Tornado Strikes South Of Town

Leader Crew Victims Of Storm. Publication Delayed

Just as the Leader crew was getting the paper ready to go to press, the severe storm signal sounded and every one scattered.

Two of the crew, James Mahaffey and Fred Waggoner drove south of town in Mahaffey's auto on the Brice highway to watch the storm and also elude its path. About nine miles out they met Mrs. James Gouldy, Sammy Jacobs and Gary Mahaffey in another car and the last named got in the James Mahaffey car and all started back toward town. They had traveled only a short distance when the darkness from the storm closed in and they stopped. At that time, the tornado picked up the car, flipped it several times and dumped it in the opposite ditch after hitting a highway post. The post kept the car from going into a deep ravine.

The five were brought to Adair Hospital by Mr. Clark of Leslie. Mrs. James Gouldy received the more serious injuries with a skull fracture and injury to her back and chest. She was reported resting fairly well Thursday morning. Gary Mahaffey received a large gash in his head and was kept overnight but was reported doing fine Thursday morning. The other three were treated for cuts and bruises and released Wednesday night. The 1959 Chevrolet was considered a complete loss.

The same tornado first struck on the Thornberry ranch southwest of town, causing considerable damage to outbuildings, etc. at the Bill Thornberry and Martin Thornberry places. It moved across open range to strike again at the Richard Dinger place near where the car was bounced around. Other farm homes and outbuildings damaged in the area were Alton Webb, John Heathington, Henry Mann and Lawrence Hagy.

Heavy hail damage was reported over the entire area, terraces were washed out and there was flooding in general. Ashtola received 4.75 inches and 2.35 was recorded here in town. Numerous window lights were broken out along with other wind damage.

After getting the Leader crew limbered up, we are about ready to try to run the paper out at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Sorry we are late but the elements have won again.

Clarendon and the surrounding area is beginning to feel the blunt of nightly soaking downpours that have caused considerable crop damage and serious damage to cultivated fields in some parts of this locality.

The Brice area 16 miles south received the greatest damage to crops, terraces and fields when a 5 to 8 inch deluge struck that area Monday night. This same storm moved across Memphis and the Estelline area with the same type of damage and heavy flooding. Damage to roads in the area was heavy also, with some of the farm roads being blocked. Trains in the Estelline-Memphis area were held up several hours due to damage to the roadbed.

Storm clouds moving in from the southwest three nights in succession, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights, have left the entire area soaked and most crops will have to be planted over again which makes as many as four plantings for some of our farmers. The storms have been accompanied by intense electrical displays and heavy claps of thunder that shook homes just like a mild earthquake.

Our local weather observer recorded .54 for Sunday night, 1.06 Monday night and 1.39 Tuesday night to give us a monthly total so far of 4.13 inches and bring our years total to 14.43. Mrs. Hatley at the Country Club reported .77 Sunday night, 1.30 Monday and .80 Tuesday night for a total of 2.95. She also reported a May total of 5.85 inches. Ben Lovell reported .42 for Sunday night, 1.50 Monday and 1.10 Tuesday for a total of 3.20; Willard Knox reported .82, 1.25 and .90 for a total of 3.37 at Lelia Lake. Clifford Johnson at Hedley reported 1.40, 2.50 and 1.00 for a total of 4.90; James McAnear, 2 1/2 miles west of Brice reported five inches Monday night and an unofficial report from the Antelope flat area gave a total of around 8 inches.

