A Sneer For The West

Donley County Mutual Concert Ass'n To Feature George Jason Here Oct. 28

"He's wonderful, whether he's doing magic or playing the piano", quotes Fred Waring of the Pennsylvanians about George Jason, who with his music, magic and mirth will be in Clarendon Sunday afternoon, October 28th as the initial presentation of the season by the Donley County Mutual Concert Association.

George Jason was born in Tiflis, capital of the Republic of Georgia in the Caucasus of Russia, about fifty miles from where Joe Stalin, the Russian Bear, first saw the light of day. Thirty years ago, Jason left his homeland because he knew that Russia was not large enough for both he and Papa Joe. Jason's parents were well-to-do and he began the study of piano for the concert stage at an early age. While still a high school student in his homeland, he came in contact with some magicians of the Orient who taught him the secrets of magic. On his arrival in the western world he was without funds and would have been deported had it not been for the kind heart of a plumber who saw that he received the proper sponsorship. Soon he had attended college and received his degrees. Today he is a recognized college professor and an electrical engineer as well as one of America's foremost entertainers.

As an actor he has appeared in such hit plays as "A Gift for the Bride" with Louise Ranier and "Without Ryme or Reason" with Bert Wheeler. As a humorist he is original and devastatingly funny. As a concert pianist he has been acclaimed by the most critical audiences. With his music, mirth and magic he is called a one-man vaudeville show which never fails to delight an audience.

COLTS DEFEATED BY SKELLYTOWN JR'S

The Junior High Colts journeyed to Skellytown last Thursday afternoon for their third encounter of the season and were defeated 6 to 0.

The Colts put up a valiant fight against the much heavier and larger Skellytown Juniors and are to be commended for their ability to hold the score to the one counter.

The Colts will be idle this week but will tangle with the Lefors Juniors next Thursday night here on Broncho Field.

REBEKAH LODGE TO HAVE MEXICAN SUPPER

Boy Sleeps Nine Months

BALTIMORE, Md.—Four-year-old Billy Conley has been in a coma since June 15, when he was injured in an accident in the family car. But Billy's mother thinks he may wake up soon, for he now makes a face when he gets his medicine, and smiles when he is fed or given sweets.

Mr. Youngblood, age 72 years, passed away in a Memphis hospital last Thursday afternoon. He was a pioneer resident of Brice and Clarendon. He came to Brice in 1902 and later moved to Clarendon to educate his children. He moved back to Brice several years ago. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Methodist Church. He was very active in church work and devoted much of his time to the betterment of the communities in which he lived.

LOCAL TEACHERS ATTEND CONFERENCE AT CANYON

The fourth campus conference on Elementary Education was held at West Texas State College in Canyon Saturday, October 13, in the Education building. The program was on "The Arts for Boys and Girls" with Natalie Robinson Cole of Los Angeles, consultant.

Following a Coffee in the early morning, and a general assembly at which time Mrs. Cole discussed "The Arts in the Classroom", group interest meetings were held. Included in these meetings were "Art" for both younger and older pupils, "The Dance", "Dramatization", "Poetry Appreciation" for both younger and older pupils, and "Creative Music."

The entire program was both interesting and inspirational. Teachers attending from the Clarendon school system were Mrs. J. H. Headrick, Mrs. Bill Todd and Miss Edgar Mae Mongole.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT COMANCHE

Funeral services were held Sunday at Comanche, Texas for T. W. (Tom) Eanes, age 71, former resident of Clarendon and father of Edwin Eanes of Clarendon.

Mr. Eanes had been called to Comanche from his home in Tulsa, Okla. due to the illness of a sister, Mrs. Jeff Reece and suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday of last week and he passed away Thursday morning. His son, Edwin Eanes, went to be with his father last Tuesday evening.

Comanche was Mr. Eanes' old home. He moved to Clarendon from Comanche in 1920 and made his home here until 1942 at which time he moved to Tulsa.

Burial was in the Comanche cemetery.

SCHOOL ABSENTEES UP

Absenteeism in the local schools was up the past week with a total of 125 absentee days being reported for all grades. The lower grades reported 67 1/2 days and the senior high 57 1/2 days. The above figures are discouraging to school officials. They are still looking forward to a big weekly reduction of absentees. The absenteeism cost the local schools $112.50 the past week.

Movie Stars To Be Here Friday

For "Movietime in Texas—USA" and at the invitation of Mrs. Homer Mulkey and Lee Bell, a troupe of movie stars will appear in Clarendon at the Court House Square at 11:30 a. m., Friday, October 19th. Featured will be Chill Wills and six members of Paramount's Golden Circle Players, Laura Elliott, Mary Murphy, Ann Robin, Joan Taylor, Virginia Hall and Peter Hanson. John Barrymore, Jr. will also be with the group. Jimmy Faulkner, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce will represent the City of Clarendon in welcoming the stars and read the Mayor's proclamation announcing the next 12 months as the Golden Jubilee of the Motion Picture Industry. The public is invited to this free program.

A parade down main street will precede the ceremony. The Caravan Bus, gaily decorated with bunting and flags, and proclaiming "Movietime in Texas—USA" in brilliant red, blue and white will head the parade. Local school students will be turned out at 11:30 in time for the program. The High School band will be playing at the grandstand beginning 15 minutes before the arrival of the stars.

Chill Wills, who got his first name ironically because he happened to be born on the hottest July 18th in Seagoville, in Texas history, entered movie work after first putting in 15 years in vaudeville and burlesque. Chill has been the voice of "Francis" the mule in the two recent Universal-International pictures, "Francis" and "Francis Goes to the Races." The Starlets in the program are being groomed for stardom by Paramount studio executives, producers, directors and writers, according to Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount vice-president and studio head.

