Turkey Bank Pleads for Support

Note: Information compiled and story written by Globe-News Staff Writer Olivia Mayer

In a practically unprecedented move, Peoples State Bank President Jim Cade has gone to this farming community of 644 to plead for support for the town's struggling bank.

"Basically what I had to tell the community is that we are experiencing some problems and that we are in the process of handling those problems and are working through them," Cade said. "The people of this community are the bank and without community support I saw we weren't going to be able to solve them (problems)."

Cade said recently he called two town meetings to quell rampant rumors and to inform the community of what was happening with the town's only bank.

Rumors began circulating last month after bank examiners arrived to pour over records, Cade said. In order to send a more positive message to regulators, Cade said it was important that officials knew of the community's support.

"I went to them and told them that the community was going to have to take on a positive attitude and that moral support and the people retaining their faith in the community and the bank was of the utmost importance," Cade said.

"It's imperative that we fight, we struggle to keep this bank in Turkey," he said.

Cade said the 43-year-old, agricultural bank is a victim of the times. Just last week Farmers State Bank in Hart was forced to shut down. And Thursday, two more banks both in the Houston area, were declared insolvent, bringing the number of defunct Texas banks to 12 this year.

Cade, 32, who broke into banking when he became president here on January 20, admitted it was unusual for someone in his business to go public and admit problems.

"Yes the FDIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.) did have a lot of concern," he said. "They can't give their blessing for what we did. It may be the only place in the world that such a risk could have been taken."

But a good show of community support for any bank without financial backing is not enough, said State Banking Commissioner Kenneth Littlefield.

"I like to see the community support the bank," Littlefield said. "But it must result in something financial if the bank is in trouble."

Littlefield said capital, not moral support, is the bottom line.

Cade said the institution is negotiating for more financial backing, but would not say if residents have yet contributed significant amounts. He did say there is the potential for financial support.

"If anything at all comes out of this, at least the farming community knows we put up a fight," Cade said.

Valley Youth Participate In Houston Livestock Show

Valley F.F.A. members participating in the Houston Livestock Show were successful again exhibiting their livestock. In the market hog show, there were over 2600 entries. Valley exhibited twelve head of which nine made the pre-show sift at Brenham. Before the pigs get to show at Houston all must go through a pre-show at Brenham to sift the animals for quality and size. One thousand three hundred of the two thousand six hundred pigs that arrived at Brenham got to go to Houston to participate in the show. Placing pigs at the Houston show were as follows: Jason Little, 4th place light-weight Yorkshire, 12th place light-weight Yorkshire was exhibited by Brandon Smith, Kyle Fuston, 14th place medium Yorkshire, Jess Little, 25th place heavy-weight Chester White and Kirk Saul exhibited the 18th place light-weight Berkshire. Other members that participated in the hog show were Warren Merrell, John Harmon, Scott Saul, Derek Mullin, Clay Merrell, Joe Morrison, and Craig Setliff.

Jess Little with show animals in Houston

Suzie and Cal Farley both participated in the commercial Steer Show at Houston. This contest includes feeding a pen of 3 steers for at least 150 days and keeping an indepth set of records on the animals. Suzie and Cal's Charolais Hereford and Angus cross steers graded choice 2 and 3's, which brought excellent premium money for each of the pens.

Farmers Union Convention Held in Ft. Worth

The National Farmers' Union Convention was held in Ft. Worth March 1-4 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. National Farmer Union's president, Cy Carpenter, presided over the meetings and gave an inspirational speech. The giant convention hall could not seat all the troubled farmers from all across the United States.

Congressman Gonzales from San Antonio gave the keynote address and we quote a few lines from him, "180 farmers go broke every day. The United States Congress spent hundreds of billions of dollars last year to bail banks out of trouble but nothing was said about spending that much money. Our present farm program has cost 6 times more than previous programs and we are 6 times worse off. The Harkins-Gephardt bill would cost a lot less and be a lot better."

Congressman Gonzales voted for Farmers' Union policies 335 times of 373, it was stated.

Congressman Gephardt, who has announced as a candidate for U. S. president is one of the sponsors of the Harkins-Gephardt bill. He said we need to change our foreign policy and that it was time to make a fair trade or no trade. He gave a very convincing speech.

Methodists To Host Supper

The menu will be enchiladas, pinto beans, green salad, Mexican cornbread, cobbler, tea and coffee.

Mark March 30 on your calendar and plan on some delicious food and good fellowship.