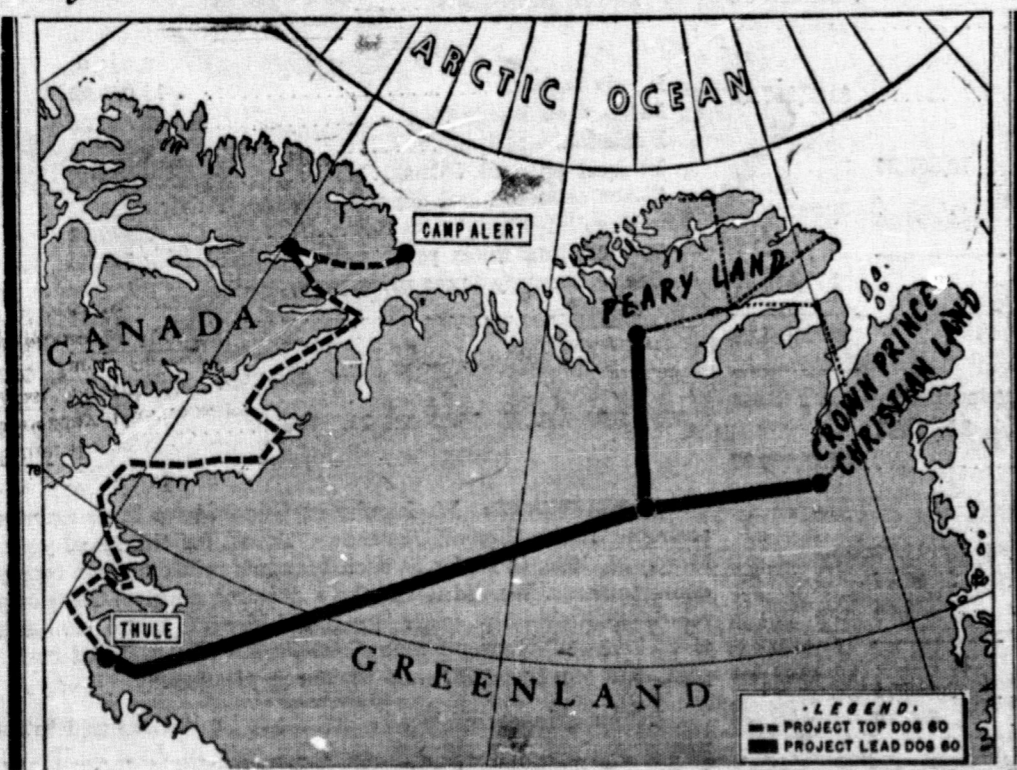

More rain is forecast for Wednesday and Thursday. Lots of sunshine and drying weather is needed much more right now so farmers can get in their fields again.

Stubble-mulch farming offers one of the most economical and effective means for conserving moisture and controlling erosion on your farm.

Stubble mulching means leaving as much residue as practical on or near the soil surface throughout the year. Nearly any sweep type implement such as a Hoeme can be used in obtaining this stubble mulching.

This mulch which is left on the soil surface serves many purposes. First it helps cut down soil temperature during the hot summer months and helps keep it warmer in the winter. As much as (10) to fifteen degrees difference between the air temperature and soil temperature can be obtained through this stubble use.

Second, a mulch conserves moisture through two ways — It keeps the moisture present in the soil from evaporating as rapidly. Also this mulch aids in moisture infiltration through breaking up the sealing force of a hard rain. By breaking up this force it allows more water to filter into the soil faster than would occur normally without this mulch aid.

Third, this mulch will protect your soil from damaging erosion — both by wind and water. A field with a protective cover on it will very seldom blow. And due to more rapid intake of water plus increasing the amount of water the soil is capable of taking in, this mulch will retard water erosion.

Today's modern farmer can practice stubble-mulch farming easily and economically — and, of more importance, soil can be protected from erosion by wind and rain.

So how about improving your land by modern stubble mulch farming? You won't be sorry and it will help you where it counts, in the pocket book.

If interested further in using your stubble to best advantage, contact the Soil Conservation and Steve spent last week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hill Allen, at Throckmorton and Mrs. V. M. Reeve at Goree.

A. B. Ivey and Alton Webb called on A. O. Hott Monday morning.

Irrigation is becoming increasingly important to the farmers of the Donley County Soil Conservation District. At present there are over 100 wells and 6,000 acres of land under some type of irrigation in the district. By far the most important type is sprinkler irrigation. Sprinkler irrigation fits in well with the rolling, medium textured land that covers most of the farming areas of the district.

