Head football coach Mark Howard is looking forward to watching his players in action. "I will basically be looking to see if the kids execute the offensive scheme we have been teaching them, I'd like to see them execute the plays with some consistency," Howard said.

"I would also like to see our line come off the football well and our quarterback make the right reads." Howard plans to start sophomore Colt Floyd at the varsity quarterback position, and freshman Jeremy Ray as the junior varsity signal caller.

"Defensively the coaches will be looking to see if we have learned to tackle correctly. I also hope to see them playing aggressively."

Plainview workshop to assist area drought-stricken farmers

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry announced today that the Texas Department of Agriculture will host a workshop on Tuesday, Aug. 25, in Plainview aimed at providing valuable information to drought-stricken farmers.

Topics will include the disaster loan application process, resuming production following the drought, and working with local banks for new agricultural loans.

The workshop will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Ollie Liner Center, 200 S. Columbia, in Plainview. The seminar is free and open to all agricultural producers in the area.

"Reliable information is a critical tool for farmers to ensure they make it through this drought and remain a part of Texas agriculture,"

Perry said. "I encourage every producer in the area to attend this workshop so they can be better prepared for the coming months."

Perry notes the Texas A&M University System, Texas Tech University, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency will be working with TDA to assist producers at these workshops.

All 254 counties in Texas have been declared an agricultural disaster because of drought. The designation allows farmers in each county to apply for low-interest loans from the USDA Farm Service Agency.

In addition to providing background on the disaster assistance process, the workshop will offer essential information on resuming production following a drought. Ideas on managing farmland, pastures, and water resources will be shared by leading specialists.

Area banking representatives will also be on hand to assess the drought's impact on lending practices as well as the effects on agricultural loans for the 1999 crop year.

The Plainview workshop is one of 10 being held statewide throughout the month of August. TDA workshops are also being held in Lamesa, Stamford, Navasota, Weslaco, Victoria, Uvalde, Tyler, San Angelo, and Waco.

For more information on the TDA workshops, contact Katie Dickie Stavinoha, TDA special assistant for Producer Relations, at (512) 463-7593.

FSA effort to help with hay shortages

Steven Orr, CED of Donley County Farm Service Agency today announced a new effort to match farmers and ranchers suffering from hay shortages with producers having hay surpluses.

"Some areas have surpluses, and some have severe shortages, said Orr. "This is a new and exciting way to get producers in both situations in touch with each other."

Hay Net is a national clearing-house for producers with shortages or surpluses of hay. Farmers and ranchers are encouraged to sign up and register their hay situation at the Donley County FSA.

FSA will use its nationwide computer network to share the information. Producers in need of hay will be provided with lists of the closest producers with hay to spare, and vice versa, allowing them to contact each other and make arrangements.

"I'm very pleased to be a part of this effort," said Orr. "It's a great tool for getting badly needed hay to people who need it as quickly and efficiently as possible. I encourage everybody to participate who can, and to come in as soon as possible. The more people that sign up, the better the system will work."

Hay Net will remain in operation for six months. Further information on Hay Net is available at Donley County Farm Service Agency, 806/874-3561.

WTU donates money to agencies to help customers

ABILENE — West Texas Utilities Company is providing $100,000 in emergency funds to assist customers hardest hit by the summer heat wave. The company is also working on an individual basis with customers who are having problem paying their electric bills.

"We're taking these steps to assist as many people as we can, especially those who face the greatest difficulties," said Paul Brower, WTU General Manager and President. "The most important thing is to take care of yourself and not put your health at risk because of concerns about the cost of running fans or air conditioners when temperatures are extremely high. If you think you're going to have a problem paying your electric bill, we urge you to call us as soon as possible, and we'll work with you to develop payment arrangements," he said.

The company's emergency contribution will be to 13 West Texas agencies associated with the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. The donation will boost the money available for short-term assistance to WTU customers facing financial hardship.

These various agencies throughout WTU's 52 county service area will be administering the emergency contribution locally at the Panhandle Community Services office located in Clarendon.

"We hope these measures will provide some short-term relief. However, we're aware that long-term payment problems can develop, so we urge customers to make every effort to stay current on their bills and call us to work out a payment plan," Brower said.

Already this summer, WTU has set five all-time company records for power demand by customers. The latest came on August 3, when afternoon peak demand was 1,591,000 kilowatts in a single hour. A kilowatt hour (kWh) is the amount of energy needed to power ten 100-watt bulbs for one hour. On July 7, WTU set an all-time record for energy usage over a 24-hour period with 30,806,000 kilowatt-hours.

