OIL PROPERTIES CHANGE HANDS WEST OF TOWN

Mook Texas Co., have sold their production in the west field to the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., at a consideration reported to be around $160,000. Tom Bryant is rigging up on his deep test 4 miles north east on the T. N. Pinkston tract.

South of Cross Cut P. O. & G. are drilling at 900 feet on their Williams lease, at 525 feet they found half million feet of gas and 20 feet of sand. They will drill to Pioneer sand.

J. G. Bradstreet and Son missed pay on their Waller well west of town. Other operations not reported.

FREEZE HITS CROSS PLAINS, DOES DAMAGE

The thermometer recorded freezing temperature here last Thursday night, and ice was in evidence Friday morning. Considerable damage was reported to gardens and flowers, but some survived. It is thought that little damage was done to fruit. Some of it was killed, but it is believed that there will be plenty left as the trees were fruiting heavily.

BIG RABBIT DRIVE TUESDAY MARCH 27

The Review is requested to announce that a big rabbit drive will be made west of town on Tuesday, March 27th. Everybody invited to participate. The men are requested to meet at the Burr Branch church house early Tuesday morning with guns and ammunition, and the ladies are asked to meet at the George Scott tank with well filled baskets, where all will enjoy the noon hour.

It is real sport to take part in a rabbit drive. Most of us have had that pleasure—but those who have guns must not be too excitable, as rabbits and men get mixed some times. Rabbits are numerous now and they destroy field crops, cutting down the tender young stalks—just for the fun of the thing, it seems, and are very destructive, so this is an opportune time for a rabbit drive, and you are invited. Remember the date.

The Review is later informed that a rabbit drive will be staged north of town this Friday. The hunters will meet early at Elmer Vestals, it is stated.

Memorial Service Next Sunday at Methodist Church

Sunday, at 11 a. m. Rev. J. T. Ferguson will preach to the Ex-Service men on, "The Command of a Great General." All ex-service men are invited to form a line of march just out side the church, at 10:55.

Closing service, Subject: "Christ Identified on the Cross."

Platforms, Please!

It would be in order for the various candidates to state their platforms. Do they believe in evolution, bobbed hair, chicken ordinances and other issues of the day? No joking, we would like to know how the various candidates feel about the "ways and means" of building a greater Cross Plains on a permanent basis.

Another Rabbit Drive

Yes, we mean a real old time Shoot 'Um up Kind. Get out your old Long Tom pants, loading shot gun, bring your friend, tie your dogs, and meet us at Dressy, Tuesday March 27th, at eight o'clock a. m. Dinner will be served at Dressy, basket style, bring a well filled basket as you are sure to be hungry. B. M. Baum has agreed to serve hot coffee free to everyone. We are sure the merchants will be glad to furnish you shells at cost. Don't forget the date, and EVERY BODY COME! No rifles and no shot larger than No. 4 allowed.

H. W. Jones of Clyde, and Ernest Jones and children of Drumright, Okla., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones and Mrs. Sarah Jones Saturday.

FRIENDS FELLOW CITIZENS AND OTHERS

The Cross Plains Volunteer Fire Department wishes to call the attention of the public in general to a few City ordinances, general laws and common usages in connection with the operation of the apparatus and fighting fires.

We wish to state here that in the past we have received some very timely and valiant assistance from some of the public and we certainly appreciate those efforts and herewith extend our thanks to all who have assisted us in the past.

However, this volunteering of outsiders has gotten too general, such that it is now interfering with and retarding our work rather than helping so we are now asking the public to respect the following requests viz:

When the alarm sounds stay at home or at the place you are, and "for the love of Mike," stay away from the scene of the fire for at least the first 60 minutes.

If you are in your car, or driving, when the alarm sounds, pull up to the curb immediately and park till the Fire Trucks have gone by.

Do not get on the Trucks unless commanded to do so by a Fireman.

Do not take the nozzle of the hose unless requested to do so by a fireman, you are subject to heavy fine for doing either of the above.

If you are needed, the Firemen will call on you, otherwise stand back.

To you who dash madly to fires in your cars, will say it takes the City Marshall and a half dozen Firemen to keep you from running over the hose, and to run your vehicles over the Fire Hose is a $50.00 fine. Be reasonable. Be sensible. Keep out of the way. Stay away from fires.

If you are our friends, you will help. If you are a citizen, you will heed. If you are the others, you will be there in our way.—Cross Plains Fire Department.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED FOR CITY OFFICERS HERE

In the city election here April 3rd the names of four candidates will appear on the ticket for mayor, and twelve will be in the race for aldermen—and that will make it more interesting. A mayor and four aldermen are to be elected and that number should be easily selected from this list. Here they are:

For Mayor.

J. W. Westerman, Chas. F. Hemphill, Martin Neeb, Clyde Durling.

For Aldermen.

A. H. McCord, W. B. Baldwin, Dr. John Rumph, Ben Pearce, Macon Freeman, Russell McGowen, C. D. Anderson, Poley Williams, Martin Neeb, J. G. Aiken, Chas. F. Hemphill, Ross Wagner.

Look the above ticket over and be thinking about who you will vote for. No platforms have been announced yet, but will be perhaps, at the proper time and place.

Judge Adams Out For Re-Election

Judge W. C. Adams, justice of precinct 6, requests the Review to announce his candidacy for re-election. Your vote and influence in his behalf will be appreciated. You are invited to investigate his record of which he is justly proud. He has served honestly and efficiently, without fear or favor, and has been urged by his many friends to offer for re-election at this time.

Card of Thanks

We want to thank the citizens of Cross Plains for every kind word and deed at the time of the tragic death of our Foster son and brother, H. W. Tays. It was hard for us and we shall always treasure the many kind acts of the Christian people and the service and floral offerings of the American Legion and Ladies Auxillary.

Miss Cora Tays, 620 W. 21 St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Mr. E. C. Tays, Olmsted, Okla.

Mr. R. E. Tays, Durango, Colo.

Scout Meeting Called

All Scouts and boys desiring to join the Boy Scouts are urged to be present at the High School building at six o'clock Thursday evening.

WHY WAIT? BUILD NOW!

Are you paying rent and planning to build some time? If you are, we want to talk with you. Money invested in a home is saved, but money paid for rent is gone. If you are not able financially to build a large home, build a small one—but build a home—a place to call your own. We want to show you some of our home plans and furnish you estimates, without any obligation on your part. Call at our office or phone us.

