FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

The final date for filing acreage reports for the purpose of participating in the 1961 Feed Grain Program was May 31. We hope all who wanted to sign up did so by this date.

The grower who unintentionally plants more acres of corn and grain sorghum in 1961 than are permitted on his farm will have an opportunity to plow up the excess acres in order to meet program requirements.

Adjustment credit shall be given only for areas of regular shape with not more than four sides. One side or one end of the disposition area shall be parallel with the rows or field boundary when row crops are destroyed in a square, rectangular, or trapezoidal pattern.

COTTON PERFORMANCE

We hope to be ready to start measuring cotton around the last of June. It will be necessary for someone who knows the farm to be with reporters when they visit the farm.

About June 10 all allotment producers will be mailed a postcard. This is a questionnaire which we would like for you to fill out and return to us. It requires no postage. Just check the blocks as to whether you will or will not plant cotton.

The Office Personnel appreciates the cooperation offered reporters in the past, when they called to measure cotton, soil bank base crops, etc. . . . and will also appreciate your continued cooperation this year.

SOIL BANK

All farmers maintaining land in the Soil Bank are reminded that they should be thinking of controlling all noxious weeds. We urge each farmer to review his contract.

OLEN D. WILSON, ASHTOLA PREPS IN NAVAL EXERCISE

The icebreaker USS Staten Island returned to Seattle, Wash. May 9, following a seven-month cruise with Operation Deep Freeze '61 in the Antarctic.

Aboard the icebreaker upon its arrival was Olen D. Wilson, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson of Ashtola, Texas.

Deep Freeze is a scientific research and experimental program conducted by 12 nations in the South Polar region.

During the cruise the Staten Island conducted oceanographic research, being the first ship on record to penetrate Sulzberger Bay in the Eastern Ross Sea; assisted in the recovery of an aviation gasoline barge adrift in the Ross Sea; and took weather observations to aid in the evacuation of a sick Russian Scientist.

The icebreaker visited Australia, Chile, New Zealand, and Hawaii, prior to its return.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tucker returned Tuesday of last week after a three weeks visit with relatives in Oklahoma and Illinois. They visited their son Mr. and Mrs. Jauan Tucker in Norman, Okla.; Mrs. Tucker's sisters, Mrs. Vella Harris and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hopkins in Guthrie, Okla. They also visited Mrs. Tucker's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. R. Cox and family in Chicago, Illinois.

FOUR NEEDED FREEDOMS

"A railroad is like a man running a corner store who is compelled to set his prices by fixed standards, write them in large figures on his windows and is forbidden to deviate from them, while his competitor across the street is free to charge any price he pleases, and may be getting free rent, besides. He has only to come over and look at those posted prices to know where to set his own to get the business."

This dour observation comes from an officer of the Association of American Railroads. And it is not an exaggeration. Railroad regulation stems from the foregone era when the industry had a virtual monopoly on the commercial transportation business. It is rigid in every particular. But railroad competitors are subjected to a much milder form of control or, in some instances, to none at all. The railroads, as a result, are in the position of a fighter with one hand tied behind his back.

A short time ago the railroads issued an urgent plea to Congress and the Kennedy Administration to head off a major crisis in the industry. This took the form of a "Magna Carta." Four freedoms are asked: Freedom from discriminatory taxation; freedom from subsidized competition, and freedom to provide a diversified transportation service. As matters stand now, none of these freedoms exist or, at best, are severely and unjustly circumscribed.

It should be noted that the railroads ask for no special favors — only a square deal that will enable them to compete on fair and equal terms for traffic. And the big gainer would be the public at large. It would be assured of the best possible transportation service, from all carriers, at the lowest possible cost.

THE VERY LEAST

Postmaster General Day has requested rate increases for his department's services that would pay revenues by about $846 million a year — a sum that slightly exceeds the current deficit.