Julie Ross

Kacey Fuston

In celebration of Newspapers in Education Week, March 1-7, the Amarillo Globe-News asked Amarillo and area schools to design ads and write editorial features for a special section. Students were asked to write about "My Home Town." Below are two stories that were chosen by editors from the Globe-News. These stories were written by 5th grader Julie Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ross of Quitaque, and 6th grader Kacey Fuston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fuston of Turkey.

"My Home Town"

Quitaque
My home town is a friendly town. It is at the foot hills of the Caprock. The Caprock is a beautiful place to see.

People are an important part of my town. They keep the businesses going. The people are friendly and kind. Everyone in the town knows each other. That's what makes the town such a nice place to live.

The bank keeps the town together. It is a very strong bank. People from all over come and do business with the bank. If it wasn't for the bank we might not be a town.

We are very proud of our school. It is clean and pretty. We have a very successful athletic program. We have good teachers. Our school is a consolidation Turkey and Quitaque.

Caprock Canyon State Park is located about five miles out of town. In the summer lots of people go to the park for picnics, swimming, fishing, hiking, and camping. There are often visitors to park from places like New York and even Washington.

Quitaque is blessed with strong churches. We have a Methodist, Baptist, Church of Christ, and the Catholic are in process of building a church.

Agriculture is the primary source of income. Around Quitaque you will see watermelons, cotton, peanuts and hay in the field.

Quitaque is the best place in the world.

Turkey
Turkey may be small, but our hearts and history are full.

We've had spellers place fourth in national contests and losing football teams, but we are always smiling. Everyone is very supportive. THEY REALLY CARE! The people always want to do anything possible to help!

We've been around for about 100 years. Our first train came rolling through in 1928. The people are full of history.

Turkey's special event include Bob Wills Day in April and our Thanksgiving community dinner.

Turkey is a wonderful place to live and visit if you want to get away. Come visit Turkey!

Clinic Schedule

Immunization clinics offering vaccines that give protection against several childhood diseases are scheduled for March 20, from 10:00 - 11:00 a.m. Valley Schools. Protection is against Polio, Diphtheria, Lock Jaw (tetanus), Whooping Cough (Pertussis), Measles, Rubella, and Mumps.

The Texas Department of Health is charging money to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. The amount of money charged will be based on family income and size, and the ability to pay.

The Good Ole Days

You often hear about the good old days. This is what some people say about the times back fifty or sixty years ago which could be true in some ways. But the same thing could be said about this day in time. Back then just before night someone in the family had to bring in the chips and wood so the fires could be started in the cook stove, and the wood heating stove. Then at about four or five in the morning someone in the family had to start the fires in the house so it would be warm at breakfast time. Each room had a kerosene lamp which had to be filled and the globes shined. To furnish hot water for your bath which was a No. 3 wash tub, some of the large cook stoves had a ten gallon water tank made inside the stove so the fire would warm the water, but if you only had a small stove you had to heat water in an iron kettle.

With no radios or TV the main entertainment was to drag out the old fiddle, guitar, banjo and the "tatter bug" mandolin then strike up a little tune. Then on Saturday night you would hitch the old horse to the buggy and load in the instruments then head for the musical at some neighbors house. Most everyone could play an instrument or sing. Then there was always someone in the crowd that could jig dance. This went on until midnight and then turned into an ice cream supper with plenty of chocolate cake.

When the smaller towns began to put in the silent movies this was a sight to be seen, but there was the draw backs, for after each scene that flashed on the screen you would have to read what had happened, then there were the people that could not read and some one had to read out loud to them, this was bad for everyone. As there was no electricity to run the machines they would have a dynimo pulled by a gasoline motor, which would sometimes stop and have to be started again with no lights to see by. It was very dark but everyone enjoyed the show.

A special Thank You to Marcella Patterson, for gathering and typing the news for Turkey Monday while I was in the hospital at Memphis. I had to take two packs of IV's to take care of the dehydration that I went through Sunday afternoon when I had a seige of vomiting.

I especially thank Virginia Deagan and Clema Johnson for taking me to the hospital late Sunday afternoon, and returning me home Monday night.

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor,
 Last Sunday, March 1, while passing through your town, (Turkey), we had an unfortunate accident which could have been worse if it had not been for your nice citizens. We had a flat on our car and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clinton were kind enough to see that we got it fixed and left town safely. They called Byron, (I'm sorry, we didn't get this last name) who opened his Gulf station and fixed it for us. We were impressed with their courtesy and their thoughtfulness. You truly have fine people in your town. Please print this to show our appreciation.