WTU, with headquarters in Abilene, serves about 186,000 customers in 52 West Texas counties. WTU is a Central and South West company.

Mayor Dishong resigns post at Howardwick

The Howardwick Board of Aldermen met in regular session on Tuesday, August 11, 1998, at 7 p.m. in the Howardwick City Hall.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor Pro-Tem Margaret Pettit. A letter of resignation from Mayor Millie Dishong was read and accepted by the board.

In her letter Dishong reportedly gave health concerns and starting a new business as why she resigned from office.

Replacing the mayor was discussed.

In other city business, the board approved the addition of three dumpsters and approved a motion to accept and buy some property from Mrs. R.L. Giles. The need to replace the radio at the Sheriff's Office was discussed and tabled until Pettit could talk with Judge Hall.

After a closed session, the board made two changes to the personnel policy. Three weeks of vacation will be received after 10 years of service, and the maintenance man will clean the bathrooms every week instead of the secretary.

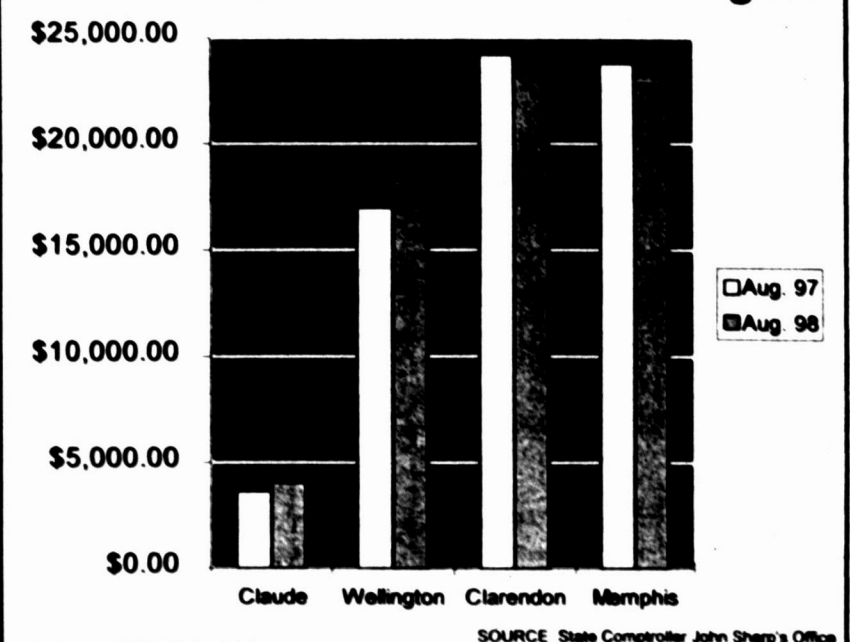

Face Lift

Work continued last weekend on the facade of the Herring National Bank. Saturday workers installed a new stone "Bank" sign, replacing the original one which had been damaged when the bank was last remodeled in the 1960s. The bank's current remodeling effort is helping to improve the appearance of the downtown area.

Area Sales Tax Rebates For August

Sharp releases area sales tax results

AUSTIN — State Comptroller John Sharp last week delivered a total of $255.8 million in monthly sales tax payments to 1,094 Texas cities and 118 counties, a 12.4 percent increase over the $227.6 million allocated in August 1997.

This month's sales tax rebates include local sales taxes collected by monthly filers on June sales and by quarterly filers for April, May, and June and reported to the Comptroller in July.

"The Texas job market and new businesses are still growing steadily and retail sales continue to soar, as consumers show confidence in a rosy outlook for the Texas economy," Sharp said. "Year-to-date, rebates to cities and counties are up 11.5 percent over last."

Donley County rebates did not follow the state trend however. Clarendon dropped 2.9 percent to $23,464.63, and Hedley dropped 8.71 percent to $725. Howardwick was up 57.26 percent for a total rebate of $1,743.85.

Clarendon desperate for ambulance volunteers

Dear Editor:
 This letter is to alert the people of Donley County about the critical situation our ambulance service is facing. We have three fully equipped ambulances, but we do not have enough certified personnel to keep all three in service. We have received a variance that will allow us two ambulances when we only have one certified and one non-certified person on board; the 3rd ambulance can never be used until we get more certified volunteers and are cleared by the state to use it again.
 We are desperately trying to get more volunteers into the group to be trained as EMTs. The ambulance board has set aside more money for training purposes. We already have one certified instructor and are paying for two more people to become certified instructors. The classes will be taught here in Clarendon at no charge for any Donley County resident. There would be a charge for anyone outside the county that wanted to take the courses. There would be some time that the volunteers would have to go to Amarillo for experience in the ER and other areas of the hospital.
 We are urging the citizens of Donley County to get behind our volunteers and support them in any way they can. We need to encourage the volunteers and let them know how much they are appreciated. We do not have the funds with which to have a fully paid staff so the volunteers are needed very badly.
 The Texas Department of Health says that we need from 15 to 25 certified people per ambulance for ideal coverage. We right now have fewer than 10 people total that are certified. This is what made it necessary for us to get a variance so that we would not be operating illegally since we do not have enough certified people to run two per ambulance. We need a minimum of 45 to 75 certified people to be able to legally run all three ambulances.