OPLIN COMMISSIONER HERE LAST TUESDAY

Jess Carpenter, commissioner of Oplin precinct, and Mr. Burroughs of Clyde were here Tuesday, and Mr. Carpenter states that his end of the road which is being opened across south Callahan County, between Cross Plains and Oplin is progressing nicely. He is anxious for the road to be pushed to early completion, realizing what it means to this part of the county. He is co-operating splendidly with Geo. Clifton, commissioner of this precinct who is directing the work in this district. That's fine.

Ye editor has known Mr. Carpenter ever since he can remember, and can only speak well of him.

Last Friday morning, March 18, 1928, the little infant boy baby of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Henderson was buried in the Cross Plains Cemetery at 11:00 o'clock. Rev. I. T. Huckabee, pastor of the Methodist church officiating. The Review and a host of friends at Cross Plains extends to the bereaved ones their most hearty sympathy.

Mr. H. M. Boyer, who has been working in Vernon has returned home.

SNOW FALLS HERE MON MARCH 19TH

A light snow fell for and hour here Monday, but melted as it hit mother earth. It was an unusual sight at this time of the year. According to old timers, it is about as late as snow has fallen in this part of the state that they can remember, however in 1914 it is said that a two-inch snow fell on March 15th.

STREETS MARKED FOR SYSTEMATIC PARKING

The Main street here is being marked off with white paint for parking cars systematically and in order, and it will be no doubt prove to be an advantage in many ways. The parking spaces are defined and it will make it much easier to control traffic, while adding to the safety and convenience of the motoring public.

The American Legion Auxiliary featured a candy sale Saturday and enjoyed a profitable day. The Auxiliary is very active and well organized.

The Electrical Brunswick Panatrope

This is the opportunity you have been waiting for. The Panatrope plays records by electrical reproduction. The tone quality is magnificent. Serves as loud speaker for your radio as well. Complete light-socket operation. Never has the electrical-type Brunswick Panatrope been offered at so low a price. Hear it in our store.

"The Malted Milk Supreme"

TO OPEN HELPY-SELFY GROCERY AT COLEMAN

M. A. McGowen, with Ford Barnes of Santa Anna, will open a Helpy-Selfy grocery store at Coleman Saturday of next week. Mr. McGowen, who has been with the Helpy-Selfy here, will retain his interest in the Cross Plains store, but will move to Coleman to manage the store there. He is a successful groceryman with years of experience, and will succeed at Coleman. His father, W. A. McGowen, will be in charge of the store here, assisted by Jim Underwood.

It is also stated that Geo. Cunningham plans to open two Helpy-Selfy stores in San Angelo on April 7th, and will have with him, Charley Cunningham, his brother, also Lee Pool and Bob Boone of this city, it is stated. He still has his racket and dry goods store here.

Mrs. C. D. Baker and daughters Vera and Marie and Mrs. Frank King spent the week end visiting relatives in Albany.

Mrs. Russell McGowen and Miss Mary Massa spent the week end in Putnam.

LION BANQUET FOR CHARTER NIGHT, TUES.

Next Tuesday night, the Lions will have a banquet, to be enjoyed by all members and their ladies. It will be Charter night and it is hoped that each member will be present. A special program will be arranged. The Parent-Teachers will serve the plates for the evening and a delicious spread is assured. Several prominent visitors are to be present.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE AND HUDSON SEDAN

Sunday night fire of an unknown origin destroyed Olan Adams' garage and Hudson Sedan. It is understood that the car was insured, but the garage was a total loss. The fire department was called out and responded with promptness, but reached the scene too late to save the garage or car. The fire was reported at about ten o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Newton spent the week end visiting relatives in Rising Star.

SAFE AND CONVENIENT

In olden times people secretly buried their money, but banking has added to the safety and convenience of business transaction. You may deposit your money with us where it is safe, and have the convenience of a checking account—plus a personal service we are pleased to render. So, why carry your money on your person or hide it away at home, when you may have this service, which it is our pleasure to give each depositor.

THE RETURN of ANTHONY TRENT

STORY FROM THE START

Anthony Trent returns to New York after nearly four years' absence. Once known as the master criminal, Trent is going straight. The pursuer accuses Trent of jumping overboard from the Poltania at Liverpool, but is disappointed when Trent shows no surprise. He learns his friend, Capt. Frank Sutton, is in Sing Sing. At New York Trent is started to find somebody occupying his house. The stranger is Sutton Campbell, the brother of his best friend, who is serving ten years in prison. Trent is asked by Campbell to force Payson Grant to a written confession, having crookedly obtained all of Captain Sutton's possessions and later married his wife. Trent, after long hesitation, consents. Trent starts on a campaign to accomplish the downfall of Payson Grant. He learns from an old friend, Clarke, that Captain Sutton has escaped from Sing Sing, and also learns that Captain Sutton has no brother. Coming home one evening threatening to expose Campbell Sutton, Trent finds, to his great surprise, that Campbell is the escaped Captain Sutton.

Neither of them knew that Sutton's large mining interests in South America were in a perilous state from the beginning of the World War in 1914. Sutton carried his burdens alone. And when he knew he was to go overseas and had those premonitions of death which are as often wrong as right, he made over nearly all of his fortune to his wife. And to Payson Grant he gave larger control of the office. There was an old and trusted book-keeper who was left to watch. This aged and deserving keeper of accounts was dismissed by Payson Grant while Sutton was still on the troop ship, eastward bound. His protests were ineffectual. The old watch-dogs who had the traditions of an honorable firm in their blood followed the head bookkeeper.

It was fortunate for Grant that a loaded revolver was found in Sutton's pocket when he was dragged from beholding the man who had wronged him. It was, to begin with, an infraction of the Sullivan act and as such punishable with seven years' imprisonment as a maximum. And every minute of the trial swelled Grant's ultimate triumph. It had been easy to buy false testimony from a former maid as to cruelty. And Sutton insulted the judge and turned the jurors against him. It seemed that fate, after smiling on Sutton's career and bringing him fortune and honor, was now bent on his utter destruction.

Considering Sutton's long absence abroad, and the martyred years his wife had spent, the divorce and marriage to Payson Grant seemed to the sympathetic world neither hurried nor unjustified. And, since Payson Grant had plenty of money to indulge his tastes, and had not yet met a woman he liked more than Natica, happiness seemed in a fair way to be a settled state.

Then Frank Sutton escaped from Sing Sing and, notwithstanding the precautions Grant had surrounded himself with, he was uneasy.

