Local, county voters nix issues on ballots

Iowa Park area voters agreed with the majority of other vote casters across Wichita County in defeating all three County Education District funding proposals in Saturday's special election.

And while area and county voters also agreed on the two state constitutional amendments on the ballots, they failed to find agreement with the majority of voters across the state on one of the issues.

Local and county voters disapproved Amendment One, 4,895-1,413. But the total for the state passed the amendment 467,115 to 346,826.

Amendment One was "...to allow the voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads and to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property."

Voters in precincts 32, 33, 34, 53 and 60 voted against the amendment by a 569-99 margin.

The reason offered for the amendment's passage statewide and failure locally is that most county districts already provide for homestead exemptions, while only one-quarter of the school districts across the state have not offered the exemptions.

The second amendment, which would have allowed the state to issue obligation bonds to provide loans to college students, was a major failure locally and in the county, but was disallowed by only a 7,000-margin total over the state.

The area's five boxes turned down the amendment 598-65, while it lost in the county 4,902-1,336. Statewide, it failed 410,117-403,352.

All three CED issues failed in each of the area boxes, as well as in the total county voting.

Proposal One, which would have allowed taxation of personal property, failed 443-177 in the area boxes, and 3,421-2,031 in the county.

Proposal Two, allowing exemption of 20 percent exemption for homesteads, failed 418-194 in the area boxes, and 3,197-2,229 in the county.

Proposal Three, allowing additional exemptions for the disabled and older citizens, was turned down 601-18 in area boxes and 7,116-273 in the county.

Precinct 32 had a total of 414 votes cast Saturday, while Precinct 33 drew 86, Precinct 34 had 44, Precinct 53 had 55 and Precinct 60 had 60. In addition, there were 39 votes cast absentee in the local box.

Council taking aim to complete budget

The city council Monday night took two more steps toward adopting the 1991-92 tax budget.

Although no formal discussion was actually held on the budget, following two evening work sessions held last week, aldermen approved a resolution accepting the certified tax rolls for 1992, as well as procedures for holding the required public hearing on the budget.

Despite the loss of some $2-million in taxable values, the council at its Aug. 26 meeting is expected to tentatively approve a proposed balanced budget of $3-million, without increasing the current tax rate.

Should that action be taken, notice would be published giving the public at least 15 days notice of a public hearing on the budget.

However, should the council decide a tax increase would be necessary, a 30-day notice would be required to announce the public hearing, according to the procedures adopted by the council.

A proposal also was approved to sell a tract of land at 610 East Bank to the highest bidder.

The property, which was put up for sale for taxes by the county sheriff, did not receive a bidder at its publicized sale, so the city assumed responsibility of the property.

Aldermen agreed to accept the highest bid on the property, but only if a minimum of $690 is offered. Any money above that amount will be shared on a prorated share with the school district and county, it was pointed out.

Five ordinances were approved during the meeting.

The first of the ordinances was to comply with state requirements. It repealed the enterprise zone ordinance adopted June 24, and used the same language in the new ordinance, which complied with time requirements of the state.

Two ordinances dealt with zoning of two tracts recently annexed into the city. It zoned 401 East Diamond commercial-automotive/recreational, and 1211 North Bell agricultural.

The other two ordinances were replays of two tracts, one at 503 East Alameda and the other at 709 East Ruby. Both were approved.

Also approved was the lowest of four bids for crusher run (gravel) to be used on the Recreational Activities Center parking lot. It was for $7.65 per ton, some 15 cents above the anticipated cost.

Because of weather delays, work

Big month for permits

Residents have apparently been taking advantage of summer weather to improve their homes, according to the previous month's building permits issued by city hall.

July, with $102,731 in permits, is the largest month for construction in the city thus far this year.

The year's total is now $376,614. However, there still has not been a permit issued for construction of a new home.

TRUSTEES APPROVE:

Tax abatement for Cryovac

Iowa Park school trustees Monday night approved a 10-year tax abatement agreement with Cryovac, on an expansion project at the plant which will result in hiring additional personnel.

Cryovac, which already provides one-fifth of the tax monies generated locally for the school district, will add 50 new employees as result of the expansion.

A similar abatement agreement has already been approved by the county commissioners court.

Should the manufacturer not comply with the agreement during the entire 10-year period, all taxes which were due the district and county will be "recaptured," according to the language of the agreement.

Trustee Martha Dudley, an employee of the plant, abstained from the voting, which drew unanimous approval from the balance of the board.

Cafeteria prices for all meals will remain the same as the previous four years, following approval of the recommendation to the board.

