Trim Your Holiday "Waste" Line

Keep Texas Beautiful

'Tis indeed the season to get wrapped up in parties, gift giving, and festive decorations. To keep pace with it all, we need energy. So what's wrong if we have a few extra gulps of eggnog to wash down the cheese, pepperoni, and jalapeno statelically placed on a stonewheat cracker? We've got the hustle and bustle of holiday shopping to burn it off, not to mention a whole new year of resolutions ahead of us. Until it's time to squeeze into New Year's attire, we don't think much about our waist line during the holidays--nor our waste line for that matter. Of course, it's willpower to turn down a slice of pumpkin pie, and not to eat everything on the plate, but where does all the uneaten food go? "Americans throw away 28 billion pounds of food waste each year," according to Jesse Garcia, KTB President. And things add up quickly during the holidays. If every guest at grandmother's house left a tablespoon of cranberry sauce on their Thanksgiving plates, that alone is 14 million pounds.

Today, we are reminded to be more aware of ways to reduce waste by recognizing Use Less Stuff Day (ULS Day), a national awareness day sponsored by the ULS Report and other groups such as Keep America Beautiful, Inc. and its 500 community affiliates. This year, Keep America Beautiful and its affiliates are celebrating ULS Day by decking the halls with tips on how to cut down on food waste," Garcia said. By following these tips, you can have cheerful and fulfilling holidays without creating excessive food waste. And besides being a nice gift for the environment,

Cotton News From PCG

by Shawn Wade
 Wrapping up 1996 has been a top priority for both producers and ginners across the High Plains. For the majority of producers the harvest is complete, the same can not be said for many gins. Dry soil conditions through the end of June caused a large amount of cotton acentage to be diverted to alternative crops because of poor to non-existent stands. Hail, high winds and other problems also damaged stands throughout the region. Altogether it appears that as many as 800,000 acres originally planted to cotton never made it to harvest. The miracle appears to be the fact that despite the loss of so many acres the High Plains will probably produce its third 3 million bale-plus crop in the last four years. Current estimates indicate the crop will indeed top 3 million 480-pound bales and will probably set a new record for yield per harvested acre in the process. Based on current projections per acre yield across the area will average over 600 pounds. The previous record, set in 1993, was 555 pounds per harvested acre. "I have been around High Plains cotton for over thirty years and I'm not sure I have ever heard as many stories of 2 and 3 bale cotton yields as I have this year," reflects PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall
 Gifts, gifts, gifts, everywhere you look there seems to be new gifts popping up! Some small, some large, some quite showy, some very dainty, some refined, some gaudy, some light, some heavy but all should have been selected with great care and wrapped with lots of love and presented with joy in your heart. What truly comprises a gift anyway? Do you just go to the store and tell a clerk, "I want you to wrap that item for me for a gift." Is that all there is to it? Is there not some profound thought put into the process of choosing the right gift for the right person? Is there not some formula to go by to select the perfect item for those special people on your gift list? Sure, I know everyone has hurried out and bought a gift on the spur of the moment and it happened to be just exactly what the recipient wanted. My question is did you have as much enjoyment out of giving that gift as you would have had if you had put a lot of thought into choosing it? Part of the process of enjoying giving is the anticipation of how the person you plan to give the gift will react. You can't wait to see the light glow in their eyes when the present you choose was just what they wanted! You bask in reflected sunshine when the gift you chose makes them happy with a big smile on their face. As children we always looked forward to Christmas so that we could unwrap all the many packages that we dreamed would be under the Christmas Tree with our name on them. We gave little thought to giving gifts to others, only the idea of getting them. As we grow older and more mature, we realize that the most wonderful part of gifts is the art of giving them. When you give a gift it should give you as much pleasure to give it as it does the receiver to get it. Sure, everyone likes to get gifts but think back and remember some of your happiest times--probably when you gave a special gift to someone and it was just what they would have chosen for themselves. Now you begin to see the true meaning of the old saying--It is more blessed to give than to receive. When we give, it makes us a better person but when we only take, it tends to make us a bit more selfish and grasping for material things. Do you remember the most precious gift that you ever received? It probably did not cost a lot of money but chances are a lot of time was spent on it. Time is one the most precious gifts that we have to bestow upon each other. Perhaps the times you spent talking with a lonely person helped them get through the day in a good mood, maybe the smile you gave that little girl when she whirled by on her bike gave her spirit a lift or the pat on the shoulder you gave the older man as he passed out the door, let him know you cared--all of these are a small gift of time--As the New Year approaches, let's see how many tiny gifts of time we can afford to give away in the coming days that will make the world a much brighter place in which to live. May 1997 be a Special Year for you and yours.

