Large Number of Foard County Voters Turn Out for Second Primary Saturday; Greening Wins Commissioner's Race

Probably the largest number of voters ever to go to the polls in a second primary election in Foard County turned out Saturday. A total of 910 ballots were cast in the nine precinct boxes in the absentee box by election officials.

A great interest and undoubtedly the principal reason for such a turnout was the gubernatorial race in which the incumbent, Allan Shivers, was the victor. His opponent, Ralph W. Yarborough, again garnered the majority of votes in Foard County, posting 526 votes to 354 for Governor Shivers.

The only other contested statewide race saw Few Brewster receive a majority of votes over his opponent, Alfred M. Scott, for Associate Justice Supreme Court (Place 1). Foard County voters gave Brewster 399 votes to 340 for Scott.

Kenneth Greening was elected by a 13-vote margin over Harvey J. Cronoe in the race for County Commissioner of Precinct No. 3. Greening received 68 votes in southwest Crowell, 14 in Foard City and 9 absentee votes. Cronoe got 44 votes at Foard City, 29 in southwest Crowell and 5 absentee ballots.

For Precinct chairman of Precinct No. 1, Bob Abston edged Thomas Lee (Ham) Tamplin by only 6 votes, 22-16.

Six Hundred and Two Students Enroll in Crowell Public Schools Last Monday Morning; Regular Classes Began Tues.

Six hundred and two pupils enrolled in the Crowell Public Schools last Monday morning, ten less than the number enrolled on the first day last year. The primary department had only 212, 16 less than last year. Most of this loss was in the first grade. The intermediate department registered 204, the same as last year, and the high school enrolled 186, six more than last year.

There was a short schedule run off on Monday with the regular schedule of 9 o'clock until 3:30 o'clock starting on Tuesday. The noon period is only 30 minutes long which gives six one-hour class periods each day.

The school cafeteria was opened on Tuesday with the same prices prevailing as in the past; 30 cents for the first four grades and 35 cents for the eight upper grades.

Bandmaster E. L. Rickard has 48 pupils in the regular band. They work from 8:30 until ten o'clock each morning and will continue with this schedule through the football season.

Football coaches Thayne Amonett and Gordon Erwin have been working out 30 boys for football since August 23. Their first regular game will be at Matador on September 17, and the first home game will be with Quannah on September 24.

The primary department in grade school will have new swings and see-saws for the children's recreation periods this year. Erection of the new equipment was made this summer.

Friday and Saturday will again be "Dollar Days" in Crowell for the people of this trade area.

Many of the money-saving specials will be found in this issue of the News. Other timely savings on various commodities can be noticed in the merchants' display windows. But the point is to come to Crowell Friday and Saturday and see for yourself.

With the beginning of college near at hand and schools in the county already started, many parents and students will find it convenient to take advantage of these bargains for school clothes, supplies, and other items necessary for school life.

The grocery stores have eye-catching specials listed that will suit the pocket book as well as the appetite for Dollar Day shoppers.

Wildcats Look Good in Saturday Night's Scrimmage with Floydada; Scrimmage at Electra Friday Night

Following a rugged scrimmage with the Floydada Whirlwinds here last Saturday night, Coaches Thayne Amonett, Gordon Erwin and Glen Taylor gave their Crowell Wildcats a light workout Monday afternoon. Heavier work is on tab for the rest of the week, however. Coach Amonett stated that the scrimmage showed that a great many mistakes must be corrected by the Wildcats before their first game at Matador, September 17.

Despite these errors, Amonett thought the boys looked pretty good against the Floyd County lads. "Our offensive attack looked somewhat better than we expected, and during the latter part of the scrimmage the defense held pretty good, also." Amonett pointed out.

The Wildcats, using a backfield combination of Gordon Graves, quarterback, Gerry Knox and Jimmy Thaxton, halfbacks, and Ray Gibson, fullback, behind a line containing Duane Boren and C. T. McDaniel, ends; Don Smith and Jackie Walker, tackles; Don Kidd and Edward Daniel, guards; and Robert Kincaid, center, stacked up a great deal of yardage against the whirlwinds.

With a few option plays, Graves consistently gained ground by faking hand-offs to Fullback Gibson and keeping or pitching out to Thaxton or Knox. Although Graves turned in the outstanding offensive performance for the Wildcats, Gibson, Knox and Thaxton indicated by their play that they will be fairly adept ball carriers. Gibson is slated for a lot of power running, while Thaxton and Knox are due other ball carrying chores. Knox will also do the punting.

It would be difficult to point out individual standouts in the line, as all of that forward wall proved to be capable of holding its own and equally efficient at carrying out blocking maneuvers for the offensive attack.

An aggressive reserve team headed by Roy Don Payne and Prentiss Gidney caught the eyes of local fans who saw the game. The boys who will see action on this team are Edward Howard, Floyd Bice, Nelson Abston, Billy Everson, Ray Thomson, Louis Rettig, Harvey Smith, Dale Rettig, Ocie Tarver, Jerry Pittillo, Sonny Cates and Aldon Garrett.

The Wildcats lost the services of Lindell (Chief) McBeath last week when a fractured ankle incurred during harvest failed to heal satisfactorily and the ankle was put in a cast. Adding to the Wildcat mentors' worries was the loss of Johnny Webba whose ankle was fractured during the scrimmage. McBeath, a junior, was slated to see a lot of action this fall. Webba, a sophomore in classification, was one of the mainstays in the "B" string line.