A formality acted upon annually by the board was to approve the federally-funded free and reduced school lunch program.

Preston Dairy was determined to have submitted the lowest of three bids to supply the cafeterias with milk again this year.

The Burkburnett firm, it was reported, has agreed to refund $7,000 to the local district, following a settlement with the state's attorney general in July.

Successful bidders for the school's purchases of ice cream and bread were firms that have never served the local schools.

Blue Bell was the low bidder for ice cream, while Continental Baking (Wonder Bread), won the bread bidding.

Low bidders of all the other cafeteria supplies were too numerous to list.

An appeal by Rev. Mike Grubbs that the board authorize payroll deduction for employees as contributions to the United Way Fund was received.

No action was taken as the issue was tabled, but the board agreed to poll teachers and staff to determine the feasibility of the request.

The board discussed setting dates to work on the final figures of the 1991-92 budget, and though several dates were proposed, none was set.

Supt. Glen Mitchell told the board he still has no figures from state on how much monies the district can expect, after the legislature's finally completing its special session Tuesday.

He did tell the trustees, however, that it appears the state will have a shortfall that could cost the local district $66,000, if not more.

And that figure could double next year, he said.

Local sales tax receipts still ahead of last year

This month's sales tax rebate from Austin didn't match up with the check received in August 1990.

But three of the other four municipalities in Wichita County found it to be the same way.

Iowa Park's check was $17,033.91, down 6.88 percent from the $18,293.32 received the same month last year, according to the state comptroller's report.

Wichita Falls was a minus 3.00 and Burkburnett minus 1.71. Only Electra, with a plus 2.46 percent, showed a gain.

For the year, Iowa Park is still 3.44 percent above the same time frame in 1990, having received $113,752.33, as compared with $109,970.96.

The report stated every municipality in the county also was running ahead of last year: Electra 9.08; Burkburnett 5.97 and Wichita Falls 0.55.

Holiday's sales taxes are still on the rise, running 45.01 percent ahead of the same period in 1990.

August's checks include taxes collected on June sales and reported in July by businesses filing monthly sales tax returns with the state.

This month's check also includes taxes collected during the second quarter period, for businesses filing quarterly sales tax returns.

PREPARING for the 1991-92 school year, members of Iowa Park High's Mean Green Marching Machine began its summer band program this week, and will continue through next Thursday. Musicians practice indoors during the afternoon session, and return in the evening to practice marching.

Kindergarten seminar slated

A meeting designed to inform parents of children who will enroll in kindergarten this fall will be held next Thursday.

To begin at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium, topics slated for discussion will include grading, hours, buses, discipline, dress code and absenteeism.

Class lists will be posted, and parents will be able to meet their child's teacher. Refreshments will be served.

Six graders invited for tour

The doors of Iowa Park Junior High School will be open for sixth graders and their parents Tuesday, Aug. 20, according to Principal Randy Lovelady.

Students will not only be able to look the building over, but also will find their homeroom assignments posted.

Parents of the students also will be able to tour the structure, as well as given an opportunity to join the Junior High PTSA, Lovelady added.

Open house for the sixth graders only, and their parents, will be from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on that date.

Jr. High band dates changed

Junior High Band students will begin summer sessions two days later than originally planned, Director Ed Hefli announced this week.

Students will meet next Wednesday and Thursday, from 9 to 11 a.m., at the band hall.

The musicians initially were to meet next Monday, but the plan was delayed, Hefli said.

New bus riders need passes

New students, and students who have moved during the summer, will need to be issued bus passes before they can ride Iowa Park school buses this year, according to Robert Palmer, assistant superintendent.

The passes may be obtained at the school tax office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays.

The office is located on the west side of Kidwell Elementary campus.

Passes have been issued in the past at the administration building, Palmer noted.

City receives 1.14 moisture

Something unusual happened this week.

It rained!
Iowa Park received 1.14 in precipitation from three days of mostly drizzle, according to readings at the city's wastewater treatment plant, located on the southwestern edge of town.

Measurements included .89 Sunday, .04 Monday and .21 Tuesday.

Leader reader glad had paper

A 75-year-old Valley View woman, Leona Moore, likes her paper even more now.

She said she was leaving the beauty salon one day last week when she was attacked by two full-grown blue heeleders.

She was knocked to her knees and the dogs were biting one arm. In her free hand was a rolled up copy of the Iowa Park Leader. She struck one dog with the paper, and it immediately turned loose. Others heard her screams and came to her rescue.

She was treated by a doctor, who reported the attack to county authorities, for bites on the arm. The dogs were picked up for observation.

