

Clean Up Week starts Monday

Next week is Fix Up and Clean Up Week in Iowa Park.

Individuals and organizations are being solicited to volunteer their help to the Chamber of Commerce in cleaning up public areas and roadways, and homeowners are asked to do the same around their properties.

Residents inside the city will be permitted to haul their trash, trimmings and rubbish to the landfill on West Smith, during regular hours, and dump without fee.

Organizations agreeing to work on the project are being assigned areas of responsibility by the Chamber of Commerce.

While the work will be carried out throughout the week, Saturday, April 21, is traditionally the day when most volunteers do their work.

Though it was not set for any particular reason, it should be pointed out that Sunday, April 22, has been designated world-wide as "Earth Day."

The city and Chamber have for years jointly sponsored the special week of the year to clean up litter which has been dropped, deposited or blown onto public areas such as parks, roadsides and vacant lots.

This year, GLAD bags are being provided for use by volunteers, and the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co. will have a truck at the Chamber office April 21 to pay for all aluminum products collected during the clean up effort.

Council denies request to rezone for business

City aldermen rejected an appeal to rezone a residential area for business, heard an Earth Day presentation from a group of high school students, and abruptly adjourned their meeting Monday night when the tornado-warning sirens sounded.

Judith Morgan requested a public appearance to hear her rezoning appeal after the Planning and Zoning Commission had rejected her request at an earlier meeting.

At least three residents of the area of Lafayette and Colorado were on hand to voice their opposition.

A structure at the corner of the intersection which was formerly used as a church was the primary location for the request.

At times, heated discussions broke out between the residents and those supporting the request.

Mayor pro tem Johnny Coker, after pointing out the council had rejected an appeal for commercial zoning in the same neighborhood, made a motion to reject the request. The vote was unanimous, with all council members present.

Paul Schlaud was the spokesman for a group of gifted and talented students at Iowa Park High School. He made a lengthy and impressive presentation of objectives the SPAACE class wants to accomplish during Earth Day, which will be April 22.

He spoke on the dangers of using styrofoam, because it is non-biodegradable, and will continue to grow as a problem until its use is discontinued.

Schlaud gave each council member a hand-printed pamphlet which he followed during his presentation, and asked if the council could aid in some way the distribution of the document.

Aldermen suggested copies could be made available at city hall and other areas of high traffic, and Leader publisher Bob Hamilton proposed to offer enough space in the April 19 issue of the newspaper to present the information.

SPAACE classmates propose to plant trees somewhere in the city on April 23, and the city is to suggest various locations where the trees would be utilized.

Schlaud also appealed to the city as well as any individuals, groups and individuals who were interested in making monetary contributions to purchase additional trees.

The students remained following their presentation to hear a report by Mike Price, director of public works, on a study concerning the future of the local sanitary landfill and costs related with participating in a regional landfill program.

Price admitted the city's charge for garbage service is not enough to set aside equipment replacement funds and some other related expenses. He further said government regulations concerning the operation of a landfill could increase those costs in Community Easter service, egg hunts weekend feature

A Community Easter Service, sponsored by the Iowa Park Ministerial Alliance, will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Ed Prince, pastor of the Church of God, will deliver the message.

The offering will go to the Ministerial Alliance for work with residents of the community who need assistance with utility bills.

Relating to Easter, three different egg hunts will be held for youth, one Friday and the other two Saturday.

The first will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library. It will be held on the library grounds and is sponsored by the library.

Wal-Mart will sponsor one to begin at 9:30 a.m. in the vacant block north of the business.

The third hunt is the annual event sponsored by the Iowa Park Evening Lions Club.

To begin at 1:30 p.m., it will be held in the large vacant area south of Hawk Stadium, at the high school.

Should weather force the cancellation of the Lions' hunt Saturday, it will be held at the same time Sunday.

HOLLIDAY DAIRY QUEEN DAMAGE VIEWED FROM OUTSIDE ... following Monday evening storm.

Sirens send residents scurrying for cellars

Iowa Parkans were sent scurrying for cover when the tornado-warning sirens were sounded at 8:54 Monday night.

Members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Dept. had spotted funnels suspended from a cloud southwest of the city, near the Little Wichita River, and traveling northeast.

None of the funnels reportedly touched the ground to cause any damage before returning into the cloud.

To supplement the larger city warning sirens, city police cruisers drove through residential areas with their sirens blaring.

A large number of people converged on the high school building to take advantage of security in the basement, prompting one school official to renew a request to the public in future instances.

The school has a long-standing policy of not allowing pet dogs into the building in such cases. There were five dogs allowed into the building by a faculty member unaware of the policy, the official stated.

Only soft, pea-sized hail stones were reported to have fallen in the city, along with .45 of an inch rain.

Areas to the northeast and east, however, received as much as a full inch precipitation from the storm.

Weather observers were called into action after a storm, believed by some to have been a tornado, struck Holliday. Heaviest of damage received was to the Dairy Queen, but some home roofs and one storage building north of Foodworld received some damage.

Another blustery storm moved through the area Thursday evening. No damage from the high winds was reported, but .35 of an inch rainfall was measured by Virgil Woodfin.

Davis loses by 117 votes

Despite a large turnout of voters from the western part of Wichita County in support of Electra's Bill Davis, Harold White Sr. of Wichita Falls was the winner of the Precinct 4 commissioners race in the Democratic Party primary runoff Tuesday.

And the majority of Democrats voting in the two local boxes, Precincts 32 and 33, lost their votes in support of gubernatorial candidate Jim Mattox.

Turnout at the two local Democratic boxes was considered "about as expected," but the Republican turnout was almost non-existent.

Davis fell short by 117 votes in his bid for county commissioner, 1,334 to 1,451, despite carrying the three boxes in the western part of that precinct.

He amassed a lead of 920-70 in the boxes at Chaparral Baptist Church (111-36), and Electra's two boxes (433-23 and 353-11).

One political observer said the 435 voters in Electra who had supported Mayor Gene Minderman by voting in the Republican Primary, and were therefore ineligible to vote in the Democratic runoff, cost Davis his bid on the commissioners' court.

Mattox, who was defeated by Ann Richards in the state totals, won the two Iowa Park boxes 255-207.

He edged Richards 174-162 in Precinct 32 and 81-45 in Precinct 33.

Results of the other Democratic runoffs in the two local boxes included:

State Treasurer: Nikki Van Hightower 279, Tom Bowden 168.

Justice, Supreme Court Place 2: Bob Gammage 343, Ross Sears 101.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1: Frank Maloney 240, Morris L. Overstreet 188.

Results of the two Republican Party runoffs were:

YELLOW MOUNT

World champion horse laid to rest

By MYRNA SMITH

Yellow Mount, a legend in the Paint Horse world, is now grazing in greener pastures. His illustrious life came to an end Sunday, April 1.

The 26-year-old dun and white overo stallion became the best known and most prodigious of the Paint Horse breed. He was buried beside his half-brother, Top Yellow, on the 2-J Horse Farm on FM 369, near the sale barn and lots where he roamed and courted in better days, and shared his glory with some of his offsprings. His health had been failing about two years, but had worsened the past six weeks.

Yellow Mount's survivors include a lengthy list of American Paint Horse Association Supreme Champions, Champions, National Champions, Reserve National Champions, Superior Halter and Performance horses and those who have earned numerous Registers of Merit and points in both Youth and Amateur competition.

Owned 24 years by Stanley and Jodie Williamson, Yellow Mount's versatility earned for him national acclaim and international recognition. He amassed prestigious records in Performance and Halter, was the first APHA Champion, the second Supreme Champion, and the first APHA running Supreme Champion AA on the race track.

