O'Donnell Team Loses In Semi-Final Game

The local boys seem fated to always reach the semi-finals this year, but never to play in the finals. After playing outstanding baseball in two days' games at Lamesa last week in the Dawson County invitation tournament they were defeated Saturday afternoon by Lamesa in a stirring ten inning game 9 to 8 and again Sunday afternoon to be eliminated by the score of 20 to 4 by the same team.

Large Vote Cast Saturday

While the total vote was hardly as large in the run-off election Saturday as in the primary a month ago, much interest was displayed in the outcome of the various campaigns.

Lynn Goes Hunter

Lynn county voters gave Tom P. Hunter of Wichita Falls a good majority over the successful gubernatorial candidate, James V. Allred, also of Wichita Falls.

In the attorney-general's race, Lynn county also favored William McCraw of Dallas county, against his defeated opponent, Walter Wood.

McLaurin Wins Third Term

In our precinct election, Waldo McLaurin was re-elected to the third term by a wide majority, though his opponent, D. J. Bolch, polled a nice vote.

In view of the fact that bulletin boards were so placed as to be available to everyone, it seemed that publication of the results of the election would hardly be necessary. For this reason, the Index is not carrying complete returns by boxes.

Successful Term In View; Superintendent Urges Cooperation

When the public schools open here Monday morning, September 3, under the customary public program, the teachers and patrons will be planning one of the most successful terms in the history of the town.

Seniors Register Saturday

Those students who will be members of the graduating class this year are asked to meet at the high school building at nine o'clock Saturday morning, so that their schedule may be worked out. THE EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD

By B. J. Witte

When New Mexico resounded to the measured tread of General Canale's army, relentlessly combing the desert land for the loot of Cibola's seven cities, no eye keen among the invaders, caught or paid attention to those dark openings which break the surface of the Guadalupe foothills, nor did swarms of bats, surging from the earth at sundown draw more than a mutter of amazement at this manifestation of the weird mystery of the land they searched so diligently.

Cities of gold they found not, yet beneath their heavy tread, far too deep for the faintest reverberation to catch an ear, unknown to them, and to the world for centuries, to trickle and rush of water and the fingers of frost were fashioning, as they had before recorded history, fabulous cities of greater beauty, of a majesty surpassing anything the world of men had known.

In the Guadalupe foothills, twisted, convulsed, depressed and lifted, nature, as in a vast laboratory, produced the unexpected and seemingly impossible. This entire region abounds in caves formed in the process of erosion by the gradual solution of underlying beds of limestone, gypsum and rock salt.

As the Padres followed in the paths of the conquistadores and the cattlemen and shepherds traced the footsteps of the Black Robes, knowledge of the existence of many of these caverns became current, but the greatest of them, now known as the Carlsbad Cavern, because of its difficulty of entrance and the fear of the unknown remained for years an unexplored enigma. It remained for the swarm of bats, which raised in the sky at sundown like billows of wind driven smoke, indicating valuable deposits of guano, an extremely concentrated and valuable fertilizer to induce the first penetration and exploration of this. In the succeeding year over 100,000 tons of guano was removed from the vaults and galleries in which the bats had lived since prehistoric times.

Among those engaged in this early work was Jim White, to whom credit is given for discovery of the Carlsbad. While securing the guano as a base, White worked steadily deeper into the underground labyrinth, guiding himself back to his starting place by means of strings laid along the cavern floors. His spare time for years was devoted to these hazardous explorations and as few cared to share the risks, he often went alone, equipped with food and compass, a crude miner lamp, balls of twine and rope ladders.

Extending this exploration, White eventually covered miles of intricate galleries and passages, traversing vast chambers where a miners lamp was scarcely a glow in the huge void. The farther his explorations carried him, the more surely convinced he became that there was an underground world more extraordinary and undescribably beautiful than ever known before. As time passed a photographer was induced to follow him whose flashlight pictures probably did more to arouse this interest of the public than any printed matter.

In October 1923, 700 acres of semi-arid land in Eddy County, New Mexico, in which the Cavern entrance is located, was set aside by presidential proclamation as the Carlsbad Cave National Monument.