"If I hadn't had that paper," Mrs. Moore said, and added her wounds might have been considerably more serious.

Marlar, Luna work to be displayed

By Myrna Smith

Adell Marlar and Peggy Luna are representing the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Club with their work displayed in two local business institutions for the next three weeks.

Mrs. Marlar enjoys almost every kind of art or craft and is adept at several.

A painting of a tranquil country scene is her exhibit for this month, done in oil, her favorite medium for painting pictures. She also does tole painting and uses acrylics for that artistic endeavor.

Mrs. Marlar also enjoys doing ceramics, floral arranging and sewing.

She and her husband, Howard, moved to Iowa Park in 1976 when he retired from Texaco at Electra. Mrs. Marlar says she is basically a homemaker.

In addition to being a member of the Arts and Crafts Club, she also is a member of the 23 Study Club, which she serves as treasurer.

Mrs. Marlar is active in First Baptist Church. She is president of Baptist Women and serves as hospitality chairman.

She and her husband share a love of travel. They have been to all the states in continental United States and last year they visited Hawaii. They are planning a trip later this month to Alaska with the Good Sams of which they are members. They will fly to Vancouver and cruise to Alaska. Plans are in the making to attend the New Year's Day Rose Parade.

The Marlars also are members of an RV Club that has been formed by some members of First Baptist Church. This year they have been to Branson, Mo., Granbury and San Antonio.

They have two sons and two grandsons.

Mrs. Luna's display will be three pieces of her favorite handiwork in her favorite colors, shocking pink and burgundy.

She has a doll dressed in a beautiful crocheted dress of shocking pink trimmed in burgundy, accented with burgundy satin ribbon bows down the front.

Mrs. Luna has made a crocheted afghan with a wild rose motif in the selected colors, touched with green. The lap quilt she has on display has a crosstitch wild rose design and is put together with strips of shocking pink and burgundy.

Mrs. Luna said it took her about year to complete the three pieces, however, she remarked, "That was because I would get tired of working on one piece and work on something else for a while before I would pick up the piece again".

A member of the Arts and Crafts Club for one year, this year Mrs. Luna is in charge of the displays and the scrapbook.

Mrs. Luna and her husband, Richard, and some of their nine children are musically inclined, and the Lunas are members of the Blue Grass Club.

They attend Scotland Baptist Church.

Mrs. William A. Artley, Jr.
(Charlotte Cockrum King)

King, Artley vows read Friday at 'the Falls'

The waterfalls in Wichita Falls formed the background for the Friday wedding ceremony at 12 noon that united Charlotte Cockrum King and William A. Artley, Jr.

Miles Graham, Wichita County tax collector and an Electra minister, directed the recitation of vows.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clydell Cockrum of Iowa Park and the groom's parents are Mrs. A.D. Thompson and William A. Artley, Sr., of Williamsport, Pa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, who has American Indian blood in her lineage, chose for her wedding a costume designed and made by an Indian seamstress in Anadarko, Ok., after she had seen the original in Indian City USA Museum there.

Her dress of white knit was styled with a wrap around skirt of ankle length featuring a turquoise fabric strip down the skirt's side opening that was enhanced with Indian symbols.

The long sleeved blouse was fashioned with long puff sleeves trimmed with turquoise ric-rack braid. Neckline of the blouse opened to a V shape that revealed a handmade choker of ivory and turquoise with drops of ivory and turquoise beads, ending with shell beads. Her matching earrings were borrowed from her matron of honor.

She added a white belt with turquoise beaded Indian symbols at the waistline, and squaw boots for a more authentic look. Her bouquet was fashioned of turquoise and white carnations and roses.

Mrs. Jimmy Nicks of Wichita Falls attended the bride as matron of honor. Her mid-calf dress of turquoise was styled similar to the bride's, with a wide strip of white Indian symbols accenting the side opening.

She wore a handbeaded necklace of turquoise and white joined by a large circular Indian design of ivory and turquoise bead drops and a blue feather. She completed her attire with a beaded headband, a gift from the bride, and Indian moccasins.

Flower girls were Carmen and Reba King, daughters of the bride. They wore denim skirts. Reba wore a red T-shirt and Carmen wore a turquoise T-shirt. They both wore boots.

Ring bearers were Elizabeth Artley of Wichita Falls, daughter of the bridegroom, who carried the bride's rings, and Carrie King, the bride's daughter who carried the groom's ring. They wore denim jump suits with turquoise T-shirts.

They carried ivory crocheted baskets for the flowers and rings. All flowers and boutonnieres were turquoise and white roses and carnations.

