CORRECTION

A typographical error was made in our account last week of the City commission meeting, when it was stated that A. B. O'Flaherty asked the commission to appropriate $5000 for cemetery improvements. It should have been $500.

Oil Belt Educational Association Is Formed

Fifty superintendents, principals and teachers of class A and B high schools from all over this territory gathered at the Laguna hotel Tuesday evening where they enjoyed a banquet and effected an organization of the Oil Belt Educational Association. The purpose is for the consideration and discussion of educational problems and methods.

Officers elected were: W. O. Willingham, Albany Superintendent, president; John F. Bailey, Breckenridge principal, vice president; C. G. Lanier, Ranger, secretary-treasurer.

The association also named an executive committee to consist of the officers and the following: R. N. Cluck, Cisco superintendent, Class A representative;

J. F. Boren, Baird superintendent, Class B; Mrs. Millie Blackburn, Stephens county superintendent; and Lewis Smith, Colony, Eastland County representing rural schools.

The general meeting of the association was set for an annual call in the spring. The association, council composed of the superintendents, was designated to hold a separate session each fall and upon the invitation of R. D. Green, Abilene Superintendent, decided to meet there Nov. 17 this year.

F. D. Wright, president of the Cisco School board addressed the association, and the gathering whistling numbers by Mrs. R. N. Cluck and Miss Arlene Scudder.

Slight Injuries From Car Crash

A rather bad smashup occurred on the Bankhead highway last Saturday morning three miles east of Cisco when Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Harris of Russellville, Arkansas were injured by their car being forced into a ditch. An eight year old son who was with them was not injured. They were driving a model T ford and were in route to California it was said.

It seems that they had started around a wagon at the same instant that another car driven by A. L. Mayhew of Cisco had started around it, and the Harris car was forced into the ditch. The couple was rushed to Graham sanitarium where they received treatment, and fortunately their injuries were found not to be serious, consisting principally of a fractured knee cap and some bad cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Lloyd Surles was hostess to the Modernistic Bridge Club at her home Thursday afternoon. High score, silk lingerie was awarded to Mrs. Guy Austin Second high, a china dog filled

Woodward Gets Garbage Contract

J. A. Woodward was awarded the contract for gathering the garbage in Cisco for the coming year. This was the principal matter of business which was attended to at the meeting of the city commission last Friday afternoon. Among eleven bids Mr. Woodward's was the next lowest, the lowest having withdrawn. His bid was recommended to the commission by J. R. Burnett and was accepted by a unanimous vote.

After a few small business matters were discussed the commission went into executive session.

with bath salts went to Mrs. Wallace Britian, and Mrs. Ted Huestis cut high, and was awarded a salad fork and spoon set. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served to: Mesdames Joe Black, Guy Austin, Leith Morris, Ted Huestis, Herman Qualls, Ross Cotten, Leonard Surles, Smith Huestis, R. B. Gustafson, Wallace Brittain, Geo. Wild and the hostess.

Two Lobo Stars Removed; Clash With Breck Today

At a meeting of the Oil Belt District executive committee at Abilene Wednesday night two of Cisco's star players on the Lobo football team, Johnny Connell and O. C. Ray, were declared ineligible. From our viewpoint the evidence on which these players were removed from the team is of a very doubtful variety. The protest was brought by the Breckenridge officials and charged that the four-year participation of the Intercholastic League had been violated. If that is really true the boys should not play. But the entire handling of the matter seemed just a bit unfair to the Lobos. However, it appears that the sentiment used by some of our neighboring towns is that "when in doubt, in the least, vote against Cisco."

The Lobos are off to Breckenridge this afternoon, appreciably weakened for the battle with the Buckaroos by the loss of these outstanding players, but our boys "have blood in their eye" as they go into that fight, and Breckenridge is not going to get off so easily, in spite of our handicap.

A big pep meeting was held here last night, and a large number of rooters for the Lobos are going over to help the boys all they can.

Ranger and Abilene will present a thrilling spectacle on Saturday afternoon. The Ranger Bulldogs boast two of the best backs in the district in "Dangerous Dan" McCarty and Chuck Bird. McCarty is the leading scorer of this, section with Bird close behind.

However, they are the opposite type of back. Bird is a power on both the offense and defense. McCarty is a cool, deliberately running back. He picks his holes then scats.

Coach Dewey Mayhew has an unproven team at Abilene, one which has been built this season. Its strength will be brought out against the Ranger Bulldogs Saturday afternoon. It has been coming along slowly, gaining knowledge and strength with each game.

Governor Gives Hearing To Drouth Relief Delegation

Fifteen West Texas counties were represented in Austin on Tuesday when, headed by Guy Dabney of Cisco, an appeal was made to Governor Moody to call a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of securing aid for the drouth stricken area of West Texas. Another meeting of representatives from the areas affected has been called to be held at Colorado, next Tuesday, when Governor Moody and Ross Sterling will both be asked to attend. Then a final effort will be made to arrive at some practical plan for relief for some 54 counties of the state which are sadly in need of it.

In the meantime, members will get in touch with Sterling to sound him out upon a special session of the Forty-second Legislature, Moody having indicated his reluctance to call together the Forty-first. Moody informed conferees Tuesday he had mentioned farm relief and special session proposals to Sterling, but that the latter had made no comment.

The delegation meeting with Moody Tuesday represented 15 West Texas counties and their spokesmen in a two-hour conference were Guy Dabney, Cisco; W. E. Lowe, DeLeon; T. E. Powell, Baird; Garland Eubank of Throckmorton; A. E. King, Throckmorton; J. H. Greene, Colorado, and R. E. Baskin, Seymour, Dabney serving as chairman. About 25 attended the conference.

All speakers emphasize the necessity of immediate relief steps and all urged a special session of the Legislature, suggesting a loan could be made to counties, whose commissioners could in turn loan to individuals in need, the counties to assume responsibility of repaying the State. Such legislation was adopted in 1918, King pointed out, and all of the loans were repaid.

"It is a business transaction and not charity," he added.

Dabney said funds were specially needed after the recent rains in order to purchase seed and feed, insisting that the rains made prompt action more necessary than formerly, a similar attitude having been taken by Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock in urging a special session two weeks ago.

Moody, expressing sympathy for the affected areas, cited several objections to calling either the Forty-first or Forty-second and suggested one or two plans for obtaining money, although the delegates were not optimistic for any other than state aid.

"In the first place," Moody said, "there is no money in the general revenue to appropriate or to loan, the outstanding warrants exceeding the cash on hand. Again, the Forty-first Legislature will expire Nov. 4, when the general election is held. I doubt if we could get a quorum to come here and the majority of communications from legislators oppose a special session."

"Nor do I want to call the Forty-second after Nov. 4, for that is a Legislature belonging to a different administration. I don't think it advisable to interfere with the Forty-second."

Moody suggested that the committee cooperate in the organization of intermediate credit banks in order to advance loans, and likewise declared counties are authorized by existing statutes to issue county warrants, which could be put up as collateral, the money from which warrants could be loaned out. He expressed the opinion that Congress will make a huge appropriation for relief over the United States, but members of the committee said this was hazy and far from assured.

The country banks are in no position to advance additional loans, Dabney and others said.

When the Governor suggested organization of intermediate credit banks, King raised the objection that few counties are in condition to do this. As to calling the old Forty-first, King added: "The Legislature could get through here in three days, and they never hesitated when called before."

King was a member of the House for 10 years, including the Forty-first.

"It is exceedingly doubtful if a quorum of the Forty-first would come," Moody again said.

"If you call a special session, Governor," King replied, "500,000 people in West Texas will be grateful to you."

The Governor suggested that committee members immediately write members of the Forty-second, detailing conditions and to sound them out on re-enacting the 1918 law, under which loans were made to counties.

"We already have written members of the Legislature," Dabney said, "and letter writing doesn't get us anywhere. I don't understand how a legislator would refuse to attend a special session when it is a case of special session when it is a cause of humanity."

The Governor again indicated that the general revenue is facing a deficit, and adding that tax money will be slower coming in than last year, reducing the amount available to the Legislature.

Lowe, Powell, Eubank and Greene gave the Governor a graphic description of conditions, explaining the smaller banks had strained all they could to help give relief.

Before the conference closed Baskin told Moody he realized his position in not wanting to call the Legislature, but nevertheless members expressed the opinion it was about the only resource left.

Moody's statement that only the Forty-second Legislature could be summoned after Nov. 4, received much comment at the hands of the committee, several expressing doubt, King saying he believed the Forty-first could serve, if need be, until the Forty-second regular session is held.

Under the law, following the November election, county officials will have to make returns and certificates of the election to the Secretary of State, after which she announces the winners. This would take a week at least.

Dabney will preside at the Colorado meeting next Tuesday.

Senator C. C. Small of Wellington attended the conference with the Governor.

As we go to press we have just received the returns on the Cisco-Breckenridge game of this afternoon. The score was 35 to 0 in favor of Breckenridge.

THOSE AMENDMENTS

On November 4th, at the general election, there will be on the ticket four constitutional amendments to be voted on. It has become a habit with a great many voters to deliberately scratch every proposed constitutional amendment which is brought up, knowing little and caring less of its purpose. One great reason for this is the undeniable fact that the people have been hoodwinked so much by scheming politicians and tricked into voting through measures which they found later, through a better understanding of them, that they were undesirable and unsatisfactory to the common people. Another reason for wholesale voting is that it is an indisputable fact that our statute books are clustered up with laws of various and sundry kinds that it sometimes takes a whole herd of real smart lawyers and a long-drawn expensive lawsuit to determine just what the law does say about the point in question, and in the meantime the injured one suffers.

The people have become disgusted with with an overabundance of laws and rulings and amendments. Sometimes, however, there are amendments suggested which have some real worth, and should be adopted in the interest of the common welfare. So it is not only wise, but it is the insistent duty of every good citizen to carefully study and acquaint himself with each proposed constitutional change, and thus know when he goes to the polls what his opinion is on it and express it by his vote.

For the information of our readers who may not be familiar with the amendments to be voted on in November we give you here in brief just what these amendments propose to do.

One of these four amendments would make the regular session of 120 days instead of 60 days as at present. It would divide the session into three periods: the first 30 days for introducing bills, the second 30 days for committee study and reports, and the last 60 days for final action upon measures. Provisions are made for the consideration at any time of emergency measures.

One amendment is for a definite pay for a definite period for the members of the legislature. It provides $10 per day for the regular session, with $5 per day for special sessions. It would reduce the travel pay of legislators 10 cents per mile. The increased length of the regular session, it is claimed, would eliminate a great many special sessions, and this together with the reduction mileage pay would tend to reduce the cost of legislation as a whole in spite of the increased daily pay to legislators. The increased daily pay, it is insisted, would attract men of higher calibre for legislators.

A third amendment would make it possible for those Texas counties having university land to tax it for county government purposes and to permit the investment of university funds to better advantage. These lands, it is argued, derive the same advantages from county improvements as privately owned lands, and should be required to pay their share of taxation.

The fourth amendment asks to establish an all-the-year term of the Texas Supreme Court.

DRUNKEN DRIVER MENACE

A well known saying is that "booze and gasoline do not mix well." It is certainly very true. One does not have to journey into some far country to find convincing illustrations of this. He can see striking evidence of it occasionally even in Cisco, Eastland County, Texas. Whether a man is having his much flaunted "personal liberty" encroached upon by the prohibition laws, is a question of much debate. But certainly personal liberty should not cover such wide scope as to give any man the privilege to get unaccountably "stewed" and go tearing around in his car endangering the lives of all who happen to be near. Not long ago the writer while driving enroute home from a neighboring town, with several women and children in the car with us, met another car the driver of which was wildly drunk. His car was weaving from one side of the road to the other, and how we ever got by each other without a serious collision still remains a mystery. But by a hair's breadth it was done, and the drunk went tearing on, yelling as he went, his car dashing along barely missing a ditch which stretched on either side of the highway.

Safety experts state that the drunken drivers have caused wrecks that have killed more than 15,000 people, and injured more than 300,000 in this country since motoring began in general.

In Ontario where there is a rising death toll from drunken drivers, the provincial government gives every motorist a printed warning that many motor accidents are the result of liquor. This warning goes on to state that it takes one-fifth of a second for a normal brain to send out the message which will enable the owner of that brain to put on the brakes in an emergency. The same process takes from two-fifths to three-fifths of a second when a man has taken an average drink. A car going 35 miles per hour will travel 20 feet in two-fifths of a second, and the government of Ontario warns drivers against liquor specifically on that point.

EXCUSE OUR CURIOSITY!

The City Commission after a short business session last Friday went into "executive session"—whatever that is. From what we can learn it is a session of a very private nature, behind closed doors, to which meeting no reporter is invited, and the proceedings of which it is considered best not to divulge to the public in general. We freely admit it might not be any of our particular business what the purpose of this particular "executive session" was, and far be it from our retiring nature to pry into anyone's private affairs. But our over-developed curiosity bump, with which all newspaper men are more or less afflicted, surely has been itching ever since last Friday. Like a mosquito bite it just will itch and there doesn't seem to be much we can do about it.

"SPORT SPASMS"

By DICK WEST, Jr.

The famous Oil Belt committee has met again and killed its prey; this time it is the Cisco Loboes. Johnny Cornell and Capt. Cornbread Ray were both ruled ineligible Wednesday night in a session that was the most crooked in the history of the Interscholastic League.

Instead of high school football being made a clean, decent sport, it has been made the sport of politicians. It seems no longer a game of clean playing and of friendliness, but a game played by players that are in turn merely guided by the crooked adverse hands of district leaders.

Being an alumnus of Cisco High School and a product of Coach Chapman in one sport, I know that this fighting little square shooting pointer is killed; his dreams of one more winner under the Lobo banners have been momentarily, and probably permanently crushed by the "closed door" policies of our "friendly neighbors," who have never settled anything in favor of Cisco. Last year when the Loboes were not conceded a chance in the district race, not a word was mentioned about the eligibility of our players. But this year it was different; the Loboes had thus far presented the most powerful offensive and defensive that has been shown in the Oil Belt's history, and were considered a practical cinch for the district. Our "friendly neighbors" saw this too, and they knew that something must be done—a policy that is characteristic of the Oil Belt district committee, for the Cisco Loboes, they seem to think, must never win.

Our hats are off to the new clubs in the district; they voted for the Cisco cause—and may their future games be successful. But the old dogs that have been in the district always peacefully and sarcastically bowed and said, "Thumbs down."

What is further irking and griping and irritating is the fact that Cisco was in favor of playing McLaughlin of Ranger and Graham of Breckenridge who were ruled out by the committee earlier in the season. What do they do but turn around and show their colors by ruining the greatest team that Cisco has ever had! Wonderful sportsmanship! Very characteristic of our "friendly neighbors." The policy is gradually killing the Oil Belt football, the hotbed of the state.

Last year Breck with its wonderful team was not even criticized by Cisco, and Coach Chapman earnestly praised and congratulated Shotwell and the Breck officials. This year a great turn was returned by the other clubs in the district, but it was a turn in another direction, and demoralized the Loboes.

One more thing—that is going to be the "fightingest" pack of Loboes that ever invaded Breck. In 1928 when Breck had her great team, the Loboes went over and went on the field crying with their backs to the wall. When the game was over, Magness, Downing & Co. were scattered all over Stephens County, and the score was 26 to 0 for the Loboes in a great upset. When the Loboes tackled that day the fans could feel the vibration away up in the stands, and when that fighting Eddleman went through

TEXAS AIMS BLOW AT AUTO TRAFFIC TOLL

Houston. — Following the lead of progressive states in the east, a movement is under way in Texas to secure the adoption of a uniform motor vehicle law. The safety department of the Houston Chamber of Commerce has taken the lead in the movement, which is being sponsored by other civic bodies over the entire state.

The bill proposed, written by Representative R. Bradley, of Houston, provides that a driver's license shall not be issued to any person under the age of 16. Chauffeur's license would not be issued to persons under 18 nor to any individual who is a habitual drunkard or addicted to narcotics.

A boy or girl over 12 years of age and under 16 may secure permission to drive a car only by this means: If two practicing physicians certify the child is physically and mentally competent to drive an automobile, and application for a permit may be granted to the applicant, who is allowed under the law, to drive an automobile until a full license is issued.

Among the grounds on which license are to be revoked are: negligent homicide, resulting from driving, driving a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, perjury in applying for a license, commission of any felony in which a motor vehicle is used, and conviction for failure to stop and disclose identity in any accident resulting in death to another party.

Local Young Ladies at Phillips Elected by Women's Council

The following item, clipped from "The Haymaker," the official publication of Phillips University, at Enid, Oklahoma, will be of interest to people here, as it makes reference to two young ladies from Cisco; Misses Eula Miley and Vera Belle Goodwin.

The organization of Phillips University Women of which every woman of the university is automatically a member, had its fall meeting Wednesday, at 11:30 in the chapel.

The purpose of the organization is to foster a spirit of unity among the women of the university and in every way to preserve the student honor.

The meeting was called to elect representatives for the Women's Council. This council is the executive board for this organization and is composed of one representative from each pep club, one from the Y. W. C. A., and two from the non-club girls. These representatives are: Violet Fairweather and Eula Miley for the non-club, Cora Belle Bridges for Zontas, Alice Hartley for Tenth Muse, Vera Belle Goodwin for Red Peppers, and Y. W. C. A. will elect theirs at the next regular meeting.

Miss Daniel and the president, Miss Mary Ruth Martin, look forward to a very successful year and wish the cooperation and interest of all the girls of the school.

the line he could easily have uprooted the gymnasium that was down at the south goal.

This year the descendants of that pack are to invade Breck. Not a man is left out of that group of Loboes. But Captain Turknett will carry on. He is one hundred and thirty pounds of dynamite, and in my opinion, if he is able to walk on the field he will show said Magness and Couser a thing or two. Personally I would hate to be in Breck's place, for when Chapman inspires his men to heights that he will inspire them to Friday it is going to look bad for anything that gets in their way.

Winter Contract Offers
REDUCED RATE
To Household Ice Users

Now that cold weather is here it is time to give attention to winter refrigeration, and this is an item that should give you very careful consideration.

Government statistics show that 50 degrees is the danger point for foods such as milk, cream, butter, etc. and the same statistics show that there are ONLY 19 DAYS PER YEAR that you can be assured of this temperature.

Knowing that ICE will maintain a temperature much lower than 50 degrees and to induce you to continue refrigeration in winter, we are making a very special proposition to you whereby you can have this refrigeration at a very low cost.

All the ice you want for $1 per month for refrigeration of 50 pounds capacity. To encourage the use of ice the year 'round we are making this extraordinary offer for the four months, November, December, January and February. During these four months we will furnish all the ice that you may require for your home refrigeration, which, of course, includes all the extra ice you desire for normal domestic use, at the following prices: Refrigerators of 50 lb. capacity, $4 for the entire four months; Refrigerators of 25 lb. capacity, $3 for the entire four months; Refrigerators of 75 lbs. capacity, $5 for the entire four months; Refrigerators of 100 lbs. capacity, $6 for the entire four months.