Visitors to the cave find this exploration an extremely simple matter. Easy footpaths follow the old string guides through the cavern. Flood lights and powerful lanterns have been substituted for the sputtering miners lamps. At no time during the underground trip does the visitor see a switch, a cable, or a flood light, all have been artfully concealed behind rock shields, sending their beams to the ceilings and to the formations, from where they are reflected back to the trails, a masterpiece of electrical illumination. Visitors are permitted to enter the cave only under care of National Park Service Guides. Approximately five hours are spent covering the seven mile trip, and luncheon is had underground. The temperature in the cave never varies, winter or summer, from the pleasant walking temperature of 56° Fahrenheit. On the underground trip the visitor traverses these vast chambers: The Green Room, Kings Palace, Queens Chamber and Popovers Chamber, to name a few.

the lunch room, which is unique in development. Here, over 750 feet below the surface of the ground, the Cavern Supply Co., serves lunch at a nominal cost. Leaving the lunch room the visitors enter the Big Room itself, the most impressive of the many chambers of the cavern. It is nearly 4000 feet long and 625 feet wide, and at one place the ceiling of Ages. By the latter visitors stop to hear a brief talk on the cave, followed by the singing of "Rock of Ages". The scene is one of great impressiveness. No attempt at describing the Carlsbad Cavern's beauty and wonders has ever progressed beyond the primary stage, none ever will. It is wisely said that there are rooms shaming the mightiest cathedral, that the stalactites and stalagmites belong in another world, that the colors, the beauty, the incredible glory surpass anything artists can get onto canvas or enter into music. All has been said, rest must be seen.—Copied by W. Witte.

PERSONALITY
By Irene Banks of the week's program that interested to me was a talk of the 4-H club girls one by Miss Barlow of Dallas, set of her talk was "The Personality." It was the being somebody. It is built day you are changing your never like you were you think of yourself always yourself as you would like do your best in everything she was very hard, just so I she was very smart and her grades than any of the class. On account of learn so easily she began to to hand in some very impapers. She said to herself, that I can pass this easily but very hard, just so I handed in her paper. I got it back there was a I. Across the top there was writing and this is what it best paper handed in, but of you not doing your gave you zero. I knew that I did have done better. I must always like others because will like you. You must ally with others before others friendly with you. People do not like you there is inside your soul that is handed in other you will kill the best thing in that you possess. is a thing given to you at and a thing that will go with through life. next time you get the blues down and out get a good put on your most becoming tidy up your room, put a neat face and try to be at that you can and you will that your blues will soon be wears the clothes that you think looked most becoming to people and not the ones that look locked and felt best on myself. Never explain about your ailments. anyone for it will nearly always in an argument. you have a flippant and slang speech, naturally anyone and as a very vulgar and person. It will cause you to be less friends. Always talk and cheerfully and wear a wherever you go and you will friends waiting for wherever you go. when you are grown up and marry and have boys and girls of your first thing you should teach is personality and character. Teach them the ways of and right and wrong and they never have very much trouble in pan to be crushed. Carefully crush all the berries with a potato masher or an improvised masher. Place the crushed fruit in an enamel dish pan. Heat the fruit slowly with constant stirring to 175 degrees F. using a thermometer for testing. Never let the fruit reach the boiling point because the delicate flavor will be destroyed. When the fruit has reached a temperature of 175 degrees F., remove the pan from the stove and pour the fruit into a strong bag to drain. Carefully press the fruit while hot, using a home-made press of the nutcracker type. After pressing, the fruit should stand undisturbed in a covered dish until cold. This allows all sediment to settle. After the juice is entirely cold, filter it, being careful not to disturb the sediment.

The juice is now ready to be sweetened if desired. After adding the small amount of sugar which is usually a cup to each gallon, filter it again through a flannel bag and place it in sterilized containers while cold. Place the filled corked bottles or jars in a boiler of cold water which has a wire frame in the bottom to keep the jars from coming in contact with the bottom of the boiler. Heat the water until the temperature of the grape juice reaches 180 degrees F. It will be necessary to leave one bottle unsealed in order to insert the thermometer. This bottle can be sealed after heating is completed. When the juice reaches a temperature of 180 degrees F., remove it from the fire. Dip the cork of each bottle in a mixture of paraffin and beeswax which will cover the neck of the bottle. This insures a perfect seal. Grape juice in order to avoid the cooked taste, should never reach the boiling point.