The cost of equipment is high as is the fuel and maintenance cost involved in pumping the water to the surface. Therefore it is essential that this water be used to the best advantage. An improperly designed or installed sprinkler system can waste money. Main or lateral lines that are too small cause a high friction loss. This, in turn, makes it necessary to run the motor and pump at a higher, fuel consuming speed in order to put out the proper amount of water. This also causes uneven distribution of the water.

Another inefficient way to use a sprinkler system is to try to cover more land than the well and system are capable of covering properly. During the hot, dry, irrigation season the crop must have adequate water in order to produce the maximum yield. Trying to cover too much land will probably return a lower overall yield than if part of the land was irrigated more efficiently.

Blowin' Out the Corners

By Uncle Zeb

Although it had been little more than a year since we had visited in Albuquerque we were amazed at the changes. If we ever saw a town literally busting at the seams it would be this city. It is actually pushing back the mountains for a place to build something new.

On every hand we saw progress; one way streets, expressways under construction, repairs of every description. It even has the natives worried about how they will find the right street home on the morrow. But some tomorrow things will be fixed and a beautiful city will have emerged out of the confusion. This all must happen because cities were first sprawling villages, then towns, with no way of preparing for what has happened. "Mighty oaks from little acorns grow," and it is with the same percentage that makes the villages grow into a metropolis.

We thought we knew where we were going. For years we had, on occasions, visited the brother-in-law who once kept us stocked in pinto beans. That was before the city took him in. But it seemed impossible to get across town. As Ernie Ford said in his famous song: "If the left one don't get you the right one will." It was that way with the one-way streets and the detours. After many discouraging tries we decided to ask at a service station. The boy sent us all the way around town some 20 miles. After getting lost some half dozen times we finally arrived and asked our niece to draw us off a road for the next time. With a half page of lefts and rights she admitted that it would be impossible for me to make it, and that I would fare better as the boy had said. Anyway she admitted that by breaking the speed limit, cutting all corners it took her 30 minutes to cross town. That made my hour long spree look a bit better. We didn't even get any beans.

Red River, New Mexico
This was our first time to be in Red River in May. Our many trips had always been during the hustle and bustle of the tourist season. This time it was different. The quiet and restful stillness of the mountains was pretty much the case where ever one stopped.

At least this was true for a few days and then came Memorial Day week end and it was the same bee-hive of activity again. Never did we see so many folks camped as lined the banks through Cimarron Canyon. There just wasn't a vacant camping place from one end to the other. With the ice one-eighth of an inch thick on the windshields in Red River early on Memorial Day morning it was easy to imagine the shivering of camping out in the nearby canyons. But folks were having fun, and the fishermen in the crowds were standing close to each other on the banks of Eagle Nest Lake as the long week-end holiday gave folks a chance to get out close to nature.

All this makes one realize how necessary it is that people have a place to go and get away from the busy hum-drum and nerve-racking strain of their work. It makes us know for a certainty how popular the Canadian River Dam will be with the people of this area once it should become a reality. We are usually against big debts but if this project can be justified at all from the standpoint of needed municipal water then by all means the outdoor and recreation benefits should be considered.

Families who play together will be more likely to stay together. There is something mighty wonderful takes place when the family takes their vacation trip out among the wonders and splendors of nature.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

Our favorite Washington correspondent, Ed Koterba, has been flying around with Senator Lyndon Johnson during the Memorial Day holidays. Seems as the Senator used Mr. Koterba as a sounding board, knowing all along whatever he told this outspoken correspondent would be passed on to the people.

Our pride in this great man, the exasperation at other times, are fighting a losing battle in the breast of this voter.

Mr. Koterba says, ten thousand feet over Morgantown, W. Va., the Senator tapped him on the shoulder, pointed to a cluster of toy-size houses along a bend in the river, "See those houses ven-

We knew a fellow once who kept on telling his wife; "Honey, sometimes I wish that I had been born rich instead of so good-looking."

Finally in exasperation she gave him this answer; "Well, I wish you had too, because your looks are sure not paying off."

