National Farm Safety And Health Week September 21-27

AUSTIN. In an effort to emphasize safety awareness and education for everyone involved in agriculture, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry announced that the week of Sept. 21-27 has been declared Farm Safety and Health Week in Texas.

This year's theme is "Safety and Health: The First Step Toward Sustainable Agriculture."

"It is important for everyone involved in agriculture to promote safety awareness and follow safe work practices," Perry said. "The health and safety of all our agricultural workers is vital to Texas."

Farming is considered among the most dangerous occupations in the United States. The Texas Department of Agriculture stresses safety year round through its Farm and Ranch Safety Program. The program provides friendly tips and reminders for producers and their families.

Perry offered the following steps to promote safety and health:

- Equip tractors with an approved rollover protective structure and wear seat belts;
- Operate tractors and equipment without carrying passengers or extra riders;
- Inspect your farm or ranch and equipment for any hazards and correct them;
- When operating equipment, follow safe work procedures described in the operator's manual or safety publications;
- Wear personal protective equipment, and
- Attend farm safety, first aid and defensive driving courses.

TDA is involved in education with safety booths at fairs, livestock shows and trade exhibitions. In addition, the agency works extensively with the Texas Safety Association's agricultural committee on farm safety programs.

Breast Cancer Screening

The Women's Center of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and Baptist/St. Anthony's Health System will conduct a Breast Cancer Screening clinic at the Quitaque Health Fair, October 18, 1997. The clinic will be held in the Quitaque First National Bank's Community Room, 4th and Main.

Breast cancer affects one in eight women. The key to winning the battle against cancer is early detection by having an annual breast exam, mammogram and performing a breast self-exam each month.

Participants will receive a low-cost screening that includes a mammogram and instruction in self-examination by a registered nurse. The total cost is $70. A minimum of fifteen women need to register in order for the mobile mammography clinic to come to area towns.

Funding is available through the Texas Department of Health for Texas residents who qualify for assistance. All exams are done by appointment only.

Call 359-4673 or 1(800)377-4673 for more information.

Turkey Hamburger Lunch Well Attended

by Ann Coker

Last Thursday the Hall County Proud Committee started the Hall County Picnic week-end with a hamburger cook-out at Turkey. The group were quite pleased with the number of hamburgers they served. About 80 hamburgers, cooked over mesquite, were served.

Those helping serve were Maurice Fuston, Lynn Davis from Memphis, Marjorie Bell, Mable Morse and Squint House who cooked the beans and served them.

Even though the temperature was 100 degrees the group did appreciate the ones who showed up to back the group.

Good Guy Award

by Ann Coker

Gene and Linda Payne live at the Bill George place south-west of Turkey.

Good Gal Award

A lady in Quitaque has been nominated for the Good Gal Award. She is a lady who is always lending someone a helping hand. She assists friends and neighbors in any way that she can. Last week when there was a wreck west of Quitaque, she was the first on the scene and the one who summoned help for those who were injured in the wreck.

The kind lady who has been nominated for this honor is Jennie Auston who is the one who supplies the households in Quitaque with their Lubbock and Amarillo papers at a very early hour in the morning. To have the paper in our home for us to read before our busy days begin she wakes up in the wee hours of the morning to pick up and deliver the papers to us before she begins her regular busy schedule.

Blind Wood Craftsman Will Attend Fall Foliage Fest October 18 At Quitaque

courtesy Petersburg Post

From outhouses to oil derricks and anything in between, if you want it, Allen Johnson will try and build it, in miniature, of course.

Allen Johnson, a blind wood-working craftsman plans to have a craft booth at the Quitaque Fall Foliage Fest in October.

Mr. Johnson is the husband of Lea Johnson. They have been married for 35 years and she still cannot believe that he can make all these items.

"I don't know which is worse, hearing the sounds of saws, drills, sanders and routers coming from her husband's shop — or not hearing them," Lea says.

When the equipment is operating, Allen is busy making miniature covered wagons, buckboards, chuck wagons, cotton trailers, trains, and other wooden objects. He prefers to use old fencing materials consisting of cedar, redwood, white wood or anything that has an old worn rustic look. All of Allen's works are unique; each has something just a little different from the other. The most unique train he made was for Lea, from an old kitchen table that she had used while raising her family.

If Allen needs help on "seeing" a pattern, Lea helps out by drawing a picture on his hand or chest.

Mr. Johnson lost his eyesight to a debilitating eye disease 12 years ago, so everything he makes is made by touch. He has never seen the results of his work.

His hobby began when a friend challenged him to build a wooden train. "You can do anything you want to do if you want to bad enough," Mr. Johnson says.

Lea says her fears about her husband's unusual hobby are outweighed by the knowledge that he is determined to do it. "You have to let go. If they have that much determination and will power... You have to let go," she said.

