Best man made real archaeology discovery, but—

Remains of millions-years-old elephant destroyed in Lynn

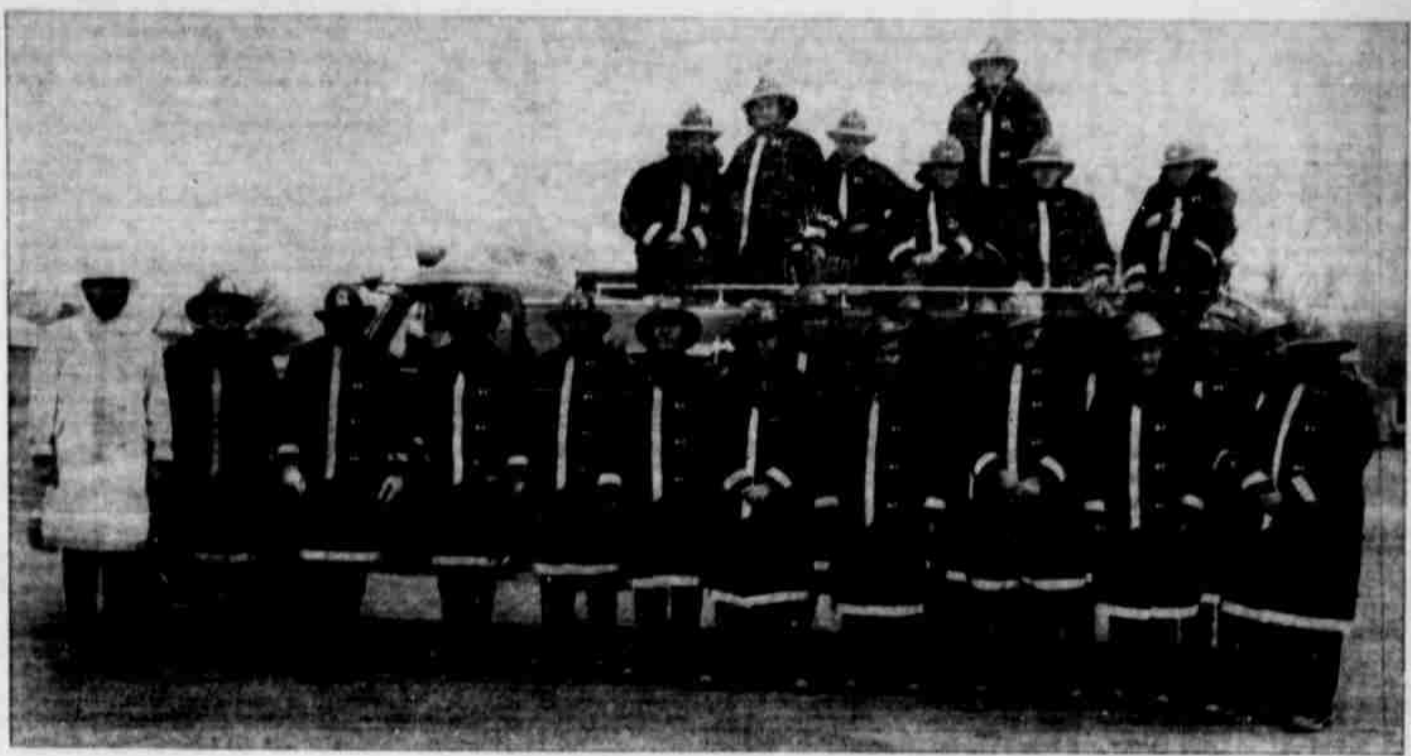

Remains of an elephant, which roamed the South Plains several million years ago, have been destroyed in Moore's Draw in Lynn county by unknown persons because they could be excavated. Officials of the South Plains Archaeological Society have termed the loss "irreplaceable." Remains of some time ago were discovered by Max Gordon of Post. Expensive and time consuming surveys were made of Moore's Draw by Texas Tech professors, Dr. Green and Dr. Kelly, at Gordon's request.

