

United Fund Collects $3,701.81; Near Goal

Cross Plains Area United Fund has collected 92.5 of its budgeted goal of $4,000 according to latest report from counting station at Citizens State Bank. At 3 p.m. Tuesday $3,701.81 had been deposited to the UF account since the 50-60 volunteer workers began a house-to-house canvass of the city and area Friday morning. Directors of the United Fund have budgeted $4,000 for the 1983-84 charitable undertaking.

Mrs. Herbert (Helen) Freeman, campaign supervisor, said she was genuinely grateful to each of the workers for their donated time and energy, and to the people and businesses in Cross Plains for generous support of the drive. "Although we're still short of the goal, I have faith that the public will see that the goal is met. They always seem to shoulder their responsibilities until completed," she explained.

A late report Friday listed $3,144 collected. Jimmielee Payne, Area United Fund president explained that at least one major concern had not completed paper work for its gifts, and he was sure many local individuals had not given, but would in the next few days. He thanked the workers and the donors, too.

By Tuesday morning UF collections had grown to $3,623.81, and the late report upped the total to $3,701.81.

It was explained that if there are those who wish to donate to the drive, but have no way to get to the bank, they may call Mrs. Freeman at 725-6324 or Mrs. Frank Ferrell at 725-7449. Mrs. Ferrell has handled the rural area and community canvass for many years.

The $4,000 goal has been apportioned as follows: West Texas Rehabilitation Center $1,300, M. D. Anderson Hospital Tumor Institute $700, American Red Cross $200, Salvation Army $200, Texas Mental Health Association $100, Southwest Diabetic Foundation $200, Christmas Cheer $300, Local and Transient Relief $600, Unallocated Funds $400.

Drouth Is Broken By Rain Storm Saturday

Cross Plains weather observers believe the drouth which has plagued this area for three months was broken Saturday by a fierce storm which struck just before 7 p.m.

Packing extremely high winds, hail, heavy rain and a frightening display of lightning, the rain gauges in the city measured from 3.30 inches to 3.60 inches, and there was reported moderate to light hail, some few stones said to be as large as golf balls.

Although property damage was apparently light, most of that which was reported concerned water running into businesses and homes in unaccustomed manners and places. Some wind damage was reported, but was mainly confined to trees. Some large limbs were blown off and a few trees were downed or blown over. At one 75-year-old structure known as the Bennett Hotel, the house stood the storm well, but a large apricot tree was split and limbs were pushed 12 inches into the ground. A heavy fiber glass shower stall in the yard was turned completely around and a small shed was blown down.

On the Pat McNeel farm west of town a barn was unroofed and destroyed.

Rain gauges in the city registered from 3.30 to 3.60 inches. R. P. Barnett had 3.30 inches, Lee Morris 3.50 and T. O. Powell 3.60 inches.

The rain which fell so heavily at times, combined with hail and being wind-whipped, made it impossible to see across the street, overflowed ditches and ran down roadways like rivers.

The drouth had extended for three months. During that period of July, August and September, only 2.75 inches fell in Cross Plains. That came as 1.50 in July, .55 in August and .70 in September, and Saturday's 3.50 was the first in October. That brings the total rainfall recorded in the city this year to 24.70 inches.

Cross Cut was the top rain recipient. O. B. Byrd place gauged 5 inches, and had hail which beat the leaves off the trees. A high wind was also reported, but it was a straight hard wind.

Reports toward Burkett listed James Oscar Koenig farm at 3.10, Charles Payne 3.50 and R. T. Watson 3.40 inches.

Mrs. N. V. Gibbs in the Rowden area reported only .30 of an inch of rain at her place with residents hoping for more.

On the road to Cottonwood, M. F. Dill reported 2.40 inches, and that community's correspondent, Beverly Brown, indicated measurements in that locality varied from .50 of an inch to 3.50 inches.

In Sabanno Edwin Erwin's gauge held 1.60 inches of rain, the light hail that fell did no damage.

Nathan Foster at Atwell also said that light hail fell, while rainfall measured 1.90 inches.

In the Pioneer community rainfall reports were reported as 2.00 inches at the J. T. Beggs place and 4.00 inches at the Reggy Stover home. Pioneer Co-Op reported 3.20 inches of rain.

Rain was extremely heavy for a time in many of the areas, and filled livestock tanks, making many overflow. The moisture will aid late maturing crops and help in digging peanuts ready to harvest, awaiting rain so they could be dug.