Conrad Brady, Interstate City Publicity Director for Houston will be Master of Ceremonies for the Western Star Tour.

Bronchos To Play Tigers At McLean Friday Night

The Clarendon Bronchos will go to McLean Friday night for their third conference game of the season. This is expected to be a pretty evenly fought game with the Bronchos holding a slight edge. The Tigers have received several defeats this season but have played against some strong teams. The McLean team is one that you can't figure much about until the game is in progress and usually brings forth a surprise attack, especially against the Bronchos.

Coach Tom Harrell reports the Bronchos ready for the game in every department and believes the Bronchos can win if they play the right brand of football. From all indications, the Bronchos will be in there doing all they can to get back on the winning side of the ledger again after dropping the last two games.

If you can make the trip, go along and boost the Bronchos all you can. They appreciate your support in every way.

Halloween Carnival Plans Underway

Plans for the annual Halloween Carnival are being completed and voting for a Halloween Queen is continuing. No count had been made at press time as to which candidate is in the lead.

As has been the custom for the past several years, the Sims P.T.A. has used this means of raising funds to help finance the organization thru the year. A list of all the works of the group has not been made but perhaps the one with which we are most familiar is that of the Lunch room, or Cafeteria. There are many others.

Not only does this provide a means of raising money but it also provides an entertainment to occupy the students on Halloween night and allow them an opportunity to work off that energy. Property damage has been held to a minimum.

Watch your paper next week for a listing of the various activities planned by each grade and make your plans now to attend.

From the County PMA Committee

1952 COMMITTEE ELECTIONS
It is almost time for Community Committee and Delegates to the County Convention elections again. Have you been doing some heavy thinking about who you want to represent your community? It is time to start thinking. Election dates have not been set at the present time, but it will be between November 1 and November 22.

DON'T FORGET THE SCRAP DRIVE!!!
Texas farmers are being asked to join in the drive to collect scrap iron and steel. The most concerted effort in this drive will be during the period, October 15 - November 15.

Buyers in the county are: Slim Phillips at Clarendon; Nelson Seago at Lelia Lake; Barney Johnson at Hedley. There may be others and your farm equipment dealer could give you information concerning them.

A partial list of items to look for: plow points and shares, cultivator shovels and sweeps, other broken machine parts, horse-drawn equipment replaced by a tractor, old electric wire and cable, worn-out storage batteries, windmill and water towers replaced by modern pressure systems.

1951 BUDGET
If you need any permanent type practices, come by the office and make application now. There is still plenty of money in the '51 budget.

Lamar D. Aten, Jr. has started work as Senior Field Officer for the Donley County PMA. We are happy to have him with us again.

The total feed grains used in the season ahead will be greater than was produced this year, further reducing our reserve supply.

GRAIN SORGHUM LOANS
Two grain sorghum loans have been made in Donley County this year. They were for Billy Jones and Clay Inman.
The grain sorghum loan rate is $2.09 for Donley County less 15c for storage charges at the present time. The storage charge is 1c less a cwt. each 10 days.

APPLICATIONS FOR PAYMENT
The applications for payment are in the office. If you have carried out a practice this year under the 1951 ACP Program, come by the office and sign up now.

COTTON EXPORTS EXPECTED TO BE HIGH
The prospects for exports of 5.5 to 6.0 million bales of cotton in 1951-52 are still good despite some unfavorable factors, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Office of Foreign Relations. The total might be higher.

Most of the expected increases in foreign production are small or moderate and are in non-competitive growths such as Egyptian and Indian or in such countries as the Soviet Union and China where little, if any, will enter into export markets that demand American Upland Cotton. Prices of some competitive foreign growths are still above those for United States cotton after sharp declines in recent months. Mill consumption in many foreign countries has slowed down temporarily during a period of necessary adjustment to lower cotton prices and disposal of accumulated stocks of higher-cost goods but the outlook for the season's operations is not far below last year's high level.

The supply of dollar exchange in cotton importing countries is still adequate although some deterioration is expected unless the trend is turned upward by heavier U. S. Military aid and procurement abroad as is now generally expected. Funds available for ECA for procurement of cotton for export may be considerably below those available last year but the decrease will be partly offset by Export-Import Bank loans now available to most of the cotton importing countries and the fact that somewhat lower prices than those of a year ago will increase the quantity of cotton available for any given sum of money.

Stocks of cotton in most of the importing countries are considerably below those of a year ago and need to be rebuilt.

Cyclones Defeat Bronchos 20-8

The Clarendon Bronchos dominated the first half of the game here with the Memphis Cyclones last Friday night only to lose out during the last two quarters by a score of 20 to 8.

The Bronchos started the scoring early when a Memphis player was tackled behind his goal line for a safety and 2 points. The next score came early in the second period after Mooring took a pass for 48 yards and Hall plunged over from the 1 yard line. The tide turned shortly after this occasion when a Clarendon punt was blocked and Memphis recovered behind the goal line for 6 points.

The second half started with a revived Cyclone eleven that never let up the remainder of the game. Their second score came with Lee going over for the counter and Smith for the extra. In the fourth quarter Smith took a pass for 12 yards and the 6 points and Tamplin went over for the extra.

The Bronchos would have had another score to their credit had it not been for an off-sides penalty during the first quarter when Mooring took a pass for 49 yards and crossed into pay dirt. It was a heart-breaker to see it called back.

