Gracie Lee undaunted by unusually hard life

By MYRNA SMITH

Pain, poverty, disappointment, loneliness, abuse, back-breaking work -- Gracie Lee has experienced it all during her lifetime that has spanned more than eight decades. Is she bitter? Doesn't she harbor anger and resentment?

The answer is no. However, she was left with some identifying traits that might be attributed to the hard years.

When one knows the story of the octogenarian's life it reminds you of a young tree that is blown and bent by unrelenting winds and just becomes much stronger because of its will to survive.

In addition to her never-say-die attitude, she has an undaunted spirit, a loving, giving attitude and an earnest desire to help others who are lonely, heartbroken or "down on their luck".

Gracie was born Oct 6, 1910, in Indian Territory and was raised in the small Indian community of Lee's Chapel and Muldrow, Okla.

When she was two her father died with "dropsy". When she was five, her mother died with German measles, leaving Gracie and her brother, the late Garvin Allen, formerly of Iowa Park, alone.

The children were sent to an orphanage and her brother was later adopted by relatives, but Gracie was left in the orphanage until she was eight years old. At that time she was adopted by a relative and spent most of her youth being passed around to different relatives.

She remembers that she worked at many hard jobs. Some of her relatives were cruel and abusive. She never had an opportunity for a formal education.

In her early teens Gracie ran away with a young Cherokee Indian, hoping to find the things she had never had and had always longed for -- love, security, happiness, and kindness.

Soon, the babies started coming. Nine of them in 20 years. That would not have been bad, if Gracie had found what she was looking for when she married.

But, she suffered great physical and mental abuse during her 22 years of marriage, protecting her children, and trying to leave, yet not knowing how she would provide for them.

Since this was during the Depression years, she and her husband faced rough economic times and endured great hardships. Her husband drank a lot and was violent and abusive when drinking. He left her and the children when the youngest was a year old.

Gracie had eight of her nine children at home with only a neighbor or midwife to help with delivery. Some she had before anyone got there to help her, and one she had completely alone.

The following day she would get out of bed to cook, clean, and help haul water. They had to carry all of the water they used more than a mile from the source. They lived in a house with a dirt floor.

Gracie did all of her washing on a rub board and since water was not easy to acquire, she saved the rinse water in the tubs for the children to bathe in.

By the time her seventh child was born, her oldest had left home and had a good job in Illinois. He bought his mother her first wringer-type washing machine.

Squirrel, rabbits, chickens, and a huge garden supplied most of their food. All garden produce was canned and berries, cherries and grapes were picked so Gracie and the children could make jellies, jams and cobblers. And one of Gracie's favorite foods became poke salad, which is still a favorite.

She passed on to her children some of the things she was taught at the orphanage. Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today, and to be grateful for whatever they had. She also taught them to "work hard, help others, and don't complain."

Everyone from the toddlers up worked to help make ends meet. The children had only one pair of shoes a year and they had to save them for winter and walk barefoot to school. They lived two miles from the school and all of Gracie's children and the neighboring children walked to school, rain, snow or sunshine.

Gracie made all of the children's clothes by hand. "I made diapers out of flour sacks," she remembered. Those years took their toll on Gracie's eyesight. She has been declared legally blind. The doctors say because of the years she sewed so much by the light of a kerosene lamp that her eyes were irreparably damaged.

After Gracie's husband left in 1951, she moved with six of her children to Iowa Park from Sallisaw, Okla., to begin a new search for happiness, near her brother. The six children ranged in age from 13 months to 14 years. The older ones had left home to find work.

When she came here housing that she could even think about affording was very hard to find. She finally found a two room house that was owned by Bertha Garner on North Victoria (where a mobile trailer park is now located) for the seven of them.

Gracie soon found a job as a dishwasher at the Circle L Cafe, at 504 E. Highway.

She remembers that the population at that time was probably around 2,000. There was only one school campus here at that time. Three of the six children were in school and they all worked.

All of the children who could picked cotton or pulled bolls in the Wichita Valley Farms for Jake Watson, Elmer Watts, and other farmers.

