Mayor H. T. Burton received a telegram Friday from James H. Garner, State Coordinator of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief, stating that Governor Daniels' request for federal assistance in this disaster area had been approved and that detailed information and instructions would follow.

The Clarendon Check Dam project south of our city, was included in the disaster area designated by President Eisenhower last week.

Mayor Burton stated that paper work on rebuilding the dams that were damaged by flood water in mid June, would begin just as soon as information is received and he was hoping that actual work could be started before any serious damage can be done to our little city.

TOUR EASTERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. Stina Cain and son, Bobby, and Mrs. Ott Eckert of Amarillo returned home Friday night from a three weeks tour of the northeastern states.

Their trip included visits in 20 different states and Washington, D.C. They visited relatives in the neighborhood of Gettysburg, Pa., where the cherry crop was being harvested. Cain reported fruit farmers in that area hauling cherries to the canneries by the truck load just as farmers carry their cotton to the gins in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tucker returned home Wednesday after a two weeks visit with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Javan Tucker at Rock Springs, Wyoming.

Be Alert For Cotton Insects

The time is fast arriving to be on the alert for cotton insects says County Agent Flip Breedlove. The damp weather and cool days make for perfect weather for insects to hatch in cotton fields. It is a good practice to go over your cotton twice a week and look in all parts of the field for the insects.

Cotton flea hoppers are usually the first insect to make its appearance and they are so small that some times we overlook them. Their presence is detected by the small green insect in the small squares and in the bud. They sting the squares and cause them to fall off. Other insects that make their appearance later on are leaf worm and boll worms.

Breedlove warns to be on the alert for these insects and we may not have any of them, but if you find cotton insects you can contact Breedlove and he will give you a spray schedule and the types of spray to use.

Clarendon Area Is Target For Wind, Rain & Hail Sunday

A quick developing cloud moved in from the north Sunday afternoon to give the Clarendon area a terrific blow and deposit from 1 1/2 to 2 inches of moisture.

Two separate clouds of dirt preceded the blowing rain which was estimated at between 70 and 90 miles per hour. Some small hail accompanied the storm but damage was not heavy. The wind broke numerous tree limbs and toppled several TV antennas.

The severest portion of the storm passed directly over Clarendon with only a light shower reported at Ashtola and Lelia Lake. The temperature dropped to the high 50's during the storm which is a pretty low reading for this time of year, especially during the daylight hours.

AUSTIN — Although budget balancing is the most discussed of the problems facing the next Legislature, many lawmakers expect redistricting wrangles may raise more blood pressures.

Legislature is required by the Constitution to re-define legislative districts after each federal census. It used to put off this troublesome task, out a 1948 law provides that if it fails to act in the first session after a census, a Legislature Redistricting Board shall take over.

This insures, as it did in 1951, that the Legislature will redistrict — somehow, some way.

Battle will be between big city delegations who will demand more representation in line with their swelling populations and rural members who will try to hold on to as much as they can.

In their election campaigns, many representatives promised their constituents they'd be in there pitching for the home area. Members from growth areas said they'd go after extra representatives, state senators and congressmen.

A rural legislator told his people, "At least twelve rural districts will disappear in the next redistricting. I certainly do not want this district included in that twelve."

Incumbents cited their experience as an asset. Personal feeling often enters into redistricting, and lawmakers are notably reluctant to "squeeze out" a popular and respected senior colleague by erasing his district.

HOME INSURANCE CUT — Beginning August 1, premium rates on certain types of homeowner's insurance policies will be cut 10 per cent.

State Insurance Board announced the new lower rates would apply to the "homeowners package policies which account for about 80 per cent of the home coverage sold in Texas.

Reductions were made possible because insurance companies have had a relatively low loss ratio on the package policies, first introduced about three years ago.

CREDIT RATE EYED — Board of Insurance also is considering a further lowering of credit insurance rates.

Many loan companies require borrowers to take out insurance payable to the loan company in case something happens to the borrower before he repays.

Two years ago the Board cut in half the rates that could be charged for credit insurance. It was charged that loan companies were making excessive profits on loans through insurance.

