Valley Patriots Take Sizeable Win Over Motley County

The Valley Patriots went out to win over arch-rival Motley County on the home field Friday night, and took a 42-6 win. Valley rolled up 21 first downs to Motley County's five.

Will Williams got Valley started on the right course of action by recovering a Motley fumble in the end zone for the game's first score. Then Tommy Williams made the run for extra points. Will Williams scored again on an eight-yard run and Tommy Williams kicked the extra point, bringing the score to 15-0.

Motley County took the kickoff and returned it 85 yards for their first and only score of the game.

Chuck Martin capped a long drive with a five-yard run for Valley's third touchdown, and Tommy Williams kicked the extra point, bringing the score to 22-6 at the end of the first quarter of play.

Kraig Cox made the next touchdown but the conversion attempt failed. This was the only scoring in the second quarter.

At the beginning of the third session of play, Tim Clardy made a 14-yard run and Tommy Williams kicked the conversion. This was the only scoring in the third quarter.

The last period brought more of the same. Tim Clardy ran 41 yards for a score and Tommy Williams kicked the extra point. Tim had a very good night, rushing for 107 yards on 12 carries.

Ricky Jeeter led all rushers with 120 yards on seven carries.

Valley had 390 yards rushing to Motley's 33; the Patriots completed 10 passes for 40 yards as compared with Motley's three yards gained; the Patriots attempted 12 passes and completed five, while Motley passed eight times and completed two. Valley intercepted two passes and Motley none. The Patriots punted twice for 17.0 gain and Motley punted twice for 41.0. Each team recovered three fumbles. The Patriots received seven penalties overall to Motley County's four. Valley was penalized for 80 yards while the Matadors had 20 yards stepped off against them.

Coach Ted Giddens says the Patriots played another outstanding defensive game. Kraig

Cox led with 14 assists, one unassisted and two interceptions.

R. Silva had 10 assists. K. Beavers had 11 assists. L. J. Browning had nine assists, one fumble recovery, caused one fumble, and got one unassisted sack. L. B. Clay had six assists and one unassisted sack.

Will Williams carried for 42 yards; Kraig Cox, one; Tim Clardy, 101; Tommy Williams, 98; Ricky Jeeter, 111; Chuck Martin, 13, and Criss Morrison, 34 yards.

The Valley Patriots host McLean Friday night, September 16, with game time at 8:00 o'clock.

Fans are invited to come early and eat Mexican food with the Pep Squad girls, then attend the game.

Ross Herringtons Have August Yard Of The Month

The Ross Herrington yard was singled out by the four judges as being the outstanding yard for the month of August. Their spacious lawn is a beautiful carpet of green and is always neatly trimmed and attractive.

Ronnie Carpenter also should get an award for being "Mr. Clean" for the neat and clean look around Valley Farm Store. Quitaque citizens have always taken care to provide well-kept neighborhoods, churches, businesses and the things that make life better.

It is easy to develop complacity, especially after a long, hot, dry spell. It takes much effort on the part of everyone to reflect a spirit of community pride. Our hats are off to all of those who have been selected this summer for special recognition.

Quitaque Senior Citizens To Have Picnic

The Quitaque Senior Citizens have planned a picnic at Caprock Canyons State Park today (Thursday) at 6:00 o'clock. Everyone is asked to meet at the Quitaque Community Center to go en masse from there.

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Morris enjoyed a reunion in Amarillo the weekend of September 4, and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Morris of Quitaque were unable to attend. They were delightfully surprised when the brother and two sisters arrived in Quitaque Tuesday following the reunion for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregg and son, Otis Gregg, of Amarillo, and Mrs. J. T. (Jack) Witcher of Roswell, New Mexico arrived that morning and drove to Kimbell's Drive Inn and bought lunch for the six people present.

In the afternoon, they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morris of Welch. This is the first time Buddy and Howard Morris, Ada Witcher and Rosa Gregg had been together in several years. They made photos and report a very good visit.

