The rural defense committee for Donley County has started a program of education on the subject of "Rural Defense." County agent Flip Breedlove says that two community meetings will be held this week, one at Chamberlain community center on Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. and one at Ashtola on Friday night at 8:00 p.m. Three films will be shown by the county agent.

The films were secured from the film library of the Texas A&M College Extension Service. The films are Rural Community Defense, Fall Out In Agriculture and Duck and Cover. Everyone is invited to attend one of these meetings. Two of the films were shown to the Clarendon Lions Club on Tuesday.

The Rural Civil Defense committee for Donley County is James Gouddy, chairman; H. M. Breedlove, vice chairman; Mildred Ritter, secretary; R.E. Drennan and Bland Draper.

Local Area Receives Moisture Along With Destruction

The Donley County area which has been dry in spots, in fact, too dry for planting, has received sufficient moisture to eliminate the planting problem but some of the area where everything was going nicely was wiped practically clean by a deluge of rain and hail last Friday.

Monday night and Tuesday morning, the Clarendon area received from 1 to two inches as did most of the county but this was the first appreciable moisture recently in the immediate Clarendon area. The Lelia Lake-Hedley area has been receiving some nice moisture and are not wanting additional downpours at present. The Ashtola area on northeast across the Goldston community and northeast portion of the county received a heavy deluge of rain and destructive hail last Friday that wiped out crops all along the route which will necessitate the usual replanting in most localities.

The weather is still acting up and more stormy weather is forecast until another front moves in from the west. We just hope that this area along with others will be able to get by without further destructive rains and hail as farmers in this area certainly have had their share of bad luck the past several years.

Plans for Registered Beef Cattle Ass'n. Feast Almost Complete

Final plans for the big Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association annual barbecue are just about complete. The planning committee for the occasion is headed by president W. H. Cooke III of the association. Secretary, Flip Breedlove and county agent for Donley County says that three hundred invitations have been mailed out to breeders who have consigned bulls to the sale, to cow men who have bought bulls, prospective buyers and those who have helped the association in their program. This barbecue is put on by The Farmers State Bank of Clarendon, Texas. Mr. J. D. Swift is president of the bank. The barbecue is for the families of the breeders and cow men as well as the breeders themselves. The feed will start at 6:00 p.m. Then a short election of officers for the coming year.

Mr. Cooke says that a good speaker will be obtained for the occasion and the entire program will be over by about 8:30 p.m. Flip Breedlove and his crew will do the barbecuing and will have the big feed ready on time. You be sure to be on time so that everything will go off on schedule. Cotton John Smith and his crew from KGNC in Amarillo have promised to be present and interview breeders and those connected with the organization. The planning committee in a meeting on the night of May 22 set the date of December 7 for the annual bull sale this year. Directors expressed themselves as believing that over 100 bulls would be in the sale.

Consolidation Election Sat. Unites Clarendon-Lelia Lake School Districts

Final Announcement On Summer School

Despite the inclement weather and threatening clouds which developed before registration time last Monday night for the first summer session of school at Clarendon Junior College a brave group turned out.

Students from Clarendon, Lelia Lake, Groom, Hedley and Quitaque enrolled in classes in Government, History, Typing, Accounting and Organic Chemistry. Since a number of students that had previously indicated their intention to enroll in one or more of these classes were not able to be at the Monday night enrollment, the Dean scheduled the next enrollment date at 7:00 p.m. Thursday night June 8. Monday night June 12 was also set as the deadline for entering a class, for the first Summer Session.

The Summer classes are being offered and staffed as a community and area service to any individual who may be interested in a new skill, advancement of their education for either vocational purposes or for college credit. Therefore, students of highschool classification, college classification or adults of any educational qualifications are eligible to enroll in any of the above mentioned classes.

The first six weeks term will be completed by the middle of July and the second six weeks session will be completed about the 25th of August. College credit, transferrable to other state colleges may be earned in any of the classes offered by any student qualified to receive college credit.

