Gossett Discusses Campaign Issues in Wichita Falls Speech

Wichita Falls, Texas, Aug. 19.—The erroneous information that is being circulated throughout the 13th Congressional district by Congressman W. D. McFarlane to the effect that McFarlane carried Ed Gossett's home box was refuted Saturday by Gossett when he pointed out that the truth could easily be learned by reading the election returns from the boxes in Wichita Falls.
"McFarlane has been stating," Gossett said, "that he carried my home box, but the truth of the matter is that I carried my home box, the Evans Street Pharmacy box in Wichita Falls, 1339 to 49."
Winding up a day of speaking in Denton County with an address before more than 1,000 Denton County citizens on the court house lawn in Denton Saturday night, Gossett thanked the county for the nice majority given him in the recent primary election, and also for the vote given him in 1936 when he whirled through the county with a comfortable majority over the incumbent, W. D. McFarlane.
Gossett led the ticket in the July primary, receiving more than 30,000 votes, the largest number of votes ever rolled up by a candidate in a congressional first primary in the 13th district, carrying 11 of the 15 counties, and outdistancing his nearest opponent by 2,535 votes.
"The people of the 13th district have awakened," Gossett shouted. "They are going to send new blood to Congress. I deplore the necessity of replying to repeated attacks, believing that principles, facts and personalities should be discussed in all campaigns. I heartily condemn the political philosophy that 'anything you can get by with in politics is fair.' Honesty in politics is more to be desired than honesty in personal affairs, because more people are affected.
"Two years ago when first running for Congress, I ran on my platform alone, and made no record up to ridicule him throughout his campaign. In his speech made in Denton two years ago he ridiculed my platform, my fight on war, crime and disease. Then, as now, my shrewd political opponent condemned me for being a 'special interest' candidate. Then, as now, he stated to you people that he was 100 per cent for the president, and that those who opposed him were enemies of the administration."
Not "Rubber Stamp"
I want to say in defense of myself, that I am for the president, and believe in his social ideals and objectives. I have promised my friends that I am not, and will not be a "rubber stamp" congressman. Our present needs—intelligent, honest and courageous help in fighting the battles of democracy. The children of Israel, with Moses at their head, wandered for 40 years in the wilderness. Even with a great leader at the helm we are still in a wilderness of economic despair. The farmer, the laborer and the small business man in this country are in a serious plight. We cannot serve the cause of the common people, nor promote justice and security simply by calling each other names. We cannot promote these ends by simply saying ahead of time that we will vote 100 per cent with the president, or any other individual. A congressman who pledges himself ahead of time to a "rubber stamp" program has no bargaining power. He is not in a position to procure concessions for his district.
"McFarlane's political machine," Gossett explained, "has just mailed to all the war veterans of this district a long letter saying that if Ed Gossett is elected, their pensions will be cut off and various calamities will befall them. Such a circular is the height of dishonesty and hypocrisy. I was 16 years of age when the armistice was signed. I have included in my platform this plank: 'I think the government honor-bound to care for disabled veterans who fought our wars, and to compensate all veterans insofar as possible for the services they rendered and risks they assumed.' I believe I can, and will, do more for the veterans of this district than McFarlane is doing. A new $1-500,000 veterans hospital is soon to be erected somewhere in West Texas. McFarlane evidently has been asleep on the job, for other districts of West Texas have been working toward getting this hospital for more than a year and a half, while our district knew nothing of the possibility of receiving such a hospital until a few weeks ago."
W. P. A.
"I have been reliably informed that pressure has been put on various WPA laborers in this district to compel them to vote for McFarlane. Some have been told that they would lose their jobs if the present congressman was not returned. I want to condemn this practice as being a menace to democratic government. I am reliably informed that WPA labor in this district is not treated fairly, and does not receive wages equal to those received in neighboring states. The common WPA laborer in the Phoenix, Ariz., regions receives $48.00 per month; in the Santa Fe region $44.00 per month; in the Wichita, Kans., region $45.00 per month. In the Oklahoma City region $45.00 per month. It seems to me that WPA laborers in this territory should be just as well paid as in adjoining territories.
"I notice in a recent speech your congressman says, 'My opponent boasts of being self-supporting since 16 years of age, yet did not enlist or volunteer for service in the war when he was at age thinking and acting will be for your welfare, and in the hope and belief that I may contribute to the peace, security and progress of the American people."

Maternal deaths of negro women is almost twice that of white women.
Germany has 2,867 daily papers.

Public Utilities

Gossett discussed many planks of his platform, and emphasized public utilities, stating: "Reasonable rates, efficient service, fair competition, and honest dealings should be required of all public utilities. Their violations of these requirements should be severely punished. Full disclosure of their operations should be required of utilities. Where necessary public counsel should be furnished in utility suits."