Gorman Hands Buffaloes Loop Loss 26-12 Friday

Cross Plains Buffaloes spotted visiting District 8-A Gorman a 20-point lead, then moved back to challenge the Panthers with a pair of six-pointers before final settling for a 26-12 loss in Buffalo Stadium last Friday night.

The loss left the Herd with a 1-2 league record and Gorman moved to 3-1. Both have lost to district favorite and state ranked Goldthwaite.

Both elevens showed offensive explosiveness with most tallies coming on runs of 10 yards or more. Cross Plains rushed for 213 yards with 5 more coming on one pass completion. Goldthwaite, however, ran for 331 yards, picking up 12 first downs while the Herd gathered 13 first downs. Panthers punted twice for an average of 30 yards, and Buffs kicked three times for a mean of 35 yards. The Bisons were flagged six times for 60 yards, and the Panthers were penalized eight times for 55 yards. The hosts gave up two fumbles, and the visitors surrendered one.

An interception started the Panthers' first scoring drive of six-plays and 31 yards. It was capped by Jack Johnson's one-yard run with 4:30 left in the opening quarter.

A run for two extra points failed.

In the second quarter, Johnson did it again, this time getting a 10-yard touchdown with 7:23 left. The running attempt for two extra points failed again.

But after Cross Plains lost a fumble on the Gorman 38, Mark Swanner got a 25-yard touchdown for Gorman with 5:48 to go in the half. This time, Johnson ran in for two extra points.

Cross Plains cut the 20-point

Mites Elect Sweetheart, Captains But Lose Pair

Cross Plains Junior High School football Mighty Mites lost their last two outings, but have named the team's sweetheart and captains for the year.

Rochelle clipped the local grid-ders 14-8 here September 29 and Cross Plains took a 34-8 beating at Gorman last Thursday.

Miss Paige Clawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Clawson, was elected Mighty Mite Football Sweetheart by the team last week. She will be presented at halftime ceremonies in Buffalo Stadium Thursday night during the game with Santa Anna.

Selected permanent captains for the Mites were Stacy Montgomery, Devin Harris, Ken Masters and Matt Pirtle.

Cross Plains took an 8-0 lead in the game with Rochelle here September 29 with a score in the first quarter. Mite Halfback David DeShazo ran 40 yards around end to about the 5 yard line. He then scored the touchdown, taking it in off tackle from the 5. Halfback Stacy Montgomery scored the two-point conversion on an end around play.

Rochelle rallied to win. Neither team scored in the second half.

Mighty Mites absorbed a 34-8 defeat at Gorman last Thursday. The hosts led 20-0 at halftime, and play was shortened a few minutes because of threatening weather conditions. All Cross Plains grid-ders did, however, see action.

Mites scored in the third quarter when Halfback Stacy Montgomery circled end for 60 yards. Halfback James Ames made the two-point conversion around end on a reverse play.

Mites will host Santa Anna Thursday and be looking for first win of the season.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

AUSIN—Governor Mark White said last week that despite House Speaker Gib Lewis' prediction to the contrary, he intends to call a special legislative session in late '83 or early '84, presumably to raise teacher salaries.

The Speaker early last week had suggested White would wait until May or June before calling lawmakers back to Austin.

Either way, the Governor's signals to state legislators running for office this spring are very clear: he intends to make raising teacher salaries a campaign issue this spring.

His timing is just the sort of timing that legislators do not like.

It's bad enough that the Governor will hold their feet to the fire on this issue, but the deed will have to be done shortly before an election.

The problem for lawmakers who resisted the Governor's wishes last session is that a tax hike will probably be necessary to pay for the salary increase.

Now, if the Governor sticks to his schedule, they will have to come to Austin and take a stand on the issue, then go back on the primary campaign trail and justify that stand to the voters.

Speaker Lewis

Needless to say, many incumbents aren't thrilled about the hard political row ahead, and House Speaker Gib Lewis, who opposed the tax hike last session, has predicted that White may delay the special call until after the primary elections.

Lewis reasons that the few extra months might give the Texas economy time to recover enough to allow the pay raise without the tax hike. Lewis also pointed out that a key task force studying the education issues is not expected to report its findings to the Governor until then.

But most important, he said, teacher contracts are already signed and won't be renegotiated until next August, so there's no need to rush.

Even if the Governor delay the special call until after the primary elections, lawmakers may not feel that much better off for it. With the special session lurking only a few days after the primary, every candidate will still have to take a stand on the issue. No candidate will be able to creditably dodge the issue of whether he or she will vote for a tax hike.

