Large Crowd Expected At Tate Grove For Old Settlers' Picnic Friday

One of the largest crowds in years is expected to turn out for the Old Settlers Picnic tomorrow, Friday, August 17th, at Tate Grove four miles northeast of Hedley. Numerous former residents have sent word that they would be on hand for the annual get-together and were looking forward to seeing and visiting with their many friends of past years.

Uncle Jay, farm editor of KGNC, Amarillo, has been invited to make the principal address and everyone knows that things will be popping and going right along when he appears before a gathering of this type.

Remember this is an old fashioned picnic and everyone is invited. Bring a well filled basket to suit the needs of your own group as the picnic committee will only furnish ice water and coffee.

The program for the day as outlined at the present time is as follows: America, by audience; Invocation by Judge W. J. Williams; Welcome address by Miss Ruth Richerson; Response by J. Claude Wells, publisher of the Memphis Democrat; Songs, arranged by W. H. Moss and Mrs. Joe Crawford; Tribute to Pioneers, Mrs. S. G. Adamson; String Music, arranged by Walter Johnson; Music by Choral club; H. M. (Flip) Breedlove will be the master of ceremonies and Uncle "Jay" the principal speaker.

Mr. Ward had been a resident of Clarendon for the past seven years and was employed at Terry's Cafe. He came to Clarendon from Amarillo.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Miriam Terry of Chillicothe, three brothers, G. W. Ward of Amarillo, L. Ward of Chillicothe, T. Ward of Collinsville, Texas and a step-brother, George Terry of Clarendon; two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Rollins of Pilot Point and Ellie Ward of Chillicothe.

Deadline Set For Biggest Watermelon Contest In This Area

Who has the biggest watermelon in the Clarendon trade area is a question causing considerable comment this week? The Chamber of Commerce and the Leader announced a contest last week to find the biggest melon in response to a letter from Don Blair, an employee of the El Segundo Plant of Douglas Aircraft. Blair stated in his letter that he "had told his boss about Clarendon watermelons and that his boss was skeptical." He asked that a melon be shipped to him to prove his point, adding that his boss would "say a picture was framed."

Blair, who formerly lived in this area, is a navy veteran of World War II and has been employed at the Douglas Aircraft Plant several months. He is married and has a family and lives at 616D South Santa Fe Avenue, Compton, Calif.

Don Black, Public Relations Chief for the Douglas Aircraft Company, telephoned the Chamber of Commerce this week and stated that the company was shipping a scale model C-124 plane, the latest type plane that his company is building, to Clarendon for exhibition. Black is a former Clarendonite himself, however he left here with his parents about 1904. Black recalled in his conversation with the Chamber of Commerce that he was in the second grade when his family moved from here and that his school teacher was Miss Maggie Stout. Black's father was connected with the school system. Possibly some will remember him.

Continued dry weather is causing some concern over finding a hundred pound melon but growers have expressed themselves as being convinced that there would be no difficulty in finding a melon that would make a California melon look sick.

Closing date on the "Biggest Watermelon Contest" has been set for Saturday, Sept. 8th. Watermelons may be brought in on Thursday afternoon and all day Friday preceding Saturday the 8th. The Leader is giving a three year subscription to the grower showing the biggest melon, a two year subscription to the grower of the second place melon and a one year subscription to the third place winner. J. W. Murphy of Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home will ship the melon to Blair in California by Air Express.

Watch next week's issue of the Leader for further information on the "Biggest Watermelon Contest" and in the meantime start watching your patch and let us know how that melon is coming along.

Building On Main St. Being Remodeled By Chas. Speed

Chas. G. Speed, local contractor, recently purchased the old building across from the Leader office, known in years past as the City Garage, and has begun remodeling operations which is a wonderful sight to those doing business on the north block of main street. Mr. Speed stated that he would put a new modern front on the building and fix it up in general. This particular building has been an eyesore for a long number of years and detracted from the appearance of our main street.

Other beautification work and construction has been done or is taking place in this same block. Homer Parsons recently had the front of his building refinished. Carl Bennett is having the front of his Implement business painted and is also extending a part of his present building on to the alley to allow much needed working space.

All Clarendon residents are equally proud to see this type of work being done, for it certainly is a credit to our fair little city.