Curtis Simmons of Wichita Falls was best man. Both he and the bridegroom wore jeans, red double breasted shirts and boots.

Mrs. Artley graduated Iowa Park High School in 1977 and is employed at the Vehicle Registration Department in Wichita Falls.

Artley received the GED from Williamsport Area Community College, Williamsport, Pa., and is an employee of Washex Machinery Corp of Wichita Falls.

A surprise reception honored the couple hosted by co-workers in the Motor Transportation Division.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to Denver, Colo. When they return they will make their home in Iowa Park.

State ESA meeting held

Bobbie Shaw and Joyce Tidwell were chairmen at the Epsilon Sigma Alpha State Leadership Seminar and meeting held in Plano Saturday.

The pair chaired the Leadership Seminar, where the theme was "Ride High in the Texas ESA Constellation." Sessions were held on membership campaign, putting leadership in place, publicity and the ESA Foundation.

During the state board business meeting upcoming state-wide events were announced, and yearbooks and reporting forms for the coming year were distributed.

Also attending from the Iowa Park Chapter were Lela Mercer and Mary L. Boyd.

The next State Board meeting and arts and crafts sale will be held in November in Odessa, with the Epsilon Eta chapter participating.

As I See It...

By Bob Hamilton

There's going to be a lot of people surprised by our Iowa Park Hawks this football season... especially if they are paying a lot of attention to the "experts" and their predictions.

This is not particularly a comment on the major changes in the coaching staff. I can't really comment on this new group, because I don't know them nearly as well as I know the players themselves.

But the evening the school board was hiring Lucky Gamble as the new head coach, I told the Head Hawk that I'd put a thousand-pound monkey on his back, with my prediction of the 1991 team.

Lucky looked puzzled, until I said, "Whoever coaches this bunch will look like Knute Rockney (or however you spell it). They've got that much talent and experience."

Let me justify my thinking. That 2-8 season record in no way was an indication of the players' talent or the ability of the coaching staff, first of all.

Only 72 players turned out for the varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams, and among those were very, very few seniors.

The club then became victim of more sidelining injuries than is normal in a two-year period.

Lacking the normal number of seniors, a very talented junior class was called upon to fill the starting positions. And that class has contained a number of talented athletes I'd been watching since they were first entering organized sports.

As the number of injuries continued to mount, more and more sophomores were called up from the junior varsity. So many, as you will recall, that the JV schedule had to be cancelled.

That class also has a group of exceptionally talented athletes.

The bottom line is, Iowa Park will have more players this year, with varsity starting experience, than any school we will face on our regular schedule.

And, hopefully, Gamble will not have to draw from this year's sophomore class, which produced a winning team as freshmen.

Our "experts" apparently are looking only at last year's losing record, and not at what is coming back, nor what effect the coaching changes may have.

None of the "experts" has given the Hawks a shot at a finish in the district higher than fourth place.

I'll take any odds they might want to give me on that.

It's not just that I like my Hawks, either. I'd have to like them as a favorite if I still lived in Alaska, knowing them and their background.

I'll not be foolish enough to predict what the season record will be. This is still high school football, and as such, highly unpredictable.

But, if you like high school football, I'd advise you to get your season tickets and check your vehicle's traveling ability.

We're about to launch another Hawk football year.

WORTH QUOTING

We noticed an interesting item in the Lovington, New Mexico paper last week that should alert school teachers in this state.

The news item reported that teachers' salaries in New Mexico will increase by $585 - school districts in the state are giving their teachers an average 2.27 percent pay raise, boosting the average statewide teacher salary from $25,747 a year to $26,332.

That's normal enough but we noticed that in addition to the 2.27 average raise statewide that five districts in the state will get more because of a density factor -- the state's five largest districts, Albuquerque, Gallup, Las Cruces, Roswell and Santa Fe -- will divvy up an additional $9 million.

Those five districts have a majority of representatives in the state capitol of Santa Fe.

Can't you just imagine what would happen to school districts in West Texas if we wind up with statewide tax base for school districts? With Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio having more representatives than the rest of Texas, those guys could vote in a density factor and cop a majority of the funds for their schools. Evidently, majority rules in New Mexico -- as it would in Texas.

N.L. Lowrance also a Confederate Vet

Another name has been added to the list of Civil War Confederate veterans who are buried at Highland Cemetery.

N.L. Lowrance, who moved to Iowa Park in 1890, was a veteran, according to a relative, Francis Park. He was buried in either 1929 or 1930, she said.