Mr. Johnson admits to severe depression after losing his sight. "There was no one any sorer for me than I was for myself," he said. But after a friend told him he would lose everything he had worked for with that attitude, he changed his ways and ultimately enrolled in Texas Tech University.

Mr. Johnson gained much of his inspiration for his current artwork while studying for a bachelor's degree in history with an emphasis on the Southwest and from what he hears about the early days of West Texas from elderly residents.

He said the task of teaching himself woodworking came partly from memories of building his own toys in childhood and of his job of making machine parts before he lost his sight.

Other than that, he said, "You simply have to realize that the tools can't hurt you." To compensate for his lack of sight, he said he uses a simple piece of wood or string to determine wood lengths, and he has installed back stops on his radial arm saw and uses guides and push blocks on the table saw and router. Allen also uses a drill press and a belt sander in his work.

Allen's work is on consignment in several places in West Texas. Ken Sanderson, of Boot City in Lubbock, has the first stagecoach he made and Mrs. Quiroz, of Petersburg has a set of bookends that are a train. The main showroom for Mr. Johnson's work is his home, at 2321 61st Street in Lubbock. He invites everyone to drop by for a cup of coffee anytime and see the things he has made. Many of these items will be on display at his booth during Fall Foliage Fest on October 1, here in Quitaque.

Come by for a visit with Mr. Johnson.

Commissioners Adopt Tax Rate

The Briscoe County Commissioners Court voted on September 15 to adopt the effect tax rate of 57.92 cents per $100.00 valuation for 1997. The effective tax rate is the rate that would raise the same amount of tax dollars as the previous year.

The tax rate for 1996 had been 57.78 cents. The difference in tax rates is determined by the variations in property values. The 1997 value of taxable property in Briscoe County is $73,390,015.

THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

As I set the type for the article on Mr. Allen Johnson who is a blind wood craftsman, I must say that I was made to feel quite humble by his acceptance and determination in doing in life whatever he would like to do. How many of us let little things keep us from accomplishing in our life what we think we would like to do? How many of us never step out of the old comfortable mold that we have gotten so used to being in to try something new because it might not fit the image we have of ourselves. How many of us have been brought up short by the fact that it is only ourselves that is holding us back from actually doing the thing that our heart longs for us to do?

When do we decide that it is too late in life to try something new or when do we decide in life that we have no talent to try out the new craft that we would like to do that we so admire in others? When do we stop being brave enough to enjoy trying something new? When did we become that cautious scared little bird that jumps at every sound? When did we begin to think more of what people would think of us than we cared to try out a new idea? When did we stop being excited when we awoke in the morning to face the new day? When did we lose the ability to see beauty in all that we behold, whether it be a lowly iridescent bug or the beauty of the sunset or sunrise in our Texas skies?

Have we truly lost the ability to come alive each and every day or do we just stagnate from day to day and only accomplish what is absolutely necessary to keep body and soul together but have no joy in the process? Have we come to the point in our life that we no longer reach up to the stars to try to grasp what is just out of reach? Have we lost the ability to dream? Have we really decided that this is all there is to life and we will just sit back and let the rest of the world pass us by?

Where do you really want to be today? Where do you want to be in a year from now? Are you truly happy with all phases of your life? Can you change the things that make you unhappy? If so, why don't you get started on the chore and become once again that vibrant exciting happy person that you once were?

Surely if Mr. Johnson can pull beauty out of old worn out piece of wood without his eyesight to guide him, we who still have all five senses should be able to do great wonders in the world to make ourselves and those we love happy. Let's give it some thought and the put our thoughts to work and make this world in which we live a much better place for everyone.

National Farm Safety & Health Week

provided by Briscoe County Extension Office

September 21 - 27, 1997 is Farm Safety and Health week as proclaimed by the National Safety Council and the Governor of Texas. The theme for 1997 is "Safety & Health - The First Step Toward Sustainable Agriculture."

Agriculture consistently has a death rate that places it among the top three most dangerous industries along with construction and mining. According to National Safety Council Statistics, the agriculture industry had the second highest death rate (24 deaths per 100,000 workers) in 1995, compared with a rate of 4 per 100,000 for all industries combined.

Nationally there were approximately 140,000 agricultural work-related deaths in 1995, according to National Safety Council statistics. Tractors continue to cause more fatal injuries than any other source in the agricultural industry. Youth and elderly are traditionally at higher risk of fatal or disabling injury.

Approximately one-half of the tractor related deaths are due to tractor rollovers. Almost all of these occur on tractors without Roll Over Protective Structures (ROPS). ROPS provide a safe zone for the operator in the event of an overturn. If seat belts are not used on a tractor with ROPS, the operator may be thrown out of the safe zone. With only a few exceptions, new tractors are required to have ROPS installed before being sold. However, most tractors in operation today are older tractors that do not have ROPS. Retrofit ROPS are available for many tractor models. Local dealers or County Extension Agents can assist with determining if a retrofit is available.