Some folks who are always looking for greener pastures are actually only wanting a shady place to lie down.

Someone has said that; "Should a group of us throw all our troubles into one pile and then begin picking out the troubles which we had rather have, that we would rather have, that we would likely each go away with his own original troubles. The following little verse by we know not who, just about says the same thing.

TROUBLES
I've got a heap of troubles
And I've got to work them out,
But I look around and see
There's trouble all about.
Then when I see my troubles,
I just look up and grin,
And count up all the troubles
That I'm not in.

Some old sage tried to make us feel worse by telling us that "poor people have poor ways" then, the doctors came along and tried to cheer us up by telling us that we have fewer ulcers.

Some folks act "well fixed" when in reality they are only "stuck up."

der?" he asked. "In those houses like home all over the country—there are people who want what is good for America. They are looking for a leader and must have it. For a half hour after, the towering Texas Democrat leaned against the seat and philosophized, growing a bit sentimental, but speaking from somewhere down deep. Mr. Koterba said it gave him an inflated feeling, for these words of wisdom had become a private session of ear bending—just between the two of them, that is until he heard the same intimate words spoken two hours later at an "impromptu" press conference.

What's turning the tide in his favor out our way, is the thought, should he indeed go on to win the nomination, and the Presidency, would his picturesque away from-it-all paradise become Johnson's Shangri-la, as Mr. Koterba so aptly put it. And if so, would he wander off course, and by chance fly over this humble abode. We could almost sleep through these summer storms with the knowledge that the great white father was up there watching over us, that is if a welfare state was all we have in mind.

Being the leader he has proven himself to be, and while he is still a servant of the people, we should let him do a little ear-bending while we can get through to him. May a higher power guide us all, for our destiny just might lie in the hands of this powerful man.

PARTICIPATE IN AMARILLO FIELD TRIP

Seventeen members of the Summer Homemaking Program participated in a field trip to Amarillo May 31. They were accompanied by their sponsors, Mrs. Sue Shields and Mrs. Velma Bourland as well as two mothers, Mrs. Humpy Moore and Mrs. Roy Crutchfield.

The School of Nursing of Northwest Texas Hospital was the first point of interest in the trip. Mrs. Brack, R.N., Assistant Educational Director, gave an interesting talk on school background necessary for nursing training and introduced Dr. Dinko and the dietitian of the hospital. Dr. Dinko showed the girls a film on choosing a career as a biological technician. The dietitian explained the place of the dietitian in the "health team," schools for preparation, and the need for trained dietitians in our society. Refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies were served.

At noon the girls ate at the Colonial Inn in Wolflin Village, shopped in the various stores, and toured the suburban Sears Store.

The San Jacinto School of Beauty was the next stop on the field trip. Miss Suvilla Williams, Assistant Director of the School, assisted by Mrs. Dutton, Director and Mr. Dutton, Business Manager, gave a historical background of their school, conducted them on a guided tour of the school, and then served Cokes and cookies to our party.

To climax the day's activities, we bowled for a while at the Eastridge Bowling Alley. This was the first experience for the sponsors and most of the girls attending. Mr. Kenneth Jones assisted the girls with scores, etc.

Those girls making the trip were Sandra Webb, Jeanette Crutchfield, Shirley Johnson, Irene Elam, Jeanne Gray, Judy Benson, Cleeta Koontz, Brenda McAnear, Agatha Wallin, Sharon Williams, Peggy Jackson, Fredda Bourland, Shirley Mann, Nieta Casteel, Wilma Mann, Pauline Gillean, Beth and Lynn Bourland, and Kenneth Jones. — Rep.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harrison visited friends in Shamrock Monday.

The regular scheduled monthly den mothers meeting was held Monday night at 7:30. Plans for the June activities were discussed. Those present were Mrs. Ann Hommel, Mrs. Bill Greene Jr., Mrs. Susie Kidd Jr., Mrs. Hazel Monroe and Mrs. Tommie Saye.

