Vandals egg vehicles

Several cases of expensive type of vandalism were reported Thursday and Friday.

Numerous vehicles, and some homes, were hit by eggs while parked on Bluejay and Manes.

Four thefts and two attempted burglaries were also reported during the week to the police, according to the blotter.

Roy Sawyer, 401 E. Clara, told police someone had taken a Honda portable electric generator. He filed the report Wednesday of last week.

A go-cart was reported by Dana McCord as having been taken Sunday from 607 E. Cash. The vehicle, according to the blotter, was later found and identified at a home north of Texoma Fertilizer on FM 368, according to the blotter.

Beth Wood told police Sunday someone had broken into a unit she had rented from Mini-Con Storage on West Highway. No list of items taken was with the report.

Gasoline was reportedly stolen from the school's bus barn over the weekend. The report was filed Monday by Robert Palmer, assistant superintendent.

Violet Brown, 811 N. Yosemite, told police Tuesday afternoon that someone had attempted to break into her home during the day.

Mike Hicks said someone had broken out a side window of his car Saturday night, while it was parked at 300 W. Washington.

Police arrested Dorana Waynette Dunn, 21, Wednesday afternoon of last week on a warrant for speeding, issued by the Department of Public Safety. She was released after paying a $32 fine, according to the blotter.

Clean-Up Week near successful ending

With three days still remaining in the annual Clean-Up Week, progress is well underway.

Residents have been taking advantage of the city's opening of the landfill for free dumping, to get rid of the brush trimmings and dispose of old furniture and other large items.

And organizations, despite some poor weather the first part of the week, have been cleaning up parks and roadsides.

Civic and service organizations of the community were asked by the Chamber of Commerce to adopt areas to be cleaned.

Without exception, it was reported Monday at the Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting, all organizations indicated they would do their part.

Trash bags the volunteer groups can use in the work are provided by Cryovac, and can be picked up at the Chamber office or the Iowa Park Leader.

Organizations who have already done their work, or promised to, include: Camp Fire - city park at City Hall; Friendly Door - around the building; Masons, around the lodge; Optimists - South side of West Highway from Fourth St. to Wall, and 23 Study Club - West Park from Yosemite to Colorado. SECRETARY CHANGE - Susan Dillard, standing, succeeds Dee Blackwell as secretary of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce. She is to complete her training this week and take full charge Monday.

Chamber has new secretary

"I have truly enjoyed working with all of you and want to work with the Chamber in the future, maybe even being a director," Dee Blackwell told the Chamber of Directors Monday at the board's monthly meeting.

Mrs. Blackwell's tenure with the organization ends this week. She has resigned to go into the real estate business. Monday was her last meeting with the board.

She is being succeeded by Susan

(Mrs. Ralph) Dillard, who is training in the office this week after being selected by committee.

In other business, Bob Hamilton reported on progress of this week's Clean-Up project. He said not one organization declined a request to adopt an area of the community to clean.

President Frank Gossett reported the Chamber had, for the second time this year, received a $100 donation from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster of Electra.

Iowa Park city aldermen turned down a request to sell water outside the city to a man who said he wanted to open an area for business.

Aldermendecided against voiding their ordinance prohibiting sale of water to new customers outside the city after Dick Harkless asked for service to a site on the southeast corner of the Peterson Road and US 287 intersection.

Harkless explained he wanted to put in a mobile home and recreational vehicle park at the location, and said Herman Rains was proposing to build a McDonalds also at the location.

Besides the council's ordinance against selling to new customers outside the city, Mayor Tim Hunter asked Harkless if the land were not in an area being served by Wichita Valley Water Supply Corp., and if he had contacted that firm's office about service.

Harkless said Valley Water had been contacted, that site had a sixinch water line crossing it, but he was told the water was not available for a commercial business.

Hunter said the city could not serve an area already being served by another water system, even if council were to void its ordinance.

During his proposal to the council, Harkless said he and Rains were willing to buy water from the city, and would pay half the cost of laying the line to the site.

Aldermen approved a request from Faith Baptist Church to abandon street right of way on Lafayette. and Ruby.

The church had asked the city to abandon 12.5 feet on the north side of the 100 block of East Lafayette, which is a 100-foot right of way, and also 7.5 feet of the 100 block of East Ruby, a 75-foot street.

Aldermen Bud Mercer pointed out the city should contact property owners in the area of that block to see if they wanted to assume title to similar areas in front of their homes.