"Nat," he said, coming up to the room where she was breakfasting in bed, "Frank has got out of Sing Sing!"

Her alarm was not so noticeable as his.

"They always capture them," she observed. That he was troubled did not escape her. She knew he was physically afraid of her ex-husband. But the modern society woman is not to be won by the hard-hitting male as are the women of other spheres. She thought fighting was a stupid, archaic practice and counseled Payson to get a permit to carry a revolver.

"You think he'll come here?" she demanded. A vulgar brawl which might be seized upon by the Saffron Press distressed her immeasurably. Why couldn't Frank stay in prison, she wondered. He had been tried and convicted. She felt she would always detest her former husband for the notoriety he had brought her. It was quite easy for her to forget that she was the cause. All emotions of a violent nature were wrinkle-producing, she believed.

"He's after me," Payson said gloomily. "And he may get me."

"Not if you're careful," she said. "Frank was always a most obvious person without subtleties or nuances of any kind. The sort of man who remains a grownup boy is fatiguing. He is just as likely to ring the front door bell and ask you to step into the hall and be killed."

Payson Grant frowned. This was calumnious he did not suspect.

"D—n it, Nat," he expostulated, "you might be serious. I tell you Frank is a whole lot deeper than you ever suspected."

"Dear boy," Natica pleaded, "you are trifling with my digestion. I've a most important luncheon party and I want to feel at my best. Don't worry about it. I'm not."

"You rake it altogether too lightly," he said, frowning. He started as he heard a knock on the door.

"It's probably Mademoiselle Dupin," Natica told him. "I take an hour's conversational French now."

A quietly dressed woman entered. He hardly glanced at her. It was the lady of distinguished French family who was to enable his wife to converse in polite and idiomatic French. She had set her mind on a chateau near Paris next year and the capture of the old noble.

Although Natica Grant allowed her husband to think she was not concerned about Sutton's escape, it in truth, bothered her more than she admitted. When he had been sentenced, and public interest had centered upon other matters of the moment, she supposed the scandal would soon be forgotten. And now there was to be more of it. It might conceivably injure her in her campaign against the noble.

Since two weeks had gone by without the apprehension of Frank Sutton and the police confessed themselves without clues of value, Mrs. Grant hoped he had escaped. He had spent some of his early years in South America at his father's mining property, and knew a little Spanish. Frank was one of those strong men who could readily do laboring work. Payson was different; he could not trudge like her present husband in overalls.

Payson, for all his air of carelessness about the result, was in secret eaten by dire fears. He added two alrealdes of blood to his establish-ment. He bought them because they were one-man does, he had heard, and turned them loose at night in the grounds. He was their first victim. The fact that he had paid for them was, perhaps, not sufficiently impressed on the cine intelligence, for they freed him as he crossed from the house to the garage to tell Regan his head chauffeur, that a police officer had warned him of a pilfering tramp in the neighborhood.

Natica was shown this new and nervous mood when he threatened to assault a small, defenseless man who had called to inquire if the new porch was satisfactory.

"You are drinking too many cocktails between meals," she said.

"It may be I am," he returned. "I feel shot to bits, and that's a fact. Nat. H—I!" he exploded, speaking truth for the moment, "Frank got a rotten deal all round, and some one's got to suffer."

"A judge sentenced him. I didn't," she said coldly. She had convinced herself that Sutton merited punishment, and Payson's imputation seemed both annoying and false.

Grant had not been so anxious to leave his own country for the unfriended delights of the French chateau as Natica. But he found a new pleasure in the idea now. He could be more inviolate in the Chateau St. Remy-les-Chevreuse than in Deal Beach. It had its consolations, being only an hour's motor trip from Paris. He told his wife he was ready to go whenever she pleased.

"We shall stop here for the summer," she said. "We've invited too many people to run away like that. Also, I've sworn my accent shall be perfect before I go."

Never during the long hours in which Frank Sutton spoke of the wrongs he had endured at the hands of Payson Grant did he use the threats which Campbell Sutton had swung over the head of Anthony Trent like a club. In one mood of despondency he advised Trent to give up an idea born of hate that the atmosphere of prison nurtures. But he had reckoned without his friend's loyalty.

The spectacle of Frank Sutton brought to the dust, his name dishonored, the woman he loved married to the man who had doubly betrayed him, was not of a nature to lessen Trent's determination to inflict punishment. And it was not to be an act solely of vengeance. He resolved to vindicate Sutton's name. He was not sure how this would affect the convict's status legally; but there would be money enough to retain the best of counsel, and in the end no doubt a pardon could be won.

"I shall seek quarters in a more fashionable locality," he told Sutton. "While I want nothing better than this, it is not from Central Park West, that those who storm society proceed."

At a house agent's whose clientele was a distinguished one Trent learned of several furnished apartments for subtenancy along the Avenue. He was looking at one in the rear of the house in the Fifties.

"I'd like one facing the Avenue," he remarked. "Is the one in front occupied?"

"That belongs to young Stratford Van Boden," the agent said. "I let it to him, but he's abroad now."

Trent knew a good bit about this youngest disappointment of one of America's most celebrated families. He had likeable qualities, but little moral stamina. And of course his enormous fortune had attracted to him the least worthy if most fascinating of the demi-monde.

"Would he be subtle?"

The house agent was doubtful. He considered it unlikely because the monetary need did not exist.

"He is always hard up," Trent remarked. "I'll send a cable."

It was a costly cable and the answer prepaid. Stratford remembered Anthony Trent well and was pinched for ready money. The terms were generous ones and acceptable.

Within a week of meeting Frank Sutton, Trent was established in the most luxurious apartments he had ever seen; the home of one whose place in society was unquestioned.

It was Trent's first step. He had paid attention to his base as military tactics had instilled in him the advisability of doing. The advance was his next problem. He found in Van Boden's rooms the members' list of all the exclusive clubs a Van Boden need belong to. They were clubs to which Trent could not hope to enter other than as a guest. He was not deceived as to this.

He glanced down the columns with interest. Presently he found the name he was searching for. It was in the most exclusive young man's club New York possesses.

Anthony Trent remembered very well his first meeting with Swithin Weld. He had gone into the super-super smart Bachelors' club in Hamilton place, Park Lane, with his friend, Arthur Grenvil. At dinner he was among a group of men of rank and fashion. And, since so many foreigners imagine all Americans of a type fit to be guests at such a club as the Bachelors' must be glad to meet one another, Swithin Weld was introduced to his fellow countryman by a marquis who thought they would fall into one another's arms.

