Homecoming a 3-day affair

It's homecoming weekend for Iowa Park High School students and ex-students.

The three-day event begins this evening with a bonfire, and climaxes Saturday evening with the 25th annual Ex-Student Association banquet.

Sandwiched in between will be the traditional parade, coronation of queen, and, of course, the big football game.

This year's bonfire will be held next to the city's public works complex, located south of the city limits, next to the irrigation ditch on FM 368. It is to begin at 8 p.m.

Parking can prove to be a problem, however. Vehicles will be allowed to park inside the public works yard and along the road, but only on the east side.

No parking will be allowed on the west side, because authorities fear that much foot traffic crossing the busy road could result in serious injuries.

Athletic Booster Club officers are encouraging all who attend the bonfire to have their green towels and bandanas.

The homecoming parade is to get underway at 4 p.m. Friday. Participants have been assigned to starting places on North Park, North Bond, Park Ave. and Bank. Participants are encouraged to be in their places by 3:45.

The route of the parade will begin in front of the post office. It will travel west on Cash, turn north on Yosemite, back east on Park, circle back west again to Yosemite, continue to Bank, and turn back east, where it will disband after passing Wall.

Coronation of homecoming queen will take place on the football field, starting at 7:30 that evening. Candidates include Rachel Thompson, Jolene Hodges, Christie Catlin and Cheri Halady.

The football game, between Iowa Park and Frederick, Okla., will kick off at 8.

The Cominghome Queen drawing will be held during halftime of the football game. A drawing will be made from registration cards deposited by former students at the stadium.

Saturday's Ex-Student Association banquet will be held in the high school cafeteria, beginning at 7 p.m. Theme of this year's event is "A JACK-POT of memories."

The meal, to be catered by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners, will include ham, potato salad, green beans, hot rolls and cheese cake.

A tradition of the event is to have special recognition for all graduating classes whose years end, this year, with two.

Classes included will be 1932, '42, '52, '62, '72 and '82.

Association officers, elected last year, include: Lisa Ezzell, president; Judy Reid, first vice president; Gay Williams, second vice president; Lela Mercer, recording secretary; Jo Patterson, corresponding secretary; Patsy Cope, treasurer, and Denise Henderson, reporter.

The association will host an open house from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, at the Friendly Door, 100 W. Cash.

Local sales tax increase leads entire county

Although every community in Wichita County is reporting an increase in sales tax collections for the year, Iowa Park is far ahead of the other three, according to this month's report from the state comptroller's office.

The city received its monthly check from Austin in the amount of $15,980.55, a 21.23-percent gain over

Whoop-T-Do is Saturday

The Whoop-T-Do, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, helps make homecoming weekend the major event of the year in Iowa Park.

Designed to provide an activity for those who return to the city for the big homecoming football game on Friday, something to do until the Ex-Students Association banquet Saturday evening, a carnival-like program was developed.

The Chamber provides booth spaces for any non-profit organization located within the Iowa Park school district, as well as an allied display area for arts and crafts enthusiasts.

Non-profit organizations have come to depend on the big day to generate as their major fund-raising activity.

As has been the case most of the years, the non-profit booths will be located in the 100 block of East Cash, as well as some on Wall.

The arts and crafts enthusiasts use space on the sidewalk in the 200 block of North Wall, 100 block of West Cash, and often wrap around onto Park Ave.

Booths reserved this year through the Chamber include:

- Special Olympics
- Iowa Park Lions Club
- Chamber of Commerce
- First Christian Church (inside)
- Girl Scouts
- Christ the King Catholic Church
- Evening Lions Club (3 booths)
- Rotary Club
- Amity Club
- Cub Scouts Pack 7
- Optimist Club (3 booths)
- Cosmetology and VICA
- Lakeview Church Youth
- 4-H Club
- Athletic Booster Club
- Post Office
- Future Farmers of America
- Cornestone Church
- 4-H Puppy People
- Fire Department Auxiliary
- Choir Booster Club
- Future Homemakers of America
- Lakeview Church of God (2 booths)
- Soccer Association
- Library
- Bradford P-TA
- Camp Fire
- Junior High P-TA

Hawks to host Frederick Bombers

It's been 15 years since the Iowa Park Hawks have played a football game against a competitor from Oklahoma, but that dry spell comes to an end here Friday night.

The Frederick Bombers will face the Hawks in Iowa Park High's annual homecoming contest, which is to get underway at 8 p.m. in Hawk Stadium.

Frederick was ranked second among Class AAA teams in the Sooner State prior to losing 35-7 last week to sixth-ranked Class AAAA Clinton. The Bombers have since been dropped to eighth place.

They had opened the season with a 35-0 shutout against Pauls Valley, and are now 1-1 on the season.

Iowa Park played Ardmore in the seasons of 1972-73, and then went four seasons against Lawton High, that ended in 1977.

Iowa Park is having its trouble getting untracked thus far this season, under new head coach Robert Clensay. They fell short on a comeback attempt in the opener to Burkburnett, 21-19, and last week fell 26-14 to Childress.

"Not scoring on those first two drives and a dropped pass," were spelled major problems for the Hawks last week, according to Clensay.

Some of the Hawks who have been sidelined with injuries are "possibles" to return to action this week, and that could have a major impact on the team's performance.

Senior Mark Tatum, who suffered a hairline fracture to a bone in his foot against Burkburnett, returned this week to the practice field. Tatum is a starting linebacker, and was switched to runningback when Scott Byrd broke a bone in his foot.

Senior linebacker Mark de la Rosa was said by the Head Hawk to be "questionable, but trying to get back into play." He continues to recover from knee surgery performed in the summer.

Byrd's injury was evaluated over the weekend, and will remain in a cast at least three more weeks.

Jason Kaiser suffered a dislocated knee cap in last week's game against the Bobcats, and has not been working out this week.

Another Hawk who left the field Friday was Jason Houston, but he was back on the practice field Monday, Clensay said.

The Bombers are big, fast, and hard-hitting, according to the scouting report.

They have 10 players who range in weight from 200 to 275 pounds. The roster is made up of 14 seniors, 16 juniors and 16 sophomores.

With a 210-pound fullback and a pair of 185-pound halfbacks, and big offensive linemen, Frederick likes to take the ball straight at the opposing defense, mainly between the tackles.

Two Iowa Parkans are recognized

Two Iowa Parkans have received recognition for their professionalism as educators.

They were selected to represent the Region Nine Education District in state competition, as being the best of the year.

Dorothy (Mrs. Robert) Palmer, was chosen as the Elementary Teacher of the Year, and Annetta (Mrs. Earnie) Reusch as the Secondary Teacher of the Year.

Mrs. Palmer is a first grade teacher at Kidwell Elementary, and Mrs. Reusch teaches journalism and is yearbook sponsor at Wichita Falls High School.

Month's rainfall now totals 1.42

Iowa Park received .34 of an inch rainfall from a weather system that moved over the area Thursday, ac-ording to Virgil Woodfin. Thursday's shower raised the month's total to 1.42.

Open house next week at Kidwell

Open house will be held three evenings next week at Kidwell Elementary, according to Ron Woods, principal.

Open house will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, on individual grade levels.

Monday will be for parents and students of second grade, early childhood and SPH; Tuesday, kindergarten and pre-kindergarten, and Thursday for first grade.

Parents and their children are asked to go directly to the student's classroom upon arrival.

Bradford offers homework hotline

Bradford Elementary has initiated its "Hawk Homework Hotline," to help parents of students who've forgotten their homework assignments. Principal Pat Cravens has announced.

Parents can call 720-2224 after 4 p.m., and receive a recording of homework assignments given daily for each grade level.

County commits to disputed agreement

An agreement was approved by both the Wichita County commissioners court and city of Wichita Falls, that could lead to the expenditures of tax money for the operation of the multi-purpose event center.

But the county's approval was by a 3-2 vote of the court.