While he was being shown in national showing competition, Yellow Mount won 65 halter points, 21 Grand Championships, seven Reserves, 14 Western Pleasure points (ROM) and Registers of Merit in barrel racing, reining and calf roping, five trail points and three western riding points while running AA on the race track. He also won the coveted National or Reserve Champion Get-of-Sire title eight times.

During these years and until two years ago, Yellow Mount standing at stud distinguished himself as champion progenitor of champions. He was the sire of more Supreme and National Champions than any other Paint Horse, authenticating his reputation as the cornerstone of the entire Paint breed by passing on to his progeny his winning attributes.

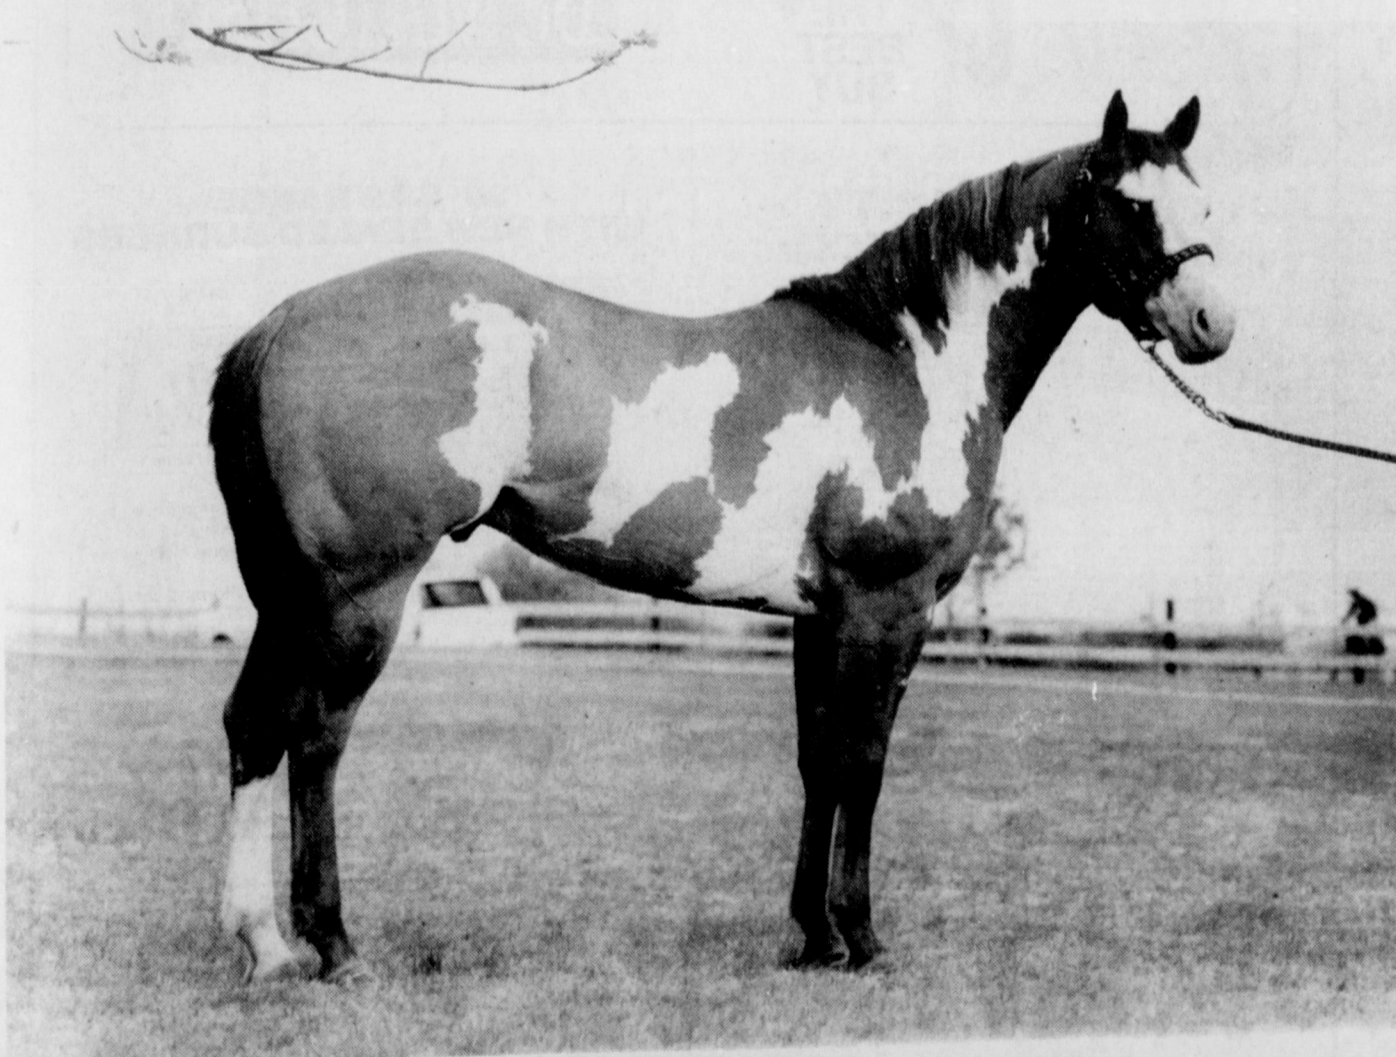

As far as the Williamsons know, the highest price paid for a weanling from Yellow Mount was $17,000.

His offspring or bloodline may be found in many of the United States and in Germany, France, England, Canada, Mexico, South America and possibly other countries.

When the Australia Paint Horse Association was organized, the Williamsons gave permission for them to use Yellow Mount's likeness on their banners. He also was honored by being asked to carry the flag at the National Rodeo Finals.

Breyer Animal Creations, makers of collector series of handpainted horses, asked permission in 1974 to use Yellow Mount as a model, which the Williamsons granted. Many times when they have been on trips they have seen these in shops. The last time they saw one was last summer in Flagstaff, Az. The models are 11 1/4 by nine inches high and have a blue and gold sticker "Champion Paint Horse."

Daughterity, Johnston nuptials exchanged Saturday evening

As the organist swelled the strains of Wagner's wedding procession, Miss Dayna Denean Daughterity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Daughterity of Iowa Park, entered Chapel 3 at Sheppard Air Force Base Saturday evening and walked the bridal path on the arm of her father between pews decorated with pearlescent bows and streamers to exchange wedding vows and rings with John Mark Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston of Wichita Falls. Chaplain Mark S. Hobbs was the officiant for the ceremony.

The decorative setting for the wedding featured a heart-shaped brass archway flanked by double heart-shaped candelabra holding white tapered candles burning to illuminate the setting. Magnificent bouquets of white and pink gladioli in fan-shaped arrangements were placed on brass stands beneath the archway and on either side of the candelabra to complete the graceful ornamentation.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Donna Brenling, pianist, and Robin Walker, soloist. For prelude selections, the pianist played "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Only God Could Love You More," "Greatest Love of All," and accompanied the soloist for her renditions of "Evergreen" and "Wedding Song." Miss Brenling played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" for the bridal attendants to take their places at the altar and the traditional march for the bride and her father, who presented her in marriage for her parents, to fill their places. Before the recitation of vows, the vocalist sang "Theme From Ice Castles." Following the exchange of rings, the pianist played "A Time for Us," then concluded her offerings with Mendelssohn's recessional after a taped recording of "Longer," and the chaplain had introduced the bridal couple as Mr. and Mrs. John Mark Johnston.