Farm equipment is often moved from field to field on public roads. Farmers should ensure that a clearly visible Slow-Moving Vehicle (SMV) emblem is installed on equipment that operates below 25 miles per hour. Farmers should also use flashing hazard lights to warn other vehicles about wide loads and frequent turns. With the recent change in speed limits (to 70 MPH) on many rural roads, motor vehicles will have significantly less time to react to slow moving farm vehicles. The public can also help out by being extra cautious on country roads. Especially during planting and harvest seasons, drivers should watch for farm equipment on the roadway to avoid a potential accident.

SAFETY SUGGESTION:

Farmers take five minutes each morning to consider the potential hazards of the day's activities and steps you can take to avoid an accident. If you have children that help with farm work, instill safe work habits in them by involving them in your daily safety assessment. Check for things like missing guards and shields on equipment, worn belts and bearings, and leaking hydraulic hoses and connections along with normal routine maintenance.

Remember, a few minutes taken to ensure safety is a small price to avoid a tragic accident.

Caprock Public Library News

by Arlene Hinkle

New books at Caprock Public Library include: Winning 42: Strategy & Lore of the National Game of Texas by Dennis Roberson. The amazing thing about "42" is that the rules and skills were passed through oral traditions and this is the first book of official playing instructions. Invented by Baptists because card playing was considered "sinful", "42" became a rural social pastime that was acceptable on Sundays after church.

Cotton Ginning: An Entrepreneur's Story by A. L. Vandergriff. Vandergriff, (Vandy) is widely known for his many important contributions to the cotton ginning industry. All contemporary high capacity gins have been influenced by his innovative designs.

For juveniles: Inside The Titanic illustrated by Ken Marschall and text by Hugh Brewster. A giant cut-away book that allows readers to explore every deck of this legendary ship.

In The Next Three Seconds compiled by Rowland Morgan. A book written by a numerical wizard who has gathered all types of thought provoking data; such as, in the next three seconds, Americans will eat 6,000 eggs and in the next three years, one rat will produce 20,000,000 descendants. Mind boggling!

Artist Tom Ryan To Exhibit At Heritage Center

One of America's most highly acclaimed Western Artists, Tom Ryan will exhibit over 30 of his original paintings at the Ranching Heritage Center starting September 27, as part of the activities of the Golden Spur Weekend. Many of these works are owned by private collectors from Texas and Oklahoma.

Ryan, who has captured the essence of the West since 1950, first gained recognition with his illustrations, some of which were featured on the jackets of western novels. In 1963, a visit to the 6666 Ranch in King county changed the direction of his art from historical to contemporary.

"When I saw this chuckwagon and these cowboys working cattle and basically the story of the West was right in front of my eyes," he said, "I left the historical subject matter behind... I still go back to the 6666, and just stand back and watch, hoping something jells. Invariably, somebody will say something, or I'll see something that will be the budding of an idea."

Ryan lives in Midland, and has received numerous awards from Cowboy Artists of America, National Academy of Art, and the Lifetime Achievement award from the Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City.

His work will be on display through October 26. For more information call Ranching Heritage Association (806)742-2498.

Sleeping Sickness Diagnosed in Horse in East Texas

Equine encephalomyelitis, sometimes called "sleeping sickness," has been diagnosed in three horses in East Texas in Hardin, Cass and Jasper Counties. Officials at the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) and Texas Department of Health (TDH) are urging owners to have their animals vaccinated to prevent disease and to control mosquitoes to help reduce the possibility of infecting other horses or humans. Horses, donkeys and mules, and many species of birds, including emus, ostriches and rheas are susceptible to this virus that is spread by infected mosquitoes.

"When horses are affected by 'sleeping sickness,' it alerts us that there is a potential for a human health problem and measures must be taken," said Dr. Jane Mahlow, a veterinarian in the Zoonosis Control Division at TDH. "Humans also can contact the disease from infected mosquitoes, so controlling the pests and wearing mosquito repellent are the first line of defense."

Besides the laboratory confirmed cases, private practitioners have reported that several other horses have developed symptoms compatible with a diagnosis of equine encephalomyelitis. These have occurred in Chambers, Newton, Jefferson, Liberty and Orange Counties," said Dr. Max Coats, acting executive director for the TAHC, the state's livestock health regulatory agency. "Nearly all the illness and death losses have occurred in horses with no history of vaccination. Private practitioners can administer a vaccine to animals that will protect against the disease."

Of the three types of "sleeping sickness," two occur sporadically in the U. S. in 1996, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. 136 equine and 49 birds contacted EEE, or Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis. During the same time, five equine and one emu tested positive for WEE, or Western Equine Encephalomyelitis. Texas had no cases of EEE or WEE.

The third type of "sleeping sickness," VEE, or Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, is a foreign animal disease. In Southwestern Mexico, several cases of VEE in Equine were diagnosed in 1996 and a widespread vaccination campaign was conducted.