Little Miss Chastity Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Price of Quitaque, was taken to Children's Hospital in Houston where she underwent a heart catheterization on Friday. The doctors reportedly told the parents in Amarillo that Chastity had a leakage. She received a good report at Houston, according to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ella Mason, who is a nurse. She accompanied Stan, Eloise and Chastity. She says the doctors in Houston think the heart will take care of itself as she grows. Chastity underwent open heart surgery in Houston as a baby.

Mrs. Velma Jones returned home Tuesday afternoon from a trip to Oklahoma. She visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Cannon, in Blanchard, Oklahoma and also visited a grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jones of Norman, Oklahoma. The Jones have recently moved from Arkansas to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Ada Shows was taken by Turkey ambulance to Hall County Hospital Monday about noon. Her daughter, Mrs. Rufus Butler, reported Tuesday afternoon that she was much better.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green visited her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Montague, in Plainview last Tuesday.

Among patients listed in Hall County Hospital this past week were Curtis Tunnell, Mrs. Dicie Gilliland, Ida Farley and Arville Setliff. Mrs. Farley and Mr. Setliff have been dismissed, but Mrs. Farley had to re-enter the hospital for further treatment.

Birthday, Activity Calendars Here!

The new look of the birthday and activity calendars is especially attractive, and they are on sale now at Rice Dry Goods and Farley's Variety for $2.50 each.

"We the Women" had the calendars printed independently this year so all of the money from ads from the local merchants will go toward a community improvement project. The calendars have each person's birthday, anniversary and school activities and holidays listed.

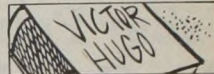

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hillmer of San Antonio spent the weekend with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eudy.

Turkey UMW Begins Bible Study On Gospel Of Luke

The Turkey United Methodist Women met Monday at 4:00 p.m. in the home of Virginia Degan to begin the new Bible study on the gospel of Luke. Fredia Fuston, program leader, brought excerpts from the first two chapters of the study book, entitled, "The Great Physician." She said that Luke emphasized the wholeness of life and total health—physical, mental and spiritual. She said there were 24 healing stories in the gospel of Luke. She gave out assignments for the next session which will be Monday, September 19. Mrs. Degan opened the meeting with prayer and the president conducted a short business session. It was announced that the first day of the rummage sale would be Saturday, October 1, in the basement of the Methodist Church in Turkey. There will be sales on each of the four Saturdays during October.

Ruth Ware was a guest. Eight members were present. Totsey Bain closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess served cookies and punch.

Time For 'Cole' Crops

It's anything but cold in the Valley during September, but the time to plant and transplant "cole" crops.

"Cole" refers to any of the plants belonging to the Brassicaceae or mustard family including such cool-season crops as brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, collards, chard, kohlrabi, mustard, broccoli, nips and watercress.

Cole crops have a long ancestry of wild cabbage originating in the Mediterranean region of Asia Minor area, and the close kinship enables wide use of plant parts, says Dr. Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University.

For instance, brussels sprouts are grown by gardeners for miniature plants (sprouts) which develop on the axils of leaves. However, brussels sprouts are milder and sweeter than those of collards, which are especially grown for the leaves. Most gardeners are familiar with the fact that turnips are grown for greens (leaves) and roots. In other words, growing a member of the Brassicaceae family, the saying is, "you see is what you get."

This group of cole crops are cool season and are so cold tolerant, says Cotner, that, for instance, can withstand down to 20 degrees Fahrenheit. Broccoli, kale, kohlrabi or mustard also withstand fairly low temperatures while cauliflower and chard are more sensitive.

The conditioning of cole crops is influenced by weather prior to exposure to cold temperatures determines plant survival. Cotner points out that plants also have much to do with the amount of cold which can survive. When plants have produced a light frost may cause damage since freeze, turn brown and rot.

Cole crops grow best when the monthly mean temperature is between 70 degrees Fahrenheit and 75 degrees Fahrenheit. When temperatures drop below 60 degrees Fahrenheit, growth is slow.