Board says that even now rates seem high, with losses running 27 per cent of premiums paid in. If losses run less than 50 per cent of the premiums, rates are considered too high.

NO ROAD PROBLEM — Stiffened federal road inspections pose no problems to Texas, says State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer.

New federal standards are no tougher than those Texas has insisted on all along.

Scandals stemming from misuse of federal road building money in other states has caused the Bureau of Public Roads to tighten its inspection requirements. Greer said the new federal approach will necessitate no change in Texas procedures.

Texans who have been motoring cross-country during their summer vacations will not find this hard to believe. So noticeably superior are Texas roads to those of surrounding states that returning Texans usually give a sigh of relief when they cross the state line.

SPEAKER'S BATTLE BOILS — Candidates for Speaker of the House continue their month-long battle of "claimmanship."

Rep Wade Spilman added five to his list of House members pledged to support him and said this gave him a "rather conclusive" lead. Rep. James Turman of Gober claims a definite majority of 79.

Votes of 76 of the 150 House members are needed to elect Spilman also has invited the House General Investigating Committee to look into charges that members were being subjected to improper pressure on how to vote.

COLLEGE FUNDS SOUGHT — Texas Commission on Higher Education will ask the next Legislature for an appropriation of $3,082,183 for the 1961-63 biennium.

Bulk of the increase asked is for meeting expected enrollment increases in the 18 state-supported colleges and universities.

In a discussion with members of the State Finance Advisory Committee, the Commission considered recommending an increase in state college tuition charges — now $100 for a nine-months term. Dr. Ralph Green suggested raising this by $50. It would bring the state an extra $5,000,000 a year in new revenue, he said.

PRISON NEEDS CITED — Texas Board of Corrections also wants more money — a $2,654,846 increase over their present allocation for the next two years. "If the amount is granted, Texas prisoners will cost the state $1.89 per day per man," said State Prison Director O. B. Ellis. "This is just a little more than half the national average."

Ellis and Corrections Board members regard prison needs as critical. Board Chairman H. H. Coffield of Rockdale reported that "the prison population trends indicate it will keep on multiplying."

WILSON HONORED — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been named by the National Association of Attorneys General as the recipient of that association's award for outstanding service in 1960. He was cited as being the most outstanding Attorney General in the nation when he received the Wyman Award at the Annual Meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Alice, Tex., News: "If fishing requires the same mad pace that our daily routine requires, it provides little recreational value."

"The best example of successful fishing that we know of is the small boy or the man who sits happily dangling a hook from a country bridge or a shady bank. They may not have boats and fine tackle, they may not catch any fish, but their relaxed attitude is right, and they're having fun. The secret of successful fishing is not catching fish, but taking it easy."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — When the various states go to battle to capture new industries, other states go in with common-sized budgets. But not Texas.

Texas is, by comparison, fighting with a rubber band and spit balls. At least that's the view of the man who heads the Texas effort, Walter E. Dickerson.

Dickerson, as executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, directs himself. He has no staff and no secretary. Legislature allotted him $23,750 a year to do a job for which the neighboring "poor" state of Arkansas spends more than a half-million a year.

Dickerson uses his slim funds for a brochure on Texas and, since out-of-state travel is impossible, long-distance telephoning. He's also seeking additional funds from Texas firms to carry on the work.

Next winter he'll be before the Legislature to ask for more money to give Texas an even break in the intensely competitive industry-seeking field. Dickerson's pleas come against a background of warnings that Texas manufacturing has not been growing fast enough to offset the decline of oil and agriculture. Some areas, such as the Gulf Coast, are becoming highly industrialized, but Texas needs more industry all over, say the economists, if it is to avoid a stall.

More manufacture of products for the Texas consumer market is especially recommended. Dickerson has data showing that Texans send $2,500,000,000 of their money out of state to buy manufactured products. Dickerson also supports his urging for a beefed-up Industrial Commission with figures showing that new industry is literally "money in the bank" for a town and state.

For each industry with 100 employees — not a particularly big one — bank deposits jump $270,000 and retail sales $360,000 per year.

