For many years Reagan Brown headed the Texas Community Improvement Program, and he made numerous friends here during his visits when Quitauque was entered in the Texas Community Improvement Contests.

Hall County Hole Creates Interest

A huge sink hole appeared in the James Richburg cotton field four miles south of Lesley and is creating quite a stir and bringing much concern to the land owner.

The owner has issued warnings to those who have come to observe the huge hole, that he is not responsible for accidents to those who have come to view the unusual hole. It is obvious the earth is unstable in that area.

The huge hole is one of the largest to appear in the area in many years, and is the second one to appear on the Richburg farm.

The hole is estimated to be 70 or 80 feet deep and approximately 50 feet across and is in a cone shape. Water from springs on the sloping walls of the cone shaped sink hole is collecting in the bottom.

Mr. Richburg said he felt sure it was the under-ground spring that caused the sink hole to appear.

Mr. Richburg is quite concerned over the sightseers coming to see the hole and is afraid that something could happen to the sightseers.

Valley School Hosts "Lock-In"

Valley students in grades 6-12 are invited to attend a Lock-In sponsored by the Valley School. The event will be held on Thursday, April 21, beginning at 9:30 pm following Open House. There will be fun for all who attend.

THEN and NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Our world is full of choices that we have to make each and every day. We have to choose what we will wear to school or to work or just around the house or to the farm or whatever is on the schedule for us to be doing today. We have to choose what we are going to feed our family if we are the cook of the week. We have to say when the children will go to bed or they have to make the choice to do their homework when they get in from school or to wait and do it after supper. We have to choose which TV program we will watch, which TV programs we will allow the children to watch and how much time they can spend in front of the TV, what channel of news that we consider the best to inform us, the channel that has the most information on the weather to come that will influence the choice of clothing we wear tomorrow and the type of work that we will do if we are working outdoors.

Choices, choices, most of them we make without even thinking—they get to be a habit. We get in a rut about the TV that we watch, what clothes we wear and certainly what we choose to eat. Then when something comes along that we have to rethink our choices and do them all over again, we sometimes wonder why we have chosen as we have.

Some of the choices that we make early in life will affect the rest of our lives. What we choose to study as we go off to college, what type work we decide to learn to do for our living, who we choose to marry, how many children we plan to have. So we should think long and hard before we make those choices.

Others choices are not so life shaping. If we buy a pair of pants that we do not like the fit, we are only out some cash not months of our lives. If we choose green beans over broccoli, we will probably never realize any difference in our lives. But when we start choosing friends and companions for life, a different picture evolves. We are always influenced by our friends and acquaintances, this can be for the better or the worse! Look closely at your choices so that you will not live to regret it!

We also have lots of choices that we do not have to make but we choose to make. We choose to go to the movies with our friends. We choose to color or not color our hair. We choose to visit someone who is sick. We choose to give our neighbor a helping hand when his load is too heavy for him to carry. We choose to cuddle the new baby. We choose to play ball with the young child. We choose to have a tea party with our daughter rather than read that new novel that we checked out of the library! We can save it for a rainy day.

See every day we make so many choices—some easy choices, some very hard, some happy, some sad, some good and some bad. Hopefully the good will always outweigh the bad. As Robert Louis Stevenson once said, When we look into the long avenue of the future, and see the good there is for each one of us to do, we realize, after all, what a beautiful thing it is to work, and to live, and to be happy. Happy choosing this week.

Dear Editor:
 The recent death of NBA Celtics star Reggie Lewis has sparked an interest into what constitutes a healthy heart. Unfortunately, maybe now there will be more research as to what makes the heart beat properly whether heart disease is present or not.

Millions of people suffer from benign palpitations and the like. The symptoms- an uncontrollable twitching sensation, much like a muscle spasm in your arms and leg, and dizziness- are very frightening. Ironically, many physicians call this a "human condition" because there is no heart disease and, in turn, they send their patients home telling them not to worry. But, how do you not worry?

I'm currently in the process of setting up support groups via telephone on a national level. If you would like to talk with someone in your city or town about this problem- no telephone charges will be incurred this way, just mail your name, address and telephone number with a self addressed stamped envelope to: Peter John Raposa, P. O. Box 566, Tiverton, RI 02878.

5th Grade News

Hi!! It's us 5th grade class. This week we will not be doing much things (or lets hope not). We hope you had a great Easter. We know we did. I didn't do much this weekend even though we got 1 day off. I had to clean that was what I did most of all. My family members came down and that was why I cleaned. Most of us just cleaned to have the house clean. We don't have much to say so we'll try to end this. Well, I guess that's all. We'll have more news next week.

"The battle against juvenile crime and violence must be fought on the front end--in childhood and early teens--when character and positive attitudes can be shaped into the building blocks of law-abiding, productive members of society," said Commission Chairman Senator Jim Turner (D-Crockett).

"A modest investment in today's children will pay tremendous dividends when they become adults. Parental care and early childhood education are cheaper than welfare and prisons."

Friday's public hearing will be held in Room 2B-152 at the Texas Tech University Health Science Center at 3601 4th Street in Lubbock. Organizational matters and expert testimony will be scheduled in the morning with public testimony taken in the afternoon. Study Group Results

by Ronda Alexander

Forty-two county leaders met on Tuesday, March 22nd to identify the needs of Briscoe County residents at the Briscoe County Extension Service "Study Group" meeting. Moderator John Wyatt, welcomed the group and Judge Jimmy Burson gave the opening remarks. Local resource persons Doug Cherry, Matt Kast, Ronda Alexander and Scott Shawn presented current conditions on the respective issues of Development of Life Skills and Leadership; Environmental Stewardship and Natural Resources; Health, Safety and Well-Being; and Economic Competitiveness, Viability and Stability.

Participants divided into each sub-group and identified county issues in their respective groups. The main issues identified were: Health, Safety and Well Being: teen pregnancy, alcohol abuse, morality and teaching abstinence; maintenance of quality volunteer emergency medical services; care and support of elderly needs; and the need for a local doctor and pharmacist; Environmental Stewardship and Natural Resources: land use and private property rights; more efficient farming methods to conserve water and soil, with increased profits; chemical usage, maintaining a safe groundwater supply; Economic Competitiveness, Viability and Stability: diversification: new, productive non-ag related industry; infrastructure: phone and computer; need of local medical services: doctor and pharmacist; tourism;

Development of Life Skills And Leadership: family involvement, promoting responsibility in parents, unitedness of organizations and activities that currently exist; parenting skills with problem children; teen pregnancy; communication between parents

The Briscoe County Extension Service will analyze each of these issues that have been identified and then develop a Long Range Extension Program plan on how to address each of these issues. This plan will guide the program efforts of the Extension service for the years of 1995-1999. Involvement at the grass roots level on the key to the success of the Extension program. We are here to assist each of you with problems as they relate to the respective areas that we work with. We greatly appreciate the help of each individual who participated in the "Study Group" meeting and look forward to helping the residents of Briscoe County to help themselves as we move into the next century.

A Little Bit Goes A Long Way

(NAPS)—Everyone knows that cheese is an excellent source of calcium and protein—but did you know it can also be a low fat, economical alternative to meat or fish. The trick, of course, is picking the right cheese...it has to taste great, too.

Take, for example, that increasingly popular, streamlined version of a traditional favorite: Jarlsberg Lite has a mild yet distinctive nutty flavor—mellow and deceptively "rich," it melts smoothly in many recipes but is low in calories, sodium and fat. Kids and grown-ups alike go for that creamy consistency—even vegetarians approve!

While this versatile cheese is also perfect for munching, healthful snacks and on-the-go lunches, a small amount can turn plain vegetables into a balanced, nutritious meal. Shred into stir-fried carrots and broccoli or snow peas...dice and combine in a casserole with colorful beans and rice...coarse grate and blend with onion or chive into baked or mashed potatoes...toss with a warm spinach salad...you get the idea.

Used in this kind of easy cooking, Jarlsberg Lite can help stretch your grocery budget—and you'll buy less meat. Unlike other reduced fat cheeses, it's also 100 percent natural.

Yesterday

Taken from The Quitaque Post December 29, 1938.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Roberson spent Christmas day with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Knox of Sudan. They left Quitaque at 5 a.m. and arrived at Sudan in time for breakfast making it a full day.

Santa Claus stopped off at Finley Variety store Saturday afternoon, Christmas Eve, and met a throng of his little friends. He passed out to them a gross of trinkets and about 35 pounds of candy. Bro. Finley assisted him, trying to reach every eager little hand. The crowd of children was too dense to stir and blocked the walk in front of the store, reaching to the corner.

Dr. E. C. Price, while quail hunting in the brakes north of town Tuesday, slipped up on a nice red fox (Dock said it was gray) while the animal was taking a nap under a bush. The fox tried to exit but the doctor's shotgun and aim were too rapid and good for anything of that sort, so he brought the "fur neck-piece" home with him.

Since Dock has a wife and two daughters, neither of who is averse to a genuine fox fur, we are not predicting to whom the ownership belongs. But Ownership to the contrary notwithstanding, Dock says that is to be the final reward of the nice pet.

Mrs. M. J. Boyles had the pleasure of a reunion with her children and grandchildren Christmas day, and a big dinner was served at noon. Those enjoying the occasion were Everett Boyles and family, John Boyles and family, Cecil Boyles and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gregg and children, and Marvin (Dad) Boyles, all of Quitaque; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McBride and children of Olton and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Kimbell and children of Gasoline.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Helms, W. E., Jr., and Joe Ed spent Christmas with relatives at Lockney.

Christmas brought a rush business in coyote hides to Briscoe County. More than a hundred hides were brought in to County Clerk R. E. Douglas for the $1.00 bounty on each that the county pays. The last two days before Christmas he punched holes in the left ears on 46 hides, indicating the bounty had been paid, and certified payment to the commissioners court.

Thanks to the boys of the Quitaque chapter of FFA for their kind invitation to their first annual Father and Son Banquet to be held Friday night, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Non-cooperation with evil is as much a duty as is cooperation with good.

I am perplexed. Americans have the finest quality health care in the world, and the only drawback is the high cost. In the health care debates, shouldn't politicians keep this distinction in mind, to enhance the first element and relieve the second?

Salmonella Causes Food Poisoning

No other food-borne illness is as common as salmonellosis, illness caused by any of several species of Salmonella bacteria. In fact, Salmonella infection is common enough that its symptoms are the ones usually cited when people recount undiagnosed illness associated with food.

The usual sources of salmonellosis are raw or undercooked meats, especially chicken and other poultry, and foods containing raw eggs.

According to Lee Jan, D. V. M., director of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) Meat Safety Assurance Division, the flu-like symptoms, nausea, diarrhea and abdominal cramps of salmonellosis are uncomfortable, but seldom fatal. Of the 1,933 Salmonella infections confirmed in Texas in 1992, no fatalities were reported.

"Salmonella infection, while unpleasant, sometimes serves almost as a strong warning that some food we eat is unsafe. While we would not wish anyone illness, a case of salmonellosis sometimes may serve as a lasting lesson in practicing simple food safety precautions," Jan said.

Anyone can become ill from Salmonella, but people with weakened immune systems, young children and the elderly are more likely to have severe symptoms, according to Jan.

Out of Town Attending Dale Tiffin, Jr. Services

Those from out of town attending the graveside services of Dale Tiffin, Jr., Wednesday, March 30 at the Flomot Cemetery were Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Jefferies of Colorado Springs, Colorado; Mrs. Warren Lemons and daughter of Los Angeles, California; Rex Jack Tiffin, Jr. of Earth; Mr. and Mrs. Clark McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Tiffin, Sr. and Mrs. Cheryl Ashley and children of Lubbock; Ron McDonald and daughter of Amarillo and Michael Tiffin of Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. James McFarland, Mrs. Teresa Ferguson and son, Mrs. Aubrey George and James George of Plainview; Mrs. Melvin Hicks and Randy Hicks of Uvalde; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ott, David Garrett and daughter, Jennifer of Hutchinson, Kan.; Mrs. Glenda Sue Tiffin and daughter, Christi of Memphis; Mrs. Kimberly Stuart and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Stuart and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Holt of Tulsa and Mr. and Mrs. Coy Dunn of Dimmitt.

explained that many of the same conditions which lead to Salmonella infection also allow infections by other, more deadly bacteria, such as Listeria and Escherichia coli. "Any case of salmonellosis should sound alarm bells to cooks, restaurant personnel and health authorities that unsanitary conditions or improper cooking conditions are allowing food contamination. When strict hand-and utensil-washing rules are enforced, and fresh foods- especially meats, eggs and dairy products- are properly cooked, stored and served, there is almost no danger of bacterial contamination," he said.

For ready-to-eat foods, such as lunch meats, TDH and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) operate inspection programs at processing plants.

While USDA regulates all plants distributing products outside Texas, TDH inspects about 430 plants distributing within Texas.

"Our state monitoring program screens about 1,000 different ready-to-eat products made for sale in Texas," Jan said. "We randomly sample each product during unannounced visits to plants throughout the state. Inspectors screen not only for contamination by Salmonella but also for Listeria, another bacterium. They also look for any insanitary conditions in the manufacturing plants."

Jan added that Listeria, though less common than Salmonella, can cause more serious illness, including meningitis and death. In 1992, TDH recorded 26 illnesses caused by Listeria, including six fatalities.

Spring Clean For Fire Safety Month

Grandma was right: Spring cleaning is good for you-good for your health, that is.

Although the tradition of spring cleaning isn't as popular as it once was, taking time to give your home a thorough cleaning this spring will bring benefits through the rest of the year. It could even save your life, according to the Texas Commission on Fire Protection.

"Most people think of October as Fire Prevention Month," said Commission Executive Director Michael E. Hines. "This year, think of March as Fire Safety - Clean Up Month. Fire statistics show that most fires in the home could be prevented by simply cleaning up, taking care of small problems, and double-checking appliances and supplies that need special care."

Last year, Texans suffered almost 20,000 fires in the home, and about 75 percent of the 265 fire deaths occurred in residential fires. Children under 5 years old and senior citizens are up to three times more likely to die in fires than any other age group. The Texas Fire Incident Reporting System, operated by the commission, collects data about fires from local departments. Those statistics are used to educate the public on how to prevent fires.

"Based on what we know about fire causes, we feel that it is up to the heads of the household-that is, parents-as well as grown children of older adults to take charge in preventing fires," Hines said. "Taking time to check for fire hazards could literally save the lives of your loved ones."

The Commission on Fire Protection recommends these steps for spring cleaning:

Remove paper, clutter, and dust from your utility and equipment rooms, especially near your water heater.

Get rid of old paint, cleaners and other flammable liquids. Because these are hazardous wastes, don't throw them in the regular trash pick-up. Roll the cans in newspapers and place in a cardboard box. Take the waste to an approved waste-collection site. Contact your local city or county governments for locations.

Clean dust and dirt from behind and under appliances, especially stoves, refrigerators and dryers.
Before turning on your air-conditioner this spring, have it inspected by a qualified service technician.

Check all electrical cords for worn or frayed wires. Unplug any appliances with worn cords until the problem is repaired.

Put new batteries in your smoke alarm. Vacuum the front grill on the alarm. (Plan to vacuum the alarm monthly.)

Clear dry leaves and brush from the yard. Clear clutter from near the home.

If you live in a rural area, consider clearing shrubs and other greenery around your home. Create a 20-foot "clear zone" to reduce the risk of losing your home in a wildland or grass fire.

Social Security NEWS

by Patty Brandt

"If you're on direct deposit, you can use the cost-of-living letter you received from Social Security as proof of your benefit amount," said Pat Brandt, SS representative in Vernon. People who have their Social Security checks sent to their bank received a cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) notice last month telling them what their new benefit rate will be effective January 1994. Mrs. Brandt said this notice can be used when they need to prove the amount of their Social Security payments to the welfare office, a landlord, an energy company, or any other business or agency that provides a service or a subsidy that takes into account the amount of a person's Social Security check.

People who have their Social Security checks mailed to their home did not receive a personalized COLA letter from Social Security. Instead, they received a "stuffer" with their January Social Security check advising them of the COLA increase but not of their specific dollar amount. The stuffer cannot be used as proof of payment.
