bob Poage—Chairman, sub-committee; Senator Ralph Yarborough—Senate Office Building; Senator John Tower—Senate Office Building; Senator Allen P. Ellender—Senate Agriculture Appropriations Committee. Appearance before the Appropriations Committees should be set up for the House Committee in March and the Senate in April.

The Supervisors of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District are: Jack Idol—chairman, H. W. Smith—vice-chairman, L. D. Offutt—secretary, and Emil Navratil—member.