The monthly Pack meeting for June will be held at the River on Thursday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. Olympic Games, A Scout Law Fire Ceremony in connection with the presentation of awards, and a weiner roast will be the order of the evening.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The news these days is filled with word of primary elections, which are commanding the attention of people in various States all over the country. These elections have assumed an even greater importance in this presidential year, and are certain to offer a demonstration of the vigorous way in which our democracy can work.

Our own great State held its primary two weeks ago, and I want to say how grateful and proud I am for the confidence and friendship expressed in me by the people of the Panhandle. In addition to an earnest word of thanks for this expression, I want to say that I will do all within my power to justify the confidence in my efforts to uphold the best possible government.

Our government functions at its best with the cooperation and liaison between the representative and the represented. I would like to reassert that I solicit and ever welcome the expression and views of every single person in every one of the 28 counties in the 18th Congressional District of Texas in order to more effectively discharge my duties and responsibilities as your Congressman. I trust I may continue to receive them by mail, telephone, verbally, or in any other manner. The process of selecting a democratic government is always a tremendously exciting experience. No matter what the views one may hold, the right to express those views in a free election, as was done in the Texas primary, seems to renew the hope of people all over the world in democracy. Such is the hope we are all expressing as millions of ballots are cast between now and the November general elections. At the same time, we might also be expressing the friendly wish that on some day in the not-too-distant future the same opportunity can be extended to men and women everywhere so that all may experience the far-flung possibilities of free government.

Elections have become increasingly important in the most recent history of our country, when responsible, active, and intelligent leadership has become so vital to our future. The United States, whether we like it or not, has become the free world's pivot. The features of our domestic life have grown so complex that it is virtually impossible to have a thorough, working knowledge of our world today.

So, in government as in just about everything else, we find ourselves coming to depend upon the good efforts of many other people. There are, of course, good and bad aspects of this process our nation is undergoing. I think we may at least be proud of the fact that people everywhere have a greatly increased opportunity to play an ever larger role in forging the type of country and world that is believed best.

But as the opportunities for our people increase, so do the dangers. The threats to our national security are pressing from both within and without. The responsibility of meeting these threats is indeed a grave and sobering one, but I shall continue to work toward that end and preserve the form of government which we all cherish so highly. I am deeply honored to have so many friends and supporters among the fine people of the 18th District, and I want you all to know that I shall continue to work for the Panhandle of Texas to the best of my ability within the Congress of the United States.

YOU TOO?

The designation of the plane brought down by the Russians, the U-2, could have been the expression by Khrushchev, when he pointed an accusing finger at this country. It would certainly be appropriate, because the Russians have been doing the same thing for a long time and have been caught at it in this country and Canada. Although their activities have not yet involved aerial reconnaissance, so far as we know, I feel sure that some must have gone on. We would certainly be naive to think otherwise.

The big scream from Russia is based upon what they claim is a violation of international law.

That is, the unapproved violation of their territorial boundaries. Since a boundary line is fixed on land and water, extends downward to the center of the earth and upward to the heavens, it would probably be in order to call attention to the fact that Russia, by her own admission, violated the territorial sovereignty of this country when she placed Sputnik in orbit. She openly claimed that this object passed immediately over the United States. So far as I know, there has not been any separation of outer space insofar as territorial boundaries are concerned. Perhaps Russia is operating on the theory that the difference between violation or non-violation of territorial boundaries in the air space above a country depends upon whether or not you are able to shoot down the object in such air space. This has not, to my knowledge, been adopted as a rule of international law, and I doubt that it will be, but Russia has never been known to be hesitant in making rules that fit her own conduct favorably.

MORE ABOUT THE U-2

The story of the flight of the U-2 plane over Russia and the resulting repercussions will be told for many years to come. It brought many things into glaring focus and brought out the truth about the international picture, untarnished by diplomatic maneuverings and fence-straddling.