The Cyclones made the major part of their yardage on end runs and quick opening plays through the Broncho line. The Bronchos made some of their passes click for good yardage and capitalized on pass interceptions.

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. Celebrating 50th Anniversary

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company, of Clarendon, is joining in the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the entire Foxworth-Galbraith organization which is being held this month. In Nov. 1909, the Foxworth-Galbraith yard was started in Clarendon and is now managed by W. W. Sandifer.

W. W. SANDIFER

Over $5,800 worth of free prizes will be given away by Foxworth-Galbraith during this golden anniversary celebration. Among the prizes are portable radios, silver service sets, and a brand new 1951 Buick Four Door Sedan, complete with radio and Dynaflo. No contest is involved in winning these prizes. To qualify for the prizes, just visit the local Foxworth-Galbraith lumber yard and register for the drawing.

Foxworth-Galbraith, a Texas organization, has weathered two wars, four depressions, fire, famine, plus innumerable "ups and downs" for half a century. This milestone in the company's life is being celebrated this month throughout its 70 retail lumber yards, strung from the Northeast corner of Texas to California.

What God-given leadership, what driving force, what keen intellect make it possible for one company to accomplish this feat? Not one in ten thousand other companies have been able to live fifty years!

Growing With Texas

The story of how Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company grew, is really the story of the industrialization of Texas and the Southwest.

At this time the country was ready for industrialization and development. At the end of the century there were three million people living in the state—an increase of 273 percent over that in 1870. Railroads during this same period has increased from 711 miles of trackage to 9,687 miles. Texas has just passed through the crude stages of development that had at first whitened prairies with the bones of animals killed for their hides, and later forced millions of cattle on foot over the long trails to the markets of the North.

There had come into Texas sufficient population to absorb into private ownership all except the marginal lands of the great free ranges. The wilderness was conquered, and there were enough activities to form the beginning of industrial and commercial developments which brought more population and greater trade to the Southwest frontier. Foxworth-Galbraith was part of this great development.

Ability To Lead

One of the secrets of Foxworth-Galbraith's success can be found in the personalities of the founders - - in their ability to lead others. An incident in the college life of the late W. L. Foxworth, one of the founders, is revealing.

W. L. Foxworth was graduated from the University of Mississippi, Class of 1890. He was one of America's earliest football heroes—and captain of Mississippi's first football team. He was the smallest player on the squad. Weight: 125 pounds. The next smallest player weighed 205 pounds. The team was in such great demand that it accomplished an unprecedented feat one weekend by playing both Tulane University and the New Orleans Athletic Club football teams on Friday and Saturday afternoons. They won both games!

Mr. Foxworth used to tell about one play which showed unusual initiative. The center weighed 230 pounds — all solid muscle. Young Foxworth, with a stroke of genius one day, sat down and sewed a suitcase handle on the seat of the big center's football uniform! Team Captain Foxworth, with all of his

and hung on while the 230 pound center dashed through the line for a victory! This, of course, happened long before modern day football rules and regulations. Football back in the '90's was truly an exciting game.

After receiving his degree from the University of Mississippi, W. L. Foxworth packed his pennants and football gear, and headed for Orange, Texas, where he was employed by Lutchter-Moore Lumber Company, as bookkeeper. At that time Orange was the lumber capitol of the Southwest. There were located the palatial homes of the lumber barons of Texas and many, many of the largest mills. But Mr. Foxworth was not satisfied to stay in the lumber capitol. His eyes looked West as he heard stories of the opportunities which lay in the rapidly developing areas of the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico. In 1901, he left Lutchter-Moore, and started a lumber yard at Stratford, Texas, named Foxworth Lumber Company.

Shortly thereafter he went to Twist Junction a "whistle stop" on the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad. Here Mr. Foxworth started his second lumber yard which moved later to Dalhart, a few miles north. The first car load of lumber arrived at the Foxworth yard in Dalhart, March 15, 1901.

From Ireland To Texas

And, as young W. L. Foxworth's eyes and feet turned westward, events were taking place that were destined to shape his business career.

An Episcopal rector left Carrickmacross, Ireland, with his wife and eight children, to board a ship bound for the new world. The rector's name was Galbraith. This young Episcopal minister had read much of opportunities in the great frontier of Texas. So, leaving the land of his birth, he, his wife, and family including two sons, H. W. and J. C. Galbraith, journeyed to America. The family settled in the Nueces River country where the sons grew up.

In 1900, H. W. Galbraith joined A. P. Jackson in the retail lumber business in New Mexico, then a land of Indians, sage brush, and open ranges. They opened yards under the name of Jackson-Galbraith Lumber Company at Alamogordo, Capitan, and Cloudcroft, New Mexico.

H. W. Galbraith learned the lumber business during his early years with Burton-Lingo Company, Mr. Jackson, who was an old friend of Mr. Burton, called him one day and said, "Mr. Burton, I need a young man to go in with me who can help me carry the load and isn't afraid of work."

"I have just the man for you, Jackson," Mr. Burton replied. "He's H. W. Galbraith, and although it means losing a valued employee for me, I'm not going to stand in his way if he wants to come out to New Mexico and make a stake for himself."

And so, young Galbraith joined Jackson.

Galbraith and Jackson were determined to expand and were looking for someone to go in with them. Mr. Galbraith stopped off in Dalhart one day between trains. He had heard of Foxworth Lumber Company and dropped in the yard to visit Mr. Foxworth. After talking to Foxworth, Mr. Galbraith sent Jackson, who had remained in New Mexico this wire: "Have found the man we have been hunting for. Catch first train to Dalhart."