BUSINESS TOTALS TUMBLE—Texas' most recent business activity reports are not entirely rosy, either.

Retail trade for May was down 2 per cent from April and 4 per cent from a year ago, according to the University Bureau of Business Research.

Building construction was also in a downward spiral, 3 per cent from April and 11 per cent from last year. Building decline between April and May was due to a sharp drop in home building.

Non-residential construction was up 3 per cent.

Slow down in retail buying was unexpected, inasmuch as employment, income and savings are at an all-time high. An increase in home building is hoped for as a result of eased FHA down payment requirements. More home buying would, in turn, stimulate more retail buying, particularly furniture, appliances and hardware.

GAS TAX LOSES ROUND — Texas' new natural gas severance beneficiary tax flunked its first court test when an Austin district judge ruled it unconstitutional.

Judge Jack Roberts held the tax violated the U. S. Constitution's prohibition against levying a tax on interstate commerce. Severance beneficiary tax is aimed at the natural gas pipeline companies who, the tax's supporters contend, benefit from taking the gas from Texas soil and should pay a tax for these benefits. Most pipelines operate on a national scale. Producers, the people who actually take the gas from the ground, already pay a tax.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, representing the state, said he would appeal Roberts' decision, probably to the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Since the case involves a constitutional question, it could be appealed directly to the State Supreme Court.

Either way, it will not finally be decided until it gets to the U.S. Supreme Court, probably not in time for the next Legislature to know whether the state can count on any revenue from that source. Estimated yield is about $7,500,000 a year.

Gov. Price Daniel said he was "keenly disappointed" in the district court decision, especially in that it saw no difference between the severance beneficiary tax and the old gas gathering tax which lost out in the courts.

Daniel said he was confident this tax eventually would be upheld.

STRAY LIVESTOCK LAW IN FORCE — Farmers are warned to pen up their livestock and keep them penned, or be subject to a $200 fine and impoundment of the animals.

Each day the animals roam at large will be considered a separate offense.

The new law relates to horses, mules, donkeys, cows, bulls, steers, hogs, sheep and goats loose on state and federal highways. Farm and ranch roads are not included.

An increasing number of deaths and injuries due to auto collisions with stray animals necessitated the law.

Heretofore the motorist was liable.

SCHOOL PROBLEM ERUPTS—At the instigation of Texas Commissioner of Education, J. W. Edgar, Brownsboro school officials, both board and superintendent, are resigning en masse.

Decision was reached after an involved and rather heated hearing in Austin to review school conflicts that had resulted in a killing at a Brownsboro school board meeting.

Homer Bass was appealing his dismissal by the Brownsboro school board when his contract as superintendent still had two years to go. Board members charged Bass with instructing teachers how to vote in school board elections, handling school funds carelessly and failing to meet state accreditation standards.

Several board members said they felt resignation was a good solution that would enable the community to start afresh on a peaceable basis.

BIGGER BUDGETS ASKED — Three state agencies presented their requests for funds for the Sept. 1, 1961-Aug. 31, 1963 period. All want more than they are now spending.

Legislative and governor's office budget staffs are reviewing the requests of State Health Department, State Board of Insurance and Texas Employment Commission.

Health wants an 18 per cent increase to a total of $17,000,000 for the coming biennium. State Board of Insurance is asking $5,173,664 for the same period, approximately a 20 per cent increase. TEC estimates its needs at $28,384,905.

Industry's policy of arbitrary retirement at 65 is slowly crumbling, according to an Industrial Relations News study. Survey of 30 major corporations revealed that 25 per cent already have instituted flexible retirement policies and another 25 per cent make frequent exceptions to the 65-year limit.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

PAYING THE PRICE

The national figures for the 1960 census will tell a story that most of us have known for some time. In what may well be the greatest and most significant American migration in recent history, millions of people are forsaking the farm and cross-roads stream toward the great urban centers of our nation. And at least by the time children of these restless, mobile Americans reach high school, a map of the United States will be covered with huge well-like markings to denote the most complex and awesome cities the world has ever known. Many of these city dwellers will work and play in "towns" which range across hundreds of miles without interruption.