 The state has granted us a one-year variance but we have to show them that we are trying to improve the situation in Donley County. The ambulance board has instigated several things that they hope will be incentives for more people to volunteer. We have recently increased the amount of the gratuity for the volunteers for each trip they make. There are no charges for their classroom education for EMT certification. Monthly meetings are offered for quick refresher courses that would be helpful since we might go a long time without seeing some of the things that are emergencies.
 Please if you know of any person that would be a good EMT please encourage them to become a volunteer and then stand behind them and support them fully. We either recruit more volunteers and educate them or we will lose our ambulance service, and this is something that we cannot afford to lose.
 If you are interested or know of someone that would be good, please encourage them to contact Phillip Vargas, Tex Selvidge, or Jack Hall and let them know that you are willing to help out.
 The more volunteers we have, the fewer times they would have to make a run to the hospital somewhere.
 Once again I say to encourage and support our volunteers because they are a vital part of our ambulance service.

IRS To Undergo Fundamental Reform

By U.S. Sen Phil Gramm
 As a member of the Senate Finance Committee, I recently participated in several hearings where witness after witness told harrowing stories of outrageous IRS abuses. Nobody familiar with those hearings needed to be convinced that the time had come for a fundamental change in the relationship between the taxpayers in this country and the agency that is charged with collecting taxes.
 We needed substantial changes that enhanced the rights of taxpayers and diminished the unbridled power of the Internal Revenue Service. As a result of listening to Americans across Texas and the nation, the Senate and the House of Representatives have passed an IRS reform bill, which achieves these goals. This bill will not, however, let tax cheats off the hook. With the full backing and support of Congress, the IRS will continue to vigorously enforce the law, and those who attempt to defraud the federal government and burden their neighbors by not paying what they owe can count on prosecution.
 My own view, and the view that I believe dominates this bill, was that with a few notable exceptions, there was nothing wrong with the people who work at the IRS. They are ordinary people. They have families. The problem is that, as the ancient Greeks observed, power corrupts, and the Internal Revenue Service is an agency of government invested with tremendous power. Compared to the criminal justice system, for example, the IRS in its dealings with us on tax matters is literally the police, the investigator, the prosecutor, the judge and the jury. The IRS' unchecked power created an environment in which abuses had become common.

 Good people sometimes do bad things. What alarmed me most about the testimony was that nothing ever changed at the IRS, no matter how egregious the abuse of power became. When people did bad things in the IRS, they were seldom, if ever, punished. And when people did good things, like trying to raise the level of awareness in the IRS that abuses were occurring, often-bad things happened to them.
 We had a system that reinforced bad behavior. That convinced me and ultimately the vast majority of members of both houses of Congress that the system needed changing. What we produced, I believe, is an approach that really curbs this unrestrained power.

To fix the problem, we passed legislation that makes fundamental changes in the IRS. First, we shifted the burden of proof from the individual taxpayer to the IRS. This provision basically guarantees honest taxpayers the same rights that criminals have in the criminal justice system: The right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty. This is a major step in the right direction.
 Another change that I believe will alter the relationship between the tax collector and the taxpayer is a "loser-pays" provision. This is an important principle I would personally like to see throughout our legal system. In this instance, if you are audited by the IRS and are forced to hire attorneys and accountants to defend yourself, and at the end of the process it is found that you are hapless, then the IRS may be held liable for the costs you incurred in defending yourself. More than just being basically fair, this will create an incentive for the IRS managers to carefully consider their actions before inflicting economic hardship on an innocent, hapless taxpayer.
 Other provisions in the bill will:

- Protect innocent spouses from harassment for the tax errors of their former husbands or wives;
- Suspend interest accrual and many penalties if the IRS fails to contact a taxpayer about a dispute within 18 months of filing their return;

- Make it more difficult for the IRS to seize or file liens on property;
- Transfer IRS internal inspections to the Treasury Department;
- Make it easier for the IRS Commissioner to hire senior executives and to fire employees who violate the law or behave in unjustifiable ways; and
- Create an oversight board including the Commissioner, the Secretary of the Treasury, an IRS employee representative and six private-sector members.

