for days now safe at home

By Cheryl Johnson

Sighs of relief and prayers of thanks were heard Saturday morning at the JA Ranch Headquarters when Crist Roberts, age 23, was found by a group of men that had been looking for him since Thursday.

Roberts, who works for the Jay O'Brien Ranch, was one of several cowboys who came to the JA Ranch Thursday morning to help gather cattle. He was last seen about 7:00 that morning leaving for the round up. When Crist didn't show up at the designated meeting place after the round up, one of the riders went out looking for him but was unsuccessful. The rest of the cowboys decided to drive the cattle to the other pasture and hoped Crist would be there waiting for them. But again, there was no sign of Crist.

The riders decided to come back to JA headquarters to get fresh horses and to call the authorities. A DPS helicopter was brought in Thursday afternoon. The search continued until 2:00 a.m. Friday morning.

Meanwhile many calls of concern and offers of help poured into the headquarters from many people and businesses in

The search grew to 70-80 people strong Friday. Two helicopters were also brought in, and searchers continued their quest until sundown.

On Saturday, the search continued at daybreak with riders and several helicopters. After nearly 48 hours, a group of riders found Crist walking with his horse near the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, about 12 miles south of the JA

Ranch headquarters Saturday about noon. He was airlifted to Northwest Texas Hospital where he was treated for a concussion and dehydration. He was released Sunday night from the hospital and says he is doing fine. He returned to work on Speaking to the Enterprise from his home in Hedley, Crist stated that he and his horse fell off a bluff and he was knocked unconscious. When he came to, his horse was standing right beside him. He also said he "did lots of praying and drank gip water" to survive.

"I was amazed at the amount of people who came out to help, and I thank God for all those who found me."

Broncs to scrimmage Wheeler Thursday night

The Clarendon Broncos will travel to Wheeler Thursday for their second scrimmage of the season

Varsity kick-off is scheduled for 7 p.m. The junior varsity will have the night off. Wheeler does not have a sufficient number of players to suit up a J.V. squad, according to CHS head coach Tooter Draper.

This is the Broncos' last scrimmage before opening up their season next Friday, Sept. 5, at 8 p.m. in Bronco Stadium.

Bronco tickets now available

Attention Bronco football fans! Reserved seating is now available.

Ticket price for a reserved seat is $7.00 for the five home games during the 1997 season. Admission price not included.

Tickets are available for purchase at the Clarendon Administration office 8:30 a.m to 4:30 p.m. Don't delay; pick up your tickets

Team studies local courthouse for state historical commission

Preservationists from the Texas Historical Commission were in town last Tuesay and Wednesday, August 19 and 20, to study the Donley County Courthouse for the Texas Courthouse Alliance Project.

The Alliance was created to survey some of the oldest and least-documented county courthouses in the state. Information gleaned from the project will be used to create public awareness of the importance of preserving these treasured landmarks.

The team was generally impressed with Donley's historic courthouse but did notice some areas for con-

Bradford Patterson, a consultant with the comsion said there are three main things that need to be addressed about the courthouse.

First is the condition of the wooden windows which Patterson said look as though they haven't been painted in decades. Right now, much of the original wood could still be saved, and only small parts would have to be replaced, he said. But the wood has begun

Another problem the team found was the stonework in the building. It is cracking and flaking off. Patterson said the stonework doesn't present a structural problem right now, but that it will gradually look worse and worse.

The team didn't know what was causing the stone to deteriorate, but Patterson suspects that it was the way the stone was laid. "If you don't orient the stone the same direction as it was quarried, it will have trouble carrying the load of the structure," Patterson

There are a few different ways to correct the problems with the stonework. All of them are expensive and time consuming, and none of them are worth pursuing until the cause of the problem can be positively

The third problem the team found was moisture getting into the building. The team members suspect

"There is not another courthouse even similar to this one anywhere in the state of Texas."

Bradford Patterson, Texas Courthouse Alliance

this may be caused by the rain gutters' downspouts emptying too close to the building.

"It's a shame that [the courthouse] is in this condition." Patterson said, "because it's one of a kind There is not another courthouse even similar to this one anywhere in the state of Texas.

"Even with the third story gone, it is still unique." The Donley County Courthouse was built in 1891 and originally sported a third story. Accounts vary as to why and when the top floor was removed.

'We've seen things like this [third floor removal] across the state," said Jay Firsching, a member of the team. "Sometimes a county would just tear down a bell tower or remove a third story in order to make the building look more modern.

Out of 254 counties in the state, 223 are home to courthouses of historical significance — more than any other state. Of these, only 55 are in the Courthouse Alliance, and there are only three in the Texas Panhandle — Randall and Hartley counties being the other two.

Funded through a federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) grant, the Alliance project documents the county courthouses in Texas and develops a preservation plan, including historical documentation, preservation recommendations, and copies of new or original drawings for the courthouse. State courthouses are selected based on archi-

Safety advice offered for those traveling on state highways this Labor Day weekend

for the Texas Department of Public Safety, states "Many people will celebrate Labor Day weekend traveling to lakes, rodeos, and other festive events."