"Animals can be protected against EEE and WEE in one vaccine," said Dr. Coats. "Another vaccine can protect against all three of the 'sleeping sickness'—EEE, WEE and Vee—but this three way vaccine can interfere with the ability to move animals internationally. A test for VEE is often required for shipping the animals internationally, and the vaccine may cause a 'false positive' result on tests. These vaccinated animals would be refused by the receiving country."

In equine, "sleeping sickness" symptoms include central nervous system disorders, such as an irregular gait and circling, grinding of the teeth, droopiness and an inability to swallow. Affected animals may also develop paralysis of the limbs and an inability to rise. TAHC and TDH officials advise owners to have sick animals tested, as symptoms for rabies and 'sleeping sickness' mimic each other.

"In either case, it is important to know what has affected the animal, so appropriate human health care measures can be taken," said Dr. Mahlow. "If the animal had rabies, the caretaker should go through a series of preventive shots. If preventive shots are not taken by persons exposed to rabies, the disease will develop and is universally fatal."

"If the horse is diagnosed as having 'sleeping sickness,' this is a signal that infected mosquitoes carrying the virus are in the vicinity. Persons should be careful to note any flu-like symptoms such as fever, headache and vomiting and seek immediate medical care. If the infection progresses, a person may develop stupor, disorientation, tremors or lapse into a coma. Medical care is essential if symptoms are noted, as this infection can be fatal."

To protect against mosquito bites, Dr. Mahlow suggested keeping window screens in good condition and urged outdoor enthusiasts to wear mosquito repellent. She also advised taking action to wipe out breeding grounds for the several species of mosquitoes that may be involved in spreading "sleeping sickness." She said outdoor containers, such as flower pots and rain gutters, should be drained, and water in birdbaths should be changed frequently.

Texans May File For Homestead To Save Homes

Texas homeowners are concerned about their homes being protected from forced sale if judgment-type creditors place liens on or force the sale of the owner's home. The Texas Property Code and the state provide that a property owner may designate their home as a homestead by filing a Designation of Homestead in the public records.

This filing, required before sale, asserts homestead rights to the property. A Designation of Homestead, filed and recorded at the Circuit Court can help protect a person's principal residence from being sold in order to satisfy most types of creditor's liens.

Other important reasons for claiming Homestead through Designation of Homestead include: Lawsuit protection -- protecting the home from someone naming the homeowner and dependents in the event of an auto accident, personal liability, or negligence; Creditors -- protecting property from creditors for debt satisfaction in cases including excessive medical bills, credit card and business debt and auto loans; Divorce -- helps establish joint domicile, possession and right to the property; Joint ownership -- if two unmarried people own and occupy the same home, it can protect the property from financial problems either, or both may have.

Perhaps the most important reason for filing and recording the Designation of Homestead is peace of mind -- allowing the homeowner and heirs the knowledge, that if something happens to the homeowner, the home as previously been and is properly designated as the family homestead.

TURKEY TALK

In Style: Fall Fashions Are For Sale Now

provided by Calley Payne, CEA-FCS

THINGS SEEN OR HEARD

by Ann Coker

We traveled to Memphis last Saturday, September 20th to the Hall County Picnic.

Despite the very cool weather the square was quite a busy place. You could acquire almost any food you would like from the many food booths.

There were many booths exhibiting all sorts of unique gifts, clothing, jewelry, almost anything you desired. They were all quite busy.

We registered on the Courthouse lawn. Nita (Lane) Puckett and Imogene (Melton) Malloy were registering the people.

We didn't stay for the parade because of the chilly wind. We enjoyed visiting with friends from Memphis.

We also saw Chris Campbell. Chris said her brother, Jay Campbell, had recently received a phone call from Tim Salem, a former Turkey resident. Tim was living in Paducah, Kentucky.

Charles Moore from Childress installed a light fixture for us last Saturday night. He said both of his girls were in college, Marcie attends WT and Cassandra attends John Tarleton in Stephenville.

Lorene Setliff and Jancie Wheeler drove to Amarillo last Saturday. They were at High Plains Hospital for the surgery of Lornene's sister-in-law, Alice Richardson. The Richardsons live in Tulia.

Visiting with Dot Arnold last week-end were Karen and Wes McDougall and Roger Denton. the McDougalls live in Dumas.

Guests at the home of Lewis and Mozelle Eudy last Monday were Hugh and Juanita Eudy of Midland. They were on their way to Childress to visit with their son and wife, Ken and Shelia Eudy.

Estelle and Tink Lane returned home last Monday after a four day visit in Dallas with their granddaughter and family, Jenny and Mike Lavey. While there they attended a soccer game that 4 year old Jake Lavey was playing in. Then they watched an ice hockey game that 6 year old Caleb Lavey played in.

I have heard that there has been some vandalism going on in town, not only at night but even in the daytime. Be on the watch for anything out of the ordinary that you see--your own homes and your neighbors!

