Mr. Andrews passed away in the Foard County Hospital early Tuesday morning, August 24, at 11:30 a. m. He was born in England and came to this country in 1854. He was a member of the Baptist Church for 69 years.

After he was blind and unable to see to read, "Pappy" Andrews was familiarly known to many as "Pappy" Andrews. He read 81 books by means of records for a talking machine furnished by the State Library for the blind.

President of Cemetery Association Seeks Funds to Improve Sexton's House

Mrs. N. J. Roberts, president of the Crowell Cemetery Association, is seeking extra funds to improve and add a new room to the sexton's house at the cemetery. The house was built in 1944 and is now entirely too small for the caretaker's family. She releases the following statement in regard to this important improvement at the cemetery:

"We have had an estimate made on a room and bath room and it should not be prohibitive, if our friends will have a will to help. In these eleven years we have made no additional improvements. There's never been a garage, sheds or anything that goes with an average home. "The house has been re-papered and has had a new roof. Other than that, all income has gone for additional acreage, fence and sexton's hire, along with incidental expenses. This is a part of the cemetery setup, and is necessary if we keep a caretaker. "As your cemetery president, I saw through the building of the present house, and will gladly give my time and effort to carry this program through. We can't do this with our upkeep funds, but it should come from those who would like to see this permanent improvement. Probably, there are those who would materialize to give and those who contribute a day's work. "On my suggestion of this proposed addition, Claude McLaughlin said, 'I'll do the wiring.' Mrs. Sam Crews said, 'I'll give $25.00.' "Here we go. Let's add on to the cemetery house. Leave your gift at the bank, or mail or give it to me. "Many thanks to Cicero Smith Lumber Co. for building and taking out a shed to house our new lawn mower."

Auto Industry Undergoes Annual Change

Detroit—What happens behind the scenes when Detroit's gigantic automotive industry pauses for new model changeover?

Never fully told, that story unfolded this week in a discussion with M. C. Patterson, vice president in charge of manufacturing for the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation, as the industry prepared for its annual summer metamorphosis.

In view of the increasing public demand for more and more color in their cars, Patterson likened the changeover from the production of current models to new ones to the cocoon stage of the butterfly.

Layman Knows Little About Model Changeovers

"The average person knows little about what happens," Patterson observed. "One month dealers across the nation are offering new 1955 cars, for example. The next there's a brand new line incorporating all of the advanced ideas and features for 1956.

"That's the way it appears to the layman. First, the factories will be working at high speed as they have all year. Then there will be a short pause—two or three weeks, perhaps, and suddenly, out of the cocoon will come a glistening new car, resplendent in all the colors of the rainbow."

Two to Three Years Work

It may seem like magic, Patterson said, but actually the production of a new car means from two to three years work by engineers, designers, mechanics and toolmakers, production men and members of top management.

"You can't do it with mirrors," Patterson declared. "It takes hard work, long hours, and the best skills we can assemble."

Months before the last car of the current series rolls off the assembly line, Patterson said, Dodge plant officials plan necessary changes of production facilities. The changeover task itself is broken down into projects, and funds allocated to do each one.

Materials Tagged for Inventory

As soon as production is completed on the final car of the current series, plant workers start to clean up, collecting and tagging remaining materials for inventory.

New Machinery Installed

While the inventory is going on, other workers from the skilled trades are moving in equipment for the foundry and for engine manufacture preparatory to plant rearrangement.

Limited Quantities New Parts

As the installation specialists finish any part of their work, production men move in and begin making new parts in limited quantities. From all over the plant, a trickle of finished parts converges on the beginning of engine assembly and test-stand operation.

New equipment already obtained is taken from storage and set up. Other fixtures and equipment for the new models begin arriving from tool shops and machine builders all over the country. The job progresses on an around-the-clock schedule, seven days a week, so that the plant "down time" for model change may be reduced to a minimum.

New Flooring Laid

In the stamping division, new concrete flooring is laid, and foundations built for new presses or the relocation of old ones. Once in place, the machinery undergoes exhaustive tests. Die-makers swarm over the huge machines, making ready for the day when the body presses will be started.