Importance of the find were established in determining condition and age. The elephant was a species of pachyderm of the middle Miocene age, several million years ago. Professor Green obtained permission of the landowner to scientifically remove the remains and exhibit them in the Tech Museum. Returning to the site with men and heavy equipment, they found the specimen destroyed. J. M. Baylis, secretary-treasurer of the Garza chapter of the South Plains Archaeological Society, told The Dispatch in releasing the story of the loss that relatively few archaeology and natural history professors have the knowledge and painstaking ability to properly excavate and restore such specimens and that much of this work is done by them on their comparatively meager free time and many times at their own expense. HE POINTED OUT that the opportunity to obtain Professor Green's attention and services points out the importance attached to this discovery. ## Ready by June, 1961

General Telephone has offered to install dial phones for Post by June, 1961, with no interim increase in rates here. In letters mailed to Mayor Powell Shytles and all members of the city council, the utility firm listed proposed dial rates and asked for an early meeting with the council to discuss the dial rate proposal. Shytles is out of town this week on a fishing trip and unavailable for comment. The monthly dial rates proposed by the company, with present rates listed in parenthesis are as follows: one-party business $11 ($9), two-party business $9.50 ($7.25); business extension rates, no charge, $1.50 ($1.50); one-party residence $5.50 ($5), two-party residence $4.50 ($4); residential extensions, no charge $1 ($1). J. L. (Dusty) Kemper of Brownfield, division manager for General Telephone, told The Dispatch his company proposes to erect a 36 by 36 foot masonry building as a dial building on a site yet to be purchased. The proposed dial system would include 1,100 lines and 1,500 terminals. Post today has some 1,400 phones in operation. Kemper said that the terminal system would enable phone patrons to retain the same number even when moving to another part of town or upgrading their phone service. The division manager added that Post's new dial exchange would be converted on the nationwide, inter-toll dialing network which would permit a long distance operator to dial any number anywhere in the country on the network and thus cut down long distance calls' connection time. Lubbock would be the master office for the local dial system. Patrons asking for information, long distance, or assistance would receive a Lubbock operator. Kemper declared his company proposes to also spend some $55,000 in converting rural phones served by the local exchange and expanding rural service in this area. The rural program is outlined in detail in the letters to the council. Lubbock declared that for present day construction costs the proposed dial rates "are about as cheap as you'll find anywhere." The company had promised to make a dial phone proposal last August upon completion of rate studies here. In earlier dial phone proposals made by the company an interim phone boost had been requested.

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

There was quiet downtown last night—we know because we were at The Dispatch all night. Editor Charlie Didway, contented to an intertype operator, taking a bulky machine until he got the type for the edition. But this is getting out of ourselves. Let's start at beginning.

We're sorry most of you folks get your Dispatch until late last week—but there are many downtown when we get the paper ready late Monday after hustling over a deal of West Texas for help or one, but two major breakdowns.

What we do want to make one clear—we did get the paper out Thursday and we had several drop in the office to grab it from the counter before we got the paper ready late Monday after hustling over a deal of West Texas for help or one, but two major breakdowns.

There is a play-by-play of difficulties. We sat up all night Wednesday night with operator who was trying to get the intertype machine—the one that sets the type, Eddie Wargot out of bed three times to get down and help and spent the night helping. A little later when it appeared to be ready to run again.

We loaded our teletype tape all the stories for the last 24 hours in the car and took off for Lubbock where Publisher Harold Weimbold turned over one two typetting machines to get the morning to get the paper up. We drove the 80 miles, arriving at 2 p. m., and in about an hour, but efficient had the four pages made up by the press. Then the worm pulled out of the press and the rest of the commission until the repairs could be made.

We loaded up the car and a wagon borrowed quickly from Tom Power with forms, permits, and paper and drove to where we finally got it fixed on the Slaton's press. We drove home and put the papers through the folder, and ran out the morning machine.

It didn't stop there. We had more POSTINGS, Page 8

First step in school expansion program

Auditorium conversion to classrooms due in summer

Post Independent School District trustees agreed Friday night on specifications for conversion of the present high school auditorium this summer into six additional classrooms and thus solve the "classroom shortage" for the 1959-60 school year.

This will be the first portion of the new $710,000 school expansion program approved two weeks ago by voters.

Trustees also voted to advertise for bids on tearing down the west football bleachers so that the new stadium seats could be erected prior to the 1959 grid campaign.