Turkey Senior Citizens News

The Turkey Senior Citizens had 25 members at their last meeting. The next meeting will be Tuesday, September 30 at 6 o'clock.

All members are urged to be present and bring extra food as the club plans to invite the EMS people and their families. These people work hard and without pay. We want to show them our appreciation.

Also, we will elect officers for the coming year, so be sure to come and let your voice be heard. See you there!

TAFCE Club News

The Turkey TAFCE Club had their regular meeting September 15th. The club, other civic organizations, and interested individuals bought six vests and caps for the EMS people. Jerry Landry handed out the vests and the crew modeled them.

They will certainly look professional in their new outfits. In all, five EMS were in attendance. Travis Carnes arrived too late to have his picture taken with the others. Daniel Jenkins was unable to attend.

Ann Coker took pictures of the group. Also attending was Kathy Farley. EMS attending were Don Turner, Ginger Morgan, Jim Weeks and Steve Farley.

If anyone else would like to contribute to this cause, you may contact Joyce Guest at 423-1128. All money collected above the cost of these articles will be kept in reserve to purchase more if someone else decides to join the team.

Marjorie Bell gave an enlightening report on the State Meeting that she, Margaret Lane and Joyce Guest attended recently. Meeting was adjourned at 8:30.

The highest incorporated city in the United States is Leadville, CO, at an elevation of 10,152 ft.

Put down that baggy florescent shirt or the fashion gods just may smite you down. It's time for back to school, and those in the know say those lazy, bright days of summer are long gone.

Lisa Gendreau, manager of Post Oak Mall's American Eagle Outfitter, thinks men's clothing is going from loose to look out.

"Baggy clothes are going out. Men's clothes actually fit and the look is very collegiate," she says.

Gendreau adds that the days of the micro mini are also ending. She says young women are also opting for a collegiate look when it comes to skirts and prints.

"Skirts are going longer, right above the knee. Some are right below the knee. A-line dresses are also back." A-line dresses, she explains, are fitted at the waist and then flare out.

Not only are plaids supposed to be a huge hit this fall, animal prints continue to run wild on the fashion frontier, says Gadzoos manager Jennifer Burkhardt.

But don't look to see them just on the most obvious spots, like shirts and pants. As every truly fashion conscious person knows, the secret to good dressing lies in accessories.

"Shoes have big heels, or clump heels. Doc Martin Sandals are still big. Chokers are back, hemp is in and animal prints are in style in backpacks," Burkhardt says.

On the color front, Burkhardt forecasts lots of khaki and black for young men. She also says men's clothes are getting more fitted, but that typically applies to shirts. Young men are still buying wide-leg jeans, she says.

For young women, Burkhardt says, earthy tones like maroons, olives and browns are big for fall.

Kim Saucher, manager at The Gap, says straightforward denim will remain her store's focus for back to school.

For young women, Saucher says, she's selling lots of jeans and small tops.

"Stretch is still a big focus," she says.

Ray Price

Guys are wearing long-sleeved, woven button downs, she says. They're also taking on a whole new shine when it comes to shirts.

"Men are wearing lots of muted colors and a lot of things that are metallic," she says.

Big fall accessories are going to be hats and large purses, Saucher adds.

Gendreau agrees that hats and baseball caps are big this year for both sexes. She adds that scarves are still a big hit for women, as are chunky rings and big earrings.

Gendreau adds that denim can be more than just your favorite pair of old blue jeans. "Denim is gonna be even more fashionable this year. It's almost accessorized with rivets and carpenter-style denim will be big."

Shaun Constantine manages Vanity, a store that specializes in clothes for young women.

She says that navy blues and Indian summer tones are also good colors this fall. Two staples that a girl's gotta have, she says, are wide-leg jeans and a simple black tank dress.

"Generation X and Calvin Klein (fit and flair and traditional easy fit) are the jeans that everyone will be wearing," she says.

Black dresses are a good buy because they're versatile, Constantine says.

She says alone, the black dress is sexy. With a sheer top over it, girls can dress it up for work or a party. And with a denim shirt and silver belt, it's still a little dressy but also casual.

"Anybody can wear a simple black dress. It shows your figure and can also be very slimming."

This year's party clothes are "halter tops, any kind of short dress that shows off your legs, and short black dresses with cut-outs or a racing stripe," she says.

For school, Constantine says, square-toed boots with chunk heels will be the rage. She adds that many girls are going back to basic silver and gold jewelry.

"Honestly, young women are not going with cheap stuff. They're wearing basic, basic stuff in gold and silver. If they want funky, they're gonna wear beads."

In cancer patients, depressive illness is common, and treating it can improve motivation and quality of life.

If girls want to update some of their old pieces for fall, Constantine says, stick with that long print skirt. "Dress it up with a little satin shirt," she says.

Regardless of what you buy for back to school, Gendreau says, remember to buy based on reasonable price and good quality.

