Brittian Gets Several Scholarship Offers

Valley's Renette Brittian made All tournament Team in the Panhandle All Star Basketball Game. Renette scored 14 points to help her team win the tournament and also helped herself to several scholarship offers.

The following teams have either called or showed interest in having Renette play college basketball for them: Wayland Baptist Flying Queens, West Texas State, North Texas State, Clarendon Junior College, Howard Payne and Northwestern Oklahoma.

Leadership ability is a concern of many local organizations who want to involve more people in decision-making in the community. All groups are urged to be present at this meeting.

Lee Iacocca On Trade

Note: This article came from the Agriculture Watchdog, a bi-monthly paper published in Hereford, Tx by Gerald McCathern, Editor and Publisher.

Lee Iacocca, vocal chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, says its time to stop talking and start acting concerning the trade deficit.

He blasted the free-traders who are using the word "competing" as their battle-cry. That's the standard response when you talk to a free-trader, "Well, we've just got to realize we've got to be competitive in the world market!"

The Chrysler chairman posed a few questions to the new experts on competing. First, he said, what are they doing about the budget scandal. He says that is our biggest competitiveness problem, by far.

Iacocca reminded them the government's interest bill just passed $182 billion a year. That means that we have to cover $500 million a day before we can buy a single missile or pave a single road or do anything to make us competitive. That adds up to 17

"Cotton Pickin Time"

by Curtis Tunnell

Looking back about sixty one years ago from 1919 to 1925, when fall of the year came along, Papa would hitch his horses to the wagon and head for town and come back with a bale of ducking. We knew what that meant, it was cotton pickin time and cotton pickin we did. First, mama had to sewup and make our sacks, they would be either seven or nine feet long, which ever one suited you better. The nine foot sack was the best length for it would hold one hundred pounds before you had to weigh up and empty your sack. This would save time although a hundred pounds was hard to slide on the ground. Most people could pull from six to eight hundred pounds per day, some people could pull from one thousand to a bale in one day. We would hook our horses to the wagon and take the cotton to the gin, and maybe sit in the gin office most of the night for they were always behind with the ginning. If the rest of the men got tired of waiting and went home this would sometimes get you ahead of as much as one hundred bales for you had to pull your bale under the suction and run the suction yourself for the gin did not furnish a suction hand.

When the bale was ginned you would load it in your wagon and pull up on main street and sell it to the highest bidder who was usually one of the merchants of the town.

During this time if someone picked up something that belonged to you, you would jokingly say keep your cotton picking hands off that, for in those days if you lived on a farm you did have cotton picking hands.

Now I like very much the way farmers gather their cotton, now instead of pulling it one boll at a time. I had rather get in a tractor or pickup and go to the gin instead of hooking horses to a wagon. That was alright fifty or sixty years ago but it would not work now.

Times are changin, now I will take my cotton pickin money to the "Cotton Pickin Bank" then go down to the "Cotton Patch"

By Nadine Baisden

Mrs. Olene Edwards of Turkey was telling me that, 60 years ago, she and her late husband, Roy Edwards were married April 21, 1927, in Turkey by the justice of the peace Willis Walker. Mrs. Edwards states that her family now consists of 9 children, 27 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

The item that ran in the Valley Tribune April 2nd issue with the heading "Bicentennial of the U. S. Constitution 1887," stated April 25, 16th Annual Bob Wills Day, Turkey (which is correct). Then, "Born in Oklahoma, Wills came to Turkey at a young age. (the birth place is incorrect.)" the book "San Antonio Rose - The Life and Music of Bob Wills" by Charles R. Townsend.

Bob Wills was born March 6, 1905, on a farm near Kosse in Limestone County, Texas, the first of ten children born to John Tompkins Wills and Emmaline Foley Wills, Bob of the third generations of Willses born in Texas.

In the fall of 1913, the Wills family loaded their possessions into two covered wagons and moved five hundred miles northwest to Hall Co. where they rented a farm on the Ogdon Ranch located about 9 miles from Memphis, in the spring of 1914. That year they arrived they picked cotton with their relatives already living in this area.

In 1919, Bob's father bought his own property, a 600-acre combination farm and ranch between Big Red River and Little Red River, about midway between Turkey and Lakeview near Ox-bow Crossing, that is where that expression came into his life, "Down between the rivers." It was in the late 30's when Bob Wills worked in the Ham Barber Shop in Turkey. Bob and his wife Edna and daughter, Robbie Jo lived on Alexander street about a block and a half west of the Turkey Hotel, the last house on the west end of Alexander on the north side of the street. The house was new at that time.

cents out of every dollar gets skimmed right off of the top just to pay the interest bill - and he says if we don't stop this debt binge now, we're gonna leave a whole generation (your kids and mine) without a prayer of competing.