He said abandoning right of way in one block makes an ununiform property line which has caused problems to the city in the past, and the last time this action was taken, other owners were asked if they also wanted the extra land.

Other council members agreed, and Administrator James Barrington said the same method of contacting the other owners as had been utilized would be used.

This entails mailing a cover letter to explain the proposal, and have a self-stamped card to mark with the owner's response.

A request from the Lakeview Church of God to approve replat of its property northeast of Lake Gordon received council approval.

Barrington added that he had requested the church approve a 50-footwide right of way for the sewer line which serves the property.

He explained the line's depth made such a wide area necessary. That agreement was also part of the ordinance the council approved.

In response to the city's call for bids to purchase a tractor and mower, eight bids were received. Aldermen, however, tabled action because they wanted to know more about a littleknown make of mower that was on the low bid submitted by Construction Agricultural Supply Co.

The tractor included in the bid was a 17-HP Case. With a Woods mower, the bid was $6,360. Next low bid was $6,400 from Bradford Mowing Service. Highest bid was $7.966.

Water service disruptions to be expected

Periodic disruptions of water service will be experienced in the south part of the city during the next few days.

Public works director Mike Price explained new water lines are being installed in much of the area south of the railroad tracks.

Residents may see fire hydrants opened and running, as work crews relieve the pressure to make repairs and tie-ins, Price said.

Most curtailments will be limited to one to three hours, and tie-ins will be scheduled during the part of the day which will least effect water service, Price said.

EADER Thursday, April 23, 1987 Page 2 Iowa Park, Texas Club members make baskets

Mrs. Don Decker conducted a workshop on oak basket making Friday morning for the Iowa Park Garden Club at a meeting held at TU Electric Reddy Room.

Before starting the workshop, she showed members several different types and styles of baskets that she had made. Each member was given a kit which contained the oak materials needed to contruct the five-by-fiveinch mini basket.

Mrs. Decker instructed the group using step by step construction techniques which she had learned through the years of experience in basket making. When finished, she urged each one to sign and date her work since the unique handmade basket would hold many memories in years to come.

Following the workshop, Mrs. Lavena Harlin, historian, gave a report of the District Two Spring Convention held at Pecan Plantation Country Club located on the Brazos River in Granbury. She announced the awards received by the club to include: president's book 100; president's report, second place; scrapbook, third place; and a director's citation for working with the youth of the community.

Those who attended the convention were Mmes. Harlin, W.A. George, Lib Cabe, Avis Wilson, Bernice Compton, Billy C. Gilmore, Jimmy Gilmore and Don Decker.

Mrs. David Davis, conservation chairman, announced that the conservation posters done by the Kidwell Elementary School first grade classes will be on display at the club's annual flower show to be held at Tom Burnett Memorial Library from 2 until 7 p.m. next Thursday.

In addition to the $15.00 fee, a medical release and waiver must be signed by the parent or guardian and returned to the library by May 9, 1987. Also each child will need to bring a sack lunch and a canned drink. The Summer Reading program is co-sponsored by our library and the Texas State Library. The reading club is designed for children ages six to twelve years. However, two additional programs were added last year. The new programs were: 1) The newborn Texas Reading Club which requires parents to read to their children who are between the ages of 0-3 years.

Alzheimer's Hope

A new drug has showed promise in the treatment of some of the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease, according to Dr. William Koopmans Summers of the University of California, Los Angeles.

Dr. Summers treated 17 patients with Alzheimer's with THA, a cholinsterase inhibitor that does not have FDA approval.

In 16 of the 17 patients, temporary improvement of memory was noted. Some patients also regained skills ranging from speaking to playing golf.

Dr. Summers cautioned that the drug is not a cure, but only a treatment for some symptoms, and that the beneficial results may be only short-term.

FAMILY HEALTH NOTES GOUT

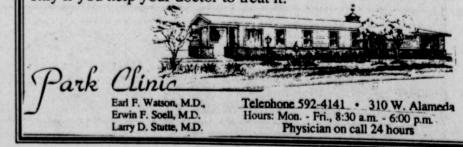

Most everyone has either had or known someone who has gout. Those who have suffered through an attack of gout or any of its complications can certainly testify to the fact that gout is no laughing matter.