Thus, from the meeting which followed soon after, was born the company which was later to become Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company. Today, hanging in a prominent position in the office of Jack Foxworth, son of one of the founders, and now vice-president of Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company, is the warranty deed, dated 1901, from Dalhart Town Company for the property on which the first yard was located in Dalhart. Jack Foxworth, thinking back, remembers that the yard was moved from the original spot on which now stands the modern Dalhart post office. The original company, (Continued to page 8, 2nd Sec.)

50 YEARS OF LEADERSHIP

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company was founded by three pioneers half a century ago. W. L. Foxworth and the two brothers, H. W. and J. C. Galbraith, joined forces to create the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company at the turn of the century when the railroads were first moving into Texas.

Fifty years have passed, and Foxworth-Galbraith has grown with Texas . . . helping the vast, undeveloped state become the empire of industry and progress that it now is. Many thousands of homes in the Southwest have been built with materials supplied from Foxworth-Galbraith. The firm now serves 65 Southwestern cities.

The perseverance, integrity and judgment of the founders of Foxworth-Galbraith carried the firm through many wars, depression, booms and recessions. The policy of constant service to the public is the foundation of the firm's growth and its pledge for the future.

Donley County Soil Conservation District News

The Range Improvement Field Day of the U. S. Southern Great Plains Field Station, Woodward, Oklahoma, held last Saturday was considered highly educational and very beneficial to Forrest Sawyer, H. T. Warner, Jay Gould, Curtis Mears, and Carman Rhode, those attending from Clarendon.

The results of range improvement studies conducted at this station since 1937 were presented on this tour.

The first stop was on grain and forage sorghum breeding work carried on by Wesley Chaffin and R. A. Hunter. Great progress is being made at this and other stations in improving both grain and forage sorghums. Also at this stop, J. R. Harlan told of his work with grass breeding and strain improvement. The most success in grass breeding has been with sand bluestem, switch, and side oats grama. A new superior strain of switch grass seed will be available in another year according to Harlan.

The next two steps were devoted to grass reseeding methods and cattle on Reseeded pastures. The most successful method of seeding grasses on cultivated or abandoned farmland, according to D. A. Savage, Station Superintendent, is to drill a mixture of well-adapted perennial species early in spring in protection of undisturbed stubble left by a previous crop of close-drilled sorghum.

Results were given from a series of 50-acre reseeded pastures grazed yearlong for the last five years. The different grasses and grass mixtures used in these studies were rated in terms of grazing capacity, gain per head, gain per acre, and net returns in comparison with native range with sand sagebrush and range improved by brush eradication and deferment.

Weeping love grass showed to have the highest grazing capacity (2 acres per head for yearlong grazing beginning in the fall with weaner calves), highest gain per acre (151 lbs.), the smallest gain per head (303 lbs.), and the highest net profit of all the pastures in the test.

Sand love grass proved to have beef producing qualities superior to those of any other grass included in the test. Cattle on this grass usually doubled their weight in less than a year. Although this grass supported fewer cattle (4 acres per head) than weeping love grass and produced 47 lbs. less gain per acre, it produced 115 lbs. more gain per steer and nearly the same net return. Profits from sand love amounted to $14.34 annually for the 5-year period.

Brush and weed control work was discussed at the next stop by E. H. McIlvain, Range Ecologist.

According to McIlvain, experiments conducted since 1937 have shown that sand sagebrush can be easily and profitably controlled. The grass production is greatly increased when the control measures are accompanied by (See Soil Conservation, page 6)

COMFORTABLE RECEPTION ROOM FOR THOSE WHO MUST WAIT
Since its discovery in 1895 Chiropractic has grown and has spread all over the world. Today thirty million people take part or all of their health troubles to Chiropractors. Consider these histories.

SKIN RASH

A young lady suffered the agony and embarrassment of a bad skin condition on her face, neck and arms. Her face was red and swollen. She was ashamed to be where other people could see her and itching kept her awake at night. Doctors were consulted and various medicines, remedies and diets were tried with no results—specialists gave no hope and the patient finally resigned her job because of this skin trouble.

In desperation the services of a Chiropractor were employed—a spinal analysis was made by means of X-ray and other examinations. After the trouble was located a series of spinal adjustments were started and the swelling disappeared and face cleared up in spots. Today this young lady works, sleeps well and has a fine complexion. She thanks Chiropractic for her recovery.

CHIROPRACTOR

Unbearable Headaches

Following an auto accident 11 years ago a lady suffered constantly from headaches. She had nausea and vomiting and otherwise poor health. As a last resort the lady turned to Chiropractic and after a few months of adjustments, is able to do her housework and enjoy social life without the pain and poor health she experienced before. This lady hopes that others who are sick and discouraged will give Chiropractic a fair trial.

Paralysis and Blindness

A little girl, age five, suddenly became blind in one eye and almost lost the sight of the other. Seeking help for the girl, the parents consulted several doctors, including a famous Texas brain specialist, who advised the trouble was due to tumors on the nerves and that they should go home and prepare for the worst. All this while the little girl was having progressive paralysis, which eventually completely paralyzed her from the waist down.

The Correct Adjustment to remove Nerve Pressure

Friends suggested Chiropractic and a Chiropractor was consulted, spinal examination was made and X-rays were taken. The exact trouble was located and adjustments were given. Under Chiropractic the eyesight improved steadily and the paralysis was corrected. The names and addresses of these people are available to those who might want them. These testimonials are signed and sworn to.