Paint Area Undergoes Changes

The paint area, too, undergoes a startling change. Demands of car buyers for the wide variety of vivid and pastel colors, and for two- and three-tone combinations, have wrought a major change in this field.

"It may be the woman's influence," said Patterson, "but today the motoring world is far removed from the dingy black and 'tattle tale grey' period before the war. Not that we don't make black cars, or black and color combinations. It's just that more and more people seem to be in a gayer mood, demand colors to fit."

Trim Shop

As each part of the plant is reactivated for the new models, Patterson explained, production workers are brought back and instructed in the use of the new equipment. Building of the first production models progresses to the trim shop stage.

This area of the plant is a veritable fashion salon. Nicknamed "the glamour shop," it is here that the car body receives careful grooming, its "beauty treatment." Here too, it receives the final dress-up to enhance its distinutive styling.

While all this is going on, however, there still is activity in the tooling and installation departments. Some machines, failing to meet exacting needs, must be re-designed.

Safety and Control Equipment

"The public demand for modern safety and control equipment, such as power steering and power brakes, has made necessary whole new plant areas to handle them," Patterson said. "These improvements—always going on—may necessitate a new car frame. This, in turn, will cause changes in conveyors, in assembly fixtures, and in the stations along the assembly line. Every item must be in its proper place, for eventual mass production will depend on split-second timing as each part, each separate assembly, is added to the growing car."

Complete House Cleaning

The job of model changeover, Patterson pointed out, is a complete house cleaning and a complete restyling of the plant, as well as the automobile itself. When the new model starts down the line all of its components will be processed over new tools, jigs and fixtures, and will be carried on specially designed conveyors. Even the hooks on the overhead monorails will be new and designed specifically for the changed shape of the parts they carry.

Over 13,000 Components

On the average car, Patterson said, there are more than 13,000 components. This may increase to 15,000 in various models. The stocking of more than 7,000 items in inventory is necessary. The plant receives approximately 3,700 tons of materials every day to meet the demands of the various departments.

"A great daily inventory must be assembled. By the time the plant starts full production we need over four miles of bumpers, over a mile of engines, over 3/4 of a mile of spark plugs, and 68 miles of wiring (enough wire to reach from Detroit to Toledo) for each day's operation."

"It costs millions to retool and re-equip our plant for the 1955 models," Patterson said, "and many more millions will be spent this year as the new 1956 models take shape."

Millions Spent for Teaching

Additional millions will be spent in teaching and training returning employees their new assignments. Still more will be spent for research and development.

"All of the huge expenditure in time, labor, materials and money in the annual task of changeover," Patterson declared, "covers a remarkably short period."

"In spite of the many years I've been in this business, I confess I'm continually amazed every time we go through this changeover period. It's a dramatic and highly important time for us. It's truly a modern American miracle!"

Know and Obey the "Signs of Life"

"It's a sign of good judgment to know and obey the Signs of Life!"

E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of the Texas Safety Association Inc., made that remark this week in discussing the current Signs of Life program the Texas Safety Association and the Department of Public Safety is sponsoring in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"Signs of life are the traffic signs and signals erected for the protection of motorists and pedestrians," Mr. McFadden explained. "It's their job to warn of conditions ahead, and drivers who don't heed their warning are likely to run into trouble."

"The traffic trouble caused by such heedlessness is indicated," Mr. McFadden said, "by the fact that more than half the drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents are violating one or more traffic laws at the time of the accident."

Violations most frequently committed are:

1. Exceeding speed limit.
2. Failure to keep right of center line.
3. Improper passing.
4. Disregarding warning sign.
5. Disregarding stop sign.
6. Disregarding signal or officer.

"On the matter of speed," Mr. McFadden said, "driving too fast for conditions often causes drivers to miss traffic signs or signals or to be unable to slow down in time if they do see them."

"Whenever you drive," he said, "remember that it's dangerous to be a Hurry Bug. Slow down and live!"

Cancellation of Mexican Road Race Praised

Johnny Parsons, winner of the Indianapolis 500 in 1950, and acknowledged as one of America's top racing drivers, and Danny Eames, Dodge chief test driver, and famed racing mechanic, told a press conference last week that they were glad that the Mexican government had cancelled the Mexican Road Race.