According to Rebecca Zehetner, a clothing and textiles assistant with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, this is the time when stores are inundated with fall fashions at premium prices. Clearance sales will be on last season's fashion and in October and November, this season's clothes will be on sale to prepare for holiday fashions and winter wear.

New Scholarship Money Available To College-Bound

There is now exciting news for students and their families who need financial assistance to help pay for skyrocketing college education expenses. Initiatives such as federal tax breaks for families as proposed by President Clinton will start to ease some of the burden but more importantly, there are an increasing number of new scholarship and grant sources available to students who take the time to locate them.

Currently there are nearly 400,000 independent and private scholarship and grant sources available which do not have to be paid back. More than 80% of these scholarships do not depend on family need or exceptional grades, but are awarded based on factors such as the student's interests, hobbies, academic focus, age, heritage or parent's work or military service.

Unfortunately these sources remain largely unknown to most students because they are spread out nationally and not actively promoted.

Now, through the resources of the National Academic Funding Advisory (NAFA), an updated publication for 1997-98 is available which provides important detailed information to students seeking financial aid. For information on how to receive scholarship money for college, trade school, or graduate school, send a No. 10 self-addressed double stamped business envelope, plus $2.00 to cover handling, to NAFA, 700 Greenland Road-Left, Dept. F7, Portsmouth, NH 03801.

"... we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly."

- Hebrews 13:18

It is a tragic weakness of human nature that we sometimes yield to the temptation to get away with something or to get something for nothing; and this tragedy is greatly compounded when our children are thus encouraged to acquire this trait. They might easily overhear Dad bragging about the way he cheated on his income tax return, or watch Mom gleefully displaying the item from the market that the cashier forgot to charge her for. It is no wonder that teenage shoplifting has become rampant in recent years. Your House of Worship teaches you that dishonesty does not show on the surface, nor does it come in degrees; but one way or another it will eventually catch up with you. Resolve to let faith help you avoid or overcome this insidious moral disease, before it can infect your children. You will also find it much easier to live with yourself.

Valley J. V. Loses Heartbreaker

By Coach Saul

The J. V. played their first game of the season last week at Crowell. The game proved to be an exciting game. Crowell scored first in the second quarter on a wingback reverse. The stingy Patriot defense held out the two-point conversion try and Crowell led 6-0 at the half.

In the third quarter, Valley's offense got untracked and mounted an impressive drive that was stopped by a Patriot fumble inside the 15-yard line.

In the 4th quarter, Valley struck paydirt on a 33 yard pass from Vance Chandler to Eddie House. Justin Davis barreled through the left side of the line from 3 yards out to successfully complete the 2-point conversion.

Valley led 8-6 with less than 3 minutes to play. Crowell came back, however, with a long run. The 2-point conversion failed and Crowell led 12-8.

Valley had one last chance, and moved the ball across midfield thanks to 2 Patriot first downs. The Crowell defense stiffened and Valley turned the ball over on downs with :13 seconds remaining.

Blunck's Studios To Be At School

Blunck's Studios will be at Valley School on Wednesday, October 1st to take Fall portraits. Pictures to be taken are as follows: for junior high - football, pep squad, and cheerleading; for high school - football, pep squad, cheerleading and cross country. Also to be taken are individual portraits.

The public is invited to bring all preschool - aged children from 8:30 until 10:00 and purchase portrait packages as well.

Jr. High Results

by Coach Saul

The Valley Jr. High traveled to Crowell last week and came up on the short end of a 26 - 16 score. Valley scored first in the opening quarter on a 17 yard pass from Tate Bennett to Danny Hinojosa. Mark Reyna was on the receiving end of another Bennett pass on the two-point conversion to put Valley ahead 8-0.

In the 4th quarter with Valley trailing 26-8, Tate Bennett scored from 2 yards out. Mark Reyna was once again on the receiving end of a Bennett pass on the two-point conversion to make the score 26-16.

There was a lot of improvement in the Jr. Highs performance from last week to this week. The offense moved the ball pretty effectively, and with the exception of two or three big plays, the defense played well also. The young Jr. High team needs to continue to improve as they face a tough opponent next Thursday when they play Nazareth.

This year's Jr. High team consists of six 8th graders; six 7th graders and twelve 6th graders.

Red Ribbon Campaign Set for October 23-31

This year's Red Ribbon Campaign against drug abuse has been scheduled for October 23-31. According to officials with the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, who will be helping to promote the annual event.

The Red Ribbon Campaign helps coordinate a wide range of substance abuse prevention efforts on the part of schools, businesses, prevention agencies, community groups, and religious organizations.

Kids, parents, and other concerned adults show their support for a drug-free life and future by wearing red ribbons on their clothing during this special time.

The Red Ribbon Campaign was founded in the wake of the brutal murder of a U. S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent in 1985. Enrique "Kiki" Camarena, a 37-year-old father of three, was killed in the line of duty while investigating a multi-billion dollar drug marketing operation in Mexico.