On the brighter side, Gerald Houck and Jack Gentry reported for practice for the first time. Houck played a lot of ball on the "B" team last year. Gentry is a freshman up from the junior high school team.

Scrimmage at Electra. The CHS griders will take on another Class AA school Friday night when they travel to Electra for a scrimmage with the Tigers. Time for the scrimmage to get underway at 7:00 o'clock.

IT ISN'T CHICKEN FEED!

Loose change may seem like "chicken feed" when you spend it. But, it's amazing how it can add up to important money when you save it! Especially if you save on a systematic, every-pay-day basis. LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth — Movement of cattle and calves to market at Fort Worth and all around the market circle this week was again seasonally heavy. The drought continued to pinch larger and larger portions of the Southwest and this condition brought "shipping day" to more and more farms and ranches.

For the most part the packers were singing the blues over the condition of the dressed meat trade and the fact that currently their slaughter is running far behind a year ago at Fort Worth and other Southwestern packing centers.

This gloomy mental attitude was not shared by the buyers of packer and feeder cattle and calves. Order buyers and dealers at Fort Worth said they could use many more high quality stockers and feeders than they are getting in the runs, and it appeared that feeding of cattle in the 1954-55 season would be at a heavy rate.

Corn Belt and Western States feeders had a good year last year with estimated profits by the USDA running between $30 to $40 per head. While this was above average, the spread between feeder costs and fat cattle prices has narrowed somewhat this year, the feeders were apparently able to see a favorable margin still.

This served to take thousands of calves and yearlings out of packer channels and into stocker and feeder channels. At Fort Worth Monday, a break of 75 cents per hundred under last week's close. This was the lowest point in several weeks.

Hog Prices Tumble
Top hogs sold at $21.75 at Fort Worth Monday, a break of 75 cents per hundred under last week's close. This was the lowest point in several weeks.

Packers reported pork sales were lagging and pointed to breaks in wholesale pork prices last week of from $4 to $9 per hundred at some of the Eastern population centers.

Supplies of hogs were increasing seasonally to some extent, but it appeared the pork was running into a combination of hot weather and liberal supplies of other kinds of meat as the principal factors in their downfall.

Packers pointed out that a heavy percentage of the hog requires some time to cure and process and with the Fall season at hand, and its increased supplies coming up the long-term view on pork prices was definitely inclining downward barring unforeseen developments.

Sheep and Lambs Hold Steady
Despite lowered dressed meat reports from Midwest and from Eastern centers, in the past several days the lambs and sheep held steady at Fort Worth. Some steady support from the stocker and feeder buyers was a prop under the market as was the fact that receipts were rather light. There was steady demand for breeding types of ewes when they had quality and were of suitable ages to go back to the country.

Good and choice fat lambs topped at $18 to $19, and were considered and its increased supplies coming up the long-term view on pork prices was definitely inclining downward barring unforeseen developments.

Stocker and feeder lambs were quotable around $12 to $16. Slaughter ewes sold from $3.50 to $6 and stocker ewes ranged from $6 to $10, a sizable string of good ewes at $10 going back to the country from Fort Worth Monday that averaged 15 pounds.

Like School Without Teacher
A small town without a newspaper would be like a school without a teacher or a church without a pastor!

That striking opinion comes from Professor John H. Casey of the Department of Journalism of the University of Oklahoma. He went on to say this: "In the aggregate, the country newspaper determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family, and constitutes, with its millions of circulation and quadrupled millions of readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications."

"Through services to its community, the country newspaper will not merely survive; it will continue to flourish . . ."

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

September 15th is the deadline for planting blue bonnet seed. Sometimes they are planted later but should be treated 20 minutes with battery acid, then washed thoroughly and planted immediately. If they are dry before planting they will be destroyed. Normally all the blue bonnet seed do not come up in one year. Some say that this is Mother Nature's provision for saving them. They have been known to come up eleven years after their planting.

Blue bonnets are not too particular about the kind of soil in which they grow, but they do like it rather poor. If you enrich the soil heavily, you will have tall weedy growth and small flowers. Sand and lime agree with them. The famous Old Indianola blue bonnets grow in a mixture of coarse seashore sand and shell. Blue bonnets can be transplanted but do better if planted where they are to grow. At all times, they must have good drainage and they like full sunshine; otherwise, the plants will be weak and the flowers pale.

At your first meeting in September, you should elect three club members to form a nominating committee. This committee should nominate a club member for each office: president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, 2 council delegates, a reporter, and 2 demonstrators. It is the duty of the committee to contact each woman they nominate to ask her if she would serve if elected. After the committee has contacted all the nominees they present their nominations one at a time at the second meeting in September. The president will then ask for other nominations from the floor.

If your club prefers not to use a nominating committee, then you will hold elections with all nominations coming from the floor at either the first or second meeting in September.

I will be in Wichita Falls Sept. 3 and 4 and Sept. 7 and 8 for the District 4-H Dress Revue and the Plan of Work meeting and then on Sept. 27-30 I will be in College Station for the annual Agents' conference, so my regular days at club have been shifted a little.

The schedule as I have it now will be: Sept. 2, Thalia; Sept. 9, Vivian; Sept. 10, Margaret; Sept. 14, West Side; Sept. 17, Gambelville; Sept. 20, Riverside; Sept. 21, Foard City.

I'm looking forward to seeing all of you at that time.