Of all the cole crops, broccoli is probably the most nutritious, most economical of the group, says Cotner. It's such an excellent source of vitamin A, known for more than 100 years in Europe and perhaps in America, has been known for more than 50 years. Broccoli furnishes a high concentration of vitamin A, while being high in fiber and supplying a substantial amount of vitamin A. It is a vegetable which can be blanched and still retain its color and quality. It acts as a laxative after the freezing process softens the stem tissue.

Time For 'Cole' Crops

It's anything but cold in Texas during September, but that's the time to plant and transplant "cole" crops.

"Cole" refers to any of various plants belonging to the Cruciferae or mustard family, including such cool-season crops as brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, collards, chard, kale, kohlrabi, mustard, broccoli, turnips and watercress.

Cole crops have a common ancestry of wild cabbage originating in the Mediterranean and Asia Minor area, and this close kinship enables wide usage of plant parts, says Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

For instance, brussels sprout plants are grown by most gardeners for miniature heads (Sprouts) which develop in the axils of leaves. However, some consider brussels sprout leaves to be milder and sweeter than those of collards, which are especially grown for their leaves. Most gardeners are familiar with the fact that turnips can be grown for greens (leaves) or for roots. In other words, when growing a member of the Cruciferae family, the saying "What you see is what you get (to eat)" truly applies!

This group of cole crops enjoys cool seasons and is somewhat cold tolerant, says Cotner. Cabbage, for instance, can withstand cold down to 20 degrees or even 15 degrees F. Broccoli, collards, kale, kohlrabi or mustard can also withstand fairly low temperatures while cauliflower and chard are more sensitive to cold.

The conditioning of plants as influenced by weather conditions prior to exposure to cold temperatures determines plant survival, Cotner points out. Plant maturity also has much to do with the amount of cold which cole crops can survive. When broccoli plants have produced buds, even a light frost may cause considerable damage since clusters freeze, turn brown and ultimately rot.

Cole crops grow best at a monthly mean temperature of 60 to 70 degrees F. This occurs when temperatures are 80 degrees F. or less during the day and 60 degrees F. or less at night.

Of all the cole crops mentioned, broccoli is probably the best tasting, most nutritious and most economical of the entire group, says Cotner. It's surprising that such an excellent vegetable, known for more than 2,000 years in Europe and perhaps 200 years in America, has become popular only in the past 50 years.

Broccoli furnishes good eating while being high in vitamin C and supplying a substantial amount of vitamin A. It is the only crop which can be blanched and frozen and still retain its superb taste and quality. It actually is better after the freezing process which softens the stem tissue.

Roy Hunters Vacation In Arkansas Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunter left their home in Quitaque August 30 on a vacation trip, leaving at 1:00 p.m. and driving to Ada, Oklahoma where they spent the night.

The next day they drove to McAlister, Oklahoma and they thought they might see part of what the prisoners had done, but when they got there, they ran into the rain. It was raining so hard they had to drive 40 miles an hour and they drove about 90 miles in the rain. (Someday the Quitaque area will get some rain, we hope.)

The Hunters drove to Mena, Arkansas, arriving about 11:00 a.m. and had lunch. They went fishing in Mena Lake that afternoon.

The next day, they drove to Queen Wilhelmina State Park on top of Mt. Rich.

The Hunters visited Mrs. Tenia Musgraves, a former Turkey resident, who is a sister of Mrs. Horace Hunter of Quitaque. They report Mrs. Musgraves is feeling good and looks well.

The Hunters drove to Arkansas to attend the Hunter reunion on the Sunday before Labor Day. There were approximately 80-90 in attendance. The weather was nice, partly cloudy and cool. All the buildings for such occasions were already occupied, so they spread their lunch and enjoyed the day under the pine trees.

Everyone reported a good time.

PARKINSONISM SOCIETY TO MEET SEPTEMBER 23

William F. Bingham, M. D. and neurosurgeon at the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center, will explain the stereotaxic device used to pinpoint brain areas at the meeting of the West Texas Parkinsonism Society Friday, September 23.