Primary attention has been given to proposed one-cent increases in first-class and air-mail postage. However, Mr. Day does not stop with those. In addition, he wants the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve higher parcel post charges.

Here Mr. Day is on eminently sound ground, no matter what Congress decides to do about letter postage. Parcel post, over the years, has been operated at a huge deficit, even though the act creating it in 1913 prescribed that it should pay its own way. And the direct deficit attributable to carrying parcels at below-cost rates does not tell the whole story. There is a heavy indirect deficit, resulting from the fact that many costs for which parcel post is responsible are charged against the post office department generally.

On top of that, parcel post is in no way comparable to the carrying of the regular and traditional mails, which is an essential public service. Parcel post is a Johnny-come-lately post office function — and it is 100 per cent commercial in nature. The very least the taxpayers should ask is that the costs and the revenues jibe.

TAX SUBTERFUGE

If you buy certain luxuries, such as jewelry and furs and leather goods, you'll pay an excise tax, running up to 20 per cent.

But when you buy gasoline, an absolute necessity which almost everyone in this country uses, you'll pay, on the average, a sales tax which is equal to 48 per cent of the retail price. That sales tax now averages more than 10 cents a gallon. No necessary product in the whole country is taxed at a rate even approaching that level.

About a year ago the federal gas tax was "temporarily" increased by one cent, to a total of four cents a gallon. This one-cent boost is scheduled to expire on June 30, thus giving the motoring public a little relief from exorbitant gasoline taxation. However, it is proposed not only that the "temporary" tax be continued, but it be increased by an additional half-cent. This follows the usual pattern of "temporary" taxes — "temporary" means permanent.

The reason for this is that the highway trust fund, which is supposed to finance the multi-billion dollar federal highway program, is in financial difficulties. But that fund operates on an unsound basis. As an oil industry spokesman puts it, "It is most surprising indeed to realize that no portion of the cost is presently being borne from general funds . . ." The highway-user carries it all. Yet one main reason for the program is national defense — a matter which concerns everyone, whether he travels the highways or not. This is no small financial matter. For instance, it was recently decided to increase the height of all bridges on the interstate system to permit passage of large military vehicles. This added about $750 million to the cost. It is certainly unfair and unreasonable to make the highway-user pay all such bills.

The one-cent "temporary" increase in the federal gas tax should expire as scheduled. And the method of financing the highway program should be revised.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

We found this summary of some of the major concerns that the American citizen should have about the present food and farm program. 1. It puts farmers squarely into the political arena for dependence on their livelihood. 2. It places the Federal government in the position of (a) fixing prices, (b) establishing income, (c) regulating conditions of production. 3. It destroys the competitive market system. 4. It builds a political machine. 5. It promotes a virtual dictatorship over farmers.

6. It causes Congress to abdicate its function. 7. It increases government interference, which already has proven to be of detriment to farmers and consumers alike. 8. It proposes to make a socialistic scheme work by coercion, reward and punishment. 9. It places government in competition with individuals. 10. It makes a mockery of the judicial process. 11. It would level farmers down to a governmentally determined level. 12. It would freeze progress on the farms and in the agriculture areas.

13. It sets a price on a farmer's right to produce. 14. It provides for favoritism among farmers and between commodity groups by standards set by the Secretary of Agriculture. 15. It promotes disharmony among farmers. 16. But most of all — if agriculture is forced into complete socialism, other industries' fate won't be far behind.

In the name of "farmers welfare" the public reluctantly accepted government support way back in the thirties. Seven years and billions of dollars later farm prices were as low as when Federal intervention began. (About 6 billion of Federal funds are appropriated for use in agriculture each year). Only the demand created by World War II pushed prices and net farm income up. No matter how hard a farmer tries to get-out-from-under, each legislative attempt plunges him farther toward the point of no return.