Our recipe this week is for—Beef and Egg Plant Casserole
Servings 6. Temperature 375 degrees F., Bake 25-30 minutes.

2 teaspoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 mashed clove garlic, 1/4 cup minced onions, 1 lb. ground chuck, 2 pared medium egg plants cut into 1 inch cubes (about 6 cups), 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, dash pepper, dash dried thyme, 1 can condensed tomato soup, undiluted.

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

Due to the fact that Congress has adjourned and I will be in the District most of the time between the middle of September and the first of the year, this will be the last of these weekly letters until the new Congress convenes in January. Between now and January, it is my hope that I will have an opportunity to visit in every county in the district.

Two of the committees of which I am a member, however, will be holding hearings throughout the Fall. One of these committees is a special committee created to investigate alleged labor racketeering and will probably hold hearings in Detroit, Cleveland and New York City sometime during the Fall. Plans are for this committee to be active, and, of course, it will be necessary for me to attend the hearings whenever they are held. Another committee of which I am a member, Military Operations Committee, also has scheduled hearings for the next two and a half weeks and some later on in the Fall. The hearings of this Committee will deal with problems of supply, management, and the disposal of surplus property by the armed services. Some of these hearings are scheduled for military installations in Europe and will be conducted about the middle of September. This Military Operations Subcommittee is one of the so-called "watch dog" committees that has been set up to investigate military spending and has been actively engaged in the study of many of the activities of the military departments. This subcommittee has been instrumental in the past in calling many matters to the attention of the armed services which have resulted in changes contributing greatly to the efficiency and economy of their operations. I expect these hearings to be concluded around the middle of September, and I shall be home about the 20th and will remain there most of the time until January. My office at Room 206, Federal Building, Wichita Falls, will be open all Fall; however, I expect to spend most of my time visiting over the district.

1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted. Heat oven. Melt 2 teaspoons butter in skillet; toss with crumbs, set aside on waxed paper. In same skillet, in 3 tablespoons butter, lightly brown garlic, onion, and chuck. Add egg plant, salt, pepper, thyme; cook over low heat 10 minutes. Stir in soup and milk. Pour mixture into 2-quart casserole, top with buttered crumbs. Bake until crumbs are browned.

That is, the dog did until he foolishly leaped off an overhanging rock upon the head of the big cat that had one leg in a trap. Only thing that saved the pooch was that the lion, in swinging furiously at the pup, shook it loose from the ear to which it was clinging. Had the lion's paw struck home that would have been all for "Skeeter Bill."

Mountain Lions Are Killing Game in Brewster County

The Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission reported that mountain lions are cutting down some of the big game transplanted in the Black Gap Game Management Area in the Dead Horse Mountain country.

Returning from an inspection trip West of the Pecos, he said the big cats have been moving into the Brewster County refuge from nearby Mexico and the Big Bend National Park.

"There seems to be two main reasons for the invasion," the Assistant Director explained. "One is that the deer population in the nearby park seems to be thinning out. The other is that we have been stocking the Black Gap area and have been impounding water which is attractive to both our transplanted deer and antelope and certainly to the lions."

He said "It is the old story of having to take the bad with the good" and then added: "Wherever you have wildlife you have predators. We expected the raiders sooner or later, but frankly they seem to have shown up in surprisingly large numbers."

The Director quoted the Resident Manager of the Area, Fred Moore, as reporting that deer were the main targets of the lions. "The deer prefer the foothills and that is where the cats prowled around most," Moore observed. "The antelope prefer the open plains and are more or less out of range."

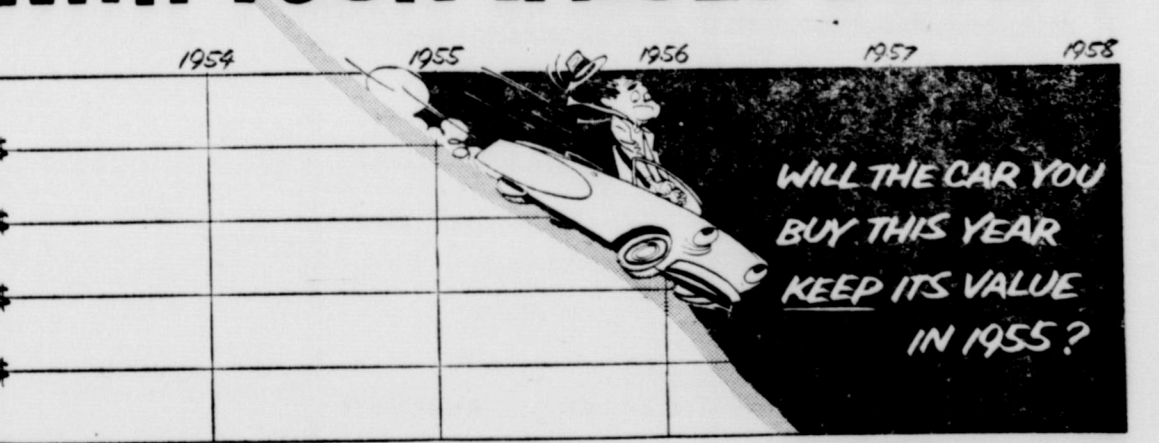

Moore has been trapping in an effort to curb the invaders. His last catch was a big female which had been denuded up with two kittens. Moore said he believed the young ones either perished or left the area. This lion had killed at least three doe deer, two of them bearing fawn.