The society will meet in Room 4A100 at the Health Sciences Center.

Following the talk a patient who recently underwent brain surgery in which the stereotaxic device was used will speak. A round table discussion is also planned.

All interested parties are invited to attend. For information about the West Texas Parkinsonism Society, call society president Fred McGarrett at 806/797-1149.

The first electric lamps used for street lighting were arc-lamps installed experimentally in Paris, in 1841.

Fall is the best time to plant cole crops since they thrive in cold temperatures. Planting now can assure some fresh cole crops for Thanksgiving dinner.

TIME-SAVING SHORTCUTS
WASHERS

Everything goes faster and better when it is organized... and, doing the laundry is no exception. Here's some advice from Whirlpool home economists that can help you organize your laundry area to make doing the laundry easier and faster.

• To cut down on steps, locate the laundry area as close as possible to the source of laundry—primarily the bath and bedrooms.

• Set up a pre-sorted clothes hamper... when clothing is sorted as it accumulates and is put with other items that will be laundered in the same manner, you won't have to re-sort everytime you want to wash a load of clothes. Family members can help by dropping their laundry into the appropriate containers.

• Work out your best schedule for doing the laundry. Does your lifestyle dictate you to do the entire laundry non-stop while you're involved in another project around the house? Or, does it make better sense for you to do a washload whenever one has accumulated?

• If clothes need to be transported, save yourself the burden of carrying the laundry by using a rolling cart or basket.

• If the laundry room is located on a lower level of your home, consider a clothes chute to eliminate carrying baskets of soiled clothing down the stairs.

DOUBTER

She's young, she's beautiful, but she doesn't believe in God. At least, she doesn't think she does.

Shocked? Lots of young people today and a good many older ones aren't all that sure of the "old religion." They don't want a panacea. They want something of substance, a truth to live with.

That's why the Church has risen to meet the challenge. There's a new tide in today's church, a reality as old as the centuries but as new as the future.

You owe it to yourself to investigate.

Club Officers Installed In Colvin Home

Mrs. Bert Degán, outgoing president, was installing officer for the service held at the Thursday meeting of Nuevo Study Club in the home of Mrs. Ella Colvin.

Those installed included Mrs. Colvin, president; Mrs. W. L. Armstrong, vice-president; Mrs. Mayme Blume, secretary; Mrs. Gordon Bain, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Patterson, reporter.

Mrs. Colvin was program leader and used for her topic Louisa Katherine Johnson Adams, one of the First Ladies. The club is using First Ladies for this year's programs.

She was the wife of John Quincy Adams, and was the only first lady born outside of the United States. She came to the U. S. four years after she was married. Her father was an American and served as U. S. Consul to England. The John Quincy Adams family moved into the White House in 1825.

The hostess served a delicious refreshment plate to ten members.

Clova Dell Cogdill is shown with a China doll she made that won fourth place at the Missouri State Fair held in Sedalia, Missouri recently. The doll was entered by Mrs. Cogdill's daughter, Lynn Beasley. The doll is one of four that Mrs. Cogdill made this summer after taking a course taught by Wilma Eudy. The dress, also made by Mrs. Cogdill, is trimmed with yellow ribbon and many rows of lace. She said the judges remarked on the beauty and quality of the dress.

Home Water Conservation Measures Are Outlined

Depletion of the water supply is a major problem facing Texas.

While manufacturing, energy production and agriculture are the biggest users of water, home consumption is also significant, says Dr. Marjorie Smith, a family resource management specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

Each person uses about 80 gallons of water a day at home. About five percent of that water goes for drinking and cooking, 20 percent for laundry and dishes, 30 percent for bathing and 45 percent for toilets, says the specialist.

By changing our casual habits, says Dr. Smith, we can conserve water and also reduce energy costs for heating it.