Entering the chapel, Miss Daughterity paused by the pew where her mother was seated and presented her with a red rose of love. Leaving the chapel as Mrs. Johnston, she presented her mother-in-law with another rose.

The bride was an enchanting picture in a Victorian style gown of white satin enhanced with a wedding ring neckline of Chantilly lace and seed pearls high above a sheer illusion yoke accented with a striking design of iridescent pearls and sequins and bordered with a wide sheer lace ruffle. The lovely spring gown was fashioned with full elbow length sleeves ruffled with lace, tapered waistline, full skirt strewn with iridescents and bordered with a wide ruffle that swept into a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip illusion veil was attached to a double-layered headpiece of white tulle, stephanotis and seed pearls. Her delicately beautiful bouquet was a cascade creation of white silk roses sprinkled generously with seed pearls and sequins and added a distinction to her wedding gown.

She carried the bouquet on top of a Bible that had belonged to her late maternal great-grandmother and carried an ivory linen embroidered handkerchief that had been used by her late paternal grandmother for the "something old" bridal tradition. She chose her wedding gown for "something new," and wore her mother's diamond pendant necklace for "something borrowed." She completed the rhyme with the traditional garter for "something blue," and for extra good luck, she wore four pennies in her shoe, two of them marked with the years the bride and groom were born, one with the date of her parents' wedding, and a 1990 penny the year of the Daughterity-Johnston wedding.

The quintet of bridal attendants wore identically styled tea length taffeta dresses in rainbow colors designed with short puffed sleeves, dropped waistlines and flat bows at the back. They wore white pearlized flower side combs in their hair, and carried colonial nosegays fashioned of white lace, silk roses in pastel colors and baby's breath.

Mrs. Robert Bradberry served as matron of honor for her sister, and Irene Wright was the maid of honor. They wore blue and lavender dresses, respectively. The bridesmaids dressed in yellow, lavender and green were Mrs. Ricky Duran, Miss Lori Willman and Mrs. Lynn Fulfer.

Miss Melanie Bradberry, niece of the bride, was the train bearer, and Miss Katy Fields, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. They wore pink taffeta dresses patterned like the ones worn by the bridal attendants. They wore floral circlets in their hair. The train bearer wore a wrist corsage and the flower girl carried a pink basket filled with silk roses in the bride's chosen colors.

Derek Wright carried the simulated rings on a pillow that was made by Mrs. Roman Bartosh, the bride's grandmother, and was used for the same purpose in the bride's mother's wedding. He was attired in a white tuxedo with pink tie and cummerbund.

The groom wore an all-white Pierre Cardin tailed tuxedo and a pearlescent white rose combined with baby's breath for his boutonniere.

The father of the bride wore a pearl grey tuxedo with silver tie and cummerbund. The groom's attendants wore pearl grey tuxedos with cummerbunds and ties to match the bridal attendants' gowns. The ushers and candlelighters wore lavender ties and cummerbunds with their tuxedos.

Harold Johnston, father of the groom, served as best man. The groomsmen were Wayne Johnston, brother of the groom, Terry Burnett, Craig Coheley and Mike Parker. Guests were ushered and seated by Robert Bradberry and Randy Griest, brother-in-law and cousin, respectively, of the bride. The candlelighters were Chad Fields, cousin of the bride, and Aaron Duran.

For the wedding, Mrs. Daughterity chose a pale green linen street length dress styled with pleated skirt, three quarter length sleeves and wide belt. Mrs. Johnston wore a street length chiffon dress in pastel colors with a pleated skirt. Both wore corsages of white silk roses sparkling with pearls.

The wedding reception was held at the NCO Club and hosted by parents of the bride and groom. They were assisted by Miss Shari Evans, who directed signatures of the guests, Mrs. Conya Griest, Miss Karen Fields, cousins of the bride, who served at the bride's cake table, Miss Kathy Boyd and Miss Kristi Brown, who served at the groom's table. During the reception, pastel-colored net bags filled with bird seed were passed out by Casey Fields, cousin of the bride, Stephanie Kelson, Leeanna Duran and Jamie Morgan.

Exquisite grace was accomplished in the designing of the bride's cake table covered with a floor length white silk cloth and draped with swags of white lace caught up with miniature nosegays. Its special beauty was caught in the three-tiered white cake with two sets of Grecian columns effecting its towering height. The tiers were encircled with valances at the tops from which confection roses in colors of the bridal attendants' gowns cascaded from each drape.

The top ornament added a bit of romance to the cake with a bride and groom happy together as they were kissing inside a white gazebo. The cake was flanked by two hurricane lamps encircled with white iridescent flowers.

The groom's table was covered with white silk headed with pearled white satin roping. It held a chocolate sheet cake decorated with a miniature bride making sure that the groom did not get too far away from her by pulling on his coat tail. The sides of the cake marked with hearts and lettered with "Dayna and John."

The hors d'oeuvres and punch table was covered with white silk and accented with a center of pink linen. Crystal punch and serving dishes, rainbow colored napkins marked with "Dayna and John April 7, 1990" were part of the table decor.

The registry table at the chapel was draped with white lace and set apart with two flop-eared "just married" bunnies, one wearing a white satin wedding dress and the other a white tuxedo. It also held the bride's book, pen, and hand blown iridescent vase filled with silk flowers. At the reception, the table was covered with pink silk encircled with beaded ribbon and held framed pictures of the bride and groom when they were toddlers, and the nosegays carried by the bride's attendants at the wedding.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening at Luby's Cafeteria.

Special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roman Bartosh and George Daughterity, grandparents of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio and Padre Island, the couple will live in Wichita Falls. The bride chose a going away street length dress of white embossed taffeta designed with long sleeves and shirred skirt and wore a silk corsage of peach daisies. She was graduated from Iowa Park High School and attended Midwestern State Univ. The groom was graduated from Hirschi High School, attended Vernon Regional Junior College and is employed by Biggs and Mathews Engineers.

Top designer speaks to Philia Study Club

Judy Rusk Haggart, former Iowa Parkan and one of Texas' top fashion designers, gave a special program Monday for members of the Philia Study Club at the home of Mrs. David Springer.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Linda Springer and Raydean Mattis.

When she began her apparel line, Victorian Collectables, Judy designed and constructed her fashions from her home in Graham. Soon, though, she moved to office space in that town. Although she still does all of the design work, she now contracts the construction.

Mrs. Haggart was recently chosen as one of the top six Texas Fashion Designers, and at the press conference honoring the top designers, was interviewed by "Women's Wear Daily" and "Cosmopolitan."

Her apparel line is designed for women and misses sizes, preteens and a mother/daughter line. Her garments are now marketed all over the United States.

Antique buttons have been used on many of her designs, and she also utilizes bead-work, antique crocheted and lace pieces, appliqued work, tapestry, ribbons and beaded fringe. Judy's designs are constructed of cotton and most have earrings that match the buttons.

During the business, Linda Springer, federation counselor, announced that Philia had won second place awards for their yearbook, International Relations program and lap quilting program at the recent Santa Rosa District meeting.

Nikki Phillips and Linda Springer announced that chances are being sold for a quilt made by club members, with the drawing to be held in July.

Special guests at the meeting were Charlene Rusk, DeeDee Chandler, Gala Mikkleson, Susan Biddy, Terry Hansen and April Springer.

The May meeting will be an installation of officers at the home of Dee Decker.

As I See It...

By BOB HAMILTON

I've got two topics I'd like to discuss in this space this week. One concerns what to do in case a tornado alarm sounds, and the other has to do with our state commissioner of education.