I think we have made a good law that will shift the burden of proof, that will force the IRS to pay when it is wrong, and that enhances the ability to hire and fire/hire on the basis of competence, illegal or reprehensible behavior.
 I am strongly in favor of this law and I hope we can follow it with an effort next year to reform the Tax Code to make it simpler and fairer. This law is a step in the right direction - giving Americans back their rights, reminding the IRS that it serves the people and not the other way around, and reining in rogue employees.

HillaryCare: A Trojan horse galloping through the back door

By Peggy M. Venable

Just when you thought it was safe to turn on the TV, politics has once again taken over the airwaves. Most Texans have yet to give a thought to the November elections, but the politicians are already out there, promising (among other things) to protect patients and "fix" health care. But which politicians are really trying to expand your health care choices, and which ones are trying to elbow their way into your doctor's exam room? A quick look reveals most have their elbows out, but some are backing consumer-friendly reforms.
 Texas Democrats have proposed what they call a "patient bill of rights", which they claim will allow consumers to choose their own doctor. Sounds good. Consumers like having choices, such as the ability to choose their doctor. What consumers don't like is having someone else especially government - calling the shots. And that's where the Democrat's plan falls on its face. It would expand your choices about as much as the IRS expands your income.
 Rather than give you more choices, the Democrats' plan would require you to buy health coverage that includes the more expensive option of being able to choose a doctor outside your plan (called a "point of service" option.) This is classic "tax and spend" big government, only instead of taxing you directly to pay for what the government wants, government is forcing you to pay through a hidden tax that increases your health premiums.
 If this sounds familiar, it should. Remember that in 1994, the Clinton Administration and its secretive health care task force tried to take over the health care system with all manner of mandates, restrictions and hidden taxes. Of course, the Clintons said they wanted to expand choices, but once voters realized ClintonCare would put a bureaucrat between every American and their doctor, they soundly rejected this big government intrusion.

 The Clintons and their friends have not abandoned the fight for government-run health care. "What I tried to do before won't work," Clinton said. "Maybe we can do it... a step at a time until eventually we finish this." This new strategy is to take control of our health care one piece at a time - with mandates that restrict your choices and drive up your health premiums until a government program is the only choice you have left. Keep that in mind the next time you hear a politician promise you your "choice" of doctor.
 Congressman David Bonior (D-MI) was quoted last month saying that if Democrats take back the House, "We may actually get back to the whole [national] health care debate in the next Congress."
 The recent wave of new state and federal health care mandates (so-called "patient protections"), are hidden taxes which threaten Texans' access to quality health care benefits at an affordable cost.
 Texas doesn't need higher health care taxes. We need to put patients back in the driver's seat - so they can tell employers and government bureaucrats to take a hike. That's the idea behind one promising proposal, backed by Republican Congressman Bill Archer, chairman of the House's tax-writing committee.

 Congressman Archer's proposal would put you back in control of your health care by giving you a tax break for health insurance, which is why nearly two-thirds of Americans have their health benefits dictated to them by their employer.
 For most families, this tax break would cut the cost of health insurance by almost 25 percent. No more accepting whatever coverage your employer gives you. No more discussing sensitive medical information with the boss. No more worrying about losing coverage because you leave your job. You set the coverage levels. You set the deductibles. You decide between plans that let you see any doctor you wish and those that cost less but require you to see one of their doctors. The choice is yours.
 Evidently, some politicians think restricting your health care choices is somehow going to improve our health care system. Texans need to let them know that we want reforms that expand our choices, rather than leave us with even less control over our health care.
 So next time you hear a politician talk about mandating the "right to choose your own health care," think "government run health care." Think "no thanks!"

Clarendon Aldermen hold regular meeting

The Board of Aldermen of the City of Clarendon met in regular session August 11, 1998, at 7 p.m. in the Board Room of City Hall.

Minutes of the last meeting were amended to reflect that John Tom Morrow seconded the motion on the subject of the Little League field rather than James Owens.

Jim Roberts reported on the progress of the Sewer Plant Grant and on work being done in the drainage ditch on Carhart Street.

Billie Shaffer asked the board to do a survey before paving Montgomery Street in front of her house so the city would not cut into her yard. Alderman Billy Jack Land moved, seconded by John Tom Morrow, to have the survey done the next time an engineer is in town. Motion carried.

Buster Gray asked the city to close Barcus and Burkhead streets between Kearney and Gorst as these streets are not being used. He also requested that Gorst Street in front of his house be paved and that "slow children at play" signs be placed on Gorst Street. No action was taken.

