everyone gathered around the Christmas tree to exchange gifts. The group was entertained with Christmas songs played on the piano by Shane Chadwick and Jana Boyles.

Those attending were Mrs. Joe King, Mrs. Clifford Hagar, Janice and Heather, Mr. and Mrs. Jim King, Shawna and Misty, all of Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Farley, April and Cory, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chadwick, Shane and Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Gary King, Mike and Jarrod, all of Amarillo; Bobby Boyles, Brandon and Courtney, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jameson, Kevin and Michelle, Claytonville; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ramsey, Bryan, Amy and Kayla, Silvertown.

Also, Mrs. D. C. Duck, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Farley and Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wellman and Jamie, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey, H. G. Boyles and Jana, Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Barrett, Danny and Judy, Mrs. E. J. Farley and Junior, all of Quitaque.

Afternoon visitors were Debra and Karen Clinton of Turkey and Terri Hill of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sperry and family of Friendswood (Houston area) spent Christmas with his mother, Mrs. Jeff Sperry of Flo-mot. Mrs. Bill Sperry (Aleta Neatherlin) stopped in the Tribune to renew their subscription. She said they lost their home and all its contents in the big flood last spring or summer, and in the second flood in August, the water got up to their home again but they were lucky. She said they had to swim out and all their clothing and household goods were destroyed by sewer water after the flood water began to recede. They lost two cars. They are just now getting insurance to begin building back. She states they feel lucky to be alive. They had friends who had the same tragedy, then in August the friends lost again with a fire caused by the second flood. (We all take too much for granted.)

Mrs. Janet Turner and daughters, Jennifer and Allison of Plainview spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bailey. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rothwell and family joined them for dinner Christmas day. In the afternoon, Mrs. H. J. Bailey of Plainview, Mrs. Ethelyn May and Tillie May of Silvertown visited the Baileys in Quitaque.

Club Has Annual Christmas Party

A Christmas Story was told by Mrs. Green, and Mrs. Jack Hutton shared a Christmas Poem.

Exchange of gifts from the beautifully decorated tree completed the program.

Delicious refreshments were served to the eleven members present.

Mrs. White was unable to get a flight to attend the funeral.

An obituary will follow in next week's issue of the Valley Tribune.

No Set-Aside Required In 1980 Upland Cotton Program

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will not require set-aside or voluntary diversion of cropland for the 1980 cotton crop. There is no need for such programs because of exceptional cotton export demand this season and indications of a modest gain in domestic use next year. Should the demand situation change or yields again be above normal in 1980, the USDA could consider establishing a cotton

Teen Leader Retreat Planned In January

A unique training for 4-H teen leaders is scheduled for the Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood January 11-13, 1980.

Teen leaders from across the state will participate in the Teen Leader Retreat, "Living and Telling the 4-H Story." The 4-H'ers can choose from nine workshops to help them improve 4-H member interest and develop their leadership skills in promoting 4-H.

The workshops offered are Exhibits, Clowning, Newspaper, Public Speaking, Puppets, Radio, Television, Slide Presentation, and skits.

All Briscoe County teen 4-H'ers are invited to attend.

Extension Agent Lynda Fogerson will accompany the county participants.

Cost is $22.30 for meals and lodging from Saturday through Sunday noon or $29.95 if the group goes on Friday night. Recreation is planned for Friday night, Saturday morning and Saturday night.

Call the Extension Office—323-2343—to register by January 2, 1980.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

reserve program similar to the program for grain.

A preliminary 1980-crop upland cotton national program acreage of 11,602,285 acres was also announced. In order for producers to be assured of target price protection on their entire planted acreage, they must also reduce their acreage in 1980 by 10% from their 1979 plantings. The USDA will announce the final target price for the 1980 upland cotton crop when final yield and cost estimates for the 1979 crop become available. It is likely to be between 57 and 61 cents per pound. The 1979 target price is 57.7 cents. The decision not to have a set-aside was based on these factors:

—Export demand is exceptional, with seven million bales estimated to be shipped during this marketing year. While exports during the 1980 season are unlikely to reach the current year total, they are expected to be high in comparison to prior season quantities.

—Domestic use may dip slightly in 1979, down about 100,000 bales from 613 million bales in 1978, but is expected to be higher in 1980.

—Supplies this season exceed 18 million bales. With disappearance now estimated at 13.2 million, stocks at the beginning of the 1980 season are projected at about 5.2 million, up 1.3 million from the 3.9 million at the beginning of the 1979 crop season. An average yield in 1980 is expected to result in production and use being essentially the same, with stocks remaining near the 5.2 million level, and adequate, but not excessive quantity.

—A set-aside or diversion program in 1980, coupled with a bad weather year, could result in very tight supplies and a sharp reduction in cotton stocks. The resultant higher prices would, in the long term, reduce both domestic use and exports as U. S. cotton would be less competitive with synthetic fibers and foreign grown cotton. The higher prices would also increase consumer costs and contribute to further inflation.

The target price provides income protection to cotton farmers. If the national average price received by farmers for upland cotton during calendar year 1980 falls below the target price, cotton producers will receive a deficiency payment at a rate equal to the difference between the higher of either the average market price or the loan price of 48 cents.