Architects James Atcheson and Atmar Atkinson of Lubbock met with trustees at the special session to work out specifications for the auditorium conversion.

Trustees went ahead with the plans although the classrooms will be somewhat smaller than originally planned due to a ten foot error in measurement of the length of the present auditorium.

Trustee Bobby Pierce contended the auditorium was only 78 feet while the architect's plans showed 93, which also included several feet in the present hall recess to bring the auditorium out flush with the present first floor hall.

Pierce got out his tape measure and proved his point.

THIS WOULD reduce the length of the six classrooms from 30 to 26½ feet.

According to plans agreed upon by trustees, the auditorium would be converted into six classrooms—three on a side, each 19½ by 26½ feet with an eight-foot hall between.

The new classrooms will be the same size exactly as the classrooms in the auditorium.

Bookmobile could lead to library service

From ancient times to our own day a golden thread of respect for books and the wisdom they contain has remained unbroken. Civilizations have perished, but books have somehow been preserved and libraries have continued to exist.

This week—April 12 to 18—thousands of communities throughout the United States are celebrating the annual National Library Week. This event is sponsored by the National Book Committee in cooperation with the American Library Association. It is devoted to the importance of reading in American life and to the importance of libraries of all kinds—public, school, rural, and university libraries and the libraries maintained by individuals in their own homes.

Garza County has a better-than-ever opportunity this year to observe National Library Week, with the county on the schedule of the Texas State Library Bookmobile Demonstration. In the 36 stops the bookmobile has already made in Garza County and in Kent, Crosby, Dickens and Floyd counties the response has been excellent, showing how eager the people of the South Plains area are for as much good reading material as they can get their hands on.

For the third year, Post also has a modest City Library maintained in connection with the Post High School Library. Through an agreement between the school board and the city council, the citizens of the area are permitted to use the library facilities at Post High School, and this arrangement also has been meeting with good response.

It is believed, however, that the year's demonstration of the Texas State Library bookmobile in this and neighboring counties will lead to the establishment of a free library service separate from that now maintained by the high school library.

Incidentally, both the Post High School and junior high school libraries are efficiently staffed by Librarians Mrs. Lillie McRee and Mrs. Nola Brister and by students of the respective schools. Both these libraries are growing to keep up with increasing school enrollment and the trend of world affairs. As the high school librarian so aptly put it in a recent article appearing in The Dispatch, the school libraries are the hub of the educational program.

Post and Garza County are not the only places in the United States where complete library service is lacking. Only two-thirds of the people, it is estimated, have any access to free libraries, and only one-third of the people have good public libraries within easy reach. But the library pattern is set. Every year libraries grow and improve. The day is coming when we shall have free books for all.—CD

The tornado season is here again

The tornado season was "officially" ushered in here Tuesday of last week with our first severe weather alert. It resulted in the usual case of jitters, with many residents keeping eyes and ears glued to television and radio sets and anxiously scanning the skies.

Occasionally, there are tornadoes earlier than April, and the vicious phenomena can occur at the end of the season in the summer. The majority of the storms, however, are recorded from now until mid-summer.

Several new theories about tornadoes have been developed in the last year or two, but, say weathermen, no one probably can explain the real cause.

One of the theories is that the jet streams, which generally occur 300 to 400 miles behind fronts (such as passed through Post April 7) and paralleling the front are diverted downward and help increase the possibility of a tornado.

Other theories involve inverted air masses, the meeting of fronts, etc. The most certain thing which can be said about tornadoes is that they are small storms, usually occurring in daylight—but also in the night—which really are beyond the limits of present-day weather forecasters.

It will be interesting to see the results of the tornado warning stations set up in the middle states this year. It is true weather observers sometimes can predict conditions which are conducive to tornado formation.

On the other hand, there has been little success in predicting specific tornadoes, or in guessing their course.

The average citizen should remember that tornadoes usually occur in unstable weather conditions, usually are associated with rain, usually can be detected by the simple expedient of one's hearing.

Survivors of many a tornado have described their approach as sounding somewhat like an approaching freight train, with the volume of sound multiplied several times.

One practically always can avoid a tornado in an automobile, often can run away from them if he sees the funnel—in an open field, for example.