Jean Chamberlain presented a proposal of exchange to the board. The city is in need of two partial blocks of her property in connection with the sewer plant.

Mrs. Chamberlain said she would deed this property to the city in exchange for paving the street to her house. Alderman Mac Stavenhagen moved, seconded by Land, to pave the street in exchange for the property. Motion carried.

A called meeting was set for August 14 at 1 p.m. to discuss the upcoming fiscal year.

Jerry Woodard was appointed to the Clarendon Economic Development Board to fill the vacancy caused by Steve Smith's resignation.

The board approved using Herring National Bank to finance the note for the new trash truck.

The board discussed the Hiring Policy. The aldermen voted to have Jim Roberts review the applications and present them to the board for final decision.

Area residents benefit from services of the Ronald McDonald house

Many families from Clarendon have benefited from the services offered by the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo. Without the love and compassion of the Ronald McDonald House, many would have been forced to commute while a loved one was ill and receiving medical services in Amarillo. Since opening its doors 15 years ago, the Ronald McDonald House has served more than 5,000 families from a five-state area, thirty-two other states and five foreign countries.

Since 1983, forty-three families from Clarendon have stayed at the Ronald House during their trips to Amarillo for medical treatment. Each family is provided a private room and bath. A community kitchen, eating area, living room, playroom, and library are available for families to be together while they confront an illness or accident. Laundry facilities are provided, and all guests are encouraged to feel at home.

1998 Property Tax Rates in DONLEY COUNTY

This notice concerns 1998 property tax rates for Donley County. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

	General Fund	Farm to Market/ Flood Control Fund	Special Road/ Bridge Fund
Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 296,943	$ 129,485	$
Last year's debt taxes	$ 0	$ 0	$
Last year's total taxes	$ 296,943	$ 129,485	$
Last year's tax base	$128,053,551	$125,421,281	$
Last year's total tax rate	$.23189/100	$.10324/100	$ /100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 296,732	$ 129,215	$
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$130,137,709	$127,302,709	$
- This year's effective tax rate for each fund	$.2280/100	$.1015/100	$ /100
Total effective tax rate	$.2295/100
This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and including taxes for state criminal justice mandate)	$ 335,889	$ 168,547	$
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$130,137,709	$127,302,709	$
- This year's effective operating rate	$.25810/100	$.13239/100	$ /100
x 1.08 - this year's maximum operating rate	$.27874/100	$.14298/100	$ /100
- This year's debt rate	$ 0 /100	$ 0 /100	$ /100
- This year's rollback rate for each fund	$.27874/100	$.14298/100	$ /100
This year's total rollback rate	$.42172/100

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Hedley Consolidated Ind. School District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll by 3.94 percent. Your individual taxes may increase or decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property and the tax rate that is adopted.

The public hearing will be held on August 24, 1998 at 8:00 p.m. in Hedley ISD Home Ec. Room

FOR the proposal: Unanimous
AGAINST the proposal:
PRESENT and not voting:
ABSENT:

The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average residence homestead value	$ 17,540.00	$ 17,540
General exemptions available (amount available on the average homestead, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 15,000	$ 15,000
Average taxable value	$ 2,540	$ 2,540
Tax rate	$1.27/$100	$1.38/100
Tax	$ 32.26	$ 33.53

Under this proposal, taxes on the average homestead would increase by $ 1.27 or 3.94 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $.05 per $100 of taxable value or 3.94 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Criminal Justice Mandate (for counties):
The County Auditor certifies that County has spent $ in the previous 12 months beginning for the maintenance and operations cost of keeping inmates sentenced to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. County Sheriff has provided information on these costs, minus the state revenues received for reimbursement of such costs.

Extension service makes Money 2000+ program available to county residents

By Sue Church, County FCS agent

All of us wish we had more money, but the fact of the matter is the average American is better at spending than saving money. In an attempt to change that, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has set up a program called Money 2000 Plus to help families save two thousand dollars by the end of the year 2000. Donley County is one of 15 counties in Texas piloting the program.

Signing up for the program entitles you to quarterly newsletters which offer sound financial advice and tips. Additionally, there are software programs which can assist enrollees in evaluating their financial situations and recommend alternatives one might consider in paying off debt. Plans for financial educational series are currently being made for program members.

Every three months the program has a $100 savings bond drawing for new enrollees. Sign up today at the Donley County Extension Office to make yourself eligible for the drawing.