Principle of Chiropractic

Chiropractic is based upon the premises that disease in the human body are often due to misalignment of the spinal segments, causing pressure on nerves and interfering with the transmission of vital nerve energy to parts or organs of the body. Every effect must have a cause—disease is an effect—Chiropractors adjust the cause to remove the effect.

Chiropractic Is Not "Cure All"

We do not contend that Chiropractic is a cure for all diseases; however, Chiropractic has proved successful in correcting many disorders that have their origin in the spine. Chiropractic may be the answer to your health problems.

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

Uncle Zeb

Read this someplace: The most effective way we've found To curb juvenile delinquency Is the good old fashioned hair-brush Applied with proper frequency.

Uncle Bob Robertson submits the following story: trying to make my $2.98 joke book last longer. This one he says was told to him fifty odd years ago so no one is supposed to have heard it lately. Anyway, the man was asleep in the hotel when the fire alarm sounded. He jumped up put on his trousers hind part before and came tumbling down the stairs head over heel. A policeman picked him up, dusted him off and asked if he was hurt.

"Now, I ain't hurt nowhere, but looks like I sure am all twisted up."

Uncle Bob sends me some letters of recommendation that he brought over with him to this country. They were written back in 1886 and are still in good condition. One was from Jas. McFarlane, Procurator Fiscal (what-ever that is) of the county of Fife, Scotland. He also has one from his father written in 1899 to Uncle Bob's father-in-law Judge C. K. Stribling of Fort Griffin, Texas. They were all very interesting and we thank our good friend a lot for letting us look them over.

Parents spend half of their time wondering how their children will turn out and the other half wondering when they will turn in.

We wonder why they call money "Dough" when it doesn't have any sticking qualities.

I have been asked to use the following little verse again so that one of our readers could clip it for her scrap book: Each time I pass a church,

I always stop and visit; So that when I'm carried in The Lord won't say, Who Is It?

I heard a fellow say the other day that he just hated to see people throwing their money away and not be able to help them.

Someone has said: "Religion is insurance in this world against fire in the next."

Hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil, and no one will want to sit next to you at the Club.

For every woman that makes a fool out of a man there are two that makes a man out of a fool.

Thanks from our heart too, to the many many folks who wrote a birthday greeting to Lester Grumpke a few weeks ago. He made so much happier by your kindness. Flowers, candy, and more than 100 greetings were sent to the hospital for his birthday. Thanks to all of you from both of us.

From the joke book No. 9255: Womens faults are many Men have only two; Everything they say, And everything they do.

Looks like I will have to give up my political ambition. Even Mama don't give me any encouragement on the deal. Maybe it is too far in advance to stir up any interest. Anyway, I notice where they are talking about a new law forcing politicians to be honest. Now how would a politician exist under a law like that. At least we would have to grow another crop of the Washington variety, from the way things look.

One of the editors seemed to think I had a little too much bitterness in my last weeks column. I will quit this week before I indulge again.

Memorial Highway In Palo Duro Park Nearly Completed

CANYON—Completion of the eight mile extension of State Highway 217, the Goodnight Trail Memorial Highway, in Palo Duro State Park is scheduled in early October. The road gives to sightseers one of the most beautiful drives in the Southwest. A scenic bus schedule over the entire route is maintained twice daily from Amarillo and Canyon by the National-Panhandle Trailways. Floods beginning May 14 washed out a portion of the road and did extensive damage to it and to the contractor's equipment. The road at that time was scheduled for completion in thirty days. As a result of the flood the road was rerouted and Crossing Six and Seven of the Prairie Dog Town Fork of Red River, the stream which flows through the Canyon, were eliminated. The new route goes through a more colorful part of the Canyon and provides an entirely different view.

The Five Crossings left in the road plans are designed to carry a maximum of flood water without damage to the road. Motorists will still have to beware of flash floods down the steep stream, but the concrete base and the wide spread given the stream flow will greatly lessen this occasional inconvenience. Principal beach areas are at Crossings One, Three, Four, and Five, and the entire stream area from Crossing Five to the lower edge of the park.

In addition to the new pavement the park has dirt roads cov-

DISEASE spreads from the seed coat to the grain sprout

A costly and persistent enemy of the wheat farmer has met total defeat at the hands of modern science. It is bunt or stinking smut; and it is being wiped out by thousands of winter wheat farmers, by the simple and inexpensive means of treating their seed wheat with "Ceresan" seed disinfectant before they sow. Bigger yields of better quality grain are the result for the wheat grower. The photograph shows how smut spores infect the growing wheat plant. The spores (seen as small black dots) lodge on the coating of the seed. They cannot penetrate its protective natural coat. But when the tender young sprout emerges from the seed, the smut spores throw out a network of feelers, or mycelium, that spread to the sprout and infect the growing young plant with the parasitic smut fungus throughout its structure. The wheat plant acquires the fungus disease from its infected seed-parent. Since the spores of bunt smut are carried on the surface of the seed grain, it is readily controlled by disinfecting the surface of the seed. This is conveniently accomplished by proper treatment of the seed with the fungicide, at the same time the seed is cleaned. The cost of the entire process runs from 1¢ to 5¢ per acre. Call your County Agent to locate the seed cleaning and treating machine nearest to you.

Ever Before

Truck and Car production is now off approximately 40% from the year of 1950. Substitutions are being made for critical materials, and now, more than ever before, it becomes important that we practice preventive maintenance to insure having a car to drive.