Swithin Weld had never heard of Trent, and said so. He remarked it in a tone that was not conciliatory. He thought he knew every eligible American. Those he did not know were not eligible socially. Weld supposed that this Anthony Trent was one of those Americans, to be met with all over Europe, who have a genius for understanding alien people, and welcome visitors in great houses, and visit their own country but rarely.

One night, after a successful day at Sandown, Weld had gone to one of the most notorious supper clubs in London. There he had taken too much champagne for one of his temperate habits, and had been inveigled into a secluded cardroom where three experts had taken what he had won at the races, and left him heavily in debt. It was while the winners were waiting for the check which he hesitated to draw because he had not sufficient balance at the bank to meet it, that Trent came along. Trent knew the men with whom Weld was playing to be notoriously crooked. Apparently the gamblers would not accept L. O. U.'s. To obtain a check drawn when funds were not in the bank to meet it was a serious offense in London, and would enable them to make the Weld family pay through the nose for its return. The sum was two thousand pounds.

Trent strolled over and spoke amiably to his fellow countryman, ignoring the snappers' entirely.

Marvelous How Birds Wing Back to Home

Bird lovers have believed for centuries that migratory birds return to the same home, year after year. Modern science has proved this belief to be right. Birds are caught in traps that do not hurt them, marked with tiny leg bands of aluminum, each bearing a number, and released. Next year, the same birds are caught again in the same locality, often when occupying the same nest.

Evidently, a bird's memory for direction and location must be quite as marvelous as the older writers believed. The catbird winters as far south as Panama, yet catbirds marked in northern Ohio came back to the same neighborhood, year after year.

Sometimes they move a few rods or furlongs, but the frequency with which they return to the very spot is astounding.

Cats find their way back to the old home across a township, horses across a county or two, and dogs have been known to pass through several states in returning to a beloved master, but birds find their way across a continent, and sometimes over a sea at well.

Human Brain Waves Like Those of Radio

Abbe Moreau, one of the greatest scientists in France, declares that radio-telegraphy and mental telepathy seem to be identical processes.

"Scientists," he says, "think today that the various waves in the atmosphere are of an electric nature at their base, and that all atoms, including those forming our brains, emit waves similar to those sent out by radio stations, and that they are capable of influencing appropriate receivers.

"According to our capacity we receive—generally without knowing it—an infinite number of radiations of all sorts that affect our brain cells, and, by their intermediary, our intelligence and our nervous system; and in the same way solar activity acts not only on individuals but on all people at the same time. I showed as far back as 1910 that the great wars always followed large sunspots."

What Doctors Think of the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the conditions with some laxative made with CASCARETS, there is nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless cascars, here's some truly valuable advice:

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowel's muscular action, but does NOT weaken. A violent laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more on the morrow. With cascara, you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid, as time goes on. So, the very next time you feel sluggish,

T. P. PERKINS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS

T. P. Perkins of Mineral Wells, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Seventeenth District of Texas. Mr. Perkins was born on a farm in Tarrant County, Texas, in 1883, and received his education in the public schools at Mount Pleasant, at Austin College, Sherman, Texas, and at the State University at Austin. For three years, 1905 to 1908, he taught in the public schools of this state—1905 to 1907 at Ferris, Texas, and the term of 1907-1908 at Grapeland, Houston County—earning a sufficient amount therefrom to complete his education in the Law Department of Texas University, where he graduated receiving his L. L. B. Degree in 1910.

After having been admitted to the bar in 1910, Mr. Perkins commenced his career as a Lawyer that year at Snyder, Scurry County, Texas and continued his practice there until 1915 when he moved to Palo Pinto County. Since 1915 he has resided in Palo Pinto County and continuously followed his chosen profession in that county enjoying a splendid practice. Mr. Perkins is an outstanding lawyer of his section of the state and has for many years taken a prominent part in civic and political affairs.

In 1912, Mr. Perkins married Miss Grace Cunningham, a daughter of the late J. L. Cunningham of Palo Pinto. He is a member of the Christian church and is a teacher of a Bible Class in the Central Christian church of Mineral Wells.

The statement of Mr. Perkins relative to the principal planks in his platform is as follows:—
"In announcing my candidacy for Congress from the Seventh District of Texas, I hereby submit to the Democratic voters of such district the following issues for their consideration, which issues I deem to be important at this time.

Federal Reserve Bank
At the two different hearings held in the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas for the purpose of investigating complaints against the present management of the bank, at which hearing I was present and it was my pleasure to represent the complaining bankers as a patriotic duty, it was shown that the management was unsympathetic toward the banks located in the smaller towns of the Eleventh Federal District, which includes all of Texas, and that they had taken the position that banks should not lend money to farmers to assist them in the making of their crops, but such banks should invest their deposits in government securities and commercial paper. It was further shown that on June 29, 1927, when the local loans of banks was at its peak, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas had approximately ten times as much money invested in government securities and paper purchased in the open market, commercial paper, the majority of which had its origin outside this district, than it had in rediscounts to member banks, $36,847,000.00 representing the first class and $3,802,000.00 representing the latter. It is my contention that a continuation of such policies will seriously cripple the agricultural and live stock interests of this section and will greatly retard the development of this, the western section of Texas. This is a question of vital importance to you.

By the re-election of the governor and other officers over such evidence and in the face thereof, by a six to three vote, the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank have approved these actions and policies of the governor and have made his policies their policies.

The resolution now pending in the House of Representatives should be passed in order that Congress may be advised of the present conditions in the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas to the end that legislation shall be passed remedying the present situation and preventing a recurrence of such conditions.

I further approve the principle of the bill now pending before Congress placing a limitation on the salaries of Federal Reserve Bank employees, the governor of which banks now receive as high as $50,000.00 per annum and secondary officers as high as $40,000.00 per annum, and here state that in my opinion such salaries should be cut not less than fifty per cent.

State Rights.
I am a firm believer in the Jeffersonian doctrine of state rights. If a halt is not made in the encroachment of the Federal Government upon the powers reserved by the states under the terms of the Federal Constitution, the time is not far distant when the sovereignty of the several states will be destroyed, and this government will be one of the centralized powers. The sovereign rights of the states must be restored and respected.

Tariff Revision.
I am a firm believer in the Democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue only as a general proposition, but if a protective tariff is placed on manufactured products, which are the articles of purchase in this section, then justice and right require that the raw products should be protected in a like manner. Our people of this section should not be required to purchase on a market competing with the cheap markets of the world.