Gracie's other children who lived away helped financially as much as possible. Her brother bought a cow so the children would have milk and butter, and the oldest daughter at home, Patsy, always helped milk.

Gracie sold butter to T.M. Black's Grocery, and Jerry Don, one of the youngest sons at home went door to door selling milk. What was left always went to neighbors or to other needy people.

The youngest son, Jimmy, started shining shoes at Herman Rains Barber Shop for 50 cents a day on Saturdays. Two of the girls, Dorthy and Margie, worked in a snow cone stand for Rolland Battles, when they were 9 and 12.

They also worked for the C.L. Metz Restaurant and Bonanza Drive-In Restaurant, as well as Roland's Cafe.

Gracie began doing housework, along with her work at the cafe. Some of her first jobs she recalls were for Bonnie Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey, (the late Mrs. John B. Barbour's parents), Perle Pace, Barney Bradford,

WASHINGTON STREET PAVING COMPLETED - While the preparation work to completely rebuild Washington Street lasted more than a year, it took the work crews only two days, Thursday and Friday, to lay the asphalt surface. The only work yet to be completed on the state and federal funded project is cleaning up as a finishing touch.

Holliday superintendent announces he will retire

Dan Owen, superintendent of Holliday schools almost 14 years, announced his retirement to his board of trustees during Monday night's meeting.

The effective date of Owen's retirement would be Jan. 30, 1995, however. He explained he wanted to let his plans be known early, in order to become fully acquainted with that post before he left.

"Hopefully, the board will have the replacement in place by July 1st," said Owen, who is completing his 40th year in education.

In other business, trustees called the school's annual board election, approved seeking waivers for both class size and testing, and approved extension of contracts for key personnel.

Three positions on the board will as terms will expire of Dan Tucker, place one; Jack Parkey, place two, and Ralph Surles, place three.

All three incumbents filed for re-election Monday, the first day applications could be accepted.

Because the district is entering into a classroom construction program, a waiver from class limits for grades kindergarten through third will be sought.

The state has mandated that all than 22 pupils in a classroom. The other waiver, if approved by the Texas Education Agency, would relieve all high school students, grades nine through 12, from taking final examinations.

Extensions of contracts, through the 1995-96 school year, were approved for: Bill Lee, high school principal; Jake Cottrell, junior high principal; Tom Venhaus, elementary principal; Matt Robinson, athletic director and head football coach; Joe McGee, band director; Walter Lemons, counselor, and Jim Bob Wallace, vocational director.

Owen reported to the board that bids on steel products for the building construction would be opened the following day, and a called meeting of

Six candidates file for school trustee

Just two days after filing began for the May 7 school board election, six candidates have filed for the four open positions.

Only the three city council incumbents had filed for that election, which will be held the same day as the school's.

Actually, Monday was officially the first day for filing, under state regulations. But because it was a holiday, Tuesday became the opener.

Martha Dudley, incumbent for Place One on the school board, has filed, and is thus far unopposed. And Dennis Yeager, who has filled in the Place Five position after Robert Cook resigned, has filed to complete that term of office.

The two incumbents who already have drawn opponents are Wendall House, Place Two, and Sheri Kennedy, Place Three. Both have filed.

Newcomers Larry Dutton filed as a candidate for Place Two, and Bert

Williamson filed for Place Three.

Mayor Wayne House and aldermen Bud Mercer and Johnny Crawford are the only candidates to have filed for the city's election.

Candidates for both elections have until 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Mar. 23, to file for places on the ballots. Early voting will begin Apr. 18 and end May 3.

Two-inch rain reported

The extended dry spell that has caused concern, primarily for farmers and ranchers, was broken during the past week.

Though measurement reports varied widely, the area received between two and three inches of precipitation from systems that moved over the area late Saturday, most of Monday and Tuesday morning.

Virgil Woodfin said he measured .21 from Saturday's shower, .85 Monday night and 1.03 after it cleared Tuesday, for a total of 2.09.

Besides benefitting the wheat crop and pastures, as well as yards and gardens, runoff water enhanced a lot of completely dry stock tanks.

