Hailstorm Wipes Out A Wide Path of Valley Crops

A spring-type thunderstorm swept down off the Plains southwest of Quitaque Tuesday afternoon about 6 o'clock, bringing with it a severe hailstorm that wiped out many acres of near ready-to-harvest crops, starting in the Truman Merrell vicinity and travelling in an easterly direction to several miles southeast of Turkey.

At this writing The Tribune has not learned an estimate of how many acres of crops were destroyed or just how far the storm traveled. Reports (not confirmed here as yet) say that Paducah and Childress areas had hail Tuesday evening but it is not known if it was the same storm or not.

The Truman Merrells report that at their home place the hail shredded their crops. In that vicinity the reports were that the path of the storm was about a mile and a half wide but some reports say that by the time it reached the Turkey area it was several miles wide. Crops received damage along the line in the Gasoline area, including the Helms, Blue Brown and Jimmy Ross crops, on into Turkey area where the Eudys have property, the Shine Stephens farm, the Proctors and others. According to reports, there were some fine crops in that area.

All of the reports that have come in say that much of the cotton was ruined in the path of the storm, with nothing but stalks left with a few bolls still on the stalk. Peanuts were severely damaged, and also the feed. The Tribune will have a more detailed report next issue.

Mrs. Leslie Houston had as her house guests the weekend her daughter, Mrs. Nadine Stroud, and son, Marvin Houston, and daughter, Linda Kay, all of Dallas, and a son, Johnnie Houston of Lubbock.

The white four-tiered cake was decorated with gold flowers, topped with a gold bell with "50th Anniversary" lettering also in gold. Patriots Win 6-0 At Childress; Go To Happy Friday Night

The Valley High Patriots will be at Happy Friday night in a district contest after taking a 6-0 win over Childress B last Thursday night at Childress. The win over Childress brought the season's record to five wins against only one loss and added another zero to the defensive-minded Patriots. Beginning at the middle of last season, or in the last 10 games played by the Patriots, they have allowed their opponents only 29 points.

Last Thursday night freshman Kenneth Helms broke for 33 yards and a touchdown in the first period of play to score the only points in the game. The Patriots controlled the ball all the way but could not push across another score, but the six points were enough to win. Coach Hulsey did not play any of his seniors in that one, letting the boys who will be back next year handle the chore of winning.

Coach Hulsey stated that he was well pleased with the defense against the Bobcats but was a bit disappointed that the Patriots did not score more.

The Coach singled out Doyle Proctor and Jeff Tiffin for their good blocking. He stated that Rex Fuston, Barry Wheeler, Kenneth Helms and Darrell Dowd performed well on offense.

The coaches drove up to Happy on Friday night of last week to scout the Happy-Sudan game, which was won by Sudan 6-0. Coach Hulsey stated that although Sudan did not perform anything like they did against Valley, the Happy crew is tough and will be hard to handle. He reports that they have good size and some speed and if the Patriots are not ready to play they could be upset.

The Patriots, ranked 10th in the state by the AP, will be seeking their second district win. They have won one and lost one in district to date and stand 5-1 for the season, still owning the best record in the 2-B North Zone. The Patriots need the win Friday to stay alive in the district zone championship. The Patriots will need a lot of boosters in the stands at Happy Friday night to root them along. Let's send a good delegation along to stir up a lot of noise for the Patriots.

Sights On Safety

Avoid A Pool Of Trouble

A quick dip in a family swimming pool is a refreshing remedy for the long, hot summer. However, a piece of poolside electrical equipment can become an instrument of death if damaged or handled in a manner that causes electric current to leak into people. The danger of leakage current is intensified at a poolside location, where it is likely that a person's skin will become wet. Skin moisture significantly reduces the skin's capacity to resist electric shock. Underwriters Laboratories Inc., an independent, not-for-profit organization testing for public safety, urges you to keep the following tips in mind when handling electrical equipment near a swimming pool.