National Defense.
This country will never wage a war of aggression or a war for the purpose of territorial expansion. However, that does not mean that we will never be drawn into a war with some other nation. In order that we might be prepared to meet any nation or nations that may look upon this country as a prey and to defend ourselves from invasions of nations inclined to war, I hold that we should maintain a small army, build sufficient aircraft to provide for the adequate defense of the nation and to maintain sufficient navy to protect our shores and commensurate with the standing of this nation as a world power.

I am not in sympathy with and have no patience with the present invasion of Nicaragua and believe that we should in no wise interfere with the internal affairs of other nations, however small they be. The principle is wrong and I am against it in every way.

Cancellation of Foreign Debts.
This government has already made offers of cancellation of a large portion of the debts owed by foreign nations, in some instances as much as fifty per cent, and to the extent that the remainder of the debts not offered to be cancelled represents only the funds loaned to such foreign countries since the war for rehabilitation and not for the conduct of the war. I am not in favor of a further reduction of such debts, for honesty and justice demand that such debts be paid.

Eighteenth Amendment.
I am a life-long prohibitionist. I know that prohibition is the best thing for this country and its citizenship. Therefore, I stand four-square for the Eighteenth Amendment and all laws enacted placing it in force. I also believe in a rigid enforcement of prohibition laws, whether state or national, to the end that the illegal sale of intoxicants may be absolutely prohibited within the confines of this nation. I regret the effort that is being made to nullify the Eighteenth Amendment to our Constitution and have no sympathy with such a movement and as your Representative in Congress, I shall do everything in my power to uphold the letter and spirit of this great law.

Women's Rights.

Of equal importance to the Eighteenth Amendment with regard to the welfare of this nation is the Nineteenth Amendment which conferred on the womanhood of this nation the right of suffrage. I have always believed in the political equality of the manhood and womanhood of this nation and believe that as the women of this country come more and more to the exercising of the right of suffrage just in such proportion will the affairs of government be run with honesty and intelligence. It is also my firm conviction that women engaged in the same character of employment as men should receive the same amount of compensation. I see no reason for it to be otherwise.

Adjusted Compensation for War Veterans.

I stand for an extension of the time for adjusted compensation claims to be made and filed by World War veterans. I further believe that this government, rich as it is, should adequately care for and provide for all disabled and crippled veterans.

In conclusion I desire to state that I am a democrat and stand for a government of, for and by the people. I further adhere to the rule of the majority as expressed at the ballot box and in favor of party government. If the democracy of this Congressional District sees fit to place me as its representative in the National House of Representatives I shall always strive to carry out the expressed wishes of my constituency and to do that which is for the best interest of the district I represent.

Very respectfully,
T. P. PERKINS.

CALLAHAN CO. FARMERS PLAN WAR ON WOLVES

At a meeting held March 3, of farmers and stockmen a Callahan County wolf club was organized with the purpose of exterminating the wolves of the county. The depredation of these animals is costing the county thousands of dollars yearly and in some sections of the county people are prevented from raising turkeys and poultry while the sheep and cattle men are suffering big losses annually. At this meeting a second meeting was proposed and the date set for March 7th. Delegates from every section of the county were invited and practically every section was represented when president W. P. Snage called the meeting to order.

The need of the organization was first discussed by those present and it was the opinion of every one that the organization was greatly needed in the county.

Plans of work were discussed and a committee appointed to draft a constitution and by laws. A bounty system was agreed upon as this system has proven the most effective in other counties that have carried this work on successfully. The club then took up the question of raising funds for the carrying on of the work.

The club agreed that all persons owning or controlling land in any manner in Callahan county would be asked to subscribe the amount of one cent per acre per year on all lands that they owned or controlled or had in their charge. This amount is small and will not work a hardship on any one but will amount to a nice sum of money collectively and will enable the club to pay a good bounty on wolves and wild cats.

Petitions were then given to representatives from the different sections of the county to present to the citizens asking them to subscribe this amount.

This step is necessary due to the fact that by law the county is not allowed to raise a sum of money sufficient to carry on this work on as extensive a scale as necessary at this time. However it is expected that the county will co-operate in carrying on this work as much as possible.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 28 at 10:30 at Baird, and will be an open meeting and everyone interested is invited to attend. If the committeemen have received the support of the citizens of the county as it is hoped that they will begin operations about April 1st. The club is planning on paying the following bounties: Female wolves, $7.50; male wolves, $5.00; pups, $2.50; wild cats, $2.50; wild cat kittens, $1.00.

This of course depends upon the success of the committeemen in raising funds, but it is hoped that the citizens of the county will co-operate with them and help put this move over successfully.

W. E. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Butler motored to Brownwood Sunday to visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. Porter Henderson.

Review Has Birthday

This week the Review passed another mile stone, entering upon its 40th year under the same name. It has had many ups and downs—but the general trend has been up, and we hope that it may have a part in every worth while undertaking in our town and community through the years to come.

This week five years ago ye editor landed in Cross Plains, and we have found our task a pleasant one, and fully appreciate the loyalty the home people have manifested toward the Review. It has made it possible for us to grow and develop along with the town.

Bill Ogilby of Rock Springs is visiting here this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Conlee, a fine boy, Sunday, March 18th.

E. D. Priest was called to Chicago Wednesday to be at the bedside of his brother who is critically ill.

Frank L. Green of Pioneer, is building a modern home in the Highland Park addition, we are pleased to note. Watch Cross Plains grow.

Parents Interest in Cross Plains Schools

A. Renerick Clark,
Special Correspondent.

Education is our most valuable form of capital. It is that which can be obtained only with the expenditure of time by concentrated study. It is the accumulation of scientific knowledge and the training of the human mind.

Life and wealth may be taken from an individual but there is only one way in which an education may be lost—that is by death. When once obtained it is kept for life and proves a most valuable asset. It should be the desire and duty of every parent to see that their child obtains this great asset. The value of being learned should be constantly taught to children and the advantages pictured to them so vividly that a desire is created in their minds to study and rise high in the eyes of the public.

It is not a parents duty alone to be in a community where schools are located unless they realize that their child should attend that school. So often is the case where parents do not realize the worth of every school day to the child. When son or daughter is needed to help at home or do a bit of work at town, it is the parent who gives permission to be away. For each day missed both knowledge and capital is lost. When children are allowed to be absent periods and days, later when they get in the higher grades, they will want to be away more and more until finally it will be hard to teach them the benefits of schoolings and if they go to school at all, it will be because they are being forced and they will have no desire to study and will not learn.