Several residents reported pea-size hail Monday, but no damage was reported from it. Some electric power lines were downed by high winds on Huntington Lane, but no structures were said to have been damaged in the Iowa Park area.

A bolt of lightning apparently struck an underground computer cable connecting equipment in city hall and the police station. Administrator Mike Price said three terminals were knocked out and staff was still reassembling data that had been stored on the machine's memory.

Trustees study candidates

The school board is apparently still some time away from naming a new athletic director and head football coach.

Trustees met in an executive session some two hours Tuesday night, out of which no action was taken.

No other meeting is scheduled before the board's next regular meeting on Mar. 7, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

As of yesterday morning, 66 application forms has been mailed out to prospects who have requested them, and 23 had already been returned.

The board continues to hold to its deadline of Friday, to cut off responding to requests for applications. However, if a request is made that day by telephone, it will be mailed.

Mitchell said the board has asked him to look at "those (applicants) who stand out," because "we have so many quality people" (who have applied).

In an earlier meeting, it was discussed that a possible selection might be made by mid March to replace Robert Clensay, who was reassigned.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

The passing this week of Olive Blalock from our midst has struck very close to home.

For almost 17 years, that lively and lovely lady was a member of the Leader family.

She was a welcomed and loyal addition to our staff back in late 1969. As newcomers, her knowledge of community and people proved invaluable to our fledgling publication.

And, as I recall, she never missed a day's work when she was physically able to make it to the office. For that matter, I don't remember of her having ever been late!

As our society editor, and previously a reporter for the old Herald, in addition to being correspondent to the Wichita Falls paper, Olive touched the lives of more people than anyone, other than possibly educators in the school.

She devoted the better part of 30 years as a newspaper reporter.

She delighted in composing lengthy and beautiful announcements of weddings, anniversaries, birth announcements, and meetings of various organizations.

Years after her retirement, she still complied to requests of friends to use her expertise in writing up the wedding of their children -- usually the offsprings of those about whom she had written wedding stories.

And, of course, she involved herself with everyone who was a member of the First Baptist Church, around which she built her life.

Iowa Park will never be the same, without Olive. But it is much the better community because she was here.

The late Oklahoma Sooner coach Bud Wilkinson got to see a lot of Iowa Park several years ago. In fact, he likely saw more of it than he had intended.

Native Iowa Parkan Jim Gard was in town shortly after Wilkinson's death on Feb. 9, and he recalled how it all happened.

Gard, a 1961 Iowa Park graduate, was recruited by Wilkinson to play football at Oklahoma Univ. The Head Sooner also recruited Roy Boutwell the previous year, as a matter of fact.

Anyway, Gard recalled that Wilkinson had come to Iowa Park to recruit him, while school was still in session.

But when the coach and his helper flew by private plane in to Wichita Valley Airport, they learned there wasn't any kind of public transportation into town.

Undaunted, and determined to make his trip worthwhile, the two walked down to the highway and hitchhiked the three miles.

They were dropped off about where the Good & Plenty Restaurant is now located, and walked over to the old W.F. George High School campus.

The two men then had to cool their heels until Gard finished his track workout.

Another problem. Gard didn't have a car. So the trio had to walk to where the old Farm Bureau Insurance office was located, on Wall, and Jim talked his mother out of lending him her's.

It just goes to show you. Any major college coach who is willing to go through what Wilkinson did, to get a player he wants, might be as successful as Wilkinson was.

That success, by the way, was to have a 17-season record of 145-29-4 and 14 conference championships.

He knew how to win football games. And before his tenure was over, he had a pretty good knowledge of the city of Iowa Park.

Four arrests over weekend

Four men were arrested over the weekend, according to the police blotter, and all were during separate incidents.

When officers arrived at a residence in the 300 block of East Alameda at 4:01 a.m. Saturday, in response to a 9-1-1 emergency phone call, they found a domestic disturbance underway.

John Paul Houston, 19, was taken into custody on a class C assault to prevent family violence charge. He was released at 7:54, on a personal recognizance bond.