The Texans' War On Drug program (TWOD) was the official state sponsor of the campaign through 1996. TCADA this year has been helping to update and produce new program tools that communities can use in their own local campaign.

TCADA Executive Director Terry Bleier said: "One of the best prevention tools we have in the fight against substance abuse is increased public awareness. The Red Ribbon Campaign offers us an excellent opportunity to help the public focus on the need for prevention work."

Bleier said many Texans have been involved in prevention work for years, and TCADA is making major efforts to emphasize the importance of prevention in its programs and contracting. Helping to promote the Red Ribbon Campaign gives TCADA an opportunity to build support for new and existing substance abuse prevention initiatives in communities across the state.

Red Ribbon Campaign materials are available to the public at TCADA's eleven new Prevention Resource Centers. For information about the nearest center, call the toll-free number (888) PRAC-TEXX.

The Centers have a wide variety of substance abuse prevention materials available for public use. They are located in Abilene, Bryan, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, Nacogdoches, Odessa, San Antonio, and Tyler. The same materials are available at TCADA's Library and Clearinghouse in Austin, which can be contacted toll free by calling (800) 832-9623.

The first Red Ribbon campaign was launched by groups of concerned parents in Illinois and Virginia. Congress officially recognized and extended support to the program in 1988.

Since then, millions of Americans have joined in participating in the program. The National Family Partnership, formerly the National Federation of Parents, is the official U. S. sponsor.

TCADA is providing copies of the 90 page Texas Red Ribbon Campaign manual titled The Tie That Binds free of charge. This manual also can be ordered by calling the toll-free number (888) PRAC-TEXX.

The Red Ribbon Campaign Curriculum/Planning Guide and the Red Ribbon Campaign Marketing Kit, can be ordered at-cost from the TCADA Library and Clearinghouse, (800) 832-9623.

The Texas Federation of Parents, a non-profit affiliate of the National Family Partnership, is planning a statewide Red Ribbon Campaign kick-off event. Persons interested in participating in this may call (281) 440-4656.

Tri-State Fair 4-H Bake Show Results

The Panhandle District 4-H Bake Show was held on Saturday, September 13th, at the Amarillo Tri State Fair. The purpose of the Bake Show was to promote wheat, one of the Panhandle's major agricultural products, and to emphasize the importance of bread and cereal products in the diet. The United States Department of Agriculture and the American Dietetics Association recommend 6 to 11 servings per day.

Scarlett Sperry of Briscoe County was one of those who entered this show. Arrowhead Mills of Hereford provided wheat flour for participants along with the $5 premium provided by the Board of Directors of the Tri State Fair.

(NAPS)—Studies prove it's never too late to stop smoking; after not smoking for 15 years, an ex-smoker is only slightly more likely to die from lung cancer than a lifelong nonsmoker. For a free brochure on how to protect your home from rodents, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: d-CON® Consumer Brochure, PO Box 8737, Young America, MN 55515.

Free information about tooth whitening and a list of dentists skilled in the procedure, is available from the makers of Nite White and Nite White Excel. Call 1-800-348-8806.

Food-borne illnesses can be prevented. For free information about food safety, call the USDA's nationwide, toll-free Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555.

Massage

Massage doesn't just feel good. It reduces the heart rate and blood pressure, increases blood circulation and lymph flow, relaxes muscles, improves range of motion and increases serotonin, which influences blood flow, and endorphins, which affect pain perception, enhancing medical treatment.

Massage therapy also is helpful in relieving the daily stresses that wear down the body. Therapeutic massage does for the body what a tune-up does for a car.

"It would be difficult to find anything that has the wide range of benefits that massage does," said E. Houston LeBrun, president-elect of the American Massage Therapy Association™ (AMTA). "It's a wonderful way to help your body deal with daily stresses."

Another Rabid Wolf Killed East Of Town

C. F. Taylor, who lives on the Rorie place east of town, killed a coyote with a stick on August 23. The animal was believed to be affected with rabies. It was very poor and in bad physical shape.

Mr. Taylor had gone to a windmill in the pasture, accompanied by his dogs. The dogs immediately attacked the coyote and during the fight Mr. Taylor got a chance to dispatch the wolf with a club. This was about two weeks before the mad coyote showed up and was killed at the Smith place north of town.

There is no way of determining the number of other coyotes, dogs and animals these mad critters have bitten, so it is advisable for everyone to be constantly on the alert for any evidence of hydrophobia. All stray and worthless dogs should be killed immediately, other pets and livestock should be observed closely. A very bad situation could develop from these mad coyotes. Hydrophobia is a very deadly malady.

Report of the coyote killed by Mr. Taylor came to light when he took the scalp to Cole Boswell's office Monday of this week to make affidavit in order to collect bounty. He had the report published last week about the animal killed north of town and figured the two cases might have a connection.