It is a well-known and documented fact that Russia has engaged in the most extensive espionage activities in this country for many years and that these activities have been measurably stepped up in the last several years. In fact, the Russians have been caught many times and a number of those active in this practice are now in the penitentiaries of this country. Since May 1, 1946, the history of the United States reflects documentation of 65 Russian spy cases in this country. Among these of course are the cases involving the theft of atom bomb secrets from this country. Each and every case documented, in my opinion, involves facts and figures a great deal more serious in every respect than any information or figures that could have been gathered by a weather plane 15 miles above the earth. A number of the cases involve the use of diplomatic immunity to further espionage activities. Yet, it would seem from the cries of Mr. Khrushchev that only Russia is entitled to gather information about other countries.

Many people have felt for some time that Khrushchev was much more interested in talking about a Summit meeting than in actually engaging in one. They also felt that if the Summit meeting came about, the sole purpose of Khrushchev in participating in it would be to use the meeting as a stage from which to pour forth propaganda or to embarrass the other participating countries, rather than to devote all effort toward a peaceful solution of the many trying world problems. They also felt that when the meeting ceased to serve those purposes for Russia, it would be scuttled. These were some of the many reasons why former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had opposed meetings that could be used as outlined.

The activities of Mr. Khrushchev in recent days have confirmed the fears and feelings of those who felt as expressed in the above paragraph. He grabbed on to the U-2 incident to serve all of his purposes. He used it for propaganda as to the great ability of the Soviet Union to know what is going on in and over their own land. He used it as a means to threaten other nations. He used it as a means to try to embarrass the President of the United States. (But he quickly found that he had more than met his match.) He used it to scuttle the Summit meeting which he did not want to attend in the first place, and thereby avoided the necessity of immediately facing a number of issues which would have proved most embarrassing to him. He thought that the U-2 incident was probably the finest thing that had ever happened in his career to bolster and support him.

BUT, he may soon find out that it will be the worst possible thing that could have happened to him. He may find it most difficult to explain to many countries, and most especial of all, to his own people, that all of his bragging and big talk about Russia's invincibility and invulnerability has turned out to be a lot of hot air. He may find that the Russian people will begin to wonder just how much truth there is in all of his big talk, now that they discover that these flights have been going on over Russia for some four years. Perhaps he thinks that he can keep this truth from the Russian people, but he cannot keep it from the top echelon of the party faithful in the Kremlin, a group that has the reputation of not permitting extended explanations. History will probably record that Mr. Khrushchev, like other dictators, overplayed his hand. He has failed miserably in the greatest opportunity he will ever have to place the USSR in a favorable position insofar as the quest for peace is concerned; a failure from which he will not recover. and

Improvements Made In Mail Service

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield today announced sweeping improvements in mail transportation that will mean better mail service for Clarendon and 124 other communities in the Amarillo and Lubbock metropolitan areas, covering over 37,000 square miles.

Discussing the program at a meeting of postmasters in Amarillo, Geo. A. Gray, Regional Operations Director, said that 900,000 people in the 40 Texas counties would benefit by better mail service.

Barring infrequent delays in media of transportation and occasional distribution errors, first-class letters mailed at designated collection boxes or in the post office before 5:00 p.m. on a business day will be delivered on the first delivery at any office in the areas on the following business day.

"Tests just concluded," Mr. Gray said, "proved the mail pattern to be highly successful. Approximately 600,000 first-class letters originate on an average business day in post offices within these two metropolitan areas. Approximately 66 per cent of this mail is destined for points within the area. We have tested our newly changed operations with highly gratifying results."

He pointed out that mail for and from offices outside the area, all over the United States, will be expedited by the new arrangement. Accelerating the flow of mail in the metropolitan areas, it was explained, is part of the vast postal program which has next-day delivery between any two cities in the country as its long range objective. The revised mail pattern is based in the establishment of sectional centers to which mail from outlying offices is brought for consolidation, distribution and onward dispatch for connection with trunk line facilities, principally at Amarillo.

These sectional centers have been established at Amarillo, Childress, Lubbock and Plainview.

Post Offices near one of these sectional centers will send their mail to that point for processing. Fast non-stop service over the highway then will carry the mail to Amarillo and Lubbock for dispatch to destination. Special connections have been established via fast truck service north of Amarillo.