Many people do not try to aid their children in their school work. If the child has the initiative to go forward, he works problems out for himself, and under heavy difficulties and large odds succeeds. If parents do not take an interest in their children's work, how, then, are they expected to keep interested? Even though one has but a slight education himself, he should study with the child and show interest in order to help it along.

Concentration is the secret of success and should be stressed by parents. A child is not to be blamed when lessons are unprepared the following day if it is bothered by noises and not given a chance to think. When one is attempting to prepare lessons, all unnecessary noises should be stopped.

The superintendent and teachers of schools welcome parents and extend invitation again and again for them to visit their children at school, yet but few ever go to the schoolhouse unless they are to see a football game or show. Reports are given out monthly and but few even ask to see them. When grades are low, school teachers ask that the parents consult them and find out the reason for such grades and what should be done to help the student increase them. Sometimes one or two come to see about the progress of the child. The others seem not to care for the low grades. They are not interested enough in the child's education and do not care to see it increase its knowledge. There is no wonder that they hate to pay the school tax each year when their children are not learning anything.

It is easy to see faults of another, but if you are looking at your own child, your vision is not so clear. The teachers are your friends and have the interest of their pupils at heart. When they are corrected, it is for the child's good. If all school children were allowed to do as they pleased and run the school themselves, one can imagine the happenings that would take place. It is the delight of some students to cut classes or be absent to see a show for they think that they're putting something by their teacher. It would be much better for the school authorities and students themselves if parents would realize that the teachers are trying to help their pupils and that any punishment that they might give them is usually deserving and seldom enough. Excuses for absence should not be given to students who wantonly remain out of school since this encourages loafing and their desire to remain out of school.

That is a true proverb which is wont to be commonly quoted, "all had rather it were well for themselves than for another." Do not be greedy and think of self alone, but think of others, too. Co-operate and work with the school officials, get the interest of your child at heart, and in time you will have moments in which to be proud.

Mr. and Mrs. James Love, who have been in Odessa for several weeks, where Mr. Love is establishing a Ford agency, are in town this week preparatory to moving to Odessa. Mr. Love still owns the Ford agency here.

J. A. Cole of Rising Star has accepted position as dry goods manager at Higginbothams', and will assume his duties April 1st, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of J. Q. Barnes, who goes to Santa Anna where he and Sherman Gehrett have purchased a dry goods business. Mrs. Cole has also accepted position to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Pinney, who goes to Santa Anna to be associated with Barnes & Gehrett. Mr. Cole has been in business at Rising Star for some time, and also at other points. He has a wide business experience, especially in dry goods line.

Lord, give me the chance to do my part,
In life's great hustling game
With a cheerful face and a happy heart
And never a hint of shame.
Whatever my talents may lead me to
No matter how humble the goal:
O, give me the courage to put it through
With body and mind and soul!

Lord, give me the power to do my best,
Whatever my work may be;
And give me the strength to stand the test
Of troubles that come to me.
Yea, give me an eager hand and heart
In the face of toil and strife,
And the will to always do my part
In the bustling game of Life!

Lord, give me the grace to play the game
In the manner that's always fair:
In a manly way, that's free from blame,
And is ever upon the square.
And when my last hard battle is fought,
And the goal is fairly won—
Let me go to sleep with the restful thought
Of a race that's been well run!

On Tuesday night of last week a large crowd heard the Negro Missionaries, Rev. and Mrs. C. T. George and adopted daughter Maud, from Liberia, Africa. All seemed to enjoy the talks very much as they were interesting talkers, the little girl had such a bad cold and was so hoarse she could hardly talk. They sang some songs and told quite a lot about Africa, the country and people.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Freedland motored to Fort Worth last week.

At the evening hour he addressed a group of young people from the Parable of The Prodigal Son.

Mr. Flinn Johnson was taken to the Cenley Sanitarium at Santa Anna Wednesday, March 14th, where he underwent an operation for Catarrh Appendicitis. He is doing fairly well at present and would appreciate a visit from his friends.

On last Wednesday, Uncle Charley McDermitt, his two sons, Oscar and Carlos, and grand son, H. H., started to Fort Worth in Uncle Charley's Hupp sedan. On the highway between Cisco and Eastland the car overturned in the ditch, badly wrecking the body. Uncle Charley was cut about the face with glass and Oscar received some minor injuries. They were rushed to Cisco by a passing motorist where they received first aid treatment, after which they drove back to their homes.

Africa and America Linked By World's Latest Radio Service

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Sends First Message
From Liberia To Rubber Company's Own
Station In Akron—Daily Reports On Rubber Growth To Follow

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone, Junior, in the African jungles, today broadcasted the first message sent from the special radio station recently erected on the Firestone rubber plantation in the interior of Liberia, on the West Coast of Africa. The message was received at a similar station on the roof of the Firestone factories at Akron, Ohio.

This marks a new era of communication with the interior of inaccessible countries. Heretofore, the method used was to send foot messengers through jungle trails, taking days to get in touch with the outside world. Broadcasting by radio direct from one continent to another thus gives the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. a great advantage in developing its million acres of rubber lands that were secured from the Liberian government. Although these properties are located over 5,000 miles from the Firestone headquarters at Akron, Ohio, it will now be possible to send reports every day by radio from the Liberian plantations to Akron.

100,000 Acres Laid Out

Mr. Firestone, Jr., has been in Liberia since early January. In his first report by radio today, he said that the Liberian government officials were enthusiastically cooperating with Firestone in the company's great undertaking to make Liberia one of the important rubber-growing countries of the world. Mr. Firestone said that during the first year two 50,000-acre plantations had been laid out, one on the Du river and the other 150 miles south of the Du on the Cavalla river.

Firestone engineers in the same time had constructed over 75 miles of roads and had built and established headquarters on the two plantations, with housing facilities for the resident staffs of 113 Americans. Power plants for the development of electric power, light and refrigeration had been built, as well as hospitals and trade stores for the benefit of the Americans and also to supply the needs of the 15,000 natives who are employed in clearing the jungles and planting rubber trees.

1,500,000 Trees Planted

During the past year, according to Mr. Firestone's first radio report, over 1,500,000 rubber trees have been planted on a total of over 15,000 acres of cleared jungle lands. This is a record in rubber plantation work. It is the largest number of trees set out and acres planted by any single company in the same length of time. And Mr. Firestone stated that the rate of progress in clearing land and planting rubber trees is being constantly increased.