At 8:04 that evening, an officer stopped a vehicle in the 200 block of South Yosemite on a routine traffic check.

When the customary computer check was requested on the occupants, one name the officer was given was not verified.

Then it was determined the suspect was Christopher Paul Johnson, 31, who had an outstanding warrant for his arrest issued by the Wichita County Sheriff's Dept., for parole violation and robbery.

Johnson was taken to the police station, but before he was turned over to a county deputy at 1 a.m., had an additional charge levied against him, for failure to identify.

Police were notified shortly after midnight Saturday of a man believed to be intoxicated and walking toward the high school campus.

Officers found Marty Allen McCasland, 31, on the school campus, and arrested him on a public intoxication charge. He was later released on a personal recognizance bond.

When officers made a traffic stop at 2:23 p.m. Sunday in the 200 block of West Bank, it was determined an occupant had an outstanding warrant for his arrest issued locally.

The suspect, Jeffery Hayes McKnight, 43, was wanted on a public intoxication charge. He later was released on a personal recognizance bond.

Police and volunteer emergency workers responded to the 1500 block of Karen Monday afternoon, after being informed a young boy had been bitten in the face by a dog.

The animal was taken into custody by the city's animal control officer, to be isolated during a usual rabies testing period.

However, Tuesday, the dog's owner volunteered to have the animal put to sleep and then tested for rabies, police said.

Neighboring residents of the 1300 block of Westridge filed criminal mischief complaints Thursday, when it was discovered their vehicles had been egged by vandals.

Council to meet Monday

Topics related to residential areas dominate the agenda for Monday night's meeting of the city council.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

Bids on two different phases of developing Park Place Addition will receive council consideration. They are for construction of streets and curbing and guttering. The other is for construction of water and sewer utilities.

The council agreed with developers Tommy Key and Tommy Hammonds to take care of those items, and be repaid, with interest, as the lots were sold for construction.

Also concerning those projects, a resolution will be considered for adoption to "authorize the mayor to execute an agreement" between the city and the developers, which has not yet been done.

A public hearing will be held on the requested annexation of a home on Quail Valley.

Also concerning housing, Administrator Mike Price is to discuss with the council the pending development of a housing area north of US 287 and west of FM 368.

Two appointments to the planning and zoning commission will be acted on during the meeting.

Price also is to discuss with the council a proposal to upgrade the city's computer equipment, which was damaged during Monday's electrical storm.

trustees would be at 5:30 this afternoon to act on them.

Another called meeting will be held next week to act on the bids on the balance of the construction project.

The early steel bid opening was held so that those materials to be ordered early and be delivered in time to not delay construction.

It was also noted that Holliday would become the fiscal agent for West Wichita Co-op effective July 1. The office at Valley View will continue to be utilized, because of its central location among member districts, Owen said.

Lee undaunted by hard life Continued from page 1

Dr. Tommy and Helen Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Erwin Soell, Charles Miller, Buddy and Brownie Tanner, the Bosleys, the Abernathys, Archie Bryant, Ethyle Kidwell, China B. Smith family, Mrs. George Hoge, Mrs. Palm, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harlin.

As each of Gracie's children graduated, they would help with the remaining ones to see that everyone completed school.

The family's first Christmas in Iowa Park is one of the highlights of their life in their memories. They all consider it the happiest one they can remember.

During their life in Oklahoma, they never had received any type of Christmas gifts. Most people could not afford them.

That first Christmas at Gracie Lee's house on N. Victoria in Iowa Park was a jubilant one.

Then Mayor Bert Van Horn brought a Christmas tree with all of the trimmings and took the oldest daughter (now Patsy Frazier) and bought her first pair of high heel shoes.

Other merchants and businessmen in Iowa Park brought all kinds of food and gifts for all of the children. The first gifts, dolls, are kept by the girls today. Thereafter, Iowa Park made sure that Christmas was a special occasion for Gracie's family in years to come.

Some of the merchants who were so kind and generous were Fred Hays, who owned Rexall Drug Store at that time, Rollins Woodall, Claude Reaves IGA Grocery and Black's Grocery.

The family had no car or television at that time. Everyone walked where they wanted to go, to the grocery, church or school. They were members of the Church of God on Cash Street at that time.

Gracie now is a member of the First Assembly of God where her son-in-law and daughter, Charles and Betty Hensley, pastor.

"All of my children are married," Gracie said, "and I have 17 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren with No. 16 on the way by my granddaughter, Kathy Frazier Arledge."

She also has three ministers in her family. Her children are Floyd of Rockford, Ill., Norma Compton of Wichita, Kans., Betty Hensley, Patsy Frazier, Margie Negri, and Jaynell Manuel, all of Iowa Park, Dorothy Major of Lawrenceville, Ga., Jerry of Dallas, and Jimmy of Plano.

Jimmy has wanted his mother to move to Plano to be near him, but she has refused. He tells her she just doesn't want to leave the girls. But, Gracie says, "I don't want to leave Iowa Park."

"The people in Iowa Park were so kind, generous and giving to me and my children when we had no one to help us. They became a 'parent' to our family and I and my nine children will never forget how they helped in our great time of need," Gracie said.

They also have given her encouragement and care through three surgeries. She had gall bladder surgery, then cancer surgery, which was a trying time, but there were many prayers said for her and when she had the surgery the pathologist's report came back there were no cancer cells present.

Later she broke a hip and a wrist in two places. She was told that she could never cross her legs again and that she would not be able to bend over, but with her determination and the help from her children, who all took turns in staying with her, even those who do not live here, she is able to do both.

"I have tried to keep the giving spirit of Iowa Park people alive in my children by teaching them to give and help others. I have tried to give back to the residents of Iowa Park, by helping the elderly in the rest home, those that have lost a mate, or those that are sick. In fact, I would like to publicly thank the town for all the many kindnesses shown me and my children over these 43 years I have been a resident," Gracie said. And thoughtfully added, "The greatest gift in all the world is a loving, helping hand."

The story has a happy ending. Gracie found security, happiness, kindness and love in this community. She said, "My husband remarried after he left in 1951 and he and his wife and five children by that marriage are all loved and respected by me and my children. Both families truly care for each other and we visit several times a year."

Gracie then voiced the thought and action that has probably been responsible for the form her own life has taken through the years, "We must forgive and go on and be kind and loving to each other."

Thinclads enter relays

Iowa Park High's track teams will try out their conditioning tomorrow, when they go to Burk Burnett for that school's annual relays.

Other than relay teams competing, the only events in which individuals will compete are hurdles and two field events: discus and shot put.

Their first regular meet will be the following Saturday, at Mineral Wells.

The annual Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays will be held Mar. 26 in Hawk Stadium. During that meet, the first installation into the Hawk Track Hall of Fame will be introduced.

Joint PTA Meeting

A combined meeting of Kidwell and Bradford PTA units will be held Tuesday, March 1, at 7 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Counselors Janet Bowling and Diane Granbery will introduce a new program that they want to use in each of the schools to educate children about good and bad touches.

The program is used by the Junior League of Wichita County to go into classrooms in the Wichita Falls School District.

The program is written by a first grade teacher in Oregon, Elaine Krause, who is convinced that parents, educators, and professionals who work with children need to educate children about the problem of child sexual abuse in a positive nurturing way.

Title of the program that is to be used with first graders is "Speak Up and Say No!". The program for the third grade classes is titled "For Pete's Sake Tell!".

Every parent of both schools is encouraged to attend this previewing and take the opportunity to voice their opinion about the format and content of the two programs.

Mrs. David Brady

Sarah (Mrs. David) Brady told us that she has always loved to cook and, at an early age, was taught how to prepare a meal by her mother.

If you were among those who went on the RAC's Christmas Tour of Homes last December, you know that her mother taught her well. After trying the delicious candies, cookies, cakes and breads that she had prepared, visitors on the tour had nothing but compliments, and she was besieged with requests for the recipes.

Sarah let us use several of those when we ran the "Holiday Recipes," and promised that later on, she would be the Cook of the Week.

Sarah has a large family who live in this area, and they get together about once a month for pot luck dinners. The recipes she is sharing with our readers this week are her favorites to use for these occasions.

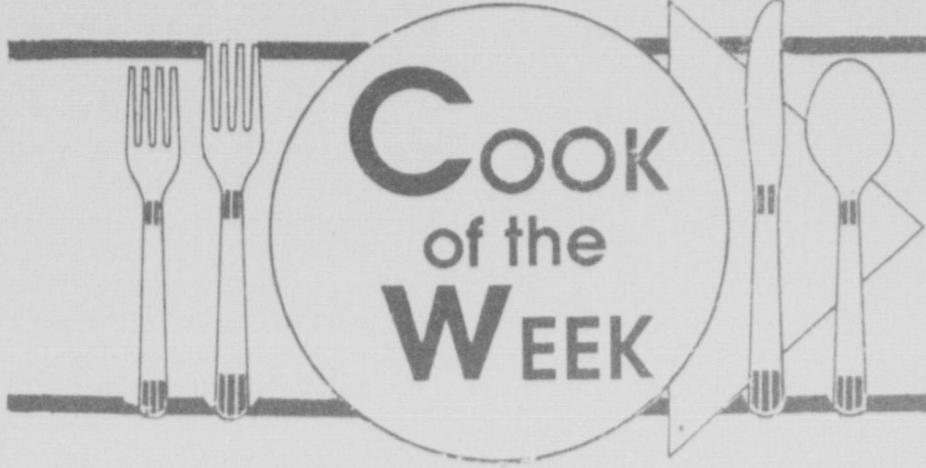

Sarah was born in Holliday, but after she married, lived in Maryland, Michigan and Florida while her husband David was in the Air Force.

Sarah has had a home day care for the past 15 years, which keeps her very busy, and David, her husband of 40 years, is market manager at 9th St. Food Store in Wichita Falls. They have two children and five grandchildren. Their daughter, Sheri (Mrs. Randy) Heidrich, lives in Iowa Park, and son Michial lives in Lewisville.

For relaxation, Sarah likes to travel, go for long walks, and read. She said that she enjoys all sports, especially the Hawks, Texans, and Dallas Cowboys.

Lady Hawk linksters place third

The Iowa Park Lady Hawks golf team made a strong showing in their first outing of the spring season on Monday, at the Top of Lake Country Club in Bowie.

Despite playing in a steady drizzle and occasional rain, the Lady Hawks shot a team score of 436, to finish behind teams from Burkburnett and Graham. Twelve teams competed.

The Green team, composed of Kerri Bauer, Kasey Gray, Jodi Young, Briana Stalker and Sarah Kennedy, finished fourth, defeating all Dist. 4-AAA teams except Graham's returning state qualifying first team.

The 436 total beat Graham's returning regional qualifying second team by nine strokes, Breckenridge by 68, Bowie by 102 and Henrietta by 109 strokes.

The White team, composed of Jennifer Ricks, Nikki Williams, Chrystal Goad, Tiffany Phillips and Sandy Rusk, shot 473, also beating Breckenridge, Bowie and Henrietta.

Low scorers for Iowa Park were Young, whose 96 was fifth low overall; Gray, 105; Williams, 109, and Phillips, 111.

Described as the most outstanding shot of the tournament was one by Goad. Her tee shot on the 105-yard par three fourth hole hit the flag stick and came to rest three feet away. She sunk her birdie putt.

Complete team results were:

1. Graham A - 374
2. Burkburnett A - 394
3. Burkburnett B - 414
4. Iowa Park Green - 436
5. Graham B - 445
6. Iowa Park White - 473
7. Breckenridge - 504
8. Grafford - 521
9. Bowie - 538
10. Henrietta - 545
11. Azle - 581
12. Forestburg - 591

Hawks vs. Bulldogs for baseball opener

The Baseball Hawks are to play their first game of the season Friday at Burkburnett, following a preliminary junior varsity game.

The club held a scrimmage two weeks ago against the Wichita Falls Coyotes.

Tomorrow's first game is to get underway at 4:30 p.m., and the varsity contest is expected to begin about 7.

The clubs will be back on the diamonds Monday, against Wichita Falls High: varsity at Hoskins Field and junior varsity at the Old High field, both starting at 4 p.m.

First of three tournaments for the Hawks will be Friday and Saturday of next week, at Childress.

Coach David Fuhrman is expecting this year's version of the Hawks to do even better than his 1993 club. But if they only match that record, most local fans will be happy.

The Hawks finished Dist. 4-AAA play as runners up to Graham. But once they got into the playoffs, they didn't stop until the first round of the state tournament in Austin.

So the second-place-in-district club finished in third place in the state.

First conference game will be April 8 against Vernon, and the final district game is scheduled May 10.

SPORTS

Shorts

Brent Brown, who was a key player the past two years for the Hawks, has been selected to play for Texas in this summer's annual Oil Bowl in Wichita Falls.

SS SS SS SS SS

Breckenridge High is in its fledgling season of girls' softball, but Coach Jerry Gibson likely feels pretty good about his team's prospects. The club opened its schedule with a 24-0 shut-out over Windthorst, and then came back with an 18-1 win over Bowie.

SS SS SS SS SS

Iowa Park has not moved to field a girls' softball team, after that competition was initiated last year by the University Interscholastic League.

RAC established as 'Safe Place'

In a ceremony Tuesday morning, the Recreational Activities Center became the first Safe Place site in Iowa Park.

Safe Place is an outreach program of the Teen Emergency Shelter in Wichita Falls. The shelter serves teens, 13-17, who seek help because they are runaways, experiencing troubled family situations, substance abuse, physical or sexual abuse, neglect, etc.

RAC director, Jo Lynn Cockrum, is Safe Place Coordinator for Iowa Park. Joining Cockrum for the unveiling of the Safe Place symbol were Iowa Park Mayor Wayne House, Tom Taylor, North Texas Safe Place Coordinator, and Dolores Hamilton, president of the RAC Board of Directors. Former Iowa Park resident, Kelli

Moore-Valdez, Program Director for the Teen Emergency Shelter, was also in attendance along with several volunteers and representatives of Safe Place sites in Iowa Park.

When a teenager enters a Safe Place site and requests help, a site employee provides the youngster with a place to wait while the shelter is called. Within 20 minutes a Safe Place volunteer arrives, and if shelter services are needed, the teen is taken to the shelter.

The shelter provides 24-hour-a-day care and supervision; individual, group, and family counseling; crisis intervention; shelter and food; community referral service, and several adult living skills programs.

Teens are allowed to stay at the shelter for no more than 30 days on a voluntary basis with permission from a parent. They must continue their schooling while at the shelter, and if they have a job, the shelter will help provide transportation to and from work.

Ken's Pizza and Pizza Hut are the other Safe Place Site locations in Iowa Park. A diamond-shaped symbol with a large figure hugging a smaller figure will be displayed at each of the sites.

More volunteers and Safe Place Sites are needed in Iowa Park, and those who are interested should contact Mrs. Cockrum at 592-4471.

Powerlifters improving

Members of Iowa Park High's weightlifting team have consistently been improving on their skills, and have their sights on the regional meet which will be held here Saturday, Mar. 12.

In their first meet of the season, held here Jan. 22, Iowa Park placed fifth. They were third at Nocona Feb. 5, and sixth in a strong 18-team field Saturday at Sanger.

Most consistent high placer of the team has been junior Phillip House. Competing in the 198-pound class in the first two meets, he was first with lifts of 1,140 and 1,190, respectively.

Last week, he intentionally moved up to the 220-pound class, and still placed third with a 1,205.

Troy Radford, in the 181 class, lifted 1,030 for third here; 1,085 for second at Nocona, and then, despite placing only second, set a school record 1,110 at Sanger.

Shane Bagley is another who has shown a marked improvement in strength. He competes in the 132-pound class, placing fifth with a 755 here and again fifth at Sanger, but with a total lift of 810.

Coach Steve Stewart said this weekend's meet is the final event for lifters to establish their qualifying marks for the regional meet.