Locals To Play Washburn Here Sunday

The Clarendon baseball club, which at the present time has a second-place standing, will play another top place team, Washburn, here on the local diamond next Sunday, August 19. Washburn has been a tough team to win over all season but the locals will be in there doing their best to take the game and hold their position in the Cap Rock League standing. This will be the last game of the regular league play other than the play-off games which Clarendon is assured of taking part.

Local team members are urging all ball fans to come out and give them that moral support which goes a long way in helping a team win. Clarendon folks are proud of the efforts extended by the local boys who play just for their own personal enjoyment and certainly would like to see them step out in front and win the League pennant for the first time. The strongest contender is the Amarillo Sports but they can be defeated too, for the locals did just that when the Sports came to Clarendon three weeks ago.

Large Crowd Attends Chicken Barbecue At Lelia Lake

Approximately 350 persons, one of the largest crowds to ever attend, was on hand for the annual Farm Bureau chicken barbecue last Friday night at the Lelia Lake school house. Flip Breedlove, local barbecue king was in charge of the barbecuing and produced an excellent job. He was ably assisted by Don Tomlinson, Ray Holland, Glen Williams, Frank Wolford, Rayburn Smith, Will Mace, Nollie Simmons, Leo Wallace, L. D. Aten and Holly Wood. Mrs. Glen Williams was chairman of the other eats to go along with the chicken and was assisted by Mrs. O. L. McBrayer, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. Will Mace, Mrs. Lee Shaller, and Mrs. Flip Breedlove. Those ladies turned out some wonderfully seasoned beans and fruit which really completed the meal.

Wes Izzard, publisher of the Amarillo News-Globe was the main speaker of the evening and told the group that they could certainly be thankful to live in this part of the Panhandle and also that the people right here in this area needed to do everything to encourage our congressmen to cut down on government spending. B. K. Hoyle, district supervisor of the Farm Bureau membership campaign of Seymour spoke to the group also. Lee Shaller, president of the Donley County Farm Bureau, was master of ceremonies.

Another enjoyable part of the program was the singing featured by a local quartet composed of Howard Stewart, Clyde Hudson, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams.

MATCHED ROPING WITH PAMPA HERE SUNDAY

The Clarendon Roping Club will have a matched roping contest with the Pampa Roping Club at the local arena here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A Jackpot roping will be held following the matched roping contest. The local club is asking for more support and are urging those who enjoy roping to be on hand for the contest Sunday afternoon.

PLANS CONSTRUCTION OF MODERN TRAILER PARK

A. M. "Dusty" Taylor has authorized the Chamber of Commerce to announce his immediate plans for the construction of a modern trailer park on the half-block land that he owns in the southeast part of town. Construction is to commence immediately. Mr. Taylor said that he believed there was a need for additional facilities at this time and that he was doing his utmost to meet the demand.

Notes from --- CITY HALL

The City Water Emergency is over unless pump equipment or storage facilities get out of order. We feel confident that our water supply will meet all normal requirements. Our new water well has proven so far to be a good producer and will be of untold value to our city in relieving us of a water shortage. Without this new well we would be on water rationing until a break in this hot dry weather. The water consumption for the month of July was the largest on record and the consumption was greater than our previous well set-up could supply.

We want to thank the citizens for their splendid cooperation during this short water emergency. Thanks, Major B. Hudson, Mayor.

Protection Against Hot Check Artists

If and when the offended party or parties follow the instructions of the new "hot check law," those who are really guilty of fraudulent intent, are in for a very serious session.

The new law makes prosecution of the offenders much easier. Reports from over the state indicate that the nuisance is abating rapidly.

The new law, which became effective May 28 after passage by the State Legislature, provides stiffer penalties and makes proof of intent to defraud much easier.

Under the old law, it was almost impossible to prove intent to defraud on checks given for labor, charge accounts and post-dated checks, it has been explained.

The new law provides that if the check writer does not make good the check within ten days after he receives notice that the check is bad, "his failure to pay shall be prima-facie evidence of his intent to defraud."

Businessmen have been advised to give notice by registered mail in each check case to perfect the evidence against the writer. These are some of the new penalties provided in the new statute:

First conviction for a bad check for $5 or less is a fine not exceeding $200. Checks written in excess of $5 but less than $50 can result in jail sentences not exceeding two years or a fine up to $1,000 or both.

A jail sentence ranging from thirty days to two years and a fine not exceeding $2,000 is provided for checks of less than $50 upon second conviction. A third conviction carries a penitentiary sentence from two to ten years and a fine not exceeding $5,000.