According to the specialist, a few simple conservation measures can help save water at home:

*Take shorter showers. You can also purchase an inexpensive flow-limiter, restrictor, or controller for the shower head. A standard shower uses five to ten gallons of water per minute, but a water-saving head will cut that amount in half.

*Use a water-saving aerator on each of the other faucets in your home to cut usage.

*Turn off the water while you shampoo or soap up. You can also buy a flow cut-off valve and install it on the shower head for that purpose.

*Don't fill the bathtub too full. Every inch of water in the tub is about 4 1/2 gallons, so a half-filled tub uses about 25 gallons of water.

*When brushing your teeth, washing dishes and washing your hair or your hands, don't let the water run the entire time. Four to five gallons of water will run down the drain every minute.

*Reduce the amount of water required to flush the toilets in your home. Some people have placed bricks in their toilet tanks to save water. But bricks will sometimes crumble and damage the fixture or pipes. Instead, weight two one-quart plastic bottles with stones or fill them with water. Replace the caps on the bottles and lower them into the toilet tank, making sure they are clear of moving parts. Or you can purchase a toilet tank insert which cuts the amount of water used by one-third.

*Wash only full loads in the dishwasher or clothes washer.

*Letting the water run to get a cold drink sends a lot of good water down the drain. For cold drinking water, put a bottle of water in the refrigerator.

*Fix leaking faucets. The Texas Department of Water Resources estimates that a slow drip wastes as much as 170 gallons of water each day or 5000 gallons per month.

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

'Dated' Eggs Could Help Consumers

An easy-to-understand "date" on egg cartons could be a big help to consumers looking for high quality, fresh eggs.

Present regulations do not require either a "pack" date or "pull" date on egg cartons, says Dr. David B. Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. But, many egg cartons are "dated."

A "pack" date on cartons is usually based on the Julian calendar. Under this system, days of the year are numbered consecutively, explains Mellor.

For example, January 1 is 001, January 31 is 031, June 25 is 176 and so on. Packers and store personnel use this date for inventory control and proper shelf stocking.

In addition to a "pack" date, many companies use a "pull" or expiration date. This is usually a month followed by the date and preceded by "Exp" or "Sell By." This date is usually from 10 to 30 days following the packing, depending on the grade of eggs and the store or company involved, notes the specialist.

Even though eggs may have reached this "pull" date, they would not have lost their high nutritional value, Mellor assures. If the eggs have been maintained under refrigeration, they could probably be kept in the home refrigerator for a month or more without any noticeable difference in taste, flavor, appearance or nutritional quality.

For many years, some people have suggested the dating of food containers in an easy-to-understand fashion while others have questioned the practice. Perhaps the most understood dating system for eggs would be an un-coded pack date that retailers and consumers would understand, says Mellor.

just to maintain a normal level. In short, large doses of B-6 just increase the body's demand for it, says the specialist.

People often take large doses of vitamin B-6 as a cure for hormonal imbalances. But according to Ms. Haggard, there is no evidence showing the vitamin is effective in treating this type of problem.

There's little danger that anyone eating a normal diet would become deficient in vitamin B-6, since it is found in liver, meat, whole grain cereals, and many vegetables.

Some elderly people, pregnant women or women taking oral contraceptives occasionally experience a shortage of vitamin B-6. But a physician should diagnose and treat the problem with appropriate doses of the vitamin, says Ms. Haggard.

As with all other vitamins, people should not prescribe vitamin B-6 for themselves, cautions the specialist.

VITAMIN B-6 TOXIC IN HIGH DOSES

Taking large doses of vitamin B-6 can increase your body's need for the vitamin or even poison your nervous system, says nutritionist Marilyn Haggard.

The USDA's recommended daily intake for vitamin B-6 is two to four milligrams, but some people are taking 50 to 500 milligram "mega-doses" of the vitamin, explains Ms. Haggard, a specialist with the Texas A&M University System's Agricultural Extension Service.