Ava Hawkins, Now 107 Years Old

Wednesday, December 31, 1996 Mrs. Ava Hawkins, a resident of the Lockney Nursing Home will have reached the age of 107.

Mrs. Hawkins was born Ava Mae McFall in Snyder, Texas to William Oliver and Epsie (Byrd) McFall in 1889. She attended school at Elkins, a small community near Snyder. She moved to Briscoe County with her family before 1920. Until she became a resident of the nursing home she had remained a Briscoe County resident.

She had two children, Iva Earnestine Ware who died as a young girl in the 1918 flu epidemic and Oliver Keith Ware who died in August of 1994. She and Pierce Hawkins were married in March of 1936. He preceded her in death in 1962.

Mrs. Hawkins has seen the mode of travel go from horse and buggy to jet airplanes; the mode of dress go from long sleeves, high necks and long skirts to mini skirts, bikini swim suits and pants for ladies; the mode of food from everything home grown to fast take out or microwave in three minutes; the mode of news from months to receive a letter to click on the computer and receive your E-Mail.

Yes, it is quite a different world that she lives in today from the one in which she was born 107 years ago. Today instead of the very active lady who loved to care for her flowers and shrubs she now sits and watches the world go by from her window and enjoys a few pot plants in her room.

Sunday, her nephew, Sid McFall and his wife Eunice took cake and lemonade to the nursing home so that she and the other residents of the home might have a few moments of enjoyment in celebration of her birthday. Once again a bright light gleamed in her eyes when they rested on the bright pink azalea pot plant brought for her to enjoy. Who knows what memories this bright plant will bring to this lady of 107 years?

Holiday Weather Is Snowy and Slippery

The biggest snow so far this winter began falling early Monday morning and continued throughout the day. The depth of the snow was estimated at about four inches and produced .37 of an inch of moisture. Traveling has been a little difficult, especially on county roads but no serious interference with transportation was reported. There was no wind during the snowfall and consequently no deep drifts.

Most of the snow had melted Thursday and the ground will be in excellent shape for early plowing. However there is still some cotton to gather.

Pfc Olin Patrick of Camp Campbell, Ky., spent a Christmas furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Patrick.

Mrs. Marion Roberson left after dinner Christmas Day to spend the week end with her parents at Amherst.

THANK YOU

Words cannot express the deep gratitude for all the expressions of love and concern shown to J.T. and me during his lengthy illness. We returned "home" to friends and neighbors who showed us the true meaning of friendship, made us feel "back home" and feel we were truly loved. The expressions of love through food, prayers, cards, phone calls, visits and flowers were appreciated by our family.

We are truly blessed to live in this community among such thoughtful, caring people.

Thank you again for everything done during J. T.'s illness and during our time of sorrow.

Sincerely,

I want to thank everyone who came to my birthday party. I had such a good time, and I really appreciate everyone who took the time to come by. Also, I got so many cards and I'm enjoying everyone of them. I thank you all so very much.

We want to express our gratitude and thanks to the Turkey Ambulance and EMS crew, for all the many times you have responded and been there to help with our dad and husband, Jesse Mullin.

We deeply appreciate your concern and taking out time from your jobs and work to be there for Dad.

Living in a small community is priceless and we love each and everyone of you. Thanks for all the phone calls, and visits since Dad has been sick and in the hospital.

Also a special thanks to Ginger Morgan for staying in Plainview with me, to help bring Dad home that night. I'd not made it without you.

Again, Thanks to everyone!
Margie Edwards and B. Mullin