The trend has been obvious in many ways. The most casual glance at wedding announcements in Panhandle newspapers will reveal that many young couples choose to abandon their home towns in favor of larger cities. An hour in the bus and railroad stations of a large metropolis will uncover a portion of the millions who set out for the big city each year with their high hopes — and often their every possession — carried with them. Just a short ride along the outskirts of even a moderately large community will uncover row upon row of mass produced, FHA financed homes — the hallmark of sprawling suburbia.

These are the hard facts of an important feature in American life since World War II. In some ways, the massive "urge to move" is perhaps inspiring insofar as it demonstrates that we have not lost the pioneering spirit which mad America great. Our people still have the courage to venture into new environments and test new ways. Many of them, I am sure, are hopeful of benefiting their countrymen as well as themselves. We are not, as our enemies would have us believe, such an entirely contented and declining nation at all.

Nevertheless, the uncomfortable feeling remains that much of this surging movement toward our urban complexes is inspired by rather grandiose propaganda. To say that our smaller communities offer no opportunities is, in most cases, sheer fiction. To complain that the more rural areas of our country are "dull" displays an unpleasant modern neurosis, an unhealthy grasping for "something to do" and a strange inability to find it. And to paint universally rosy pictures of life in the metropolis is particularly deceptive, for the individual tragedies that can sometimes occur are as old as O. Henry's writings.

Old men whittling in front of the country store are as much a part of America as the high pressure brokers on Wall Street. We should be as proud of the kindly old general practitioner as we are of the most eminent heart specialist. And the man who rides a tall, bumpy tractor has fully as much stake in the American experiment as does the man who rides from directors meeting to directors meeting in a low, smooth limousine.

We have, I think, committed a fundamental error in emphasizing a certain brand of success all out of proportion to its true worth. We have too often dwelt upon the slick, the super-sophisticated the "gee-whizz" type of endeavor. We have sometimes been willing to exchange quick, easy fame and success for slow, difficult, but profound satisfaction. This attitude has not been without effect.

We are now beginning to pay the price, and the amazing rush of so many of our people to urban areas is perhaps not the only toll. The source of many of our worries, such as conformity or trend toward bureaucracy, can also be traced to a shift in values. We would do well to remember that American strength lies to a great extent in its diversity and depth. The 1960 census, in revealing a partial loss of this vibrant quality, might well remind us of our duty to keep faith with ALL facets of our life.

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Uncle Zeb

Springer, New Mexico. For several years, as we have so often passed back and forth through this quiet little western town on our way to the mountains, we have wanted a chance to stop over for a little visit. We wanted to stop of our own accord however and not have the faithful old family car break down for an excuse. We don't always get things just as we wish.

Some three days ago we were getting ready for a well planned trip to the cool mountains in the Red River country of New Mexico when a very unusual thing happened. A cold fall-like rain began to fall. Every where we went folks would wonder why we would think of going to the mountains when it was plenty cold at home. Finally, after three days a break came in the rain long enough for us to load the car and we were off. Imagine our delight when just out of Dalhart the sun popped out nice and bright and we could say that I told you so.

Now back to our story. Reaching Springer and stopping for the main street sign we found our clutch slipping too badly to travel on plains roads much less to take off into the mountains. It seemed the mud and water had been too much for the old bus. Anyhow, just one-half block from a garage of its own make it took the don'ts. All 52,000 faithful miles to its credit was of no avail so we were stranded for the night.

Bad luck comes in bunches because when we called on ahead to Red River we found that because of the delay we missed out on a fish fry. Good luck always pops up sooner or later for we found a nice place to stay, good meals to eat, and a chance to meet a lot of friendly folks. We bought a copy of Publisher Ed Guthmann's Springer Tribune and agreed with this editorial comment; "Cuban sugar has become as bitter as gall to this writer."

There was a time when we as a nation would have politely advised Mr. Castro to read verse three of the Monroe Doctrine and then get busy breaking up his sweet talk with any European powers much less the sin-soaked Soviet side-kicks. But now it seems that the world has gotten so small and we have for so long been involved all the way around it that we don't know whether to take a firm stand or not.