The Resident Manager said the grim counter attack routine recently was spiced by his black cocker spaniel named "Skeeter Bill," which began acting like a lion dog.

Partners
 Medicine has a partner that few of us associate with the healing arts—the meat industry. That's because meat animals are the source of a long list of extremely important medical products, and the meat industry has developed elaborate facilities for saving them. The best known of these products is undoubtedly insulin—the substance which has literally meant the difference between life and death to vast numbers of sufferers from diabetes. But there are others whose contribution to humanity is comparable. These include ACTH and cortisone, used in the treatment of arthritis, rheumatic fever and other dread diseases; liver extract, for treating pernicious anemia; bone marrow concentrates, used to alleviate various blood disorders; fibrin foam, which controls bleeding during operations; and dehydrocholic acid, used in treating certain gall bladder disorders. There are many more. It is quite a job to save and properly process the animal by-products from which such medicines come. As an example, it takes the pancreas glands from 7,500 pigs or 1,500 cattle to make a single ounce of insulin. But our highly-developed meat industry does that job in stride, day in and day out, and millions of people are the beneficiaries. Portuguese is spoke in Brazil by four times as many people as in Portugal. Chinese philosophers have regarded women as the principle of evil. The sun dial was probably the earliest instrument for measuring time.

Basic Truths
 There was a time when organized labor groups almost universally went on record in favor of government ownership of certain basic enterprises, notably electric power. Now the pendulum is swinging the other way—and for potent reasons. For example, "Andy" McMahon, president of Local 1-2, Utility Workers of America, a CIO affiliate with 90,000 members across the country, appeared before the Hoover Commission Task Force on Water Resources and Power. He said, "We don't want to be employees of any government or governmental agency." And he told the Task Force that his union is unqualifiedly opposed to public power because of what he termed three "basic truths." First, he listed the disadvantages of working for government. Collective bargaining contracts with government are neither genuine nor effective, and employees lose inherent rights when it comes to seeking better wages, working conditions and hours. Second, he said that government as an employer has consistently resisted paying prevailing rates of pay in any industry in which it has competed with private ownership. He added that there is no way to compel public power bodies to correct this inequity. Third, he pointed to the tax subsidy given public power projects, saying: "We do not feel that the taxpayers of one section of the country should indirectly pay part of the electric bill charged by government operation of facilities in other parts of the country." Mr. McMahon and the members of the union he heads aren't just talking theory—they've had long and thorough experience with both public and private power operations of every kind and size. So theirs is truly expert testimony and it should be listened to.

Texas Will Soon Have Best Storm Warning System in the World

A network of radar stations which will give Texas the best storm warning system now available in the world will soon be completed.

There are now 11 stations in operation, and three more will soon be in operation. Another at Lake Charles, La., which serves a section of Texas, will add up to 14 in operation for this state.

E. L. Hardy, regional director of the U. S. Weather Bureau, has advised Governor Allan Shivers that the last three in the chain will be in operation within six weeks at Austin, San Antonio and Lubbock.

Besides the one at Lake Charles, those already functioning are at Amarillo, Victoria, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Houston, Abilene, Fort Worth, Galveston, Midland, San Angelo and Wichita Falls.

Hardy told the Governor that once the network is completed, it will be "the best and most up-to-date storm warning system now available anywhere in the world."

Hardy added that storm reporting and the general warning service maintained by the U. S. Weather Bureau will be extended and improved tremendously by the installation of the equipment, which is able to detect heavy rainfall, tornadoes, hurricanes and other severe weather manifestations.

The U. S. Weather Bureau ties the radar net into the Department of Public Safety communications system through special arrangements between the two organizations. All Weather Bureau radar reports are received by Public Safety Communications within about two minutes after a warning is issued.

Once reports are received, Public Safety units track the storm and warn people who are in its course. The Public Safety units also advise the Weather Bureau as to whether the storms are turning into tornadoes.

"This one phase will do much to save lives and property," Hardy noted.

William L. McGill, state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief, agreed. As a specific example of what the network can do, McGill said the radar storm warning equipment would have been of vital use in the recent flood in the Upper Rio Grande Valley.

Federal, state and local government agencies worked out arrangements for the new equipment.

The U. S. Weather Bureau made surplus radar equipment available.

The Texas A&M College Research Foundation was given a contract to modify this equipment for storm warning use.

The Texas Department of Public Safety agreed to cooperate in making maximum use of the warnings which the Weather Bureau gives on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

The Division of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief of the Governor's office arranged meetings in the cities in which first-order weather stations are located. A team of representatives of the disaster relief office, the Weather Bureau, the A&M Research Foundation, and the Texas Department of Public Safety explained the plan to local government officials and other interested agencies.

The initial cost of modifying and installing the equipment was underwritten by the cities involved.

Once the network is completed, Texas will be served by the first storm warning system of its kind ever to be installed by any state or area.

WANTS TO STAY IN PRISON
 Atlanta, Ga. — James Phillips, serving a seven to ten year sentence for manslaughter, was recently offered his freedom after serving seven years. The 40-year-old Negro convict, who has a wife and ten children at home, refused to leave the Cobb work camp. Pardon Board officials say Phillips has a right to serve his full term if he wants to.

4,400 Children Killed in Traffic Last Year

"A total of 4,400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation, said this week.

He said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture," he said. "In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council."

Many of these injuries, Col. Tilley pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life.

"There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways," he said.

"Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable children and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing. And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions."

"Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14."

"Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases," Col. Tilley said.

"Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for the one to 14 age group, there were 3,888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents," he said.

"This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio, and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms, than from traffic accidents in this age group."

He said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: "Watch Out for Kids."

$10 Million Diamond Collection Will Be Shown at State Fair

A collection of diamonds worth over ten million dollars, including the famous Hope diamond, will be the central exhibit in the new air-conditioned Women's Building at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24.

Surrounding the diamonds will be a fabulous display of fine furs, courtier gowns, lingerie, millinery, leather goods, textiles and other high-style items appealing to women, simulating a window shopping tour through the world's swankiest shopping districts.

Edith Head, winner of several Academy Awards for film costumes, will be present at the fair with the Oscar-winning clothes she designed for the movie "Roman Holiday." A cobbler will show how a hand-crafted shoe is put together, a leading perfumer will introduce a new fragrance especially for the fair, and there will be an exhibit showing how an evening gown evolves from processes that begin in a South Texas oilfield chemical plant.

The diamond display will glitter around a manikin wearing the "Court of Jewels," a collection of priceless gems that one time adorned the crowned heads of Europe. Rough stones also will be shown, along with the finished gems in settings for the hair, throat or wrist.

The entire high-fashion display is something entirely new to fairdom, General Manager James H. Stewart said, and will give the new women's building a sparkling sendoff.

More than 65 leading fashion manufacturers will have displays in the exhibit, and they are drawn from all over the world. One shoe

The announcement was made this week by Howard Fry, vice president and general manager of Wichtex Radio and Television Company.

The only college football available on television this fall, the NCAA games will be broadcast for 12 successive Saturdays beginning September 18 and on Thanksgiving Day.

"KFDX-TV is happy to be able to bring these top ranking games into the area through the national facilities of the American Broadcasting Company," Fry said.

The national collegiate schedule to be televised by Channel 3 is as follows:

September 18, California vs. Oklahoma; September 25, Iowa vs. Michigan; October 2, Stanford vs. Illinois; October 9, Wisconsin vs. Rice; October 16, Oregon vs. Southern California; October 23, Pittsburg vs. Northwestern; October 30, Penn vs. Penn State; November 6, Baylor vs. Texas; November 13, Georgia Tech vs. Alabama; November 20, Ohio State vs. Michigan; November 25, Maryland vs. Missouri; November 27, Army vs. Navy; December 4, Southern Methodist vs. Notre Dame.

"In the event the World Series—which gets underway September 28 and which will be carried by Channel 3—extends through October 2, the Stanford-Illinois game will be cancelled so viewers can follow the Series down to the flag," Fry concluded.

Athlete's Foot Third Most Common Disease

The common disease, popularly known as athlete's foot, is said to be the third most common disease seen by skin specialists during the summer, and the fifth most common disorder in winter. It is due to a little mold-like growth or fungus which thrives best where there is moisture and warmth. Therefore, the feet make an ideal place for the growth of this germ.

"To have athlete's foot, the infection must be gotten either directly or indirectly from someone else," states Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. "The most common places to contract the infection are around shower rooms, baths or bath houses, locker rooms and other public places where people go barefoot. And it is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

The following measures have been suggested for preventing and avoiding recurrent attacks of athlete's foot:

1. After bathing, dry carefully and thoroughly the spaces between the toes.
2. Liberally apply a plain, un-scented talcum to those areas and sprinkle it freely in socks, stockings, and shoes.

Partners
 Medicine has a partner that few of us associate with the healing arts—the meat industry. That's because meat animals are the source of a long list of extremely important medical products, and the meat industry has developed elaborate facilities for saving them. The best known of these products is undoubtedly insulin—the substance which has literally meant the difference between life and death to vast numbers of sufferers from diabetes. But there are others whose contribution to humanity is comparable. These include ACTH and cortisone, used in the treatment of arthritis, rheumatic fever and other dread diseases; liver extract, for treating pernicious anemia; bone marrow concentrates, used to alleviate various blood disorders; fibrin foam, which controls bleeding during operations; and dehydrocholic acid, used in treating certain gall bladder disorders. There are many more. It is quite a job to save and properly process the animal by-products from which such medicines come. As an example, it takes the pancreas glands from 7,500 pigs or 1,500 cattle to make a single ounce of insulin. But our highly-developed meat industry does that job in stride, day in and day out, and millions of people are the beneficiaries. Portuguese is spoke in Brazil by four times as many people as in Portugal. Chinese philosophers have regarded women as the principle of evil. The sun dial was probably the earliest instrument for measuring time.

Basic Truths
 There was a time when organized labor groups almost universally went on record in favor of government ownership of certain basic enterprises, notably electric power. Now the pendulum is swinging the other way—and for potent reasons. For example, "Andy" McMahon, president of Local 1-2, Utility Workers of America, a CIO affiliate with 90,000 members across the country, appeared before the Hoover Commission Task Force on Water Resources and Power. He said, "We don't want to be employees of any government or governmental agency." And he told the Task Force that his union is unqualifiedly opposed to public power because of what he termed three "basic truths." First, he listed the disadvantages of working for government. Collective bargaining contracts with government are neither genuine nor effective, and employees lose inherent rights when it comes to seeking better wages, working conditions and hours. Second, he said that government as an employer has consistently resisted paying prevailing rates of pay in any industry in which it has competed with private ownership. He added that there is no way to compel public power bodies to correct this inequity. Third, he pointed to the tax subsidy given public power projects, saying: "We do not feel that the taxpayers of one section of the country should indirectly pay part of the electric bill charged by government operation of facilities in other parts of the country." Mr. McMahon and the members of the union he heads aren't just talking theory—they've had long and thorough experience with both public and private power operations of every kind and size. So theirs is truly expert testimony and it should be listened to.