"The Welfare State, both feared and desired, seems likely to arrive via Social Security. Steadily, the Social Security tax expands and the promises and 'benefits' grow. Already, without additional legislation that the Liberals in Congress are arguing for, the Social Security tax will, by law, reach 9 per cent in 1969."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

DONLEY SOIL CONSERVATION Grain Sorghums in Narrow Rows Offers Advantages

Planting sorghums in narrow rows offers advantages that aid in a more economical crop production. Evaporation losses are reduced due to shading, less wind movement, and reduced temperatures. Production can be maintained. Nutrients are more efficiently absorbed and from a farmer's point of view, this method is more practical because of weed control.

Just as important as planting in narrow rows is the planting rate per acre. If 2 or 3 pounds per acre is the seeding rate in 40-inch rows, the same seeding rate should be used in narrow width rows.

Results at Southwestern Great Plains Field Station as Bushland shows that yields were higher with 2 pounds seeding rate than 4 pounds seeding rate in both 20 and 40-inch row spacing.

The best planting arrangement is one that gives ample space to each plant, yet keeps evaporation, weeds, and temperatures at a minimum.

Water leaves the soil in two ways. The most costly to farmers is direct evaporation into the air, and the other is transpiration through the plant. With more shade and lower temperatures, the moisture loss is less in narrow width rows.

Soil temperatures above 100 degrees are somewhat detrimental to sorghum plants. Tests in Manhattan, Kansas showed that soil temperatures reached 107 degrees when rows were spaced 40 inches apart. The narrow rows gave consistent readings of nearly 20 degrees less than wide rows when air temperatures were over 100 degrees.

This shading effect of plants has another important function. Weeds cannot survive without sunshine. Tests have shown that 40 inch rows did not shade more than 60 percent of the area between the rows at the time of full head. But 20 inch rows provided very good shading, covering almost 90 percent of the area at noon at full head.

Narrow row plantings can be done with a grain drill by plugging the extra holes. In most instances new equipment is not necessary to change to narrow row planting. Almost all farmers can satisfactorily use their available equipment.

It would be hard to say that narrow width rows will always increase yields. We should expect the same yields as wide rows, but with less expense; thus giving more profits.

Donald Wrynski, Public Relations Director of California Interstate Telephone Co., said recently, "... The suggestive elements are now getting patriotism out of the school classrooms the same way they got God out. He did not blame the educators who, he emphasized, are governed by what the citizens demand. He blamed parents and other citizens who should have the welfare of our country uppermost in their minds at all times and demand that all schools conduct regular programs emphasizing the importance of our way of life, stressing the importance of private enterprise, respect for the emblems of our Country and the history of the struggles that made ours the greatest nation in the world."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Legislature goes into the final stretch of the regular session with the possibility of a photo finish.

Individual lawmakers alternated between hope and despair about the prospect of getting all-around agreement on a tax plan by May 29. Many expressed fear of home district criticism if matters are allowed to drag through the summer, as happened in 1959.

In the final, chips-down stage, it looked like a Governor vs. Legislature battle. A majority of both houses has gone on record for tax plans which have a fairly general 2 per cent sales tax as the major revenue source. Gov. Price Daniel says, in effect, that he doesn't want to be hard to live with but he isn't about to back down now on his 25-year anti-sales tax stand.

Senators re-worked the two major tax bills sent them by the House — the 2 per cent sales tax and the all-purpose "loophole bill" — into a combination package. In the package was a 2 per cent sales tax on items of 25 cents and more (with exemptions on food, drugs, etc.), an increase in the natural gas production tax from 7 per cent to 8 per cent, and a hike in the corporate franchise tax. They also jacked up the driver's license fee from $2 to $3.

Senate sponsors estimate that it would raise $327,000,000 in the next two years.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris made an effort to get the senate to substitute a bill favored by the governor that would limit new general sales taxes to items costing $10 or more. It also would have levied selective taxes on motor tools and appliances, building materials, stock sales, restaurant meals, etc.

Senate turned down the governor's substitute, 17-to-14, then gave final passage to its own bill, 19-to-12.