If running away is impossible, the best course of action is to take cover in a ditch, or depression. Windows and doors in houses should be thrown open, occupants should seek shelter in a storm cellar or basement, or in the southwest corner of the house if there is no cellar or basement.

Tornadoes usually travel across the countryside at 20 or 30 miles an hour, dipping down occasionally in their trek across the earth.

Post has tornado warning signals which will sound off in case of a real threat. We hope, of course, that it will not be necessary for these signals to sound off, but if and when they do, let's remain calm and take all possible precautions. Prior planning is, of course, the greatest safety measure of all.—CD

Bootlegger problem may grow worse

Already the Texas Liquor Control Board is looking forward with some apprehension to an invasion of "dry" West Texas from the north—by migratory ex-Oklahoma bootleggers.

The Sooner State recently voted "wet" and turned down county option as well in a sweeping referendum which changed the way of life of thousands of Oklahoma bootleggers.

It will be some weeks yet before Oklahoma becomes legally wet, but it won't be long. And when it comes, a large group of very successful—by monetary standards—Oklahoma business men will be seeking to re-locate.

A number of Sooner bootleggers are expected to select Lubbock for their operations.

All of which adds a new interest to an old problem in these parts—what to do about bootleggers?

The city council can now be asking itself this question, as with annexation most of Garza County's "regular" bootleg joints are now within the expanded city limits.

Up to now, the harassment of bootleggers has been confined to the leveling of fines on a fairly regular schedule. This gives the bootlegger a larger stake in county government than other citizens and adds to his operating costs, of course. That is—if you really want to put him out of business.—JC

The injunction method is more severe. And the jail sentence is something to consider. That is—if you really want to put him out of business.—JC

A deserved community 'thank you'

When James Minor stepped down last week as mayor after two busy terms, he had lived virtually all of Post's "chairs".

Prior to four years as the head of the municipal government, James served on the board of education, as president of the Chamber of Commerce and as commander of the American Legion post.

He has given freely of his time and his efforts in these "high paying jobs," as he calls them, for his community's growth and betterment.

Too few of us do.

He made Post a good mayor. He provided progressive leadership to the growing town when it sorely needed it.

He gave unsparingly of his talents in this community's behalf. He provided the momentum which carried many municipal improvements into being. Yet he never lost sight of the town's financial situation. He managed to keep taxes and debt low.

We have not always agreed with his policies, but this is only normal.

James has given a lot for the growth and the development of his hometown. Too often we forget to say thanks to people who have helped. But not this time.

Thanks, James Minor, for helping make Post a much better place in which to live.—JC

What our contemporaries are saying

The public is rather tolerant about entertainers fibbing to secure publicity, but it is believed that no one should go to the extreme that Ava Gardner did when she said the other day that what she really wants is the quiet life of a housewife.—The Petersburg Journal.

Right now spring is in the air, and nature, in her annual awakening, is doing her utmost to beautify this country of ours. A little help from the citizens would not be amiss. In wintertime, many things are neglected. Vacant lots, alleys and streets become unsightly in appearance and unsanitary from a health standpoint. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, in the interest of better health.—The Stanton Reporter.

So many substitutes have been discovered by scientists that it's difficult to remember what it was we needed in the first place.—Ochiltree County Herald.

If you want to see things buzz around a hospital, watch for the arrival of a new baby. Everything goes in high gear and the entire personnel takes a direct interest in the event—almost like it was their own.—The Hamilton Herald-News.

THURSDAY to Remembering yesteryears

THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

IT'S ALWAYS interesting to us to look through the exchange newspapers after a rain to see how other editors handled the story, which is always "big news" in West Texas.

We made the rain our "top story" here at The Dispatch, with an eight-column streamer, "Drought-breaking Rain Measures 1.33 Inches Here." The only other weekly or semi-weekly newspaper we've seen which played it up almost as big was Littlefield's Lamb County Leader, which carried a seven-column streamer, "General Rains Welcomed in Area."

AT THE OTHER extreme were "Banner Boy" Joiner's Ralls Banner and the Lorenzo Tribune, which "played up" the rain in two inches or so of type, with the smallest head type they use. The Banner's one-column head read, "Ralls Gets First Rain in Nearly 8 Months." In the story, Joiner wrote, "Something went wrong Tuesday and Ralls rained up a heavy, soaking rain in the amount of 2 to 2½ inches." The Lorenzo paper's headline read, "Area Gets First Rain in Six Months."