Leakage current occurs when a flow of electricity is diverted from its intended path to ground. This irregularity is termed a "ground fault". Even a small quantity of leakage current can prove fatal to a normally healthy adult. A protective device, called a "ground fault circuit interrupter" (GFCI), is designed to interrupt the electrical power supply if a ground fault is detected. A GFCI will respond to a ground fault current as low as 5/1000 of an ampere, and will shut off the source of electric power in as little as 1/40th of a second; less time than it takes a heart to beat once.

The area around a swimming pool is particularly susceptible to leakage current. A defective filter pump motor, electric panelboard, or underwater light can cause disaster. Appliances used around the pool, such as electric barbecues, radio and television sets, or electric hand tools are also potentially dangerous. UL recommends that you install GFCI's in every circuit that supplies electric power to the pool area. This practice is also called for in the 1975 National Electrical Code (NEC). The Code provides installation requirements that are widely implemented by various electrical inspection authorities.

The installation of GFCI's is the answer to one facet of swimming pool safety. UL recommends that the following safety rules should also be observed:

- Never handle radios, barbecues, or other electrical appliances while wet.
- Never run extension cords close to the pool.
- Never run overhead wires within 10 ft. of the pool.
- Never splice or repair cords of swimming pool equipment — replace them at the first sign of damage.

• Be sure that the electrical power supply to the pool is shut off prior to servicing your pool equipment. You should also place a warning tag on the switches which you shut off. If a switch is not tagged, a bather might innocently turn it on, and you could then be subjected to a serious electrical shock.

• The pool maintenance equipment that you use should be designed for that purpose. It should be plugged into a grounding type receptacle provided with GFCI protection. Use electrical pool vacuums or pool sweeps only when the pool is unoccupied.

• If you feel a tingling sensation when in the water or approaching the pool, tell someone on deck to turn off all electrical power feeding equipment and appliances in and around the pool. You should then leave the pool area as quickly as possible, without contacting metallic objects. Children should be specifically warned about the consequences of this hazard. There have been cases reported in which children, aware of the presence of an electrical field, were hurt or killed because they dared each other to stay in the water longer or more closely approach the source of the field.

• Look for the UL Listing Mark on your electrical equipment. It's your assurance that the design of the equipment has been tested with regard to nationally recognized safety standards.

UL warns that electricity and water don't mix. To avoid a shocking experience, follow these important precautions.

Until I became interested in sailing, I thought boats simply drifted with the wind. It hadn't occurred to me that few sailors would ever reach port in this manner.

And before I became earnest about church, I thought people's lives—their joys and disappointments, their achievements and failures—were largely a result of fate or fortune. Luck would long ago have replaced religion if this were true.

Now I know the thrill of sailing into the wind. Sure, tacking to port or starboard requires a zigzag course, and when your craft heels over at that precarious angle, it takes skill to control her. But that's part of the adventure—making headway against a strong wind.

Now, too, I know the thrill of believing in God... of setting a goal, of relying on His power, of devoting myself to reaching the destination. Making headway against adverse winds heels us over—but it's part of the adventure of being a Christian today.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is planning the improvement of a 9.1-mile section of State Highway 86, extending from the Swisher County Line to the West City Limit of Silverton, in Briscoe County. The proposed project consists of widening, reconditioning, and resurfacing the existing 22-foot pavement to provide two 12-foot travel lanes, with 10-foot paved shoulders.

The proposed improvements will

A minimum of 100 feet of right of way will be required from the West City Limit of Silverton, West 1,174 feet; and a minimum of 137 feet will be required for the remainder of the project. The additional right of way will not involve any displacements, or relocations. Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design, the Social, Economic and Environmental Assessment, and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection

UNIQUE CONTRIBUTION

General Telephone Company of the Southwest is making a unique contribution to the observance of the nation's 200th birthday in the form of a special telephone directory cover featuring a painting of the first "official" American flag.