Information of the additional name has been forwarded to records keepers.

The Leader published a list of 11 veterans last week who are buried here and whose graves were marked by Jack Sellers with miniature Confederate flags.

Police look for burglar

Iowa Park police are looking for a suspect with a cut arm, after receiving a complaint of a burglary Monday.

At least one item, a VCR, was reportedly taken from a home in the 700 block of West Cornelia.

Residents of the home were out of town, but had a friend checking on it during their absence. A neighbor noticed something different and notified the friend, who, in turn, called police.

The investigation determined the burglar had apparently gained entry by breaking out a glass in the garage door. It was there that police believe the burglar received a cut.

Once inside the garage, however, the intruder could not gain entry into the house itself. So entry was gained by breaking out a window in the back of the structure.

Officers found blood throughout the house, they reported, indicating the burglar had indeed cut himself while breaking out one or both glasses.

Only the VCR was reported missing.

Two arrests for public intoxication were made, within a two-hour period Monday night, according to the police blotter.

Officers took Carl Robertson Jr., 21, into custody in the 300 block of West Washington on an intoxication charge at 11:15 p.m.

Then, at 12:55 a.m., Bruce Edwin Holder, 28, was arrested in the 100 block of South Jackson.

Commodity distribution set

USDA food commodities will be distributed Thursday, Aug. 22, from 12-noon until 6 p.m. at First Christian Church Fellowship Hall.

At least five different items will be distributed, but it was not known at presstime what those items were, according to Francis Park, one of the working volunteers.

'61 classmates reunite, remember

The 30-year reunion of the class of 1961 of Iowa Park High School was held Saturday at La Vista Country Club.

From 2 until 4 Saturday afternoon the clubroom "buzzed" with 34 former classmates and 29 spouses or guests as they visited and got re-acquainted.

Also attending were five mothers of 1961 seniors, including Doris Johnson, Ruth Gard, Tommie Smith, Mildred Parkey and Pauline White.

Former coach, Bill Carter of Marlow, Ok., attended during the two-hour visiting period.

A booklet of addresses and other information about classmates from their freshman through senior years was presented each member.

Cookies and beverages were served while annuals were reviewed. Old pictures provided a lot of laughs, and some members even denied their identification.

Visiting resumed at a pre-dinner social for former classmates only, with 56 meeting for the evening.

Following the meal awards were given to Carolyn White Powell and Rev. Wendell Estep for having come the farthest to attend the reunion. Mrs. Powell resides in Upland, Ca., and Estep is from Columbia, S.C.

Six Iowa Park Hawk shirts were given to the ones with marked placemats. One Hawk T-shirt was given to Jimmy Davis for having the most children of anyone present.

A gift was presented to Shirley Morgan Banks for helping with the reunion.

Master of ceremonies was Phillip Keeter of Longview.

Classmates introduced themselves and their guests and told different things they remembered about their years in Iowa Park schools, including incidents about their classmates and teachers.

Also former students related how many teachers had a big influence on their lives.

At one point in the festivities, Jackie Brooks of Decatur asked for a pause to remember a former classmate, the late Bobby Gilbreath, who played a part in many memories of the graduates.

The reunion planning committee was composed of Trish Clements Heskett, Shirley Banks and Kathy Teal Donnell.

Another reunion is planned for 1996.

Baptist families aid in church construction

Several families from First Baptist Church and Faith Baptist Church spent a week in Porum, Ok., the latter part of July on a mission building trip.

These families helped the local congregation of First Baptist Church of Porum, near Muskogee, construct a new building.

This was the 22nd year First Baptist Church of Iowa Park has been involved in this kind of mission trip. They have been joined by the membership of Faith Baptist Church through the years.

Each summer since 1971 a group from the two churches has set aside a week to help construct a building for Baptist churches who lack enough money to complete a needed building.

The existing Porum church sanctuary was erected in 1907 and had been declared structurally unsound. They did not have enough money to build a new structure, but with the volunteer help from the two Iowa Park churches saving from a fourth to a third of the construction cost, it enabled them to build.

A few families went to Porum a few days early to pre-cut and sort the needed lumber bought by the Porum church. When the second group of families arrived they joined to nail the boards together.

The mission group laid the foundation, built the walls and roof. Porum members were responsible for interior work, wiring and brick work.

Supplies were provided by the Porum Baptist Church. Iowa Park families supplied the labor, their time, and paid for their own food and lodging. Many of them stayed in trailers along Lake Eufaula.

Women of the group prepared meals and women of the Porum church provided desserts and snacks for breaks for the working crew.