"Nutritionists have known for some time that vitamin B-6 is toxic at 200 milligrams per day," Ms. Haggard says, "and a study published this month in the New England Journal of Medicine shows that it can poison the nervous system, causing numbness and loss of coordination in arms and legs."

Other research has shown that when patients are withdrawn from very high doses of vitamin B-6, they require greater than average amounts of the vitamin Stress is a family affair. We used to think that stress was the problem of the overworked business executive. Now we know farmers, homemakers, senior citizens, parents, teens, and even children experience the effects of stress in daily life. Stress is not caused by events in life, but by the individuals' reaction to an event. We all know people who have survived numerous crises with seemingly no long-lasting ill-effects. We have also seen others "fall apart" as a result of much less serious problems.

Each individual has his/her own inner resources for coping with life's problems. It is important for us to help our children develop their personal capacity for coping with the day-to-day problems in their lives so they will be stronger adults.

Teen-age suicide, drug abuse, alcohol abuse, and crime seems to indicate that this age group is having difficulty handling the pressures of adolescence. Well-meaning parents can also contribute to stress in teens by failing to understand—or remember—the feelings and insecurities present at this stage of their lives.

"Coping With Life's Pressures" is a program on Monday night designed to help parents deal with stress in child-rearing and in coping with a personal loss in a family.

You are invited to attend any part or all of the program at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Room of the First State Bank in Silverton. I think you will feel it is time well spent.

Often the most realistic way of dealing with stress is to change our own outlook on life, not to change the events. When we realize that our attitude is largely responsible for our own happiness or tension, we are on the road to managing stress.

CHUNKS OF SEAFOOD LEND THEMSELVES TO KABOBS

Large chunks of seafood lend themselves to kabob cookery, and when combined with your favorite mixture of onions, green pepper cubes, mushrooms, bacon pieces or pineapple chunks, make for an outdoor cooking treat, says Annette Redell Hegen, Extension Seafood Consumer Education Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

For successful seafood kabobs, select items that will cook at the same rate of speed or make some adjustments if they do not. When the fish or shellfish is quick-cooking, for example, blanch the onions, peppers or other items in advance, so that everything will be done at the same time.

Also, choose skewers that are either square or oval in shape, so that as the food softens it will not slip when the kabob is turned over.

Seafood cooks quickly, so keep an eye on the clock and the temperature.

For more free seafood recipe ideas, write Seafood Recipes, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, P. O. Box 158, Port Aransas, Texas 78373.

ASCS Attempting To Help Livestock Producers

Due to the drought conditions this summer, the Briscoe County ASCS office is attempting to assist livestock producers in locating hay or other roughage that is for sale.

Anyone who has excess hay or other roughage is asked to contact the county office and give us your name, telephone number, type of hay or roughage, and the amount that is available.

This information will be listed and the list will be available to all interested parties.

Producers who need hay or other roughage should check periodically to see what is listed for sale.

New State Laws

AUSTIN — Over 400 new state laws went into effect during the past week. Many others, like our new DWI law, will take effect on January 1, 1983. In our last column, we talked about the many new laws that would have a particular effect on the residents of the Texas Panhandle. In this column, we will discuss new statewide legislation that has recently taken effect.

Many new changes with respect to the Public Utility Commission became effective on September 1. Among the most important of these changes was the creation of the public attorney's office within the PUC. This new office will have the responsibility to represent consumers before the Commission with regard to proposed utility rate hikes.

The new "lemon law" has also taken effect this past week. This new law enables dissatisfied new car owners to voice their complaints to the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission. The Commission can order the car manufacturer to refund the price of the car or replace it entirely.

The interest rates that consumers pay for bank credit card purchases have dropped as a result of a new state law. This law has lowered the former 18 percent minimum and 24 percent maximum interest rates allowable to 14 percent and 22 percent respectively.

Of special interest to our agricultural community is a new state law deregulating the transportation of certain agricultural commodities. Agricultural products are exempt from the regulations of the Texas Railroad Commission during transport from the farm to the point of first manufacture, if the goods remain the property of the producer.