Quickly Made Grape Juice
A very delicious grape juice can be made by filling quart jars or No. 3 cans one fourth full of cleaned grapes. Add 1/2 cup sugar and fill the can with boiling water. Seal the cans and cook five minutes at boiling temperatures or seal without any further heating. More sugar may be added if a sweeter juice is preferred.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOULD BE IMMUNIZED AGAIN

Austin, August 22.—The schools throughout Texas will be opening for another term and the Texas State Department of Health urges the parents of school children to see that they are protected against disease in so far as possible. Vaccination against typhoid, diphtheria, and smallpox should be done at once. School children are exposed to much infection so that where a definite preventive is known, parents should take advantage of it. These vaccinations may save many days out of school, doctor fees, and maybe life itself. More than six hundred children die each year in Texas from diphtheria.

The child should be taken to his family physician at this time for a physical examination to determine if he has any remedial defects. A child with abnormal eyesight or hearing cannot be expected to do as well in his studies as one that has normal sight and hearing. A dentist should be consulted in regard to the teeth. Any defect found and corrected before school opens will mean much to the child and will have its effect on his school work as well as his physical well being. Some physical defects of children, such as undernourishment or malnutrition, show no appreciable present effect. If such a condition is not corrected it may result seriously in later years. No hard and fast rules as to a child's weight at a certain age are available, but parents should see whether or not the child shows some gain each month.

mess hall is one large hall with an annex on each side. The main hall has 125 tables, one annex has 45, and the other 18, each table seating 24 persons. 108 boys act as waiters. The kitchen is huge, as they do their cooking on a large scale. There are 22 pots with a capacity of from 15 to 65 gallons each. The warmers are 21 feet long, and have 14 compartments each. The 12 stoves are large gas ranges. Eight pressure cookers and eight barbecue and broil pits are also used daily. Twenty-two large refrigerators and 5 large storage ice boxes are in use daily. The storage houses are about the size of the average ice house. There are seven 10-gallon coffee urns and two 20-gallon milk urns.

All the baking for the mess hall is done in the bakery attached to the kitchen, as well as some baking for the other cafes on the campus. The tables are cleared, set, and the dishes washed by 60 Mexican boys. The dishes are rinsed in a very large vat and then run through a huge electric dish washer. The storage room in the basement is the most interesting. The food is packed in tubs for the next meal, and chickens are dressed by the hundreds. Here are some figures on the quantities of food cooked each day during the regular session of school, feeding about 2,000 boys: Sugar, 900 pounds per day; onions, 800 lbs. per meal; potatoes 1200 lbs. per meal; flour 1100 lbs. per day; eggs 300 dozen for breakfast; meat, 500 to 800 lbs. per day; coffee, 100 lbs. per meal; rice, 200 lbs. per meal; macaroni, 160 lbs. per meal; beans, 200 lbs. per meal; butter, 200 lbs. per meal; tea, 320 gallons per meal.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By Minnie Fisher Cunningham Extension Service Editor

Some watering, careful cultivation after the watering and a much of barnyard manure are factors in the success of shrubs which Mrs. H. N. Harrison of Kleberg county is enjoying in spite of the drouth. She has used many native shrubs that are drouth resistant which has helped, but responsible for her "good luck" more than any of these items she regards the fact that she started with prepared shrub beds with the soil thoroughly pulverized.

"You can tell to a row where the cotton was plowed under last summer, because the crop is larger and standing the drouth better than on other land," Boy Lyles of the McDuff neighborhood in Bastrop county told his county farm demonstration agent W. S. Millington.

In the fall of 1933 Clyde Keeney of Eldorado put up the first trench silo of feed ever to be stored in Schleicher county. "Proof of the pudding was in the eating" and the only trouble he had with his livestock in relation to this feed was keeping them off the wagon while he was scattering it. Last year he stored 2700 bundles of feed in the trench. This year's plans are to put up ten or fifteen thousand bundles if the drouth permits.