Preparations of the cooling system for winter driving is an important item for maintenance that is very often neglected by the average car owner. Oil is changed and chassis lubrication performed regularly, tires are inspected, brakes adjusted, and batteries watched carefully. Many other parts of the car receive regular preventive maintenance, but on the whole, the cooling system is neglected until noticeable overheating develops.

The cooling system is as critical as lubrication and fuel because of the intense heat which must be dispelled and in order to dispel this heat, the system must be clean. Overheating does not develop all at once. Extreme heat or boiling is the result of deposits which have been built up over a period of time, and during that time the efficiency of the cooling system has been gradually decreasing.

An analysis of the clogging deposits show that 90% is made up of rust, the remaining oil and scale deposits. To break and prevent the build up of clogging material, the radiator should be flushed yearly and an anti-oxidant added to help prevent rusting. Anti-freeze should be drained before the rust inhibitors are exhausted, or else the rusting process is hastened.

At CHARLIE SEEDS BUICK CO. you will find a properly trained staff ever ready to help you keep your car at top performance. Drive in today. Remember, NOW? MORE THAN EVER BEFORE.

Chemical control is effective only when plants are growing actively and after they have reached full leaf. This period is from about May 1 to June 15. The most effective spray solution for sand sage is 1 to 1 1/4 pounds acid equivalent of 2, 4, - D, in 3 gallons of diesel oil or in an emulsion of 2 gallons of water and 1 gallon of diesel oil.

Two stops were made in the afternoon to inspect various lots of steers that had different grazing management during the year. Some were from heavily, moderately, and lightly grazed pastures. Some were from sage controlled pastures while some had been on native range with no treatment.

Some lots had various amounts of 41% cottonseed cake during winter. The 20% protein feed was compared to cotton seed cake. In every test the gain per head and the gain per acre were given. The most interesting figures were those comparing, winter supplemental feeding of 1 lb. cottonseed cake per head per day to 2 lbs. per head per day. Steer gains at the 1 lb. rate were 36 lbs. less in winter, 30 lbs. more in summer, or 6 lbs. less yearlong than for the 2 lb. rate. Economic returns averaged $3.75 per head more during the 3 year period from the 1 lb. caking rate than from the 2 lb. rate when steers were carried yearlong.

Many other interesting subjects were discussed. Anyone interested in the results of these studies may write to D. A. Savage, U. S.

Brighter Outlook For Farming Operations

Farmers who borrow from the Farmers Home Administration will be better able to make adjustments in farming operations, increase production and work out balanced farm and home management plans under the newly enacted Public Law 123, James D. Gouley, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, announced today.

The law, amending the Farmers Home Administration Act of 1946, enables the agency to make loans for farm operating expenses up to $7,000 for an initial loan and places a ceiling of $10,000 on the indebtedness outstanding at any one time. The maximum repayment period is seven years. Previously the initial loan was limited to $3,500, the maximum indebtedness to $5,000 and the maximum repayment period to five years.

"In amending the loan terms, Congress recognized that the costs of farm operating expenses have increased sharply in recent years," L. J. Cappelman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, explained. "A farmer who required a $3,500 loan in 1946 for annual operating expenses and the purchase of machinery and livestock would have required a loan of $5,900 for the same purpose in 1951."

"The main objective of the Farmers Home Administration is to help family farm operators make the most efficient use of their land and family labor supply."

"The new loan terms will be of great help in achieving this goal. In the past we have had to turn down many young veterans and other farmers who came to us for assistance simply because we could not provide them with adequate financing under our previous loan limitations to enable them to work out a balanced farming system."

A sound farm and home management plan is drawn up with each family who receives a loan, and no loan is made unless the plan shows that the family will receive enough income to pay operating and living expenses and retire their debts, Cappelman formed in May, 1901, was capitalized at $32,000 and was known as the Jackson-Foxworth-Galbraith Company.

A Giant Is Born

This young, fast growing company reflected the industrialization and growth of the romantic land in which it was located. As the ever expanding Rock Island Railroad laid track from Liberal, Kansas, southwest to El Paso, Texas, Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company followed this steel ribbon with lumber yards to serve the new communities which sprang up at key Rock Island points: Tucumcari, Santa Rosa, Carrizozo, Alamosordo, Capitan, in New Mexico; and Stratford in Texas. They also followed the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway, establishing Texas yards at Channing, Hartley, Amarillo and Clarendon.

In 1904, Mr. H. W. Galbraith went to El Paso, where the company bought out Caples Lumber Company and a planing mill, afterwards known as El Paso Sash and Door Company. This company was the first in the nation to make medicine cabinets and ironing boards as package merchandise.

In 1906 H. W. Galbraith journeyed to Texarkana, where the company purchased the National Lumber and Creosoting Company which they operated for several years.

In 1906, Mr. Jackson died, and it was that year that Mr. H. W. Galbraith's brother, J. C. Galbraith, came to join the organization. J. C. had been with Burton-Lingo Company as had his brother. During these years continuous growth ensued. In 1908, W. L. Foxworth went to El Paso, and H. W. Galbraith to Amarillo a year later. In 1919, Mr. J. C. Galbraith moved from Dalhart to Wichita Falls. These moves were necessary to control the fast moving, rapidly growing giant which they were creating.

"With A Big Auger"

One of the partners' expressions during these years was, "We are a little outfit, but we bore with a big auger." The general office for the company's yards was maintained in Amarillo during these years and continued there until Mr. H. W.'s death in 1936. All was not smooth sailing in these early years. Letters which crossed the plains of Texas from one partner to the other described the adverse local conditions in various localities and lamented the sad monetary conditions of prospective customers. These revealing letters showed that it required a strong constitution, a great deal of intestinal fortitude, and out-and-out bravery for the original partners to hold the company together during the vicissitudes of the early years.