I don't want to start a big thing with our television people over in Wichita Falls, but dang it, they are the ones who keep telling viewers to watch their station when threatening weather is in the area.

Some folks did Monday night, and they got nothing until well after all the potential danger in our part of the county was over. Absolutely nothing!

In case you were in your cellar, or some other wise place of cover, when the sirens sounded the threat of a possible approaching tornado, you might not know that the first station to put a warning on its screen was Channel 7, from Lawton, Okla.!

You could see stars directly overhead in southwestern Wichita Falls when the two stations of that city finally put something on the screen that a severe thunderstorm was in the area.

At least 30 minutes before then, our firemen were watching funnels trying to touch the ground a couple or so miles southwest of our city, and headed this way.

And I'm told you wouldn't have gotten much more from the weather bureau's broadcast.

Folks, if you really want to know what's going on during times when threatening clouds are approaching our community, get yourself a scanning radio and listen to the observations of the volunteer firemen.

They don't have anything to sell in commercials. All they want to do is help protect you.

THANKS, GUYS!

For the second time in three months, I had the opportunity Saturday in Granbury to hear a talk by W.N. Kirby, Texas commissioner of education.

His topic both times, obviously, was about the legislature's mandate by the courts to reform financing of public education in the state.

I've always held Kirby in high regard...until now. He's ripped his britches, as far as I'm concerned. In his January talk, I could pass over one of his suggested options to raise funds for education by inacting an income tax. I don't support it, but accepted it as one of several options.

Before an audience of more than 100 newspaper publishers, I asked him if he had any cost projections should the legislature support a proposal for year-round use of public education facilities in the state.

His response was that he did not have a figure, but estimated it would not be much greater than the current 175-day classes now observed, except there would be some "slightly higher costs for utilities."

He completely ignored going into detail about who was going to teach while educators took their regular vacations, how teachers would meet the mandates of continuing their own educations, increased costs for auxiliary personnel who would be working more days than they now work, etc.

He did say, however, that the cost for each day to extend a school year is $60-million. But, the way he talked, no one would be working any more than they now do, to operate schools year-round.

You believe that?

I've always considered a half truth as a whole lie. I either got that, or an admittance that our commissioner doesn't know his job.

The problem the city has, Price explained, is, "We just don't have enough trash for a Type 1 landfill." He explained workers use more dirt in their daily coverage of trash in the landfill than there is trash, thus filling the expensive pit long before its time.

A regional landfill is being considered in Archer County by Nortex Regional Planning Commission, but during the development time, Iowa Park's landfill could be used for that purpose, and be used more efficiently with other communities contributing to its expenses, Price stated.

The council approved the lowest of two bids for a "crusher run" material for surfacing the road to the west side of Lake Buffalo from Burnett Road. The bid was $20,286.

No action was taken on the only bid submitted for a floating dock to be installed in that area, until a study is made to see if bid specifications are met.

The bid was $7,417.50.

Costs of the two projects will be shared by the state, 75 percent, while the other 25 percent will be provided by the city with personnel and equipment, it was explained.

Also approved was a $13,327.44 bid for materials to lay a larger water line along Cash Street from Bond to Bell. The city had budgeted $16,000 for the project.

In other business, the council approved providing two police officers for duty at the all-night Project Graduation, a program graduation night for seniors and guests and held at the high school.

Mayor Tim Hunter read two proclamations, on designating April 16-21 as "Iowa Park Fix up and Clean up Week," and the other April 23-28 as "Library Week" in Iowa Park.

Council members rejected a request from alderman candidate Ira Hambright for permission to place campaign signs and posters on public property.

Sue Goodknight was recognized as the city's Outstanding Employee of the Month.

After calling for an executive meeting at 8:36 p.m., to consider applications for police chief, council members returned to the room at 8:54, as the tornado-warning sirens sounded, and adjourned without any action.

Worth Quoting

A couple of weeks ago, the UIL announced changes in the lineups of sports districts across the state.

Do you know the school in Texas that was responsible for bringing about the need for eligibility and transfer rules among high schools in Texas?

You might guess Breckenridge? The Amarillo Sandies? Perhaps the Temple Tigers? Or the Odessa Broncos?

Nope! According to Gene Dow, Seminole publisher, and veteran West Texas newsman, it was the Wink Wildcats.

According to Gene, it was the Wink team that brought about UIL rules and changed the economic fortunes of at least three West Texas towns over a 1939 football game that was never played.

Wink is the former hometown of Dow and he oughta know his history. He reported that there was an intense football rivalry between Wink and Pecos and the scheduled 1939 game would again determine the district championship.

"However, prior to the game, the Pecos coach came across information that five Wink players were being roomed in the back of the band hall, when they elected to remain in Wink and play football, rather than joining their parents who had been transferred elsewhere by oil companies.

"Wink had already been suspected of having a better football player recruitment program than most colleges today. The incident was reported to the UIL and Wink was forced to forfeit the game, giving Pecos the championship by default.

"Folks in Pecos were ecstatic about their championship and the coach was a hero. But folks in Wink took their football seriously. The Saturday after the game that wasn't played, the fans of Wink decided to fight Pecos in a new way.

They formed a caravan of trucks and cars over a mile long and drove to Pecos with economic mayhem in mind. Pecos was rapidly developing as a regional shopping center in those days. The mad Winkites lined up at the Pecos banks and withdrew all their boom-town monies, then went from store to store and closed their accounts and cancelled their orders.

"The action placed a severe hardship on the city of Pecos, and within a short time, the Pecos football coach lost his job. Wink citizens bought three-day-old bread out of Abilene and did without milk to keep from buying in Pecos.

"A cantankerous bunch of sore losers, the people of Wink didn't like Kermit either, suspecting a rich rancher had pulled strings in Austin to get the county seat for Kermit. That's why they shopped and banked in the more-distant Pecos to start with.

"But this was football -- this was serious. Pecos had cost them the district championship, a far more important issue than the theft of a courthouse. So until Wink could get its own bank, the citizens banked in Kermit and shopped in Odessa.

"Kermit became the dominant community in Winkler county and the rich oilfield dollars of Wink helped promote Odessa to become a regional shopping center in the forties. Pecos, on the other hand, lost its edge as a major shopping center of its time.

"And Wink has dwindled to a mere wide spot in the road. All over the game that was never played!"

Retired Baptist minister Bro. J.I. Clinton says there'll be no women in heaven, and that proof of this is in the Bible.

"Just read Chapter 8, Verse 1 of Revelation, if you don't believe me," he says.

The verse says, "And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour."

"Everybody knows if there had been women there, there couldn't have been silence for half an hour," says Bro. Clinton.

LEADER CO-PUBLISHER DOLORES HAMILTON ... with coveted award.

Co-publisher recognized

The co-publisher of the Iowa Park Leader and staff members were recognized with awards during the annual convention of the North and East Texas Press Association, held last weekend in Granbury.

The Sam Holloway Award, highest recognition of the organization, was presented to Mrs. Bob Hamilton in recognition for her "...outstanding contribution to her chosen profession and to the welfare..." of the NETPA.

Four certificates were presented to the paper, earned in the association's annual contest.

The Leader, competing against other newspapers of similar circulation, placed third in advertising, column writing and general excellence, and fourth in feature writing, an article prepared by Kari Collins.

In presenting the Holloway Award, last year's recipient, Jerry Tidwell of the Hood County News, recognized Mrs. Hamilton for her thirty-year career in newspapering.