Dean Abel urges anyone in the area, who wishes to enroll, to be at the College either Thursday night or next Monday night, the deadline for enrollment.

Lelia Lake and Clarendon voters went to the polls last Saturday and voted to consolidate the two school districts with very little opposition in either of the districts.

A total of 90 voters went to the polls at Lelia Lake with 79 voting for the consolidation and 11 voting against. Voters in the Clarendon School District totaled 178 with 176 voting for the consolidation and 2 against the consolidation.

With the consolidation of the two districts, Lelia Lake has been assured of a community center as it has been agreed that the Lelia Lake school building will be turned over to the residents of Lelia Lake for that purpose.

Residents of the Clarendon Consolidated Independent School District are happy to welcome the Lelia Lake students to Clarendon where they will be afforded the best in educational facilities and will have the privilege of helping break-in the new, modern school building which is now under construction.

Locals to Appear on TV Show June 17 to Boost July Fourth Celebration

Clarendon residents and Donley County will put on a big TV show on Saturday, June 17 at 12:30 p.m. on Cotton John's Farm and Home show. The program will come over Channel 4 and will boost the big Fourth of July Celebration and barbecue in Clarendon.

Douglas Shelton, president of the Rodeo Association says that a big crowd is expected to go to Amarillo and help out with the program. Everyone will meet at County Agent Flip Breedlove's office at 10:00 a.m. on the morning of June 17 and will move out in a group for Amarillo. The group will leave promptly at 10 a.m. from Breedlove's office so it is best to be there a little early.

Shelton says that we must be at the TV studio by not later than 11:45 a.m. so that we can get the program worked out in plenty of time for the show. Anyone wishing any information can call Shelton or Breedlove or any member of the Rodeo association.

Annual July Fourth Celebration Plans Progressing on Schedule

According to Douglas Shelton, president of the Outdoor Entertainment Association, the July 4th Celebration plans are progressing nicely with less than a month to go before the big event gets under way. The celebration will be held on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, July 1, 3 and 4.

Shelton reported that the new storm fence around the rodeo arena area had been completed which will allow more system in handling the spectators etc. and the entrance system to the rodeo grounds would be announced prior to celebration time.

He said the Rodeo Headquarters would open to receive entries in the rodeo events and handle other business on Monday, June 26. A new event added to the rodeo this year is Head and Heeling contest.

The pre-western week dance this year will be held on Saturday, June 24 in the Legion Hall. Queen contestants will be selling tickets this next week for the dance and each ticket they sell will count 25 votes. Other voting by individuals will be 1 cent a vote. Names of the contestants will be forthcoming next week.

Ray Palmer is in charge of the Reserved Box Seats again this year and is urging all who want good seats to come on in as they are beginning to go fast. Pete Borden is in charge of the Reserved car parking spaces and he reports only a limited number left at the present time so you had better hurry. No other cars will be allowed near the car parking spaces to block a car in Borden's stand.

Shelton stated that R. E. Drennan and J. G. McAnear would be in charge of the parade again this year and these men are urging more entries in the way of floats, unusual western units or whatever you may wish to enter. Three prizes will be awarded to the top winners.

Bill Porter reports that he is several hundred pounds short of beef for the free barbecue at the present time so if you have been donating beef or wish to donate any part of a beef, contact Mr. Porter just as soon as possible as this beef has to be lined up and butchered several days prior to the barbecuing date.

Ernest Kent will be in charge of the Old Settlers reunion again (See ANNUAL, Page 8).

NIKE-HERCULES missiles stand poised against the sky, as part of a practice alert in which every missile on the island of Taiwan was in firing position. A May 6 test-firing of a NIKE-HERCULES by the Chinese Nationalists marked the first time the U. S. Army-developed NIKE-HERCULES was ever fired by foreign troops on foreign soil. The launching came just 21 months after the Nationalist Government, in August 1959, assumed operational control of the facilities of the U. S. Army's 2nd Missile Battalion. The Western Electric Co. is prime contractor for the missile.