Parsons and Eames explained that, contrary to a popular supposition, automobile racing is a serious business for both drivers and mechanics. Parsons stated, "The three essential safety elements in any race are: a good mechanic, a good driver, and proper crowd control. I've had several invitations to drive the Mexican race, but I've never been tempted. Racing is my business — it's the way I make a living for my family. The mountains, hairpin turns and thousand foot drops don't bother me. If I have a good mechanic, I know that the car is ready. I also know my own abilities, and drive accordingly. But, I'll never drive in a place where children and spectators stand on the track. To me, racing is a serious business.

"I've been down to three Mexican road races," Eames added, "but I'll never ride a car over that course. Why the spectators stand in the middle of the road to get a better view. Most of my close friends are in racing. On the track they drive carefully. Racing without good crowd control is like speeding through a children's playground."

"When I climb into a car down at the Indianapolis," Parsons continued, "I'm keyed up for the race. But the crowd is safe. We drivers accept some chances, but they're at a minimum. Everyone in the race has had a complete physical examination. Everyone has had a drivers' test. We know that the course and the car are in perfect shape. Indy has the best crowd control and crowd protection in the business. The 'brickyard' is the safest place in racing."

Break glass in case of fire, children's education, tornadoes, new farm equipment, drought, eventual retirement...

There's no cause for alarm when you save the United Savings Bond way.

To the farmer who's unprepared any one of the "emergencies" listed above could mean trouble. That's why so many budget-minded farmers are putting part of each year's earnings into U. S. Series "E" Savings Bonds.

Every 300 dollars put away now, for instance, grows to $400 dollars in 9 years 8 months—$538.72 in less than twenty years. Here's a big return on your money against possible disaster, as well as towards such "fair-weather" items as that big vacation—that new wing on your house.

Bonds are just as good as ready cash, too, since they're cashable anytime after the first two months. Better than cash, they're "fire-proof" . . . "loss-proof!" Each Bond is registered in your name, so it can be easily replaced if burnt or lost.

See your Bank today for further details, and see how systematic United States Savings Bonds can make your savings picture. Don't forget to ask about "H" Bonds, too, if you would like your interest paid to you by check every six months!

Health Officer Urges Care in Selecting Places to Eat

The questions "when do we eat" and "where shall we eat" are asked thousands of times a day by workers, shoppers and those eating out for pleasure. The answer may be based on many factors but cleanliness should be high on the list, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health.

While there may be exceptions, an eating place that presents a neat and clean appearance to the patron is usually similarly maintained throughout. On the other hand, you can be sure that where the exterior, dining area or counter are slovenly kept, the kitchen is no better.

Appearances are usually a reflection of the operator's personal attitude. Carelessness in personal neatness and hygiene, and in the cleanliness of the establishment is invariably accompanied by careless and unsanitary handling of the food served.

Everyone should know the important sanitary hazards to look for and avoid. We might well ask ourselves the following questions: Do the serving personnel have clean hands, clean washable clothing? Are they free of bandaged fingers, coughs, and colds? Is all perishable food kept really hot or well refrigerated? Are flies absent? Is food kept covered? Are the dishes and glasses clean to sight and touch? If all of these questions can be answered "yes," the chance of food poisoning or intestinal upset is quite remote.

Food may be infected with germs causing food poisoning or diarrhea if food handlers fail to wash hands after using the toilet, have infected cuts, burns or pimples, or cough or sneeze over the food. If the infected food is not refrigerated adequately and promptly, bacteria may multiply to numbers causing illness. Heat will kill bacteria but may not destroy poisons produced by certain bacteria. All of a food in a container should be kept hot or cold and not just a portion at the bottom or sides of the container.

Dr. Holle says that whenever eating out, you can help health officials by being "choosy where you eat." Most eating places operators appreciate that "cleanliness is good business," but there are always some places where improvements are needed. You can all help convince these behind-the-scenes people more rapidly if we patronize only clean eating places!