Mr. Firestone reported that the steamship sent over for service had been placed in commission along the Liberian coast and is now linking up the Firestone plantations and the coast towns of Liberia. He expressed the hope that Firestone will soon have its own vessels operating directly between New York and Liberia, making the Atlantic passage in less than two weeks. When this is done, it will not only give Firestone an advantage of from two to five weeks in time as compared with other rubber-growing countries, but will also greatly reduce the cost of transportation.

Teach Natives Trades

Great progress in the development of the Firestone trade schools was also reported. Mr. Firestone said that the natives were very anxious to learn under the instruction of the Firestone technical staff. The dark-bued Liberians are being taught to be carpenters, blacksmiths, plumbers, electricians, automobile mechanics, sanitary engineers, soil experts and foresters.

Now that the Liberians, for the first time in the history of the country, have a system of good roads, they are suddenly becoming enthusiastic about motor transportation, and they all want to ride in automobiles, trucks or tractors. As a result, Monrovia, the capital of Liberia, has established a traffic squad to police the traffic on its principal streets. When the Firestone company went into Liberia, there were no roads in the country, and only one automobile. This was owned by the President of Liberia, who had very little occasion to use it because of the absence of good roads.

When Mr. Firestone arrived at the Du river plantation, he was greeted as the "Great White Chief" by many thousands of Firestone native employees who had erected a great arch of leaves and ferns at the entrance of the property and lined the road on both sides as he drove through eleven miles of the plantation to headquarters.

$5,000,000 Loan to Liberia

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone, Sr., has successfully arranged a $5,000,000 loan in America for the Liberian government. This places Liberia on a firm financial basis, and permits the development of roads, schools and public buildings. The 113 Americans comprising the Firestone technical staff are helping to organize the 2,000,000 or more native Liberians and give them remunerative employment which had not been hitherto available in their own country. The natives are proving very adaptable and willing to work in an organized way. This has made possible the clearing and planting of such a large acreage during the past year and has undoubtedly had a very appreciable effect in the recent reduction in the price of crude rubber.

European newspapers have carried many articles deriding Firestone for going into Africa to plant rubber. They claimed the soil was poor for rubber growing and that the natives would not work. The British government now realizes that Firestone's Liberian enterprise is anything but a folly. It is conceded by everybody that Firestone has made the greatest rubber development ever accomplished by any single company in the same length of time. Liberia confronts the British and Dutch rubber growers as an increasingly important competitor. And now the British Parliament is seriously considering the question of abandoning or at least modifying the rubber restriction policy.

The British colonies in the Middle East have vigorously expressed themselves along this line. Ceylon has voted to abandon rubber restriction entirely. In Singapore, Straits Settlements, 47 out of 72 rubber growers have voted to abandon rubber restriction or to modify it so it would not be effective. When Premier Baldwin brought up the question of modifying rubber restriction in the British Parliament, rubber was selling around 42 cents a pound. Within a few weeks it dropped about 18 cents a pound. Since a variation of 1 cent a pound means a difference of over $8,000,000 a year to American rubber buyers, the decline from 42 to 24 cents a pound will mean a saving of $150,000,000 a year to America if the present price is maintained.

FEMININE NOTE IN SPRING HATS; THE GAY SCARF NOW IS POPULAR

TO ACCOMPANY the feminine trend in costume design, hats must likewise take on more "fuss and feathers" and beguiling details. That they are bowing to the inevitable there is no doubt. The full extent of this movement toward elaboration will, perhaps, not be realized until midsummer creations make their debut. Nevertheless the spring chapeau is staging a prologue which conveys in no uncertain terms the prophecy of more color, more hand-work, more ribbon, flowers, ornaments and feather fanes.

The new felts have especially caught the spirit of ornamentation not only in a trimming way, but in the matter also of contour of the actual shapes themselves. Fantastic eye brow outlines, such as that achieved in the helmet-shaped felt at the top of this group, prevail among the newest: hat modes. It bears a rich embroidery, in a motif which is done in colored thread and metal, worked into a solid geometrical pattern.

There is a noticeable tendency toward straws which will reach its full development with the coming of summer. Many soft straws are manipulated like fabric or felt with creases, tucks and drapes. Such a straw "spring bonnet" is shown to the left in this picture. Not only does ribbon artfully handled, play a part in its decoration, but the top crown is handsomely appliqued with a colorful straw-and-embroidery motif.

Crochet visca is also an outstanding favorite in spring millinery. When it is black, embroidered with white angora wool, as is the close-fitting shape to the right in this collection, it is sure to win its way into the affections of the woman who is alert to chic and charm.

Straw designed in scrolls in connection with tiny satin circlets plays a thriller! Consider first its color which is exotic, daring, beguiling and flamboyant, and the picture is not overprinted. As to its patterning the new-mode scarf keeps up with the pace set for it by its coloring, in that artist designers thrust curves and angles of modernistic motif before the eye with all the fervor of Twentieth century enthusiasm.

Color and design stage only two-thirds of the sensational drama as played by the scarf in fashion's realm today. The third act has to do with manner of wearing and it registers one climax after another of daring eccentricities and pleasing situations.

It seems that squares and triangles lend themselves best to unusual scarf treatments, which perhaps accounts for their pre-eminence in the mode. Nor does fashion stop at a single scarf of this type, prescribing some times the wearing of several to complete the picture. Of course one must know just how to juggle two or three at a time, but it can be done, is being done, in ways which lend a note of fascinating interest to the spring costume.

Two scarfs, one knotted about the shoulder, the other tied about the hips in gypsy-girlie fashion, is the latest thing for sports wear. The tennis costume adds a third matching scarf, the same wrapped about the head in bandanna fashion.

One Way of Wearing the Gay Scarf.

its part in imbuing the felt hat centered below, with a springlike atmosphere. The rhinestone ornament adds a glittering note.

Flowers spread their silken petals over the crown of the springtime straw cloche last in this illustration. The dainty shadow veil adds its touch of femininity.

Not a dull moment in the life of the fashionable scarf! Every act of the newest "stunts" in scarf treatments is shown in the picture. Very simple "when you know how." The idea is to tie only one corner of a large silk square about the throat, letting the major part stream down to one side in a series of graceful jabot like cascades. When a scarf is polka dotted it reaches the height of chic.

New Energy for Boys in Two Weeks!