THE NATIONAL COLORS and the U. S. Army flag wave proudly, as the Nation celebrates two events important in America's heritage—the 184th anniversary of the Continental Congress's resolution establishing the American flag, celebrated on Flag Day; and the 186th birthday of the United States Army. BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Mack Zeb

"I am young enough to serve, old enough to know better, and dumb enough to be honest." These were the campaign promises of a candidate for county commissioner in a recent election in the state of Kansas.

As we read and re-read the above statement which was reprinted in a leading magazine several facts sort of struck us like a ton of bricks. There is more than poetry in his remarks.

And the secret to a large part of what is wrong with our country today lies partly hidden beneath the surface.

"Young enough to serve" meant that he realized the job was something more than just a reward to a faithful party member. That a service needed to be rendered to his fellowman, and that he had the get up and go to do the job.

"Old enough to know better" goes a little deeper into a danger that is fast knawing away at our democratic principles. Everything today carries a dollar sign and many point with disgust at the fellow who will stoop to take an office of public trust. They begin wondering how come he is unable to make a personal go of things and is therefore turning to the public tax trough for financial support. "Dumb enough to be honest" hits the danger nail squarely on the sore thumb. We expect our officials to be honest enough to not steal the taxpayer's money, but lax enough to give us some personal favor. Honesty in enforcing the law is expected—but we would want them to interpret the law as not applying to certain individuals with political influence . . . Read the statement for yourself, think about it carefully, for therein lies many of our potential dangers . . .

"Worthless as last year's bird nest" is an old expression which most of us have heard since childhood. The other day we heard about a lady that was hunting for a last year's bird nest to finish out some unusual decorations for the house. Snuggled into a limb which had been sanded and polished was to be a make-believe bird sitting in a real used nest.

We couldn't help but think how often we sort of discard the lives of individuals simply because they have passed the heyday of their importance to the community and to our daily life. It is easy to think of those who worked faithfully for years at some job with their church or perhaps some place of free public service in the community. Likely they were an important cog in community machinery of progress and gave of themselves to the point of their own personal hurt. After years of public service we are all prone to forget them as we give full honor to those who are for the moment passing across the stage of life.

We often think of the star football player in most any local high school. He is the center of attention and the inspiration of many a pep squad yell. Finally he finishes high school and goes off to college. At the next year's homecoming someone else is the hero, and we often thought how this sudden change of interest might affect him.

Some political leader passes across the stage of life and we feel that the country would be ruined without their leadership. In the next election another may grab the torch and they suddenly become unnecessary. Life seems to fall into this natural pattern. But we think it is wonderful when someone finds a place of appreciation for the "last year's bird nests."

HAPPINESS for most people is very beckoning from just over the next horizon. It may seem to hinge on the hope of a raise in salary or the harvest of a newly grown crop. The key might appear to be the results of some large sale. These and many other things may hold part of the answer but real and lasting joy can fill our heart from only the seemingly little happenings of our everyday life.

Joy can fill our hearts to overflowing with experiences that cannot be tallied on an adding machine. The true colors were there all machine. Sometimes it might take an illness or tragedy in our life to make us slow down long enough to open up our hearts. When we are in a receptive mood just to have someone seem interested in our problem strikes a responsive chord. A prayer of hope for our recovery. Perhaps a cheerful card or a friendly letter. A flower to the living from a good friend. Something baked with their own hands special for us. A friendly visit when we are in the hospital or a cheerful call on the phone.

the time. We had friends but they were too busy to let us know. We were too busy to care one way or another. Something happens to make each of us remember our true feeling one toward the other.

True, these things cannot be totaled into a cash register. They cannot be tallied on an adding machine nor entered into our business ledger. But, each little kindness presses the keys to our heartstrings and the total adds up quickly to the blessing of Joy In Our Heart.