For years gout was called the "rich man's disease" because many felt that our American "big city" diet caused the problem. This has been probem to be basically untrue. Gout is a metabolic disease of a hereditary nature whereby there is elevation of circulating uric acid either from over-production or under-excretion. About ninety percent of gout patients are male. A secondary form of gout can be caused by certain drugs, alcohol intake, lead poisoning, kidney disease and certain cancers. In view of this fact a thorough evaluation is in order for any newly diagnosed gout patient.

The symptom of an acute attack of gout is pain. This pain usually in a joint such as the big toe, elbow, ankle, knee, etc. and almost invariably is sudden in onset. The onset is frequently at night during sleep, awakening the patient.

Many gout patients may go for months or years between attacks of gout, even without treatment. If attacks are more frequent, several medications are available that, if taken regularly, will prevent almost all future attacks. This is important to understand, because if circulating uric acid levels remain high, kidney stones, kidney damage, and other problems can and frequently will ensue.

Should you, your family members, or any acquain-tances suffer an attack of symptoms such as described above, you should consult your family physician immediately. The doctor can make the proper diagnosis and treat the condition. If the person allows the condition to go untreated, the risk of sever disabling problems exist. Gout is a treatable disease, but only if you help your doctor to treat it.

How often have you heard someone being interviewed say, "I'm glad you asked me about that," because the interviewed wanted to go into an explanation?

We have a Letter to the Editor this week from Charles Chandler that I appreciate. He brings up some good points about my column of last week that I'm happy to go greater into depth.

In order to conserve space, and not duplicate his points here, I'd ask you to first read his letter.

Most of us who advocate making cuts in government spending in order to hold down on tax increases are from a period that had to do without when we couldn't pay for something we wanted. This goes for food, clothing, housing, activities, etc.

Many of us believe taxes are about as high as our incomes can stand. It appears we, as a nation, are at a point where we can't continue to increase salaries in order to generate more tax dollars.

The only legislation which could be enacted to insure, at least temporarily, a standard of living would be to go to a complete socialistic government. And while I admit this has been the trend over the past several years, I doubt Americans are ready for it.

That's the basis of socialism, you know. Take enough from everyone to pay for all their needs, and if they have anything left over, that's a bonus.

But forget the "American dream" of getting ahead. Be satisfied with whatever the government gives you. That's socialism.

Over the years, the world has indeed shrunk. Our workers, for the most part, are indeed in competition with workers over the world. Their products cannot be entirely consumed by Americans, and therefore must go on the world market. This does, in effect, make for lower salaries.

These same workers will walk past a product, such as a television set, made by high-cost American workers to buy a lower-cost foreign product.

The fact is that over the years, organized labor has made demands on our major industries which have been met. It was either that, or the major industries were closed by strikes.

These raises upon previous raises have taken prices to a point that American manufacturers can no longer be competitive, even with all the automation they've developed.

There may well be some "exploitation" of cheap unorganized labor in the future. Everyone tries to get the best deal he can. Hasn't labor "exploited" industry, by striking for higher wages?

As to Chandler's comment about the highway bill recently passed by the congress as a possible welfare project for the unemployed, this is an apparent reference to the government creating public works projects back in the 1930s, during the depression.

True, there are a lot of people in this area out of work right now. But I wouldn't equate our situation to that of the depression. Not by a long shot.

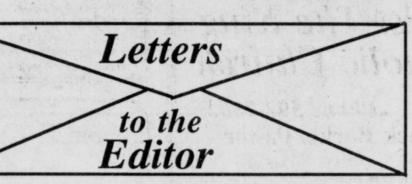

There's work to be had. Maybe not here. Maybe not producing the income needed to maintain a standard of living used to. But there's work.

That's the difference between now and during the depression.

It should also be pointed out that those public works projects in the 1930s were not permanent employment. In fact, they were very short termed.

Public works projects of the '30s were right for the time. It's not that time here, yet.

And, I'm asked what I would cut in government spending. Well, we might go back and look at what programs we had 20-30 years ago. This nation wasn't in such bad shape then. What programs have been initiated since then, and what is their cost?

More programs needed Mr. Hamilton,

Regarding the 4/16/87 publication of the Leader in which you seemingly made clear (once again) your position on two topics, - Taxes and organized labor. In reprinting the article from the Perryton Herald its fair to assume that you and Mr. Hudson are of like mind concerning the issues of raising taxes & reducing government spending. My question to you is ... where would you make the cuts? It's been my observation that most conservative Republicans (those who advocate following the ideology which supports the supposedly popular notion of free market, laissez-faire, de-regulated type of society) would begin by drastically cutting our social programs. In our economy where the trend seems to be to lower wages and reduce benefits in order to be more competitive with those countries which have been built up by American dollars in the first place shouldn't we at least insist on legislation that would insure that the standard of living of the working class in America will not decrease. How long will it be before we have to spend the same percentage of our real income to obtain what we need in cheap foreign goods as we spent to obtain what was made in America in the not to distant past. What will be the difference then. Is that when the tables will turn and big business returns to the shores of America to exploit her cheap unorganized labor.

work can pull themselves out of poverty by working on the highways. It's a thought.