Two newspapers, the Slaton Slatonite and the Tullia Herald, headed their rain stories with one word—"Rain!" The Herald's was a two-column head, the Slatonite's a one-column head.

IN THE Four County News at Anton, our old friend Afton Richards headed his story, "The Weather Man Has a Fit," and went on to say that it rained about an inch on Tuesday, a little more on Wednesday, and tried to snow on Thursday.

At Denver City, where there was quite a tornado scare, the Press had a five-column streamer, "Violent Storm Strikes Area," over its weather story. Buried down deep under an account of the wind damage was the statement that about an inch and a half of rain fell.

WAY, WAY UP in the Panhandle, Perryton's Ochiltree County Herald used a two-column head, "Soaking Rains and Snow Hit Area; Crop Prospects Bright." James Hill's Knox County Herald also employed a two-column head, "Nearly 2-Inches Rain Falls Here."

Closer home, the Lynn County News at Tahoka used a one-line, three-column head, which would have taken first prize if there had been a headline writing contest on and we had been the judge. Editor Frank Hill's headline told the story in three words—"Rain Dents Drouth!"

THE CROSBYTON Review passed up the rain story completely in its regular news columns, but described the precipitation in its weather column with the comment, "The rains ended one of the longest dry spells in recent Crosby County history."

Doug Meador's Matador Tribune carried the rain story under a one-line, five-column head, "Soaking Rains Improve Outlook." Matador got 1.42 inches, but in Motley County the downpour ranged up to a 3-inch measurement at Flomok.

EDITOR EDDIE Irwin of the Morton Tribune had his rain story under a two-line, two-column head, "First Rainfall of Year Welcomed Tuesday," and the Andrews County News headed their story, "Andrews Gets Welcome Rain."

No doubt about it—WELCOME was the word for it, here, there and everywhere. Let's have more rain stories—soon!

Fiesta San Jacinto moves in on San Antonio Sunday

SAN ANTONIO — (Special) — More colorful, more spectacular and packed with more thrills than any previous edition, the 64th annual Fiesta San Jacinto moves in on San Antonio Sunday.

The Fiesta San Jacinto Association officials said the great Texas patriotic celebration, marking the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto, would provide more "fun, frolic and frolic" than ever before in its long history.

Beginning with a guard mount ceremony Sunday afternoon in the historic Fort Sam Houston quadrangle, the Fiesta will get under way Monday with a traditional Pilgrimage to the Alamo.

Spectacular pageantry and exciting events include the unique Fiesta River Pageant Monday night introducing King Antonio XXXVII to his "subjects," a beautiful flower show Tuesday and Wednesday, and the popular "Nights in Old San Antonio" at La Villita Tuesday through Friday.

There will be street dancing Tuesday and Friday nights, a coronation of the Queen of the Order of the Alamo Wednesday, and a lovely Children's Dance Fete and a band festival Thursday night. Friday will see the gorgeous Battle of Flowers parade and on Saturday afternoon the Alamo Frontier Gun-Slingers Club will stage its first Texas State Fast Draw Championship contest.

The Fiesta will reach its climax Saturday night with the "world's greatest illuminated night parade," the fabulous Fiesta Flambeau, featuring the lovely "Miss Fiesta," her maids of honor and many visiting festival queens.

PLAN HOMECOMING
GIRARD—Plans are being made in Girard to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the school there next August. The observance will include a homecoming event on Aug. 15.

Police force boost sought
SPUR — A committee of five downtown business men met last week with the Spur City Council to continue discussion concerning adding another member to the police force.

The council has taken the proposal under consideration and in the meantime has placed its one police force, Officer Wayne Smith, on a night schedule which will see him working all shifts on certain nights and only parts of the night on other occasions. The schedule will be flexible with no set pattern followed.

The council also has purchased a 1959 model car for a police patrol.

Record seen for Cotton Congress

Slaton organizes six-man auxiliary police force for emergency duty

SLATON — An auxiliary police force of six is being organized here, Police Chief Eugene L. Martin has announced.

W. A. Riley has been named captain and Otis Rogers, Jr., lieutenant for the six man auxiliary force when a personnel shortage occurs or in emergencies.

The six-man auxiliary force will receive regular police training but will not be authorized to carry weapons except when on assignment from the chief personally or in the company of a commissioned police officer.

With the auxiliary functioning,

Chief Martin points out he can cover a given area with six to eight men in from three to five minutes.

Chief Martin also has formed a Junior Auxiliary made up of 15 high school students which will be used as a reserve force or in emergencies. The Junior Auxiliary also will stand tornado alert when Slaton is in a tornado-alert area. The auxiliary meets each Thursday evening at the police station.

The chief commented already he has received plenty of applications both for the auxiliary force and the junior auxiliary.

Farmers discuss labor problem

TAHOKA — The critical farm labor situation was discussed Tuesday night at a mass meeting of Lynn and Garza County Farmers in the district courtroom here.

The meeting was similar to one held recently in Lamesa in which farmers already in the "price squeeze" which is becoming untenable discussed means of protesting further encroachments on their rights.

Labor department officials are seeking to bring farm workers under the age and hour law and do away with the Bracero program in favor of domestic labor.

Bible Thoughts

"GOD IS"

by RONNIE PARKER

The religion of Christ is a religion of faith. In Heb. 11:6 the writer states, "Without faith it is impossible to be well-pleasing unto him; for he that cometh to God must believe that HE IS, and that he is a rewarder of them that seek after him."

It is almost the unpopular thing to believe in God. There are a lot of fools who say "there is no God." Hundreds believe that human beings came from monkeys, sea-weeds, or tiny cells. Millions question the veracity of the scriptures and deny that Jesus arose from the dead.

The atheist can be driven to these conclusions. As to the origin of the universe, it JUST HAPPENED. As to the origin of man, animals, and all life, it is the process of evolution. He must believe that man is God. There is none greater. He must believe that the grave ends all life. There is no immortality.

Truly "a fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Let's say with the Apostle Paul, "I know him whom I have believed."

MONEY

Dollars, dimes, nickels, pennies... imagine the fine things these coins will buy. A cute new hat for that special anniversary, or curtains for the boys' room, perhaps a new tire for the car, even the down payment on that washing machine which has been sorely needed.

In another case, these same coins might be the exact amount for the fare back home to visit loved ones we have so longed to see. They might buy food for a hungry family. Start a forgotten man on the road to rehabilitation. Buy medicine... or a toy for a sick child. Or be the means to heat a cold and lonely house.

And yet, whatever their shiny value might be; whatever wonderful worldly possessions they may buy or how much temporal good they might do... these coins, as money, are absolutely worthless toward buying the one thing most important to man. Only through God can we all have the bountiful riches of eternal life... begin today, this very minute, making plans to go to His House. Be in your church tomorrow.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

3 P. M. FIRST WEDNESDAY OF MONTH

AUSTIN - Whichever way the state budget is worked out, Texans can look forward to a hefty increase in state taxes for 1960-61.

House of Representatives passed a general appropriations bill for spending of $332,000,000 from general revenue. Senators took a more economical approach, began their work with a bill calling for $30,000,000 less than the House measure.

Even so, the Senate proposal would put spending some $21,000,000 above the present level and require an estimated $117,000,000 in new tax money.

House bill includes longevity pay for long-time state employees and increases in welfare checks for the aged, blind and dependent. It also accepted committee recommendations for boosts in the appropriations for higher education, state hospitals and special schools and the prison system.

GASOLINE TAX VIEWED—Gov. Daniel says he's ready to support a 1-cent hike in the state gasoline tax if it will be used to improve public schools, raise teacher salaries.

Neither the House nor Senate appropriations bill included public school teacher raises. Lawmakers wanted to think this, if it were to be done, should be handled in a separate bill.

Texas still would have a lower gasoline tax than other states, said Daniel, even after the one-cent hike. He said he felt sure service station operators would "go along" with it if it were for the purpose of better schools.

Opponents say that, with practically everyone having to use a car these days, the gasoline levy about as "general as a sales tax can get."

HEALTH CHIEF RESIGNS—Recent target of lawmakers is the state Health Department, where Commissioner Henry A. Holle stepped out of his $16,000-a-year post under the glare of legislative disapproval.