MENACE OF CHILD MOLESTER

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover writes: "With the approach of vacation time for our schoolchildren when they will be enjoying happy, carefree hours, it is doubly important that all parents once again emphasize to their youngsters the menace of the child molester . . .

"Courts and parole and probation authorities must constantly consider that in dealing with the inhuman sex offender they are gambling his 'welfare' and 'rehabilitation' against the life of a child snuffed out in unspeakable agony. The stakes are so high, the innocent lives so precious that they demand a realistic, conscientious, deliberate appraisal of each and every sex deviate's bid for freedom."

AND THEN HE SCREAMED

Most people pay their federal income taxes via the withholding system. The employer keeps back a certain percentage of the paycheck and turns it over to the government.

Many workers don't have any accurate idea of just how much is deducted, so some concerns have adopted novel ways of driving the lesson home.

One, for instance, set up two adjoining pay windows. At the first each employee was given his full check, without deductions. But he had to go at once to the second window and shell out his tax for that pay period.

Another used a different means of achieving the same purpose. An employee whose pay was $100 a week was given the full amount, without any deductions, for weeks. But at the end of the fourth week the pay envelope held a paltry $23.60. When he screamed in protest the tax story was explained to him. His four-week bill was $76.40, and the company had taken it all in one big bite, instead of four smaller ones.

A publication of the Florida Power and Light Company, after telling of these two devices to make employees more tax conscious, observes: "Employees who suddenly have been jolted by the size of the tax bite, usually develop a less complacent viewpoint. They see the connection between high federal spending and the lump of tax money chopped from their paychecks . . ."

The country needs more of that kind of jolting of the taxpayers.

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Buck Zeb

"I am young enough to serve, old enough to know better, and dumb enough to be honest." These were the campaign promises of a candidate for county commissioner in a recent election in the state of Kansas.

As we read and re-read the above statement which was reprinted in a leading magazine several facts sort of struck us like a ton of bricks. There is more than poetry in his remarks.

And the secret to a large part of what is wrong with our country today lies partly hidden beneath the surface.

"Young enough to serve" meant that he realized the job was something more than just a reward to a faithful party member. That a service needed to be rendered to his fellowman, and that he had the get up and go to do the job.

"Old enough to know better" goes a little deeper into a danger that is fast knawing away at our democratic principles. Everything today carries a dollar sign and many point with disgust at the fellow who will stoop to take an office of public trust. They begin wondering how come he is unable to make a personal go of things and is therefore turning to the public tax trough for financial support. "Dumb enough to be honest" hits the danger nail squarely on the sore thumb. We expect our officials to be honest enough to not steal the taxpayer's money, but lax enough to give us some personal favor. Honesty in enforcing the law is expected—but we would want them to interpret the law as not applying to certain individuals with political influence . . . Read the statement for yourself, think about it carefully, for therein lies many of our potential dangers . . .

"Worthless as last year's bird nest" is an old expression which most of us have heard since childhood. The other day we heard about a lady that was hunting for a last year's bird nest to finish out some unusual decorations for the house. Snuggled into a limb which had been sanded and polished was to be a make-believe bird sitting in a real used nest.

We couldn't help but think how often we sort of discard the lives of individuals simply because they have passed the hey-day of their importance to the community and to our daily life. It is easy to think of those who worked faithfully for years at some job with their church or perhaps some place of free public service in the community. Likely they were an important cog in community machinery of progress and gave of themselves to the point of their own personal hurt. After years of public service we are all prone to forget them as we give full honor to those who are for the moment passing across the stage of life.

homecoming someone else is the hero, and we often thought how this sudden change of interest might affect him.