And he says that those experts on competing should be aware that the value of our currency has a lot to do with our ability to compete in world markets. Of course this all goes back to the fact that Paul Volker and the Federal Reserve Board has the power to run up or down the value of the dollar just by having a loose or tight money policy - and they ran the value of the dollar just by having a loose or tight money policy - and they ran the value of the dollar up so that the third world countries could export their products into our markets, generating enough cash flow to make their interest payments to the Feds international bankers.

But Iaccoca says that currency values are only a small part of the problem in our trade imbalance. He cites the recent refusal of Japan to allow U. S. companies to bid on construction of a new $8 billion airport in Osaka, while Japanese construction companies are doing $2 billion worth of business in the U.S. - The reason for barring the U.S. companies was that "they wouldn't understand the differences in the soil" - just like our ski manufacturers are kept out of their ski business because their snow is different!

If America is going to compete, we need a trade policy that stops outrages such as that, Iaccoca said. He says we've been afraid to tell the Japanese that we simply won't tolerate a $60 billion bilateral trade deficit while they continue to shut off their markets. And instead of getting tough, we've let them bog us down in endless negotiations over baseball bats one week and tomato puree the next.

We argue over quotas for this and quotas for that, while they continue to dump into our markets and lock the doors on theirs. It's time Iaccoca says, to put a quota on exploitation of the American market! It's time to tell the Japanese, "That $60 billion will go down by 20 percent in the next 12 months and 20 percent more the year after that, until we get back in balance. Do it any way you want - buy more from us or sell us less - it's your choice."

The WATCHDOG believes our trade policy is akin to our agriculture policy - we're afraid the world will stop eating for a year and bring us to our knees!

Iaccoca says we need to get away from the fear of retaliation. Their economy lives or dies on its ability to have access for their products in America. And it's not just the Japanese - it's everybody! What are we afraid of, he asks. The American market is the engine that drives the whole world's economy, and it's getting overheated. If we fail, the whole world will suffer - consequently it is time to start managing our trade with a little common sense for a change!

Our trade negotiators need to take a lesson from the porcupine - in the porcupine world, rape is unknown. But if you're the only one in the woods without quills, you better watch out!!

Mrs. Virginia Degan Hosts Nuevo Study Club Meet

Nuevo Study Club met at the home of Virginia Degan on Thursday, April 9 at 3 p.m.

During the business session, the April 23rd meeting was postponed until May 7.

Nadine Baisden, president, appointed a nominating committee as follows: Mmes. Lurline Walker, Kathleen Green, and Marcella Patterson. Mrs. Baisden also gave a report on the library.

Mrs. Degan, program leader, gave a talk on Texas Plains Trails which includes Turkey and Quitaque. She began with some early day information about Lubbock and the surrounding country called the Llano Estacado, which was once a vast grassland without a tree, shrub or fence. The town was founded as the result of a squabble between two land companies. She said the city is aspiring to become the chrysanthemum city of Texas now.

Next on the trail is Levelland where South Plains Junior College is located. Then Muleshoe named for a famous early cattlebrand. Hereford is next, named for early herds of cattle and known as the "town without a toothache" because of so much fluoride in the water. On to Vega, where a famc is seed company is located, the Canadian River Valley, Old Tascosa, established in 1870; Dumas, established in 1892 and made a town by the oil strike in 1926.

Borger, besides being famous for oil, has the world's largest fish fry every year. At Panhandle, the first Bois d'arc tree is found. Amarillo is famous, among other things, for its beautiful civic center and the helium monument. Both Amarillo and Canyon claim TEXAS, the stage production held at Palo Duro Canyon all summer each year. Sybil and Don Harrington, Mrs. Degan said, have done so many things for both towns. Canyon, of course, is famous for the University, also.

The trail goes on to Tulia, Silvertown, Quitaque, Turkey, Matador, and Post. Post was founded by C. W. Post, the cereal man, and he also did many rain-making experiments which were unsuccessful.

The trail goes on to the little town of Gail in Borden County where there is famous museum. The town and county were named for Gail Borden, Jr., founder of Borden Milk Company, then the trail ends as it began at Lubbock, Mrs. Degan concluded.

The hostess served a lovely refreshment plate with miniature Easter baskets for favors to seven members.

Shower For Bride-Elect Ms. Green

On Sunday, April 12, from 3 to 4:40 p.m. a bridal shower honored Kaylene Green, bride-elect of Criss Morrison of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Wayne Morrison, formerly of Quitaque. The honoree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Green of Turkey.