When children are weak and ailing, you can't drug them back to health. A boy or girl who could eat a whole pound of figs every day would soon be the picture of health—but children won't diet. California fig syrup is the solution. No girl or boy has ever tired of it yet. If you start giving this delicious, fruity syrup they will never let you forget their daily treat. Within three weeks you will realize what Nature and natural aids can accomplish for children. You'll have a boy who's as hard as nails, or a girl who is fairly blooming. Look at their tongues only three or four days after this fruity, rich syrup has sweetened-up the system; no coating, even the morning; no hint of fetid breath, no matter what things are eaten. All the tonics in the world can't energize and stabilize a child like genuine California fig syrup, nor will you ever have to give anything else for the bowels. Regular elimination commences with the first spoonful of this perfectly natural regulator; if the harsh cathartic habit has already fastened on your child, fig syrup will soon end all need of stronger measures. A few drops will do the same for a bilious baby. Two weeks or less will tell the story, and sixty cents buys a generous bottle. Just be sure it is the genuine product; in asking for it say "California."

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin" Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you pre-paid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

REVIEW—JESUS PROCLAIMS THE KINGDOM OF GOD

GOLDEN TEXT—And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the Kingdom, and healing their sickness and every disease.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Stories About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Mark's Stories About Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Began His Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S AND ADULT TOPIC—The Early Ministry of Jesus.

The method of review must always be determined by the genius of the teacher, the grade of the school, and the aptitude of the pupil. For the senior and adult classes perhaps the most profitable method will be to summarize the facts of each lesson and to study the main teaching thereof. Since the great personality around which all the facts and teachings of the quarter gather is Jesus Christ, it ought not to be difficult to plan a review. Whatever plan is used, the teacher should have the matter thought out and assignment made to the different scholars a week ahead of time. The following suggestions are made:

Lesson for January 1. John the Baptist came in fulfillment of Isaiah's prophecy announcing the advent of the Messiah. The leading lesson is that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, as witnessed by John the Baptist and the Voice from the open heavens.

Lesson for January 8. Jesus taught with authority and demonstrated it by conquering demons, healing a fever, and cleansing a leper. Jesus Christ is able to save unto the uttermost, to deliver from all kinds of sickness and satanic powers.

Lesson for January 15. Jesus freely gave Himself to the task of healing the diseases of the people and forgiving their sins, and the leading lesson is that Jesus has not only power to heal the diseases of the body but to forgive sin, which is the cause of disease.

Lesson for January 22. Jesus lived His life in conformity with God's law. Conflict with the Jews over the matter of Christ's disregard of their laws of fasting and the Sabbath was due either to their failure to understand God's law or to its perversion. Human welfare can be realized only through conformity to God's law.

Lesson for January 29. With the increase of the fame of Jesus came increase of opposition. In spite of the opposition by His enemies He continued His mighty works in casting out demons and ministering to those in need.

Lesson for February 5. Jesus was misunderstood by His friends, His family and fellow townsmen, and violently opposed by the scribes and Pharisees. A spiritual nature is necessary in order to understand Christ.

Lesson for February 12. Jesus showed Himself the master teacher in picturing truth concerning His kingdom so as to conceal the truth from those who were not in sympathy with Him and by interpretation to be understood by His disciples.

Lesson for February 19. Jesus' deity was manifested in calming the storm-tossed sea and in healing the demoniac. Because of what Jesus is we should confide in Him.

Lesson for February 26. Jesus raised from the dead Jairus' daughter and healed the woman who had been afflicted for twelve years. Only a divine being could raise the dead.

Lesson for March 4. Jesus called twelve men and sent them forth to preach the gospel of the kingdom. Those sent forth were furnished with power to heal diseases.

Lesson for March 11. Christ had compassion upon the multitudes and created food to supply their hunger. Our small gifts and possessions, when placed at the Lord's disposal, are sufficient for any need.

Lesson for March 18. Christ denounced the empty forms and traditions of the Pharisees and showed that defilement can only come from the heart.

Eternal Thoughts

The thoughts of God are eternal thoughts. They are independent of time, independent of worlds. You set your life today into the doing of the will of God. After you have set your life into that life, it need never be changed. Let change come, let death come, we pass on still doing God's business for ever and for ever.—Alexander MacKenzie.

The Lord's Aid

I tried to build without the Lord, and lo! a tumbled pile of bricks upon the ground! I turned, and built with the Lord, and lo! the walls rise fair and firm, and the sky is their roof, and eternity is their foundation.—Amos R. Wells.

Finding the Sunny Side

He who climbs above the cares of this world and turns his face to his God has found the sunny side of life.—C. H. Spurgeon.

The BABY

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria.

The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

Free Examination

The school children will be given a free examination by physicians of the town and Dr. Thomason, dentist, and will be filed for record, for reference. The examinations will begin this week, it is said. This will be advantageous to the school and to all concerned, as all disorders and deficiencies will be shown on the examination report for the benefit of the faculty and parents.

It Will Happen

Last week Review readers likely found several errors in composition, especially on the front page. The proof was not corrected as marked. We often miss errors scattered through the paper—but this is the second time in our life to miss an entire page. In Judge Adams' announcement, the word "belief" was used when it should have been "behalf." Note the correction this week. A number of errors in news items were noted also.

DIVERSIFICATION STRESSED FARMERS ENCOURAGED AT BANKERS MEETING

Special Correspondent,
A. Rennerick Clark.

Diversification was stressed and the farmers are to be encouraged in the raising of more cattle, hogs, chickens, turkeys and commodities which will enable them to be self independent. Farmers who raise their own garden truck and have their own meats cut down their living expense very much and are able to save most of the money received when their cotton, grain, and other farm products are sold.

The Service Charge for the Callahan County banks was discussed as the next possible move of the association. Analysis of the banks, accounts revealed that from 1-2 to 2-3 of the total accounts had an average balance of less than $50.00 and represented a total of only 1-50 of the amount on deposit. Further analysis showed that over 2-3 of the total checks given were drawn by the individuals who carried a balance of less than $50.

The average cost of carrying the small account was estimated from sixty to seventy cents monthly. As a part compensation to the banks, it was suggested that a charge of fifty cents be made on these accounts. No charge would be made on certain accounts, such as Lodge, Church and accounts on which no checks were written. Rather than always have a small balance with checks being constantly returned, individuals would be encouraged to build up their balance and thus increase their savings. Practically all of the larger banks and numerous country banks have already instituted the service charge. All banks in Taylor, Shackelford and Eastern counties have recently put on this charge and it will be only a matter of time until every bank has it.