Any felony conviction for a hot check of more than $50 carries a penalty of not less than two nor more than ten years in prison and a fine not exceeding $10,000.

VALLEY MILLS FIRM LOW BIDDER ON ROAD WORK

Jimmy Faulkner, local Chamber of Commerce manager, was in Childress yesterday where he learned that the Texas Highway Department in Austin read bids in regard to the 6.1 miles of paving to be constructed on each side of the newly proposed Mulberry bridge in Hall and Briscoe Counties on Highway 70. The low bidder was Fred Hall & Sons of Valley Mills, Texas and the total was $89,199.66. In all probability the contract will be let to this firm and construction will probably start within the next 45 days. Thirteen firms bid on the construction job. Faulkner also learned that the bridge contract will be considered and let at a later date.

FARM NEWS

From the County PMA Committee

THE FAMILY FARM'S FUTURE

The Secretary of Agriculture and other officials in Washington recognizing the importance of the family farm in the preservation and the strengthening of Democracy both in this country and throughout the world, have initiated and expect to carry through a nation wide, Department-wide review and critical analysis of its programs and policies to determine the ways in which they can provide more effective and efficient service to the family farm during this period of mobilization emergency as well as in peacetime. If you have any suggestions please get in touch with your County PMA Committee and they will be glad to accept any recommendations that you might have.

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN ANYTHING??

Don't forget to come by the Office and report your wheat acreage for the past year. We want to keep our records up to date.

NITROGEN IMPORTANT LEGUME BY-PRODUCT

Because of the nitrogen they add to the soil, legume cover crops have a cash value in addition to their other soil improving qualities. Farmers are urged to get a green cover on their fields which have been in cultivated crops during the growing season. Legumes are particularly stressed since they gather nitrogen from the air and add it to the soil.

The amount of nitrogen which a cover crop gathers varies with the size of the crop, recent experiments indicate. These crops hold the soil in place, help to maintain the organic matter content of the soil, they act as depositories for left-over fertilizer at the end of the growing season, and they generally help to increase the productivity of the land. Cover crops, particularly legumes, will improve the best of our soils. That's why they are included in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Farmers are urged to make arrangements for their seed without delay so that they can get in their crop in time to make a good growth this fall.

FARMERS URGED TO CHECK ACP SPECIFICATIONS

Farmers of Donley County who are carrying out the more technical soil and water conservation practices under the 1951 Agricultural Conservation Program are urged to check on specifications for these practices to make sure they meet program standards. Unless such practices do meet these standards they will fail to qualify for assistance under the program.

The county PMA committee has been charged with the responsibility of seeing that assistance provided under ACP is used to aid in carrying out essential soil and water conservation practices. To make sure of this, certain standards have been established and specifications set up to meet these standards.

Under the coordination of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's conservation efforts, the Soil Conservation Service has the responsibility of checking on the more technical practices. Arrangements for this service are made through the county PMA committee.

Among the practices requiring SCS checking are the construction of terraces, establishing of sod waterways, building dams for stockwater, erosion control, laying out contours, reorganizing irrigation systems and land leveling.

Farmers who expect to apply for assistance under ACP for any of these or similar practices should first check with a member of the county PMA committee or someone designated by them for this type of work and then make sure they carry out the instructions so that the practices will qualify.

ANNUAL STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

Directors of the Donley County National Farm Loan Association of Clarendon, Texas have set September 12 as the date for the annual members' meeting, Rayburn L. Smith, Secretary-Treasurer, has announced.

A special program is being planned with the hope of having one of the most interesting and well attended meetings in the history of the association.

NOW IN GERMANY

Information Slim On Wildcat Wells

Information in regard to the two wildcat wells being drilled on the JA Ranch is still very slim and behind time but we have been informed that drilling is progressing on the first location with the depth being below 4,000 feet. It was learned also that the casing on the number two location was being cemented in at a depth of around 3,100 feet this past week end. Both locations have been designated as tight holes, therefore what little information we do learn is several days behind actual operations. About the only definite information released by any of the men working at either location is that a good shower or rain is sure needed to help settle the dusty road leading to the wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shields of Dalhart visited Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Usrey of Lelia Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grady and Johnny Grady returned home Thursday after vacationing at Creede, Colo.