Cutting off his cane juice will set him into a rage and no doubt bring the matter to a jell a lot sooner but as things look now we are in for a show down sooner or later. To have Mr. Krushchev making camp on our very door step is not going to make sleeping at night any easier.

Hindsight is always easier than foresight but we have long wondered what would have happened to the world if we had kept all our money, time, and influence centered in the Western Hemisphere. If we had insisted on selling no war supplies to anyone, but would have sold food and fiber to anyone that would come and get it. We could have stopped shipping it to anyone in our vessels during a time they were at war.

If we had kept clear of all the conflicts in the old country and let them dog eat dog as they have done for many centuries. Could it be possible that we have upset the balance of power in Europe to the extent that we will suffer seriously later? It seems that those we help turn against us, and those we fight and whip have to be cared for from then on.

One thing is certain we sure picked a stinkeroo when we decided that Russia was worth making friends with.

What Is Truth? Pilate asked this question of Jesus just before allowing Him to be crucified. No doubt after listening to the leading politicians of his day and trying to separate the truth from the falsehoods in the charges that were being brought out he had some grounds for being confused. The simple truths as expressed by Jesus likely would scarcely ring a bell in his hardened brain.

Today, in our world of political confusion we find ourselves asking for some way to know the truth. Of course most of us in America believe that the Bible is true but so many of us do not know how to apply its principles our daily life. Neither can we fit the happening of our day into the pattern of right and wrong and be able to know the truth.

We find our politicians talking of saving money, and at the same time wildly spending the taxpayers money in order to perpetuate themselves or their group in office. Most of our leaders seem to know that a nation can spend its way into poverty, but none that we think if are able to say ni when the roll call vote is heard. Where will it all end?

If we help other nations they hate us for being rich, and for demanding certain things in return. If we refuse to help them they will turn to the communists for affection.

The voter is urged to be faithful in his duty to vote, and the politician tries to right the convention before the polls open. We are all hollering about high taxes and at the same time have our hands out for more doles. We wonder, What Is Truth?

Dr. Thodore G. Klumpp, a member of the American Medical Association's Committee on Aging, told the 15th National Conference on Rural Health that society has been illogical and inconsistent in its attitude toward compulsory retirement and a more realistic approach is necessary. In his words, "Whenever society adopts a rule that eliminates the fit with the unfit, destroys the good with the bad, or punishes the innocent with the wicked, it is not a good rule. Civilization progresses by changing rules of this kind."

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

This business of each party demanding equal time has reached all the way down to the grass roots, and even invading the home now.

We had our Grandson a few weeks back and mentioned the fact in our column. We have the Granddaughter now, and she is demanding equal space here, also equal amount of days spent on her visit here, despite the inconvenience to the grown-ups.

The game being practiced now is as good a show as the real thing, and better in many ways.

We didn't realize having the Convention going would interfere with the thinking of an eight year old.

An old croquet mallet makes a very good gavel, we hear, clear the aisles — clear the aisles, from all parts of the house.

She has planned, when the gang gets together to put this show on in full dress Her part will be a movie star who will circle among the delegates to get their minds off of the issues being put before the convention. All moves are planned ahead as well as the parts each friend will play, according to the esteem in which she holds them.

We have no trouble keeping her entertained. There was too much quiet in the house yesterday, we found her, dressed in a long skirt and high heels, sipping coffee and smoking an imaginary cigarette. When we shamed her for it, she said: all the movie stars do it and all the T.V. stars do. Grandad demonstrated what one breath of nicotine would do on her fingernail. She ask, why does-n't some one tell those people?

All through the day, these questions of why? We cannot give near all the answers, and are worn to a frazzle with the effort. Right now she is looking over our shoulder. We explained it was bad luck for any one to read this before it was printed. We didn't know an eight year old could read very good, this one can, and does, especially if you make out you rather she didn't.

We have re-done this five times already . . .

Any room in the rest home? We will make an appointment for next week.