Dr. Holle said he felt the department would be better off with another commissioner who could give more support in the way of legislative appropriations.

Meanwhile, both House and Senate launched inquiries into Health Department spending practices.

FLEXIBLE RATING OFF—State regulation of Texas auto insurance apparently will continue for at least another two years.

State Insurance Committee refused to approve a flexible rating plan, sent it to the sub-committee anyway.

Members of the bill, mostly large insurance companies, claimed it would save Texas auto owners $100 million. Careful drivers would be rewarded with lower insurance, they said.

Opponents, including most Texas companies, fought the bill, said they would "take the lid off" rates. They said a merit rating plan, being considered by the State Board of Insurance, would take care of rewarding safe drivers.

ENDING BILL Flibustered—A disagreement over how to regulate loan shark regulation kept the first filibuster of the session.

Abraham Kazen of Laredo introduced the House-passed measure which would, if approved by the people, amend the constitution. It would allow the legislature to license lenders and maximum interest rates. Presently, a 10 per cent ceiling, widely known, would be abolished.

Frank Owen III of El Paso launched a long-winded assault on the measure. He and other senators argued such regulation should be limited to loans under $500 to small businesses.

Senate gave Kazen's measure preliminary approval, despite all the opposition.

tion time is not too soon for Texas Democrats to start haggling over who'll receive their presidential nominating votes.

U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson is the focal point of controversy. Recent developments:

Young Democrats of Texas, currently controlled by leftwingers, declare the senator should pay more attention to the party platform.

form. J. Ed Connally, chairman of the state executive committee, quickly announced the Young Demos did not speak for the party. He called them "immature extremists."

Democrats of Texas, unofficial liberal organization announced it would have a convention in Austin in May. DOT, also, has "fallen out" with Sen. Johnson.

In the Legislature, the House elections committee approved a bill that would allow Senator Johnson to run for president and reelection as senator in the same general election.

A bill by Sen. Herbert Hudson of Brownsville would create a new board to handle investments of three large state trust funds. Making up the nine - member board would be the governor, attorney general, comptroller, chairmen of the two retirement systems, chairman of the State Board of Education and three bank presidents.

Investment in corporate stocks and bonds would be permitted by Hudson's measure. Altogether, the three funds total $820,000,000.

W also "lost" our intertype operator over the weekend so until we can find a replacement Editor Charlie Didway, who used to operate a machine himself some 14 years ago, volunteered to step into the breach. So this week we've taken over the editor's chair as well as our regular other duties while Charlie makes arrangements in the back shop. So if the news coverage is lousy, you know whom to blame.

Charlie, Corky Ammons, Ruby Williams, and our new office gal, Joan Stewart, have all worked mighty hard and mighty long these last two weeks to get the paper out—and into your hands. Now if we can get a good operator and get Charlie back at his editor's desk maybe things will get back to a fast normal around here one of these days. Eddie Warren pitched in with a lot of help and advice all through our emergency. We're mighty glad he wasn't off fishing when the trouble started.

District winners will go to Austin July 15 for the state tractor driving contest the day before the state FFA convention opens. The grand prize for the state winner will be a new Ford row crop tractor. Rogers' invites everyone interested in watching the contest out to his farm Saturday morning.

Along with the announcement of the loss of the elephant "find", Frank (Chief) Runkels, president of the South Plains Archaeological Society, appealed to the public to help preserve future objects of this nature.

"Nothing can restore the loss of this rare specimen," Runkels declared, "but your help in preventing another loss such as this is needed."

"No amount of reading or research can take the place of actual specimens in the study of the South Plains natural history by students of our generation as well as future generations to follow," Runkels said. "The loss or destruction of even one specimen could leave a gap that could never be spanned. This magnifies the importance of notifying responsible people of discoveries of this nature."

Kunkels explained that Post has a very active chapter of the South Plains Archaeological Society and any of the members would be happy to examine any comparable discoveries and notify responsible people. Full credit, Runkels said, would be given to the discoverer and he or she will be informed periodically of all activities relative to their discoveries.

Persons who should be notified here of any such discoveries in the future include Emmett Sheild, president of the Garza chapter, Dan E. Cockrum, phone 400, secretary-treasurer of the S. P. A. S., J. M. Baylis, phone 340, and Runkels, phone 637.

event of a fine assembly was a trip by the 3,000 family doctors at the assembly via closed-circuit color television with Captain Norman L. Barr, a navy space-medicine expert, through the Naval Air Station's aviation physiology laboratory in Alameda, Calif. The doctors heard the recorded sounds of "Old Reliable", the tiny squirrel monkey, the U. S. sent flying into space in a cushioned nose cone of a rocket. The doctors got to see a lot of other space experiments from the laboratory and heard Dr. Barr comment on the medical problems and peculiarities of man's flights into space in the hour's TV cast.

"A lot of fish!" That's what Quentin Knight and Larry Welch thought when they each caught a bass weighing 6 1/2 pounds last Sunday from a tank here in Garza County. Quentin and Larry, juniors at Post High, topped the county's record weight for bass with their catch, the old record being five pounds. Incidentally, they had a big fish fry the following night.

Answer:— It depends on the individual. Only the doctor has the proper answer for you!

There are cases where too much sun and exercise are definitely injurious. Everyone should have a family physician, who knows the individual needs and requirements, so that all such questions may be correctly answered for your greatest good.

Post best in spelling at two scholastic meets

WITH THE reduced length of the auditorium, trustees questioned the architects as to whether this wouldn't mean at least a substantial saving on the estimated $50,000 cost for the conversion.

They said it should save some but not too much, as trustees still wanted the same total construction in the reduced space.

Trustees agreed to have six indirect lighting fixtures, as in the present junior high school building, in each of the new classrooms with fiberglass sectional ceiling and floor tile over concrete for the floor.

AFTER SOME discussion, one row of double lockers down the hall to provide locker space for some 180 students, was agreed upon. Architects said there wasn't enough room to put lockers on both sides without reducing the width of the hall below 8 feet, minimum standards for school construction.

The two architects agreed to sketch these specifications into a preliminary plan for the auditorium's conversion and meet with the board this noon in the school lunchroom for final approval.

They estimated they could then prepare final specifications and get the construction contracts let in time for work to begin the day after school is out this spring. They said they believed the conversion could be done in about 90 days thus having the new classrooms open for the fall term.

THE REMAINDER of the remodeling of the present high school building probably will not be scheduled until the following summer.

The auditorium conversion would provide for a second floor assembly room above the six classrooms. This assembly room would be so constructed with concrete floor that it could be converted into six more classrooms at some future date when such classrooms might be needed.

As bids to tear down the west bleachers and clear the site at Antelope Stadium, trustees voted to advertise this during the next two weeks in The Dispatch. Bids will be received by Trustee Secretary Bobby Pierce in writing up to April 30. The work must be completed by May 30.

Contests—

Floydada, led by spectacular Patterson who won five events, barely edged the Antelopes, 21-13 points to Post's 48. The Antelopes used balanced strength in their bid for the district crown.

Interest grows in excavation of early-man site

Widespread interest in the chapter's excavation of an early-man site on the Slaughter Ranch was revealed by "Chief" Runkies at a regular business session of the Garza chapter of the South Plains Archaeological Society last Thursday night at the Camp Post Headquarters building.

The Gainsville archaeological society has written requesting permission to come to Post and enter in work on the site.

President Emmett Shedd told members that lady members or visitors are welcome at chapter meetings.

Members again were warned to take special precautions to prevent grass fires. A renewed warning was given concerning the increased rattlesnake menace. This was followed by a thorough demonstration with Shedd and Runkies showing the latest approved emergency measures to take should a snake bite occur.

It was announced that the city of Post has granted use of City Hall as a summer meeting place for the chapter. The first meeting in City Hall will be the second Thursday in May as summer activities at Camp Post will require use of all their facilities by that time.

Next meeting of the chapter will be at 7:30 p. m. April 23 at Scout Camp headquarters building and will be a roundtable discussion.

Recent visitors in the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Bratton were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sledge of Texaco, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Monroe of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kiker of Post.

Mrs. Olie Cooper of Post is staying with her daughter, Mrs. John Nelson and family, while Mrs. Nelson is recovering from a recent illness.

Little Jodean Tipton, daughter of the Marshall Tiptons, has the chicken pox. Nedra Childs also has chicken pox.