Voting on the county's part took place during a meeting Monday. The commissioners' courtroom was filled to a point of standing room only.

The plan for covering expenses of maintenance and operation was explained, that monies produced by the "undesignated" Wichita Falls hotel/motel tax would supplement revenues generated by facility use fees.

The hotel/motel tax generates approximately $600,000 annually, but part of that is used to assist the finances of the Wichita Falls BCI, commission of the arts, convention bureau and others.

Commissioner Weldon Nix, of Burkburnett, was the first to express concern about the wording of the agreement, which states, "In the event the revenues derived from the operations of the center and the undesignated hotel/motel occupancy tax revenues are insufficient to fund the approved annual budget of the center, then in that event the ultimate financial responsibility rests equally with the city and the county if funds are available."

Nix stated, "I've been assured all along that the city would operate it, and the hotel fee to be used is to be unfunded portion. We (county) don't have any way to fund it other than tax money."

Jan Yeager, who was a leader in the development of the center, as well as getting bond elections passed to finance purchase of land and construction, said state law limits expenditure of hotel/motel tax to 75 percent for any single purpose.

Commissioner Nix suggested that the wording of the agreement state 75 percent of the occupancy tax be used, because future elected bodies might not want to continue with the wording as it is.

Wichita Falls Mayor Michael Lamb, who was in the audience, pointed out the current council could not obligate future councils by such an agreement.

"I feel real confident dealing with the present council," responded Nix. "But it (council membership) could change. This could involve millions of dollars."

Iowa Park's commissioner, Gordon Griffith, suggested the city might designate increased general sales tax revenue to help pay for the costs, since the center is supposed to attract more business to that city.

None of the elected officials would agree to that, however, explaining it would be difficult to determine what new sales tax money was generated by the center, and what increases came from other business operations.

Huff, Durham vows exchanged Saturday

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in Pacific Avenue Baptist Church, Miss Tammie Renee Huff became the bride of Andrew Lee Durham.

Rev. Larry Washburn, former pastor of the church, directed the double ring marriage vows.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Huff of Iowa Park and Durham is a son of Sandra Ramzy of Mineral Wells.

Prelude music, the Wedding March and recessional were provided by Andrea Blackwell, pianist. Taped music played during the nuptials was in charge of Cecil Gilmore. Selections included "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Endless Love," and "Everything I Do".

An archway garlanded with flowers of teal and hot pink, the bride's wedding colors, was crowned with votive candles. On either side of the central archway were marble based candelabras.

The bride was presented for marriage by her father. Her bridal gown of satin and lace was embellished on the front and short sleeves with simulated pearls and sequins.

It was styled with a graceful princess bodice, featuring a regal Queen Anne neckline, and accented the lace trimmed basque waist leading to the skirt that had pretty bow pick-ups. A double tier lace flounce circled the bottom of the full skirt.

She wore a butterfly wreath of satin flowers interwoven with simulated pearls and iridescent sequins, that held a fingertip veil.

She carried a bouquet of white, teal and hot pink roses tied with pink and teal satin ribbon and streamers.

Maid of honor was Lexi Gerhart of Wichita Falls. Bridesmaids were Gloria Vasquez and Michelle Ferralses, both of Wichita Falls.

They wore tea-length gowns of teal roses.

Megan Thames of Iowa Park was flower girl. She wore a dress of hot pink.

Ring bearer was Bryan Gerhart of Wichita Falls.

Ray Durham of Mineral Wells served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Travis Strickland and David Biera, both of Wichita Falls. Serving as ushers were Michael Shook of Wichita Falls and Albert Collins of Kamay.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with pink tie and cummerbund and a boutonniere of teal and pink.

Male attendants and the ring bearer wore black tuxedos with teal ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnières were pink.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Sheila Haynes secured signatures of guests for the bride's book.

The bride's four tiered cake, trimmed with pink and teal flowers and a fountain running pink liquid, was the focal point of the bride's table. Servers were Kami Franke and Christy Chandler.

After their return from a wedding trip to Dallas the newlyweds will make their home in Wichita Falls.

The rehearsal dinner was given by Glenda Thames and Brandon Brosch in her home.

Mrs. Andrew Lee Durham
(Miss Tammie Renee Huff)

The bride is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and attended Midwestern State University. She is employed at Wichita Falls State Hospital.

Durham graduated Mineral Wells High School. He is employed by Wal-Mart in Wichita Falls.

Out of town guests included Richard and Emma Dean of Gainesville, Tommy and Patsy Skinner of Nocona, Harry Don and Kari Reed of Nocona, and the groom's mother, Sandra Ramzy of Mineral Wells.

Look Who's New

Lt. and Mrs. Chuck Devenport of Heidleberg, Germany announce the birth of a son Sept. 15.

The baby weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces, is 20 and three-fourths inches long, and has been named Ross Edward. He has a sister, Lauren, 15 months old.

Grandparents are Carlton and Shirley Hicks of Iowa Park and Charles and Berta Devenport of Rogers, Ark.

Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Tommye Choate of Healdton, Okla., and Mrs. Lucille Holder of Wilson, Okla.

Mrs. Devenport is the former Alisa Hicks.

RAC NEWS

by Jo Lynn Cockrum

Bridge Club

With two tables in play, Ann Guthrie had the high score of 4,950, and Dorothy Ward had second high with 4,870. We are still in need of more people to start Bridge lessons. If you would like to learn, please call the RAC at 592-4471.

Weight Watchers

Weight Watchers would like to hold regular meetings at the RAC beginning Sept. 24. This will require at least 20 members. We are about half way there, so if you would like to attend, please call or come by the RAC to register.

Aerobics

The RAC is offering morning aerobics three times a week (Monday, Wednesday and Fridays) and also evening aerobics on Mondays. There is plenty of room in all classes, so please take advantage of this fun form of exercise. Class fees are $20 per month for A.M. Aerobics and $10 per month for P.M. Aerobics. You may call the RAC for further information or to register.

Calligraphy

Plans are underway to start a special class in calligraphy during October. This unique form of writing is fun to learn and would be a beautiful asset to your Christmas cards this holiday season. Registration will be required and class space will be limited, so call the RAC soon to reserve your spot on the roll. Further information on class fees and supplies will be posted in this column as soon as finalized.

Fun Run

The HOG Fun Run held at the RAC last Saturday was a great success, with approximately 75 bikes registered. Those attending enjoyed some wonderful food prior to beginning the motorcycle games and Bingo Run.

Thanks to the Harley Owners Group for bringing this fun event to the RAC. Special thanks to the Gilmore family members and to the participating RAC board members for your many talents in cooking, organizing, and enjoying a good time! We would also like to express our appreciation to the many merchants who contributed door prizes, including Chief Auto Parts, Annie's Casuals, J&J Choppers, Eddie Hills, and Catlin Quick Change.

Garden Club plans year during Friday meeting

For their first meeting since summer break, fifteen members of the Iowa Park Garden Club met Friday morning at the RAC. Four guests were welcomed, and include Ruth Blizard, Vivian Medlinger, Aereus Spruiell, and Pat Zeigler from Hanover, Pa.

Louise Clapp gave the president's welcome. Her theme for the year is "Plant Today to Beautify Tomorrow."

The inspirational thought entitled "If Nobody Smiled" was given by Ginger Young, and members answered roll call with the number of years that they have been a Garden Club member.

During the business session, Denise Gilmore, vice-president, handed out the yearbooks and reported on the various activities and programs that the club will be engaged in during the next nine months.

Stormy Mikkelsen, flower show chairman, suggested that since the Whoop-T-Do will be early this year, members will not have the time needed to prepare for the annual flower show which in the past has been held during homecoming weekend. Members agreed and decided to hold the annual event in conjunction with the Iowa Park RAC Arts and Crafts Fair to be held later in the year.

Jo Gilbert, community service chairman, reported on the various projects that the club will undertake this year. These included the upkeep of the flower beds at Kidwell School and the RAC, and the decorating at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library during Christmas.