According to Washington Report, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, some 680,000 new school classrooms have been built since World War II. So, of the 1,330,000 classrooms that will be in use this fall, more than half will be of postwar construction. Communities have stayed ahead of enrollment requirements for classrooms, it adds — "without federal intervention!"

OVERLOADED ELECTRICAL CIRCUITS CAUSE TROUBLE

College Station - Electricity as a source of power is, in some ways, less hazardous than any other power source, but failure to take proper precautions in its use creates conditions which are certain to result in bodily harm or damage to property, or both.
Overloading an electrical circuit is an example of improper use. Not only is there a drop in efficiency as a result of an overloaded circuit, but it is unsafe, warns the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Overloading causes overheating of wires which, in turn, causes the wiring insulation to dry out, get brittle and result in a possible fire hazard.

If the correct size fuse for the circuit is used it cannot be overloaded, because it will blow before the wiring can get too hot. The fuse is the 'safety valve' of the electrical circuit, the Council explains.
In order to determine the correct size fuse, a simple guide to follow is: No. 14 wire, which is about the size of a 3-penny finishing nail, require a 15 amp. fuse; No. 12 wire, about the size of a 3-penny common nail, requires a 20 amp. fuse. In other words, the wire size determines the correct fuse size.
Observe the three C's - caution, care, and common sense - to prevent overloaded electrical circuits, the Council adds.

COUNTY REPORT SHOWS FOUR RURAL ACCIDENTS

The Highway Patrol investigated 4 rural traffic accidents in Donley County during June, according to Sergeant E. G. Albers, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

Property damage wrecks accounted for 1 of the total, personal injury for 2 and 1 was a fatal accident. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $7,310.00 with 7 persons injured and 5 lives lost.

Sergeant Albers pointed out that this brings the total for the year in this county to 7 killed, 18 injured, and property damage in excess of $18,843.00. This compares with 2 killed, 13 injured, and property damage of $36,386.00 during the first six months of 1959.

"Prior to July 1 there had been a total of 784 fatal accidents in Texas," Sergeant Albers said. "From these accidents, 962 persons have died needlessly," he added.

I GET BETTER USE OF GRASS WITH FENCES TO CONTROL THE GRAZING

Donley County Soil Conservation District News

W. P. Doherty C. B. Morris
T. C. D'Spain Roy Jewell
Frank Hommel

Cross fences are a very important conservation practice in the Donley County Soil Conservation District. Of course, they should be placed where you get the maximum benefit from them. They can be used to separate different range sites, such as short grass and tall grass sites. They can be used to protect an area to be specially treated. Also, if a deferrment program is to be followed, a pasture must be broken into several parts. This can be accomplished by cross fencing.

The Great Plains Conservation Program cost-shares cross fencing at the rate of 50%. Some of the Donley County SCD Co-operators who plan to install cross fences under the Great Plains Conservation Program are Lawrence R. Hagy Ranch, Hermesmeier Brothers, Johnson Ranch, and H. R. Beck. Charles A. Williams has completed a cross fence on his place north of Hedley.

MORE MACHINERY MAY BE A LIABILITY

College Station — Mechanized farming is here to stay, but it is possible that there can be too much of a good thing, as over mechanization may become a serious problem for some farmers.

Machinery and equipment are occasionally purchased for convenience, with little or no thought given to whether or not it will be profitable, says Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist. It may be more profitable for a farmer to invest in expanding his farm operation than in buying more machinery.

The decision to buy a particular piece of farm machinery should depend on use to be made of the machine. How much the machine is used will determine whether it will be an asset or a liability. Custom hiring may be much more economical than outright ownership for many farmers.

Right size and type machine for the intended job is more economical to own and operate than one that is too large or too small. However, the specialist notes, if the farmer expects to expand, buying a machine large enough to handle future jobs may be more profitable than buying a smaller machine and

Some machines need companion equipment. Tractor-mounted equipment is often designed for a specific make and model tractor and cannot be used with other tractors. Therefore, trading a tractor for a larger or more convenient model may involve trading all the equipment that fits the present tractor even though it is in excellent condition. Parker adds that this type of transaction reduces the returns on dollars invested in machinery.