County Agent Hooser was in Turkey Monday afternoon working on the matter of getting a crew of government experts sent to this area to poison coyotes. ☛

NALL COLT PLACES FIRST

The 4-months old quarterhorse colt belonging to Ollie Nall of Quitaque won first place in that division in the judging of livestock Saturday at the county fair at Silverton. Competition was pretty stiff, colts being entered from over a wide area, but Nall's plump little dark brown animal is a real beauty and hard to beat.

All 38 American first ladies have British ancestry. Twenty-five have purely English ancestry.

health hints

Saving Your Life
 (NAPS)—A little aspirin might make a big difference in your life. It might even save it, doctors say.

Taking a 162.5 mg dose of aspirin a day starting as soon as a heart attack is suspected and continuing for at least 30 days will reduce the risk of fatal and nonfatal heart attacks and strokes in people with a suspected heart problem. It is important that the correct dose is taken by heart attack victims since 81 mg aspirin (baby aspirin) is not enough to achieve the clot busting effect and 325 mg (regular aspirin) increases the victim's chance of unwanted bleeding without adding more benefit.

Halfprin is the only 162.5 mg aspirin that meets the FDA labeling for suspected acute MI. The product is marketed by Kramer Laboratories and is available nationwide. For more information on Halfprin, call 1-800-824-4894.

"Farmer-Stockman Show," October 7 - 9

The fifth annual Farmer-Stockman Show is scheduled for October 7 - 9 in Lubbock, Texas. The largest outdoor working farm and ranch show in the southwestern United States, boasts 800 acres of show site with 54 acres of stationary exhibits and 600 acres of crops for field demonstrations. Crops to be harvested during the show are corn, cotton, grain sorghum and alfalfa.

In addition to the many field demonstrations, the exhibit field will be covered with the latest in agricultural technology. Companies will exhibit tractors, combines, cotton strippers, tillage equipment, spraying equipment, irrigation equipment, seed, chemicals, fertilizers, livestock equipment, trucks, trailers, and many more services and products.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Public Is Using Social Security Fraud Hotline

An effort to encourage the public's participation in protecting Social Security programs from fraud and abuse is paying off in calls to the agency's new fraud hotline. More than 75,000 calls and an average of 75 letters a week have been received by the hotline during its first six months. The figures are contained in the Agency's Inspector General's Semi-Annual Report to the Congress. The report also indicated that during the first six months of fiscal year 1997, the Office of Inspector General opened 2,307 and closed 788 investigations, obtained 395 criminal convictions as a result of investigations and reported more than $11.5 million in fines, judgments, and restitutions.

According to the report, most fraud allegations fall into one of four categories: Social Security numbers (obtaining a Social Security number based on false information, counterfeiting Social Security cards); program fraud (concealment of work activity, false claims, forgery); employee fraud (mismanagement, unauthorized activities); and other types of fraud (deceptive advertising, mail fraud, receiving benefits for children not in recipient's care).

"It's important that we recognize that we all have a responsibility to protect the Social Security program from fraudulent activity," stated Acting Social Security Commissioner John Callahan. "We all lose when program costs increase due to fraud and abuse."

The hotline phone number is 1-800-269-0271. The address is Social Security Administration, Office of Inspector General, P.O. Box 17768, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

panies will exhibit tractors, combines, cotton strippers, tillage equipment, spraying equipment, irrigation equipment, seed, chemicals, fertilizers, livestock equipment, trucks, trailers, and many more services and products.

It's no wonder the most commonly heard comment from first time visitors is, "I can't believe how big this show is! I need more than one day to see it all!"

The busy three day schedule will include a variety of activities for the entire family. For producers, field demonstrations exhibit modern machinery in harvesting, tillage, and hay handling. Livestock demonstrations have been expanded this year with live cattle handling demonstrations, horse training sessions, cutting horse demonstrations, and a live milking exhibit.

A new section of the show will address wildlife issues with relation to agriculture, and a variety of new exhibitors will display their wares. The popular Family Living area has expanded programs on healthy lifestyles, farm safety, grain sorghum food products, square dancing, quilting and fashion shows. Texas Blood Institute will also feature a blood drive throughout the three days of the show. Crafters and antique exhibits are unique shopping opportunities.

A trip down memory lane will also be at the show with the antique tractor and equipment exhibits. Over 60 individual exhibits will participate in this event, and many of the tractors can be seen running in the parade scheduled for 11:20 a.m. daily.

Continuing education courses are also offered during the show. Two programs will allow producers to receive CEU credits for attending. The first course, cotton Plant Mapping, is scheduled at 12:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. and the afternoon course is from 3:00 - 4:00 p.m. on Bollweevil Basics.

The Farmer - Stockman Show is 1.5 miles east of Loop 289 on East 50th Street (FM835). Show hours are 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily, October 8, 9, and 10th. There is a small admission fee. Anyone 18 and under is admitted free.