Surveying The Damage

Texas Courthouse Alliance team members Jay Firsching, Bradford

Patterson, and Delvin Shelton examine water-damaged plaster on a basement wall as part of their study of the Donley County Courthouse.

Basic, yet often overlooked safe driving procedures need to be engaged for holiday traveling. These basics are: pretrip planning, a drug free and alert driver, adequate travel time and space development, and correct use of safety belts.

Pretrip planning consists of having the vehicle turned and in safe condition. A time frame and route schedule should be made and shared with a family member of friend who can contact you if needed, especially for emergency messages. Snider also encourages motorists to have first aid and emergency road kits in vehicles at all times.

The driver needs to be well rested and drug free Drug free includes alcoholic beverages, over the counter medications, prescribed medications, and obviously illegal drugs such as marijuana, cocaine, etc. Medications, whether prescribed or purchased over the counter which have warnings not to drive should definitely be followed. Drivers should allow time for occasional rest stops as needed, adds Snider.

Adequate travel time and space development deals with areas of congested traffic and developing safe following space. When the vehicle ahead of you passes a landmark such as a delineator post or a tree, it should

Trooper L.B. Snider, Public Information Officer take at least two seconds before you reach the same location. Snider advises that drivers should work to minimize the time spent driving alongside other vehicles in the event they may need to move aside

The Department of Public Safety has found that many people use safety belts incorrectly and expose themselves to greater injuries. Lap belts should be worn across the hips and the shoulder strap worn over the shoulder. The D.P.S. has found that numerous motorists wear the shoulder strap under the shoulder which diminishes the effectiveness of the should strap. In cars with separate lap and shoulder straps, motorists need to use both to reduce the risk of being ejected through a door jarred open. Infant/child safety seats must be secured snugly and preferably in the back seat, especially if the vehicle has dual air bags. Trooper Snider adds that drivers of pickups with children under the age of 12 in the bed area have a maximum speed limit of 35 miles per hour.

Remember, these passengers have little or no means of securing themselves and become human projectiles with hard braking or in collisions.

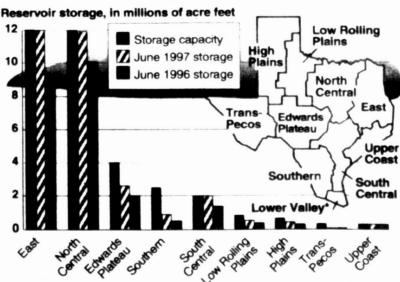

'Whether we travel by car, truck, boat, or even horseback, we need to have a travel plan, have the vehicle in proper working order, and have ourselves physically and mentally prepared for the peak performance needed for holiday travel," concludes Trooper

Have unions outlived their usefulness?

Drivers of United Parcel Service trucks returned to work last week after a 15-day strike messed up this nation's package delivery system.

The Teamsters union, of which the drivers are members, decided that UPS should provide more full-time jobs and should not provide a separate benefit fund for UPS workers. The Teamsters have their own benefit program which employers are compelled to contribute to due to collective

In the end, the union got what it wanted, and the union president called it a "victory over corporate greed."

A victory for Big Labor's greed would be a more appropriate label. The settlement will bring in more labor union members, more money into the Teamster pension fund, and more fuel to try to unionize employees of UPS' competitor, Federal Express.

Only about 15% of America's workforce are represented (not all of them willingly) by labor unions. That's really a small percentage. And yet, the few men who head the Teamsters can just stop 200,000 people from going to work and throw a monkey wrench into the national delivery system.

This is what Coach Beck used to call, "The tail waggin' the dog." . Many UPS workers were quoted on the news as being willing to accept the first deal UPS offered, but union leaders held out to get everything they wanted no matter what the cost to the economy or to the fiscal health of UPS or to the customers of UPS.

UPS has said they don't plan to raise their rates to offset the costs of the labor deal or to make up the loss of an estimated $600 million in revenue during the strike this year. But next year...

Kudos, Mr. Thornberry

During his town meeting here last week, Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) fielded some questions about the new clean air standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency.

At one point, he pinpointed the primary problem with a lot of environmental regulations

"There's never really been any scientific evidence to prove that people's health is affected by these fine particles [in the air] or by the difference in the ozone layer or that if you put these standards into effect, that it's going to help anybody," Thornberry said. "So you've got a bunch of standards that's going to cost $60 billion to $90 billion a year, and there's no proof it's going to help anybody

Thank you, sir. You hit the nail on the head.

Funding for scientific research is a blatantly political beast which causes the results to be skewed to favor the view of whoever is doing the funding. Continued funding is then based on a scientist showing the "proof" that the person (or governmental agency) supplying the funding wants to see.

In reality, many environmental "problems" cannot stand up to scientific scrutiny, and environmental scientists become extremely defensive when asked simple questions about their theories.

Unfortunately, much of the American public has a dismally low understanding of science, and people are not well trained to question what they are told by "experts." Ergo, people readily accept the environmentalist pseudo-science and the resulting expensive and intrusive regulations.