Those incumbents who manage to win the primary will have to follow through on their promises in the special session, then go back home and campaign some more . . . this time to justify that vote in a general election.

Three-For-Three

The U.S. Justice Department made it three-for-three last week by approving the Texas House and Senate which were passed by the Legislature.

While federal approval was a major hurdle, all three plans still face court challenges from a coalition of GOP and minority leaders.

Both groups are opposed to the way districts are drawn in Dallas diluting both Republican and black precincts to the advantage of white, liberal Democrat incumbents. They plan to press suit.

Radioactive Waste

The general manager of the Texas Low-level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority said his group has picked two sites in Texas from which to select a waste burial facility.

The two sites apparently are in Hudspeth County in West Texas and in Dimmitt County in South Central Texas.

The waste authority has no power of eminent domain and must buy the land from willing sellers.

The agency plans to decide on one site in early January.

Conservation Plan

A precedent-setting land management agreement was reached last week when Land Commissioner Garry Mauro agreed to lease over 9,000 acres in Briscoe County with designated conservation improvements as part of the deal. The deal includes soil and water conservation, development of wildlife and game, and such improvements as windmills, fences and water resources.

Rural voters

The dean of Austin's political forecasters, George Christian, says that rural voters are still making themselves influential in Texas races, despite appearances to the contrary.

The former press secretary to

It will be drilled on a 106-acre lease two miles south of Cross Plains.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 467 feet from the east lines of Lot 4, J. Lavine Survey 850.

LBJ points out that last year the top seven counties only contributed 30 percent to the total Texas vote, down from 40 percent in 1972.

This fact contradicts current folklore which classifies both major parties as highly unorganized.

Personal Computer Insurance

When Joe came home to find his personal computer on the low end of a very flooded basement, he gave his insurance agent a call. The damage to his computer was covered under his homeowners policy, right? Wrong — on two counts.

Damage caused by flooding is not covered under standard homeowners policies. Flood insurance is available only from the federal government. But there's another hitch.

Joe happened to be using his computer to write the latest version of the Great American Novel. He was also on a deadline with his publisher, making this a business venture. And homeowners policies specifically exclude coverage for property used to conduct business out of the home — even a part-time business.

These are just two insurance gaps the Kemper Group has filled in its new insurance coverage specifically for owners of personal computers and related electronic gadgetry — one of the first coverages of its kind.

Kemper's coverage is offered as an endorsement (an additional statement of conditions) to the company's "scheduled personal electronic equipment endorsement" insures electronic home information and entertainment hardware and their peripheral electronic and electro-mechanical processing equipment. This would include not only personal computers, printers and the related component parts, but could also include video and audio cassette recorders, television sets and stereo equipment.

In addition to hardware, the endorsement also covers programs, data and media (disks, drums, tapes, cartridges and chips on which information is stored).

Industry sources estimate 1.5 million personal computers were sold in 1982 and that, by the end of this year,

10 to 11 million personal computers will be hooked up in American homes.

According to Charles R. Flanagan, Kemper's business research manager, the endorsement offers electronic equipment owners four distinct advantages over relying solely on standard homeowners insurance coverage for their systems.

1. The new endorsement protects hardware, media, data and programs on an "all-risk" basis, including coverage for such losses as power surges, accidental breakage, for Joe's flooded basement in the earlier example and for data lost when passing through airport security. Standard homeowners policies list the perils (causes of loss) against which you are insured. Because this coverage is so inclusive, the endorsement lists only the perils not insured, which are: normal wear and tear and scratching, war and nuclear hazard, and loss caused by insects and vermin. (These are standard exclusions in most homeowners policies, too.)

2. Standard insurance settlements are based on an item's actual cash value, which is its purchase price minus depreciation. However, under this endorsement, you would receive a settlement based on the cost to replace the article with one of similar function and capability.

3. The equipment is covered under the endorsement whether it is used for business purposes all, some or none of the time. Under standard homeowners policies, business personal property is not covered if it is:

- used to conduct a business out of the home,
- taken out of the home (such as portable and transportable computers),
- or being stored to be sold out of the home (such as mailing lists).

4. There are no settlement deductibles under this new coverage. Homeowners policies, on the other hand, have deductibles, usually between $50 to $2,500, which is the portion of the property loss you agree to pay before the insurance kicks in. The endorsement waives deductibles, so insurance picks up the whole tab.