Tidwell also noted this was only the second time in the 32-year history of the award a wife and husband had both been named recipients. Bob Hamilton received the award in 1985. R.N. and Zaner Robinson, former publishers of the Roysse City newspaper, were named recipients the same year, 1963.

Besides her work as co-publisher of the Leader, Mrs. Hamilton has served as secretary of the 125-member NETPA the past six years.

Mrs. Reusch gives program on Irises

Annetta Reusch presented a program on irises for members of Amity Study Club, who met Monday night in the home of Cheryl York.

Mrs. Reusch, who is president of the Benson Iris Society, told the group that irises have been around for a long time and are mentioned in the Bible.

She explained the difference between flags, which are normally seen in the yards, and hybrids. Flags are one of three colors, purple, white or yellow. There are 580 different colors of hybrids, and they are available in almost all colors except true red. In 1913, there were 128 recognized species of hybrid irises, and in 1970 the number had grown to 907.

The stems of flags are narrow in comparison with the thick stem of a hybrid. Flags have a smaller bloom count than the hybrid iris, which can have a bloom count as high as 40. The blooms of hybrids are much thicker than flags, some feeling almost like leather, and can have smooth or ruffled edges.

Mrs. Reusch demonstrated the method used to create new forms by hybridizing.

She had brought a large selection of hybrid irises from her home garden to use for illustration, and at the close of the program, let each member choose one to take home.

In the business meeting, conducted by vice president, Rita Worthy, members answered roll call by naming the flower of the month in which they were born. She thanked the members for items they brought to the meeting to be donated to Maternity Cottage.

A meditation, "I Know Something Good About You," was given by Dolores Hamilton, and Mrs. Worthy led the group in reciting the Pledge to the Flag.

Shierry completes CPA certification

Lori (Merrill) Shierry has received notice she will receive her certificate of completion as a Certified Public Accountant during an event in Austin in May.

Following her graduation from Iowa Park High School in 1979, she earned her Bachelor's in Accounting at Midwestern State Univ. and is now employed by Moore, Camp and Co. in Wichita Falls.

The Federation Counselor's report was given by Marilyn Hale, who reported on the GFWC spring convention in Quanaah.

In other business, members were reminded of the City-Wide Clean-Up Week, and were given a work schedule for the event. They also selected five books to donate to the library in honor of three guest speakers and two past presidents.

The newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Reusch, who compared each officer and her office to parts of an iris. They were:

Dorothy Palmer, president; Laura Thames, vice president; Cheryl York, secretary; Margaret Denton, treasurer; Judy Schenk, historian, and Dawn Coffman, critic-parliamentarian.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. York and her co-hostess Judy Schenk.

June wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Kennie L. Jones of Iowa Park are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lisa Ann, to George "Shotgun" Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart of Olney.

The couple will marry June 16 at First United Methodist Church.

Miss Jones is a graduate of Iowa Park High School, and Stewart was graduated from Olney High School.

Circles meet

The Jessie Mae Owens Fellowship and the Bertha McDonald Circle of First United Methodist Church met in separate meetings Tuesday.

The Owens Fellowship met in the church library with Evelyn Thompson serving as hostess.

Linda Bowden presented the program entitled, "Expect The Best and Get It," a story of a teacher and her faith to change the attitude of children and parents in a troubled school.

Seven members attended the meeting.

The McDonald Circle met at the home of Bernice Compton.

The program, "Who Will Roll the Stone Away," was led by Julia Berry.

Eight members were in attendance.

...All information prepared by Iowa Park School Counselors

The decision to reinstate Detention Hall at the Junior High School was made in an attempt to lessen the number of student failures. The number of students receiving progress reports for unsatisfactory work had shown a steady increase throughout the current school year, and other approaches to the problem had not been effective.

"D" Hall is now in its fourth week of operation and an impressive overall improvement is being seen. During the fourth six weeks grading period, thirty-three percent of the junior high students received reports of unsatisfactory work in one of more subjects. Last week, at the three week point for the current six weeks, only nineteen percent of students were failing.

These results are very encouraging. While often inconvenienced, most of the parents have been supportive and eager to cooperate in this effort to instill better study habits and a greater sense of responsibility in their children. As students begin to experience small successes, self-confidence and pride will grow. The goal of the program is to have an ever-decreasing number of failures and an ever-increasing number of self-motivated, confident students.

The Iowa Park gifted and talented program, S.P.A.A.C.E. (Students Provided Advanced Academic and Classical Education) is now accepting nominations for students grades K-12 for the 1990-91 school year.

Applications may be picked up in the office at all campuses beginning Tuesday, and must be completed and returned no later than 4 p.m. Friday, April 27. For further information, contact counselors at each campus.

THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS: FACT OR FICTION?

All must deal with the resurrection of Jesus. If He is truly risen, He is the Son of God! If the resurrection is a hoax, Christianity has no reason for existence.

Examine the character and testimony of those who were there. Were these men and women of honesty and integrity? Were they the kind of people whose character would lead them only to testify the truth? Were they mature and people of experience? Could they have been deceived or mistaken? Was there an advantage to be gained by testifying in one way or another? Upon close examination we find that the witnesses were people of unquestionable character who were mature, competent to observe, and gave every evidence of solidly believing their testimony. By testifying that Christ was raised from the dead they gave up their homes, possessions, families, and even their lives. The testimony caused them to be considered enemies by the rulers of the Jews and made them laughing stocks among the Romans. They had everything to lose by their testimony, yet they gave the testimony just the same.

Clear evidences of the resurrection are the facts it was totally unexpected by the disciples and that their astonishment was great, constantly certified by the disciples who saw and accompanied the Lord after His resurrection, and the evidence of His power over death during His earthly life. Clearly the evidence is on the side of faith in the resurrection of Jesus!

Every person must make a decision concerning Christ. If one believes in Christ, he must do something about it. There is no defense for one's believing in the divinity of the Lord and not responding to His call. We urge all who believe Jesus rose from the dead to accept the invitation of Christ to come to salvation. Believe on the Lord with all your heart, repent of your sins, confess the name of Jesus before men, and be buried with your Lord in baptism. Then, live and work to help others find the way toward eternal life through faith in Christ.

Cook of the Week

Tammie Lalk

Although she's only been a resident here two years, this week's featured cook, Tammie Lalk, has gotten acquainted with Iowa Parkans through her job as clerk with the City of Iowa Park.

Tammie moved here from Electra, where she had lived several years. She is a graduate of Electra High School.

She began working part-time at city hall about 10 months ago, and shortly thereafter moved to a full-time position.

She said she enjoys bike riding with her eight-year-old daughter, Adrien, ceramics and cooking

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

- 1 pkg. long spaghetti
- 3 lb. hen, stewed and boned
- 1 cup celery
- 1 large onion, diced
- 1 med. can pimentos
- 1 lb. Velveeta
- 2 cans cream of chicken soup
- 1 can mushroom (optional)

Cook spaghetti in chicken broth, until almost done. Add celery, onions and peppers. Cook until spaghetti is done. Drain. Add remaining ingredients and one soup can of milk. Stir until cheese melts. Bake in greased pan about 20 minutes at 400°.

SALAD OF GOLD

- Put in blender:
 - 3 oz. pkg. lemon gelatin
 - 2/3 cup very hot pineapple juice
 - Add:
 - 2/3 cup evaporated milk
 - 8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, cut into 1-inch pieces
 - 1 cup carrot pieces
 - 2/3 cup crushed pineapple, drained
- Blend together. Pour into dish and set overnight in the refrigerator.