The Iowa Park group has become well known and lists of churches in need are sent to them for selection. Some members are sent to survey the situation of those seeking help before a decision is made.

The group has constructed buildings for Baptist churches in Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Minnesota, and several in Colorado. This year marked their first mission venture in Oklahoma.

Those attending from the two Iowa Park churches were John and Ruby Cummings, Jack and Lucy Reynolds, Vern and Joan Hooley, Wayne and Phletious Williams, John and Peggy Miller and their grandson, John Keese, Roger, Cheryl, Randy, and Jenny York, Rev. Darrell Monday and daughter, Emily.

Also Rev. Greg and Lisa Ammons, Bob and Ann Harper, Herman and Mary Daymude, Richard, Kathy, Jered, and Jeremy Hicks, Dan, Charlie, Michael, and Ashley Fears, John and Joyce Rentschler, Dick, Doris, and Bebbett Broyles, Denny McCarthy, and Paul, Theresa, Joshua, and Adam Arrington.

Scout pack to take trip

Cub Scout Pack 7 family members will take a trip to the Wichita Mountains Saturday.

Scheduled to leave at 9 a.m. from Tom Burnett Memorial Library, each family is requested to provide their own lunch and beverages.

This is the last outing for members to apply toward their Summer Achievement Award, according to Richard Hicks, Pack leader.

Discover The Joy

SOME ALTERNATIVE STATEMENTS WHEN CONFRONTING THE CRISIS OF GRIEF

Facing the death of a loved one or friend is one of the most trying experiences of life. The bereaved need the support and love of family and friends. Many times people feel awkward and do not know what to say. There are times we simply need to listen and also times we need to speak. The following are suggested alternative statements when visiting the bereaved.

Instead of: "I know exactly how you feel" try: "I can only imagine what you are going through."

Instead of: "At least he doesn't have to suffer anymore" try: "He suffered through a lot, didn't he."

Instead of: "It's God's will" try: "One comfort is God's promise never to abandon us."

Instead of: "Take this valium - it will calm you down" try: "Do you feel like talking right now?"

Instead of: "She wouldn't want you to grieve" try: "It's hard to say goodbye, isn't it."

Instead of: "Don't cry - you'll only make it worse" try: "Sometimes tears are the best way to express our feelings."

Instead of: "This death is a great victory for God" try: "Even with the promise of the resurrection, it hurts to give someone up."

Instead of: "You can't be angry with God" try: "God understands even when we are upset."

Instead of: "At least you have other family members" try: "There's no way to replace the one you have lost, is there."

Instead of: "Don't talk about the funeral - it will only make you sad" try: "We can talk about whatever you want."

Instead of: "Don't you think it is time to get on with living your life" try: "Everyone has to grieve in their own way, don't they."

Instead of: "Time heals all wounds" try: "Time will lessen the pain, but you'll always have a part of him/her with you."

Instead of: "You've got to be strong" try: "I want you to know it's okay to be yourself around me."

Mrs. John C. Cummings

Ruby (Mrs. John C.) Cummings may be one of the best cooks in Iowa Park, and surely, she is the most well-known.

The memory of eating her hot rolls is shared by hundreds of students, teachers and parents who have gone through the high school cafeteria line during the last 21 years.

This year, Ruby will begin her 22nd year of work in the cafeteria. When she began, she was in charge of rolls and salads, and five years ago she was promoted to cafeteria manager.

The Cummings have been active members of First Baptist Church 26 years. For 20 years, Ruby and John have been members of a local group who travel to small towns each summer and build a church for congregations that need help. They supply their time and labor, and pay their own expenses for food and lodging, and the church provides the building supplies. So far, the Cummings have participated in the building of 22 churches.

Ruby said that their first love, outside of church work, is traveling, and since John retired from his work with Civil Service, they have been able to go on quite a few trips.

Her other activities include working on arts and crafts. She is a member and reporter for the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association.

Ruby and John have three children, Roger who lives in Fort Worth where he owns a business; Clifton, minister of Emanuel Baptist Church in Enid, Okla.; and Patricia Costello, a kindergarten teacher in the Iowa Park school system. They have three granddaughters and one grandson. Ruby said that her favorite pastime is playing with her grandchildren.

Among the recipes Ruby is sharing is the one for her rolls (cut down so it only makes 40 rolls), and a cookie recipe that has also been a big hit with the students.