"Standard homeowners coverage simply was not designed to deal with the new home information systems," Flanagan explained. "The endorsement is designed to supplement that coverage. I call it 'no question marks' coverage — it eliminates the gray areas, the uncertainty of whether your homeowners insurance will cover this or that."

Newly acquired property is covered as long as it is a class of property (hardware or software) already insured by that person and the policyholder notifies the insurance agent within 30 days of the purchase. The endorsement costs $1.50 per $100 coverage. Programs and data are insured on a blanket basis, meaning the policyholder selects a dollar limit to cover their collective value. The value of the hardware is itemized.

For example, Sue has a desktop microcomputer valued at $1,250, a monitor worth $200, a twin floppy disk drive worth $500, a printer costing $750, a modem she bought for $350 and a video cassette recorder worth $450. She also has several software programs and videotapes valued, collectively, at $1,450. Sue can insure her $4,950 worth of equipment and software for one year under the endorsement for $74.25. If Sue had written, rather than purchased some of her programs, she would be reimbursed in case of a loss for the value of the tapes plus the number of hours needed to restore the data.

While the endorsement provides ample coverage for most home computer enthusiasts, Flanagan said a person with a relatively large office set-up in the home might want to consider a commercial computer policy providing higher limits of coverage. For example, while Kemper's homeowners endorsement provides up to $15,000 of coverage, the company's commercial Business Electronic Equipment Policy has an upper coverage limit of $250,000.

Flanagan said that an independent agent can advise consumers on the best type of insurance for their particular needs.

Cemetery Gets One Donation For $100

Pioneer Historical Association received just one contribution during September, according to Mrs. John (Irma) Miller, treasurer for the organization which oversees funds intended to provide permanent care for the burial grounds at Pioneer.

The single donation was for $100 and came from Mrs. Bessie Harris Coppinger. It was made in memory of her father and brothers, Albert F. Harris and Charles Albert Harris and Alton Frank Harris.

Mrs. Miller noted the association's appreciation of the gift, and said all contributions are genuinely appreciated. Persons who wish to help with perpetual care of the burial ground should address donations to Irma Miller, Pioneer Historical Association, Route 1, Box 210-A, Rising Star, Texas 76471. All gifts will be acknowledged.

deficit by a touchdown with 39 seconds left in the second quarter. Bison Fullback Tony Apple ripped 36 yards on a draw play to cap an 8-play drive. An attempt run failed on the bonus attempt. Buffs took a Gorman punt the needed 58 yards in eight plays to score.

Thundering Herd climbed closer in the third quarter when with 3:01 left in the canto halfback Tommy Johnston scamped 15 yards to score. Two-point conversion attempt run failed. A key play in the 65-yard, 10-play march, which was ground out on the ground was a 23-yard sprint by fullback Arthur Agnew.

Gorman got its final points on a 20-yard run by Swanner with 10 seconds left in the third quarter. A running attempt for two points after flopped.

Cross Plains threatened again with three minutes left in the game when a drive carried to the 7 or 8 yard line. The march died when on fourth and seven, the Herd's quarterback was trapped, and the ball was surrendered on downs.

The Herd, still healthy and still seeing a district victory, will go to Santa Anna Friday to take on the Mountaineers in a homecoming game. The Mountaineers own a 3-1 league record, and have also lost to Goldthwaite.

Scouting reports indicate Santa Anna to be big and physical, according to Athletic Director Mitchell Atchley. Primary defensive personnel are reported to be Paulie Basquet at noseguard and James Bass at linebacker post. Offensively a pair of 172-pounders in Raymond Basquet and James Bass head the hard-running backfield corps.

Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN—Lame duck U. S. Sen. John Tower last week gave his studied answer to critics, some angry who have wondered what he planned to do with the $16 million he recently raised for re-election.

Tower said he will use the funds to finance a Republican Party voter registration drive and to boost conservative candidates in '84 campaigns. His answer so far has angered only Democrats, and has breathed new hopes into the GOP.

His basic outline calls for voter registration of GOP and conservative independents in Texas, for a portion of money to be given to the national Senate Republican campaign, and for the portion to be transferred to selected candidates inside and out of Texas.

One new question now going around in GOP circles is how much of that money will go to the candidate who will replace Tower on the ballot.

Tower has said he will not endorse any candidate until after the GOP primary in May.

Republicans were crest-fallen when Tower announced he was quitting, but his continued aid to the '84 election cause has them somewhat optimistic they can replace him with another of their own, particularly by utilizing the voter registration tool wielded so effectively heretofore by Democrats.