MOIST AND CREAMY COCONUT CAKE

- 1 pkg. yellow cake mix (2 layer size)
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 2 cups Angel flake coconut
 - 3 1/2 cups or 8 oz. container Cool Whip
- Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Bake in 13X9-inch pan. Cool 15 minutes. Poke holes in the top of the cake with a utility fork. Meanwhile, combine milk, sugar and 1/2 cup coconut in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer one minute. Carefully spoon over warm cake allowing the liquid to soak down through the holes. Cool completely. Fold one cup coconut into whipped topping and spread over cake. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Chill overnight. Store left-over cake in the refrigerator.

PUMPKIN CAKE

- 4 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup salad oil
- 2 cups flour
- 2 tsp. soda
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 can pumpkin

Mix eggs, sugar and oil in large bowl. Sift flour, soda, cinnamon and salt and add to egg mixture. Mix well and add pumpkin. Pour into a prepared bundt pan and bake at 350° about one hour or until well done. Cool.

ICING

- Cream together:
 - 1-8 oz. pkg. cream cheese
 - 1/2 stick margarine
 - 1 box confectioners sugar
 - 1 cup chopped pecans
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
- Spread on cooled cake.

SHRIMP JAMBALAYA

- Saute' in 3 Tbsp. oil 10 to 15 minutes in heavy pot:
 - 1 chopped medium onion
 - 3 cloves garlic, minced
 - 1 celery salt, chopped
 - Add:
 - 1 lg. can tomato sauce
 - 3 Tbsp. Roux (dark-browned grease and flour)
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 1/2 lb. shrimp
- Cover and simmer one hour. Add
- 1/4 cup minced bell pepper
 - 1 Tbsp. minced parsley
 - 1 Tbsp. hot pepper relish
 - 1/4 cup chopped onion tops
- Serve over cooked rice.

Club creates Easter bunnies

Twenty-five members of the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Assoc. were present Tuesday night for the organization's monthly meeting at TU Electric Reddy Room.

Gail McLroy was in charge of the program in which she gave instruction on making Easter bunnies from "LEggs eggs." The process involved using the plastic holders for LEggs hoisery, instant paper mache', fabric for the bunny's ears, and painting it to resemble a rabbit eating a carrot.

During the business session, President Tommie Smith, welcomed the new members. Mrs. McLroy reminded the group of the Spring Arts and Crafts Show on April 28 at Wal-Mart. She said that items for the show should be turned in by April 25 or 26. A schedule was passed around for members to choose a time to work.

The next meeting will be May 8, with Phletious Williams in charge of the program.

MAGICIAN ROD DIAMOND
... uses magic to encourage reading.

Magic program promotes reading

About 500 Iowa Park youngsters were treated to a very important magic show Tuesday at Kidwell Elementary School, complete with lights, special effects, lasers, music - and a message on literacy.

An odd way to place an emphasis on reading books? You bet. But a very effective one according to Jo Lynn Cockrum, coordinator of the event, and program coordinator at Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Magician Ron Diamond of Reading Magic Inc. demonstrated illusions using live animals, ropes, balls, coins, flowers, newspapers and other tricks of the trade, all in the name of promoting literacy.

In each of his two 45 minute shows at the school, with audiences composed of Kidwell students, members of the library's storytime groups and students at Judy Brown's preschool, the former writer for Walt Disney gave the kids lessons in creativity, math, science and reading.

Diamond challenged the children to take some of their television time each week to read books of their choosing, and told the groups that magic is not taught in school, but can be learned only by reading books. He ended the program with an act, "The Real Magic is the Ability to Read."

In several of the acts, children and teachers were able to participate in the program.

Mrs. Cockrum said she and Sue Maness, librarian, were able to secure the act through the North Texas Library System. But, she said, when they saw the information on the program, they decided it was too good to limit to just the library. She then worked with Ron Wood, Kidwell principal, and Judy Brown to secure a wider audience.

Raving about the performance and hoping to get the act back next year, Mrs. Cockrum said, "He did an excellent job of tying the reading in with the magic."

Aggie Muster set

The 1990 Aggie Muster for this area will be held Saturday, April 21, at the Wichita Falls Hilton.

Former congressman Graham Purcell will be the guest speaker.

Reservations are required by April 16, by contacting Mike Bradshaw, 7866-5901.

Holliday Chamber sets Clean Up Day

Holliday Chamber of Commerce has set Saturday, April 28, as its annual city-wide "Clean Up Day."

Clay Lindley, this year's chairman, said volunteers will assist city employees in collecting items too large for routine garbage disposal, from residences within the city.

Residents should call 586-0001 or 586-1291 to have large items removed from their property.

Four donors reach plateaus

Twenty units of blood were collected by the Red Cross Bloodmobile when it stopped Monday at the Faith Baptist Church.

Four of the volunteer donors included Joe Singer, whose total donations have amounted to eight and a half gallons; Paul Arrington, six and a half; and John Frederick and Hubert Lyons, both of whom have completed three and a half gallons.

BIOLOGY II STUDENTS SHOW SPACE TOMATO CROP
... on second shelf in classroom.

Students growing seeds from space

Budding student scientists in the Biology II class of Tim Kaspar at Iowa Park High School have planted a garden to experiment with tomato seeds from space.

During the balance of the semester, students will grow and monitor space-exposed seeds and Earth-based seeds, searching for differences caused by long-term exposure to cosmic radiation.

Results gathered by the students will be forwarded to NASA by June 15 for a final report.

For nearly six years the seeds were exposed to the harsh environment of space, subjected to cosmic radiation, temperature extremes, weightlessness, and the vacuum of space.

Students will be looking for possible mutations to the tomato plant, such as changes in fruit size and color, growth rate, and leaf, stem, and stalk shapes and sizes.

The pink grapefruit is a mutation resulting from irradiating the white grapefruit seed.

The Space Exposed Experiment Developed for Students (SEEDS) was one of 57 experiments housed on the recently recovered 11-ton Long Duration Exposure Facility satellite.

After a nearly six-year voyage in space, the 12.5-million tomato seeds were rescued by the crew of the Space Shuttle Columbia Jan. 12.

SEEDS is a cooperative project between NASA and Park Seed Company, Greenwood, S.C., offering to students a one-of-a-kind, hands-on experiment to study the effects of long-term space exposure on living tissue.

SEEDS has the potential to involve four-million students and 40,000 educators.

In March, NASA distributed 180,000 SEEDS kits containing space-exposed seeds and an equal number of Earth-based seeds to teachers from the upper elementary school to the university level for experiments and study.

Different approach to lawn care discussed

Chris Powell, assisted by his mother, Mrs. Lisa Powell, from the C&L Service center, gave the program for the Evening Lions Tuesday on "Don't Bag It Lawn Care." The program showed through a film and narration how people can have beautiful yards without filling up the landfills, and that grass clippings and leaves account for 18 percent of waste sent to landfills.

Powell said that since 1979, 70 percent of North America's landfills have reached capacity, and that grass clippings account for 75 percent of total waste.

He presented slides that showed a three-part plan designed for the North Texas area in three parts; mowing, fertilizing and watering. He also demonstrated a mulching machine designed to leave grass clippings on the lawn for recycling.

placing the pins that he received on his new Lions jacket.

During the business conducted by Gordon Callahan, officers for 1990-91 were elected. The slate included Jerry Pruett, president; Sam Fairchild, Herb Adcock, C.L. Thompson, vice presidents; Gordon Griffith, secretary; Virgil Woodfin, treasurer; Herman Daymude, Lion tamer; Sam Hunter, tail twister; Don Jagger, Lem Tate, two-year directors; Joe Kennedy, Ed Prince, one-year director; Harvey Troutman, one-year membership director chairman; Claude Johnson, two-year vice chairman; Jim Sliger, three-year term committee member; and Lem Tate, Lioness liason.