 "CROWELL'S QUALITY STORE"

With a Capital B
 The belief that it is high time and then some that our system of railroad regulating be thoroughly overhauled seems to be almost universally held by those who have objectively examined the question. And the reason for it is that regulatory policy was conceived in a vanished era, and is based on obsolete concepts. Writing in the Philadelphia Bulletin, Ralph W. Page expressed this view: "Our machinery for regulating the railroads was provided when they were a monopoly. Now this segment of our economy is no longer a monopoly. . . . On the contrary, the railroads face the fiercest kind of competition." The San Francisco News recently made this comment: "Regulation of the railroads does seem overly severe. A railroad must go through so much red tape to get permission for a rate change that by the time it is granted—if it is—the conditions that led to the original request may have changed radically. . . . Our railroads must be strong, if the nation is to be strong."

At about the same time, the head of U. S. Steel observed that, among other things, the rails are being "regulated to death." These opinions are typical. And they arise from a concern for the public interest—not just the railroads' interest. Last year the railroads handled 56.07 per cent of the total commercial intercity freight traffic—more than the trucks, waterways, pipe lines and air lines combined. They are the backbone of transportation with a capital B. So anything which puts artificial barriers in the way of railroad progress hurts us all.

The Price Tag
 A bulletin issued by the American Economic Foundation observed that one of America's most important economic inventions (inventor unknown) was the idea of putting a price tag on an article displayed in a store and meaning it. In most of the rest of the world, this one-price system of conducting retail business doesn't exist. The asking price involves enormous mark-ups, by American standards, and is regarded by the informed as simply a starting point for a bargaining contest. No one will ever know how many millions of dollars unwary American tourists have lost because they assumed the first price asked was the real and final price. What have been the benefits of our one-price system, with that price printed clearly on a tag? The bulletin described them this way: "American stores with their low 'real' prices sell far more goods. Their profits come in 'fast nickels' instead of 'slow dimes.' With no time out for haggling over each sale, the store clerks can handle a much larger number of transactions and thus justify better salaries for themselves. So at the end of the year, everyone is happy; the customer has gotten better values, the clerk has gotten better pay, and the owners of the store have gotten better earnings." The price tag is the symbol, repeated billions of times, of a system of mass distribution which makes our living standards possible.

Texas Will Soon Have Best Storm Warning System in the World

A network of radar stations which will give Texas the best storm warning system now available in the world will soon be completed. There are now 11 stations in operation, and three more will soon be in operation. Another section of Texas, which serves a section of Texas, will add up to 14 in operation for this state. E. L. Hardy, regional director of the U. S. Weather Bureau, has advised Governor Allan Shivers that the last three in the chain will be in operation within six weeks at Austin, San Antonio and Lubbock.

Besides the one at Lake Charles, those already functioning are at Amarillo, Victoria, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Houston, Abilene, Fort Worth, Galveston, Midland, San Angelo and Wichita Falls.

Hardy told the Governor that once the network is completed, it will be "the best and most up-to-date storm warning system now available anywhere in the world."

Hardy added that storm reporting and the general warning service maintained by the U. S. Weather Bureau will be extended and improved tremendously by the installation of the equipment, which is able to detect heavy rainfall, tornadoes, hurricanes and other severe weather manifestations.

The U. S. Weather Bureau ties the radar net into the Department of Public Safety communications system through special arrangements between the two organizations. All Weather Bureau radar reports are received by Public Safety Communications within about two minutes after a warning is issued.

Once reports are received, Public Safety units track the storm and warn people who are in its course. The Public Safety units also advise the Weather Bureau as to whether the storms are turning into tornadoes.

"This one phase will do much to save lives and property," Hardy noted. William L. McGill, state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief, agreed. As a specific example of what the radar storm warning equipment would have been of vital use in the recent flood in the Upper Rio Grande Valley.

Federal, state and local government agencies worked out arrangements for the new equipment. The U. S. Weather Bureau made surplus radar equipment available.

The Texas A&M College Research Foundation was given a contract to modify this equipment for storm warning use. The Texas Department of Public Safety agreed to cooperate in making maximum use of the warnings which the Weather Bureau gives on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

The Division of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief of the Governor's office arranged meetings in the cities in which first-order weather stations are located. A team of representatives of the disaster relief office, the Weather Bureau, the A&M Research Foundation, and the Texas Department of Public Safety explained the plan to local government officials and the interested agencies.

The initial cost of modifying and installing the equipment was underwritten by the cities involved. Once the network is completed, Texas will be served by the first storm warning system of its kind ever to be installed by any state or area.

4,400 Children Killed in Traffic Last Year

"A total of 4,400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation, said this week. He said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture," he said. "In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council."

Many of these injuries, Col. Tilley pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life. "There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways," he said.

"Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable children and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing. And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions."

"Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14. "Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases," Col. Tilley said. "Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for the one to 14 age group, there were 3,888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents."

"This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio, and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms, than from traffic accidents in this age group."

He said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we all will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: "Watch Out for Kids."