A FARM HOMEMAHER'S MARKET

By Mrs. Roy Tunnell
My recent trip to the short one at A & M College I saw and many things of great value to me but one thing which interested very much was a lecture on the "Homemakers' Market" given by Miss Maurine Henry. Miss Hearn talked a model of market and its workings was displayed on the stage. A sign which something like the one was placed prominent place: "Farm Homemakers' Market, Blank County; Open from 9:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M., in 4-H Products Sold Here." The sign was printed on a large board in green letters and decorated with the four-leaf clover emblem. The market place was equipped with convenient display counters. A sign for perishable products and a desk and cash register. Producers pay 10 per cent of what receive for their products for use of the market. Five per cent goes to the director for her services. She has charge of opening closing the market, buying all supplies, as wrapping paper, paper, cellophane, etc., and seeing that all products placed on display are quality products. The other 5 cent goes to the purchase of the market supplies. Every product that is sold in this market must be absolutely fresh and products are guaranteed. Meats and poultry must come in boxes crushed ice. Butter must be kept in ice. Eggs must be absolutely fresh and infertile. Vegetables must be fresh and attractive. All canned products must be labeled with the 4-H club label and must be guaranteed. Home baked products are fresh and attractively packaged. Each producer sells her own products and may take special orders and pay the same ten per cent commission to the market. Prices are determined largely by local market prices. Now, as to a market for Lynn county Homemakers' products. I realize that we have a drouth now and would not have many fresh vegetables and canned products to sell, but how about chickens, eggs, butter, cheese products, homemade cakes, pies, candies, cookies and the like? And I am sure there are a few who would have vegetables and canned products to sell.

Now if Lynn county Homemakers are really interested and want to establish a market where they might receive better prices for their products, I am sure that we can have a very successful one.

NEW PROCESSED CHEESE MADE BY H. D. WOMEN

Separated clabbered milk was being turned into delicious cheese by the Dawson county home demonstration women. The new cheese is unlike American cheese in that it does not require several weeks for curing. After ripening about five days the cheese is ready to serve. The flavor of the processed cheese is very much like American cheese in flavor. Pimentos and chopped pickles add a delicious flavor to the cheese.

Five quarts of separated clabber will make a pound of cheese. In this way valuable food is derived from the milk which was formerly not usable.

Every family of five should use at least a pound of cheese every week. For children who do not drink their quart of milk each day, cheese should be used to supply the necessary vitamins for growing bodies. A pound of cheese is equivalent in food value to five quarts of milk.

CHEESE DISHES

The precaution to prevent stringiness in cooked cheese dishes is to avoid too high temperatures or too long a cooking time for either case the fat in the cheese melts and drips out of the cheese leaving a tough mass of protein.

Sandwich Loaf

1 large pullman loaf of bread
1 1/2 cups cheese (American or cottage)
1 1/2 cups chicken or tuna fish
1 can pimento
3 cups mayonnaise dressing
2 cups grated parsley

Mix cheese and pimentos until creamy. Season meat with lemon, salt, etc. Add 1 cup of salad dressing to each of these mixtures. Remove crust from bread, slice lengthwise into three strips. Put the cheese mixture in one layer and the meat in another. Cut sandwiches about 1 inch thick but do not separate. Spread with mayonnaise dressing as if being a cake—slices also. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley. This makes a lovely dish which is almost a meal in itself. Serve on a platter.

Baked Tomatoes and Cheese

1 cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
1/2 butter.
6 tomatoes
1/2 cup grated cheese.

Moisten bread crumbs with a little milk, added grated cheese, butter, salt and pepper. Remove the centers from firm tomatoes. Sprinkle inside lightly with salt and pepper. Fill with stuffing and buttered pan and bake in a moderate oven until done. Serve hot.

Mexican Relish

2 cups grated American cheese.
2 T. butter
1 green pepper, chopped
1 pimento chopped
1 can kidney beans
2 T. catsup
Salt, paprika, paprika, cayenne
Hot buttered toast

Melt the cheese in the butter, stirring constantly over a low flame. Add the chopped green pepper, pimento, kidney beans and catsup mix well and season highly. Serve hot on buttered toast.

In SOCIETY

Two Brides Honored At Shower Friday

Complimenting two recent brides, Mrs. Charles Cathey and Mrs. Paul Morris, more than fifty friends were guests at an informal reception and shower Friday afternoon at the Palmer home, with Mrs. Fay Westmoreland and Miss Thelma and Irma D. Palmer as hostesses.

As guests entered they were directed into the dining room, where Miss Thelma Palmer and Mrs. A. Lopez presided at the attractive lace covered table, and served punch from the beautiful bowl which made the centerpiece. As they were served each was asked to register in the Bride's Books, which were handmaiden in the favorite colors of the brides.