Joyce Crutchfield went to Dalhart Saturday where she will visit her aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shields.

Trucks Play Part In Transportation

ABILENE — In 1950 the 132 counties served by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce received $7,307,792 from truck license fees and truck gasoline tax payments for their road and bridge funds and for their schools, according to an article written by the July issue of the WTCC magazine, "West Texas Today", by James Taylor, executive director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

In addition, the state highway department spent in these 132 counties $12,138,928 for highway construction and maintenance that was derived from license fees on buses and taxes paid on gasoline used in trucks.

The truck license fees provided $4,209,092 for road and bridge funds of the territory and the truck gas receipts amounted to $2,098,602 for support of schools. These counties also received $1,070,998 as surplus from the county road bond assumption funds, that is, money allocated to that fund to retire county road bonds that was not needed for that purpose.

There are 1,778 Texas communities that depend entirely upon motor transportation for their supplies and for shipment to markets of their products; many of these are in West Texas, some large towns, some county seats, Taylor wrote.

Last year, trucks carried 70 per cent of the nation's vital petroleum—one of Texas' chief products, he declared.

Taylor wrote further as follows: "James K. Kundson, defense transportation administrator, had pointed to the need for getting more work out of existing trucks, particularly during the national emergency.

"He recommended that the states enact laws carrying out a code promulgated by the American Association of State Highway Officials and endorsed by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

"A Texas law that will go into effect September 7 follows the code, which is based on a scientific study which sought to determine how much weight trucks could carry without damaging the highways.

"Along with the law increasing the truck load, the Legislature voted a companion bill which provides that overload trucks must unload on the spot.

"This measure, designed to tighten law observance of the weight regulation, was not opposed by the trucking industry after the bill had been amended to remove what it considered were certain, harsh and unreasonable restrictions.

"In fact, Texas trucks have recognized the need for observance and before the Legislature convened Texas Motor Transportation Association members had put into effect a self-policing program.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank Heathington and son of Tullia visited Sunday night with relatives here.

Mrs. G. W. Terry remains critically ill in Henderson Memorial Hospital following a car accident there last week. Her brother, Jack Eddings returned home Monday after spending several days at Henderson with the wreck victims.

Official Memorandum

BY

ALLAN SHIVERS
Governor of Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS

GREETINGS:

The percentage of farm homes in Texas receiving central station electric service has increased from 2.3 per cent to 90 per cent during the past 16 years, largely through the stimulation of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) program.

More than 282,000 rural families of Texas now enjoy the benefits of electric lights and power through cooperatives which they themselves own and operate.

Each of the 77 rural electric cooperatives in Texas is a free and independent, tax-paying business enterprise, chartered under the laws of the state of Texas, and owned and controlled by the farmers and ranchers who receive service along its lines.

The availability of electricity has brought about a wholesome revolution in farm methods, production and living standards; has lightened the drudgery of farm tasks and increased farm output and profits; has been instrumental in keeping young people on the land, and has promoted the general welfare not only of rural people, but of urban residents as well whose prosperity and well-being depends upon a sound and prosperous agriculture.

THEREFORE I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim the week of August 19th to 25th, inclusive, as in Texas, and call upon all citizens of the state to observe during this week the splendid progress that has been made in electrifying rural areas during the past 16 years, and to resolve anew that the program shall continue to expand until every farm family in the state shall enjoy the blessings of electric lights and power.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 18th day of July, 1951

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS by Uncle Zeb

Unless you were there it would be impossible to tell you how good the barbecued chicken was at Lelia Lake the other evening. As Old Tack would say, it was scrumptious. Flip Breedlove and his helpers are to be congratulated on the good job. Maybe I just can't remember from one year until the next but it seems like the chicken gets' better every year. This was at least my third year to be invited. Now they probably will have to tie me up to keep me away. Thanks to everyone for the good time.

Wes Izzard was at his very best as the speaker, and the things that he told us should be written on every blackboard in the country. According to Mr. Izzard, the thing that will get us even before the Russians have a chance is our own sprawling bureaucracy and government control on all our liberties. One thing that I had never thought about was the fact that our children do not know anything else except government control and are apt to accept them as the only choice and never try to make us a free people again. He urged that we tell our children and impress them with the liberties that were once ours as a country and teach them that they could have them again. After the emergency is over we could demand that the governmental bureaus start backing' out the door.