Shade Trees Need a Little Help After Hot, Dry Summer
 Shade trees sapped by another summer of sparse rainfall need a little help from their owners. An ailing tree's condition can be improved greatly with water and fertilizer, says Mrs. Mary D. Brown, CHDA. To accomplish this, build a circular dike around the ultimatum. Above, Mrs. Rio de Janeiro crowds saw delivery trucks of anti-riot newspaper, O Globo, after turning the vehicles. Several were killed and scores injured.

tree to hold water four deep in the basin. The depth of the basin, says Mrs. Brown, should approximate the diameter of the tree's shade canopy, six feet in diameter is size for very small trees and 100 square feet of area is recommended.

Fill the basin to a depth of four inches and allow to stand during the hot, dry part of year repeat the waterings at 10 day intervals but continue during the seasons.

Fertilize every 30 days of the growing season and use fertilizer as the tree goes dormant. Water well every fertilizer is applied, adds Brown.

KFDX-TV to Present Collegiate Football

Channel 3—KFDX-TV in Wichita Falls—will exclusively present national collegiate football in the North Texas-Southern Oklahoma area this fall.

The announcement was made this week by Howard Fry, vice president and general manager of Wichita Radio and Television Company.

The only college football available on television this fall, the NCAA games will be broadcast for 12 successive Saturdays beginning September 18 and on Thanksgiving Day.

"KFDX-TV is happy to be able to bring these top ranking games into the area through the national facilities of the American Broadcasting Company," Fry said.

The national collegiate schedule to be televised by Channel 3 is as follows:

September 18, California vs. Oklahoma; September 25, Iowa vs. Michigan; October 2, Stanford vs. Illinois; October 9, Wisconsin vs. Rice; October 16, Oregon vs. Southern California; October 23, Pittsburg vs. Northwestern; October 30, Penn vs. Penn State; November 6, Baylor vs. Texas; November 13, Georgia Tech vs. Alabama; November 20, Ohio State vs. Michigan; November 25, Maryland vs. Missouri; November 27, Army vs. Navy; December 4, Southern Methodist vs. Notre Dame.

"In the event the World Series—which gets underway September 28 and which will be carried by Channel 3—extends through October 2, the Stanford-Illinois game will be cancelled so viewers can follow the Series down to the flag," Fry concluded.

Athlete's Foot Third Most Common Disease

The common disease, popularly known as athlete's foot, is said to be the third most common disease seen by skin specialists during the summer, and the fifth most common disorder in winter. It is due to a little mold-like growth or fungus which thrives best where there is moisture and warmth. Therefore, the feet make an ideal place for the growth of this germ.

"To have athlete's foot, the infection must be gotten either directly or indirectly from someone else," states Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. "The most common places to contract the infection are around shower rooms, baths or bath houses, locker rooms and other public places where people go barefoot. And it is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

The following measures have been suggested for preventing and avoiding recurrent attacks of athlete's foot:

1. After bathing, dry carefully and thoroughly the spaces between the toes.
2. Liberally apply a plain, unperfumed talcum to those areas and sprinkle it freely in socks, stockings, and shoes.

Methods Given for Washing Skirts with Permanent Pleats

Wash permanently pleated skirts without worrying if the skirt contains 50 per cent man-made fibers, says Mrs. Mary D. Brown, CHDA. Drying is the key to sharp, firm pleats!

Most permanently pleated skirts are made of blended fabrics — such as cotton and wool blended with man-made fibers. If the skirt contains 50 per cent man-made fibers, it's washable, says a report from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Hot water and mild soap or detergent won't harm pleated fabric. Laundering may be by hand or machine.

Two ways of drying are finger-press pleats after the moisture has dripped off the other way will prevent stretching or pulling the fabric of shape. Lay the skirt flat before hanging the skirt for final drying.

Follow the manufacturer's label on skirts or material guide to care and washing fabric, adds Mrs. Brown.

Our Weekly Sermon

TRY PRAYER

Experience has taught most of us that our resources are indeed limited. Often we are far from wise enough to cope with problems we face. Even when we pound our chests in moments of great accomplishment, our better self detects a hollow sound. So why not try prayer? Prayer can draw from the "God of all grace." His own infinite resources. Prayer is good for the soul. Good, because through prayer the soul goes out to the Creator who made it. Good, because soul naturally likes to lean upon God. Good, because without prayer the soul suffers with spiritual loneliness. One of our Lord's parables was pointed to the end "that men ought always to pray, and not to faint." Often our Lord resorted to prayer. At least on one occasion He went out and "continued all night in prayer to God." If the Son of God needed prayer, how much more do we? Somehow the Lord has created us with a need of dependency. (The self-sufficient man never existed.) That dependency is not identical with a leaning on friends; something deeper is implied. It was best put when it was written, "We are made for Thee, O Lord, and our souls only rest when they rest in Thee." In the Bible we read, "The same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him." It is not necessary that we wait until a time of crisis before we pray. Prayer should become a daily habit, a communion of the soul with God. Bottling pent-up frustrations and anxieties is not good. This can only increase our mental stresses, make us irritable, and often ill. Someone to whom we can tell all, with perfect confidence that we will not be exposed, is absolutely necessary. Where can we find such a one? We can find him in God alone. "Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb. 4:16). Public Health Program

Designed to Benefit All People of Texas

Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer, in outlining the duties of the Texas State Department of Health, said in a statement this week that public health programs are designed to benefit all the people. "In an effort to prevent disease," Dr. Holle said, "the Texas State Health Department carries on an educational program informing the public as to how they can secure protection by vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever, and immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus; by investigating source of disease outbreaks; by isolating those ill with communicable disease; inspection of water supplies; and use of safe milk to prevent the occurrence of milk borne diseases and many other services to the public." Dr. Holle said that in spite of preventive measures, people will become ill and accidents will happen. In general, the cure of sickness in the individual and the responsibility of the duties of the private practitioner of medicine and surgery. "Of course," he said, "the private practitioner of medicine is also engaged in prevention of disease when he advises mothers to have their children and family protected against those diseases for which there is a known preventive." The general practitioner and the State Department of Health both advocate that it is better to remain healthy than it is to recover from an illness, but the State Department of Health is engaged in the prevention and control of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state. Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Ayers.