LOAN BILL DELAYED — Tax matters delayed Senate progress on legislation to regulate the small loan industry.

A re-worked version of the loan bill passed by the House was prepared by a special subcommittee of the Senate State Affairs Committee. In general, the Senate subcommittee's bill appears to allow for higher charges on smaller loans and lower charges on larger loans. It sets up a schedule of "service charges" that are not to be considered interest.

Whatever the outcome, hopes for passing a loan bill that will satisfy interested groups are nil. If charges are low, the bill will be criticized for "putting loan companies out of business so poor people can't borrow money." If rates are high, it "legalizes the sharks."

DRIVER LAW TIGHTENED — House passed on second reading a bill that would put more pressure on drivers who do not carry liability insurance or have the means to pay for an accident.

Reps. Ben Lewis of Dallas and Robert Fairchild of Center, sponsors, pointed out that only about 60 per cent of Texas drivers carry insurance.

Among provisions of the proposed bill is one that would cause a driver to lose his license if convicted of two moving traffic violations within a year and he did not carry insurance.

REDISTRICTING APPROVED — Despite disappointments and conflicts, a legislative redistricting bill has passed both House and Senate.

Sen. Jep Fuller carried on a nine-hour filibuster against the Senate portion of the bill. Fuller protested that Jefferson County (Beaumont-Port Arthur) has more than enough population to be a one-county district. In the bill Jefferson is placed in a district with Orange County, as before.

Nor is all good cheer in the House where a number of members face the prospect of running against each other. Many rural areas with dwindling populations were enlarged or combined with other districts.

Rep. Will Ehrie of Childress, who is placed in the same district with veteran Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah, has announced that he has given up the idea of running for speaker next term.

CLUB REGULATION PASSED — A bill to license and regulate private clubs serving liquor by the drink gained final house passage.

Rep. Tom James of Dallas, sponsor, declared it was a law enforcement measure needed by the Liquor Control Board in order to halt saloons operating in the guise of private clubs. Opponents declared it would legalize liquor by the drink.

Under the bill, clubs would pay annual license fees ranging from $500 to $10,000. James noted it would bring in some $2,500,000 a year.

"SIT-INS" ARE TARGET — A bill aimed at outlawing "sit-ins" and "stand-ins" has received preliminary House approval.

Rep. Lloyd Martin of Norman is author of the bill. It would provide a fine of $200 for persons who refuse to leave a business establishment after being asked to do so.

TAX REFUND ORDERED — State must return to several Dallas liquor stores $89,246 in liquor taxes paid under protest, says the State Supreme Court.

These are taxes paid by the stores on liquor in stock before the effective date of an increased tax passed by the Legislature in 1959.

Not involved in this suit is another $73,937 in liquor taxes paid under protest under the same circumstances.

DPS EXAMS ANNOUNCED — Young men between 21 and 35 may make application through June 9 to attend the next school for state highway patrolmen. Department of Public Safety has announced that men meeting the patrol's standards will take exams in several cities June 13, 14 and 15. Prospective applicants may write to the Department of Public Safety at Austin for information.

FLOOD OF BILLS — With the clock running out on this session, a large volume of bills is being moved at a swifter pace. Riding in the flood are bills that would:

1. Take the University of Houston into a state-supported college system. Bill finally passed the Senate after nearly a month of delays, but must be passed again in the House.

2. Provide up to $12 a month for medical, hospital and nursing care for persons on the state welfare rolls. Passed by Senate.

3. Recodify the school laws and cut the number of hours future teachers must spend in courses on how to teach. Passed by the House.

4. Allow for payment of state aid to school districts on the basis of the present year's attendance rather than the previous year's. Passed by the Senate.

5. Outlaw sale of obscene pictures, books, magazines or phonograph records. Passed by House. Penalty for violation would be a fine up to $2,500, a prison term up to two years or both.