Kidwell benefit is scheduled

A new form of fund-raising that will benefit facilities at their school has attracted the participation of 422 of the 478 students at Kidwell Elementary, according to Daryl Frazier, coordinator.

"Kidwell Fun & Fitness '90" will be held throughout the day on Friday, April 20.

Activities include soccer, scooter boards, reading relays, T-Ball, flag games, skill drill relay, monster ball relay and jump rope.

Students, who already are soliciting sponsorships, will be vying for t-shirts, basketballs, sweat suits, mini trampolines, scooters and bicycles.

The goal for the project is to raise $10,000 through pledges, Frazier said.

A schedule of events will be published in next week's edition of the Leader for parents' information.

This brought some interesting experiences for Mrs. Williamson. They received many letters, especially from children, asking if they could have a picture of Yellow Mount. Some of the children sent pictures or paintings of him that they made from the model. The Williamsons had picture post cards made to send to those asking for his picture and she corresponded with several of them.

Yellow Mount's last foal, a yearling filly named Yellow Finale, is at home on the 2-J Horse Farm and is being halter broke. She will be shown in the fall. The Williamsons' granddaughter, Denver Jo, daughter of Joe Howard and Tracy Williamson, will probably show the filly as soon as she is old enough. Joe Howard, the Williamsons' youngest son, is manager of the 2-J Horse Farm and their Switchhouse Ranch in Archer County.

Joe Howard's long-time love for Paint Horses influenced the Williamsons' decision to make the 2-J Horse Farm a Paint Horse breeding operation in 1966. His first Paint was given to him by his great-grandmother, the late Mrs. R.Y. Smith of Electra. He and his mother began scouting for the best young stallion they could find, after convincing Stanley that now that they had three or four good brood mares they needed a top sire.

The American Paint Horse Association was young, having been organized in Gainesville in 1962 and held its first National Show in 1964. Jodie and Joe Howard attended the show in Baton Rouge, La., in 1966 and that was when they both "fell in love" with Yellow Mount, telling Stanley that was the "horse to beat" when he became the first APHA Champion of his breed.

Foaled in 1964 in Santa Rosa, N.M., Yellow Mount was out of Lady Yellow Jacket (APHA) by Tetrak Scooter (AQHA) and was owned in 1966 by the late Jack Bruns of Muleshoe, who had taken a lot of good natured "ribbing" from his friends in Quarter Horse country. They told him he wouldn't get anywhere with his Paint stallion and couldn't get anything for him if he wanted to sell him.

Here, an element of pathos enters the scenario. Bruns didn't want to sell the young stallion. Yellow Mount had accomplished what Bruns wanted him to at the 1966 horse show. But, young Bruns was a victim of leukemia. The Williamsons offered an exceptionally good price for Yellow Mount so Bruns considered his condition and decided to sell. He told Stanley he would like to see the stallion one more time.

The Williamsons loaded yellow Mount in his trailer and took him to Muleshoe. Bruns was hospitalized. They unloaded Yellow Mount and paraded him on the hospital grounds where Bruns could see him from his window. He still had the uncashed check he had been paid for the stallion so he could show it to his Quarter Horse friends. Bruns died that night.

In 1968 Stanley and Jodie purchased Yellow Mount's dam, Yellow Jacket. She produced for them three outstanding foals, including Top Yellow who became a top running horse. The 2-J Horse Farm and the Williamsons have helped the growth of the breed through the years. It has always been their goal to pre-empt quantity for quality.

Williamson served on the APHA executive committee seven years and as president of the Association three years. He has served on the board of directors and as a member of the racing committee in addition to serving in an advisory capacity. Mrs. Williamson organized, made arrangements for and was chairperson of the first Miss APHA Contest. She chaired the Queen Committee for several years and was instrumental in the formation of the contest guidelines. Jodie also served on the board of directors, promotion committee and as chairperson of the Youth Development Foundation. Both Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are life members of the Association.

For several years the 2-J Horse Farm had large Paint Horse Production Sales in the fall with select consignors. People from many states, Canada, and foreign countries attended.

The Williamsons have a large painting of Yellow Mount and several of his offspring that was executed by internationally-known Orren Mixer of Edmond, Ok., who is a painter of Quarter Horses. He had painted only two Paint Horses. Pictures from his painting have been used for the covers of the sales catalogs and in the Paint Horse publications. His painting has been exhibited at Fort Worth Stock Show at banquets and exhibitions.

Yellow Mount's legacy of prepotency in building up the Paint Horse breed will continue to be seen in future generations through his progeny from the more than 1,200 mares he bred during his lifetime.

Trustees approve hirings

School trustees Tuesday night approved employment of support personnel for next year, hired a new teacher, and accepted the resignation of two teachers.

The board also held a lengthy discussion concerning bids for school construction and remodeling, but delayed taking any action.

As was the case of contracts for professional personnel, salaries for auxiliary personnel will not be set until the 1990-91 budget is adopted.

Stanley Dillmon, who holds a Master's degree in education, has 14 years experience and is currently on the faculty at Notre Dame Elementary, was hired to teach seventh and eighth grade reading as well as serve as the gifted and talented teacher next year.

Resignations approved were from Sarita Goodwin, who will be replaced by Dillmon, and third grade teacher Kathryn Cole.

Trustees, along with architect Don Daughterity, will continue to work with the low bidder on the high school construction and renovation project in an effort to stay within the budget allocated for the project.

They are expected to advertise for new bids on the elementary building projects, separating the two projects, in an effort to pare down costs. The bid for the two campus projects, in one bid offering, came in $400,000 over budget.

Other items during the meeting included approving student transfers for next year, and a report that the district's new 71-passenger bus has been received and is being readied for use.

Police investigating gas theft

Police are investigating the theft of $105 worth of gasoline, taken from a parked transport truck sometime Monday night.

The truck was parked, with permission of the owners, at the Fina Station at Johnson and US 287, when the alleged theft occurred.

Two arrests were listed on the police blotter during the week.

Officers took Eldon Andrew Loyd, 19, into custody at 12:33 a.m.

Sunday near the intersection of US 287 and FM 368, when it was learned he was wanted on traffic warrants by the Department of Public Safety in Brownwood.

Raymond Bill Curtis, 21, was arrested on local warrants Monday evening for no vehicle liability insurance and no drivers license.

Both Loyd and Curtis were transported to county jail.

Sales tax picture improving

Iowa Park's sales tax receipts for the first time this year showed a marked improvement this month.

The city has received a check for $9,862.76, a 1.01-percent increase over April's $9,764.52 check the same month last year.

However, the city still has received 4.94-percent less for the calendar year than at this same time in 1989, according to the state comptroller's office.

For the year, $52,360.98 has been returned to the city, representing sales taxes collected through February and reported in March.

All three other cities in Wichita County are in the "plus" column for the year: Burkburnett, 2.15; Wichita Falls, 3.05, and Electra 13.03.

The comptroller's office is reporting Holliday as a minus 42.42 percent, however.

Eighth Grade boys win district

Iowa Park schools now have a sports championship team for the 1989-90 school year.

The Eighth Grade boys earned the Dist. 5-AAA junior high title Saturday in Graham by out-pointing Vernon by over 34 points.

The Seventh Grade boys and girls teams both finished fourth and the Eighth Grade girls fifth.

The point spread between Iowa Park and Vernon was much closer, going into the finals of the running events, however. The young Hawks led by only 60-54.5.