We hope that if you ever visit Amarillo, you are treated with such kindness.

Thank You,

Superintendent's Corner

By Wilburn Leeper

A number of concerns dominate the educational scene in Texas today and the future. House Bill 72 is not a panacea destined to cure all the ailments and inadequacy found in the educational process. That legislation is only a step, most of which is focused in the right direction, toward changing the system and its mission. Texas is changing and the environment in which children grow up and learn is changing. The State Board of Education is attempting to meet the future needs of Texas children by developing and promoting a long range plan.

The State Board has established standards directed toward increasing student performance as a priority goal. One stated objective of this worthy goal is the establishment of programs to reduce the dropout rate among today's students. The statistics related to the dropout rate in Texas is alarming.

According to the finding related to dropouts and leaving school early, almost 35 percent of the teenagers who entered the ninth grade in 1981 were not in school at the time their classes graduated in 1985. In comparison, approximately 26 percent nationwide and 7 percent at Valley do not complete high school. The highest dropout rates occur in large urban areas. Thus, the educational preparation of over one-third of the state's population is incomplete and inadequate.

These figures represent a loss not only to the individuals but also to the economy of the state. Additional statistics show that more than one-third of the state's population over the age of 18 has not completed high school, and 20 percent has not completed the eighth grade. It is estimated that an individual who leaves school early before graduating earns $150,000 less over a lifetime than does a high school graduate. And, almost two-thirds of the household heads in the state who receive Aid to Families of Dependent Children have not earned a diploma. The state, furthermore, spends over $11,000 each year on every prison inmate, 85 percent of whom left school early. This amount compares with an average cost for 1985-86 school year of $3452 per student in the public school.

Why should students stay in school and get an education? The statistics tell a lot of the story but cannot touch the personal feelings brought about by dropping out of school early. Today's youth need an education to help ensure success for tomorrow.

A School Board election will be held April 4 to elect four members to the Turkey - Quitaque Board of Trustees. The filing deadline has ended and the names of five candidates will appear on the ballot. Filing for the three positions for full term of three years are Betty Farley, Brent Guest, Gary Powell, and Larry Curry. Mack Seymour has filed as a candidate for an unexpired two year term position. The election will be held in Turkey and Quitaque along with city elections. Absentee balloting will take place at the school business office during normal business hours.

The Valley School cafeteria served 4757 lunches and 601 breakfasts during the 18 school days in February. That's an average of 264 lunches and 33 breakfasts served each day.

During the 1985-86 school year, Valley School received 20 percent of its revenue through local taxes. In comparison, schools of like wealth and enrollment received 25 percent from local taxes while the state average was 44 percent. The school received 65 percent of its revenue from state sources and 11 percent from federal. The remaining 4 percent came through other local sources such as lunchroom collections.

Extension Service

By Dirk Aaron
Briscoe Co. CEA-AG

Critical decisions which normally confront Briscoe County cotton producers at planting time are being compounded this year by new regulations and increasing economic pressures, says County Extension Agent Dirk Aaron. But information which will help area farmers make those crucial decisions will be explored at a meeting March 9 in Lubbock, the agent said.

The South Plains Development Program cotton conference will be from 1 to 5:00 p.m. at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. The center is on FM 1294, just east of I-27 at the Shallowater exit.

Considerations that will be examined, Aaron said, will include cotton provisions of the farm bill, conservation compliance implications for area cotton, soil fertility, declining cotton yields, mill demands for fiber quality and ways to minimize bawky cotton penalties.

Provisions of the federal farm bill which affect cotton producers on the High Plains will be explored by Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension agricultural economist and cotton marketing specialist from College Station. Effects of conservation compliance regulations on High Plains cotton producers will be explained by Dr. B. L. Harris, Extension soils specialist.

Programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to help apply farming systems methods to conservation compliance needs will be discussed by Dr. John Abernathy, resident director of research at the Lubbock-Halfway Experiment Station.

An update on 1986 soil fertility surveys will be presented by Wayne Wyatt, general manager of the High Plains Underground Water District No. 1, Lubbock. The relationship of fertilization and declining yields will be explored by Dr. Art Onken, professor of soil fertility at the Lubbock - Halfway Experiment Station.

New technology in textile processing and its impact on fiber quality demands will be presented by Dr. John Price, head of processing research in the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University. Dr. John Gannaway, Experiment Station cotton breeder at Lubbock, will look at ways to meet those quality needs.

What's being done to help farmers minimize the problems of bawky cotton will be reported by Dr. James Supak, Extension cotton agronomist at Lubbock.