In the short program which preceded the presentation of gifts, little Miss Betty Rhea Caldwell sang and tap danced, little Miss Billie Jane Johnson gave a vocal solo, "I Love You Truly"; Mrs. Ferrell Farrington sang "I'll Be Faithful", and Miss Christine Millwee gave "Constancy" as a musical reading. Miss Jim Ellen Wells and Mrs. A. W. Gibbs played the piano accompaniment for these numbers.

Gifts were presented in a most unusual way. Little Miss Wilda Gene Campbell, in bride's costume, and Miss Yvonne Westmoreland in full dress suit, entered to the strains of "Take Me Where the Daisies—", and pulling a miniature brick duplex on wheels. At the conclusion of the song, they led the honorees to each side of the house, telling them that this apartment was completely furnished. And when the brides opened the doors they found that was entirely true, for each of them was confronted with a house full of packages—silver, china, glassware, linens and novelties of all kinds.

After the gifts had all been unwrapped and admired, the honorees made their thank you speeches, and if they were teary rather than eloquent, there was no one to blame them.

Concluding this most delightful affair, punch and cookies were served.

Betty Joyce James Has Birthday Party

(Delayed from last week)

Celebrating her fourth birthday, little Miss Betty Joyce James was the happy hostess last Tuesday afternoon to a number of friends, entertaining with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed James.

After admiring the many dainty and appropriate gifts, the small guests enjoyed simple games and contests until the tea hour.

A beautiful birthday cake decorated with four lighted tapers, formed the centerpiece for the dining table, and carried out a color scheme of pink and yellow. Punch and ice cream were served with the cake.

Guests were Billie and Bobbie Spradlin, Joyce King Edwards, Edna and Julia Edwards, Joe Baker Stokes, Ewardia James, Corky Beach, Charles Cathey McLaughlin, Wyman Jones, Jeanette Fortner, Doris Shumake, and Frank Stokes.

BANKERS SUPPORT SOUND EXPANSION

By R. S. HECHT
Vice President, American Bankers Association

BANKERS universally recognize that the prime economic need of the nation is the stimulation of sound industrial and commercial activities and recent reports show that they everywhere are making all effort possible to lend constructive financial support with a view to the scope of their proper banking functions to promoting the expansion of business activity.

R. S. HECHT

Frequently in times past, the country suffered from an economic depression and consequent unemployment on a large scale, the rise of some broad new industrial development, such as that now being witnessed in the employment of large masses of people on useful lines and as a consequence a powerful factor to stimulate a return to an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the re-ignition of new wealth, the employment of large masses of people on useful lines and as a consequence a powerful factor to stimulate a return to an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the re-ignition of new wealth, the employment of large masses of people on useful lines and as a consequence a powerful factor to stimulate a return to an accelerated growth of national prosperity.

A New Force for Business Improvement
Perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home remodeling, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed air conditioned basis and other valuable developments in the construction field. The effects of such activities on employment and many lines of business would be most beneficial and I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive development.

It has been made to appear that money has not gone to work because of the timidity of bankers rather than what is a true explanation, because business men have not had the confidence in the business outlook to borrow the dollar from the banker and put it to work.

The basic requisite to the expansion of commercial bank loans is sound, normal business conditions on which to conduct sound, normal banking operations. The best business a bank can wish for is the opportunity to loan money to successful business men and manufacturers imbued with confidence to enter upon aggressive business enterprises and endowed with the ability to bring them to successful conclusions. Such loans mean business activity for the community, growing pay rolls and prosperity, and the banker wants to make them because to be identified with such activities not only means profits to him but additionally, brings him the reward of good will in his community.

There is no better proof of the great desire of banks to take care of the short term requirements of the business world than to point out the abnormally low rates at which this demand is being supplied at the present time.

BANK DEPOSITS WERE SAFEST INVESTMENTS

High Government Official Says No Investments Except U. S. Bonds Suffered as Little Loss as Deposits in Closed Banks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—No form of investments except Government bonds suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks during the years 1931-33-34, Jesse H. Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, declared in a recent address.

"A point generally overlooked in connection with bank failures in this period is that upon the whole, depositors in closed banks will get a somewhat larger percentage than has been true in bank failures over a period of say twenty years," Mr. Jones said.

"Heretofore they have gotten about 58%, but in these wholesale bank closings, my estimate is that they will, upon the average, get about 65% of their deposits."