Oil Boom at Burkburnett

In 1919, the company expanded further by purchasing a yard at Wichita Falls, Texas, from C. M. Miller and associates. This yard was purchased in the big middle of the 1919 oil boom at Burkburnett. One of the significant and somewhat unnerving facts concerning this purchase was that 125 full carloads of lumber already were rolling to the newly purchased yard! This, even by today's standards, was a terrific amount to be moving to one small yard—anywhere on earth.

In December of that same year, the company bought another yard in Wichita Falls from Sheeler Lumber Company. This yard was operated as the Southside Lumber Company with Fred Elbert as manager. Young Elbert had been released from the army a short time previously. Eric Beecroft and his brother, Sam, started with the company, after their discharge from the army, at Wichita Falls. They now operate their own yards at Uvalde and San Marcos. These two successful lumbermen's careers are typical of many of the alumni of the Foxworth-Galbraith's sterling organization. In Foxworth-Galbraith's employ they learned the lumber business from the ground up, and due to exemplary leadership and intelligent operating methods these alumni as well as present yard managers, are successful lumbermen wherever they operate.

And The Giant Grew

In 1919, the Arizona yards at Tucson, Mesa, and Phoenix, were added to the group; Bill Killen, who came with the company in 1909, is now at Tucson. Another of the oldtimers with the company is Mr. Lee G. Pearson, at Tucumcari, New Mexico.

In 1923, twenty yards were purchased from the Lyon-Gray Lumber Company, most of which followed the Katy Railroad from Wichita Falls to Dallas. That year, Bill King, of Denton called with the organization from Lyon-Gray. The year 1925 saw the beginning of the oil boom in the Texas Panhandle and the acquisition of several West Texas yards.

It also saw outstanding lumber-selling jobs being accomplished by leaders in the organization such as Foxworth-Galbraith veteran, John Armstrong, now manager of the Amarillo district; Roland Ponce, manager of the South Plains district; and J. E. "Red" Ellis, manager of the Borger yard. The total number years-with-the-company of these three is short of the century mark just a few months! Some hair-raising stories have been told by all three about the early boom days in the Amarillo area.

Early Days in Borger

No fighting ship of the United States Navy was run with more precision than the 24-hour-a-day oil field yard at Borger during the middle of the boom!

Foxworth-Galbraith maintained an oil field yard which was a two-story frame building with the barracks on the second floor. The yard never closed its doors during the entire period of the boom. At that time it was strictly a sellers' market. Prospective buyers waving cash in their hands, lined up in front of the yard and screamed for the lumber so necessary to the construction of wooden oil derricks; for roads, pipe-racks, and for the countless other uses to which wood was being put in the early boom days. The Santa Fe siding at Borger was overcrowded with freight cars that it was like a Chinese puzzle trying to find cars for Foxworth-Galbraith.

Mr. W. L. Foxworth often came out to join in the fun. He drove his open model Buick on the dusty trail which in later years became the Amarillo-Borger highway. When it rained, the Buick would sink down to the axle in mud.

A little later, Foxworth-Galbraith opened a yard at Wink, in far west Texas, when another oil boom developed. Mr. W. L. Foxworth sometimes spent the night at Wink. Among the products handled by Foxworth-Galbraith for the oil field trade was dynamite. Dynamite, as everyone knows, is not like lumber—it must be handled carefully and stored according to instructions. In the rush of the oil boom, one of the yard boys of Foxworth-Galbraith stored the dynamite underneath the stairway—a very dangerous thing to do! Next morning, coming down the stairs, Foxworth discovered that he had been sleeping over enough dynamite to blow Wink half way to California! They sold their dynamite that day at a loss. And ever since then, dynamite has been stored out in the prairie where an explosion could hurt no one but the prairie dogs.

In Dalhart, during the early days, an incident occurred which revealed Mr. Foxworth's generosity. The yard started a trash fire on a vacant lot next to the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. The wind, for which West Texas plains are famous, sprang up quickly. The fire was soon out of control and was spreading to various neighboring lots. The entire town was endangered by the rapidly spreading fire and all the citizens came to the emergency. Volunteer fire engines arrived, and with the help of the townspeople the fire was brought slowly under control before it did any serious damage. However, the men worked so hard that Mr. Foxworth, although a teetotaler himself, telephoned Amarillo and had a barrel of whiskey sent to Dalhart which he personally distributed to the volunteers!

Sons Apprentices For Business

During the ensuing years the three founders married happily and reared their families. The Galbraiths and Mr. Foxworth moved around to the various cities of the Southwest as necessity dictated—to build their large organization. And the young sons, as they progressed through high school and college, worked in the yards beginning at the bottom and handling every job in the yard.

Vice-president Jack Foxworth, son of W. L. Foxworth, completed his apprenticeship and moved to Dallas in 1932 where he was employed in the company's purchasing offices located there. Vice-president Jimmy Galbraith started with his father, J. C. Galbraith, in El Paso. Later he moved to Arizona, and in 1942, he moved to Dallas. Henry Galbraith, Jimmy's brother, worked in the company's yards in West Texas and in the general office after being graduated from Columbia University. He is now serving the company at Phoenix, Arizona. Torbett Galbraith, only son of Mr. H. W. Galbraith, is assisting in the Amarillo district office.