Donley County Senior Citizen say farewell to long-time volunteer

By Sandra Minatrea

The Donley County Senior Citizens Board of Directors and membership send Helena Catoe our best wishes as she moves to Amarillo this week. Helena has volunteered at the Senior Citizens Center for the past nine years. She has faithfully volunteered four hours per day, five days every week at the Center and has put in numerous hours making craft items which she donated to the Center to sell. Helena will be greatly missed. We had a good crowd with us

Thursday night for Mexican Pile On. Volunteer workers for the meal were Bill and Judy Hodges, Nelson and Virginia Christie, Bill and Helen Land, Jean McAnear, Billy Powell, and Karen Wortham. Homemade desserts were donated by Clara Mae Carter, Wilma Spear, Jeanette Stephen, Mary Jane Smith, Jean McAnear, and Francis Deyhle.

L.C. Keith won the cake donated by Lee Caskey last Friday. We appreciate Loel Box for the storage shelves that he donated to us.

The public is invited to attend the Tuesday, August 25, birthday/ anniversary supper at 6:00 p.m. Dan Hall will be singing for us that evening.

Reynolds family reunion held here recently

On August 8, 1998, one hundred seventy-eight family members and friends gathered for the Reynolds family reunion.

Robert Oliver Reynolds and Henrietta Kitchens were married December 23, 1901 in Clark County, Arkansas, where all eleven of their children were born.

In the spring of 1924, Bob and Etta, along with Frank, Marie, Clarence, Martiel, Lorene, Polly, and Eddie and one old dog, moved by truck to Hall County, Texas. Ella, Bill, Bertha, and Lloyd remained in Arkansas, although Lloyd later moved to Texas. Bob and Etta spent many years in Donley County, living in the Goldston community and later the Martin community.

Honored guests at the reunion, held at the Clarendon Community Center, were the surviving children of Bob and Etta Reynolds: Marie Reynolds McCracken and Lorene Reynolds McAnear of Clarendon, and Martiel (Carley) Reynolds Webb, Edgar and Charlene Owens Reynolds, and Oveline McCracken Reynolds of Amarillo.

There were family members attending from all over the country and even from south of the equator. Ronnie McCracken flew in from near Bogota, Colombia, and Joyce Ann Wells Dull from Maui, Hawaii. Other states represented were Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Kansas, Illinois, Ohio, Arkansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, and California. Texas was well represented with visitors from San Antonio, Houston, Austin, Dallas, and all over the Texas Panhandle.

Besides all the catching up and trying to figure out who belonged to whom, there were a few organized activities. Of course, eating grilled hamburgers and hot-dogs was high on the list, Edgar Reynolds offered the blessing, the same one spoken by Bob Reynolds before every meal; also, the young people organized volleyball and kickball games.

Charlene Owens Reynolds directed various family members in several skits titled, "The Sunshine Girls," "The Old Red Rooster," "Uncle Zeke," and "Pappy's Whiskers."

The audience was impressed with these actors and actresses, some of whom are packing their bags for Hollywood.

An event of this size could not be a success without planning and hard work. We appreciate Colleen Cockerham Fross for the inspiration and invitations; Peggy McCracken Cockerham for coordinating the event; Doris Webb Lemons as food coordinator, and Barbara McAnear Hannon and Vela Webb for helping; Wesley Webb for the use of his big grill and for cooking; Jack Clark and Cindy Cockerham for cooking breakfast; Gary Cockerham for the use of his sound system; Steve Reynolds and Gary English for the music; Charlene Owens Reynolds for coordinating the program; Jim Cockerham and Rocky McCracken for mowing and outside detail; Irissa Webb and Allan Webb for ice detail; J.V. Kelley, Rachel Kelley, Emily Kelley, Josh Sheer, Sasha Sheer, Amanda Cockerham, Laurel Cockerham, Jan McCracken, Candy Cockerham, and Lori Cockerham McDaniels for setting up chairs and tables, blowing up balloons and decorating the building; everyone who helped clean up the aftermath including Jimmy Wayne McAnear; Thunder Junction for the discount on the water park tickets; everyone who donated food and refreshments; and all those who took off an August weekend to come and reconnect with the family. It was a wonderful reunion, and everyone is looking forward to the next time the Reynolds clan gets together.

TSCRA looking for more young cattle raisers

FORT WORTH — Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association is looking for a few good men and women with the potential to become the next generation of producer-leaders in the beef industry.

More than half of the association's 14,000 membership is older than 55, and according to recent TSCRA surveys around Texas, many of these producers plan to retire in the next 5 to 10 years. So who will take over the reins of Texas and Oklahoma ranches? That is the question TSCRA and Pfizer Animal Health hope to answer through the Dectomax® Young Cattle Raisers Award.