The home of Mrs. Cathryn Setliff was the scene of the bridal shower where guests were welcomed and registered by Mrs. Myra Brown.

The refreshment table was centered with an Easter lily arranged on a blue setting. A crystal punch bowl, serving plates and cups completed the arrangement. Refreshments of punch and cake were served to the guests as they arrived. A large assortment of gifts were displayed in one bedroom while the honoree opened wrapped gifts as they were brought in by guests.

Out of town relatives attending were Mrs. Robert Chambliss, grandmother of Kaylene; two cousins, Robbie Phelps and Beth Ann Cain, all of Plains; a great aunt, Mrs. Einell Montague and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hancock and a daughter, Rhonda, all of Plainview.

Hostesses were Mmes. Margaret Lane, Totsie Bain, Mozelle Fudy, Myra Brown, Zella Leeper, Betty Nan Tiffin, Delories Price, Anna Beth Clay, Virginia Degan, Beth Mills, Ann Coker, Janice Wheeler, Fredia Fuston, Donna Smith, Margie Pinkerton, Cathryn Setliff, Janelle Smith, Maurice Fuston, Ginger Mullin, Lorene Setliff, Nadine Baisden and Paulette Lipscomb.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Miller of Floydada have a new son born Feb. 19. The new baby weighed 8 pounds and 6 ounces, and has been named Luke Stephen. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lane of Plainview and great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lane of Turkey.

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

If you are approaching retirement, you are probably looking forward to a well-earned reward after years of hard work. Yet, you enjoy working and do not want to stop entirely. You may ask, "If I take a part-time job or run a small business, can I still get Social Security retirement checks?"

The answer depends partly on your age. If you are under 65, you can earn up to $6,000 in 1987, and receive ALL benefits due. If you are 65 through 69, the annual exempt amount this year is $8,160. And if you are 70 or older, there is no limit on earnings. The exempt amounts increase each year to keep pace with rising wage levels.

Even if you earn over these amounts, partial benefits may be payable. The basic rule is that $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 earned over the exempt amount.

There is also a special rule that applies in only 1 year -- usually the year you retire. You can get a full benefit for each month earnings do not exceed one-twelfth of the annual limit (in 1987: $500 if you are under 65 and $680 if you are 65 through 69.)

This monthly rule allows you to start getting benefits right away in the year of retirement no matter how high your earnings earlier in the year. If you are self-employed, your time and services devoted to the business are considered in addition to net income; you can get more information on this at the Social Security office.

To see how these two rules work, consider "Joe" who retired at 62 in 1986 and gets $450 a month from Social Security. He took a part-time job in January 1987 and will earn $7,600 in 1987. Under the basic annual rule, Joe will lose $800, or a little less than 2 months benefits.

Now let's say Joe, instead, retires June 30, 1987, and earns $15,000 in the first 6 months. Then he works part time the last 6 months for $300 a month. Even though Joe's total 1987 earnings are $16,800, he can get a full benefit for each of the last 6 months under the monthly rule.

You should notify Social Security any time you start or stop work or have a change in estimated earnings. In this way you can avoid a possible overpayment. It's best to estimate on the "high side" to be safe since your benefits for the year will be based on that estimate.

We will be pleased to answer questions you have about how earnings affect Social Security benefits

Proper documentation is the key to hiring workers under the new Immigration Control and Control and Legalization Amendments Act of 1986.

"Employers should ask for and make copies of documents presented for all employees hired since November 6, 1986," points out Dr. Richard Edwards, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A & M University System. "Applicants should not be hired without proper documentation."

As far as agricultural employees are concerned, Edwards notes these provisions of the new legislation:

--It is illegal to knowingly hire, recruit or refer for a fee any person not authorized to work in this country. There are stiff penalties for violators. All employers are affected regardless of size or number of workers.

--Employers must inspect documents and attest to the legal right to work of every person hired. There are penalties for employers who do not comply with this paperwork requirement even if no illegal aliens are employed.

--Most agricultural workers will be able to attain legal status. Workers can obtain temporary resident status and, after two years, become permanent residents if they can show they have worked 90 or more man-days in producing and harvesting perishable agricultural commodities during the year beginning May 1, 1985. Those who have worked 90 man-days in the same capacity in each of the three years ending May 1, 1984, 1985, and 1986 may become residents after one year. The number allowed permanent status under the three-year consecutive years of work provision is limited to 350,000. Once either group has obtained permanent status, however, they have no obligation to continue to work in agriculture.