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Forty-one women interested in tailoring met for the pre-tailoring meeting last Tuesday, Aug. 23. I have not tried to fool anyone about this tailoring. It does take a lot of time and effort, as well as some money for your fabric and equipment. However, I do feel very strongly that it will be worth it to you. This tailoring is an opportunity you may not have again, so I hope that you will consider it very carefully.

As you know, we have a demonstration on hats this month. Remember, I will be out of the county several days and my schedule for meeting clubs has changed. I will meet them as follows:

Riverside, Sept. 6; Margaret, Sept. 9; Thalia, Sept. 15; Gambleville, Sept. 16; Foard City, Sept. 20; Vivian, Sept. 22; West Side, Sept. 27.

Will each of you bring one hat to this meeting so that we can discuss trims, etc.

I'm sure you know by now that Janet Rasberry won third place

Big Losses Shown in Mercantile Fires

Large-loss mercantile fires are on the increase. The National Fire Protection Association in 1954 recorded 54 such fires, with a toll of 9 lives lost, 149 injuries and $23 million worth of property damaged or destroyed. Comparable figures for 1953 showed 29 of these fires, costing 10 lives and $12 million in property.

In 1954, 72 per cent of the large-loss mercantile fires originated when the stores were not open. This often means delay in discovery, which is one of the outstanding causes of serious fires. Therefore, the National Board of Fire Underwriters urges owners and operators of mercantile establishments to take the following safety precautions:

1. Consult your local fire department about how to guard against conditions under which a fire may burn and smolder for hours, filling the building with heated gases which in turn heat up woodwork and other combustible material to a point where

MEAT PRODUCTION UP

U. S. meat production was up for the first five months this year. Beef output was up 2 per cent, veal was up 1 per cent. All meats were up 8 per cent.

ONE TOO MANY "HICS"

Richmond, Va. — Taken court on a charge of public drunkenness, a woman was asked the judge, several hours later she was still drunk. She replied "Hic—certainly not." The judge concluded that the "hic" was the most damaging testimony he ever heard and sentenced her ten dollars and costs.

A SURE RETURN

It happened in Greenwood, Miss. Little Patsy Fisher, who was just 10 years old, and her 7-year-old sister took some of their old comic books and sold them on the street near their home. When they had counted up their proceeds, they had five dollars and eighty-six cents. Taking their precious hoard of nickels and pennies, they went around the corner to the office of the emergency March of Dimes campaign. Rather uncertainly Patsy approached the first person she saw in the office, a grand- motherly, gray-haired lady, and told her she would like to give the entire amount to help in the campaign. The money was received with a smile, "Thank you, my dear," and a pat on the head. Then Patsy and her sister went home. It was just a week later that Patsy fell ill. The family doctor made his examination; then quietly talked with her parents outside the room. "It's polio, all right," he said gravely, and immediately made arrangements to transfer her to the polio center. How glad Patsy was as she entered the ward that she had done what she could, while she could! No good deed is ever wasted. There is a law of returns so definite that whatever we do, good or bad, it will show up later, both in time and in eternity. The One who watches from His throne in the skies has told us, "Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days" (Proverbs 11:1). And the New Testament declares: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Galatians 6:7). But this also operates in reverse. God warns: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." Therefore take heed how you sow . . . for the sake of others, and also for your eternal welfare.

King For A Day!

State Capitol NEWS
by VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—Main impact of the 54th Legislature will be felt next week when most of the bills it passed will become state law. Taking effect Sept. 6 will be laws designed to eliminate insurance abuses, overhaul the scandal-racked veterans land program and restrict some labor union activities.

Tax increases are most likely to be noticed first. To augment state revenue by $50 million per year, new levies were placed on beer, cigarettes, gasoline and corporate franchises.

Ultimate payment will fall to the consumer.

Nine major insurance bills are aimed at strengthening the industry and providing better protection for the buying public. Capitalization and surplus requirements will be raised, and sale of insurance securities and stock regulated.

Individual insurance commissioners will be empowered to act together as a board. Insurance counselors will be licensed, and agents will have to pass an examination.

Veterans land program legisla- tion will tighten regulations and impose more stringent controls on both buyers and sellers. Both are made liable to jail terms up to 10 years and fines up to $10,000 for fraud or misrepresentation.