Swedish Meat Balls

SAUCE:
1 Tbsp. butter or oleo
1 green pepper, chopped
1 onion, chopped
1 can condensed chicken rice soup
1 can tomato soup
1 cup water or beef stock

MEAT BALLS:

1 slices soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup evaporated milk (canned)
1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. salt
1 lb. ground beef

In frying pan, cook green pepper and onion in butter until tender. Stir in chicken rice soup, tomato soup, water or beef stock. Heat until boiling, turn down heat while sauce cooks and make meat balls. Mix ingredients for meat balls thoroughly and shape into the size of ping pong balls. Drop into simmering sauce and cook slowly about 1 hour or until sauce is thickened.

Schoolhouse Hot Rolls

4-5 cups white flour
2 pkgs. instant rapid yeast
1 3/4 cups warm water
1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup oil or shortening (if shortening is used, melt first)

In large mixer bowl with dough hooks or regular beaters, blend flour, yeast, and sugar together. Add 1/2 water and oil to flour mixture. Then add rest of water. If too dry to mix, add water a tablespoon at a time until flour is in a smooth ball and has left the sides of the bowl. Need to mix in mixer or by hand approximately five minutes.

Grease top of dough and placed in a greased bowl. Let rise until double, approx. 1 to 1/2 hours, depending on how warm the area is. If the area is cool and you wish to hurry up the dough, place near a pan of steaming water for approx. 30 minutes. This will make the dough rise faster and also help in the end product.

Punch down, divide dough in half, working with half at a time. Roll out on floured board to 1/4 in. thickness. Cut in circles and place on greased cookie sheets with a space between each roll. Butter tops and let rise until double.

Roll out other half the same way - or make cinnamon rolls.

Bake in pre-heated 350 degree oven 20 minutes. Makes approx. 40 rolls.

Cinnamon Rolls

Cinnamon Sugar:
1 Tbsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar

Roll dough and brush with water. Cover with cinnamon sugar lightly and roll up like a jelly roll. Cut in 3/4 in. slices and place on buttered sheet pan. Let rise until double. Bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

COOK of the WEEK

Schoolhouse Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup oatmeal
1 cup Rice Krispies
1 cup coconut, peanuts, or chocolate chips

Cream shortening and sugar; add eggs and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Add oatmeal, Rice Krispies and other choice. Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased cookie sheet and bake 8-10 minutes in 350 degree oven. Yields approx. 4 doz. cookies.

Mission Trip

1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. paprika

1 can cream chicken soup

1 - 8 oz. pkg. Cheddar cheese, grated

Cook and debone chicken. Save broth to cook spaghetti. Cook spaghetti in broth as directed on package; set aside. 2 cups diced ripe bananas
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift all dry ingredients into a large bowl. Add oil and mix together until flour disappears. Add other ingredients. Do not beat. Pour into bundt or tube pan that has been greased and floured. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

TDA has programs to benefit agriculture and Texas economy

By RICK PERRY

Texas Agriculture Commissioner

As Texas' Commissioner of Agriculture, I represent all the people of Texas, from the producers in the field to the consumers at the supper table, and being a member of both groups, I am fully aware of the challenges facing today's producers and needs of today's consumers.

I've been actively involved in my family's Haskell County farm and ranch operation for most of my life. The daily decisions I face -- as well as the ups and downs inherent in the industry -- introduced me to the challenges and opportunities in Texas agriculture.

Entering the farming and ranching business today is no easier a task than it was 100 years ago. We cannot control the amount of rain we receive or what the market does. And it's still difficult today to obtain conventional financing for farm and ranch operations.

But in order to foster innovation and adaptation to changing economic and environmental conditions, the state of Texas has established sources of capital for business start-ups and expansions and to finance agricultural producers who introduce new crops and production methods.

These programs, like the Texas Department of Agriculture's Texas Agricultural Finance Authority, Linked Deposit Loan, Rural Microenterprise and Texas Agricultural Diversification programs offer lenders and producers opportunities to develop creative solutions for financing new agricultural ventures.

The Texas Agricultural Finance Authority makes available financing through loan guarantees for projects contributing to the processing of Texas food and fiber products. Loans from $30,000 to $2 million are dedicated to these processing ventures, crop and livestock marketing enterprises and new crop and livestock production development. Just recently, the State Bond Review Board authorized the authority to issue $25 million in general obligation bonds.

The Texas Agricultural Diversification Matching Grants program is designed to help diversify Texas agriculture by providing matching grants to eligible projects aimed at transferring newly developed agricultural crops and technologies to the marketplace, including soil, water and energy conservation. The program also establishes small business incubators in rural areas.

Grants are made in the areas of research and innovation, as well as business assistance. Since the program was implemented in 1988, TDA has awarded 63 grants totaling $750,000.