Hang in there, Mac

Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff to be Sept. 27

by Saints' Rooster

Keeping The Doors Open

The Third Annual Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff is coming Sept. 27. This annual event has not only become an important stop on the Chuckwagon Circuit; but as a major fund raiser for the Museum, it is an important way of keeping the doors of this unique facility open.

The Chuckwagon Cookoff has been designed as a family type event to offer not only good clean entertainment for the whole, but to also allow a glimpse into the rich ranching past of Donley County.

The event has been growing every year since the first chuckwagons rolled in three years ago, and the Goodnight family has selected the cookoff as the site for their family reunion honoring the famous pioneer plainsman who invented the chuckwagon.

This newspaper will carry all of the news about the entertainment and activities scheduled for the last Saturday in September, and the Museum Board of Directors hopes to see everyone from Donley County enjoying the festivities.

Donations

With the help of several donations and the organizing skills of the Junior Historians from Clarendon High School, the Toy Room is a little fuller. Most recently Bea Burleson donated some dells, toys, and even an Easter Bunny to keep our Kewpie company. Thanks to everyone who made donations, and be sure and look into the toy collection when you visit during the chuckwagon cookoff.

Our Floor Shines

When the pipe burst last winter and flooded on hallway, it loosened the floor tiles. The solution seemed simple, just pry up the tiles to expose the beautiful oak floor we knew was underneath. Sounds easy, but when the loosened tiles were removed we discovered that our forbearers had been diligent in laying the tile floor. Over the oak were layers of tar paper fastened down with what must have passed for super glue 50 or so years ago. The only way to get it up was with lots of elbow grease. patience, determination and hard work. In all honesty it must reported that some (including yours truly) favored throwing a carpet over the whole

But there were those among us who were made of sterner stuff. Janet Cooper enlisted her son Roy Dale and daughter Shannon, and the three of them removed all of the tar paper and black messy glue.

Then Bob Synek came on the scene to volunteer a weekend plus to sand, oil, and varnish the cleaned oak floor.

When you come out to visit next time you must pause to admire our shining hallway.

It's nice to know there are those among us who will not settle for the "easy way out."

Look Who Came To Visit

Saints' Roost welcomed visitors from Oklahoma, California, Arizona, Nevada, Montana, New Mexico, Kansas, Colorado, New York, and New Jersey this month as well as callers from our own

The Ruffin family from New Jersey had just won the lottery ("Not the big one, but a lot of money") and are touring the country in their new car. They were heading for Dallas when they saw our sign on the highway and dropped by to get a glimpse of what young Louis Ruffin described as "cowboy country."

Larry and Amy Mitchell lived in Potsdam, New York, before they saw the light recently and decided to relocate in Texas. The Mitchells now live in Plano and said they like the state "just fine, thank you very much."

Jeania McAnear Echols came to visit and logged that she had been born in the Adair Hospital. Peggy DeBoard also came by and entered in our visitor's log the fact that she was a baby in the hospital in our visitors log.

If you drop by on a quiet afternoon, the visitors log makes some interesting reading.

Added Attractions

In addition to everything else happening during the Chuckwagon Cookoff, the Junior Historians will be dressed in costumes of the period and will be available in each of the museum rooms to offer insights into our growing collection. Don't miss a room.

Dove season opens in northern zone Sept. 1

by Mel Phillips

JOIN THE 400,000 DOVE HUNTERS

Officials with Texas Parks and Wildlife Department estimate that some 400,000 dove hunters will head to the sunflowers and water holes during the opening day(s) of dove season. In our part of Texas, called the Northern Zone, this opening day occurs on Tuesday, September 1st, and runs through October 30. The daily bag limit is fifteen mourning doves.

Dove hunters in the Central Zone of Texas have a split season with the first season running from September 1st until October 19th, and a second dove season from December 26th until January 5, 1998.

Hunters in the Southern Zone of second season lasts from December 26 until January 5, 1998.

CCTO hold first meeting of the year

The Clarendon Classroom Teacher's Organization (CCTO), is a unique group for elementary, junior high, and high school teachers. CCTO's first meeting of the year was held on August 18, 1997, with 29 members present. Refreshments were provided.

CCTO services the needs of the local faculty members of Clarendon CISD in several ways. It gives members the opportunity: to mix with teachers of other campuses to share ideas for school improvement, to express concerns professionally, to be a liaison between the administration, school board and faculty, to keep informed about issues and provide input into school policies which directly affect teachers, to provide a positive image for the district, and to allow teachers to work together in order to benefit all students.

This year's officers are: President Linde Shadle, Vice President Krista Hughes, and Secretary/Treasurer Marva Pruitt.

At this meeting, the Scholarship Committee described the application process through which a book scholarship is selected. Last year's recipient was Nathan Koontz who is attending Clarendon College this fall.

Members who attended the June, July, and August school board meetings reported. All members are asked to attend one board meeting during the year.

In the past, CCTO has been instrumental in developing the elementary library and playground. It has also hosted a "Meet the Candidates" forum, allowing the community to meet and to hear the views of candidates for the school board. The group looks forward to future activities to help the school district and the community.