Texas Economy

As always, the general state of the Texas economy may be the biggest factor in '84, and things aren't looking so great in some places.

The drought has devastated parts of West Texas ranching and agriculture and a major Midland bank is in serious trouble because of the oil and gas business decline.

Last week a major survey revealed business failures in Houston may hit record levels this year, because of the energy business decline. Bankruptcies in Dallas have level moderately because of a more diversified economy; hardest hit there were energy, manufacturing, construction and real estate.

Hightower Firings

Texas' populist Agriculture Commissioner, Jim "Whole Hog" Hightower caught some unsavory press flack last week after disgruntled fired employees turned their guns on him.

Hightower has been "airing out" the department to implement his new program, which means letting some old hands go to make room for his new hands.

Some old hands resented losing their jobs, especially at the hands of a woman consultant who has reportedly recommended many of the personnel changes. Hightower has defended the personnel changes as a legitimate part of government changing hands.

Gunslingers

The growing political power of the Hispanic bloc has been touted for months and the man portrayed as most likely to benefit is San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros.

Now Cisneros is engaged in a legal shootout with the man who has probably drawn the most negative press of '83; South Texas multimillionaire Clinton Manges.

Manges is spearheading the USFL San Antonio football team, the Gunslingers, and is in the process of renovating Alamo Stadium there under a city lease.

The San Antonio city council, headed by Cisneros, has moved to stop the use of the stadium after it was found to be prohibited under an old lease agreement. They want the new lease declared invalid.

"Snakes", Referendum

The legal saber rattling has increased and the words have been thrown across the table, Cisneros even calling the USFL franchise backers "a bunch of snakes."

For his part, Manges has challenged Cisneros to take a lie detector test, and circulated a petition to overturn the 1939 deed restriction.

Manges claims he has about 42,000 signatures, more than enough needed to force a city ballot vote on the issue.

The two-pronged battle, one in the courtroom and one at the ballot box, even though a local issue to Bexar County, could well decide whether Cisneros will rise or not to eventually become the first Hispanic statewide official, has been predicted.

Conspiracy Charge

A staff attorney for Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox last week pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge related to mail fraud. The lawyer was indicted last year and has since been on Mattox's chief of staff services payroll for $32,000 a year.

A spokesman said Mattox knew of the indictment and did not use the employee to do legal work for the state.

The man pleaded guilty to conspiracy to defraud the IRS, which said he and two others manufactured false and fraudulent tax deductions for themselves and others through a consulting business in the Bahama Islands.

Adding Machine Tape, Review

By Michael Whittaker

Bearing Down

There are more than 1,643,000 Cub Scouts in the United States. They range in age from eight to ten, with the key age being nine.

"This is when boys are at their most curious stage," said W. Boyd Giles, associate director of Cub Scouting for the Boy Scouts of America. "We wanted to tap that sense of learning and make Cub Scouts a more meaningful experience for the boys. We think we have come up with the answer."

It's called Bear Enrichment. What that means is that the nine-year-old boy is going to be challenged more to achieve. Some boys had complained there were not enough options to select from in Cub Scouting.

It was a simple enough idea, but how does it work?

"Many boys are interested in video games; we take them one step further. We introduce them to computers. Lucky ones will actually get 'hands on' experience at the key board of some of the simpler machines," Giles said.

Giles also said that research had been done into what a nine-year-old is interested in. "We found that they still seek close ties to their families. They want to be active, but not to stray too far away from what is familiar. That's why we have promoted family camping as part of our program."

Giles said, at nine, a boy is probably not ready to spend the night out in the woods with other boys, but the whole situation changes if he is accompanied by family members.

"Family presents a feeling of security during the dark hours. They can either spend the night in a tent or in one of the motor vehicles made for camping."

Another point of interest to the nine-year-old is the freedom that riding a bike can bring. But, Giles said, boys need to be given a sense of responsibility. Cub Scouts provide this by teaching bike safety and how to keep their bike in good shape — even going as far as to teach them how to change tires.

In all, there are 24 subjects a Cub Scout can pursue in the Bear Enrichment program. It is not expected that he will do all of them between his ninth and tenth year, but he can plan on doing at least half. Some of the requirements have been in Cub Scouting for years. Such items as learning about computers are new.

Giles said these program themes will relate to more Bear achievements. "It livens up den meetings."