The winner will receive a travel scholarship to spend the day with a mentor of their choice in the U.S. cattle business. The top three nominees will be profiled in The Cattleman magazine, and everyone nominated for the award will be invited to a special session during the 1999 TSCRA School for Successful Ranching in Fort Worth, March 27-28. This will be an in-depth seminar tailored to the needs of young producers.

A committee of experienced ranchers will evaluate the nominees based on commitment, sound management and vision. The overall winner of the Dectomax® Young Cattle Raisers Award will be named during TSCRA's annual trade show on March 28. Pfizer Animal Health will give each nominee and their sponsor a 100 mL bottle of Dectomax®.

TSCRA is looking for individuals or couples actively engaged in the cattle business, between the ages of 20 and 39. They must be members of TSCRA and have a sponsor. The sponsor, who does not need to be a TSCRA member, should send an application with a letter of recommendation and $100 to TSCRA's headquarters in Fort Worth. The sponsorship fee will be used for the educational program to bring in top-quality speakers. "TSCRA's objective in this joint effort with Pfizer Animal Health is to provide young TSCRA members with a program to improve their ability to convert challenges into opportunities for growth, development, and prosperity," says Steve Munday, TSCRA executive vice president. "In turn, we believe these young men and women are going to share their knowledge as leaders of our industry."

Nominations are due by Nov. 1, 1998. For an application or more information, contact Sharla Adams at 1-800/242-7820 ext. 134.

TxDOT plan hopes to put speeders, drunk drivers out of business

POTTSBORO — Speeders and drunk drivers take note: Texas hopes to put you out of business. That's a tall order, but the Texas Department of Transportation, along with law enforcement agencies across the state, is hoping a $21 million highway safety plan approved by the Texas Transportation Commission in its monthly meeting last week will do just that.

The funds will finance programs during fiscal year 1999 to combat drunk driving, increase safety belt usage and compliance with posted speed limits around the state. The plan also addresses bicycle safety, pedestrian safety, school bus safety, school bus safety and emergency medical services, particularly in community programs.

"The programs work by involving the groups who can make a difference in reducing crashes and injuries in Texas," said Susan Bryant, TxDOT traffic safety director. "We have enforcement and education programs with police and sheriffs agencies, the Department of Public Safety, schools, universities, community groups — everyone who has a vested interest in keeping Texas roads safe."

Bryant said young drivers continue to be disproportionately involved in traffic crashes in Texas. During 1996, 10 percent of all drivers killed in motor vehicle crashes were between 15 and 19 years old, while this population makes up only six percent of all drivers. That same year, 19 percent of drivers 18 to 24 were killed in traffic crashes, but that age group is only 13 percent of the driving population.

"That's why many of our projects will focus on curbing youth crashes. Our Cops and Shops program with the Texas Alcohol Beverage Commission is one way we're hoping to make these numbers go down," Bryant said.

"Cops in Shops works to restrict minors' access to alcohol at liquor stores and other 'off premise' licensed establishments. Under a separate program, we target 'on premise' establishments.

"Traffic crashes are preventable in Texas, but its going to take a coordinated effort from all Texans," Bryant said.

September deadline for historical commission preservation grants

AUSTIN - The deadline for 1999 Texas Preservation Trust Fund (TPTF) grants is September 1. Last year, the Texas Historical Commission (THC) awarded approximately $350,000 to assist organizations around the state in their efforts to preserve significant historic landmarks.

The Texas Legislature created the TPTF, the only statewide preservation grant program, to preserve endangered historic buildings and significant archeological sites. Earned interest and designated gifts from the pool of public and private monies are distributed as matching grants. The program provides up to one-third of the total project costs for acquiring, planning, and developing historic properties.

For more information or to receive an application for TPTF grants contact: Stan Graves, director, Division of Architecture, Texas Historical Commission: (512) 463-6094.

Extension Service Update

by Leon J. Church, CEA-AG and Sue P. Church, CEA-FCS

The annual 4-H Better Bread Bake Show was held in the Donley County Extension Office on Monday, August 17th. Six 4-Hers participated by preparing yeast rolls. Judges Ruby Jewel Hardin and Betty Jean Williams reported that it was particularly difficult to make the placings as the entries were all excellent. First place winner, Uthala Abdullah, will represent the Donley County at the District Better Bread Show which will be held at the Tri-State Fair in September. Other placings include: Trisha Church, second; Treva Rowland, third; and Jacki Grady, Lisle Rowland and Abby Patten - participants.