The bicentennial directory symbolizing the observance of the nation's 200th anniversary will be delivered to telephone customers in Quitaque-Turkey prior to the actual number change in connection with the central office replacement, according to J. H. Davis, division manager for General Telephone Company.

The flag design was painted by artist Stevan Donanos, noted for his paintings of historical subjects and his illustrations of contemporary American life.

Davis said the flag depicted on the directory was adopted by the Continental Congress in 1777 and is spread over the front cover in a hanging position. The legend "1776-1976 The 200th Birthday of Our Country" is the only printing appearing on the front cover. The information usually appearing on the front is shown on the back of the directory.

In addition to the regular information found on the inside front cover is the language of the Act of the Continental Congress under which the flag was created along with explanatory text. A brief biographical sketch of the artist is also included on the inside cover.

MR. AND MRS. GARY N. HOUSE

Francis-House Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Ceremony Friday

The Rock Creek Church of Christ west of Silverton was the scene of a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday, October 10, 1975, which united in marriage Miss Lori Francis and Gary Nelson House. Brother Earl Cantwell, minister of the church, officiated the double-ring service as the couple and their attendants faced the congregation in front of the altar which was decorated with a pair of wrought-iron candelabra holding lighted tapers. The setting was flanked by two wedding baskets of coral gladiolas and carnations, an the altar area was banked with jade palms. A focal point was the couple's unity candle, symbolic of the separate lives they had lived now being joined into one.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Francis of Silverton, and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Allena Jewell Francis of Silverton and the late Louis Francis and the late Mr. and Mrs. Alva Davis, former Quitaque residents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Elven House of Route V, Tulia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown she had made of white doekin satin, designed with stand-up collar accented with scalloped lace. The front and back yokes of the gown were of Chantilly lace, and a Chantilly lace overlay on the front panel extended to the floor. The back yoke was closed with fabric loops and covered buttons. A row of lace intertwined with pearls edged each side of the lace panel into a deep ruffle at the hemline, and her long sleeves were trimmed with lace and pearls. Her off-the-face veil of illusion which fell to below waist length was attached to a band of lace which was embroidered with pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy atop a white Bible which was a gift from her parents.

Carrying out bridal tradition, she placed a sixpence in one shoe and pennies bearing the year of birth of the bridegroom and herself in her other shoe. She wore a blue garter handmade for her by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Deryl House of Tulia. For something old, she added a cameo lavillier necklace which belonged to the groom's maternal grandmother, and borrowed a sapphire ring which belonged to her maternal grandmother. The bride's bouquet was caught by Debbie Griffith, the bride's former roommate, and the blue garter was caught by the bridegroom's brother, Michael House.

Miss Lesa Francis attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a gown of coral doekin satin styled identically to the bride's gown, and added miniature roses made of coral organza attached to tiny organza ribbons, in her hair. She carried a colonial design bouquet of coral gladiolas and baby's breath arranged around a lighted taper.

Candles were lighted by Dave Francis and Michael House, brothers of the couple, who also seated the guests.

Serving his brother as best man was Larry House.

Soloists were Misses Susie Richburg of Plainview and Debbie Griffith of Lubbock and they sang "Till There Was You," "My World" and "For All We Know."

Mrs. Francis chose a two-piece formal-length gown of coral knit designed with long sleeves and a corsage of gladiolas and roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. House was attired in a formal gown of mint green knit designed with empire waist and long sleeves and added a corsage of white gladiolas and roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Coral streamers with "Lori" and "Gary" in gold and a cloth of Battenburg lace and linen used by the bride's grandparents on their Golden Wedding Anniversary covered the refreshment table. Sterling mint and nut dishes, a hand-blown crystal punchbowl and cups were used. The centerpiece was a crystal compote filled with gladiolas and carnations.

The wedding cake was made with columns separating the four tiers by Miss Debbie Griffith, former roommate of the bride. The cake was decorated with coral and orange roses and was topped with three satin wedding bells. It was served by Miss Griffith and Mrs. Bill Strange of Silverton. Punch was poured by Misses Virginia McCoy and Mary Chris Cantwell. Circulating hostesses were Miss Susie Richburg of Plainview and Miss Donna Stodghill. Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Harold Storie, Mrs. Elton Cantwell, Mrs. J. D. Nance and Mrs. J. E. Patton, all of Silverton.

The registration table was covered with a matching Battenburg cloth, and was accented by a bud vase which belonged to the bride's maternal great-grandmother in which were coral carnations. Miss Laura Arnold was in charge of securing the guests' signatures in the wedding book.

Rice bags were distributed by Miss Kathy Stalcup.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home at 1809 Avenue S, Apartment A, in Lubbock.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Silverton High School and is employed by the Sanford Agency in Lubbock.

The bridegroom is a 1973 graduate of Tulia High School, and is a student at Texas Tech University while employed by Bell Dairy Products.

REHEARSAL PARTY

THE SIZE OF THE CREATURE

No doubt the dinosaur thought—if dinosaurs thought at all—that he was big enough, powerful enough to survive anything. But the dinosaur is extinct.

Man used to think that his brain, his cleverness, his frightening weapons made him a cinch for survival. Now we talk seriously about man's "hope of survival."

No wonder the dinosaur has become fascinating. Poor fellow—so big and powerful and extinct. Surely if he'd had our intelligence and our nuclear war-pile, he'd have made it!

But there's always that gnawing uncertainty—maybe it takes something else!

Come to church and you'll be rubbing shoulders with people who are sure it does. For them, mankind's hope is not in the size of the creature... but in his soul.

A Land Bank loan at work

Labor-saving devices won't turn farming into a "rocking chair" occupation. 1975 ANNUAL REPORT

The Cap Rock S. W. C. D. directors met 11 times to conduct a variety of business. They submitted a resolution opposing land use legislation to the Panhandle Association of Conservation Districts, where it was approved unanimously. The resolution was then sent to the Annual Meeting of Texas Soil & Water Conservation Districts for consideration. The majority of the state's Conservation Districts oppose land use legislation.

Jack Sutton served on a state committee that went to Austin and Washington to work with legislators when this legislation was being considered. No land use legislation was passed by Congress or by the Texas Legislature.

The District maintains memberships in the Panhandle, Texas, and National Associations of Conservation Districts.

The Directors developed the County Great Plains Conservation Program and were represented in the formulation of the Agricultural Conservation Program. Murry Wayne Morrison helped make the annual inspection of maintenance needs of the six completed flood-water retarding structures in the Kent Creek Watershed project.

The District helped other sponsors of the proposed North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation & Development project make an effort to get the project approved and funded. The City of Quitaque is the other local sponsor. The portion of Briscoe County below the Cap Rock is part of this project.

County Judge M. G. Moreland issued a proclamation designating May 11-17 as Soil Stewardship Week. A film on conservation and stewardship was shown at the First Baptist Church in Silvertown by Pastor Larry Wilson. The District again participated in the Texas Conservation Awards program. Kim Ham, a senior at Valley High School, won second place in the Area Conservation Essay Contest. Kim received a plaque at the Awards Banquet held in Lubbock last May. The Cap Rock S. W. C. D. raised the prize money for the Briscoe County Livestock Show. It also encouraged local F.F.A. Chapters and 4-H Clubs to participate in soil judging, range judging, and conservation essay contests. Two programs were given to the Silvertown Chapter of Young Farmers. A conservation program on erosion control was provided for over 100 Scouts at Camp Haynes in Briscoe County. The Directors and County Agent worked together on a joint tour of conservation practices and variety demonstrations of cotton, soybeans, and grain sorghums.

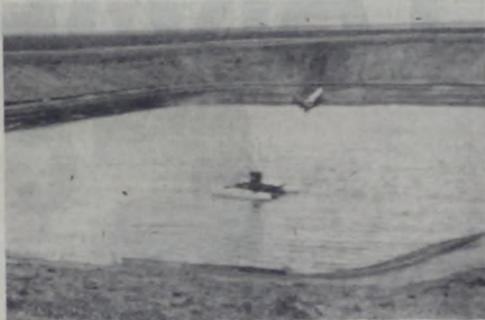

EROSION DAMAGE

Water erosion is a growing problem because the use of six and eight row equipment is increasing. These save labor and valuable time but can lead to erosion problems when terraces are torn down or plowed over. Gullies and washes are showing up in fields that were protected by terraces. More water runs off and is lost. County roads have more maintenance problems. Good tillage, drilled crops, and crop residue management help on the more level fields, but do not solve the problem.

DIVERSION TERRACE

A new diversion terrace is going up on the Clifton Stodghill farm to cut off the outside water from a parallel terrace system to be installed on the field below. Modern parallel terraces can often be spaced to allow the use of six or eight row equipment. Most farms with slopes over one percent need some diversions or terraces. Many need grassed waterways. Over 170,000 feet of parallel terraces have been installed in the District to date. 3,660,000 feet of standard terraces and 500,000 feet of diversion terraces are on local farms. Many farmers are not properly maintaining their terraces.

TAIL WATER RECOVERY

It is very important to get the most out of the available irrigation water supply. More and more tailwater recovery systems are being constructed. Most farmers are also taking advantage of lake water.

70,200 acres of cropland can be irrigated in Briscoe County, but are not irrigated every year because few farms have enough water to irrigate all of the cropland. Land leveling, irrigation pipelines, and good irrigation water management are other ways to save waste and increase efficiency. The use of skip-row planting increases every year.

RECEIVE CERTIFICATES OF MERIT

Dan Herrington and Cletus Grady of the Soil Conservation Service office in Silvertown are showing the Certificates of Merit and Appreciation presented to them recently by George Davis, Area Conservationist at Amarillo. Dan received an outstanding performance rating and Cletus was recognized for completing 30 years at work for S. C. S.

During the past year, S. C. S. Technicians assisting the District provided 1,473 services on 456 farms and ranches and 20 units of government. They helped 28 landusers to develop new conservation plans and 59 land users to revise conservation plans. S. C. S. administered the Great Plains Conservation Program and provided technical assistance to 61 A. C. P. participants. S. C. S. also worked with the North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation & Development program. The Soil Conservation Service provides technical assistance to the Kent Creek Watershed project sponsors.

INVENTOR'S FORUM

NO IDEA IS TOO SMALL

Today's inventions run the gamut—from far out novelties, to time and energy savers, to life saving health and safety devices. New ideas are very often improvements in the function, design or application of existing products, and therefore, winning ideas need not be revolutionary to become commercial successes.

No idea is too small to be considered applicable in today's markets, where over 50 per cent of current items will be obsolete within the next five years.

Industry is on the lookout for new products, and inventors everywhere are benefiting from their own creativity. Six invention categories considered prime movers in today's market are: new games for adults and children; auto improvements and safety devices; work-savers for the housewife; hand tool improvements and do-it-yourself items; recreational and hobby ideas, and protection devices for home, car, and individuals.

U.S. Department of Commerce statistics indicate that 125,000 patent applications were filed by individual inventors in this past year. Of these, approximately 1,500 patents are issued each week.

A free booklet, "The Inventors Guide" is available to all inventors from Lawrence Peska Associates, 600 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10036.

WOW!

Get the most
"freeze"
for your freezer!

There's probably no more stalwart household servant than your electric freezer—think of the variety of healthy, flavorful meals it's helped serve up to your family! Make sure you're getting the most "freeze" for your freezer by following Reddy's consumer tips:

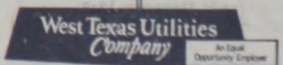

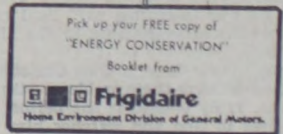

Don't overload: Efficient freezing calls for adding no more unfrozen food at one time than 2 or 3 pounds per cubic foot of your freezer's capacity. This ensures unfrozen food will freeze within 24 hours and that your freezer isn't overworked.

Take advantage of sales: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

Lock it fast: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, brown paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

Label packages: Date and identify freezer packages so 1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and 2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

Remember Reddy Supplies the energy—but only YOU can use it wisely!

TOWER TALKS

by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

WASHINGTON—A partisan power play may deprive the citizens of a sovereign state of the right to choose who will represent them in the U.S. Senate.

The Democratic majority in the Senate is practicing the "old politics" in the dispute over who won the election for the U.S. Senate in New Hampshire last year.

The election last November between Republican Louis Wyman and Democrat John Durkin plainly is too close to call, even though the New Hampshire Ballot Law Commission, whose authority has been upheld by the federal courts, has awarded the victory to Republican Wyman by a margin of two votes.

Clearly, the dispute should be sent back to New Hampshire for another election. This is what the people of New Hampshire want. This is what the duly certified winner of the election, Sen. Wyman, has advocated. But the Democratic majority intends to force the Senate to turn its back on pressing national business for the rest of the month to itself to decide the outcome of the Wyman-Durkin race.

The majority is setting a precedent that could haunt the Senate for many years. Never before has the Senate interfered in an election in which there has been no allegation of fraud.

Democrat Durkin has not alleged that the election was stolen from him; he has merely asked the Senate, with its top-heavy Democratic majority, to overturn the judgment of the voters and seat him instead of the duly certified winner.

The actions of the Senate Rules Committee in the Wyman-Durkin dispute raise many questions about the intentions of the majority.

The kindest description of the Rules Committee behavior is that it has not been even-handed. It has frequently made judgments contrary to New Hampshire law. It has ruled one way on some disputed ballots, and the exact opposite way on similar ballots. It has examined virtually all of the ballots protested by one candidate, and hardly any of the ballots protested by the other. The only consistency in the committee's actions is that they have all tended to favor Democrat Durkin.

A flagrant example of the all-too-common partisanship of the Rules Committee was the acceptance of two straight Democratic ballots cast by the same woman. She'd cast the other for her dying sister, she said.

This partisanship has changed the issue from the narrow question of whether Wyman or Durkin will be seated to a matter of grave concern for all Americans. Are we to establish a precedent whereby the loser of a close election, if his party is in a majority in the Senate, will go to the Senate to have the verdict of the voters overturned? I fear for democracy if this is so.

BLESSED IS THE MAN

This is history's most tense generation. Nations are concerned about obliterating civilization with atomic weapons. There's uncertainty over the "energy crisis." In the news there's a sense of coming disaster in every story from Washington to Timbuctu. How can Christians possibly live in simple trust like "a tree planted by the water"?

We say, "that's okay for people without problems, but I'm loaded with troubles I can't do anything about." God's Word says, "Cast your burden on the Lord, and he will sustain you; he will never permit the righteous to be moved" (Psalm 55:22).

God isn't joking when he says to trust him. The Apostle Paul knew what problems meant, but he asked, "If God is for us, who is against us?" Paul was certain that he had committed everything to the all-powerful and loving God.

The tragedy of our time is that Christians live as though they have to solve their problems with their own feeble strengths. Truly blessed is the person who turns his problems over to God and watches him work. God will supply the needed faith if we place all we have in his hands.

In the Bible we are told: "So that with good courage we say, The Lord is my helper; I will not fear: What can man do unto me?" Hebrews 13:6

Have a nice day.

HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON

from Congressman Jack Hightower

PRESIDENT'S TAX/SPENDING REDUCTION PROPOSALS

President Ford surprised the American public and many of his closest advisers with his proposed $28 billion tax reduction program. Although it had been an open secret for weeks that he would ask for an extension of the tax cuts enacted last spring, only a few top officials had expected the request for such a dramatic increase.

I commend the President's intent. Each of us would like to keep more of our earnings rather than carry the present tax burden. However, the President gave us the recipe for only half a loaf. In this instance half a loaf could be worse than no loaf at all. The reality is that a tax cut at our present levels of spending could create economic disaster. Although the President suggested specific areas in which tax cuts could be made, he did not suggest specific spending programs that could be reduced. It would have been politically unpopular to do so, and it is also an extremely difficult task.

The President did say the Congress and the Administration must work together to reduce spending. I agree. I will support these efforts. He also said much of the increase in each year's federal budget can be attributed to programs already on the statute books. These programs must be examined closely, and time is very short if we are to enact tax cuts to become effective next January.

I hope the President will soon offer specific suggestions concerning how the national budget can be reduced and the national debt diminished.

FIFRA

The House today passed a bill extending the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act. The bill was not as strong as I would have liked, but it became apparent during the hearings conducted by the House Agriculture Committee that adoption of more stringent requirements for the Environmental Protection Agency would probably have assured the bill's defeat.

I believe the compromise bill provides important first steps toward assuring accountability by the EPA.

The bill states that the EPA must give the Department of Agriculture a chance to comment on any proposed agency regulations that would affect agriculture, as well as to notify the Agriculture Committees in the House and Senate of any proposed regulations. Equally important, the EPA is directed to provide an economic impact statement, which would apply a dollar and cents measurement to its regulations.

GRAIN STANDARDS ACT

Recent indictments of individuals for illegal grain inspection practices in New Orleans and other ports have raised loud cries for federal or state operation of the inspection program. I think that the majority of the American public knows that government involvement is not necessarily the best way to solve a problem. In fact, government attempts to solve relatively isolated problems caused by a small minority frequently make operations for the majority of honest businessmen ever more burdensome.

The House Agriculture Committee, of which I am a member, has just completed an extensive schedule of hearings concerning the scope of the grain inspection problem and will shortly be fashioning a bill to deal with irregularities that have been uncovered.

When the committee actually begins to draft the bill's language I will support strengthening criminal penalties in the present Grain Standards Act, as well as several other minor changes. I will do whatever I can to assure that government involvement is held to an absolute minimum.

SERVICE ACADEMY
NOMINATIONS

I am still accepting applications for nominations to our academies. I am authorized to fill three vacancies at the Air Force Academy, three at West Point and two at the Naval Academy. I can also nominate ten individuals to compete on a State-wide basis for admission to the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy.

I urge all high school seniors who are interested in attending one of the academies to contact me immediately at my Washington office: 1315 House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515 (202/225-3706).

SINAI AGREEMENT

The House has overwhelmingly passed a resolution authorizing the use of U. S. civilian observers in the Sinai. I voted for this measure because I believe that the use of civilian observers is a small price to pay for the chance of permanent political stability in the area. There is no military involvement, and we will not be allied with either the Egyptians or the Israelis. Disagreement with Mr. Kissinger's approach is understandable, yet this is a difficult situation where he appears to have found a way to deal effectively with both sides of the conflict. The U. S. is the only country both sides would trust in the role of the observer. The U. S. has a vital interest in the preservation of peace in this area. Although the cost is high I do not think that it is as great as the cost of the various alternatives.

HISTORICAL SURVEY COMMITTEE

P. O. Box 354
Silvertown, Texas 79257

Dear Present and Former Residents of Briscoe County:

The Briscoe County Historical Survey Committee wishes to preserve the rich heritage of this county area by publishing a history, written by the people who are living here or who have lived here.

This book will be complete to the extent that we have cooperation in this important undertaking. It will be a history written by everyone who has sent in informal stories telling of experiences in developing our area from the beginning of its settlement to the present time.

The 9"x12" book will contain approximately 500 pages, beautifully bound in a hard-back cover. Due to its limited publication, by one of the nation's outstanding publishers, it will undoubtedly become a collector's item. THERE WILL BE NO FEE FOR HAVING YOUR HISTORY PUBLISHED IN THIS BOOK.

Only with your help, by your sending us your family history and pictures, will this publication be possible. There will be much use of pioneer pictures, and we may be able to use one, or a few, modern day pictures. We will NOT accept original photos. Copies of photos must be submitted to us because we WILL NOT RETURN these to you.

In writing your family story, the following suggestions may be helpful. Please give the state or country from which the family came, the approximate date, and the area where they settled in what is now the Briscoe County area. Also, describe their mode of travel in getting here, their first house, and give all family names. Give interesting events on the trip to Briscoe County, tell about their customs, food, transportation, etc. Any unusual type of living not common today, such as help of neighbors, distance traveled to get a doctor, groceries, water, education, thus contrasting their way of life with that of today will make a good story. Each event in their lives has historical value for that era. Write it as you would tell a story in reminiscence, then it will be interesting reading for others.

In addition to the family history, another feature, if desired, is a tribute, or memorial page. You may wish to memorialize, or pay tribute to someone, some family, some group, etc., by means of a picture or a story, or both. These will be placed at the back of the book. Because of the extra charge by our publisher for additional pages, it will be necessary for you to buy space for these pages. The cost will be $100 for a full page, $60 for a half page, and $40 for a quarter page picture, story, or both of those if you wish a memorial to someone in your family.

Each family's history will be printed and published in text and form as is received by this committee. Typed, double-spaced copies are explicitly required by this committee because of correct spelling of names, history, etc. Try to keep your history in the limit of five (5) double-spaced typewritten pages.

Attach your name and address to and identify all pictures, and if people are shown, list all names, if possible, beginning from left to right and designate row. Do not write on back of photo. These stories and pictures should be sent to us as soon as possible, but NO LATER than February 1, 1976.

Mrs. Joe Brannon is in charge of the sale of memorial and tribute pages in the back section of our book. Please contact her as soon as possible so that your page may be included.

If you know of any interested persons who no longer live in the county, we would appreciate your sending us names and addresses.

The pre-publication price of the book is only $22.50 per copy (plus $2.00 for packaging and postage, if mailed). All books sold after publication date will be $27.50. All money will be held in escrow for payment to the publisher by Mrs. O. C. Rampley, treasurer. Please act promptly; the committee is receiving orders for the history books now.

If you have any questions, please feel free to write or contact any member of the Briscoe County Historical Survey Committee whose names and addresses are listed on this letterhead.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Edwin Dickerson, Chairman

BREAKS LEG
Larry Payne, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Payne, had the misfortune to fall and break his leg Saturday. Larry has more than his share of tough luck in the past two years. He got tangled up in a power lift on a tractor in the summer before last mangling his other leg and almost losing it. According to report, he had just got to wear a shoe on that foot (although he was still on crutches). He started to step off the porch and fell, breaking his good leg. He was taken to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where it was determined his leg was broken in two places, according to report by his uncle. He has not undergone surgery at this time, due to swelling in his leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton visited her mother, Mrs. Joe Woodruff, in Lubbock Sunday.

Some of the facts were hard to find. During the uproar about the grain sale to Russia the farmer came off as the fall guy. To keep things in proper perspective let's look at facts that were hard to find in the headlines. It takes one bushel of wheat to make seventy (70) loaves of ordinary white bread. Give or take a couple depending on wheat quality and milling methods. If wheat prices increased one dollar per bushel, then it takes less than a degree in calculus to figure out the increase is less than one and a half cents per loaf. The news media has a hang up on bread being a dollar a loaf. IF bread were going to be a dollar a loaf . . . and IF that increase were to be caused by farm prices . . . then wheat would have to go up FORTY DOLLARS A BUSHEL. IF this happens you'll have less to read since the efforts used producing this column will be diverted to plowing up the back yard . . . the front yard . . . the neighbor's yard . . .