Wes dates the beginning of our downfall back to 1913 and the passing of the income tax law. Up until this time the government had belonged to the people and was a far away thing in Washington that collected a few tariffs and carried out a few duties. The backers of the Income tax law assured the congress that it would never need to be more than 1% of anyone's income at any time. It reaches into the 90% bracket. According to law the government can legally take every dime that you earn in taxes; there is no limit.

Anyway, he gave us much food for thought and I wish more people were telling these truths to the rest of us and maybe, just barely perhaps, we would wake up before it was absolutely too late. Congratulations to Mr. Izzard and to the fine folks at Lelia Lake for having him and for feeding Mama and Me.

I have been jokingly referred to at times as the poor man's Uncle Jay. Uncle Jay himself once called me the Poor Man's Tack. I was a little uneasy when we were being introduced at Lelia Lake; afraid that I would be called the Poor Man's Izzard. Speakin' of Uncle Jay; who on earth am I going to pick a fuss with when he leaves KGNC. Seriously, all of us are going to miss him. We listen to the news with Mr. Izzard, and all of Uncle Jay's programs; each in their own way have become a part of our family circle; a member of the family, so to speak. Regardless of all the mean things that I have said about Uncle Jay, I am sorry to the bottom of my heart to see him go. I don't think that he ought to do us that way, maybe. Anyway, we hope for him and his good family the very best, if he does move away.

Each time I pass a church I stop and make a visit. So that when I'm carried in The Lord won't say, who is it?

worrying about winter cover for fields planted to cotton, but the Supervisors are urging farmers to be making their plans now.

Cotton, though a profitable crop from a cash value standpoint, offers little protection to the land. When the leaves dry and blow away only a small stalk is left to break the force of the wind. Additional help is needed to protect the soil against blow hazards and vegetation is the best method.

A cover crop is the answer say the Supervisors, especially on the sandier land which does not respond as well to emergency tillage operations.

One method is to omit late cultivation and leave the annual vegetation for a winter cover. There are many objections to this procedure but the advantages outweigh the disadvantages.

Seeding a cover crop of small grain or winter legumes is no doubt the best method of obtaining protection and improving the soil at the same time. Some farmers may seed the cover crops in the cotton middles in the next few weeks. Others prefer to wait until after harvest.

Rye is one of the most dependable cover crops especially for sandy land. Hairy Vetch and Austrian peas are recommended as good soil building crops which add organic matter and nitrogen to the soil. A mixture of rye and vetch is often used with good success.

All legume seed should be inoculated before planting, advise the Supervisors. The Soil Conservation Service employees or the County Agent will be glad to assist you with this operation. Application of fertilizer may also be beneficial to many farms.

The Supervisors are hopeful that all cotton land susceptible to blowing will be seeded to some kind of cover crop this fall.

Library Notes

By May L. Prewitt

The adults are "easing" back to our reading list. The hot weather, and Library hours was not conducive to reading. The children do not seem to mind the heat as several are usually waiting to get in when the door is opened at 2 o'clock. We secure two or three adult fiction books per month, one or two non-fiction and several for children and teen agers. There are quite a few teenage girls who read regularly, but only three or four junior boys.

During the period of the last three years slightly more than a thousand books have been added to our shelves. That is not bad when you consider our meager funds. We have some wonderful Library friends whose contributions are certainly an asset to our shelves.

This week our reading list has not been added to, except by paper backs and periodicals. These are all useful, as the periodicals are current, or at least not more than 2 months back dated. We can use McCall's, Journal, Companion, etc. I hope someone saves us Miss Erdman's story in the Companion, as yesterday's paper stated a short story of hers was being printed by the Woman's Home Companion.

Don't forget we have Webb's "The Great Plains" that was given in memory of Mr. Craven of T/V Ranch near Childress. This is well written and the information worth your time out for reading.

Ever buy a car from this angle?

SURE, a trim new Buick makes a mighty pretty picture when you see it in your driveway, or watch it wheel by.

But if you could get a mechanic's-eye view of this big, broad beauty as it sits on a lift, you'd see an impressive picture of rugged brawn that makes good-to-look-at Buicks give such a good account of themselves on the road.

You'd see the full-length torque-tube drive that firms the whole power relay system, and steadies your going like a giant hand beneath you.

You'd see big sturdy wheels with really wide rims that provide surer footing, give better car control, make tires last longer.