The new programs are now going into their second year. Word from the 413 Boy Scout councils around the country is that the Cub Scouts are happy about the changes. They like the new sense of challenge that the enrichment program has added," Giles said.

Cost Of Medicare Will Increase Next Year

Because of continuing increases in health care costs, payments by Medicare beneficiaries will automatically increase again in 1984, the Department of Health and Human Services announced September 30. The increases are required under 1966 Medicare laws, and they affect beneficiary payment of hospital deductibles, coinsurance and monthly premiums.

Under Medicare Part A (Hospital Insurance) the deductible patients pay for hospitalization will increase from $304 to $356 January 1, 1984. Each year, by law, the Medicare hospital deductible for the following year is computed to reflect the difference between average daily hospital costs for the previous year and the same costs during 1986, the year Medicare began. As the difference between the two grows larger, the hospital deductible increases.

The rise in this deductible also increases the amount of coinsurance beneficiaries must pay if they remain in the hospital for more than 60 days during 1984. From the 61st through 90th day of hospitalization the patient's share will increase $76 to $89 a day. For stays beyond 90 days, Medicare patient's cost will go up from $152 to $178 a day.

For a stay of more than 20 days in a skilled nursing facility, the Medicare patient will pay $44.50, instead of the current rate of $38, toward the cost of the 21st through the 100th day.

Under Medicare Part B (Supplementary Medical Insurance) the basic premium will rise from $12.20 to $14.40 a month January 1, 1984. The Social Security Amendments of 1983 set the monthly premium rate for calendar years 1984 and 1985 at a level equal to 25 percent of the expected average costs of SMI for aged enrollees. SMI complements Part A of Medicare by helping to pay physicians' bills and a variety of other medical expenses.

About 30 million people are covered under the Medicare Program. In 1984, the number of enrollees is expected to grow to about 30.5 million. Medicare spending is expected to increase from $56.1 billion in fiscal year 1983 to $64.7

Pioneer News Items

All of us are grinning continually since getting a very good rain varying from 2 to 4 inches throughout the community. We're thankful for this rain, and still praying for some more. However, we need good weather for harvesting peanuts pretty soon.

Mrs. G. L. Hensel notified us of a home-bound ministry headed by Mrs. Truett Parson that the Pioneer Baptist Church is now sponsoring. Different members will bring sermon tapes to the homes of persons who are unable to come to church. They will visit and play the tapes for them and perhaps read from the Bible as the person desires. Alma and Josie Morris enjoyed the first one this week. The pastor's wife, Mrs. G. L. (Suzie) Hensel, asks that anyone knowing of a shut-in, partial shut-in, or person with hearing problems who would appreciate this service to please call her at 725-6765 or Mrs. Lillian Parson at 725-6583.

Guests in the home of Joe and Nell Fleming this week was Velma Brown of Pioneer. Nell visited Mr. and Mrs. Speck Conner Friday afternoon Mrs. Conner entered the hospital, West Texas Medical Center, in Abilene Friday for tests. All the family, Jim and Charlene and children, went with them to see Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carr Thursday night. The Carrs have recently moved here on the Williams road. They are relatives of the A. C. Hallsells. We are so glad to welcome them into our community.

Last Saturday J. T. and Betty Beggs attended the funeral of their sister-in-law, Mrs. Floyd Russell, in Fort Worth. Rex and Edith Beggs and girls of Cross Plains visited with them on their return.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sessums during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Yeter Benton of Weatherford, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zedlitz and Mrs. Nell Fleming, all of Pioneer, and Mr. Jack Watkins of Big Spring.

Vanessa Taff and her dad, Mr. Mack Taff were visitors in the Taff home during the week end. They all attended church on Sunday.

Cash Flow.

In 1803, America found herself up the river. The Mississippi, that is. Valuable goods were being produced in the Midwest, and the mighty Mississippi was our only link to the sea. But the outlet in New Orleans belonged to France.

So President Jefferson sent agents to Paris to negotiate for the addition of New Orleans. Surprisingly, Napoleon offered to sell the entire Louisiana Territory for only $15,000,000.

And that included what is today Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Louisiana, Oklahoma, most of Minnesota, and parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

Thanks to Americans taking stock in their new country by buying over $11,000,000 in government securities, we made the purchase. And doubled our size overnight.

Today, Americans still take stock in their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

They know there's no safer way to save for an education, vacation or retirement. And they know that while they're helping themselves, they're helping America, too.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And help your cash flow into savings.

Take stock in America.

E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/4% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.