Major labor legislation includes the "Port Arthur Bill." It will enable employers to enjoin strikes by a union which cannot show it represents a majority of workers. Already effective is the "Ford Motor bill" denying unemploy- ment payments to union workers by a strike in another plant of their company.

Other new laws will provide $7 million more for public assistance and bring 30,000 more state em- ployees and college professors un- der federal Social Security. Cor- ruptive comic books will be ban- ned, and incorporation require- ments will be broadened to in- clude "any lawful purpose."

Integration Upheld
Big Spring's test case on the legality of Texas public school integration headed toward the Supreme Court.

A suit to enjoin the Texas Edu- cation Agency and comptroller from making payments to deseg- regated schools was denied in dis- trict court. Judge Charlie N. Sul- livan ruled invalid that part of the Gilmer-Aikin law which ap- plies to segregation.

Notice of appeal was given at once by the attorney for the pro- segregation Texas Citizens Coun- cil who brought the suit. If the district court opinion is upheld, there apparently would be no need for an immediate special ses- sion of the legislature to revise school laws.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has warned that school integra- tion should not precede legislative action. He, like the Citizens Coun- cil, has insisted that the law is presently set up to make state payments only to segregated schools.

Gov. Allan Shivers declined to comment until after the final court action.

Thirty Deaths Predicted
Thirty traffic deaths are pre- dicted by the Department of Pub- lic Safety for the upcoming Lab- or Day week end.

Last year 29 Texans were traf- fic fatalities during the three-day holiday.

Only once recently has the de- partment's forecast missed by any sizeable margin. For July 4 it pre- dicted 29 fatalities. Only 18 oc- curred.

Col. Homer Garrison, depart- ment director, expressed hope for

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

The offering of cattle and calves was the largest since mid- July at Fort Worth Monday. Dry- ing ranges in many sections of the Southwest and the approach of Fall with the cowmen busy working to shape up herds to go into the winter are credited with the biggest movement.

Most classes showed some weakness. Cows were 50 cents to $1 lower. Steers steady. Bulls un- changed. Slaughter calves and most stockers closed lower.

Comparative prices: good and choice slaughter steers and year- lings $18-22 (quotable to $23.50); common and medium steers and yearlings $12-18; fat cows $9.50-11.50; canners and cutters, $7-9.50; bulls $10-13.50; good and choice slaughter calves $16-18.50; common and medium $11-15; culls $9-11, stocker steer calves $20.50 down; yearling stockers $19 down; replacement cows $8-12.

Top hogs sold for $16.50 to $16.75 at Fort Worth Monday and less attractive weights and kinds sold from $15.50 to $16.25. Sows were steady at $10 to $15.

A national publication, out this week, estimates the lowest aver- age for hog prices in the August through January, fall and winter period will be about $15.50 for the United States. They predict November or December will be the similar error for the September 3-5 holiday.

Politics Is Budding
Texas' governorship campaign seems to be shaping up, consid- erably ahead of schedule.

Former Supreme Court Justice and University of Texas Chancel- lor James P. Hart addressed an East Texas meeting at Henderson, sponsored by the liberal Demo- crats. Liberals have been courting his entry in the race, and he is "thinking about it."

There were those who said he "sounded like a candidate" in his talk on "ideas and ideals."

Former Speaker Reuben Senter- tit of San Saba, only announced candidate for governor, has held a meeting of his statewide campaign steering committee in Austin. He said he will name county and precinct campaign chair- men by January.

State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton is an intended candi- date. He was present in Hender- son when Hart spoke. A statewide rally in Galveston on Sept. 1 was planned by his friends as the send- off for his campaign.

Mrs. Wayne W. Wagoner of Bowie, widow of the senator killed in a car accident two weeks ago, also has been mentioned as a possible candidate. She was the only other speaker at the Henderson rally which her husband was to have addressed. Her's was not a political speech.

Senator Price Daniel, currently abroad, is holding up disclosure of his decision whether to run for governor next year, two years before expiration of his first Sen- ate term.

Governor Shivers hasn't an- nounced his plans. "Anything can happen; at this time I am not a candidate for anything," he told newsmen.

Biggest But Not Cheapest
Texas has become the principal producing state of Aluminum Co. of America's vast chain of alumi- num refining and smelting opera- tion.

Persuaded to try aluminum for some of its heavy permanent road signs, the Highway Depart- ment asked for bids. When they were opened, the Canadian alumi- num industry turned up with a bid on imported metal eight per cent under the lowest domestic bid.

Conference Urges Sound Terms in Automobile Buying

"No down payments and long, long terms," are bad for car buyers, dealers, and manu- facturers, according to the American Finance Conference, national trade association of independent automobile finance companies.

Through its "AFC Dealer News- letter" and other widely circu- lated public statements, AFC has for some months been taking the lead in urging automobile deal- ers, finance companies, and the public, to be guided by the prin- ciples of sound investment and adequate buyer equities in all automobile installment credit deal- ings.

"Seek shorter, not longer terms," is the rule urged by the AFC board of directors for the 65 per cent of American car buyers who use time payments. The board offers these specific guideposts:

1. Make the largest down pay- ment possible within your income so as to help establish equity greater than the normally declin- ing value of the car.
 2. Enter contracts for the least—rather than the greatest—num- ber of months, so that you may acquire full ownership in the short- est possible time, and thus avoid unnecessary money charges.
- Advantages to Buyer
"During the current period of unprecedented levels of produc- tion and sales of new automo- biles, the sales financing industry must assume its responsibility to advise the public of its best in- terests," adds Thomas W. Rogers, AFC executive vice president.
- The vital importance to the buyer of following sound financ- ing practices is underscored in an example cited by Mr. Rogers, of the typical installment purchase of a popular, low-priced car with a down payment of only 25 per cent and terms of 36 months. It takes as long as 20 months of making payments before the cash sale value of the car becomes greater than the amount still owed low time, when average prices are expected to swing between $14 and $16.

This is an educated guess based on the historic application of num- bers of pigs farrowed, disposable consumer income, pork in storage and average July hog prices.

Anybody gotta Crystal Ball? Good and choice fat lambs topped at $18.50 at Fort Worth Mon- day, and feeders sold from $17 downward. Medium and lower grade lambs sold from $10 to $16. Yearling wethers drew $8 to $16. Old wethers sold from $8 to $12. Old slaughter ewes cashed at $4.50 to $5.50.

Prices were steady on all classes, and high grade sorts very scarce.

Installment System Could Spur World Economy

American-style consumer credit could prove "the best Point Four program that anyone could want," if introduced into other countries, according to Henry H. Heimann, executive vice president of the National Association of Credit Men.

Credit for the purchase of auto- mobiles and modern appliances, he says, is finding increasing interest on the part of private companies and governments of many lands.

Product improvements and style changes play a large part in sustaining demand for consumer goods, by creating consumer dis- satisfaction with older products, the credit expert said. Availability of consumer credit, in turn, makes it possible for consumers to buy the new products, and provides a stimulus for the entire economy.

Mrs. Glyndon Johnson Is Honoree at Shower

An array of many lovely gifts were presented to Mrs. Glyndon Johnson at a shower given in her honor at the Adelpian Club House Saturday afternoon, Aug. 27, from 3 to 5 p. m.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Claudine Carroll, and were received by guests-of-honor: Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. George Davis, mother of the bride; Mrs. Ernest Johnson, mother of the groom; Mrs. Maude Rasberry, grandmother of the groom, and Miss Marlane Johnson, sister of the groom.

The bride's color selection of green and white was carried out in the beautifully decorated table. The white satin table cloth showed green through delicate blue embroidery. The centerpiece consisted of a bride-doll given in misty tulle over green satin. White tapers burned on either side in crystal candelabra.

White and orchid zinnias, periwinkles, and crepe myrtle were placed on the display tables and throughout the party setting.

Frosted sherbet punch was served each guest by Miss Sue Meason and Mrs. John Borchardt. Half-moon sand tarts, butter cookies in the shape of tiny wedding bells, mints, and salted nuts completed the party plate.

Mrs. Jim Paul Norman and Miss Marcia Kincaid provided incidental music for the occasion. Mrs. Donald Werley registered names of the guests in the bride's book.

Hostesses were Misses Sue Meason, CloVonne McKown and Marcia Kincaid and Mesdames Antone Kajs, Ed McDaniel, Johnnie Marr, Claudine Carroll, John Borchardt, John Cogdell and Floyd Thomas.

Dove Season Opens at Noon Today with Plenty of Birds

Reports indicate that the mourning dove season — first phase of the fall wildlife harvest — will be favorable, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said a field survey of the north zone, which opens for mourning doves this morning, Sept. 1, shows that there is a good supply of birds and that food and water conditions are fair to good.

The north zone season runs from noon on Sept. 1, to sunset on Oct. 15. The south zone season is from noon on October 15 until sunset Nov. 28.

Changes this year include a five day extension to a forty-five day season and a two weeks delay in the south zone opener. Bag limits and shooting hours, and other basic regulations, are the same, said Mr. Dodgen. Shooting will be confined to afternoon hours only and the limits are ten per day and ten in possession.

The executive secretary suggested hunters should follow safety rules closely because of the anticipated influx of gunners in the field and that they should always obtain permission from landowners before entering the latter's property to hunt. He added that the state game warden force is available to inform hunters.

Sheriff's Dept. Calls Attention to New Law Now in Effect

Sheriff Sherman McBeath has furnished the News with a copy of a new law passed by the 54th regular session of the Texas Legislature in regard to intoxicating beverages with reference to athletic events of public schools. The law was approved May 12, 1955, and is effective on that date. Mr. McBeath respectfully urges all patrons of football games to abide by this law, which is as follows:

"Sec. 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to bring or carry into any enclosure, field or stadium, where athletic events, sponsored or participated in by the public schools of the state, are being held, any intoxicating beverage or to have any intoxicating beverage in his possession while in or on said enclosure, field or stadium.

"Sec. 2. Provided that if any officer of this state sees any person or persons violating the terms of Section 1 of this Act, he shall immediately seize such intoxicating beverage and shall within a reasonable time thereafter deliver same to the County or District Attorney who shall hold same as evidence until the trial of the accused party and shall thereafter dispose of same.

"Sec. 3. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined any sum not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars and not more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars."

Birthday Calendars Being Distributed

The Crowell community birthday calendars for the current year are being distributed by members of the C. H. S. Band this week. Patrons that purchased these calendars last spring and have not received them by Wednesday of next week are urged to contact E. L. Rickard, or members of band.

Anyone who did not purchase a calendar last spring may do so by contacting a member of the band. However, Mr. Rickard stated that the supply of calendars was limited.

Rotary Club to Welcome District Governor Sept. 7

The Rotary Club of Crowell next Wednesday will be host to Arch Evans, Governor of the 186th District of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the thirty-three Rotary Clubs in North Central Texas. He will address the club and confer with President Dockter Magee, Secretary Herbert Edwards, and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. Evans is owner of The Evans Co., automobile parts distributor in Stephenville, and is a member of the Rotary Club of Stephenville. He is active in civic organizations, director of the Chamber of Commerce, and organization and extension committee at large for the Comanche Trail Council Boy Scouts of America. He was elected District Governor of Rotary International for the 1955-56 fiscal year at Rotary's Chicago convention in Chicago last June. He is one of 238 District Governors supervising the activities of some 8,700 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 414,000 business and professional executives in 92 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Whenever Rotary Clubs are located, President Magee asserted in discussing the Governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Crowell because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Beginners' Band to Start Tuesday

All students in grades 5 through 9 who are interested in starting in band this fall for the first time have been requested by E. L. Rickard, band director, to meet with him at 2 p. m. on Friday, Sept. 2, at the band hall.

Mr. Rickard added, "Bring at least one of your parents with you, if at all possible. The representative of Max Kreutz House of Music of Wichita Falls will be here Tuesday of next week and plans must be complete prior to that date. Along with the rental-purchase plan sponsored by the House of Music, the school has several of the larger instruments that students might check out at no charge, to take lessons on. "Many people have been under the impression that in past years students paid a tuition to take band. However, this is no longer the case. Students may now take band as they do any other subject in school."