--Anyone who can show continual residence since January 1, 1982, can be granted temporary status for 18 months and may be granted permanent status after that period.

--During a four-year period from 1989-1993, a limited number of aliens will be admitted to perform field work in fruits, vegetables and other perishable commodities if it is determined they are needed. Those admitted are obligated to do at least 90 man-days of such work for three consecutive years. They can then stay in the U.S. permanently but have no further obligation to work in agriculture.

Types of Documentation

Edwards points out that any of the following documents or combination of documents are proof of resident status as set forth in the law: A U. S. passport; Certificate of U. S. citizenship; Certificate of naturalization; Resident alien card or other alien registration card with photo that is evidence of authorization to work; A current foreign passport with a current endorsement allowing the applicant to work in the U.S.; Social Security card and a driver's license or other identification card with photo issued by the state; U.S. birth certificate or birth certificate which establishes U.S. nationality at birth and a driver's license or other state-issued identification card with photo.

Penalties for Employers

"Employers who knowingly hire unauthorized aliens can be fined between $250 and $2,000 for each such employee for a first offense," Edwards points out. "The second violation carries a fine of $2,000 to $5,000 per employee found in violation, and fines range from $3,000 to $10,000 per offense after more than two previous citations."

If the attorney general rules that an employer is engaging in a pattern or practice of violations, that employer may face criminal charges which carry fines or jail sentences.

No citations will be issued through March 1987, says the economist. During the subsequent year through March 1988, a first offender will be cited, but no penalty will be assessed. Second and subsequent violations found during this year, however, will be penalized as previously outlined. After March, 1987, all violations are subject to the full measure of the law.

For seasonal agricultural employees (90 man-days in producing and harvesting perishable commodities), no penalty will be imposed for violation until the application period for the seasonal agricultural worker program has ended in October 1988, notes Edwards.

The new law also addresses workers employed through a labor contractor. If a farmer knows the employees are not authorized to work in the U.S., he is considered to be the one doing the hiring. Any sanctions imposed will be against the farmer.

Employers who do not adhere to the documentation requirements also may be fined, adds Edwards. The law mandates employers to maintain a record keeping system that verifies they have examined documents presented. Employers may photocopy the documentation. Those employers found in violation shall be fined between $100 and $1,000 for each individual in violation.

Millions of dieting Americans wanting to lose weight try to starve it off, melt it off, shake it off, and even sleep it off. Dieters are deluged with books, tapes, pills, potions, gadgets, TV shows, and testimonials all designed to take off pounds painlessly.

Have you ever stopped to think that if one of these wonderful weight loss methods really worked that soon we would all be thin? Many of us know people who have lost weight on one of these fad diets, but how many maintain the loss for any period of time? According to an FDA article, fewer than 20 percent are able to keep off the pounds they shed.

Does this mean there is a deep, dark secret for weight loss? Some diet promoters would like us to think that. The truth is that we must use up more energy (calories) than is taken in through food. This means eating less or exercising more, or some combination of the two.

Our problem is that we want it to happen instantly. This makes us vulnerable to "quick" weight loss plans. If we stop to think, we realize that our excess weight too time to add on and will take time to remove.

There is no "magic" food that has the ability to "burn" fat. Omitting one group of foods, such as carbohydrates, from our diet can be harmful to the body. Bread and potatoes are labeled by many people as "fattening" foods, yet these are relatively low caloric foods which contain other important nutrients. Carbohydrate and protein foods contain 4 calories per gram, whereas fats contain 9 calories per gram. It is the calories in the fats -- butter, margarine, salad dressings, etc. -- which we add to the carbohydrate foods, like potatoes, which make weight loss difficult.

Energy or calories comes only from fats, carbohydrates and proteins. Reducing the amount of calories from fats will help in weight control. Reducing portion size is also important. Do you know how much meat is a 3-ounce serving?

Eating a balanced diet from the four food groups -- 4 servings from breads and cereals; 4 servings from fruits and vegetables; 2 or 3 servings from milk and dairy products; and 2 servings from meat, poultry, or fish -- while reducing fats, sweets, and alcohol, and following recommended serving sizes is the easiest, safest, and most sensible diet plan to follow each day of our lives.

Our 4-H members in the food and nutrition project all learn the 4-4-3-2 plan in "The Hassle-Free Guide to a Better Diet." For a free copy of this brief, colorful publication or the eight-lesson "Diet and Exercise Connection" series or a summary of the current diets on the market, call 823-2343 or come by my office in the Court-house basement.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, national origin, or handicap.