Treasurer Charlette Kennedy reported that a monetary contribution would be made to the Iowa Park Food Pantry this week.

Gladys James said that the yard of Robin Fox, 311 W. Magnolia, had been named Yard of the Month for September.

After the business session, Nell Copening showed a video presentation of highlights from the club's 91-92 year.

Hostesses for the meeting were members of the social committee, and included Pam James, Nell Copening, Amy Conley, and Maryanne Gilmore. They served refreshments from a table covered with a white cloth and decorated with a fresh arrangement of pink and white mums and baskets of pink roses.

50 participate in CROP Walk

The fifth annual "Hawks Against Hunger" CROP Walk was held Sunday, with approximately 50 walkers taking part in the activity.

All monies need to be turned in Monday, Sept. 21 between 6 and 8 p.m. at the RAC, 806 N. Third.

Those who picked up packets but did not participate are asked to please return the packet to the RAC by Sept. 21.

Those who have questions may contact Sheri Kennedy at 592-5134 or the RAC, 592-4471.

Former resident to be honored

Scotland Baptist Church will honor former Iowa Parkan Bro. Carl Kent Sunday, Oct. 27.

He had served as pastor of the church from 1979 to 1988.

During the special morning worship service, a plaque honoring Kent's work will be unveiled.

Following the service, a fellowship meal at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Scotland will be held.

Residents interested in attending the service and fellowship are asked to contact Doug Albus, 592-5492, or Mike Price, 592-9747.

Lorrie Donn Moser and Tim Shafer

January wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Don Moser of Iowa Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Lorrie Donn, to Tim Shafer, son of Ruth Ann Shafer of Jayton and Darryl Shafer of Sterling City.

The couple will be married Jan. 29 at Lamar Baptist Church.

Camp Fire leader sought for group

Someone to volunteer as a leader for a group of Second Grade Camp Fire members is being sought locally.

Leaders are already functioning for groups of Kindergarten, First, Third and Fourth Grade students.

Anyone interested in volunteering can contact Debra Williamson, 592-5614, or Chris Proctor, 322-5209.

The leader would have the opportunity to set the time and date of the week for the group to meet.

Miss Moser is a 1988 graduate of Iowa Park High School, a 1990 graduate of Western Texas College and will graduate in December from Tarleton State University, Stephenville.

Shafer is a graduate of Jayton High School and a 1991 graduate of Texas State Technical College in Sweetwater. He is employed by Paleo Mechanics.

Philia Study Club begins year with salad supper, fashion show

The new club year for Philia Study Club began Monday evening with a salad supper at the home of Lana Gates. Raydean Mattis was co-hostess.

Johnna Adams, owner of a fashion business and local school teacher, presented a style show with Linda Springer and Lana Gates as models.

A variety of styles and colors in knit fabrics were presented, with ways to accessorize for different looks.

Sue Tate, president, conducted the business meeting during which Mrs.

Springer, Myrna Sharpe and Dee Decker were appointed to investigate and present suggestions for projects for the coming year.

Mrs. Mattis gave the meditation and led the group in singing "America the Beautiful."

Jean Johnson, food chairman for the local combined federated club meeting in November, discussed plans for that meeting.

Ten members and one guest answered roll call by naming their favorite color to wear.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

I couldn't have thought of a more appropriate date for this year's annual IPHS homecoming.

Few, other than us newspaper-types, would be likely to notice, but this issue is Number 1 of Volume 24.

What that means is, we begin our 24th year of publication with this week's issue of the Iowa Park Leader.

That's right. We've been in Iowa Park 23 years now. Gosh, how time does fly.

In fact, our first issue was dated the 18th of September, 1969.

It's interesting to think back, and realize all the changes that have taken place in our community over that period of time. Most of them have been good, but some not so good.

When one stops to think about it, the majority of residents today likely don't even know there has ever been another newspaper in this city, than the Leader.

One of the ways I gauge our length of time here is being aware of students in high school over the years.

I've already seen students graduate whose parents were in high school when we moved here. And it could be in the not-so-distant future, some of their grandchildren will be receiving their diplomas, also.

Iowa Park has been good to the Hamiltons and the newspaper. There aren't many businesses still in existence that were here 23 years ago. And some of those continuing the names that were operating when we came, have been changed in ownerships.

As I've said in this space, in previous articles concerning our anniversaries, we appreciate your readership, advertising and encouragement. Without your support, we fully realize that we could not continue to exist.

And we will continue trying harder to justify our existence.

Just one more year to go. I was told when I got here, and often remained afterward, that I'd continue to be a "newcomer" until I'll begin my 25th year here.

That's not far off, anymore.

MAYOR WAYNE HOUSE HOLDS PUBLIC HEARING AT BRADFORD ELEMENTARY ... with Janice Newman, City Secretary, and City Administrator Gary Jones at his side.

Principals say school start 'smooth'

Despite the fact their classrooms were almost filled to capacity, due to increases in student enrollment, school district principals report the opening of their campuses for the new year "went smoothly and without problems."

Their reports were made during the regular monthly board of trustees' meeting Tuesday evening.

Every campus has increased enrollment this fall, taking the district's total to 2,033, which is 86 more than at this time last year, trustees were told.

There are 501 students attending Kidwell Elementary, 486 at Bradford Elementary, 477 at the junior high and 569 at the high school.

Kidwell principal Ron Woods said the first couple of days were more like a "Chinese fire drill," with all the additional kindergarten students, but no major problems resulted.

Kidwell's kindergarten classes were converted from half-day, all-year to all-day, all-year for the first time, resulting in an additional 70-plus students in that class alone, on opening day.

Woods also mentioned his school would be holding open house for parents next Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, and installation of a canopy over the walkway to the temporary classroom buildings was underway.

Bradford principal Pat Cravens told trustees that her building is very quiet the first 15 minutes of each day. That period is set aside strictly for reading, both by students, faculty and staff.

She also told of a new service to parents, a telephone answering service that can be called by parents whose children have forgotten their homework assignments.

At the high school, principal Richard Davis said he has five classes with 30 students and another with 32, due to increased enrollment. Many of his increase were late enrolling, which created problems in scheduling, he explained.

High school student report cards are to be produced by a newly-installed computer, but it will not be put into effect by the end of the first six-weeks period, which will be Sept. 25, he said.

Explaining, Davis said the computer program requires considerable information to be typed in, and that will not be accomplished in time.

So, Davis said, the first report cards will be hand-written.

Randy Lovelady, junior high principal, was unable to give his report because he was attending the season-opening football games of his students.

At the beginning of the meeting, trustees recognized more than 50 students who competed last spring in state-level competition.

Most were Vocational Agriculture students, and the rest were VICA, team debate, show choir and solo and ensemble band students.

The board approved bids for the purchase of 32 computers, 11 printers, related equipment and six computer tables.

Computer & Software Library of Wichita Falls was selected for the computers and printers, though their bid was about $1,000 higher than the lowest of six bids received.

The firm's equipment matches that of other computers already in use at the high school, and officials recommended them highly for consistency purposes.

Actually, the winning firm had submitted another bid which also was recommended, but it was for computers with more memory than was specified as the minimum required on the bid sheet.

Board members suggested that if the additional memory was needed for the 18 computers to be used at the high school were necessary, component parts of the machines could be upgraded.

The other 14 computers in the bid are intended for use at the junior high, as were the six computer tables.

Bids accepted were $35,113.30 for the computers and related equipment, and $422.40 for the tables.

City seeking grant for sewer line

The city council Monday night took the second step toward applying for a grant which, if approved, is expected to alleviate most of the sewer problems in the south part of town.

Aldermen took no action on naming a new police chief, but instead opted to hold a called meeting the following Monday to select finalists to be interviewed.

The city's application for a grant to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs for a Texas Community Development Program grant will now be forwarded to compete with other regional municipalities also seeking grants.

A similar grant application almost was approved last year, Mayor Wayne House said.

