(By A. D. Jackson, Chief Division of Publications, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.)

As an emergency forage to meet the feed shortage arising from drouth, attention has been called to the cotton plant as one of the widely distributed and abundant forage possibilities even though its use is not ordinarily general. An enormous amount of cotton plant forage is often available in the late fall, especially when new top growth follows the fall rains but which is so late it cannot mature much, if any, fruit. There are several ways of utilizing this forage, the most economical of which is to graze it off before frost. When the grazing cannot consume it all, the remainder can be mowed and cured and then stacked or baled. The hay resulting is excellent feed and when very leafy is almost or quite as good in feeding value as alfalfa according to the chemical analysis that has been made here on the station. The stalks are not so good but they do have some feeding value. If the plants are to be mowed it should be done when the leaves are fresh and green as the maturing leaves are likely to shed and the feeding value will not be so high. This material can possibly be ensiled, but an attempt at ensiling about 12 tons of cotton stalks on the Station last year was a complete failure. In case it is necessary to harvest the cotton stalks in rainy weather it would probably be best to put the whole mass into a trench silo as any attempt to cure such forage would lead to moldy hay that would not be usable. The potential cotton forage crop is very large this season and should be supplied by it. Of a normal crop of some 17 million acres there is at this time probably around 15 million acres in Texas, most of which can be depended upon for emergency livestock feed. Some of this will yield more than a ton of hay to the acre. Where grazed, the crop will be even more effective in meeting the emergency than if it were mowed and cured. There are large acreages in some parts of the State on which the cotton plants have been held back to very small growth on account of drouth and only early fall rains can cause them to produce much forage. These rains have already begun to appear, however, and there seems a good prospect of enough plant growth in many sections to make a forage harvest of great importance. If universal attention is given to salvaging the cotton stalk fields there is a possibility of saving several million tons of good feed. Then there is the further advantage of most effective boll weevil control. Such a complete removal from the fields of the entire crop of cotton stalks would remove the principal refuge of boll weevils as well as the food supply of the weevils prior to frost with a consequent lowering of the numbers of weevils to go into hibernation. The destruction of cotton stalks in the field as early as possible before frost has been recommended as a profitable enterprise for control of the weevil even when no other motive is present. So it is that in a year like this when the plants are needed for livestock feed there is more profit than usual in a complete harvest of every available cotton stalk as early as possible after the matured cotton has been gathered. Another feed supply from the cotton plant is cotton burs. The practice of snapping or pulling or stripping cotton bolls against the time-honored picking of the locks from the open bolls has been growing in recent years, and the improved gin machinery includes cleaners that remove the burs, trash and dirt leaving a very good sample of lint. Increasing quantities of burs are being turned out of the gins and the output is an important source of low-grade roughage for wintering cattle. These burs have been found to be about 25 per cent better than cottonseed hulls as a feed for cattle, but when they contain sand or dirt as is usually the case they are spoiled for feeding until they are cleaned. Feeding cotton burs carrying much dirt is very dangerous. It is possible some means may be justifiable whereby the cotton burs can be cleaned and rendered usable as feed. Some burs are clean enough as they come from the gin and should be saved and used for feed. While the practice of grazing cotton fields has been followed in a limited way by many farmers, no widespread use has been made of the cotton plant as a hay crop but such a use might be developed through research. Alfalfa is not grown successfully on nearly so wide an area as is cotton. In fact the cotton plant thrives on practically every type of soil and in practically every part of the State. The yield of cotton hay while not so large per acre as that of alfalfa on the best soils, is nevertheless more certain and more easily produced and could be expected to return good profit as compared with some feed crops that are more generally used. Thus it may turn out that cotton plantings for hay production will be made and whatever fiber and seed can be economically salvaged from the crop would be so much velvet.

CONSTITUTION DAY

September 17 marks the 147th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States by the constitutional convention in Philadelphia in 1787.

been features of the day's program. It is only true to say that comparatively few Americans are familiar with this great charter of our nation's liberties.

THE BOOK

A CENTURY ROLLS BY

So rapidly has the shadow of the Cross extended that in less than a single century it falls across the emperor's throne.

Bruce Barton

The book of the Acts of the Apostles opens significantly: The former treatise have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and to teach.

That sentence tells us first that the book was written by the same man who wrote the Book of Luke and to the same man, Theophilus; and, second, that the writer in common with the other disciples, regarded the three brief years of Jesus' public work as merely beginning of His larger life and influence.

Jerusalem of those days was a populous and crowded city, and the disciples were countrymen from an outlying province.