Some political leader passes across the stage of life and we feel that the country would be ruined without their leadership. In the next election another may grab the torch and they suddenly become unnecessary. Life seems to fall into this natural pattern. But we think it is wonderful when someone finds a place of appreciation for the "last year's bird nests."

machine. Sometimes it might take an illness or tragedy in our life to make us slow down long enough to open up our hearts. When we are in a receptive mood just to have someone seem interested in our problem strikes a responsive chord. A prayer of hope for our recovery. Perhaps a cheerful card or a friendly letter. A flower to the living from a good friend. Something baked with their own hands special for us. A friendly visit when we are in the hospital or a cheerful call on the phone.

the time. We had friends but they were too busy to let us know. We were too busy to care one way or another. Something happens to make each of us remember our true feeling one toward the other.

True, these things cannot be totaled into a cash register. They cannot be tallied on an adding machine nor entered into our business ledger. But, each little kindness presses the keys to our heartstrings and the total adds up quickly to the blessing of Joy In Our Heart.

HAPPINESS for most people is very beckoning from just over the next horizon. It may seem to hinge on the hope of a raise in salary or the harvest of a newly grown crop. The key might appear to be the results of some large sale. These and many other things may hold part of the answer but real and lasting joy can fill our heart from only the seemingly little happenings of our everyday life.

Joy can fill our hearts to overflowing with experiences that cannot be tallied on an adding machine. The true colors were there all the time.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Education
There has been a great deal of mail coming into Washington on the controversial "Federal aid to education" issue. Most of it from the southwestern United States is opposed to Federal aid in any form. The issue will come to a head soon, because the measure will be debated in the House of Representatives shortly after you receive this letter. In my opinion, the debate will be heated and extensive. The vote will be very close, and whether or not the measure passes will primarily depend upon amendments which are adopted to the proposed bill.

Several weeks ago I wrote a newsletter on the general subject of Federal aid, in which I voiced opposition to the philosophy of Federal aid to education as a general matter. I again call attention to the fact that there is a great deal more involved in these matters than a question of economics. Whether or not this country continues as a dual sovereignty form of government, with the sovereignty of each separate State fully recognized as such, may well depend on the outcome of measures such as this. It is my firm belief that our nation, carried on in the original concept as set forth in the Constitution can stay abreast of or ahead of any other philosophy of government, regardless of the yardstick to be used in ascertaining achievements or attainments for the best interests of mankind. Our strength lies in compliance with these basic concepts, and to depart from them, in my opinion, develops an erosive process that could be detrimental to a most serious degree. I reiterate my feelings on this subject, because I have received a great deal of mail from people in the District who did not have an opportunity to read my previous newsletter. There seems to be much evidence pointing to the fact that the good or bad of a proposition must be weighed on economic scales. It is, of course, well to do this; but I would point out that economics could prove to be a false measure. There are many instances of peoples and communities throughout this nation who preach constantly the advocacy of the private enterprise system and of self-sufficiency, yet who immediately succumb to economic temptations held out through Federal agencies or bureaus. The primary answer to the question as to whether or not Federal installations or Federal participation in local installations will be acceptable to the community, seems to rest on whether or not the economy of the community will be helped. In other words, economics seems to be the sole controlling factor, without regard to other basic principles which might be involved. Lack of consideration of the other basic principles is usually justified on the ground that assurances have been forthcoming that the Federal government will not undertake to exercise any control. This seems to justify, I guess, because all human beings go through life hoping to get "something for nothing." The fact is that any assurance that the entity furnishing the money is not going to participate in control, is fallacious on its face. Any entity of government — Federal, State, or local — making grants or loans for any purpose, of your tax money (and that's the only place they can get it) has a corresponding responsibility to control the expenditure of that money and to see that it is not wasted. Hence, the determination of the basic issue of whether or not the Federal government should participate in any program or in any activities should rest upon the Constitution and the basic principles upon which our government was formed, rather than economics.

