Price Of Electricity To Increase Slightly

The price of electricity to residential and commercial customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will increase slightly this month as the company's summer rates go into effect.

The summer-winter rate differential for the two classes of customers was proposed by the Public Utility Commission of Texas staff during negotiations in WTU's rate case last fall.

Beginning with May billings, residential and commercial customers will be charged 3/4-cent more per kilowatt-hour. Residential base rates rise from 3.22 cents to 3.97 cents per KWH, while commercial base rates rise from 3.43 cents to 4.18 cents per KWH.

Coincidentally, there will be a fuel factor adjustment raising the cost of fuel from 3.14 cents per KWH to 3.5949 cents. This means that residential rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.36 cents per KWH to 7.5649 cents, and commercial rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.5 cents to 7.77 cents per KWH.

The new base rates and fuel cost factor will be effective for bills rendered during the month of May. The summer rates continue through October.

The seasonal rate differential has been used by many companies for many years. The main reason is that the cost of service is higher during the peak usage season, or summer months. Also, higher rates serve as an incentive for customers to conserve and trim the peak demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Daughter Enjoy Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Brown accompanied their daughter, Patsy Lea Rhoderick, on a vacation trip during the spring break. They drove to Hollis, Oklahoma and visited an aunt and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tyson, and were joined there by another aunt, Octovella Williamson of Dell City, Oklahoma for a visit. On Saturday, they drove to Fort Worth to see another aunt, Mrs. Beulah Grammer and spent the weekend there. They visited in Stephenville with Naomi Walden.

On Monday, they drove to Jefferson, Texas to spend two days touring the oldest town in Texas with 84 antebellum homes. The oldest hotel is 150 years old and still in use. On the register are listed the names of President Hayes, Jay Gould, railroad tycoon, also Gould Railroad Coach car in which he and his family toured the country. The museum featured Sargent Mtoher's picture and silverware. The house is open four seasons. It has a rotunda 40 feet high in the middle of the house and four floors surround it, with a widow's walk on top from which one can see the entire town. There were some huge ships docked there. During the Civil War, slaves were held in the Excelsior hotel and the rings, to which they were attached, are still there.

The Browns and their daughter visited at the old home of their great-grandfather on the Dar Trail which is over 130 years old and has been restored, with the original fireplaces intact. They saw four cousins which are 96, 92, 95 and 85 years of age. Floyd Coffman is 96, Jewel Wilson, 92, Nettie Sampall, 95, and Mary Ann Phillips, 85. The great-grandfather traded 120 ponies for a section of land in Denison.

Mom's Dental Care Affects Her Unborn

Tooth and gum disease may be just about the last thing on the mind of a woman who is pregnant. But according to the Texas Department of Health, mothers-to-be should pay special attention to dental care for a variety of reasons.

First, pregnancy itself poses some potential problems for the woman's dental health. Gingivitis, for example, is a gum disease common among pregnant women. Symptoms of the disease are enlarged, discolored gums that bleed easily. It is caused by poor dental care.

Second, certain drugs, if taken during pregnancy, may adversely affect the development of the baby's teeth. So may a nutritionally deficient diet.

Finally, if the pregnant woman experiences dental problems, her diet and general health may suffer and jeopardize the health of her unborn child.

While these may not be life-threatening problems, they can substantially lower the quality of life for mother and child alike. Dr. Carlos Lozano, Chief of the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Dental Health, said, "Poor dental health can prevent children or adults from eating a well-balanced, pleasing variety of foods—not to mention detracting from their physical appearance and self-esteem."

To avoid these problems, Dr. Lozano advised pregnant women to make dental health a part of their prenatal care regimen. This aspect of prenatal care should include proper brushing and flossing, a diet rich in minerals and vitamins, and regular visits to the dentist, he said.

"Be sure to tell your dentist you are pregnant—even if it is a routine visit," Dr. Lozano said. "The dentist will take some special precautions to ensure the health of your baby, and he can advise you about simple, inexpensive modifications in your diet and dental hygiene that could mean a big difference later on in life for you and your son or daughter," he explained.

Precautions a dentist may take with pregnant patients include postponing X-rays and avoiding any medications with possible adverse impacts on unborn children. The dentist also can teach future parents about normal tooth development in infants and young children, and he can tell them how to care for their baby's gums and first teeth.

The Texas Department of Health is initiating a statewide campaign to promote prenatal care for all pregnant women in the state. In conjunction with the campaign, Governor Mark White has proclaimed May to be "Mother Care Is Baby Care" month in Texas.

It's thought that the use of engagement and wedding rings began as a Roman custom.