Jesus and the original twelve had pooled their revenues in the "bag" which Judas carried, and he had paid all the expenses.

A man named Ananias and wife Sapphira wanted credit for having given their all, but they kept back half of the price of the land they had sold.

Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land?

Whilst it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men but unto God.

And Ananias hearing these words fell down and gave up the ghost; and great fear came on all them that heard these things.

And the young men arose, wound him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

Three hours later Sapphira came in and repeated the lie and met a similar fate. The incident profoundly impressed the young community.

Wildcats—

started a drive that resulted in their first touchdown. Todd went through tackle for 8 yards. Horn made it a first with 5 yards through the other side of the line.

Todd carried the ball twice for two first downs. His pass to Meason was good for another first down, placing the ball on the 18. Todd gained 9 yards through center and followed with 5 more, putting the ball on the 4.

Tough Luck for Gafford

On the next play Jim Riley Gafford made a neat catch of Todd's pass for what appeared to be a touchdown, however, the pass was ruled incomplete because the receiver stepped into the end zone.

After two line plays had failed to gain and with fourth down and goal to go, Todd started a round left end and then as he was about to be tackled by a swarm of all-star linemen, he let loose of a short pass that Meason took across the goal line. A pass for the extra point failed and the score was 6 to 0.

Wildcats Threaten Again

After receiving the kick-off, the all-stars lost the ball when D. Todd intercepted a pass on the opponent's 27. Gafford's pass to Meason put the ball on the 15. Todd hit the line for 5. Two passes failed. Todd and Gibson pushed the oval to the 4. After reaching the 2, Todd failed to gain on the fourth down just as the half ended with the score: Wildcats 6, All-Stars 0.

Second Half

George Carter, all-star half, returned the kick-off to the 33. G. Todd's long pass to John Todd failed. Failing to gain at the line, G. Todd attempted to punt, but John Cogdell broke through to block it, the ball bouncing into the arms of Gafford who stepped off about 18 yards for the second counter. Another pass for the extra point failed and the score was 12 to 0.

Again the all-stars chose to receive. Bill Middleton took the kick-off, returning from the 23 to the 28. The initial first down of the game for the all-stars followed when Middleton took a lateral pass from G. Todd for 7 yards after short gains by Guy and John Todd.

Failing to make additional gains after finally reaching mid-field, G. Todd punted, D. Todd returning the ball from the 30 to the 40. A first down by Horn was followed by failures to gain and the all-stars took possession of the ball on their own 37 after a punt, as the third period ended.

Last Quarter

Guy Todd left the game at this point and a Wildcat, Paul McKown, substituted for him. Finding the defense too tough McKown punted with D. Todd receiving on the 35, where he was promptly downed by Geo. Carter. D. Todd and Meason accounted for three consecutive first downs in taking the ball to the 18.

Other line plays failed to gain and on the fourth down Henry Ashford broke through to block Todd's pass and the all-stars took the ball on the 18.

Two all-star forward pass attempts failed. Jack Russell, guard, caught another heave after it had bounced from several players, however, the ball went over to the Wildcats because an ineligible offensive man caught the ball.

With the ball on the 17, D. Todd crashed through to the 6, then the 3 and then through left tackle for a touchdown. His place kick for the extra point failed and the score was 18 to 0.

Middleton returned the kick-off from the 10 to the 16. A pass to John Todd netted a first down on the 30. Another pass to J. M. Crowell gained 11 more yards. Middleton gained 4 yards at the line. Edward Jones blocked Middleton's pass as the game ended. Wildcats 18, All-Stars 0.

Steamship Disaster Takes Lives of Many

The U. S. government is now investigating the fire in the passenger liner, "Morro Castle," that resulted in taking the lives of more than one hundred persons last Saturday near Asbury Park, New Jersey, as it was returning from Havana to New York.

Latest figures on the disaster follow: total aboard—318 passengers, 232 crew, 550 total; known dead—68 passengers, 21 crew, 87 total; unaccounted for—28 passengers, 22 crew, total 50; total known dead and missing—137; survivors—224 passengers, 189 crew, 413 total.

While there have been scores of major sea disasters, such tragedies as this bring to the mind of the average American the sinking of the Titanic by an iceberg on April 14-15, 1912, taking the lives of 1,513, and sinking of the Lusitania by a German submarine on May 7, 1915, with 1,198 lives lost.

Of Course You Want Your Boy to Win. If any one told you that you were making it needlessly hard for your boy or your little daughter to get on in school you wouldn't believe it could be true. But are you giving your child, or your children, the good light they need for their home studying? In many of the schools light is still poor, so it is especially important to provide good light where children's home work is done.

See that the lamps they use are of sufficient wattage to give plenty of light and that there can be no glare in their eyes, either direct or reflected. Poor light makes concentration difficult, brings on fatigue and drowsiness quickly, is damaging to young eyes, and is often responsible for faulty posture, which is a danger to be guarded against. Let our home lighting consultant tell you how to light your home for your children's benefit and for your own comfort. This is a free service. You have only to write or phone us to obtain it. Take advantage of this service before school begins. It will pay dividends in higher grades.

If you want to treat your own wheat, we will sell next year. During a hot dry summer, a bad field of smut may infect the field for five or six miles.

We are prepared to treat your seed wheat at our elevator at Crowell with a preparation that has never failed.

Fields clear of smut one year may be affected the year the medicine and assist you in every way possible.

Many of our best wheat farmers lost heavily on fields this past year on account of smut.

S. W. McLARTY BEGAN WORK AS COWBOY AT 13

S. W. McLarty of Vernon, former Foard County resident and who still owns property in this county, is the subject of an interesting article in the pioneer section of Tuesday's issue of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The article follows:

Back in 1869 a slender boy of 13 climbed into his saddle, waved his hat to the "folks" at Pinnell Prairie, six miles north of Weatherford, and started the long trek with 900 cattle on the trail for the Kansas markets.

A few days later there was an Indian raid on the little town of Weatherford. Word of the raid reached the men on the trail. An uncle urged the boy to turn back because of the Indians.

"If any of 'em get through to Kansas I'm agoin'," the youth replied.

Recalls Wild Days

He did get through—and today S. W. McLarty, now 78, lives in Vernon and often looks back over the "wild" days of West Texas when a little pistol persuasion was needed now and then to protect your rights.

McLarty is the latest addition to The Star-Telegram Pioneer Club and tells an interesting story, not only of that memorable trip to Kansas but of many other incidents of the West.

He was born in May, 1856, at Douglasville, Ga., and was taken to Arkansas while a baby. In 1858 his parents and grandparents came to Texas, settling 10 miles east of Jacksboro on Beans Creek.

Starts Hard Trip

This country was a little too wild, Indians began to make such depredations that the family decided to move to the thicker settlements of Parker County.

At the time McLarty was 13 his family had cattle scattered over Parker and Jack counties. Two of his uncles herded about 900 cattle together and started for Kansas. Sam went with them. It was a hard trip. The boy had to ride one-third of every night to stand guard. One of his uncles told him to climb a post oak tree near the camp. The boy had barely started up the tree when the cook of the outfit climbed up over him.

There was snow in Kansas. Once they stopped to sell a beef. Residents of the small Kansas town thought it strange that a youth so young could kill and dress a beef alone.

Sees First Train

The boy saw his first railroad train at Abilene, Kan. They were switching the cars with ox teams.

The family moved to the Clear Fork of the Trinity River, where they tried farming. Luck turned against them. McLarty recalls that the last year in Parker County the family's cotton crop was destroyed when a gin burned. With 25 cents in his pocket the youth left home to seek his fortune.

He spent the 25 cents for a pocket comb.

The year 1876 found him as a "cow hand" employed by John Simpson in Taylor County. He was working in a camp located on the present site of Abilene. That was the foundation for his own trading, for in four years he had enough money to buy two teams and worked on the T. & P. Railroad in Callahan County and on to Sweetwater. In 1881 he bought some saddle horses in San Antonio, bringing them to what was later

Heads for Mexico

He recalls having camped for one night on what is now the Hill Crest Country Club at Vernon. From there he went to Cambridge, near the present Henrietta, where he sold the remainder of his horses.

He returned to Parker County just long enough to get a sack of biscuits and some bacon, then headed for Mexico to buy more horses.

At the Rio Grande a customs officer took his gun before permitting him to cross into Mexico. He procured another pistol from a surveying party—but lost this a short time later when the man from whom he went to buy horses took his gun as a symbol of politeness.

McLarty's uneasiness at being unarmed might be better understood when it is explained that he was carrying more than $900 in currency. Two Mexicans who were helping him decided, suddenly, that they wanted to go back. A shooting exhibition, recalled McLarty, convinced them that it would be more healthy to finish the trip—and they did.

Traded for Sheep, Cows

McLarty traded some of his horses for sheep and cows and moved into Foard County. Few people lived in that area. Someone rode to Seymour once a month for the mail. Once McLarty went six weeks without seeing another human. He went there in September and did not shave until the next May.

There were several attempts on the part of cattlemen to intimidate him because he raised sheep. He didn't budge. Gradually he accumulated land and property and shared in the growth and development of the country.

Fortunately oil was found on his land.

Thalia Baptist Church

The revival meeting of two weeks, which was held at the First Baptist Church of Thalia, came to a close Sunday night, Sept. 2. Large crowds attended the services which were conducted by the pastor.

Some twenty-four responded to the invitations given; there were thirteen by letter, eight by baptism and three re-dedication. Three candidates from Rayland Baptist Church were baptized with the other candidates.

On Sunday, Sept. 9, some 140 were present for Sunday school.

On Sunday, Sept. 16, Thalia Baptists will observe "Home-Coming Day" with preaching services in the morning. Dinner will be served by the ladies in the basement, the afternoon will be spent with a song program.

We especially urge all Baptists to be present and anyone else who wishes to come is welcome. Please don't forget your lunch basket, as that will be one of the many treats of the day.—Reporter.

informed, and must ever be on the alert to hazard much for righteousness. This is no time for complacency. The Society of Christ must be profoundly discontented with things as they are.

Christian Science Services

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 16.

The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Philippians 4:19.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Hebrews 11:3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay... Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance. The spiritual universe, including individual man, is a compound idea, reflecting the divine substance of Spirit" (page 468.)

U. S. CRIME REPORT

A report issued by the Department of Justice discloses that two-thirds of the arrests for crime during the first six months of this year were of persons between the ages of 15 and 24, those of 19 years exceeding the number in any other age group.

The greatest number of youthful criminals were arrested for larceny and burglary, and, contrary to the general belief, more native-born than foreign-born were arrested, relative populations of each being considered.

The report also shows, contrary to popular belief again, that Chicago's murder record is relatively low when compared with many other cities, while the highest murder rate was made by Chattanooga, Tenn., closely followed by Jacksonville, Fla., and Memphis, Tenn. Of 89 cities for which statistics were given 19 reported no murders during the half year covered by the survey.

It was observed that January and February were the months of fewer arrests for murder and aggravated assault, while during these months robbery and burglary were unusually prevalent. Previous reports showed that for some reason this variation was usual during the winter months.

Plenty of statistics are available concerning the high prevalence of crime in the United States but in spite of all efforts little progress is being made toward suppressing criminal activities.

Think . . . Talk . . . Write TEXAS CENTENNIAL in 1936

"Think . . . Talk . . . Write Texas Centennial in 1936," because it's the hundredth anniversary of a State's march of freedom. The world is watching Texas with wonder at its stupendous undertaking.

The world does not doubt that Texans will make a great success of such endeavor. Texans have never failed.

"Remember the Alamo, Remember Goliad"; remember San Jacinto, remember the great wilderness that was Texas at one time . . . early Texans undertook to make a Nation from a wilderness and they succeeded!

In as short a time as one hundred years the prophecy of Thomas Jefferson, "The Province of Texas will be the richest State in our Union without exception," has become a reality!

Let us dedicate ourselves to the task of carrying it forward. Let us observe, let us challenge the best thought of future generations.

PEASE RIVER PROJECT ENDORSED AT LUNCHEON OF ROTARY CLUB WED.

Two interesting talks by Rotarian Joe Ward and Ed Gossett of Vernon, district attorney, featured the program at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday which was in charge of Hubert Brown.

Mr. Ward gave a talk on employer-employee relations, discussing these relations from early history to the present time. Mr. Gossett gave an account of several unique cases in court, hundreds of years ago and discussed present day technicalities in court procedure.

In connection with the business session, the club adopted the report of the boys' work committee regarding a plan to make it possible for club members to assist "fundless" boys in attending local athletic contests.

A resolution was also adopted by the club in which members went on record as endorsing the Pease River dam project and recommending earnest consideration of it by government officials. The resolution will be taken to the meeting at Vernon Friday where a district meeting will be held on the project.

Relief Checks For 1st Half September Mailed to Counties

Austin, Sept. 12.—Relief checks, representing allotments to Texas counties for the first half of September, were being signed Tuesday morning for mailing during the afternoon.

Total money sent the counties in this allotment will be a little less than $2,000,000, an allocation for the care of an estimated case load of 265,000. This number represents an increase of more than 10 per cent over the August load.

State Director Adam R. Johnson had written a letter to accompany the checks in which he told county administrators that "this exhausts all available relief funds until additional state funds are obtained through action of the Legislature or until the federal government comes to our rescue."