"Another point worthy of mention is that a depositor in a closed bank loses only a part of his deposit, while the bank stockholder loses all, plus a stock assessment."

"No form of investment, except Government bonds, has suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks, and while I appreciate that there is little consolation in this fact, those who had their savings invested in stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, industrial investments, or in businesses of any kind, have had losses very much greater, and in a much larger percentage, than have depositors in closed banks."

"It is for these reasons, and others not necessary here to enumerate, that it is not possible to justify paying depositors in closed banks with the taxpayers' money."

Luey Arnold Celebrates Birthday

A delightful juvenile social function this week was the party Tuesday afternoon when Luey Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Arnold celebrated his fifth birthday.

Upon arriving, the guests presented dainty gifts to the honoree, after which they were entertained at games. The most interesting feature of the afternoon was the cutting of the birthday cake.

The children were invited into the dining room where the lovely white cake, aglow with pink candles, made the centerpiece for the table. As the candles were extinguished, the little guests gave birthday wishes to the honoree. Punch, cake, and ice cream were served. Plate favors were peanuts dressed as dolls.

Those present were Nancy Shaw, Monroe Blalock, Billie and Charlie Shaw, Mary Louise Woods, and the honoree, Mrs. Arnold was assisted in serving by Mrs. H. T. Hemmingway and Mrs. Clyde Woods.

Leona Holman Hostess At Evening Party

Cactus To Feed Cattle Relief Agents Plan

Austin, Sept. 1.—The wide cactus covered expanses known to the Southwest Texas ranchmen as pear flats may be invaded this winter by relief roll clients seeking sustenance for drought stricken livestock.

The prickly pear, rid of its small sharp stickers, is a choice bit of veggie tation upon which ranchmen have been known to fatten their herds during winter for many years.

Relief commission officials are considering a plan whereby an army of relief roll clients will go into the flats with pear burning machines, and make the pears safe for consumption by the hungry herds.

"I want it made clear," Crain said "that the relief commission will not get into competition with the ranchman in the matter of leasing land. If there is available sufficient pasturage at a price we know to be right, we will take it, but if owners begin to raise prices in anticipation of competition between the government and the private livestock owner also seeking pasturage, then we will get out of this program."

Man counties have been reluctant to enter other pasturage because they are in the emergency drought classification and fear that they will lose such designation if land is leased for grazing purposes within their borders.

345 Texans Died of Pellagra Last Year

Austin, Sept. 2.—Six hundred and forty-five Texans died last year of pellagra, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. Pellagra is a disease that is caused by the lack of proper foods. It comes on slowly and may not be recognized until the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble and reddening and scaling of the skin.

The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always include plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible.

THE SENIOR WHEEL

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Williams and children returned Friday from an extended vacation trip in Oklahoma, Kansas, and other states.

ROOM AND BOARD: For two school girls. See Mrs. Roy Miles.

HOUSEKEEPER WANTED: Make up lady, experienced cook and some manager; to have complete house including beds.

ON TEXAS FARMS By Minnie Fisher Cunningham Extension Service Editor

Texas meat canning plants, to the number of 19, are doing their level best to take care of the cattle bought as drought relief; 8,585,134 No. 2 cans of meat had been placed on the pantry shelf of the Relief Commission by the middle of August.

All these cans are filled with beef products. Next will come the program of buying sheep and goats and the meat of these animals will be conserved in the same way.

That is the New Deal in drought relief. The old way was a heap of whitening bones to the prairie and a total loss to the producer.

There is another feature to New Deal handling of drought problems—that is planning to make the facts from this one serve to help make the next one less terrible.

One such plan is the erosion survey of the whole sheep and goat industry by the Soil Erosion Service of the Department of the Interior.

Findings will supply a complete picture of the condition of agricultural lands to be used in the development of the American agricultural policy of the future.

"Let Science Have a Chance" is the title of a recent article by the Secretary of Agriculture and may become the watchword of his department.

Diseased Teeth Often Cause Other Trouble

Austin, Sept. 1.—A fact that is not generally understood, according to Dr. John W. Brown, is that diseased teeth frequently may be associated with disease manifestations in other parts of the body. The interrelation and inter-dependence of the various parts which comprise this miraculous bodily mechanism are so sensitive that in many instances when matters go amiss, not only this the location of the infection affected but other parts become involved too.