Those grants were matched with private funds totaling more than $3 million and have the potential to generate substantial economic activity and expand markets for Texas food and fiber products.

The linked Deposit Loan program, administered jointly with the Texas State Treasury, was begun in 1988 to offer incentives to the state's banks to lend to agricultural businesses.

Under the terms of the program, an alternative crop producers could receive a loan of up to $100,000, and an agricultural processor or marketer can secure up to $250,000 to be deposited with the financial institution with which he or she has obtained a production, processing or marketing loan.

The financial institution in turn agrees to reduce the interest rate on that portion of the loan. Since the program began, 42 projects have received funding totaling $4.6 million.

The Rural Microenterprise Program, a new program to be in operation by the fall of 1991, is designed to stimulate the growth of small businesses in rural Texas.

Through a loan-to-lenders program, a revolving loan fund will be established. The Microenterprise fund is supported by $5 million in general obligation bonds, with maximum loan amounts at $30,000 for business expansions and $15,000 for business start-ups.

These loan funds are available for all types of small businesses located in rural communities. The fund is intended to work cooperatively with local non-profits, such as business incubators, councils of government, community colleges and other local agencies.

The Young Farmer Endowment Program, scheduled to begin Jan. 1, establishes an interest-free loan program for Texans between the ages of 18 and 40 who have four years of practical farm or ranch experience and who want to establish their first farming or ranching operation.

A $5 increase in farm license tag fees will be earmarked for the endowment program.

Applicants must submit a 10-year plan to their local county agricultural extension agent and then to the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority for final approval. The loan must be repaid within 15 years.

From those of us who have grown up on farms and ranches, to those researchers and small business entrepreneurs these programs illustrate how state government, and the private sector can enhance economic growth.

At TDA, we'll continue to encourage innovation and welcome new ideas.

For more ideas about any of these financing programs, contact us at P.O. Box 12847, Austin, 78711, or call (515) 463-7624.

Hawks not moaning; workouts start

KICKING OFF TWO-A-DAY PRACTICE SESSIONS
... senior Robert Denton gets his kicks in workout.

The Hawks weren't moaning and groaning during two-a-day workouts, which got underway Monday. It wasn't that the coaching staff was taking it any easier than in years past.

It was because of the unusually cool weather, brought on by a cool front and heavy cloud cover.

Usually, football players dread the start of two-a-days, because they always get underway during August. And August in this part of the country usually means temperatures in the 100-degree range.

But the thermometers were indicating about 20 degrees cooler, as the athletes in their shorts, t-shirts and helmets began preparation for the 1991 season.

Not only were the temperatures cooler, but, due to the wet field conditions brought on by rains, they worked out Monday inside the south gym at the high school.

Tuesday, however, they were back on the grassed practice turf.

Morning sessions get underway at 7:45, and last until around 10. They are back on the field at 5:30 in the afternoon for another two-hour workout.

After four days of workouts in shorts, the University Interscholastic League rules allow the players to put on their full pads, starting Friday.

The Hawks will have their pictures taken at 10 a.m. Saturday, and at 7 that evening they and their parents will be fed all the watermelon they can handle.

A departure from the past, no intrasquad scrimmage will be held this year.

The teams are slated to scrimmage Holliday Friday, Aug. 23, and the following Friday with Olney. Both scrimmages are set up to begin at 6 p.m., and both will be away.

The "real" season gets underway Sept. 5, when the freshmen and junior varsity play their first games at Burkburnett.

Burk's Bulldogs are to open the '91 season here, in Hawk Stadium, on Friday, Sept. 6.

Sale of season reserved seat tickets is now underway at the high school principal's office.

A book of tickets for all five home games, which includes Burkburnett, Decatur, Clyde (homecoming Sept. 27), Bridgeport and Breckenridge, is $25.

General admission tickets, sold in advance of games in the principal's office, will be $2 for students and $4 for adults.

However, all tickets sold at the gate will be $5, according to Richard Davis, principal.

Holder of 1990 season reserved seats will have until 4 p.m. Sept. 6 to claim those same seats, if they are desired.

SPORTS

Shorts

Former IPHS athlete Vance Edwards, who transferred to Burkburnett his last two year of eligibility, has signed a letter of intent to play baseball for Wayland Baptist Univ. at Plainview.

Bowie's big two-way lineman Doug Andraesen has accepted an invitation to try for a walk on opportunity this fall at Texas A&M Univ. The invitation, according to the Bowie News is to report Aug. 15 for football orientation and practice, as well as being housed in the athletic dorm.