Governmental Control

In discussing what he thought to be the function of government, Gossett stated: "The function of state should be not to monopolize the game, but simply to enforce the rules of fair play. Private initiative should everywhere, and in every way, be encouraged. Governmental control and regulation should be reduced to the minimum necessary to assure all citizens equal opportunities and equal protection under the law. Government service should be simplified and red tape removed.
In conclusion, Gossett stated, "I believe in the merit system and not in the spoils system. I don't believe in the use of fear, coercion and intimidation as a means of compelling political support. I have made no promises to anyone. I want my strength to lie in your concern for good government, and in your confidence and belief in our ability and ability to serve you well. I intend to be not just a talking congressman, nor just a voting congressman, but also a thinking and working congressman. I further assure you that my acting shall be my own, and that both

Austin. — At this date only a slight simmer is shown in the present run-off campaign in all the races except that of railroad commissioner. In this race Judge C. V. Senator Morris Sheppard is the dean of our national congress—he has served for 36 consecutive years—longer than any living colleague. Texas' Offerings To New Industry Studied By Steel

Dallas.—Important recent trends in the steel industry, tending to put steel selling competition on more of a "geographical" basis than ever before, serve to focus new attention on Texas' attractions for decentralizing industry, says a report of the All-South Development Council.

C. E. Wright, editor of Iron Age, is quoted in the report as estimating that Southern steel mills "will enjoy wider markets geographically for their products under the new pricing system, and some producers may be forced to shift to Southern territory because of freight and wage considerations, and water transportation will be employed more to offset costs."

He was referring to abandonment of the multiple "basing point" system for steel prices to consumers—in effect since 1924 when the Federal Trade Commission outlawed the old "Pittsburg plus" system, under which Pittsburg was the sole basing point. Recent sweeping changes involving creation of a large number of new basing points, so that proximity of mill to consumption point will for the first time become a price factor. Until now, steel producers have quoted prices f. o. b. the nearest basing point and adding the freight from that location to the delivery point, even when the producing mill itself was closer to the consumption point.

With steel producers, as Editor Wright says, being forced to "shift to Southern territory because of freight and wage considerations" under the new pricing system, the question of choosing the most advantageous locations has this industry carefully scanning the southern field and evaluating labor, market, taxation and transportation factors, the report points out. Aggressive, factual merchandising of such of these advantages as Texas has to offer, if combined with official reassurance of the state's receptiveness to new industry, could put Texas in the front rank of prospects for steel industry branch manufacturing and bring long-sought development of another of the state's many latent resources, the 100,000,000 long ton deposit of iron ore near Longview.

Thus Texas' stake in the new developments, seen as an important new phase of the general industrial decentralization movement, embraces not only more advantageous prices for steel products used in Texas building and manufacturing, but also the prospect of becoming a steel producing point, the report says. The Longview iron deposit, known but undeveloped for more than 30 years, canalization of the Trinity River, and the damming of the Red River, making available a water route for Oklahoma coal, would be fitted together to make Texas steel a reality.

The Southwest's rapid growth in population and its accompanying strong market for steel for home, factory and business building would seem to justify location of steel-producing mills as near this active market as possible to take advantage of the new competitive situation, the report says.

Texas Good Roads Association Plans State Fair Exhibit

An elaborate exhibit will be placed in the Educational Building by the Texas Good Roads Association as a special feature of the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas, it has been announced here by Lowry Martin, president of the association, who said that the exhibit will be a combined exhibit of the good roads association, the State Safety Council, the Texas Highway Commission and the Texas Traffic Safety Association.

Datus E. Proper, executive vice president of the association, will be in charge of the exhibit.

The exhibit will have as its purpose a plan to show good roads of the state and efforts being made to promote better roads; will show how traffic fatalities can be lessened by careful driving, and will show scenes of interest which can be visited while driving about the State.

Full details on the exhibit have not yet been worked out but it is expected that plans will be completed at the next monthly meeting of the executive committee of the association which will be held in Sequin during August.

The Good Roads exhibit will be placed in the Educational Building, which was formerly the Federal Building, because school exhibits, the textile and culinary and Hobby Shows will be held in this building and it is thought it will be the most popular structure in so far as children are concerned on the entire area. Special features in the exhibit will be planned for children.

Fence Increases the Feed Supply

C. Richardson, Secretary Breeder-Feeder Ass'n. year until the entire farm is subdivided.

Not only the land is benefited by rotation and livestock grazing, but livestock itself, especially hogs, sheep and poultry, thrive better when they can be "rotated."

Before building permanent fences it is well worth while to sit down and plot the farm on paper. It is important that when the plan is completed every field will have access to water, and that they center as nearly as practicable to the homestead and barnyard in order to save time in cultural and harvesting operations.

Let's fence at least one field this year. Get that extra stack of hay.