Some towns could not be brought within the plan because of the distance involved; however, slightly earlier mailing would assure the mailer the benefit of metropolitan area service.

Mobile sectional centers, which consist of mail distribution cars in trains and buses equipped for en route distribution, are also utilized in the program.

The plan required an intricate pattern of interlocking schedules, with connections being made within a matter of minutes at many places. For instance, a letter from Roaring Springs to Levelland travels over six different routes, including one train; it is transferred at five different locations.

Mr. Gray explained that the next-day delivery depends on the conscientious attention of postal employees as well as the closely integrated time table which governs the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together.

He said this improvement in letter mail service is the result of intensive study, and he credits the cooperation of dedicated postal employees in the 125 offices involved.

The counties in the area are Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley and Floyd.

Also Foard, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hemphill, Hockley, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lubbock and Moore.

Also Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, Terry, Wheeler, Wichita and Wilbarger.

Jefferson, Ohio, Gazette: "A survey of some nine hundred communities recently revealed that youngsters stand a better chance of living a crime-free life if they come from rural areas, or from small cities, than if they are reared in metropolitan areas."

"All of which goes to prove, once again, that the strength of America lies in rural areas and in small towns, where close family ties, an orderly and supervised life, and the basic, traditional values of society, are still more keenly appreciated."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Most ardent advocates of a tax bill to pour fresh funds into the state's coffers likely will be legislative employees.

Only about $130,000 remains in the legislative expense fund for use between now and the end of the year. A good part of this probably will be needed to pay travel and miscellaneous expenses of the study committees that meet between sessions.

If these expenses run very high, the permanent legislative employees — people who keep records, staff the legislative library, etc. — may run short on salary money.

Their only course, if they want to stay on in their jobs, will be to hang on until the new legislature finds money to pay them.

SESSION COSTS TOTALED — Last year's legislative sessions — one regular, three special — cost the state $2,773,140.

This averages out to $16,385 a day when the lawmakers are meeting, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness' report.

Of the $2,773,140 total, $724,000 was spent by the 32-member Senate, $1,242,000 by the 150-member House. Each member received in salary about $5,000, at the rate of $25 per day.

Rest of the expense is mostly for the employees to keep a session going — answer letters, keep records, print bills, etc.

SALES TAX TAKE ESTIMATED — A retail sales tax with groceries medical and other services exempted would raise an estimated $133,000,000 a year, a legislative committee was told.

Collection costs would run about $3,000,000 a year, a Texas Research League tax expert told the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy.

If the tax covered not only finished products but raw products used by business in manufacturing, the take would be some $80,000,000 a year more but would result in the consumer's paying two taxes on one item.

A retail sales tax would not hurt Texas' future industrial development, the Commission was told by a business expert, but a tax on manufacturing raw materials would.

Very few elective officials have come out strongly for any kind of broad-based sales tax. Some are bound to look longingly at this avenue, however, since the amount that will have to be raised next year will, if teachers get any sort of raise, be almost as much as a retail sales tax would net.

"LAME DUCK" OPINIONS ASKED — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been asked for opinions on whether retiring lawmakers should continue to serve on two important interim committees.

Four members of the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy are "lame ducks." They are the chairman, Sen. Bill Fly of Victoria, and Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, who were defeated for re-election; Rep. V. L. Ramsey of Beckville, who ran for comptroller and lost; and Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring who didn't run this year.

Three of the five members of the House General Investigating Committee also did not run for new terms. They are Rep. H. J. Blanchard, chairman, and Reps. Joe Burkett of Kerrville and Carl Conley of Raymondville.

If the Attorney General rules these men should be replaced, most of the new appointments will be made by retiring House Speaker Waggoner Carr.

GAS TAX ARGUED — Court action has begun on what will undoubtedly be a long legal battle over whether the natural gas severance beneficiary tax passed last year is constitutional.

An estimated $15,000,000 a year in state revenue is at stake.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., which filed a separate suit, was the first to begin argument in the Austin district court. A consolidated suit, involving 80 other companies, will be heard by the same court on June 16.