Clear Cut Facts On Recycling Glass

Stop! Don't throw that empty pickle jar in the trash, and hang on to those used soft drink, make-up, wine, perfume and medicine bottles too. Even empty, glass containers are valuable, because just like the family cat, bottles have nine lives.

Here are five sparkling facts on the benefits of recycling glass.

- Energy Savings. Manufacturers add crushed recycled glass to the mixture of materials in the glass-making process. This reduces melting temperatures and saves energy.

- Environmental Protection. Recycling is considered a sensible and money-saving solution to the problem of fewer available landfill sites. Close to three billion containers are now recycled each year. The result is less waste to be disposed of or left to litter the landscape.

- Resource Conservation. Recycling saves virgin natural resources.

- Consumer research has consistently demonstrated that glass is the preferred packaging material when it comes to protecting product taste and quality.

- The Pay Off For You And The Community. Many places recycle glass and other waste products to save money on trash disposal and often make money on the reclaimed materials. Individuals who recycle glass find it doesn't take much time or effort. All they need do is rinse the containers, remove metal rings, sort by color and drop them off at a nearby collection point.

The Glass Packaging Institute offers an informative booklet to answer frequently asked questions about recycling. For a free copy, write: Glass Packaging Institute, 1133 20th St., N.W., Suite 321, Washington, D.C. 20036.

FROM THE FILES OF THE TURKEY ENTERPRISE APRIL 17, 1947

The beautifully decorated high school gymnasium was the scene for the most colorful affair of the school year on Friday, April 11. The Junior Class was host for the Senior Class, faculty, board members, and room parents for an annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

Using a Hawaiian theme, the guests were greeted by Junior girls who in true Hawaiian custom presented them with leis of blue, orange, green and yellow as the guests entered the banquet hall.

After the invocation by Rev. Parmenter, a welcome to guests was given by Junior Jacobs, president of the Junior Class, and a response was given by Charles Russell, president of the Senior Class. An amusing will was read by Richard Lee Vardy and a fitting prophecy was given by Margie McKay.

Guests were served by Loyce Shannon, Lila Fern Jones, Sarah Bishop, Patsy Conner, Eloise Stephens, Alpha Joyce Mullin, Vera Lee Graves, and Doris McKay, wearing Hawaiian costumes of grass skirts and leis and flowers. "Sleepy Lagoon" sung by Alton Lane who acted as toast master; Alton also sang "Farewell to Thee" and bid the guests "Aloha."

The Lillie Handley circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Christine Williams. Those present were Buck Blakney, Jack Barnhill, R. D. Jones, Pat Brittain, Robert Lee Young, Don Masterson and the hostess Mrs. R. A. Smith, who led the review of the book studied.

Students of Turkey who were winners in the district meet at Silverton, entered in the area in Amarillo April 12.

Bobby Jean Mullin won first place in senior girls declamation. Cleo Eudy and Inez Wynn won first place in debate.

In slide rule competition Richard Vardy placed first, Charles Russell second, and Herbert Hill third.

The one-act play presented by Cleo Eudy, Barbara Ann Christian, Alton Lane, Richard Lee Vardy, Wilma Jewel Parker, Wanda Lou Browning, Bobby Jean Mullin and Inez Wynn, won first place.

Richard Lee Vardy placed first in extemporaneous speech. Geraldine Hill won third in typing and Lila Fern Jones placed sixth.

These winners will enter the regional meet April 9, which will be held in Lubbock and the last competition in which students are judged before they enter the state meeting at Austin May 2-3.

This young lady was dreaming that her handsome Prince flew into her bedroom and scooped her up and flew quite a way back to his castle with her in his arms. Finally flying into his window and tossing her on a luxurious bed.

"What are you going to do now?" she asked in a frightened voice.

"That's up to you," he said, "It's your dream!"

Quitaque Senior Citizens Hold Two Recent Meetings

Quitaque Sr. Citizens met Thursday April 2, for their regular business meeting. Several items of business were discussed. It was decided to meet the first pretty day to mow, and kill weeds around the building. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served to 19 members.

After refreshments we had a "sing along" many old songs were sung that brought back memories of the "good ole' days". There were two tables of 42 and we all got home in time to see Knot's Landing!

On April 9, Sr. Citizens met for a their regular monthly luncheon. Some of the members were ill and couldn't attend but in spite of that there were 24 members and two guests.

There was some comment about the work done on the yard, which had been mowed and the weeds killed. Diane Brunson was present to take blood pressure and they would like to take this opportunity to say "thank you" to her. The next meeting will be the 3rd Saturday of the month; breakfast will be served at 8 a.m. See you then.