6. Increase the annual barber's license fee from $5 to $10 and set up higher requirements for barber colleges. Passed by House.

7. Allow the Veterans Land Board to sell forfeited lands to persons other than veterans. This is a constitutional amendment and would have to be voted on by the people. Sponsors said the measure was aimed at providing a way for the state to get back money involved in the "block deals" that erupted into the "land scandals." Passed by Senate.

8. Require registration of pest extermination services with the State Agriculture Commissioner. Given preliminary Senate passage.

9. Reorganize the State Water Board as the Texas Water Commission with a three-man board for policy making and a chief engineer to administer the department. Passed by the House.

10. Set filing fees for candidates for state office in general or special elections at 5 per cent of a year's salary. Passed by House.

11. Require cities whose firemen are in the state pension plan to contribute more to the pension fund. Given preliminary House passage.

Short Snorts
Texas Railroad Commission has ordered the present eight-day production pattern for the oil industry continued through June. But since June has only 30 days, compared to 31 in May, the daily allowable for June will be up by 48,013 barrels a day for a daily flow of 2,702,699 barrels.

Texas Employment Commission has launched a "hire now" drive in an effort to take up the slack in the Texas labor supply. Employment in Texas has increased in the past few weeks, says a TEC spokesman, but is still lagging behind this period last year.

HATCHING EGGS REQUIRE SPECIAL CARE IN SUMMER

Eggs that fail to hatch are costing egg producers and hatcheries in Texas and the rest of the United States millions of dollars annually says W. F. Krueger of the Poultry Science Department at Texas A&M College. A considerable part of this loss is caused by improper care of the eggs prior to incubation.

The environment under which the hatching eggs are held prior to incubation has an influence on their hatching power. Preincubation environmental factors which affect egg hatchability are temperature, humidity, length of holding period, nutrition of the hens and disease level of the flock.

Maintaining proper holding temperature is considered important in controlling the decline in egg hatchability. For this reason, refrigeration has proven to be essential to the holding of hatching eggs for any length of time. Research conducted at Texas A&M College has shown that evaporative coolers are slightly less effective for preserving hatchability than are mechanical refrigeration units.

It is also important to properly clean eggs in order to prevent spoilage in the incubator. Soiled hatching eggs should be cleaned with a sandpaper buffer or steel wool, or washed in warm water with a mild detergent. When washing eggs, the handler should change the water frequently to prevent the buildup of bacteria, says Krueger.

Hatching eggs should be given proper care in any season, but it is especially important during the summer months. Krueger says the use of recommended practices can cut losses resulting from low hatchability.

Once upon a time a lion ate a bull, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association. He felt so good that he roared and roared. A hunter heard him and killed him with one shot.

Moral: When you are full of bull, keep your mouth shut.

ALL YOUNG PEOPLE INVITED

All young people are invited every Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. to the home of the Rev. Charles C. Carman, Episcopal Vicar of the Church of St. John the Baptist. Discussed at these times are the Whys and Hows of Church life, dating problems, and other interesting subjects brought by the young people themselves. If interested, call or contact the Vicar at 3542.

EDITH BARNES

"A Burnt-Out Case" by Graham Greene, well deserves its continued place on the best sellers list. It will probably be there a long time. Those of you who have read Graham Greene's "The Heart of the Matter," know that his novels are not the easiest reading in the world but after you have read one of his books that it has been time well spent. He has something to say and says it beautifully. The famous writer Elizabeth Bowen has this to say, "Graham Greene is among the few, the very few, of our great living novelists." Another Sean O'Faolain, "He is one of the really significant novelists now writing in any language."

"A Burnt-Out Case," is the story of a man who leaves behind fame, wealth and love in search of something he has lost or never had. He goes as far as he can, "The boat goes no further," to a poor leper colony in Africa. You wonder what his final destiny might have been had he not had the misfortune to meet up with Parkinson, Rycker and his wife. All of us probably have our Parkinsons and Ryckers though.