The South Plains Development Program is a coordinated regional effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to promote economic development in agriculture and improved family life in 21 counties. It is sponsored through county Extension Program Councils and special SPD task forces which identify educational needs and coordinate educational activities.

Social Security News

BY Terry Clements

Although, in general, the earnings test is the same for self-employed people as for wage earners, there are some differences. It's important for people who receive earnings from self-employment to be aware of the differences.

The earnings test places a limit on the amount of money a beneficiary can earn without affecting benefits. In 1987, the limit is $8,160 for people 65 to 70, and $6,000 for people under 65. Benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 earned over the limit. The earnings test does not apply to people who are 70 and older.

The difference comes during the first year of retirement. During the first year of retirement, wage earners can get a full benefit for any month they don't earn more than 1/12th of the annual limit, regardless of their earnings before retirement. However, self-employed people can get a full benefit for any month they don't perform substantial services in self-employment regardless of their earnings in any month.

Whether or not services performed in a business are "substantial" depends on a number of factors. They include the amount of time devoted to the business or profession, including time spent planning and managing, the kind of work done, and how the work compares with that the person previously did.

The more valuable and highly skilled the work performed, the more likely it is to be considered substantial.

In general, more than 45 hours of work devoted to business during the course of a month constitutes substantial service. Less than 15 hours a month is never considered substantial service.

If you need more information on the earnings test you can call us at 293-9623 or come by the office at 1401 -B West 5th Street. Appointments can be arranged if desired.

See your doctor once a year for an annual check-up. It could be your step up to a healthier — and longer — life.

Caprock Comments

By Cochum

It's later than you think... Only 8 more days til Spring, and 17 more days until Daylight Savings Time, when they take that one hour of sleep away from you and don't give it back for seven months.

As the woman went into the bank, she noticed a new face in the window and asked, "Has the Cashier gone away for a rest?" "No ma'am, he went away to avoid it!"

This guy called up the doctor and said, "My kid just swallowed a pen, what should I do?" The doctor replied, "Use a pencil!"

Traffic cop's advice to women having a hard time squeezing into parking space "Just imagine it's a girdle or a pair of shoes!"

The tourist asked "Any big men born around here?" Caprock Pete replied, "No, the best we can do is babies... it's different in the big city, I suppose!"

"Hey" said Satan to the newcomer, "You act like you own this place." "I do" he said, "My wife just gave it to me!"

"What did your uncle die of?" asked a friend. "I don't rightly know, but it wasn't anything real serious!"

This farmer had been taken so many times by the car dealer who wanted to buy a cow from him that he priced the cow this way: Basic cow, $300; two-tone extra $50; Extra Stomach, $50; Produce storage compartment $75; Dispensing device with four spigots $75; genuine cowhide upholstery, $100; Dual horns, $50; Automatic fly-swatter, $25. Total price less tax... $750!

Then there was this fellow whose first two wives died from eating toadstools and his third wife died from a concussion. He couldn't make her eat the toadstool!

Congratulations are certainly in order to all the fine athletes in this area in football and basketball and their records in the playoffs in both sports. Their dedication, scholastic achievements and pride surely give us confidence in our future as they go out into the world to become leaders in their communities!

"Yes," said the store owner, "we have quite a selection of loafers." "I'll see if I can get one of them to wait on you!"

Piano Student To Compete At Austin

Six piano students of Mrs. Ross Herrington were entered in piano competition in the Regional University Interscholastic League Solo-Ensemble meet held recently in Lubbock on Saturday, February 28, along with several hundred other musicians across the Texas Panhandle.

Entered from Valley were Amy and Melissa Maupin, Joe Morrison, and Gina Conner. Entered from Silverton, also students of Mrs. Herrington, were Tara Nance and Kimberly Burson. Amy Maupin and Gina Conner entered Freshman Class III division, and with ratings ranging I through 5, Amy Maupin made a II rating which is excellent. Gina Conner earned a I Superior rating, and also received a medal.

In the most difficult Class I division, both Joe Morrison and Kimberly Burson received a II Excellent rating. Tara Nance received a II Excellent in class II. All performed very well with the same judges as larger schools.

To earn a trip to state a student must perform a selection from the State List, Class I, the most difficult division, and receive a rating of I. Melissa Maupin played Sonata in G by Mozart with such artistry as to receive a coveted I Superior rating and a medal. She will travel to Austin to compete in the UIL State Solo-Ensemble competition May 30-June 1.