Appointments To Energy Council Announced Recently

Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby has announced five appointments to the Southwest Regional Energy Council. Senator Grant Jones, D-Abilene, and Senator Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, are being reappointed to a second term.

Senator Cyndi Krier, D-San Antonio; Senator John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Senator Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, are the newly appointed members of this Council.

The Southwest Regional Energy Council is a five-state compact of energy producing states. The Council acts as a voice on behalf of the member states in a broad range of energy and energy-related issues.

"These appointments assure Texas of continued participation in this all important segment of our economy. As a nationally recognized organization, the Council played a pivotal role by informing the Treasury Department of the disastrous effects some of the proposed tax changes would have on the oil and gas industry.

"Senator Sarpalius represents a large energy-based constituency and can put his interest, on behalf of that constituency, to good use by serving on the Council."

IN-DEPTH DISCUSSION CONCERNING AG-USE

VALUES PLANNED HERE

The Briscoe County Appraisal District board of directors is planning an in-depth discussion concerning ag-use values for 1985 during their regular meeting Thursday morning at 9:00 o'clock in the county courtroom.

Since these values could affect the Briscoe County and Silvertown ISD tax bases, the board is extending an invitation to the judge and all members of the commissioners court, and to the president and all members of the board of trustees to join in the discussion. The board of directors would appreciate some input from all jurisdictions who have an interest in this topic.

Woman Masters Computer Program

Add computer programming to a long list of skills mastered by a well-known Pecos woman.

She is Peggy McCracken, now perfecting a computer program for church libraries. She is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McCracken of Quitaque.

But her work has ranged from farm labor to serving as church school principal. And in between she has been secretary, waitress, bookkeeper, newspaper managing editor, radio news director, reporter, and free-lance writer-photographer.

"I earned my first dollar picking cotton at the age of seven," she recalled. "It was at Flomot, Texas, and I picked 100 pounds."

Her farm work spanned 10 years, according to an orderly job resume Mrs. McCracken prepared.

Her new computer program came as something of a confluence of her writing and church library work at West Park Baptist Church.

Mrs. McCracken bought her original Radio Shack computer in December 1982, for use as a word processor.

"My old IBM typewriter was wearing out," she said, "and the computer with printer seemed like a good idea."

She also thought her husband, Leon, could make good use of the computer for accounting work.

Her array of equipment started with the basic computer, printer and TV-screen-like monitor. Disk drives, storage cabinets and other additions followed, along with a modem to permit transferring her writings from one point to another by telephone.

Using a commercial word-processing program, Mrs. McCracken wrote news stories for KIUN radio and area newspapers. She also used it to produce scripts for church plays.

"It was so easy to use for script writing," she observed, "and print out copies for all the actors."

Mrs. McCracken soon learned that her computer was useful in keeping financial records for her work as a free-lance writer-photographer. And she even uses it to print out checks.

"I guess I got hooked on it," she laughed. "But I had little interest in computers before getting one."

At first her computer uses were self-taught. Then late last year she took a course in basic computer information systems offered by Odessa College at Pecos High School.

She quickly saw ways in which she could use the computer in her work as church librarian.

Mrs. McCracken has been involved, off and on, with the church library since 1968. That's when, as church secretary, she started the children's library at West Park Baptist Church.

Starting with a supply of books stored in a closet at the church, she "processed 500 books" in her first year—learning along the way the basics of starting a library from the Southern Baptist Convention library department.

Now serving for the third time as church librarian, she is in charge of more than 1,000 books, 72 film strips and 46 recordings.

Proper cataloging of the books seemed a logical task for Mrs. McCracken's computer. She promptly rose to the challenge.

The program she developed requires that she punch into her computer for each volume its title, author, subject area, publisher, cost and catalog number.

With that information recorded, the computer's printer will type out a 3-by-5-inch catalog card for each volume, a charging card and book pocket, an accession sheet listing basic information about the book and an adhesive-backed label for the book's spine.

"I haven't found a church yet that's doing this with its library," the Pecos woman said.

She has offered information about her program to the Southern Baptist Convention church media library magazine—a magazine for which she has written articles in the past.

"I have taught people library methods," she said, "and I would like to share the program with other churches."

Noting that she has worked in church offices for 25 years, off and on, Mrs. McCracken said she can shape various programs to meet special needs of each church.

She also hopes to work with computer dealers as a consultant to churches.

Looking back over her varied occupations through the years, the Pecos woman allowed that it's been an interesting and challenging road from a cotton field to her home computer room.

4-H HORSE CLUB TO HAVE TRAIL RIDE

The Briscoe County 4-H Horse Club will have a trail ride on Saturday, May 18. All Horse Club members, others interested in joining the club, and parents are encouraged to attend.

The ride will begin at 2:00 at the Lower Barrel Camp. Those going from Silverton can meet at the courthouse at 1:00. After the ride, there will be games and a hamburger cookout. Everyone is asked to bring enough food for their family.

Children under 13 years old must be accompanied by an adult who will be responsible for them. Anyone wishing more information should contact Jimmy Burson or Gerald Smith.

REP. WHALEY IS FOUNDING MEMBER OF TEXAS CONSERVATIVE COALITION

State Representative Foster Whaley (D-Pampa) has become one of the founding members of the Texas Conservative Coalition, a new group of more than sixty Senators and Representatives in the Texas Legislature.

The three goals of the TCC are to identify and discuss legislation and issues important to conservatives, to obtain and analyze information from private enterprise and think tanks, and to assist in the sharing of research from one legislative staff to the next.

The Coalition is non-partisan with twenty-six Democrats and thirty-eight Republicans. Some of the issues the Coalition will study include promoting efficient and responsible state government, maintaining free enterprise, and providing local control of government programs.

It's easy—when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do...

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul... faith.

This is the preparation God offers men... for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Briscoe County Stock Show Board Meets

The Briscoe County Stock Show Board met April 9, 1985 in the Pioneer Room at First State Bank in Silverton. The board elected officers, appointed Division Superintendents and revised the rules, said Dirk Aaron, County Extension Agent.

John Schott of Silverton was elected chairman, and Jimmy Burson was elected secretary-treasurer.

Perry Brunson of Silverton will be Swine Superintendent. Joe Edd Helms of Quitaque will be Sheep Superintendent. Larry Don Price of Quitaque will be Dairy Cattle Superintendent, and Doug Forbes of Silverton will be Beef Cattle Superintendent.

The board also formed an executive committee, made up of the above members, and assigned them the task of hiring a judge. The committee met May 6 at the First National Bank in Quitaque and decided that Ken Cook from San Angelo would be the judge for 1986.

The board also approved the following rules to govern the 1986 show:

1. All exhibits will be under the control of the management but the show will in no case be responsible for any damage that may occur.
  2. Entry fee will be $5.00 per head for swine, sheep, dairy heifers, steers and beef heifers.
  3. All exhibitors must be bonified members of active FFA Chapters or 4-H Clubs in Briscoe County.
  4. All animals must have been the property of the owner and exhibitor throughout the feeding project. Feeding period for lambs, swine and dairy heifers is November 15, 1985. Feeding period for beef steers and beef heifers is July 1. Steers must be validated in accordance with the state rules.
  5. Each exhibitor shall exhibit his own animal and be responsible for its care while on the show grounds, unless otherwise granted permission by the show superintendent.
  6. Each exhibitor may enter no more than three animals in each the heifer, barrow, lamb and steer class. There must be a minimum of five animals to make a class, except the beef heifer class which will have a minimum number in 1986.
  7. All bedding for the animals will be furnished by the show; no straw will be permitted.
  8. Weight limits, etc. will be as follows:
    - Lambs—75 lbs. up on South-downs; 90 lbs. up on all other breeds. All lambs must still have baby teeth.
    - Swine—No minimum up to 250 lb. maximum (five-pound cushion)
    - Steers—800 lbs. minimum and up (must have baby teeth)
    - Heifers—No weight limit; age limit 12 months to 24 months of age. Must be halter broken.
- Awards will be buckles for all champions and reserve champion will get trophy. For further information contact the County Extension Office, 823-2343.

Property Tax To Rise At

Briscoe County Judge Fred Mercer said today that "the state has found a way to get through the legislative session in Austin without raising any state taxes, but the way they have decided to do it means that the property taxes will probably have to be raised at the county level of services cut."

Judge Mercer indicated that the cost of state programs such as the administration of justice including increased local costs of the judicial system and costs of incarcerating state prisoners and even the cost of driver education in the public schools may be financed out of county and district court fees if pending legislation is passed.

"The way this works," Judge Mercer said, "is that the state increases its share of fees that the county collects in order to raise revenue for state programs. This could decrease the future amount of money that the county gets to retain from the fees. The county could be forced to take up the slack by increasing property taxes just to stay even."

The judge said that counties only have four sources of revenue: property tax, fines and fees and federal revenue sharing. He said that revenue sharing "has been going down for several years, and that the administration proposes to eliminate it by October 31, 1986. Revenue sharing averaged 16% of county budgets statewide in 1977 but in 1982 it amounted to only 11%. It's dropped even more since 1982 and will be gone entirely by late 1986," the judge said.

"Taxes have to be increased even more by the county if inflation causes increased costs. And while the state is taking more of historical county revenue, legislators are devising ways to have the county take on more and more responsibility that normally would be handled by the state. The more responsibility they give us, the more property taxpayers have to pay."

"What this means," the judge said, "is that the federal government is passing costs to the state, the state is passing costs to the counties and they are both telling everyone that they aren't raising taxes. They're not. Local government has to do it for them."

COLLEGE STATION — Most Texans who purchase a home are young marrieds, have no children and make more than twice the median income for all Texans. That profile of state homebuyers was released by the Texas Real Estate Research Center (TRERC) at Texas A&M University.

Half of the homebuyers made at least $40,000, compared to the $19,618 median income for the state as a whole, said Don E. Albrecht, a research scientist for TRERC and the Department of Rural Sociology at Texas A&M.

INDEPENDENT OR DEPENDENT?

"I don't want to be a burden on anyone." Have you or your parents or an older person you know made this comment?

Because our society values independence and teaches it from childhood, "unlearning independence" is a difficult task for older people when they are faced with being dependent on others for certain areas of their lives. The greatest cause of low morale among older people is the fear of dependency. Keeping their independence is preserving their sense of self-worth. As we reach adulthood, we value the ability to make our own decisions and manage our own affairs. We do not welcome events or circumstances which cause us to become dependent on others, either economically, physically, mentally or socially.

Because circumstances beyond our control may force us to depend on others for certain things, we need to accept the fact that we may need others and learn to allow them to help. To be totally independent and self-reliant may be lonely for the older adult.

We, as children of older parents, must also realize the importance of independence and allow those older adults in our family to exercise their independence in every area possible.

We should all work toward interdependence—learning to love and rely on the friends, relatives and neighbors who care about us and whom we care about. After all, is there really such a thing as total independence? Aren't we all dependent on others in our society for our needs? MAY IS OLDER TEXAN MONTH.

Extension Highlights

TIME FOR HOME GARDENING

I'm sure that most of you have prepared your plot and have planted those early vegetables. Most of us have gardens for several reasons whether it's because you have always had one, or because you love to dig around and scratch in the backyard.

For whatever reason you raise a garden, we can all agree that gardens provide high quality vegetables for fresh use that we love and enjoy having with those great home-cooked meals.

You can maintain that garden throughout if you remember some very important management practices that include proper fertilization, proper irrigation, proper control of insects, weeds and disease.

A good fertilizer management program is essential to make your garden a success. All vegetables require relatively large amounts of plant nutrients. The soils of our area generally contain an adequate amount of essential nutrients with exception of nitrogen and phosphorus. In some cases you may need small amounts of iron or zinc. To best determine your garden needs, I recommend that a soil analysis be completed. A minimal cost of $7.00 through the Extension Soil Lab is charged. For more information on soil tests please contact me anytime.

In plain and simple terms the dividend of a sound fertilization program is futile if the garden is not properly watered. It is rare for vegetables to recover totally from a severe lack of moisture. Too much water, on the other hand, can result in nutrient deficiencies, disease problems, and in the extreme can cause death to the plant. A good rule of thumb is to wet the top four to six inches of soil for shallow-rooted vegetables like onions, radishes, celery and lettuce; and ten to twelve inches for potatoes, tomatoes, peppers and sweet corn. The moisture content should be checked periodically with a shovel. Irrigation frequency will depend on the total available supply of soil water and the water use rate. Do not wait until vegetables show signs of wilting before watering! Our gardens require about one to two inches of water per week (whether it's from irrigation or rain) or roughly 60 to 120 gallons per 100 square feet of garden.

In next week's column, I'll be discussing ways to control insects, weeds and disease in your home garden.

Psychology

Smoking and an active social life do not mix.

While many young adults believe smoking is the sophisticated thing to do, experts have determined that smoking can be hazardous to your health, cutting your energy level and ultimately shortening your life span. It can interfere with your enjoyment of life now and in the future.

How can you deal with peer pressure when the topic is tobacco?

Simply refuse. If the person offering the cigarette starts to huff and puff, simply say you enjoy your life and the things you plan on doing with it for many years to come.

Most aware teenagers, especially athletes and other popular young people are into natural living which includes a program of healthful foods, daily exercise and no tobacco.

They know what to do with their bodies and enjoy their lives.

In the long run, such young people are likely to be the winners.