Boys' tennis team wins 5-AAA title

Iowa Park swept the boys' singles to lead the team to the varsity boys' Dist. 5-AAA championship Saturday in Wichita Falls.

Chris Blalack defeated teammate Eric Smith for the top two places in that category.

Paul Birk and Aaron Smith took third in boys' doubles, bringing the Hawks' point total to 30.

Vernon was second with 25 and Bowie third with five.

The boys' JV team also edged Vernon, 25-15, for the championship in that division. Graham was third with five.

Jamey Huff and John Padgett were second and third in the singles, and second place in doubles was earned by the team of Lance Short and Chad Featherston.

Vernon dominated the girls' division, winning first in both the varsity and junior varsity divisions.

Vernon beat out Bowie 50-10 for the JV division, followed by Bowie, 10, and Decatur, five.

The varsity Hawks will compete next in the Region One tournament in two weeks for an opportunity to play in the state tournament at Austin.

District track meet today

The District 5-AAA track and field championships will be determined today at Graham.

Field events are to begin at 11 a.m. Preliminaries in running events will get underway at 1 p.m., followed at 4 by the finals.

The meet should be completed about 7 p.m.

First and second place finishers in the varsity competition qualify for the regional meet the last week of April.

In competition Saturday, the Hawks won a four-school meet at Holliday, and the Lady Hawks finished second to Childress at Seymour.

Does your subscription to the Leader expire this month? check the list on page 4.

As the 5-AAA play neared its opening Tuesday, some of the conference teams were mounting impressive showings. Darkness called a game between Decatur and Pilot Point with a 5-5 tie, and then the Eagles mauled Krum 22-7. Bridgeport's 5-0 win over Millsap extended the Bulls' record to 8-2. And Graham has a freshman, Toby Dollar, who is the team's leading pitcher, despite his young years. Dollar, going into the district opener against Vernon had a 0.00 earned run average, having struck out 60 batters while pitching 35 scoreless innings.

For those basketball fans who delight in giving officials a hard time it should be noted that the Slidell school district has been put on a year probation by the UIL for "verbal abuse of officials."

Tuesday's district baseball opener for the Hawks at Bowie was postponed to yesterday, and a report on the outcome will be in next week's issue of the Leader. They are to play Tuesday at Vernon, and host Graham Friday of next week.

AREA OIL & GAS NEWS

Two 4,000-ft. developmental wells are scheduled to be drilled in the KMA Field, Wichita County, five miles southwest of Kamay. The wells will be known as the No. 48 and No. 49 Cypridge Mangold Unit "3."

Locations are in the P. Castleman Survey A-35. The No. 48 is 1,750 feet from the west line and 470 feet from the south line of the survey, while the No. 49 is 1,625 feet from the west line and 900 feet from the south line of the survey. Fina Oil and Chemical of Oklahoma City will be the operator.

Pumping 12 barrels of crude per day plus 30 barrels of waste water, the No. 1602 Kelley has been brought on line in the Wichita Regular Field nine miles west of Burkburnett.

Tri-Core Oil and Gas of Irving is the operator. The well will produce from a perforated interval at 1,598 to 1,602 feet into the hole.

Ray Craighead of Wichita Falls is preparing to make hole for the No. 17 Mrs. E.D. Collett "C," a developmental venture in the Wichita Regular Field. It is located five miles south of Electra in the GC&SFRR Survey A-767. The drillsite is 4,350 feet from the east line and 720 feet from the north line of the survey.

While the legislature is addressing school finance, Bennett urged the establishment of drug-free school zones and suspension of driver's license of persons convicted of illegal drug use.

Letters to the Editor

9-1-1 Explained

I feel that an explanation on how E 9-1-1 works will help everyone that is involved during an emergency call.

In order to have a definite address, all rural residents have to be assigned and use, a street numbering system of addressing. This has been done in Wichita County and will be initiated in Wilbarger County as quickly as the county road signs have been installed.

Each rural resident who had a rural route and box number was assigned a street number and was notified by mail to change to the street address. We suggested the residents post the street number on their mailbox and on their house, in contrasting colors, and with large enough numbers to be easily read from the road. A red printed card was enclosed to be signed, thereby acknowledging receipt of this street address. The card was to be returned to the district postage free. Approximately 52% of the cards were returned. The assigned addresses were then placed in the data base with the other necessary information to automatically show which emergency agency would respond. This vital information is used by the switching equipment to route the call to the correct answering position.

Emergency calls from within the cities of Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park, Vernon and Wichita Falls are automatically routed to and answered by their city dispatchers. When the E 9-1-1 call is connected and ringing at a dispatcher, Nortex 9-1-1 Communications District responsibility ends and the governing body that controls the dispatcher begins.

Wichita County Sheriff Tom Callahan instructed this district to send all rural E 9-1-1 calls to his dispatcher. Wichita County contracts with the City of Wichita Falls for this service. When all the information is correct in the data base, the information is displayed on a CRT that shows the correct law enforcement, ambulance and fire department response. The call taker usually answers "9-1-1 What is your emergency?" If the emergency request is for a law enforcement, the call is transferred to the assigned sheriff dispatcher simply by pushing a button on the equipment marked "POLICE." If the need is for an ambulance the "EMS" button is pushed and all the information is simultaneously transferred and displayed at LifeLine dispatch. Likewise, if the emergency is for the volunteer fire department the button marked "FIRE" automatically transfers the call to the correct dispatcher for that volunteer fire department and simultaneously displays the information on that particular telephone.

The dispatcher will usually ask the caller their name, address and telephone number to verify the information. This seems to irritate some people, but it is necessary because the emergency may be at another location, such as an automobile accident down the street, and not at the address of the telephone.

If a telephone is on a four party line, the telephone equipment cannot identify the name or number. A 9-1-1 call will go to the Sheriff's Department dispatcher and will only show "NO RECORD FOUND." This will also be true if the call is from within a city and the telephone has been moved or installed recently and the records have not had time to be changed.

All dispatchers have been trained to ask for additional information and will not be able to automatically transfer a 9-1-1 call to another dispatcher when no record is found. All 9-1-1 dispatch equipment has been programmed to speed dial the other dispatch points, but again the dispatcher at the second location will have no information except "NO RECORD FOUND."

Any time the information is not shown or is incorrect a "Problem Report" is written by the dispatcher to check through this office and to be sent on to one of the five telephone companies that comprise this system.

Enhanced 9-1-1 has been in operation for over one year and many good things have happened. Several lives have been saved, burglars have been caught, several medical emergency assists, and correct information being displayed to the dispatcher after an explosion and fire.

If this office can assist you in any way or explain more in depth, please call 723-8225.

WHEN SECONDS COUNT,
CALL 9-1-1.

Helpful youngsters

Dear Editor:

It is sad when only wrongdoings ever makes the news -- when so many good-doings goes unnoticed.

Out on Karen street an elderly lady lived who was unable to do some things for herself.

There are several boys in our town, from second grade into high school, who came to her aid.

They mowed her lawn, carried out her trash, carried in her groceries, anything that needed to be done. They were there to do it for her.

One small boy was offered a reward. He refused, saying, "I am just one of the kids on the block, she was good to us."

Hats off! Our boys are passing by, have noticed how wonderful they are? "Man is never as tall as when he stoops to help a child."

Get To Your Child Before The Pressure Does

Peer pressure. We've all experienced it. Remember how hard it was to say "no" when you were a kid, even if it meant doing something you knew was wrong? Young people today admit that pressure to use drugs is intense. As a parent, it's your job to give your child the facts about the dangers of drug abuse. Talk to your kids. Get to them before the pressure does.