Tennessee Co. spokesmen argued that the pipelines are in the business of transporting only and should not be subject to a tax

Inspectors found that an average of one in every 66 pieces of incoming luggage contained contraband plant material. They estimate that in port-of-entry inspection an important crop pest from abroad is intercepted every 20 minutes during a working year. Some of the pests may never

Cotton Performance

We will start measuring cotton and Soil Bank base crops about the middle of June. We again ask that cotton farmers or their representative assist our reporters when they visit your farms. We wish to remind you to be sure to show the reporters any land that was planted to cotton that has been destroyed and was not replanted to cotton. At least 75% of your allotment should be planted in order to receive full history credit. If crop-failure is not reported and not measured, your farm may lose part of the allotment in 1961.

Conservation Reserve
Farmers who have placed part of their cropland in the Conservation Reserve have a crop acreage limitation to remember before completing their planting each spring.

The permitted acreage is the acreage of Soil Bank base crops that may be planted on the farm. Earlier this year you received a list of Soil Bank base crops and Non-Base crops and the amount of acres which you may plant on your farm. In addition to the limitation of acreage devoted to crop production the contract also provides that the cropland under contract must not be grazed nor harvested. You also must control noxious weeds - Russian thistles, cocklebur, and sunflowers. If you do not have a cover crop established because of reasons beyond your control, you must establish a cover as soon as possible or you may be in violation of your contract.

Clarendon Has Class "A" Water System

According to a report to Mayor H. T. Burton from G. R. Herzik, Jr., State Department of Health, Clarendon still rates at the very top of the list in Class A water systems for the State of Texas.

"The Division of Sanitary Engineering is in receipt of a report from our representative, Mr. V. T. Hancock, Jr., covering a sanitary survey of the public water system at Clarendon, which he made on May 19, 1960, in company with Mr. Orville Housden, Water Superintendent. We were certainly pleased to note from our representative's report that the City of Clarendon continues to operate and maintain its public water facilities such as to result in a numerical sanitary rating in excess of 92.0 points. It therefore gives us pleasure to advise you that this Department continues to recognize your city as being served by a Class A system or State approved water facility," Herzik stated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Swift and Miss Anna Moores returned home Saturday from Atlanta, Texas, where they had gone to contract the planting of 225 acres of pine seedlings.

FHA OFFICERS TRAINING SCHOOL

The Clarendon and Hedley officers of the Future Homemakers of America have just completed an intensive three-day training program in the Homemaking Department of Clarendon High School. Mrs. Velma Bourland, Clarendon Homemaking teacher, conducted the course.

"The strength of your program, and the quality of your projects are determined largely by the leadership of the girls chosen as officers of the Chapter," Mrs. Bourland emphasized. "Being installed as an officer and having your name on the Chapter roll should inspire you to fulfill all the duties and obligations of your office to the best of your ability."

Each Chapter officer became familiar not only with the duties of her office, but also the duties of each officer in the Chapter. Ways were suggested to put life into meetings. The Area, State and National projects and programs were reviewed, and suggestions were made for girls to include these projects in their home experiences and Chapter projects. The girls were given training in writing a chapter constitution, writing minutes, writing news articles, and developing the agenda for the meetings. The officers selected girls to work with them on committees next year, and suggested programs for the group meetings next year. The socials were suggested, and a proposed budget was planned to present the Chapter in September. This was the first officer training program ever sponsored by the local FHA Chapter. The girls were well pleased with this course and expressed a desire to have it repeated next summer.

The Hedley girls who attended regularly were Molly Floyd, Pat Houdashell, and Cecelia Hoggard. The Clarendon girls included Jeannette Crutchfield, Jeanne Gray, Judy Benson, Marie Blackburn, Peggy Jackson, Fredda Bourland, Wilma Mann, Norma Self, Judy Thompson, Jackie McClellan, Gayle Bones and Connie Williams.

Sue Dell Barker of Stinnett visited her father Odell Barker Wednesday.
