Responsibility and the Teen-Ager

The teen-ager of today has more responsibilities than the teen-ager of past generations because he has more freedom. Before the Child Labor Law was enacted, many children worked to supplement the family income.

In most families, the youth who uses the car must help furnish the necessary finances for its upkeep. He must drive carefully so as not to bring any unnecessary strain on the family budget.

In our modern times, one has another responsibility. It is the responsibility of the parent to see that the child is properly educated.

Wildcat Split Victories with Indians

The Wildcats' boy teams were hosts to the Quanah Indians last Tuesday night, January 20. The A team played a very hard game, but they just couldn't seem to get ahead of the mighty Indians.

The Crowell B team showed tremendous teamwork; they defeated the Quanah B team 54-42. Wilson for the Indians scored 16 points, but Graves, Cummings and Sellers each scored 14 points to lead the Wildcats to another victory.

The responsibility rests on Congress either to accept the President's farm recommendations, or develop some program that would begin to make some sense to both farmers and consumers.

Learns Way to Kill from Watching Television

"Out in Colorado several weeks ago a ten-year-old boy calmly drew bead with a deadly weapon on a woman as she walked home from a bus stop and inflicted a severe wound. When questioned by officers, he told them that he had seen a woman shot on TV in much the same manner and thought it would be fun to duplicate that performance. In Denver a juvenile court judge said: 'kids get a steady diet of violence on TV. Even those in Juvenile Hall Detention quarters, they get the idea that the way to escape is to hit somebody over the head.'"

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

President Eisenhower is on sound ground when he complains that farm programs now in effect are too costly and, in addition, ineffective in controlling either prices or production.

The new Congress, when it settles down to tackling the sticky problem of farm surpluses, will have no difficulty in agreeing with the President on both counts. It isn't, however, likely to agree with him on what should be done about it.

In support of his contention that farm program costs are too high, Mr. Eisenhower reminded Congress that the U. S. Department of Agriculture this fiscal year will spend more than $5,000,000,000 (b) "for the support of farm prices on a very few farm products."

There would be less quarrel with that huge sum if it were resulting in prices generally fair to both producers and consumers. It could be justified if it showed a reasonable promise of bringing production into balance with market demand.

$2,000 per Farm

The Department of Agriculture is spending at the rate of more than $7,000,000,000 a year. That figure on the basis of 3,500,000 farms, at some $2,000 a year per farm.

By no means all of that goes to farmers. About 25 per cent goes to operating expenses, including salaries to the more than 80,000 USDA employees. Another 25 per cent is the cost of export subsidies, school lunches and other surplus disposal programs.

During 1958 the government paid farmers more than $1 billion as a part of the cost of taking land out of crops under the soil bank and other conservative programs. Yet farmers, on the smallest number of acres in cultivation in 49 years, produced 11 per cent larger crops than ever before.

Government holdings of farm surpluses, Mr. Eisenhower estimated, soon will reach $9,000,000,000, another record high. The cost of handling and storing that surplus, he estimated, will be a billion dollars a year.

The President points out that such expenditures might be justified for a temporary period if they were leading to a sound solution of the farm problem. The farm situation, though, is getting worse instead of better.

What Next?

The situation, Mr. Eisenhower emphasized, "calls for prompt and forthright action." We need, he said, new legislation. Congress can find no fault with the President's demand for action.

Congress has adopted many of the recommendations made by Secretary Benson and backed by the President. It has, however, refused to go as far and as fast as this Administration would have liked.

Most crops were supported at 90 per cent of parity when Mr. Eisenhower became President in 1953. Congress has agreed to a lowering of supports on most of those to 75 per cent of parity, and to 60 and 65 per cent for others. "We still need," the President told Congress, "greater freedom for our farmers to manage their own farms and greater freedom for markets to reflect the wishes of producers and consumers." By that he means fewer production

Insurance Inadequate

Many a homeowner has found, after calamity struck, that he hadn't adequately protected his investment at all—and that his insurance was nowhere near sufficient to make up for the loss.

"The reason is simple. The cost of home construction—and of other kinds of structures—has just about doubled since 1945."

Austin—The Texas House of Representatives was getting down to serious work here this week, facing one of its most significant sessions with one big problem—money.

Nearly 40 million dollars in debt for the current fiscal year, the House must raise funds to pay these state expenses until Aug. 31. Also, appropriations and tax bills must be passed for the next two years.

The House voted Monday in concurrence with the Senate to end the 56th session automatically after 120 days. This means the tremendous financial task facing us must be accomplished within that period.

Gov. Price Daniel Wednesday outlined his remedies for the financial problem, advocating increased taxes on natural gas, automobiles, distilled liquor, cigars and other tobacco products. He also called our attention to the recommendation of the Tax Study Commission relative to an increase in gasoline taxes.

I appreciate the Governor's speech very much. I am sure it has been given considerable thought, and I commend him. However, the only thing with which I can concur 100 per cent is the additional tax on liquor.

Still, I regret very much that he did not recommend taxes on the industry which is least taxed in the state of Texas—the beer industry, the brewers. Their state tax is approximately 4 per cent of their gross sales, as compared with approximately 17 per cent on gasoline and cigarettes.

This is grossly out of proportion and should be equalized. If the sales tax on beer were equalized with the sales tax on gasoline, a necessity, and cigarettes, it would net the state an additional 55 million dollars a year. With the suggested additional revenue on liquor, that would solve the money problem in my opinion.

Taking up about 95 cents of the tax dollar within the next three years will be funds for state school, welfare and highway programs. With increasing population, these projects are taking on increasing importance.

Committee appointments will be handed down soon, probably Monday, by House Speaker Waggoner Carr. He has been busy talking with representatives and planning the appointments since he was elected speaker when the House convened January 13.

Construction of Terraces Before Spring Is Urged

By JAMES H. HERRING

Despite the unfavorable weather conditions for constructing terraces in 1958, cooperators in the Crowell work unit portion of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District constructed about 22 miles of terraces and earned Federal cost-sharing assistance under the Agricultural Conservation program and Great Plains Conservation program.

Cooperators who constructed terraces were Jeff Bruce, S. B. Middlebrook, Mrs. Harry Schlagal, Moody Bursay, A. J. Morris, Coy L. Payne, R. H. Borchardt, Mrs. Gladys Crosnoe, H. E. Ferguson, J. T. Tamplin, Cecil Eagle, Lee and Henry Black, R. E. Sparks, Mrs. Arlie Casle, C. B. Morris, Clarence Garrett, C. N. Chatfield, Jessie Herring Johnson Estate, E. A. Boren, Carroll Brothers, Walter E. Ramsey, Jack Welch and J. M. Barker.

If your conservation plan with the District includes terracing, and you have an established protected vegetative outlet for the disposal of terrace water, now is a good time to start terracing before the heavy Spring rains come. It is too often a common practice to wait until these rains have come to begin thinking about terracing. At this time erosion has taken more of your valuable top soil and the much needed soil moisture is gone. It is dry now, but this is a reminder that conservation of water that usually falls in the Spring is most important for Summer crops.

When it is dry, as it has been this fall and winter, and cover crops are impossible to establish, without the combination of the two, the soil is very susceptible to erosion. With terraces, water can be retained temporarily to add moisture to the subsoil and help carry excess water safely to protected outlets without an appreciable amount of soil loss.

The conservation of your soil and water is too important to wait until heavy rains have taken their toll. You owe it to yourself, your community and the nation to see that your land is conserved according to the best known scientific methods.

1959 License Plates to Go on Sale February 2nd

New license plates for 1959 will go on sale in all county court houses February 2. State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced this week. The plates will be the reverse of 1958's, and will have black letters and numerals on a white background.

Greer stated that four and one-half million motor vehicle registrations were bought by Texans in 1958. "Don't be at the end of that long line. Get your vehicle registered early," Greer urged. "The registration deadline is April 1, but we hope car and truck owners will put on the new plates as soon as possible."

Greer stressed the importance of registering all automobiles and trucks in the home county of the vehicle owner. "Take your certificate of title and your last year's registration receipt to the tax collector in your home county. Penalty for improper registration of a vehicle can be as much as $200. Don't risk an illegal registration. Remember, too, that a portion of all registration fees stays in your home county to benefit your local community."

Tip to motorists: Watch out for school kids — they weren't brought up to be run down.

by Vern Sanford

Down in the South Texas brush country, and ranging over into Southwest Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, roams the javelina. It's also known as the collared peccary. This interesting little animal is gaining fast in popularity.

Once near extinction, due to rapacious hide hunters, who killed him by the thousands for his fine glove-leather skin, the javelina (pronounced "havelina," or "havelen" down Mexico way) has staged a comeback since the Texas Game & Fish Commission slapped stringent laws on the sale of javelina hides.

Now this little pig roams the Texas dry country by the thousands, providing sport that is unusual and exciting for those hunters who are enterprising enough to go after him.

Seldom weighing more than 50 pounds, this exotic animal is a paradoxical bundle of bristles. Sometimes he is shy and retiring. But at other times he will go out of his way to pick a fight. His two-inch tusks command the respect of all the predators, including even the mountain lion. He has been known to attack man without provocation. However, this happens very infrequently.

The danger in hunting this pig is in cornering a herd, which might stampede your way. This possible hazard adds to the spice of javelina hunting.

Arizona and New Mexico have stern laws to protect their slim javelina populations. There's a one-month open season and one-per-hunter possession limit in Arizona, and closed season in New Mexico.

Texas with its vast herds has mixed laws. The general law sets November 16th to December 31st as open season, and allows but two kills per man.

But there are a number of counties where the pig is so plentiful that he has become a nuisance to the rancher. Here there is no closed season nor bag limit. These counties are: Frio, Jim Hogg, Kinney, LaSalle, Maverick, McMullen, Starr, Uvalde, Val Verde and Webb.

The sale of javelinas and their hides, however, is prohibited everywhere in the state.

If you intend going into the brush after this unusual animal, it would be a good idea to learn a few facts about his habits, and how best to find him.

Javelina feed on various forms of vegetation and nuts, such as acorns and mesquite beans, but their favorite food is cactus. In javelina territory, vast areas of cactus clumps can be found almost completely devoured.

The javelina easily can be detected from a distance by his rank, musky odor. He can be trailed by his "sign," such as the little cloven hoof prints, droppings, and chewed cactus pads.

As the hunter approaches, if he has trod lightly and kept himself hidden, often he can hear the grunting, squealing and chomping of a javelina herd before he sees it.

Here is where the hunter must be careful. He'd better be certain he hasn't boxed the herd in a canyon or a draw, from which there is no exit. Otherwise he may find himself in a very unpleasant situation.

Once the javelinas detect the presence of a hunter, the pigs are going to leave, one way or another. If possible, they will disappear in the brush, but if they have only one exit they will take it, hunter or no hunter.

There are two ways of hunting javelina. One is the quiet and careful stalk. A patient wait alongside some pig trail. This is rewarding to the sportsman who enjoys outwitting the sly and elusive animal.

The javelina is equipped with perfect camouflage. Unless the hunter knows just what he is looking for, he may be close to a herd and never know it. Often the pigs will freeze in silence at a man's approach. So well do their pepper and salt bristles blend with their background that they are practically invisible.

If this method of taking your pigs appeals to you, we suggest that you keep your eyes, ears and nose alert. Watch the ground for "sign." Watch the brush for any slight move, or the outline of a stationary pig. And constantly sniff the air for that betraying musky odor that hangs in the air for yards in every direction around a feeding herd.

Should you crave fast and furious excitement, hunt javelina with dogs. Here is where the little pig displays his fighting heart. He hates dogs on principle. He will meet them head-on, clacking his teeth and slashing his wicked tusks from right to left. Once aroused he won't hesitate to include you on his hate list, and will attack.

Never is the javelina taken by dogs without a knock-down, slash up fight. So, if you are after excitement, blood and gore, by all means use dogs. However, purists consider the use of dogs cruel and unsporting.

Once you have your pig, treat the carcass as you would deer, except that you must remove the musk sac—that nipple-like protrusion lying just north of the tail near the backbone. Otherwise the meat will be strong and unpalatable.

There are sportsmen who hunt javelina with a .22 rifle. This is not wise. In the first place, you will cripple more than you kill. Most important to you, perhaps, is the danger that the wounded pig will squeal his rage and trigger off an attack by the balance of the herd.

Best gun to use is a carbine. It's a great gun for the brush country—easy to handle at close quarters. Either a 30-30, or a .32 caliber will do. Heavier guns such as the 30-06, or even the 30-40 are sometimes used. Shotguns, loaded with buckshot, will kill the little pigs. But sportsmen don't consider the shotgun quite the gun to use.

If you want some exciting and interesting shooting in South or Southwest Texas arrange with some rancher to let you hunt javelina on his place.

More than likely you will bring back a couple of impressive tusked heads to hang on the wall in your trophy room, and a freezer full of tasty pork to barbecue for your friends.

PRESS RELEASE

ELECTION CALLED - SATURDAY, FEB. 7th

$55,000 COURTHOUSE IMPROVEMENT BONDS

NO INCREASE IN TAX RATE

The Commissioners' Court of Knox County last November employed a well known firm of Fort Worth architects to make a careful examination of the present condition of the Courthouse. Their report of this survey states that when the building was erected, it was a first class building, well built and designed, however, over the years much damage has taken place and deterioration has set up principally due to weather, water leakage, freezing and ravages of time.

According to the architects' estimate the cost will be approximately $55,000.00 to correct the defective conditions now existing and to put the building in first class condition; so in order to conserve our investment in the Courthouse, an election on the authority to issue that amount of bonds will be up to the qualified voters in a bond election Saturday, February 7th.

Many questions will be asked with probably some inaccurate answers, so we set out below important questions with correct answers.

QUESTION—When was our Courthouse built?
ANSWER—Completed in the year of 1934.

QUESTION—How much did it cost?
ANSWER—$93,300.00.

QUESTION—How much would it cost if built at present day prices?
ANSWER—According to architects estimate about $350,000.00.

QUESTION—How many bonds do we owe on our Courthouse?
ANSWER—NONE. All have been paid.

QUESTION—How much will my tax rate be increased to pay these $55,000.00 in bonds?
ANSWER—NONE. Your tax rate for Courthouse, Hospital and Jail purposes will remain the same as heretofore.

QUESTION—Why will my tax rate for the above purposes be the same?
ANSWER—Because all the Courthouse Bonds have been paid and because of the excellent financial condition of the Hospital and Jail Bond Sinking Fund set up to pay that debt.

QUESTION—When will all of the Hospital Bonds be paid?
ANSWER—March 1, 1966—Seven years.

QUESTION—When will all of the Jail Bonds be paid?
ANSWER—February 15, 1974—Fifteen years.

QUESTION—When will all of the proposed Courthouse Bonds be paid?
ANSWER—March 1, 1970—Eleven years.

QUESTION—What tax rate is levied for Courthouse, Hospital and Jail purposes?
ANSWER—25c—The statutory tax for permanent improvements.

QUESTION—Would my tax rate for permanent improvements be reduced if this election should be defeated?
ANSWER—NO—Because this tax money must be used for temporary repairs and upkeep each year which will not solve the immediate need to prevent further deterioration of our Courthouse.

QUESTION—Who can vote in this election?
ANSWER—Qualified electors who have personal or real estate property on the County's tax roll and hold a 1958 Knox County poll tax receipt or are exempt from paying for same because of age.

QUESTION—When is the election?
ANSWER—Saturday, February 7th.

QUESTION—Where do I vote?
ANSWER—At the same place you vote in General Elections.

QUESTION—It apparently is good business to protect my investment in our courthouse without any increase in my tax rate. Is this correct?
ANSWER—YES—PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT—NO INCREASE IN TAX RATE.

Intimidated Church and Controlled Press Go Together

"You have heard it said that churches and newspapers rise and fall together. In every land bent under a tyrant's yoke, two things stand out: (1) a controlled press and (2) an intimidated church. You can put it down for a truism that there cannot long be a free church in a nation which has a slave press. By the same token, a free press will not endure alongside an imprisoned church.

"The two thus are dependent on each other and complementary to each other. The press maintains freedom of the mind and the church preserves freedom of the spirit. Both are necessary. Take one away and the other is sorely distressed."—Fulton, Miss., Times.

Can't Please Communists

"The Soviet government supplies MIG's to the Chinese Reds to shoot up Quemoy Island and they think it the proper thing to do. The U. S. supplies the Chinese Nationalists with sidewinders that hunt out and destroy the MIG's. Now that's a helluva thing to do, say the Reds. You just can't please the Communies." — Aline, Okla. Chronicle.

Old Fashioned Medicine Used to Power Satellites

"The fuel used to hurl the biggest of these new-fangled satellites up there in space is kerosene. Of course it's mixed up with liquid oxygen to make it burn faster, but that kerosene is an old friend for a lot of fellows . . .

"A lot of them will never forget the funny taste when they got dosed with old-fashioned 'cold remedies' like kerosene and sugar and kerosene mixed with goose grease. Wow! That stuff was powerful. Science is just finding out!" — Great Falls, Montana, Leader.

Sweet Pea Seed May Help Arthritis Sufferers

The seed of a common variety of flowering sweet pea may hold many of the answers which will help to determine the cause of arthritis and other degenerative diseases, according to a report made by three Iowa scientists at a symposium sponsored by the American Medical Association. By using two specific chemical compounds derived from this seed they have been able to create in animals symptoms of degenerative diseases found in man.

Juda Faye Vaughn Becomes Bride of Harvey Lee Smith

The wedding of Miss Juda Faye Vaughn and Harvey Lee Smith was solemnized Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church of Thalia with Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald, pastor, officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jude Vaughn of Thalia and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Smith of Crowell.

The couple repeated the marriage vows before a background of baskets of white gladioli and jade foliage flanked on either side with candelabra holding burning tapers.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Walter Ramsey, organist, and Mrs. W. B. Fitzgerald, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of white satin lace and net. The dress featured a white satin fitted bodice with wrist length sleeves. The full, flowing skirt was enhanced with lace and net over satin, and a white satin panel in the center of the skirt. The bride's fingertip veil of illusion fell from a dainty headpiece decorated with pearlized orange blossoms. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses with white satin streamers and a white Bible.

Miss Patsy McRae of Thalia served as maid of honor. Her dress was fashioned of blue chiffon over taffeta and her veil was attached to a headpiece matching her dress. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

Wesley Berks of Dallas served the groom as best man. Ushers were Henry Faske of Margaret and Bill Taylor of Thalia.

Mrs. Vaughn, mother of the bride, was attired in a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Smith, the groom's mother, also wore a dress of navy blue with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship room of the church. Miss Gayle Taylor of Crowell presided over the guest register.

When the couple left for a short honeymoon trip, the bride was wearing a navy blue dress with matching jacket, and black accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

The bride is a senior student in Crowell High School where she has been a cheerleader for two years. She is also a former football queen.

The groom is a 1958 graduate of Crowell High School where he was a member of the football squad.

The couple will be at home in Wichita Falls after February 1.

Miss Dorothy Hlavaty and Wm. N. Klepper Wed Last Thursday

In a quiet and impressive ceremony Thursday morning, Jan. 22, Miss Dorothy Hlavaty of Vernon became the bride of William Newton Klepper of Crowell at the home of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Hlavaty, 2300 Nabers Street.

The bride is a daughter of W. F. Hlavaty of Thalia, and Mr. Klepper is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Klepper of Crowell.

Dr. J. E. Shewbert, pastor of First Methodist Church of Vernon, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of immediate members of both families.

The nuptial scene was centered around the fireplace, which was covered with jade foliage. An arrangement of white gladiolas, white snapdragons and stock, interspersed with jade foliage adorned the mantel. At either end were white cathedral candles in crystal candelabra. H. L. Ayers Jr. of Crowell, a cousin of the bride, lighted the candles prior to the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her street-length sheath dress of white brocade featured a shirt waist effect with three quarter length sleeves. Her tiny shell cap was completely covered with iridescent sequins, and she carried a white pearl-covered prayer book, topped with a crescent-shaped bouquet of snowy white carnations and velvet leaves with streamers of white satin tied in love knots.

She wore pearl ear clips and a rope of pearls. Further carrying out the bridal tradition, she wore a blue garter and carried an heirloom handkerchief which belonged to the groom's mother, and wore a sixpence in her shoe for good luck.

Mrs. Newell Hofmann of Crowell attended her sister as matron of honor. Her holly red street length sheath dress was styled with a cowl neckline and three quarter length sleeves. She wore matching shoes and a holly red bandana in her hair. Her colonial nosegay was fashioned from white carnations.

Newell Hofmann of Crowell, brother-in-law of the bride, attended Mr. Klepper as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hlavaty chose a two-piece dress of peacock blue with matching hat. Her other accessories were black, and she wore a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Klepper selected a navy blue ensemble with pink accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of baby pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, the newly married couple was honored with a reception. The bride's table was covered with a white damask cloth, and centered with a sunburst arrangement of white sweet peas and stock. At one end of the table was the two-tiered wedding cake, frosted in white, sparsely decorated with red rose buds, and topped with white love birds and twin wedding bells, encircled by wedding rings.

Mrs. H. L. Ayers Sr., of Crowell, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Bob Hardison presided at the silver coffee service, which was placed at the other end of the table. The guest napkins were white, lettered in red.

When Mr. and Mrs. Klepper left for a short wedding trip, she had changed to a two-piece suit. The charcoal gray skirt was complemented by a gray jacket flecked with red. She wore a winter white hat and gloves and black kid shoes. She carried a black kid bag, and wore the white carnation corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is now at home at 203 North Fourth Street in Crowell.

Mrs. Klepper graduated from Vernon High School, and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Homemaking and Master of Education in Elementary Education from Texas Technological College in Lubbock. For the past year and a half, she taught in the homemaking department at Vernon High School.

Mr. Klepper graduated from Crowell High School and also attended Texas Technological College. After serving in the Army during World War II, he returned to Crowell where, with his father, he owns and publishes the Foard County News.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Duane Naylor and Richard, Mrs. Fred Gray, Mrs. Beverly Gray and Karen, Mrs. Billy Johnson and Debbie, and Mrs. Bill Hamilton.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Hamilton on Feb. 3.

Riverside H. D. Club

The sweet aroma of coffee and hot chocolate greeted the members of the Riverside Home Demonstration Club when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Sam Kuehn Tuesday, Jan. 20, for their regular meeting.

"After your potatoes have been thoroughly cleaned, cut them in halves and then core them and brush them with butter or cooking oil, cover them with foil to keep them moist before baking them," said Mrs. Sam Kuehn when she gave the demonstration on "Oven Dinners" at the meeting.

Mrs. Kuehn chose honeyed apple loaf, peach short cake, whipped cream, along with coffee and hot chocolate, to go with potatoes, which was a very delicious plate.

Mrs. John S. Ray, president was in charge of the business meeting. A council report was given by Mrs. Kuehn. The next meeting of the club will be at the Riverside school house Tuesday, Jan. 27, with a covered dish luncheon.