If approved, the monies would be used to install a larger sewer line from Texowa to the treatment plant, as well as putting in a new lift station.

The improvements are designed to stop overflow in sewer lines near the Bradford Elementary campus, which are common during heavy rain periods.

Council members decided to meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday, to narrow down a field of 17 applicants for the position of police chief. They would also set dates and times for those interviews to be held.

Det. Ray Smock has been serving as temporary chief since the resignation of Wayne Parsons in July.

The applications are in response to state-wide advertising by the city.

Two items on Monday's agenda were tabled for further study. They included a proposal to lease some of the land at Gordon Lake for a restaurant, and signing a joint resolution with Wichita County for emergency management in case of a disaster.

Paul Arrington appeared before the council, seeking to lease the northeast corner of Gordon Lake, where he hopes to build a restaurant.

He said about an acre would be required to construct the building and a paved parking lot. The initial structure would seat 60, with plans to expand later to seat 120.

Arrington said the facility would enhance the appearance of the lake to US 287 traffic by helping keep that area clean, as well as generating tax dollars for the city.

He admitted his suggestion that the lease be 99 years in length, at $300 annually, would be subject to negotiations.

Council members asked to delay any decision until the next regular meeting, Sept. 28, to consider the proposal.

An ordinance concerning emergency management and a joint agreement with the county was discussed, but action also was delayed until the next meeting.

At the next meeting, Tommy Keese, Wichita County Emergency Management coordinator, will be invited to discuss the agreement.

The city has for several years had an emergency management program, but it has not been updated since the mid 1980s. Additionally, state officials have informed local leaders that the plan is not suitable, according to Mayor House.

The council voted unanimously to reject a proposed change in landfill sticker fees to $10 annually for residents and $100 for commercial users.

The increased fees, sought by the mayor, could discourage residents from hauling trash and brush to the landfill and, in turn, begin putting it in dumpsters for the city to haul, aldermen argued.

It was also pointed out that the council is to decide in the very near future whether the city will even continue to remain in the landfill operation business.

A study is being prepared by Administrator Gary Jones on all alternatives to the city's trash handling future.

According to a federal mandate, all landfill operations are to declare by Oct. 9, 1992, whether the landfill will be, or not be, continued after that same date in 1993.

Issues approved by council votes

included:

- * granting a waiver until August 1995 to the school district to comply with the plumbing code for the three portable classroom buildings being used at Kidwell Elementary;

- * a request for a water tap on Coleman Park Road submitted by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ritchie;

- * closing of the 100 block of East Cash and 100 and 200 blocks of North Wall Saturday, for the Chamber-sponsored Whoop-T-Do;

- * leasing .42 acre tract of land at corner of Fourth Street and West Highway to A.C. Miser, which has been leased several years to Deryl James for a used car lot;

- * bids on two tracts of land, acquired for taxes: 610 East Bank to State National Bank for $1,000, and 303 East Lafayette to Ray Zimmer for $700.

The council also approved a proposal to purchase a piece of equipment, a used gradeall, from the highway department, at a cost of $6,000. The money is already budgeted to be spent during the coming year for contractual services, for which the equipment was intended.

Mayor House read a proclamation declaring September as "Parent-Teacher Association Membership Month."

Police investigating thefts

Police are investigating three different theft reports that were received during the past week.

A resident in the 100 block of James Drive told police Friday that several items had been taken from his backyard storage shed.

Among the items were a skill saw, two pellet rifles and a red plastic gasoline container. Their value was set at $135.

A motorcycle owner in the 400 block of West Bank filed a complaint Sunday that a mirror, turn signal, license plate and plate holder were taken from his vehicle.

A push-type lawnmower was reported stolen Tuesday from a residence in the 300 block of East Pecan.

An employee of Golden Fried Chicken on West Highway told police Thursday morning that a window on the west side of the building had been broken out. Nothing was reportedly missing, however.

Officers responded to a complaint at 3:57 a.m. Saturday in the 1300 block of Mockingbird, concerning a man in front of a residence shouting obscenities, and refusing to leave.

They arrested Robert Stephen Rinard, 39, on a charge of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was released at 8:30 a.m., after signing a personal recognizance bond.

Commends off duty officer

Dear Mr. Hamilton,

I am writing to inform the citizens of Iowa Park of the dedication to duty of one of our police officers and to our county commissioner to rectify an unsafe condition in our precinct.

On Saturday, September 5, 1992, I was involved in a traffic accident with a speeding driver. Fortunately there were no serious injuries. The accident occurred near Iowa Park Police Officer Mike Dozier's residence. Although off duty, Officer Dozier was instrumental in preventing further damage or injuries at the scene. He was very diligent in controlling the scene, calming my nerves and summoning State Troopers to the accident. He checked for injuries, directed traffic, and gathered witness information, all in the interest of safety. I would like to thank Officer Dozier for his unselfish dedication to his profession, as I feel he went "above and beyond the call of duty."

The accident occurred on South Texowa Street, just South of Bradford Elementary School, which is also a residential area. Prior to impact with my vehicle, the other vehicle laid down 245 feet of skid marks, which indicates excessive speed. There is NO posted speed limit sign on South Texowa. I appeal to County Commissioner Gordon Griffith to help change this unsafe area before a major accident or fatality occurs which could involve a small child, or one of our school children.

Sincerely,
Michelle Williams

Rotary offering free trees

Members of the Iowa Park Rotary Club will be giving away free potted trees at their Whoop-T-Do booth Saturday.

It is part of a project initiated in 1990 by Rotary International, entitled "Project Preserve Planet Earth."

Rotary will have approximately 200 trees that they had potted last spring with the help of Ray Dillard and his horticulture students at Iowa Park High School.

An instruction sheet on properly setting out of the trees also will be available, according to Delbert Todd.

Tree varieties that will be available include Ball Cypress, Sweet Gum, Ash and a hardy oak-like variety.

The local civic organization will be tree plantings on city and school grounds, and similar activities relating to trees as an on-going project.

Jim Smeaton is president of the club.

County

Wichita Falls commissioner Woody Gossum pointed out that the only legal obligation to the county is to pay for the $9-million bond issue, which is to be used to purchase property and build the facilities, along with a matching amount from Wichita Falls, plus an anticipated $7-million in public donations.

"If money is not available from sources (to run the center), we would just have to lock the doors," he said, adding, "80 percent of the people who voted this (bond issue) expect it to be that way."

County judge Nick Gibson said, "I think we're getting ready to enter into a very positive program between city and county. It's showing a great deal of trust between the two bodies. I think this is the beginning."

Then calling for a vote, Gibson joined with Harold White and Gossum in approving the agreement, and Nix and Griffith opposed it.

Ashley Todd

Many of our subjects for Cook of the Week say that they were taught to cook when they were young by their mothers or grandmothers.

This week's featured cook, 12-year-old Ashley Todd, is going through the same process. She has been learning to cook since she was eight years old by watching her mother. Some of her favorite recipes are for "Meat Loaf with Sweet and Sour Sauce" and "Watergate Salad," but she really likes to prepare spaghetti and meat sauce.

Ashley, the daughter of Lisa and Gerald Todd, is in the seventh grade at Iowa Park Junior High School, where her favorite subject is World History. She plays tenor saxophone in the band, plays tennis, and is looking forward to playing golf.

Ashley's father is a member of the Wichita Falls Police Department, and her mother is a chiropractic assistant at Brown-Cavett Chiropractic in Iowa Park. Her pets include a cat and two dogs.

She is an avid reader and likes all kinds of books. She likes to ride her bicycle around town and visit with her best friend, Shaye Wiese. Ashley said that she especially likes to go on trips and vacations with her parents.

When she graduates high school, Ashley said that she wants to go to Texas A&M and someday become a surgeon.

Watergate Salad

1 - 16 oz. can crushed pineapple (juice also)
1 small pkg. instant pistachio pudding
1 - 9 oz. can. Cool Whip (small bowl)

Cook of the Week

1 cup small marshmallows
1 cup pecans (if desired)
1 cup coconut (if desired)
Combine all ingredients in large bowl and refrigerate.

Meat Loaf with Sweet and Sour Sauce

1 - 8 oz. can tomato sauce
1/4 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 egg slightly beaten
1 onion minced
1/4 cup crackers, crushed
1 1/2 to 2 lbs. ground beef
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. Accent (MSG)

In a saucepan, mix tomato sauce with brown sugar, vinegar and mustard. Stir until sugar is dissolved.

Combine egg, onion, crackers, meat, salt, pepper, Accent and 1/2 cup of tomato mixture. Mix lightly but thoroughly and shape into 2 little mounds.

Spray a shallow baking pan with Pam and place meat mounds in pan. Pour remainder of tomato sauce over meat. Bake 1 - 1 1/2 hours in 350 degree oven, basting occasionally.

Chocolate Goobar Bars

1 pkg. Devil's Food cake mix
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup butter, softened
1/3 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 cup chopped, salted peanuts

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Grease bottom only of 13x9 pan.

In large bowl, combine cake mix, brown sugar, peanut butter and butter at low speed until crumbly. Add milk and egg; stir until blended. Spread in prepared pan. Sprinkle with peanuts; press nuts into mixture. Bake 25-30 minutes or until set. Cool completely and cut into bars.

Chicken Spaghetti

1 whole chicken, cooked and boned
1 small pkg. spaghetti, cooked and drained

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 onion, chopped and sauteed
1/2 jar pimentos
1/2 cup chopped celery, sauteed (opt.)
2 cups grated cheese
Small can tomato sauce

Mix ingredients in baking dish and bake at 400 degrees approximately 20 minutes or until cheese is bubbly.

Swiss Steak

1/4 cup flour
2 lbs. round steak
3 Tbsps. shortening
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 - 16 oz. can tomatoes, cut up
2 Tbsps. chopped green pepper

Combine flour, 1 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper; pound into meat. Brown meat on both sides in hot shortening in large skillet. Top with onion and tomatoes. Cover and cook over low heat 1 1/2 hours. Add green pepper and cook 15 minutes more. Skim off excess fat. Season to taste.

Pumpkin Squares

2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup oil
2 cups flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
2 tsps. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups pumpkin
1/2 - 3/4 cup nuts
Raisins

Mix ingredients and bake about 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Icing

6 oz. cream cheese
1 1/2 stick margarine
2 Tbsps. milk
2 Tbsps. vanilla
3 1/2 cups powdered sugar

Melt over low heat and spread over top.

Whoop-T-Do plans highlight meeting

Plans for Whoop-T-Do highlighted the meeting of Amity Study Club Monday at the home of Mrs. Joe Ward.

New members, Mrs. Steve Costello and Mrs. Larry Crumbliss, were introduced.

Cheryl York, Whoop-T-Do Committee chairman, said the club will again sponsor a face painting booth at 50 cents per design and a pencil pull for 25 cents. Members volunteered to work at the booth.

Dorothy Palmer gave the meditation on how a mother eagle teaches her young to fly by flying beneath it. She equated its flight to teaching our own children with God's help.

Program books were distributed and it was announced that two books, Texas Wild Flowers and Hippopotamus had been given to Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Members revealed secret pals and drew new names for the coming year.

Refreshments of tea and cookies were provided by Mrs. Ward and co-hostess Mrs. Earnie Reusch.

Literacy council plans training

The Wichita Adult Literacy Council Inc., is planning volunteer tutoring training during the month of October.

Training dates for Literacy volunteers are: Tuesday, Oct. 13, Thursday, Oct. 15, Tuesday, Oct. 20, and Thursday, Oct. 22. Time for each of training sessions is from 6 to 9:30 p.m.

Volunteers should attend all four training sessions. They will be held at the Region IX Education Service Center, 301 Loop 11.

Prior teaching experience is not necessary to become a Literacy volunteer.

For additional information about tutoring, or for training registration, call 322-6928.

Childress overtakes Hawks in fourth quarter

The Childress Bobcats took advantage of Hawk mistakes, and scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to beat Iowa Park 26-14 in the varsity first game of the season in Hawk Stadium.

The Bobcats actually held the lead for a short period, scoring on their first possession. But Iowa Park knotted the score at 7-7 before the end of the first quarter, and went to the dressingroom for the halftime break with a 14-7 advantage.

With slightly more than a minute remaining in the third period, Childress scored again, but missed the extra point kick attempt.

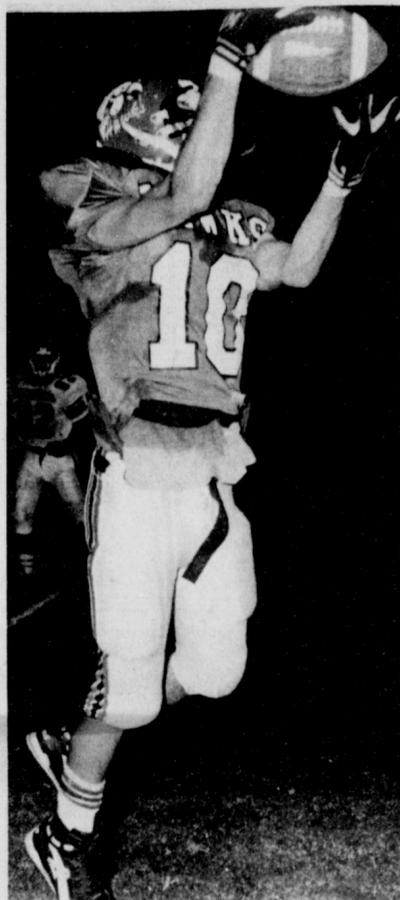

On the following possession, Hawk quarterback Jason Miller lost the handle of the ball, and Childress claimed it at the Iowa Park 30. Seven plays later, the Bobcats scored, with 8:00 remaining in the game.

With only a 19-14 lead, Childress attempted to pass for a two-point conversion. But that was thwarted, thanks to a hard rush on the quarterback by Jason Houston and Jason Maxwell.

There was still plenty of time left on the scoreboard clock for the Mean Green to score another touchdown, especially when on their next possession, the Hawks were forced to punt and Childress was charged a 15-yard penalty that breathed new life for the locals at their own 43 yard line.

A holding penalty followed by a two-yard loss when Don Ellis was tackled behind the line of scrimmage put the Hawks in a hole. The next play was an incompleated pass. Then, backup quarterback Tony Lozipone, who handles the punting chores, faked a kick and completed a trick pass to Miller. But he was tackled after only 12 yards, several yards short of the needed first down.

Childress drove to the Hawks' 14, where the Bobcats elected to try a field goal. But the ball sailed wide left of the goal posts.

BRENT BROWN SNAGS PASS

From their own 20 yard line, with 2:15 remaining on the clock, but having used all their times out, the Hawks tried one final drive. They were charged with holding on the first play, and Miller's desperation pass on the next was intercepted, and the ball returned to Iowa Park's seven yard line.

Four plays later, with 15 ticks on the clock, Childress scored a touchdown that, for all practical purposes, wasn't needed for the Bobcats' first win of the young season.

Miller scored both Hawk touchdowns, and Patric Kennedy kicked both the extra points.

Miller's first tally was a nine-yard run around right end, capping a 70-yard drive on Iowa Park's third possession, with 3:21 remaining in the first period. Ellis and Brent Brown each had 18-yard runs to key the drive.

Childress drove all the way to the Hawks' 32 on their next possession. Then, needing two yards for a first down, were held for a minus one, and Iowa Park took over at the 33.

Chris Williams lost a yard. But on the next play, Michael Frazier set up wide near the sideline, and no defender in front of him. He got Miller's attention, went straight down the sideline, caught the Hawk QB's perfect aerial, and had to be dragged down from behind. But 72 yards downfield, on the visitors' four yard line.

Two plays later, Childress covered a Hawk fumble on the nine yard line. But, on the next play, Lozipone returned the favor, giving Iowa Park possession on the 10.

Miller made quick work after that, scoring on the next play with another run around right end.

Childress narrowed the margin in the third period, eating up 67 yards needed on a 51-yard run. The drive ended with a four-yard pass.

Childress missed a golden opportunity to score earlier in the third quarter, after intercepting a Hawk pass and returning it to the Iowa Park 20. The ball was advanced to the six on the next play, but set back on the following attempt by a motion penalty.

Then, linebacker T.J. Bean batted a pass attempt into the air, and Jason Maxwell alertly caught the ball, despite being on his knees at the seven yard line.

Iowa Park's offense was pretty well held in check throughout the second half by Childress. The Hawks gained only 33 net yards rushing and 34 passing during that time frame, and turned over the ball four times: one fumble and three interceptions. They ran only 28 of their 64 offensive plays during the game's final 24 minutes.

Miller emerged as Iowa Park's leading rusher, picking up 83 yards on 15 carries. Ellis added 48 on his 14 attempts.

Obituaries

Frank Phillip Guyette

Frank Phillip Guyette, 57, died Wednesday morning in a Wichita Falls hospital.

A Christian wake will be held at 7 p.m. today with Rev. Patrick J. Burke officiating, and a Mass of the Christian Burial will be at 10 a.m. Friday. Both events will be held at Christ the King Catholic Church, and burial will be in Highland Cemetery with full military honors. Arrangements are under the direction of Dutton Funeral Home.

Guyette was born Oct. 29, 1934, in Adams, Mass. He and Betty Curtis were married Dec. 5, 1953, in Peterborough, England. He retired as a Master Sergeant in 1971 from the U.S. Air Force. He had been a resident of Iowa Park since 1968, establishing Iowa Park Air Conditioning & Heating in 1969. He was a member of Christ the King Catholic Church, Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, Refrigeration Service Engineers Society, and a former member of the NCO Club.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Paul of Wichita Falls and Russell of Iowa Park; two daughters, Teresa Gill and Vonnie Martin, both of Dallas; one sister, Arlene Zobre of Scotia, New York; and 10 grandchildren.

The family requests that memorials be made to Christ the King Building Fund or Christ the King Youth Group.

Z.T. "Jake" Hill

Services for Z.T. "Jake" Hill, 76, of Wichita Falls, brother of Ruth Cooper of Iowa Park, were Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Gish Funeral Home in Frederick, Okla. Burial was in Frederick Memorial Cemetery.

Hill died Sunday in a Wichita Falls nursing home.

Born Aug. 18, 1916 in Grandfield, Okla., he was married to Irene Morris June 4, 1936 in Frederick.

Hill served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He was a retired farmer and rancher and former owner and operator of Highland Nursing Center in Wichita Falls for 24 years. He was a member of Highland Heights Baptist Church of Wichita Falls.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Rochell Bowman and Jolene Odom, both of Wichita Falls; three other sisters, Fern Cottrell of Frederick, Juanita Fleming of Vernon and Freddie McKowen of Merrill, Ore.; a brother, J.B. of Chattanooga, Okla.; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

James E. Kerr

Services for James Edward Kerr, 36, were at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Dutton Funeral Home.

Dr. Derrell Monday, pastor of First Baptist Church officiated. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

Kerr died Saturday in a Wichita Falls Hospital.

He was born Sept. 28, 1955 in Odessa and attended schools in Borger. He was married to Katherine Denise Eslick May 2, 1990 in Pampa.

Kerr was an oilfield worker for Spruiell Drilling Co., of Iowa Park and worked for IHR Security Service in Wichita Falls.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Michael, Ricky and Travis, of Iowa Park; four daughters, Toylin, Patricia, Tracy and Kristie, all of Iowa Park; his parents, Glenn and Juanita Kerr of Fritch and two sisters, Glenda and Patty, both of Pampa.

Memorials may be made to the American Heart Association or the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Clinton Scott

Services for Clinton Scott, 79, father of Shirley Schroeder of Iowa Park, were Friday at 2 p.m. at First Baptist Church in Anadarko, Okla.

Rev. Russell Richardson, pastor, and Phil Ratliff, pastor of Binger, Okla., officiated. Burial was in Binger Cemetery.

Scott died Wednesday in a Chickasha, Okla., hospital. Born Jan. 14, 1913, in Hartshorn, Okla., he was a longtime resident of the Binger community, but lived in Anadarko at the time of his death. He was married to Jewel Smith Dec. 7, 1935 in Cordell, Okla.

Scott was a farmer and rancher. He was a member and past president of the Farmer's Co-op Board in Binger and was named an honorary member of the Binger Future Farmers of America. He was a member of First Baptist Church in Anadarko.

Other survivors include his wife; another daughter, Betty Roddey of Anadarko; two sons, Bill of Binger and Grady of Hobart, Okla.; two brothers, Ira of Binger and Ray of Wagoner, Okla.; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

United Way campaign kicks off in Iowa Park

The United Way Campaign Kickoff in Iowa Park was held at noon Wednesday at the RAC.

Hot dogs, potato salad and chips were served, and the Iowa Park High School show choir provided the entertainment.

1992 Campaign Chairman Gail Natale spoke to the group about the goals of United Way and of the many services that it provides.

Larry Dutton, the local campaign chairman, made the introductions which included Henry Zimmer, Executive Director of United Way of Greater Wichita Falls, Myrna Robinson, Director of the Iowa Park Senior Citizens Center - The Friendly Door, and JoLynn Cockrum, director of the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center.

Last week the United Way of Greater Wichita Falls announced preliminary allocations to its 30 member agencies for the 1992-1993 fiscal year.

David Wolverton, Chairman of the Budget and Allocations Committee, indicated that 25 community volunteers met with member agencies in finalizing allocations recommendations for the United Way Board. The volunteers look at a variety of factors in making their recommendations.

Wolverton commented, "The pre-campaign allocations recommendations are preliminary because we do not know how much will be raised in the annual campaign. It is interesting that the Budget and Allocations Committee offered a unique group of recommendations this year. Rather than offer just one amount for each agency, the committee has proposed an allocations range. The low end of that range assumes the campaign will raise the same amount as last year. The high end of the range assumes a six percent increase in funds over last year."

Wolverton also noted that a formula has been developed which would adjust allocations up or down, depending on the amount raised in the campaign.

In Iowa Park, the allocation for the Recreational Activities Center will range from a high of $19,770 to a low of $18,169, and the Iowa Park Senior Citizens Center will range from a high of $18,000 to a low of $16,787.

During the 1990-91 year, the RAC served 2,373 people and 202 seniors citizens were served by the Friendly Door.

Where Jesus is Lord

MARRIAGE 1700 YEARS AGO
The more things change in the world, the more we need the stability of a genuine commitment to the Lord. That commitment has the power to divorce-proof marriages! Tertullian, an early church leader, described Christian marriage.
Beautiful is the marriage of Christians who are one in hope, one in the way of life they follow, one in the religion they practice.
They are both servants of the same Master. Nothing divides them either in flesh or in spirit.
They are two in one flesh, and where there is one flesh, there is also one spirit.
They pray together, they worship together, instructing one another, strengthening one another.
Side by side, they visit God's church; side by side they face difficulties and persecutions, share their consolations.
They have no secrets from one another; they never bring sorrow to each other's hearts.
Unembarrassed they visit the sick and assist the needy. They give alms without anxiety.
Psalms and hymns they sing. Hearing and seeing this, Christ rejoices. To such as these, He gives His peace.
Where there are two together, there also He is present; where He is, there evil is not.

WATCHING THEIR HEROS - Several youth took advantage of a program offered Friday night by the Athletic Booster Club, to be with their heros, the varsity Hawk football players. They are shown here waiting to carry their "adopted" players' helmet back to the field house, prior to the start of the Childress contest.

JV wins; Frosh tied

The Hawk Junior Varsity raised their season record to 1-1 Thursday, but the Freshmen were tied, and now stand at 1-0-1.

The JV romped 20-6 over the Quanah Indian JV, and the Frosh were tied 6-6 against Childress.

Both teams will be playing today across the Red River, at Frederick. The Freshmen are to kick off at 5 p.m., followed at 7:30 by the JV contest.

Jason Young scored Iowa Park's first and third touchdowns, and Chad Shook caught a 10-yard pass for the other TD. Chad Simpson ran for the two-point conversion.

The score was only 6-0 at the half. Bid plays defensively were: Young, interception; Simpson, covered kickoff fumble; Jay Bradshaw and Kyle Thompson, blocked punts, and fumbles were covered by Brandon Green and Jeremy Erskin.

Also, Simpson, Green and Troy Radford were credited with sacking the quarterback.

After Childress scored its touchdown against the Frosh, Jimmy Fallon returned the following kickoff 85 yards to tie that game's score for Iowa Park.

Garden-fresh vegetables always in their cellar

By MYRNA SMITH

When winter's chilly winds arrive, Ruth Robertson Mulhauser and her sister, Leota Wigley Weseman, can easily bring spring to their tables with the taste of garden fresh vegetables.

Then, they can compliment their dishes with different kinds of relishes and pickles they have put up, and all they need is a beef roast, some poultry or ham to complete their meal.

Now, add to this meal a delicious cobbler or pie that has the fresh taste of blackberries or peaches.

All they will need to do is pick and choose from the more than 900 jars of vegetables, relishes, and pickles that Ruth has canned, or select vegetables or fruit from the deep freeze. That was the count Wednesday, but they aren't through yet.

All of this will be possible because of effort expended during the hot months of summer by the sisters and their helpers, Loy Nichols of Granbury, formerly of Iowa Park, and Orvil Forsom, who lives in Leota's rent house that sits between hers and Ruth's home.

They have been filling baskets, Mason jars and buckets with home-grown fruits and vegetables and making the most of the summer's harvest.

Ruth, the "head" canner, mans the pressure cooker. She and Loy have picked most of the vegetables and some of the fruit. Friends have given some to them.

Canning and putting up garden produce is a real point of pride for Ruth and Leota, especially for Ruth who has been canning since she was a teenager.

Leota commented, "They won't let me use the pressure cooker, they think it might be dangerous."

Ruth countered, "Goodness no, Leota couldn't use a pressure cooker, she just flits here and there, and would ruin everything."

"That's why I shell and snap the blackeyed peas and green beans, and do the other preparation, and watch television. I can do these at the same time," said Leota.

Their friends also help Leota prepare the food stuffs for canning.

They have prepared and Ruth has canned 11 bushels of blackeyed peas and are planning to can more. Other vegetables include green beans, improved pinto beans, cream peas, new potatoes, and tomatoes.

"Mother never did like to freeze vegetables. She didn't think they tasted as good, so I don't freeze most of them either," Ruth said. However, she has put corn and squash in the deep freeze, along with most of the fruit.

They have canned pickled beets, pickled peaches, pickled okra, bread and butter pickles, hot peppers, hot sauce, dill pickles and squash relish.

In addition Ruth has made Mustang grape jelly, plum jelly and peach jelly. She and Loy picked 16 gallons of blackberries on the halves. She put eight gallons in the freezer. A lot of peaches were given to Ruth. They didn't buy but one bushel.

When Ruth was trying to recall just how much she had canned, Leota said, "Now, Ruth it is more than that. Just think how much you have already given away to family and friends."

Ruth's daughter, Mrs. Glen Spruiell of Iowa Park, her son Jerry who lives in Borger, and her grandchildren help her to use up what she cans. That is part of the reason she cans as much as she does.

She laughed as she told about sending a jar of hot sauce to Loy's son. He thought it was tomatoes and decided they were too hot for him so he threw the sauce away before he found out the difference.

Ruth explained how it happens that she is the official canner. "Out of four girls, I was the only one who learned how to help our mother with her canning. I have been canning since I was a teenager".

The other two sisters, Wynogene Mann and Erschel Davis, live in San Diego, Calif. They had two brothers. One is deceased and the other one, Alonzo, lives in Whitesboro.

Leota and Ruth recalled with amusement that their sisters in California decided they would start canning. They started with beets.

Ruth said Erschel called her and asked what she had done wrong, her beets had turned white. Ruth asked if she peeled them. The answer was yes. Ruth informed her there was nothing to do at that point except put some red cake coloring in them.

Leota is next to the oldest of the Wigley children. She was born in Clay County in 1904 on what is now known as the Scaling Ranch.

Their parents were Dr. and Mrs. V.R. Wigley. Their father was a veterinarian. The Wigley name has been associated with Iowa Park since 1907, when Dr. Wigley's father moved here from Clay County.

Leota is one of the oldest living graduates of Iowa Park High School. She said the oldest graduate is Mrs. James Sewell who graduated in 1915.

Leota is planning to attend the Alumni banquet Saturday night. She said she will be the oldest graduate there unless Mrs. Swan Reaves can come. She graduated in 1922 and Leota graduated in 1923. Ruth graduated Iowa Park High School in 1931.

Both Leota and Ruth worked for Levine's Department Store. Leota worked for them when they first started in business in Iowa Park. She continued working for them when they moved to Wichita Falls and retired in 1969 after 49 years with the store.

Ruth worked for Levine's in Wichita Falls 15 years in the Children's Shoe Department.

It is easy to tell that the sisters are very close and enjoy each others company. Leota told about one time when Ruth went to Granbury and stayed longer than she had planned.

When she returned she found a "For Sale" sign in front of her house. Leota said "If she'd stayed longer she would have found a "Sold" sign there."

Leota lives in the old Wigley 15-room home that was built around the turn of the century. Their father bought it in the late 1920s.

Ruth lives in the same house she and her first husband had. The house has been added to and remodeled in some parts of it, but is basically the same.

The sisters both love antiques and their houses are filled with many personal memories. Both of their homes have a very warm, comfortable look from generations of collecting. Some of the antiques in both houses have been purchased, but most of them are family heirloom pieces they have inherited and all are in mint condition. Leota says, "And, I'm antique right along with them".

Robertson was a production superintendent for an oil company and was transferred quite a bit.

While they lived in Pennsylvania Ruth bought a unique striking clock with 13 stars, which indicated it was made when there were only 13 states.

She also has two antique straight back chairs that she purchased. One is from China and has the original upholstery. The other is a collector and she has rooms filled with collectibles. She collects stuffed animals, among other pieces. One room of her house is filled with stuffed animals, dolls and a desk-bookcase, which is a family piece, that is filled with decorative objects.

... with part of their canning stored in basement.

Also in this room a corner shelf displays many china and crystal pieces. One set of silver trimmed crystal glasses and matching pitcher is more than 100 years old. Also on one of the shelves is a glass demi-john that belonged to their grandfather and was used for his liquor.

A sentimental piece in this room, but not an antique, is a circular rug that Ruth's grandson brought her from South America. It is made of llama fur and has a white llama in the center of the rug, with smaller brown llamas around the edge.

In Ruth's house are several marble top tables of various shapes and sizes. She bought some antiques from Leota that she had inherited but did not have room for and was going to sell them.

In one bedroom Ruth has dolls everywhere you look. The bed is covered with them. There is one doll with a kid body that is more than 100 years old and had belonged to an aunt. Also there is a Horsmann doll that was given to Leota 80 years ago when she was eight years old. She let Ruth have it. Ruth also has several baby dolls on the bed she has collected but many have been handed down to her or Leota.

Also in this room on the bottom shelf of an antique table is a white chamber pot trimmed in blue that came from an old hotel in Pennsylvania.

In a guest bathroom is an antique washstand with a pitcher and bowl that also came from Pennsylvania. On a marble top table she has a procelain china set that was handed down from an aunt. It has one container for fans, two for handkerchiefs and tray for pins or trinkets.

Ruth pointed out a sideboard that matches a claw-foot table. It was almost black when she got it, but she and Leota stripped the paint off and exposed the beautiful wood. On the sideboard top are some kerosene lamps, one that her mother and father started house-keeping with. She also has a spoon collection, one of the spoons was hammered out of a silver dollar.

On one wall she has displayed 17 Norman Rockwell plates. She also has a cane bottom chair that her grandfather put together by hand and has no nails.

Ruth also has a chair that their two aunts bought when the two of them homesteaded in New Mexico.

A treadle sewing machine with lambs head pulls on the drawers belonged to another aunt and is more than 100 years old.

Both homes display many family pictures of generations gone before.

Leota is especially proud of a pic safe that she and Ruth refinished. It had belonged to their mother's parents. She also has a wooden mixing bowl, rolling pin and dough board that her grandmother started housekeeping with.

Many of her heirloom pieces, such as a library table that belonged to an aunt, a coffee grinder and butter molds, that were her grandmother's when she started housekeeping are more than 100 years old.

She has a pump organ that her mother's daddy traded a horse for when her mother was eight years old.

When Leota and her husband, Hubert, married he was an antique collector. She told him she didn't like that old stuff. "I wanted everything that was new," she said. But, she learned to like the old too.

One piece that he had and she is very proud of is a beautiful cylinder wind-up music box that emits clear perfect sounds when it is played. She has three cylinders for it. It is more than 185 years old. Her husband bought it in Mississippi.

Ruth claims the music box and says that Weseman told her before his death that she could have it. So, Leota says she knows it will eventually belong to Ruth, but not until she is through with it.

A friend of her husband who lived in New Mexico, handcrafted a chest of drawers for him that he made just by fitting the wood together. There are no nails. On each drawer is a handcarved design. She is very proud of it. A charcoal portrait done by the same friend hangs on the wall and is titled Taos Pueblo Indian.

Every window and etagere in Leota's house also displays decorative handcrafts or handed down treasures.

Leota has many other heirloom pieces, such as a large mirror with massive gold leaf frame that hangs over an antique sideboard, and a drop-leaf sewing table with original pulls that are more than 100 years old.

Worth Quoting

When I was a kid, I wanted, more than anything in the world, to be an Iowa Park Hawk.

After all, my big brother, Freddy, was and the Hawks were a power in the 60s. I remember going to the games, wearing our green shirts and jackets, preparing for another cool north Texas night.

We'd settle in the stands only long enough to watch the Hawks break through the paper banner that said "Beat the Indians," led by green and white pom-pom waving cheerleaders. The band was deafening and the crowd roared. It was Friday night football!

Soon after the kickoff, though, I would meet my other eleven year old friends and we'd head for the back side of the end zone. We had our own game to play.

We'd get a waxy, paper cup and wad it up as tight as we could and then place it inside another cup, wad, insert, wad. Soon, we had reached the cup's size limit and, presto!, we had a football.

It was I.P. against Olney, Or Electra. Or even our arch rivals, the dreaded Jacksboro. While the real Hawks battled on the field, we used the light that fell beyond the goalposts and played our own game. Half of us were Iowa Park, the others Henrietta or Seymour or some other foe.

The cup football would sail into near darkness only to be stabbed by a leaping catch or fumbled across a goal line where a mad scramble ensued, usually requiring the reforming of our football.

Jackets came off fast and green shirt sleeves were pushed up as we got hot and avoided the gaze of our mothers who insisted on jacket wearing. (Jackets made great first down markers.)

Sometimes the crowd would roar and we'd turn quickly to the field to see a Hawk scoring, defenders chasing in vain. Then, we cheered.

Soon, it was halftime and we raced back to the stands and stationed ourselves in carefully chosen spots because the highlight of the night was about to begin -- the cheerleaders were about to throw those little footballs.

Catching one of those small, plastic, white-with-green-stripes footballs made our Friday nights even more special. We could abandon our cup football if we had a "real" one and then spirals would zip smartly into receivers hands beyond the goalposts. It was tough to zip a raggedy wax football smartly.

Our strategy was to get in the lower stands figuring the cheerleaders didn't have the greatest arms. We also placed one guy between the stands and the throwers down on the track. Sometimes, cold-fingered adults couldn't hold on to the balls and they would tumble down to the running track where our guy would snatch it up.

The only problem was that there were a lot of spectators and just a few footballs proudly bearing the imprint of the local independent insurance agent. We seldom got a halftime ball but we always tried.

We'd watch the band a while. (Once, in a regional playoff game, Iowa Park played Post. They had only five people in the band but they marched around like mad. They couldn't spell Tennessee but they could make an explanation point. They got a rousing ovation and I got another lesson on a cold Friday night.) Then it was back for the second half in the end zone where I.P. would hammer Quanah. Or Burk Burnett.

Too soon, the real game was over and we would race on the brilliant real field with bright green grass, and white yard line marks and red flags marking the goal lines and pass our cup and score real touchdowns. Then our parents would tell us to come on and we'd drag our red-faced, green-kneed bodies to the car.

I didn't become an Iowa Park Hawk. Dad got a "real" job and we moved to Fort Worth. I didn't become a Western Hills Cougar either because Dad got laid off and we moved again.

I did become a Meridian Yellow Jacket however. And I ran through a few banners myself.

Do kids have as much fun playing football as we once did?

In The MILITARY

AIRMAN Matthew E. Frederick has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, San Antonio. He is the son of Betty J. Sells of Iowa Park.

Sailor's trip to Russia

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Danny L. Addison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Addison of Holliday, recently deployed to the Baltic Sea aboard the destroyer USS G'Bannon, homeported in Charleston, SC.

Addison visited the Russian city of Severomorsk, headquarters of the Russian Northern Fleet. It was the first visit ever by an American warship to the Russian city, located 180 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

The ship's crew spent five days in Severomorsk and the neighboring city of Murmansk. The crew was treated to a traditional American-style Independence Day picnic on the fourth of July which included hamburgers, hot dogs and fireworks.

Upon departing Severomorsk, the O'Bannon and other U.S. Navy forces conducted an unprecedented combined exercise with the Russian Navy called Operation Northern Handshake. The exercise included communications drills, formation maneuvers and an exchange of personnel between ships.

Addison, a 1987 graduate of Holliday High School, joined the Navy in November of 1990.

SCHOOL SCENE

Information Prepared by Iowa Park School Counselors

It's once again time for the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) test to be administered to students across the state. The TAAS is a state-required test which will be taken by all students in grades three and seven next week on the following days:

Tuesday, Sept. 22, TAAS Writing, Wednesday, Sept. 23 TAAS Reading, Thursday, Sept. 24 TAAS Mathematics.

The State Board of Education adopted a redesigned student assessment program and the 1992-93 school year will be a transition year for this redesigned program. Other testing dates for this school year are as follows:

Exit Level (Grades 11 and 12): TAAS/Teams--Oct. 27-29, 1992.

Grades four, eight, and Exit Level (Grades 10, 11, 12): TAAS/Teams--May 3-7, 1993.

Grades three-11: Norm-Referenced Assessment Program for Texas (NAPT)--April, 1993.

There are no make-up tests allowed on these tests, so it is very important that all students attend school on test dates if at all possible.

The test results are an important part of each student's cumulative record and help detect areas of strengths and weaknesses.

Summaries of test scores help the school district to be aware of major areas of need in the curriculum and to take steps to correct these weak areas.

The end of the first six-weeks reporting period is Friday, Sept. 25. The school year has gotten off to a really good start, and students are being urged to make this a very successful school year.

Most students are doing well getting back into the routine of school activities and school work, but many students received progress reports.

Most of those students receiving progress reports are turning in all assignments. Most of these students can and will be able to pass if they will begin now to complete and turn in all assignments.