Seventy Yards

The company has grown from the original Dalhart yard to a chain of 70 yards serving Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, with one yard in Needles, California. This giant net-work of retail building material stores is the result of the labors of the founders and the continuing work of their descendants.

In 1936, on December 4, one of the three original founders, Mr. H. W. Galbraith, died at his home in Amarillo. In reporting this sad event, the Gulf Coast Lumberman stated, "From the very beginning, Mr. Galbraith took his place in the business and civic life of his community and his state. He was one of the early progressives in the Texas retail lumber industry. A man of practical vision and purposeful effort, whose valuable counsel was always sought and freely given, he was a pillar on which the lumber fraternity leaned for many years. A rugged strength of mind and character, he was withal, a man of kindly and genteel disposition, very human, very friendly."

Mr. Galbraith served as president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas in 1932. He also was a director of the Lumbermen's Association for many years, giving his time freely for board and committee meetings. He was president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, an active Rotarian, a member of the Episcopal Church, and participated in many philanthropic movements.

General Offices Move To Dallas

Shortly after the death of Mr. Galbraith, the general offices moved from Amarillo to Dallas, where they are now located in the Mercantile Securities Building, a modern skyscraper. The general offices were under the direction of the late Mr. W. L. Foxworth, until his death in 1948. He was 73 years old, and in spite of his advanced years, he scarcely missed a day at the office. He was president of the company from 1936 until his death.

Mr. Foxworth had very few interests outside of his work. He indulged in no particular hobbies, but was known to have been quietly active in many charities in Dallas. He was a business man of extremely keen perception, a man who had the coveted faculty of being able to analyze a business problem quickly, and to make a rapid decision which proved to be right in virtually every case. This one attribute was an important factor through the years in the success of the growing concern.

The only living founder, Mr. J. C. Galbraith, is president, having succeeded Mr. Foxworth on his death. He resides in El Paso, where he has lived for many years. Although he is in his mid-seventies, he is most active in formulating the policies of this organization. He leaves the details in the capable hands of the second generation, but he is fully cognizant at all times of all phases of the operation.

Second Generation of Industry Leaders

Their youthful enthusiasm, their warm, friendly personalities, their years of hard-earned experience in the lumber business—have helped them not only to hold together the great organization, but also to build it into an even more efficient team. The sons of the founders also have many other interests which are in conjunction with their retail yard organization. Those members of the second generation who reside in Dallas, have taken an active part in civic functions in Dallas. Both have given unstintingly of their time and effort to their industry.

Secretary-treasurer of Foxworth-Galbraith is J. V. Woodford. One of the veterans of the company, Mr. Woodford is an expert in the fields of finance and credits, and in tax matters. His analytical mind has been of great assistance in planning ahead and in carrying on in the long range expansion and building program now under way in the company.

Constant Yard Improvement

The company's yard improvement program is a continuing thing which sees the complete rebuilding of various yards throughout the organization. The original yard at Stratford recently has been completely remodeled from lumber sheds to sales room. It now has a beautifully varnished store front in natural wood with the company's trademark emblazoned in three-dimensional letters. Other yards in all districts are being transformed into modern building materials stores, complete with full length show windows, and large sales rooms, so that in each city the Foxworth-Galbraith yard is one of the outstanding materials stores.

Armstrong Manages Amarillo District

John Armstrong, district manager of the Amarillo district, embracing the company's yards located in the Texas Panhandle, is another officer of the company. He started with Foxworth-Galbraith in 1919 and has worked up through the ranks to the position of vice-president. John Armstrong, not only is a leader in Amarillo, but he has done much for the Lumbermen's Association of Texas, of which he was president last year, and is now lifetime director.

Fred J. Elbert, of Wichita Falls, is district manager of the Wichita Falls district, and a vice-president of the corporation. Fred has long been a leader in state wide lumbermen's activities having served many years as director of the state association.

Another star on the Foxworth-Galbraith team is Roland E. Ponce, of Lubbock, Texas, who is district manager of the South Plains district comprising eight yards.

Other stars in the Texas firmament of Foxworth-Galbraith are Glenn Hupt, district manager in Pecos, Texas, who is in charge of five yards in that area; district manager T. C. Harris of Ozona, Texas; and H. F. Morsman, district manager of the Dallas district.

S. A. Beecroft is district manager of the Phoenix district and is vice-president of the company. He is a veteran of 25 years service in locations such as Tucumcari, Sudan, Prescott, and Needles.

The company has always been aggressive in its merchandising activities. Two years ago it began an intensive merchandising and advertising campaign in the test areas of the Panhandle South Plains. This campaign has gathered momentum through the two years it has been in existence. It includes regular advertising in newspapers and on radio stations in various localities. It is handled in Houston by Aylin Advertising Agency.

Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

The company is celebrating its anniversary with an all-out advertising campaign which includes full-page advertisements and a special free gift promotion which will increase the number of customers considerably in all yards included in the campaign. The merchandising-advertising of the company has been so successful that many other companies have requested use of Foxworth-Galbraith's advertising.

The company during its 50 years, has carried out the hopes and dreams of its founders. Mr. Foxworth aptly described the company just before his death in 1948 when he said, "Foxworth-Galbraith has seen the country in two world wars and has been through several depressions, but we've hung on somehow. We've seen all the 'downs' and some of the 'ups'."

And so this pioneer organization of the great industrialized Southwest looks back on its 50 years with satisfaction, and looks ahead to the next 50 years with hope and perhaps a slight feeling of anxiety, but with the composure of one champion who knows his work well and is not afraid to face whatever might come.