Uthala Abdullah of Clarendon was the first place winner at the annual 4-H Better Bread Bake Show held in the Donley County Extension office. She will be representing Donley County at the District Better Bread Show to be held at the Tri-State Fair in September. Uthala is the daughter of Abby and Ayesha Abdullah.

On Thursday, September 17th, there will be a monogramming class offered to interested adults at the Panhandle Community Center from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. Ruby Jewel Hardin will share her expertise with those interested in taking the hands-on class. To register and learn about supplies needed for the class, call Sue at the Extension Office at 874-2141.

Adult leaders are needed for the foods project which will be starting soon. The most necessary requirement for the position is enjoying working with youth. Additional training is available. If you'd just like to work with a couple of young people, that would be helpful as well.

Environment effects homework habits

HOUSTON — A structured environment can turn homework woes into successes.

"If doing homework has been a problem in the past, use the new school year as a time to implement change," said Dr. Florence Eddins, a child psychiatrist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "Work with your child to settle key homework issues of where, when, and the surroundings."

One homework essential is adequate study space with good lighting and few distractions.

"Desks in rooms can be fine if they aren't covered with clothes or other belongings," Eddins said. "However, the dining room or kitchen table often works well and makes parental supervision a little easier."

For young children, Eddins encourages parents to sit nearby with work of their own.

However, parents should pull back as soon as possible, so child can learn to work independently. Check in periodically on older children rather than hovering over them.

To establish a homework time, talk with your children about the time of day that works best for them.

"Many children prefer 'time off' for play or for an afterschool snack, but others will do best completing assignments before television time or engaging in other activities," she said.

Flexibility is another key ingredient to creating the right homework environment. Eddins cautions parents to remember that what works for them may not be right for their child.

"You may need uninterrupted quiet to get work done, but your child may like music in the background," she said. "The important thing is to experiment and learn what works best for your child."

Homework success also depends on good communication between the parents and teacher. Parents should learn what the school expects of the child and of the parents.

If remembering homework has been a problem in the past, ask the teacher to send home written notices of homework assignments. This system allows parents to monitor assignments and reward their child for completing assigned work.

"A minimal reward for remembering assignments four nights out of five puts the focus on the positive, not the negative," Eddins said. "Taking time to notice your child's efforts can make a big difference."

Representing the junior class for the 1998-99 school year will be President Catherine Chamberlain, Vice President Cary Thornberry, Secretary Lindy Helms, and Treasurer Noel Devin. They will be leading their classmates in several fund-raisers this year, such as selling spirit ribbons and tattoos, magazines, and cake raffles. Proceeds will be used to defray prom expenses.

THC investigating Red River war sites

AUSTIN - The Texas Historical Commission (THC) is investigating several major battle sites associated with the 1874 Red River War.

The archeological sites stretch across the Panhandle, including Hutchinson, Armstrong and Hemphill counties. The THC received funding from the National Park Service's American Battlefields Protection Program to research key sites relating to this historic war in which the U.S. military attempted to oust the Plains Indians.

The war, which brought an end to Native American military power in the southern plains, may have taken place on as many as 20 battle sites.

The goals for the Red River War project are to establish site records, generate maps, nominate sites to the National Register of Historical Places and work with museums to exhibit the findings. Another goal is to eventually develop a "Red River War Heritage Trail" tourism plan that would help the public learn more about both the battle sites and this important phase of Texas history. Plans also include acquiring descriptions of the Native American perspective on the war. For more information contact: Pat Mercado-Allinger, state archeologist, Texas Historical Commission, (512) 463-8882.

Historical markers 2000 project nears goals

AUSTIN — The Texas Historical Commission's (THC) Historical Markers (HM) 2000 Project has completed survey work on historical markers in 97 percent of Texas counties.

Project staff expect to finish surveying the markers in eight remaining counties in northeast Texas by the end of August. To date, the THC has surveyed close to 11,000 markers.

HM 2000 staff have also repaired more than 2,000 markers and expect to complete the remaining work in the Lufkin, Tyler, Paris, and Atlanta areas by the end of September.

The HM 2000 Project was developed to survey all and repair many of the more than 11,000 markers in Texas' 254 counties. THC staff photographed markers and documented their location using global positioning software. Information on each marker is being added to a database that will be available on the THC web site (www.thc.state.tx.us) in 1999. Instructions for cleaning and maintaining your county's markers are available on the THC web site or from the HM 2000 staff: (512) 463-6680.

The THC administers the state's historical marker program, the largest marker program in the U.S. Seventeen states and one Canadian province have used the Texas marker program as a model for their own initiatives. Agency staff review more than 200 marker applications each year. For more information contact:
