

Happy New Year

Business optimism bubbles as New Year checks in

Permits to build top half-million

City building permits have gone well past the half-million dollar mark here with the issuance of eight permits to Horace Henley, contractor, who has a number of new homes under construction in the northwest part of town, some of them practically completed.

The permits issued Henley include seven for new residences and one for the remodeling of an office building.

Last week's total was the biggest construction spurt since the city building ordinance went into effect early last March.

Construction for which permits have been issued up to the end of the year totals $540,647.

The permits issued Henley were as follows:

For Jimmy Hundley in the 500 block of West 10th Street; 2,297 square feet, with 21 by 21-foot garage attached; $18,500.

For R. J. Hundley at 914 West 24th; 24 by 36-foot; $5,500.

For Georgie M. Willson at 908 West 12th; 912 square feet; $8,250.

For Jess Michael at 912 West 24th; 912 square feet; $8,250.

For Marvin Hudman at 616 West 10th; 2,331 square feet, with 22 by 23-foot garage attached; $22,000.

For Spencer Kuykendall in West-ate Addition; 2,331 square feet, with 22 by 23-foot garage attached; $27,000.

Henley is also building a 1,300-square foot house for himself at 906 West 12th, with a 24 by 12-foot carport and storage attached, at a cost of $11,950.

The contractor was also issued a permit for remodeling and repairs to the office building of Dr. B. E. Young, 225 West Main. The work includes remodeling of a 43 by 21-foot old addition and a 10 by 20-foot new addition to be occupied as law offices by Pat N. Walker.

School projects' costs sought next

Supt. R. T. Smith is going to give subcontractors some construction selections so that architects can go ahead and work out probable costs of a new high school building and other necessary school expansion needs.

This was decided Tuesday night at another special meeting of the Post Independent School trustees in which four of the trustees were present with the administrator.

The group discussed several phases of the projects, including the lunchroom expansion and whether or not to build a new grid field-house or agricultural department quarters.

Trustees told Smith they didn't want the projects cut so drastically in cost that the usefulness of the additions would be impaired. The superintendent proposed inclusion of a "living room" in plans for the new home economics department and the high school building.

March of Dimes leader is named

Arnold Lucas has been appointed chairman for Garza County's March of Dimes, which is scheduled to get under way within the next few days.

Announcement of Lucas' appointment as drive chairman was made at a meeting of the Post Independent Board of Directors, which will be climaxed at the end of the month with the traditional "March of Dimes" parade.

County chairman said the drive has received a new film from the National Foundation, which clearly shows the new functions of the organization formerly known as National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Potts said the film is available to any local group desiring to use it.

MEMBERS CLUB MEETING

Members of the Post Lions are urged to start the New Year right by attending the first 1959 meeting next Tuesday, President Lynn W. Dunlap. Al Norris will be in charge of the program.

Oil industry's first triple pumper installed in county

Garza County—and R. S. Anderson, Midland independent producer—has what is reported to be the first triple pumper in the oil industry.

The triple completion—which will pump simultaneously from three different pay zones with one pump jack—is Anderson's No. 6 Stanolind Stoker in the Rocker "A" Field of Garza County 12 miles due south of Post.

There are other triple producers in the oil industry—but no other known triple pumpers. The other triple producers have flowing oil from one or more of the three pay zones.

Anderson's well will pump from all three.

THE WELL is producing through perforations in the San Andres 2,437 to 2,445 feet and 2,472 to 2,478 feet, and in the Glorieta through perforations from 3,013 to 3,016 feet and 3,063 to 3,084 feet. The Clearfork is producing in open hole from 3,195 to 3,226 feet.

This unique triple pumper installation employs three rod actuated insert pumps run in tandem on a string of hollow sucker rods.

A string of one inch tubing is run independent of the two inch, and two packers are used to separate the zones. All equipment was run through 5½ inch casing and the three producing zones are pumped by a single pump jack at the surface.

DAVID NEWBY of Post, production superintendent for Anderson, who operates 56 wells in Garza County, drew up the original sketch of the installation and asked the Fluid Packed Pump Co. to design the equipment.

"Salty" St. John and Pete Zigafosse, both of Fluid Packed Pump's technical division, working with the California home office, produced a somewhat modified design applicable to the requirements of the installation.

The lower zone is produced through two inch tubing to a cross-over tool where it crosses over to the one inch tubing and hence to the surface. The middle pay is produced through one inch tubing from between the two packers to

It really was a rush to get to press with The Dispatch a day early this week after an extended Christmas holiday for the deserving Dispatch staff. But get it out we all did and we think you'll find a lot of interesting things to read in it too. For example the paper is filled with clearance sale ads and dollar day ads which really provide the bargains for that Christmas money.

Of course the big story to us was the optimism we found locally for 1959 and the good business year recorded in 1958. Editor Charlie of course would have every reason to disagree with us but from a lot of standpoints today's banner story ranks right up there with the top news stories of 1958—and 1959 is just beginning.

An unusual ad you'll find on page 8 in which Garza Memorial Hospital comes up with a real prize for the 1959 Garza County first baby winner—up to five days of free hospital care for mother and infant. We'd guess that figures up something like $125 worth of medical care and attention, if needed, and certainly is an excellent way for Hospital Administrator Don Curl and the hospital to demonstrate the hospital's appreciation for the support it was given in 1958 when some 95 babies were born in Garza County's modern and well-run institution.

We want to take this opportunity of welcoming a new, regular advertiser into The Dispatch family—the Parrish Grocery and Market. You'll find the first of Arnold's regular weekly ads on page 4 of today's edition.

1959 expected to be even better than '58

By JIM CORNISH

Post businessmen generally agreed this week in a Post Dispatch survey that 1958 locally was one of the best business years ever.

What's more they are eagerly looking forward to 1959 to be even better.

Of course any 1959 economic forecast for this area is hinged to the weather — and how much it rains.

Fire in boxcar destroys cotton

A smoldering fire in a carload of cotton worth an estimated $19,200 was brought into Post early Tuesday morning by a Santa Fe freight train.

Post's volunteer firemen, called out at 6:30 a.m. in the cold wet weather of the winter, worked nearly four hours to extinguish the blaze.

Fire Chief Robert Cato estimated that half of the cotton in the car was burned.

The car of cotton was en route to the Postex Mills here from California and apparently had been burning for several days. It was discovered when smoke was seen seeping from one of the car doors.

The car was one of five carloads of cotton being switched into the (COTTON FIRE — See Page 8)

Helen Ingle Smith's whereabouts sought

The whereabouts of Mrs. Helen Ingle Smith is being sought by Dorothy Taylor of 929 E. Elizabeth, Barstow, Calif.

Finding an old address of Mrs. Smith's, the California woman sent a card to the address, which is now that of Mrs. Maud Thomas on Route 3.

Anyone knowing where Helen Ingle Smith is now is asked to get in touch with Dorothy Taylor at the above address.

Hospital prize due first baby of 1959

The first Garza County baby of 1959 to be born in Garza County Memorial Hospital is going to have a fitting gift awaiting—up to five days of free hospital care for mother and child.

That was announced today by Don Curl, hospital administrator.

"Some 95 babies were brought into the world in our community hospital last year," Curl told The Dispatch. "This is our way of welcoming Baby New Year 1959."

Only restrictions placed upon the contest is that the parents of the winning baby must be residents of Garza County.

The hospital's announcement of its novel First Baby of 1959 Contest will be found on page 8.

Drive-in hit by burglars twice

Three break-ins, two of them at one place, were reported here Christmas week.

Burglars who evidently had a typical Christmas appetite broke into the Post Drive-in on South Broadway on Christmas eve night and again on Friday night. O. E. Montgomery, who operates the drive-in, said the burglars took about $50 worth of weiners, ham, bread, cheese, lettuce, pies and candy.

In both break-ins, the intruders forced the lock on the rear door.

The other break-in was over the weekend at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall just east of town on the Clearmont Highway. Sheriff Carl Rains said an undetermined amount of money was taken from a cold drink machine and a juke box.

Season's first hits

Cold blast!

The first real cold blast of the winter hit the Post vicinity shortly after midnight Sunday and continued through Monday and well up into Wednesday.

Following a temperature drop to below the 10-degree mark here late Monday night, the mercury began heading slowly upward Tuesday, but it hadn't climbed high enough for the weather to be considered warm by any means.

There was some sleet early Monday morning and a little snow fell Tuesday, but not enough to stay on the ground. The moisture content of the rain and snow was so small as to be practically insignificant.

The cold blast wiped out summer-like weather that had prevailed through Christmas. Although roads and bridges in the vicinity were icy and slick for a short time, no accidents from those causes had been reported.

Bumper crops top '58 news

By CHARLES DIDWAY

The best cotton crop in 10 years and the best grain sorghum crop in history gets the nod as topping all other news events in Garza County during 1958.

Running a close second are the year-round oil activities, which included 18 new pool openers, Shell Oil Co.'s extensive deep development on the Slaughter Ranch and extension of Shell Pipe Line Corp. lines into southern Garza County.

Ranking third is the C. W. Post statue dedication which drew more notable people to the town than any other event in its history and which takes its place as one of the outstanding events ever to take place in Garza County.

The city's law enforcement problem, which has grown more and more controversial, takes the No. 4 spot. Included in the final 1958 summary are organization of a Civic Improvements Committee to seek a solution to the problem, and little, if any, let-up in burglaries, bootlegging, traffic violations and other flouting of the laws of the land.

Chosen as the No. 5 news event is passage by the city council of building permit and city traffic ordinances.

Ranking No. 6 is last June's hailstorm, which caused cotton crop damage ranging up to $250,000 in a wide strip of western Garza County.

Approval of city contracts for White River water by citizens of Post, Ralls, Crosbyton and Spur in an election June 21, and approval by the State Board of the White River District's application for a $1,000,000 loan ranks sixth. Tied in with this event is submission of the District's application for a $3,000,000 loan from the government.

Taking the No. 8 spot is the city council's passage of an ordinance (TOP NEWS — See Page 8)

Schools dismiss for New Year's

The Post public schools dismissed Wednesday afternoon for the New Year's holiday after one of the shortest "resumption periods" on record there.

Students and teachers had returned to classes only Monday morning after the Christmas holidays which began at 2:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19.

Principal Glenn Whittenberg said Monday that everything was running smoothly on the first day following the Christmas holiday period. Absenteeism was no lower than usual following a holiday period, with only 24 of the 285 high school students not in school.

Following the New Year's holiday, classwork will be resumed Monday morning, Jan. 5.

Oil field worker seriously injured

Gilbert Askins, 20, remained in a serious condition in Lubbock Methodist Hospital today from injuries received Saturday afternoon in a rig accident in the Rocker "A" field.

Askins, who became caught in machinery at the rig, suffered three breaks to his left arm, which was also smashed, had five ribs pulled loose and received a head cut which required five stitches.

He was transferred to the Lubbock hospital after receiving emergency treatment at Garza Memorial Hospital.

Fitting gift awaiting

That was announced today by Don Curl, hospital administrator.

"Some 95 babies were brought into the world in our community hospital last year," Curl told The Dispatch. "This is our way of welcoming Baby New Year 1959."

Only restrictions placed upon the contest is that the parents of the winning baby must be residents of Garza County.

1958 good year; 1959 can be better

1958 has been a mighty good year. That's a sum up of the last 12 months in seven words. And it pretty well applies to Post, Garza County, and this whole trade area. From the economic standpoint, old 1958 proved a honey on practically every economic front. Crops were bumper sized. Milo set a new record in the county both in size and yield. The bread-and-butter cotton crop for the first time in eight long years—after six of drought and one of harvest rains—was a 20,000 bale plus dilly. Out on the big ranches, cattle continued on the comeback trail, growing steadily in numbers.

The year was another tremendous one from the oil standpoint for the county. At this writing Garza was challenging for the leadership in most new pool openers for the year in all West Texas. The majors were drilling deep and the independents were drilling shallow. Ten rigs were busy Christmas week when the oil business usually is in the year-end doldrums. Shell Pipeline laid in a big new pipeline into southern Garza County and spread out a gathering system which cost well over a $1,000,000.

Main streeters had a lot to be happy about too. Many businessmen, a Dispatch survey shows, reported the biggest business year ever in 1958 with a record Christmas business too. Appliance dealers reported that the Christmas buying this year included plenty of major appliances delivered on Christmas eve. It was a good year for furniture too. Business was here for those who went after it.

School enrollments jumped to new record high with more records seen immediately ahead to pose a school expansion problem. Almost a dozen new trailer parks opened here during the year as the growing population of oil folks brought their homes in with them. The local housing shortage stayed tight from January through to December. The postmaster estimated a 300 increase in the town's population.

Some progress was made toward the White River dam dream but at year's end directors still were trying to straighten out the knotty problem of obtaining a $3,000,000 federal loan to complete the financing of the $4,000,000 project after gaining tentative approval for a $1,000,000 loan from the state's new water fund.

Promotional gains were registered on the Chamber of Commerce front with a reorganized civic organization promoting the first Cotton Week and Oil Week observances, boosting the Christmas season with a real Christmas promotional effort centered around new lights and the Main Street Christmas tree, and initiating a business men's farm tour. All were solid achievements.

1958 was the year too when Post gained its status of C. W. Post on the courthouse lawn, an estimated $25,000 gift from Mrs. Merriweather Post May, daughter of the town's founder, who gave the community rooms of both national and regional publicity by flying in two airliner loads of guests to unveil the statue in the spring's worst sand storm with Hollywood and TV stars providing free entertainment in the school auditorium. It was one of those events to remember.

Behind all the activity, economic gains, and growth there also was a growing community realization that Post's growth was bringing with it new responsibilities. Town leaders began looking to the future with a property tax revaluation program instigated in an effort to solve the "where is the money coming from" problem. Not too many new community projects reached realization, but a lot were in the consideration stage at year's end.

1958 totaled up as truly a year of progress. And as a new year begins Post and its area can look forward expectantly to more of the same.

Oil men are talking of plenty of drilling for years to come. The agricultural picture is solid again. Farmers are back on their feet. Bank deposits are at peak levels. Car sales are beginning to boom—a good indicator of better times.

Post in the new year needs to face up to its growth. School expansion is a must. Of course the White River Water development will be pushed just as fast as it is possible to go.

But there are other problems to consider. New housing needs to be encouraged with every possible means. The housing pinch here is very tight and appears certain to stay that way until major progress can be made.

Expansion of the city limits is another must which deserves real study and a united push. In exchange for city taxes property owners who would be taken in would stand to gain much in the way of municipal services as well as appreciate the value of their properties.

Main street is sorely in need of business growth. If housing is tight, business housing is even worse. There is no place for the new business in the business district. Despite real town growth in the last three years, Main street has been virtually standing still. This is a bar to good community development.

The retailers' battle to keep Post dollars at home instead of slipping off to Lubbock never to return will be easier with the growth of the business district. Main street needs to keep pace with community growth, although the problem is difficult with little available growth space.

1959 won't see all Post's "growing pains" solved. But the new year should mark some more long strides forward. We need to face our problems, study them, and bend some cooperative efforts toward solutions. Community planning, forthright community leadership, and some real community teamwork all are needed.

The growth of this community will require the efforts of all of us working together. That may sound like the proverbial old record, but at the birth of a new year, it's a good time to stop and play it over again.

Let's make 1959 a banner year of progress by working together.—JC

Continuation of good work seen

Among the many changes the New Year will bring to Post and Garza County is a change in the office of county judge, where Pat N. Walker is being succeeded by J. E. Parker. Nominally, the county judge is the head of a county government and the office is an important one, as are, of course, all offices in any political subdivision.

Judge Walker has made an outstanding record since he was appointed to the office more than two years ago, and we believe that Mr. Parker will be taking up right where his predecessor left off and operating the office in an efficient and business-like manner.

During the time that Judge Walker has been in office, the county government has made the transition to a sound basis financially. The budgets have been balanced from year to year, with from 7 to 8 per cent of the income set aside for unforeseen contingencies. The county government has been operated like a business and without deficit financing, something some people had said couldn't be done.

Judge Walker has bent every effort when called upon toward coordination with the city government and with other political subdivisions toward the welfare of the county as a whole and the various communities and school districts. One of the best examples of this coordination is the long-range city-county park development board.

Judge Walker's administration has taken the Garza County Memorial Hospital "out of politics" and put it in the hands of the hospital board, with the result that no longer is the hospital losing such sums as $65,000 in a single year.

Another bright spot has been the county's road program, with 102 miles of paved road built not counting the approximately 80 blocks of streets the county has helped the city pave. And, through the county's work along these lines, an almost-continuous road program is assured for the next few years.

The county's bonded indebtedness during Judge Walker's administration has been reduced by $60,000 even counting in a $50,000 bond issue for roads. The county has paid off bonds not due to mature until 1970 and 1975. The bond sinking fund has been increased from practically nothing to where it will pay for all bonded indebtedness coming due in the next two years if not a penny more in taxes is collected.

These are just some of the highlights of Judge Walker's administration. They are something for the new county judge to shoot at, but the confidence the people showed in electing Mr. Parker to the office seems to us assurance enough that the county judge's office will continue in capable hands.—CD

Next Door' newspaper neighbor dies

Another one of the "old school" of weekly newspaper publishers passed on Christmas day with the death of E. L. Hill of Tahoku. From 1923 until his retirement in 1950, Mr. Hill was publisher of The Lynn County News—"Lynn County's Oldest Business Institution."

Upon Mr. Hill's retirement, his son, Frank Hill, became publisher of The News, and for a number of years the retired publisher continued to write his "Odds and Ends" column under the by-line of "E. L. the Elder."

Not only was Mr. Hill widely known, well liked and respected among the members of the newspaper fraternity, but he was held in the same high esteem by all others who knew him. His versatility was attested to by the fact that before becoming engaged in the newspaper business, he was a school teacher and an attorney. He was a fine Christian gentleman and a community builder.

As a "next door" neighbor of The Lynn County News, we extend our sympathy to the community Mr. Hill served for so many years and to his bereaved family.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Rattlesnakes are on the move. It has been generally understood that they were all in the Ohio-Liberty communities, but something must have happened in those localities to cause them to seek new homes. We do not know whether it is a patron saint or cats, but lately rattlers have been killed "over behind Shive," and in other sections of the county, and Monday a real big one was killed near the back steps of the Bob Riley Funeral Home. Kenneth Gardner reports that a hoe was used to kill one about five feet long at that point. We always welcome people from all communities to come to Hamilton as often as you possibly can—even move in with us—but please keep your pets at home.—The Hamilton Herald-News.

HOW BOUT THAT

By RALPH TEE

Thursday to Thursday

By CHARLES DIDWAY

WELL, YOU LIVE and you learn. During the Christmas holidays, we had a friend who called at our house ask us if we were going to eat "blackeyed beans" on New Year's day. We asked him didn't he mean "blackeyed peas," and that we weren't planning on eating them anyway on New Year's day or any other day because we weren't especially fond of them. Not that we weren't going to eat them, but just that we weren't planning on eating them.

This friend, whom we've sometimes suspected of carrying more than his share of useless knowledge around in his head, said, no, he didn't mean "blackeyed peas," he meant "blackeyed beans." "There is much confusion," he said, "in the popular names of the various members of the bean or legume family of plants." And he didn't stop there.

HE WENT ON to say that botanically the seeds generally called blackeyed peas, "Dolichos sphaerospermus," are really beans, and that in southern California, where these seeds are grown on a large scale for market purposes, they are known as blackeyed beans.

On the other hand, he pointed out, the European broad bean, "Vicia faba," is really a pea. "This broad bean," said our enlightened friend, "was the first plant to which 'bean' was applied and the seeds, served with bacon, were a favorite dish among the Romans."

HE WENT ON to tell us that in 1939 our own Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel proclaimed a Blackeyed Pea Day and in the same year a Blackeyed Pea Festival was held at Centerville, Tex., although our friend contended that for the sake of accuracy these should have been a Blackeyed Bean Day and a Blackeyed Bean Festival.

Then, just as we were dozing off for the third time after a Christmas dinner which hadn't included blackeyed peas or blackeyed beans, our friend informed us that there is an old belief in the southern states that eating blackeyed beans seasoned with salt on New Year's day will bring good luck for the whole year. We told him we'd try to remember that.

OTHER VISITORS at our house on Christmas day included our daughter and son-in-law from Denton, and our son-in-law told us that in his opinion Post had the most attractive Christmas decorations of any town they'd passed through on their trip from north central Texas.

He said he'd been keeping a close check on the mileage as he drove and that he didn't know whether his eyes or the mileage indicator on his speedometer was deceiving him when he saw the Christmas tree lights from more than 19 miles out on Highway 380.

The turkey and dressing we ate on Christmas day and the turkey leftovers we consumed on Friday and Saturday probably had something to do with it, but we became overly irked at the play-by-play and "crowd color" announcers while watching Saturday afternoon's Gator Bowl game on television.

THE ANNOUNCERS either were Floridians or were afraid of the Chambers of Commerce in that state, because they just couldn't seem to get around to telling the millions of people in the TV audience that it was raining cats and dogs right there at the Gator Bowl in Florida, where it rarely rains—on special occasions.

The moment the spectacle came onto the TV screen, we noticed that the people in the stands were wearing raincoats and holding umbrellas over their heads and that the players muddled their uniforms on the first series of plays, but the first half was almost gone before the announcer got around to mentioning that they were having "inclement weather."

THEN, DURING the halftime show, the announcer mentioned, almost in a whisper, that a fireworks display scheduled for the previous night had been postponed because of what he termed a few showers.

Mexico City is considered the oldest city in North America.

Carlsbad church is scene of Wersell-Maxey wedding

MRS. FRANKLIN MAXEY (Miss Naomi Wersell)

An altar banked with white chrysantheums and centered with double candelabra provided the background for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Naomi Wersell and Franklin Maxey. James B. Scott, minister, performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Fox and Lake Street Church of Christ in Carlsbad, N. M.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wersell of Carlsbad, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Maxey of Route 3, Post.

Pre-nuptial selections of "I Love You Truly", "The Lord's Prayer", and "Because" were sung by the Abilene Christian College quartet. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white lace over satin. It was designed on princess lines, featuring a bodice with a V-neckline and brief sleeves. Her tiara of iridescent sequins held a short veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with white streamers.

Mrs. Maxey also carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue. Miss Mary Lou Lunsford of Carlsbad was maid of honor. She wore a dress of royal blue satin, styled with an overskirt of net and satin. Her bouquet was white and pink carnations.

Debbie and Sharon Duncan of Monahans, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Their dresses of iridescent blue velvet were accented with wrist corsages of pink carnations.

Lowell Maxey of Abilene, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and the bride's brother, David Wersell of Abilene assumed duties as usher.

Mrs. Wersell chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue wool jersey and Mrs. Maxey wore a grey orlon dress.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts for a reception at the church parlor, where approximately 55 guests registered. The bride's table was laid in white lace over pink and centered with the traditional wedding cake. Punch, mints, nuts and cake were served.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple are at home in Abilene where they are students at Abilene Christian College. Mrs. Maxey is a graduate of Carlsbad High School and her husband graduated from Post High School.

At Seely, Wyo., they visited an uncle, Birch Lobban and family, and at Bello Fourche, S. D., they visited his brother, Charles A. Lobban and wife. One day was spent in sightseeing in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Among other points of interest were a visit to Deadwood and the cemetery where Calamity Jane and Wild Bill Hickock were buried, Mt. Rushmore, Sylvan Lake and Custer State Park. Following a dinner of wild turkey and all the "fixin's" Christmas day, Mrs. Lobban took her first toboggan ride and then she and her husband took part as spectators only in ice skating.

Miss Sara Evelyn Mills is wed to Larry Joe Wheeler

Miss Sara Evelyn Mills and Larry Joe Wheeler were united in marriage Friday evening at the First Methodist Church in Hale Center. The Rev. Raymond T. Dyess, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock.

Escorted in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of brocaded satin, styled on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline. Petal point sleeves and a Queen Anne collar accented the short jacket. Her elbow veil of silk illusion was attached to a tiara bordered with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Harold L. Rogers of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Sharon Jobe of Post and Miss Roxanne Townsend of Hale Center were bridesmaids. They were dressed identical in dresses of light blue satin, fashioned with full skirts. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Barbara Hill and Julia Beth Shelley were candlelighters. Vickie Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Steven Rogers, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

A Church Going Family Is A Happier Family

A New Beginning

A scene like this says: It's dawn—time for a new beginning, a fresh start.

The calendar says: It's January 1, New Year's Day—time for a new beginning, a fresh start.

That's what the churches in our community offer; that's what they specialize in—new beginnings, fresh starts. Many people have found a new beginning for their life in some church in our town—forgiveness, a new sense of direction, different goals, inspiration and strength to do a better job from day to day. Many people find it worthwhile to make a new beginning at the start of every week—in worship, prayer, and praise every Sunday at church.

Why not start this New Year in church? Why not plan to get the spiritual strength available with a "fresh start" every week by attending church regularly this year? You will find a warm welcome awaiting you and the opportunity for a new beginning in the church of your choice.

"Old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (11 Corinthians 5:17)

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Business survey—

 th at the mill.
 Everybody agrees about the oil situation. It's good today, has been good all through 1958, and appears likely to stay good or grow even better during 1959.

The oil growth in this area—with a real push across southern Garza County to deep drilling by the "majors" of the oil industry—has brought an estimated population growth of from 500 to 1,000 persons in Post in the last year.

CONSTRUCTION here during 1958 set a new record as dozens of new homes were built. But housing still remains tight. A number of trailer parks were opened in 1958 and have thrived as the oil folks towed their own mobile homes into town with them.

School enrollments jumped last year with the influx of new population and an even greater pupil load already is forecast for the 1959-60 school year next fall.

Post's postal receipts in 1958 set a new all-time record. Postmaster Harold Voss sees a new record for 1959.

Irby Metcalf, president of the First National Bank, announced today that bank deposits here as of the first of 1959 are approximately $7,000,000—a growth of approximately $1,000,000 in 1958.

HE REPORTED bank collections good on farm loans, termed the oil situation as good, and estimated Post's population today as somewhere between 5,500 and 6,000 persons.

Metcalf estimated that some $1,500,000 in lease money was poured into Post's trade territory of Garza County and eastern Lynn County during the last year and terms this one of the important economic developments of the year.

Area business, he estimated, was better in 1958 than in 1957. He predicted it will be even better in 1959—with the weather the only big "if".

Metcalf cautioned, however, that the area farmer today doesn't have quite as much money to spend as some think.

"THE DRY land farmer," Metcalf said, "is doing real well to get straightened up and his debts either paid in full or greatly reduced after the long years of drought."

He reported the cattle situation on Garza ranches as also good with more cattle loans in the bank now than at any time since Metcalf came to Post four years ago.

Metcalf said bank deposits here in 1958 for the first time never dipped under $5,000,000. In 1957 they dipped almost to the $4,000,000 mark.

People regard bankers as ultra-conservative folks. So Metcalf's opinion of 1959 is even more news-worthy.
 "I feel real optimistic about 1959," Metcalf told The Dispatch. "I feel we'll have a good year and everything will work smoothly for us in this area."

COUNTY AGENT Lewis Herron's estimate of the situation on the farm front gives added support to the rosy 1959 economic forecast for the area.

But there is one note of caution—winter and early spring rains will be needed before planting time.

Herron told The Dispatch that Garza's 1958 cotton crop should total out at about 21,000 bales at a 28 cents a pound average.

That would make the 1958 cotton worth almost $3,000,000 to the county's well being—or $2,940,000 to be exact.

HERRON SAID the 1958 total of 21,000 bales will be the biggest number of bales harvested since 1949 when 23,000 bales came from Garza fields. But in that year there were no cotton planting restrictions and thousands of more acres were planted to cotton than the 37,000 to 38,000 acres planted for 1958.

The county agent said the cotton yield the county over for 1958 would average a half bale or better to the acre on dry land, as compared to a third of a bale average yield, and a bale or better on the irrigated cotton.

Last year, the Garza County harvest totaled some 18,200 bales at about a 26 cents per pound average.

HERRON TERMED the cotton yield this year "the best in the county's history."

Even the "hailed cotton" recovered to make from a half to a bale to the acre, Herron reported.

Not only was the cotton yield the best ever—but so was the milo yield with the biggest maize crop in the county's history harvested from some 61,000 acres this fall.

Herron estimated the value of the maize crop this year at $1,595,350.

LIVESTOCK ON Garza ranches also recorded big gains in 1958, Herron said, with an estimated 18,000 to 20,000 head of cattle back on Garza ranches.

During the drought years, cattle in Garza County dropped to around 13,000 head after hitting a peak of 25,000 to 30,000 head back in 1948-49.

Herron said 1958 also was a good year for the cattleman as well as the farmer with cattle prices holding up pretty good.

The only "bad spot" in the present cattle outlook Herron said is the need for rain to provide enough stock water.

GARZA COUNTY'S rainfall in 1958 actually was below normal—only a little over 16 inches as compared to a normal of 20 inches. The record crop yields were attributed by Herron to 1957 moisture which totaled up to a whopping 31.24 inches, with many of the real soakers coming in the fall to provide needed rain in advance of planting.

Herron, termed the county's deep underground moisture supply as "fair," but said winter or early spring rains will be needed before planting time.

Ask most Post businessmen how business has been in 1958 and you'll get a happy smile as a starter.

One of the town's leading merchants said 1958 produced the biggest business volume in history for his store with the exception of the unusual Korean war year of 1951. He explained that in 1951 people were jittery that more wartime scarcities were coming and bought like crazy.

WITH THE good 1958 crops he looks for good business to carry right through the winter and into the spring of 1959 on present momentum.

1959—he thinks it could top them all.

An appliance dealer declared his 1958 sales were about as good as those for 1956 and 1957 combined and that he expects 1959 to see him virtually double his 1958 volume. The appliance business—rated nationally as one of the "rough ones"—came up with a real Christmas rush here this year.

As several business men remarked, for the first time since they could remember folks here were spending "real money" for Christmas.

FURNITURE STORE operators here also reported 1958 as the best year since the drought began in the volume of sales, but complained as did some others that expenses were up too.

Farm machinery dealers reported 1958 was about on a par with 1957 businesswise, but were looking forward eagerly to a real banner sales year in 1959. Area farmers were getting out of debt. They see heavy sales upcoming in new farm machinery this winter and spring. And they have stocked their sales yards accordingly.

THE AUTO dealers' economic picture is very similar. As far as car sales went, 1958 was a little bit better than 1957, which was a whole lot better than tough 1956. But they are looking forward to real improvement in 1959 with the fall business in 1958 running well ahead of the fall business of 1957.

Oil pumper—

 the crossover, where it moves through the two inch tubing to the surface. The upper zone is produced through hollow sucker rods.

ACTUAL PUMPING at the well isn't expected to get under way until next week.

If the unique installation works out, Anderson expects to convert several other of his Rocker "A" field wells into triple pumps.

At his No. 5 Stanolind Stoker, where the equipment was being run into the hole this week, the Clearfork was completed natural in open hole for a flowing potential of 16 barrels oil per hour plus 4 per cent water. The Gorieta was treated with 7,000 gallons of retarded acid with a flowing potential of 12 barrels of oil per hour plus 15 per cent water. The upper or San Andres pay was treated with 9,000 gallons of retarded acid and swabbed 3½ barrels of oil per hour plus 30 per cent water.

ANDERSON DRILLED the Rocker "A" field's discovery well—the Henderson No. 1, in 1950, finding the San Andres pay. Five years later he discovered the Gorieta pay in his Stanolind Stoker No. 5. The Clearfork pay was found as a commercial pay in his Skelly Stoker No. 4 in April, 1958.

Up to the time of running the triple, Anderson had eight dual completed wells in operation, all run and installed with Fluid Packed Pump Co. equipment. These are all tandem pumps using one pump jack at the surface.

They are combinations of San Andres-Glorieta, San Andres-Clearfork, and Glorieta-Clearfork pays.

The triple completion will combine the three zones for the first time with the oil being co-mingled into one tank battery.

Anderson already has applied to the Texas Railroad Commission for another triple for his recently completed No. 7 Stanolind Stoker.

Miss Loyce Josey is home visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Josey, Loyce is a student at Texas Tech.

Car rams parked auto, hits house

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Blodgett had unexpected Christmas "visitors" about 2:30 a. m. last Thursday when an automobile crashed into the side of their home in the north part of town.

En route, the automobile hit four posts, sideswiped a tree and crashed into against the Blodgetts' new 1959 Ford, causing heavy damage to the car.

Charles Warren of Kermit, driver of the car, was fined $10 in city traffic court on charges of speeding, reckless driving and destruction of property.

City Marshal Otis G. Shepherd Jr., who along with Deputy Sheriff J. W. "Red" Floyd investigated the accident, said Warren failed to make the corner as he turned west off a north and south street running in front of the Blodgett home.

Neither Warren nor a young woman who was with him at the time of the accident was injured, officers said.

Cotton fire—

 Postex siding for unloading when the fire was discovered.

A Postex official estimated the $19,200 value of the cotton on the basis of from 115 to 126 bales of cotton to the car.

The mills now are in the process of receiving 3,000 bales of cotton which it has purchased for operations. The mill uses an average of 264 bales per week.

Santa Fe agent Alfred Stallings said the boxcar involved was a steel one and not damaged by the fire.

CHRISTMAS DINNER
 Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McCullough and family and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCullough had Christmas dinner with McCullough's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McCullough in New Home.

 Friday visitors in the Ronnie Parker home were Mr. and Mrs. John Storey and daughter, Cindy, of Dallas.

HALE CENTER VISITOR
 Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. White Sunday was his brother, D. L. White of Hale Center.

Good crops make the difference. Food stores report sales up in 1958 over 1957. They expect further increases in volume in 1959 due to the town's population growth with the increased oil activity.

Clothing stores reported business as good in 1958—one of the best years yet. 1959? They think it will be even better.

Top news—

 nance granting a rate increase to General Telephone Co., which action ended a four and a half year stalemate between the city and the telephone company over rates. Soon after passage of the ordinance, the telephone company began expanding its service here.

Ranked No. 9 in the list of outstanding news events is the re-evaluation of taxable property in the City of Post and Post Independent School District by Pritchard & Abbott, tax valuation engineers.

The better-than-ever Christmas decorations sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and an unprecedented volume of Christmas shopping, which began early and lasted late, is ranked as the tenth biggest news story.

Other "big" happenings here during the year, anyone of which might crowd into the top 10—depending on who is doing the picking, include the following:

Organization of the City-County Park Board for a long-range development program at the park.

Soaring enrollment in Post schools, resulting in current expansion plans by trustees.

Several thousand dollars damage done to road machinery south of town by vandals.

Opening of the State Highway Department's new Equipment Procurement Division warehouse—the second in the state.

Chamber of Commerce's first annual Cotton Week observance.

Post-Close City school consolidation election.

Completion of work on divided four-lane highway from Post to the Scurry County line.

Community Chest fund drive going "over the top" in record-breaking time.

 crackerjack ad on page 9 on his Ferguson tractors. When 81-year-old farmer, R. L. Craig, purchased another new Ferguson tractor recently, Earl got on the phone and put in a call to our photographer. He wanted a picture of R. L. on that new tractor for an ad as he understands that a picture roughly is worth a 1,000 words. In telling Craig's story and the reasons for his purchase, Earl comes up with a mighty effective ad which easily could catch the judge's eye in any advertising contest.

Reporting oil developments here is a mighty interesting one for us and so today's page one yarn of how R. S. Anderson and Garza County scored an oil industry "first" with a "triple pumper" is another important story with which The Dispatch launches a brand new year. We told Dave Newby, who originally sketched the "triple pumper" equipment, that we'd like to have a picture of the new well, but Dave explained that the "triple pumper" looked just about like 700 others in Garza County as it has only one pump jack above the ground. We'd tried to get Dave to draw up a picture of the pumping method for today's Dispatch, but Dave unfortunately had too much Christmas visiting to do with his parents in Oklahoma City to get the sketch drawn.

Wackers already has begun work on the remodeling and expansion which will lead to converting the store to a "self service" variety store sometime in February.

It's too bad the Ray McClellans out in the Graham community don't have a phone. After reading

"proof" Tuesday afternoon on the society page story about the McClellans entertaining 71 persons for Christmas dinner we were interested to get more details. The whole idea of a Christmas dinner for 71 persons in the Santa Claus class for holiday undertakings as far as we are concerned. We'll try to get the kitchen details for you next week.

A Message from Rose

Now that the Christmas rush is over and the kids are all back in school it's sort of nice to just sit back and relax, isn't it?

Speaking of relaxing, now is a good time to have portraits made in a relaxed manner. That's when they usually turn out best. The Christmas rush is over. Cal is rested and I stuffed him full of Christmas dinner and he feels jolly as old Saint Nick himself. Why not call me at 489 right now for an appointment? You know you can call us at night, or anytime. We are always happy to talk to you.

Here are a few suggestions: Kids playing with their Christmas toys, wearing their new cowboy outfits, etc., family groups, especially if you are having a family get-together over the New Year's day, you may not be seeing each other for sometime and a professionally made photograph will be a cherished possession from now on.

Don't forget we do bronzing of baby shoes and restorations on old faded, worn photographs. We are starting something new! Tuesday is Tots Day! Every Tuesday we are going to offer special prices on small fry, which will result in considerable savings to you. Ask us about it.

Sincerely

Practical way found for drying grain with energy from the sun

By JOHN C. WHITE

Commissioner of Agriculture
A practical way has been found for drying grain with energy from the sun. It is a relatively simple method of converting an unheated air grain-drying system into a heated operation without the necessity of artificial heat. Here's how!

Begin by fastening plywood to the underside of the grain bin roof rafters, leaving an open space about five inches thick. Then paint the bin roof black. The roof absorbs the sun's heat and the 5-inch thick area collects it. Next, reverse the bin fan, pulling the warm air down through the wet grain.

What are the results? On a 70-degree day, with bright sunshine, temperature of the air drawn through the roof "heater" was about 85 degrees. The 15-degree difference is the key to the whole system. Each cubic foot of the 85-degree air takes about twice as much moisture out of wet grain as the same amount of 70-degree air.

If the sun doesn't shine, keep the fan running to cool the grain until it does. In tests, engineers dried shelled corn down from 21 per cent to 14 per cent moisture content with only 3 sunny days out of 23 that it was in storage.

HAULING MILK IN A BAG

A giant rubber-fabric container resembling an over-sized tooth paste tube offers big promise of cost saving for dairymen. Called "Sealdtank", it has been developed by joint effort of the rubber, trucking and dairy industries, and measures 56 inches in diameter, 35 feet long and holds 3,800 gallons of milk. When empty, the container lies flat or can be rolled into a compact package.

Sealdtank means that for the first time a dry-liquid two-way haul can be accomplished transporting dry cargo on a return trip—in the same standard trailer or truck. The upshot is that it converts thousands of trucks, railroad box cars and gondola cars into a potential liquid carriers of milk.

"Bagged milk" may mean a saving in cost of getting milk to market. Since the milk can be hauled on the regularly scheduled run of a common motor carrier, rates need only cover the actual cost of the milk haul, an estimated saving of 20 per cent or more.

Tower double feature offers great pictures

Two outstanding pictures are being offered at the Tower Theatre as a double feature on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 7, 8 and 9.

One of the pictures is "Mademoiselle Strip-tease," starring Brigitte Bardot, and the other is "Scandal in Sorrento," co-starring Sophia Loren and Vittorio De Sica.

"Witty, wicked, wonderful — as only Bardot dares!" is the way theatre manager Johnny Hopkins describes "Mademoiselle Strip-tease."
"Scandal in Sorrento" was filmed in romantic Sorrento on the Bay of Naples. Sophia shows why she is the talk of moviegoers all over the world in this, her first English speaking movie.

In certain circles a great many black sheep are whitewashed.

Bible Thoughts "Eternal Words of Jesus"

by RONNIE PARKER

I want to quote to you the eternal words of Jesus, the author of eternal salvation. These are specific conditions that our Lord declared to be essential to the salvation of your soul. In Jno. 8:24 He said, "except ye believe that I am he ye shall die in your sins." And again in Luke 13:3 He declared, "Except ye repent, Ye shall all likewise perish!" What an awful loss! Mark 16:16 "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature... He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, he that believeth not shall be damned."

These verses teach that there can be a great gain (eternal salvation) or a great loss (eternal condemnation). Jesus is the speaker. Quote: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." The baptized penitent believer has the promise of the greatest gain of all gains—SALVATION! Who has the promise? The person who submits his will to God's will by obeying this command of Christ. There is no mistake about that.

What about the loss of the same verse—"He that believeth not shall be damned."? An eternal loss that a million worlds like this could never repay! Obey Him while the time is yours.

ATTEND THE SERVICES OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST IN POST

R. L. Craig, one of the oldest active farmers in this area at 81, is preparing to start the new year 1959 off right with a

1959 Model Ferguson 35

Shown above he discusses his tractor plans with me after making his purchase. Craig, who lives in the Garnolia community two miles over the Garza line in Lynn county, has been farming the same 168 acres for the last 43 years and isn't ready to quit yet—as his new tractor purchase will indicate.

Craig has been farming with FERGUSON TRACTOR for many years. He selected this new 1959 FERGUSON 35 because it has plenty of power to do all he needs to do because it is easy to drive and because it is easy to get on and off of.

"I'll be farming when I'm a hundred as long as I have a FERGUSON TRACTOR to help me," Craig told me.

You'll find you'll like these advantages of FERGUSON TRACTORS, too, when you try one of them. And you'll find too, many other advantages that will make you a real "FERGUSON farmer" like Craig.

Come in tomorrow and let me show you the 1959 FERGUSON TRACTORS.

VARIETY ADDS SPICE

Advance planning helps make party a good one, says Extension agent

By JESSIE PEARCE

Planning a party requires work on the part of the hostess and advance planning to make the party a good one.

Variety adds spice to any party. Games should be planned to provide change of pace and activity.

Start with a pre-party game. This starts people participating, relaxing and having a good time. It also fills the awkward space while all of the guests are arriving. The type of activity planned will depend on the group and place of the party. Try using exhibits, a game or conversation objects for this purpose.

Next, plan for a circle or get acquainted game. Even if the guests all know each other, some kind of ice-breaker is needed. A seated circle is best, for all guests must join the circle in order to have a place to sit. This will eliminate the person who says, "I don't believe that I will play this time."

Follow the ice-breaker with quiet and active games that are alternated, but avoid changing formation for each game. In other words, if a circle is called for, use a circle formation for the next game as well.

Active standing games will give a change of position and pace. Games that require some movement of body, and perhaps singing will liven up the activity. Easier games should be played first. Be sure to give clear instructions and have all materials and supplies ready for each game. Refreshments may be served easily at the close of some active standing game.

Allow for some resting activities. Quiet games, seated relays, singing, team games and charades may serve this purpose.

A high point game will climax the party. Choose it carefully, keeping the interest of guests and perhaps the theme of the party in mind.

The ending of a party is very important. Plan a definite game or activity that will let the guests know that the party is over and leave them wanting more. If you've enjoyed your party, chances are that your guests have had a wonderful time, too.

Again let me remind you that I have help on planning parties in the office. I have booklets of games, refreshment ideas and recipes, that you may have for the asking.

Junior Set

By CHRIS CORNISH

Everybody sure looks full of pep and energy after their Christmas vacations. It looks like everyone was real pleased with what Santa brought them. High on the list of gifts were transistor radios, record players, guns, clothes and watches. Monday started out with, "My did you have a nice Christmas?", "What did you get for Christmas?" etc., and ended up with homework.

Marsha Smith fell and hit her head on the sidewalk during the Christmas vacation. She had to have several stitches taken. Hope it didn't affect your gray matter, Marsha!

Barricade the doors—bolt down the desks. No, really — welcome back, Glenn Folk. Glenn has been sick with glandular fever and hasn't been able to come to school for a few weeks. He came back to school Monday. Glad to have you with us again, Glenn!

I bet Linda Gist's Christmas gift tops them all. Linda received a Shetland pony whose name is "Scooter Red". Happy ridin', Linda!

The schools were let out this afternoon for another short vacation for Thursday, Friday and the weekend. Really live it up every one—just think—Easter is our next vacation—3½ months away!