Quoting from a review, "This book well appeals to those thoughtful readers who are seeking a real work of literature, something beyond mere entertainment and narrative slickness. It may not 'please' all of them. But it will certainly jolt them, as it did your judges, into a new awareness of the aridity of certain aspects of modern life. In this sense it has for all its bitterness, a certain tonic value. It cannot be read, except by shallow minds, without emotion, whether or not one detests or has a fellow feeling for poor

West Texas Utilities Wins Advertising Honor
West Texas Utilities Company has won outstanding honors in the field of advertising in the 38th annual Better Copy Contest sponsored by the Public Utilities Advertising Association. The announcement was made May 4 at the association's annual convention in Detroit. WTU received a second place award for a single newspaper and magazine advertisement on area development which appeared in national newspapers and magazines in 1960. The winning advertisement, "A Good Place To Hang Your Industrial Hat" was produced by the Curtis Taubee Advertising Agency of San Angelo under the supervision of Dan Jones Castles, WTU Advertising Manager. This ad is one of a series used for the past four years by WTU to assist in the development of West Texas Nationally. West Texas Utilities Company has been a consistent winner in the Better Copy Contest during the past 10 years and has won many first place and second place awards in several categories, including display advertising, window displays and publications. More than 2,500 entries were received in this year's contest, the oldest continuous advertising competition in the world. The contest includes newspaper and magazine advertisements, employee publications, direct mail, publications, display, posters, billboards, annual reports, radio, television and motion pictures. Award certificates were presented at the convention to representatives of the 94 winning electric, gas and water companies. Delinquency can usually be helped by keeping parents and kids both at home.

Blowing Out the Corners
 In Uncle Zeb

If we should meet Upon the street And visit for some duration; Just like as not You're on the spot— To hear of my operation. From 4th and Cherry Street to 4th and 45th . . .

In this age a lot can happen to us in just a short time. In such a little while we found our location in this world suddenly switched from our quiet home at 4th and Cherry to the busy spot at 45th on the 4th floor of Northwest Texas hospital. Hospitals have been a rare experience so permit me to indulge in talking about it for what we hope will be helpful reasons.

Thirty years ago almost to the exact month we had our only other trip to major surgery or a stay in the hospital in this very same building. Perhaps we should say that it is the same building in name only for we spent hours thinking of the changes.

In those good old days, and we are thankful for them because our life was saved, things such as your appendix were yanked out in rather an emergency way. Drainage tubes were inserted and we were sewed up tight, told to lie still for fear of coming apart at the seams. In the bad cases we were to wait patiently until the infection time came and passed. Everyone waited while the forces of nature fought its battle with the ailment. Even the being put to sleep could become a choking trial.

Thirty years later what a change. Thank God for the skill, for the know-how of the good surgeon of today. Added to his keen ability is the help from many machines that reveal all the secrets on the inside. The going to sleep and the awakening often is only a pleasant experience. Then, the help of wonderful, helpful, trained, and dedicated nurses makes the picture almost unbelievable.

Speaking of inside secrets, there are none left on the outside either. Nurses are so wonderful—Dedicated and dutiful. Take care of us day and night, On top of that they're beautiful.

We found out that major surgical patients were kept on the 4th floor, and even though a few tears came into our eyes at leaving the good friends we had made it was good to hear the report that we could go all the way up to 7th. This is as high that one can go while a patient without leaving this mortal body. But the experiences there only added to the grand memory we will long cherish for all good nurses everywhere . . .

It is said that we should never argue with our doctors; that he has the inside information.

On the 7th floor we had one nurse in training who happened to be a young man. We broke him in right by asking what the hospital was coming to when we were suddenly switched to male nurses. Then levelled off for friendly relations by asking that he add 10 on to our pulse beat for a normal because he was taking the count. We won't repeat what he said but we became great friends. He is such a grand young fellow. Another thing we might have asked him is why one should be awakened just to take a sleeping pill. Then after getting back to sleep how come we need another pill. Of course we are just joking because in five minutes we would have been hollering for it anyway.