Congratulations to all these fine young musicians for representing their schools and communities in such an outstanding way.

"My dad went on a diet," said the Banker's son. "There was too much collateral in his blood!"

No matter what happens, there's always somebody who knew it would!

Wife to husband, "Help him with his lessons now while you can. Remember, next year he will be in the fourth grade!"

The business executive was admiring the pretty girl walking by and said "Wow, what a dish!" "Five kids," his friend said.

"You mean to say she has five kids?" he asked. "No, you do!"

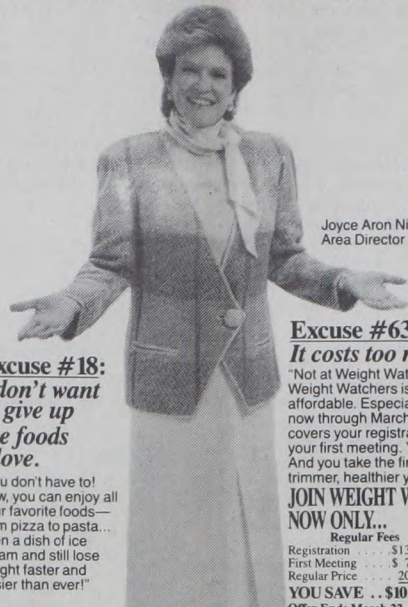

"May I help you with your soup?" the waitress asked the customer.

"No, I'm doing OK," he said. From the waitress, "Well, I thought from the sound that you might need somebody to drag you out on the shore."

That's -30- for this time, remember, if your hand itches you're gonna get it; if your head itches, you've already got it!

Packaging People

Know why we build skyscrapers? In order to have many more people working in a limited area. We package people vertically!

Among the skyscrapers our photographer has discovered a church. It too has a vertical element — a steeple pointing heavenward.

Church architecture with its traditional spires expresses our beliefs. People today are packaged too tightly. Pressure, custom, conformity crowd in upon our souls. Christ teaches that every person is important... each one of us is loved by our Lord.

As we worship God each week side by side, our beliefs point us heavenward.

Vows Said In Houston

Gwendolyn Basbaw of Houston and Darrell Handoll of Turkey were united in marriage on Wednesday, March 4 at 8 p.m. at Claude's. Attendants were Amy Salem and Albert Green. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace B. J. Robinson.

Arrangements are being finalized for ECA classes in Turkey. The Turkey Fire Dept. is encouraging anyone to take the 40 hour course.

Engagement Announced

George Stigall and Phyllis Bessner of Salisbury, Maryland, would like to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Tami, to Revis Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Farley of Turkey.
The couple plans to wed April 26 in Turkey. Revis and Tami are both in the Army and work at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Scott Saul
(nee Denise Bynum)

Bynum - Saul Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged at 1 p.m., February 7, 1987 in First United Methodist Church, Quitaque, between Denise Bynum and Scott Saul, both of Quitaque.

Rev. Dennis Flaughter, Methodist minister, and Rev. Jess Little, Baptist minister, officiated the afternoon ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clark of Quitaque and Mack Bynum of Deatur. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Saul of Quitaque are parents of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father and her stepfather, the bride wore an off-white formal gown, with Venetian lace applique at yoke and the wrists of the long sleeves. The same lace formed her Juliet cap and edged her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of pastel flowers.

Bridesmaid Janis Chumbley and Maid of Honor Beverly Hulsey wore identical dresses of pink, and carried pastel carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Kirk Saul, and groomsman, Jess Little.

Wedding music was provided by Dianne Brunson at the piano.

A reception followed at the church, with a lovely 3-tier wedding cake in yellow, made and decorated by the bride's grandmother, Mildred Hulsey.

Del Ray Browning and Lucy Price, both of Turkey, presided at the bride's table.

When Souls Communicate

When souls communicate -- it's like prayer. There may never be a word spoken... just a sigh, a wish, a hope, a longing. A child trying to express some simple feeling to its Mother. Mother trying to express her devotion to her child.

All prayer is founded on the idea that God loves us and cares about the things that affect us. Jesus taught us to pray "Our Father... He wanted men to see God's love on the parental level.

When you feel the need to pray, reach out with your heart to God. You may not be able to find words. Yet He hears. He understands those deep feelings we find hard to express.

In church our efforts to communicate with Him are strengthened by the fact that many others are praying with us. They need Him just as much as we do. And we need their longings, their hopes and wishes and feelings to help us express our own. Join us in prayer at your local church or synagogue.