THE SHRINKING DOLLAR
The Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports that the American dollar is worth less today than at any time in history.

During the current century alone, now just started on its sixtieth year, the purchasing power of that dollar has dropped from 100 cents to 29 cents — a loss of almost three quarters. And the value of savings, pensions and insurance has dropped accordingly — as great numbers of people who must live in whole or in part on fixed incomes have learned the hard way.

We can't change what has happened in the past. But we can learn from it, and make and honest effort to keep the dollar's worth from sliding still further down the hill. For instance, the Chamber calls upon Congress, in the current session, to keep the highway program on a pay-as-you-go basis; to oppose inflationary increases in the minimum wage; to remove artificial restrictions on the interest rate of government bonds; to avoid wasteful defense spending; and to eliminate unnecessary spending for public works, depressed areas, community facilities, veterans' benefits, and airport construction. This call is based on the inescapable fact that the greatest single force back of inflation is drunken-sailor federal spending. The Chamber also seeks to reduce monopolistic labor power, which is another important source of inflationary pressure.

Naturally enough, there will be wide differences of opinion over the details of such a program. But, those aside, something drastic must be done, and done soon, if the dollar's worth does not become 15 cents, 10 cents, 5 cents and, ultimately, zero.

It's the rich man who doesn't hesitate to ask the store clerk to show him something cheaper.

Caution is not cowardly, and carelessness is not courage.

Walterboro, S.C., Press and Standard: "The purpose of our public school system, and the sole reason for its existence, is to educate the people, and through this education to prepare them for a richer, both financially and intellectually, life. Somewhere along the long road to education the system has failed. . . .

"Students today, particularly in the public schools, are ashamed of having intellectual prowess. Much bragging is heard on the star athlete, or the best dancer and social butterflies."

A purchasing agent for Standard Oil of Indiana reveals that, in 1955 and 1956, a worldwide shortage of platinum was created by a new refining method to give motorists higher octane gasoline. The platinum was needed as a catalyst for the new process. The sudden demand skyrocketed the price 50 per cent — to $118 an ounce.

Attend National Convention In Chicago

Delegates to the National Conventions of Lions Clubs from Clarendon was President-Elect of the Clarendon Club, Flip Breedlove, and his wife, Dorothy. L. L. Wallace, the other delegate, and his wife, Mary, made up the foursome from the Clarendon Club to attend the national convention. The group went in the Wallace car with Mr. Wallace as the chauffeur and report a wonderful trip and a wonderful Lions Club Convention.

The Breedloves and the Wallaces left right after the serving of the barbecue on the 4th of July. It was the wonderful help of all the serving captains and their helpers and the committee of Lee Shaller, Pete Land, Geo. Bulman, Ira Self, Pete Kunz, Reagan Bain, Hubert Rhodes, John White and others who helped to clean up after the barbecue that made it possible for the group to leave for the convention right after the serving. This group cleaned up all the mess and deserve a lot of credit for all the success of the barbecue. Breedlove says that his entire committees are the best and there would be no barbecue without the wonderful help that was given him by these committees. Many others to numerous to mention did wonderful jobs in putting on the feed. The Breedloves and Wallaces arrived in Chicago on the evening of the fifth of July and attended the convention. Mr. Wallace took pictures of the entire trip and they will be shown later at the Lions Club. They departed from Chicago on the afternoon of the ninth of July and returned a different route on the way home and arrived in Clarendon on the evening of the twelfth of July. They reported a wonderful trip and after attending the National Lions Club Convention, they all realize the great work being done by Lions Clubs all over the world.

Mr. Cooke points out that at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas if they are to become effective. Under quotas, marketing penalties will apply on "excess" wheat resulting from noncompliance with the farm's wheat acreage allotment, and price supports will be available to cooperators on the crop at not less than 75 per cent of parity — the exact rate to be announced before the vote.

On the other hand, if more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketing, but allotments will remain in effect as a condition for price support at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law.

Wheat growers voting in a referendum each year have approved marketing quotas for the past seven wheat crops.