Texas businessmen will now be required to make earlier payments of sales taxes they collect as a result of recent changes to the tax laws. This new law changes the payment date of taxes collected on business sales to the 20th day of the month, rather than on the last day as was originally required.

Changes were also implemented with respect to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. These new changes now empower the Commission with regulatory authority over all Texas counties.

These are but a few of the many state laws that recently took effect. If you have any comments or questions about these new laws or any other items, please let us know by writing Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Juvenile Probation

AUSTIN — There are many Texas youngsters who have contributed to the overcrowding of our prisons simply because there was no one to pay attention to them when they first broke the law as juveniles.

Although juvenile probation departments have been around Texas since 1917, most Texas counties did not have the authority for juvenile probation boards to operate. The result is that many youngsters who might have been worked with in their own communities wound up in a state correctional institution or in prison.

On September 1, the ten counties of the 31st Senatorial District without juvenile probation boards were authorized for boards through legislation I sponsored in the just completed legislative session. Now all counties in Texas have boards authorized.

The boards in most cases consist of the county, district and juvenile judges. In some counties citizens are authorized membership on the board. Our counties now authorized for boards are Sherman, Hartley, Lamb, Bailey, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Hale, Dallam and Hansford. Other counties in the districts previously were authorized boards.

These counties will receive state grants, the amount of which is based primarily on population of the county. The amounts range from $5,100 in Sherman County to a high of $48,604 in Hale County.

The Legislature recognized that a problem with authorization of juvenile boards existed when it created the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission in 1981 to work with juvenile boards to establish a uniform and comprehensive juvenile probation services program in every Texas county. Legislation was necessary for the commission to have a board with which to work.

The commission's basic idea is to provide local control over probation services using state standards as a guide. By providing funds for assistance to the boards it insures that state standards can be met.

These funds can be used for a variety of services, ranging from salaries for probation officers to training and travel expenses. Also included can be services for juveniles, ranging from medical and psychological to school supplies and clothing. Even placement of children in homes such as Boys Ranch in lieu of a correctional institution is allowable.

Last year 72,000 Texas youngsters from age 10-17 were referred to the courts. Because juvenile services have been so highly fragmented in the past, there is a good chance that some kids - especially in rural areas - did not have that opportunity of having someone keeping a close watch to see if they could be helped to a better life.

If you have any questions or comments about juvenile probation services in your county please let us know by writing Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Hints For Homeowners

The Care And Repair Of Your Roof

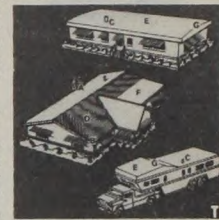

If a leaky roof is dampening your pleasure in your home or recreational vehicle, you might like to heed some hints from experts.

First determine if your roof just has "pinhole leaks" and, if so, it needs either an energy-cost-saving coat or a long-wearing weather coat; or if it has holes and cracks in seams, flashing, gutters, downspouts and valleys, in which case patching materials are your most reliable solution.

Before you apply any patching or coating, the roof surface should be brushed clean, particularly old coatings, to remove loose and flaking particles. Metal roofs should be sanded or wirebrushed to remove rust. Cracks and splits should be cleaned well; loose surfaces nailed in place; blisters and bulges opened, cleaned and treated.

If you're applying aluminum coating, you'll need a roof brush and a gallon of coating for every 100 square feet. Don't thin the coating but use it directly from the container. Mix it thoroughly before applying.

To apply an acrylic white roof coating, use a brush or long nap roller. Such coating is a waterbase material and should not be applied at temperatures below 50° F., or when the roof will be subjected to rain or heavy dew within four to six hours. Apply it at a rate of 150 to 175 square feet a gallon.

A leaky roof is all wet. Fortunately, there are many ways you can fix it.

To plug a leak, use a black fibrous adhesive mastic. Brush or trowel a one-coat patch into the problem area. Flash patch comes with a backing paper to enable it to be pressed in place with fingertip pressure.