"You are therefore very definitely instructed to conserve these funds, but at the same time people should not be allowed to suffer. Every effort should be made by your clients to obtain seasonal employment so as to relieve our loads to that extent."

These funds cover all your costs, work relief, direct relief, administrative costs and all special projects with the exception of rural rehabilitation. Please be governed accordingly in the administration of relief funds in your county."

Rural rehabilitation funds are contributed by the federal government entirely and are mailed to county administrators separately from the checks for other types of relief.

Local Band Ready For Grid Season

The Crowell High School band met for its first practice for the 1934-35 term at the school Monday morning. With one year of experience behind it, the band will be better than ever this year and will play a large part in "peppin' things up" at football games this season and other school events.

The band wagon has been repaired and is now ready for the season. This was made possible by local firms whose ads appear on this page.

L. T. Edwards, who directed the band last year, will again serve as its director this year.

A Landmark Passes

The removal of one of Crowell's prominent landmarks, the old Hunter Livery Stable, has brought considerable comment from local citizens this week who recall the years in which this business played a major part in the commercial life of this community.

The romantic angle has been just one of the subjects touched upon. "I wonder how many Crowell men who are now at the head of families, 'popped the question' in rigs rented from that livery stable?" asked a local man in conversation with a friend. "Quite a few," answered the other, "because there certainly was a lot of courtin' done in them."

Another local man remembered this location as the chief "loading" spot of the community. "It seemed that boys gathered there to originate their meanness," he said, "and as for the older men, the location was a good one for them to originate trades, discuss politics, and to talk about how the younger generation was going to the devil."

Each time we go to the 1909 papers to prepare the 25-year-ago column, we are attracted by that extra fast-stepping horse hitched to a sport model buggy used in illustrating the ad with the following wording:

H. A. HUNTER

Liveryman

First class rigs and reliable drivers. Transit teams a specialty.

CABS MEET ALL TRAINS

In preparing the 20-year-ago items from the 1914 papers we notice practically the same ad, but without the fancy illustration. This same ad continued right up to the time in March, 1917, when the automobile caused the livery stable business to be discontinued for all time at this location.

Football and Music

We notice that one of America's No. 1 football universities, Notre Dame, is going to play the gridiron sport to music this year. A music director of the N. B. C. composed the "Notre Dame Shift" after watching the rhythmic shift of Notre Dame team play, together with the assistance of the Notre Dame Coach.

Synchronization of team play, execution of plays, calling of signals in the same tempo, etc., are given as benefits expected from the new musical arrangement.

Music has always had a beneficial part in football games, but we certainly believe that this plan goes entirely to the extreme. In our freshman days at high school, we recall a halfback who was usually "zood for a touchdown" when the band cut loose with the "Wabash Blues" at the proper moment.

Using this boy as an example, we don't believe that those "Wabash Blues" would have had much effect on him in a game if he had listened to that piece during practice and then about humpteen more times throughout each game and we sort of believe that the monotony of the Notre Dame music will eventually offset its synchronization benefits.

And speaking of football and music, we can never forget the combination of the two at a negro university football game at the Dallas Fair played between Wiley and Langston and before about six thousand negroes and a few thousand whites.

Whatever the negro bands played, including the "Old Time Religion," those "cullud" gridriders responded favorably, except in one instance when Wiley's band raised the ire of the Langston boys playing "Nearer My God to Thee" just after the "Dick Todd" Langston team had been knocked out.

Now that our local high school band is all set for the grid sport it might be worthwhile to carry a little investigating so that the sports can be made to achieve their greatest benefit.

Aldon Horn seems to be the type that would respond to the "Stars and Stripes Forever" while something of a more romantic nature, say "Let Me Call Sweetheart" might do better. Raymond Gibson and Dick Meason, we would suggest, those numbers having something about chicken dumplings and bone steaks. In other "synchronize" the individualistic with individual characteristics such as appetites, romantic notions and the like. Let us co-operate on this important matter.

CHS Is One of Several High Schools Basketball League

A basketball league including the high schools of Crowell, Ita Falls, Vernon, Childress, Quanah and Olney was organized following the annual meeting in Wichita Falls last Saturday of the Northwest Texas Football Coaches & Officials Association. Wichita Falls coaches were elected to draw up a schedule for the new league. The games in the schedule will not affect the scholastic League race and league is being set up to give greater basketball interest in the area.

Projected air conditions for deep gold mines in South Africa is expected to increase production by making it possible for men to work at greater depths.