Joe Milligan, who lives six miles south of Quanah, has constructed a farm pond on his farm for livestock water.

J. E. Campsey, who operates a farm owned by Mary Schmoker and located one mile east of Lazare, has constructed about a mile of terraces and plans to do more terracing this fall after his cotton is harvested. If moisture conditions are favorable, Campsey plans to plant 20 acres of Austrian winter peas as a cover crop to help combat wind erosion and as a soil builder.

Other farmers in the district who plan to plant winter legumes for a cover crop are Red Emerson, Fred Byrd, Roy Barnett, Claude Underwood, Cecil Straughan, W. Y. Bennett and others.

Last year soil shifted around on sandy land farms and some on tight land. This year many farmers will grow enough cover to slow down wind erosion on their land.

Of course, these crops cannot be established unless it rains.

During the past week a farm pond was constructed on the farm of district cooperator, D. C. Parks. Parks' farm is located four miles south of Quanah on the Crowell highway.

Soil Conservation Service technicians, from the Quanah work unit, also staked a waterway for cooperator G. G. Morton, whose farm is located six miles south of Chillicothe.

For the next few weeks the emphasis of the Soil Conservation Service at Quanah will be on winter cover crops. Many of the district cooperators have already made plans to plant vetch or Austrian winter peas as soon as moisture is available. These crops are not only valuable as cover crops, which protect the soil from water and wind erosion, but they are also valuable because they add organic matter and plant food nutrients to the soil. It is important that these legumes be inoculated with the right kind of bacteria. If they are not properly inoculated, the fertility of the soil will not be increased as much as where inoculated legumes are grown.

W. C. Howard and Foy Horton grew wheat after Austrian winter peas on deep sand in the Hoolayan community this year. Their yield was 12 bushels per acre. Some people said wheat would not grow on this land. Crop yields can be raised where the organic matter in the soil is increased.

1954 Dove Season Opened Sept. 1; Good Hunting Forecast

Austin — Opening of the north zone mourning dove season at noon September 1 marks what could be one of the best shoots in recent years, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the showers that preceded the opener restored water tanks in many parts of the state at a time when the early migration of the fleet birds was underway.

"Reports from scattered areas," said the Executive Secretary, "indicate there are plenty of native birds and that thousands of others have moved into the state en route to their wintering grounds in Mexico and Central America."

"The problem is to have enough feed and water to hold them in Texas. Feed seems to be adequate in most places and the available water has been increased by moderate to heavy rains."

The Executive Secretary pointed out that roughly three-fourths of Texas opened to mourning dove hunting yesterday at noon. The North Zone season runs through October 10. The South Zone season prevails from noon October 1 through November 9.

The Executive Secretary said the best time to hunt mourning doves is late in the day when they are moving to and from feeding and watering areas. He said they "loaf" in the shade in the heat of the day and do not move about much.

He explained the favorite feed of mourning doves is grass seed, weed seed, and seed of domestic grain such as red top cane, begari, or any kind of small grain.

The daily limit is ten doves. Possession limit is the same. Daily shooting ends at sunset. Shotgun must be plugged to three shots. Rifles are prohibited. The Executive Secretary suggested hunters obtain landowners' permission before hunting on their premises and added that persons doubtful about legal provisions should see their local game warden.

Chrysler Uses Closed Circuit Television to Tell Dealers of Plans

Thirty-three hundred Chrysler dealers throughout the U. S. were told Chrysler's plans for 1955 by E. C. Quinn, president, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation, via closed-circuit television on last Thursday, August 26.

Gathered in hotels and theaters in 28 major cities the dealers were brought up to date on Chrysler's latest plans for increased penetration of the market. E. M. Braden, general sales manager, and C. R. Curtan, sales manager, discussed sales, advertising and merchandising for the balance of the year and for 1955.

"This is the second time in four months that we have used closed-circuit television in order to reach the entire dealer body with an important sales message," Quinn said. "As a result of a successful meeting of this type in May we were able to acquaint our dealers with our aggressive sales plans and the effort was reflected in a substantial increase in sales during the months of June and July."

Quinn said that the closed-circuit meeting is part of a program to increase meetings between top factory executives and dealers and is aimed at increasing dealers' profit possibilities in an increasingly competitive market.

RETURNS TO HOUSTON

Miss Lydia Bravo returned to Houston last Friday where she will continue her studies in the College of Medicine. She has been visiting here in Crowell the past two weeks in the home of Rev. C. T. Aly, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and her mother, Mrs. E. A. Danagan.

Miss Bravo's native home is Manila, Philippine Islands. She has been studying in the United States for the past six years, and plans to return to the United States to complete her education.

Rev. Aly was instrumental in Miss Bravo's coming to the United States.