Witherspoon is tops among Key associates

Iowa Parkan Cindy Witherspoon has been recognized as the outstanding associate of Key Realty for the first quarter of 1987, according to Sandra Wilkinson.

Mrs. Witherspoon, one of 40 sales associates of the firm which has offices in Wichita Falls and Iowa Park, earned the recognition by posting sales, primarily residential, of over $1-million during the quarter.

"We think this is remarkable," Mrs. Wilkinson said, "during a time when most real estate firms are complaining about a 'soft market' for home sales."

Cook of the Week

"I learned the basics of cooking from my mother-in-law," Geraldine (Mrs. Earl) Correll said in paying tribute to her husband's mother for teaching her, as a very young bride, that the dignity of fulfilling her role as a homemaker included planning and preparing nutritious meals for her family.

She cherishes beautiful memories of the times she spent with her "kitchen green thumb" mother-in-law and treasures the lessons that she learned.

The tribute is a constant reminder that in cooking, as in every other field, people have a legacy reaching back many generations even thousands of centuries back to the time cooking was discovered, and that each generation has the task of living up to the heritage of the past and of adding something to it.

Mrs. Correll, the former Geraldine Satterfield, is a native of Wichita Falls. She and her husband, who is pastor of Northside Baptist Church, moved to Iowa Park 15 years ago. She serves as church clerk. She finds ministering to residents in nursing homes very rewarding, and she has worked at Texhoma Nursing Home.

Rev. and Mrs. Correll have three sons, David, Charles and Wayne, and a daughter, Anna Erskine, all of Wichita Falls, and six grandchildren.

Track open to general public to walk, run

If you like to walk or run and want to get off the streets to do either, the track at Hawk Stadium is available to the public.

The board of trustees, during its decision making discussion to resurface the track, suggested it be made available to the public, during daylight hours.

School officials ask only that the public uses the three outside lanes of the track, in order to restrict ware of the surface.

A walk-through gate into the stadium area is located on the west end of the fence, and adequate parking is available for those wishing to use the facility.

Several area youngsters found prize eggs at the Evening Lions' Club annual Easter Egg Hunt held Saturday at Iowa Park High School.

LAURIE ESPINOZA OVERCOMES OPPONENT TO WIN

10 tracksters qualify for region meet

Scott Weaver will lead a delegation of 10 Iowa Park High School athletes to the Region One track meet May 2 at Odessa.

The 10, three males and seven females, placed either first or second in Saturday's Dist. 6-AAA meet at Bridgeport.

The Lady Hawks, bolstered by field event record holder Lori Allen and double points in two relays, placed third behind Breckenridge and Bridgeport, with 102 points.

The Hawks also placed third, with Decatur and Breckenridge in the top two respective finishes.

Of their 93 points, Weaver earned 40 with three first places, a third and a fourth.

All 10 will compete in a regional qualifiers' meet Saturday at South Lake Carroll, where the field events will get underway at 9:15 a.m., running preliminaries at 10:15 and finals at 2 p.m.

Actually, distance runner Brad Huff didn't place first or second, but will go to region in the 3200-meter run by virtue of HB 72.

The winner of that event, from Breckenridge, is ineligible to compete the final six weeks of this year because of failing grades, and Huff, who placed third in the two-mile, is the alternate.

Actually, it was already known Saturday that the Breckenridge runner was ineligible, but because of a seven-day grace period following the end of the six-week period, he was allowed to compete in the meet.

Weaver placed first in the long jump with a 22-11 1/4 leap; first in the 110-meter high hurdles, 15.2; and first in the 100-meter dash, 11.3.

Though he only placed third in the high jump, an event he advanced all the way to state last year, he tied with first and second by clearing 6-4, but had more misses than the other two. Weaver hadn't been higher than 6-2 all year.

A poor start, and possible fatigue, in the 200 meters placed him fourth with a 23.5 clocking.