You'd see all four wheels cushioned by stout coil springs that are completely service-free, practically breakproof—and a principal reason for the ever-level Buick ride.

But mainly, you'd see the massive foundation that backbones every Buick—the deep, wide, X-member frame that's rugged as a rock, and a brute for strength.

So when you look at the beauty of a Buick—the big mileage power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine—and the moneysaving ability of its Dynaflo Drive*—don't overlook the tough stamina that goes with it all.

And don't overlook the fact that a new '51 Buick, with all its heft, costs less per pound than any other car of comparable size, structure and weight.

Better come see us first chance you get—and find out what a smart buy this is—from every angle.

Twenty Years of Conservation Enables Texas to Supply Oil

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN — Texas ability to meet current demands for crude oil is the direct result of a battle 20 years old next month.

That battle has been the efforts of forward thinking leaders to conserve the state's natural resource — now supplying one-fourth the world's production.

Directing and fighting the conservationists' battle 19 years and four months of the way has been Ernest O. Thompson, a name known internationally as a petroleum authority, senior member of the Texas Railroad Commission. Illness cut short his trip to Europe as official representative of the United States government at the World Petroleum Congress at The Hague . . . He was rushed to a Houston hospital after landing in New York, recently returned to his home in Austin and last week was at his office.

The Texas war for conservation broke violently in August, 1931. It took martial law and a special session of the Texas Legislature to cope with operators engaged in a cut-throat battle of frenzied production.

Oil flowed like water from a cloudburst with discovery of the big East Texas pool. The $1.10 per barrel price prevailing at the outset plummeted to an unbelievable low—10 cents per barrel. Into that furor, in June, 1932, came then—Amarillo-Mayor Ernest Thompson to fill a vacancy on the Railroad Commission by appointment of Governor Ross Sterling.

New and far-reaching oil-regulatory weapons were granted the commission by the Legislature. With Thompson's backing, one of the powers became effective five months after he came to the commission. It authorized the commission to decide how much Texas oil would flow daily on the basis of a market demand formula.

That law is still the basis of determining Texas production. It requires oil operators to "nominate" their probable market output in advance of the commission order fixing production. Customarily, that's once a month.

Railroad Commission orders began to stand up in court tests. Order soon came out of chaos.

The life of the East Texas pool and other Texas reservoirs was prolonged. Prices rose back to economic stability. Into the state treasury rolled tax dollars that would otherwise have been lost.

Important oil was saved for the then—unexpected international crises ahead.

In succeeding years, Thompson continued to fight for stronger conservation, fought against federal control efforts, was a guiding organizer and many times chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, worked at finding and attracting new markets for Texas oil and gas, and fought wasteful flaring of gas produced incident to oil.

Thompson's interest in petroleum is tied personally to military as well as civilian needs. As a Lieutenant General, he is commander of the Texas National Guard. He trained two regiments in World War II and was often consulted on war oil problems. He was a machine gun battalion commander in the Argonne in World War I.

"Petroleum is our most vital defense material. We want to have an ample reserve ability for defense should war be forced upon us," Thompson said recently.

It is also Thompson's conviction that the "wheels of progress turn on oil and its products."

It is not difficult, therefore, to understand one of his greatest desires—"more oil for a free world."—Fort Worth Star-Tele-

Aircraft-Spotting Back To Routine

KIRTLAND AIR FORCE BASE, N. M.—Aircraft-spotting in the Albuquerque Defense Identification Zone was back on a routine footing today as Air Defense Command officers began an analysis of their four-day study of air traffic control in the area.

Officers labeled the exercise which ended Sunday at midnight a "definite" success and said it disclosed the statistical information on air traffic and radar defense capabilities "we were attempting to find."

A conclusion already reached, they said, is that civilian pilots have shown an "admirable spirit in their close cooperation" with both the CAA and the Air Force. To insure complete success of the exercise, all civilian flyers were requested to file flight plans with the CAA for any proposed trip into the identification zone.

Some of the statistics sought and uncovered during the four-day post related to the volume and high and low fluctuation points of aircraft penetrating the zone. Also checked were the radar network's capabilities in detection and identification. A permanent record of the number of radar-detected aircraft was made possible with the aid of special radar scope cameras set up during the test to photograph special radar screens. In praising the cooperative spirit of civilian pilots, Air Force spokesmen said flight plans were filed and received for generally all civilian aircraft.