We came home with an even greater respect for the nurses in all hospitals who so patiently care for those that are sick. An even greater admiration for the many good doctors who are so deeply dedicated to their profession. So eternally grateful for the cleanliness and the newly invented anti-infection medicine which all combine together to take care of many of our problems before they happen.

"In Washington today, the legislative machinery is being lubricated for the effort to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour. There are some people who think it's sinful to oppose an increase in the minimum wage law. They hold that opposition to it is heartless. Yet many of the same people may find themselves unemployed should the minimum wage law be increased to $1.25 per hour."

SMU has one graduating class per year, consisting of students who have completed their requirements for degrees in August, January, and May. Alderson graduated from Clarendon High School.

Former Clarendon Boy Makes Honor Roll at Boys Ranch

Jimmy Watson, a former Clarendon boy and one of three youngsters from Clarendon who make their home at Cal Farley's nationally-famous Boys Ranch near Amarillo, was recently named to the Honor Roll of his class in the Boys Ranch School.
Jimmy was one of the 17 students in the high school grades to achieve this honor. He is 14 years old and one of two brothers from Clarendon at the Ranch. Robert, 10, is a fourth grade student and needed only a few points to also be on the honor roll of his class. Both boys have been at the Ranch for almost two years.

The honor roll group represents 15 per cent of the total enrollment. At the present time, 261 boys from all over the nation are living at the Ranch and receiving their education there. The honor roll group of the school is the largest number of boys ever to make all A's and B's in their classes.
"Much credit for this large number of honor students must go to the teachers and dorm parents of the boys," Cal Farley, Ranch founder and president said. "These men and women," he said "are working many extra hours and during the summer months to help the boys. They share the pride that we all have for these honor roll students."

Mr. Farley founded Boys Ranch 22 years ago to provide a home for homeless and delinquent boys. Since that time more than 1,200 boys have lived there and received their training and education at the Ranch. The Ranch's sole support comes from voluntary contributions.
"Jimmy and Robert are fine young men and we're proud of their accomplishments. They are making the kind of citizens the people of Texas and Clarendon can be proud of," he said.

Miss Judy Thompson visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kotara at Groom a few days the past week.

Daughters of Locals To Appear on TV

News was received the past week by Mrs. John Goldston from NBC, Hollywood, Calif. that her daughter, Mrs. Lucille Keller, had been selected to appear on the TV show "It Could Be You," and her sister, Mrs. Betty John Miller, had been flown there from Washington, D.C. by TWA in a Super Jet and put up in the Hickerbocker Hotel in Hollywood, all expenses paid, awaiting the show in the afternoon.

Mrs. Keller did not know Mrs. Miller was there or was to be on the show. It was all a complete surprise to her.
This show was recorded and will be shown on June 2, Channel 4, at the usual time.
Mrs. Keller and Mrs. Miller will be remembered here as Willie Lucille and Betty John Goldston, daughters of Mrs. John Goldston. Both grew up here and graduated from the Clarendon Schools and Junior College.

New First Army Surgeon

Colonel Knox Dunlap, former commanding officer of Walsen Army Hospital, Fort Dix, N.J., has been appointed Surgeon of the First United States Army. He succeeds Colonel James Q. Simmons, Jr., who is retiring. He comes from Ponca City, Okla.
Colonel Dunlap, a military surgeon with more than 27 years service as a doctor, received his AB degree in 1924 from the University of Wichita, Kansas, and his MD from the University of Kansas in 1932. He interned at the University hospital and served a year's residency in orthopedics in Brooke Army Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Colonel and Mrs. Dunlap, the former Pauline Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shelton of Clarendon, Texas, have one daughter, Mary. She is the wife of Richard J. Ecuver of 1472 State St., New Orleans.