Allen, who holds Lady Hawk school records in both the shot put and discus, will lead her team to the Odessa meet.

She broke her own record in winning the shot put with a 37-8 3/4 throw, and was second in the discus.

As had been expected, hurdler David Meissner was the winner in the intermediates. He was clocked in 39.8. He also placed fourth in the highs.

Huff's time in the 3200 meters was 11:03. He was also fourth in the 1600 meters.

The Lady Hawks' 400-meter and 800-meter relay teams both qualified to go to region.

The sprint relay quartet, composed of Valeria Wariner, Stacy Boren, Angie Turner and Laurie Espinoza, was first with a 50.65, which is a school record, according to Coach Lorna Klinkerman.

Wariner and Turner were joined by Shonna Weaver and Amy Payton on the 800-meter relay team which placed second. Their 1:52.61 was also a school record.

Laurie Espinoza was also a first place winner. She made it a sweep for Iowa Park varsity runners in the hurdle events Saturday by winning the girls' hurdles with a 17.30.

Saturday was only the fourth competitive race in the hurdles for the senior, who converted in mid season from the 800-meter run.

points in District were: Triple Jump - Wariner, 3rd, 31-10, and Paige Knight, 4th. Shot Put - Becky Brumbeloe, 5th. Long Jump - Wariner, 5th, and Sophia Espinoza, 6th. 800-Meter Run - Sophia Espinoza, 4th, 2:38. Hurdles - Kristi Grieder, 5th, 18.55. 400-Meter Dash - Boren, 4th, 65.98. Mile Relay - 4th (S. Espinoza, Boren, Payton, L. Espinoza), 4:28.37. 3200-Meter Run - Jody Meisel, 4th, 13.55. 200-Meter Dash - Weaver, 6th,

Other Lady Hawks earning

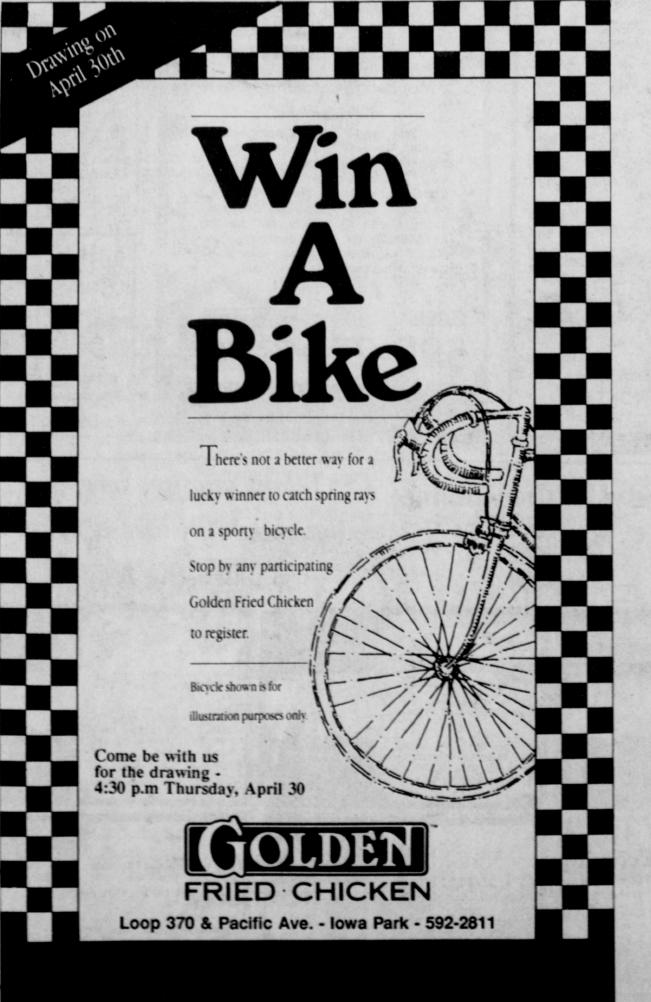

29.01.

Other points earned by Hawks were: Brett Hale - 4th in the 3200 meters and 5th in the 1600. Dennis Phillips - 4th in the discus, 131-8; 5th in the shot, 44-10. Danny Forman - 4th in the intermediate hurdles, 41.8. 400-Meter Relay - Eric Whitman, Jim Cummings, Jeff Merklin and Gary Tatum, 5th, 45.16. 1600-Meter Relay - Meissner, Michael Reasor, Merklin and Forman, 4th, 3:40.