This diseased teeth or gums may directly develop an infection of the nose, eye, head sinuses, the stomach and even the intestinal tract. Again germs from a diseased mouth may be transported by the blood stream to the kidneys or heart, thus causing serious trouble frequently ending fatally.

Centennial Commission Mails Texas Brochure

Corsicana, September 1.—Within the last few days there has been mailed by the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission more than 4,000 copies of a forty-four page brochure, accurately portraying the history of the Texas Centennial movement from its inception some eleven years ago to the present date.

This brochure has been mailed to every newspaper in Texas, to the manager of every Chamber of Commerce, to the fourteen leading members of the Advisory Boards in the 254 counties, to all members of the Texas Centennial Commission, to all libraries and state schools and to all state officials.

The distribution of the brochure is necessarily limited, and being sent to the various agencies outlined above is intended to serve in every Texas community as a reference for writers, teachers, students, speakers and other public spirited citizens.

It will be available for inspection at all times at the places named above to any person desiring information from it. No additional copies however, can be made by the publicity committee because the supply is exhausted.

The book is a master creation of the printer's art, and its content has been carefully edited, with the purpose of being absolutely true to facts and history in every instance.

On the frontpiece is shown in colors the flag under which Texas as lived, underneath being a reproduction of the State capitol in Austin. The title of the brochure is "Commemorating a Hundred Years of Texas History."

The preface of the book is an eloquent explanation of the purposes of the Texas Centennial from a historical and romantic viewpoint, written by Cullen F. Thomas, president of the Texas Centennial Commission.

On this page begins a series of footnotes, one appearing on every page, where is recounted in brief the running story of the early day history of Texas, the facts for this presentation having been obtained from the State Library in Austin.

Next comes the eloquent proclamation issued by the then Governor Pat M. Neff on February 12, 1924, calling for the first Texas Centennial conference.

Then comes a page discussion of the History of the Texas Centennial movement, followed by a review of the meeting of the Tenth District Advertising Clubs in Corsicana on November 5-7, 1923, when the idea of the Centennial was first advanced.

Following this is the report made to the committee at a meeting in Austin by Lowry Martin, who had been named chairman of a Survey Committee. This showed sentiment to be practically unanimous in favor of the Centennial. Then followed a mass meeting in Austin in answer to the proclamation of Governor Neff when a Centennial Board of one hundred was created with Cato Sells of Fort Worth as chairman.

Later the governing board named Federal Reconstruction Finance Cor Jesse H. Jones, now chairman of the corporation, as director general.

The brochure then discusses how in the intervening years the Centennial movement was kept alive by the work of a few men, until the legislature submitted in 1931 a constitutional amendment authorizing a Centennial. Following a determined campaign waged by the Texas Press this amendment was adopted by an overwhelming majority.

The signing of the legislative enactment carrying out the purpose of the amendment early in 1934 then is reviewed, followed by the listing of the present Texas Centennial Commission, as provided for in the enactment.

Officers of the Advisory Board are shown, together with an outline of its duties, and also is carried a full list of Advisory Boards in all Texas counties.

The creation of a Federal Committee headed by Senator Tom Connally is review, also the organization of the Commission and the active work it has carried through to the present.

A beautiful reproduction of the Texas Centennial map is given, and text of the constitutional amendment and the legislative act following are carried in full.

The book throughout is beautifully illustrated, and it is the hope of the publicity committee that it will prove a valuable contribution to the history of the State, not only at this time, but for the perusal of future generations.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor A. Loper has held successful meetings this summer with Rev. J. B. Vinson of Three Lakes, Rev. W. K. Horn of Meadow and Rev. J. J. Gentry of Wilson. He also did the preaching for the church here which resulted in ten or more conversions. We urge all our members to be present next Sunday for it is necessary to take up the matter of electing officers and teachers for another year. We hope the adult classes will all be ready to select class officers and teachers at least by Sunday week.

The W. M. S. is starting the new years work in a good way under the leadership of the new president, Mrs. Middleton. They have divided into three circles which met Monday with Medames Hobdy, Warren and Greenwood. All were well attended. They are studying the book of Hebrews, chapters four, five and six will be the next lesson.

We invite you to come to all of our services. Prayer meeting each Wednesday evening.

Hervey von Gardenheir, operator at the Rex Theatre, made a three day business trip to Lubbock and Blanton last week, looking over the sound equipment at the New Palace theatre.