If the American people have reached the point where they do not further desire the dual sovereignty form of government as set up in the Constitution, they should have the opportunity to speak and to do away with it. But the question should not be begged by approaching all of these problems on an economic basis rather than a political science basis. As for me, I vote for the constitutional, dual sovereignty form of government, with full separation of powers.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

High school and college students in the Philadelphia area got the full treatment on "peace" and "co-existence" from the horse's mouth first hand a while back in the person of Vladimir Trifonov, Attaché of the USSR Embassy in Washington, D. C. In a series of meetings sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, student audiences were told that the Soviet system was superior to ours because it was "progressing more rapidly" and because the government was able to spend large sums of money on necessary projects without endless debate. "Who's taking time to debate large sums of money in this country, it isn't necessary anymore." Similarly on disarmament, according to Diplomat Trifonov, the USSR was able to act quickly without the necessity of consulting elements unfriendly to "peace."

According to a worker in the Pan-American Underground who attended one of the meetings, the representative of the American Friends Service Committee, who shared the platform with Mr. Trifonov, contented himself with urging greater "mutual trust," an expansion of the program for exchanging students, etc. However the Soviet Attaché ran into a hornet's nest at a high school in Bucks County, Pa. At the conclusion of his pitch for "peace" he invited questions from the audience. One boy wanted to know why, if Russia was devoted to peace, it had not paid its debt to the UN. The money Mr. Trifonov said, has already been sent but has not yet arrived. Another student asked why, "if you want peace, do you ship arms to Laos, blockade Berlin and intervene in Cuba. The attaché explained that the USSR gave help only when it was requested. "And that you can't compare Laos with Cuba. One is in the East and the other in the West. When asked if Russian students were allowed to hear American diplomats like they were hearing him. To that he replied he hadn't been home in a couple of years, and wasn't too clear on that subject. Wish we had a few of these sharp high school lads at the head of some of our government posts. They demand answers, but for some reason or other we don't think they believe any of it, and how much better off we would be if someone would get wise to the promises, just made to be broken.

In tests conducted by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station workers, range ewes flush-fed before and during breeding averaged 7.5 percent more lambs than those not flush-fed. Too, flush-fed ewes in 6 of 7 groups studied showed an increase in wool staple length and 5 groups showed higher condition scores.

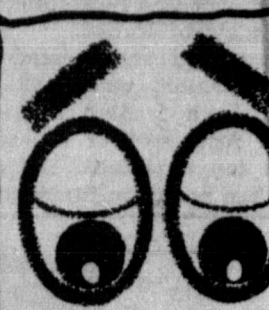

Research work done in Throckmorton county by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station showed that evaporation retardation by chemical means offers a promising method of conserving surface-stored water.

Basic research is needed to develop new knowledge of the mineral nutrition of plants, behavior of water on agricultural watersheds, and new principles of rangeland soil management, said the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soils, Water and Fertilizer Research Advisory Committee.

Savings of time and labor resulted from an improved method of pinpointing dairy herds infected with brucellosis. Improvement consists of taking test samples from the milk in butterfat tests, thus eliminating the need for getting samples.

Drake-Alderson Vows Solemnized in Midland Ceremony

In a candlelight service in the chapel of the First Baptist Church, Midland, Texas at 6:30 p.m. the evening of June 3, Miss Tiny Vestine Drake, daughter of Mrs. Vester Roy Drake of Midland, and the late Mr. Drake, became the bride of Mr. Gene Earl Alderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alderson of Clarendon, Texas. The Rev. John Click, pastor of the Bellview Baptist Church of Midland officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged against a background of pink roses and white stock, and candelabra holding pink tapers. Centering the altar was a white prayer bench. Aisles were lined with white cloth and white satin bows marked the family pews. Tapers were lighted by Mr. Gary Drake of Midland, a nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Tommy Brinkley of Midland, organist, played a nuptial prelude including "Largo," Handel; "None But the Lonely Heart," Tchaikowsky; "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desire," Bach; and "Ave" from Handel's "Water Suite." She also accompanied Robert J. Maples of Midland who sang "I Love Thee," Grieg, and who read "Sonnet XLIII" from Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Sonnet from the Portuguese."

The bride, given in marriage by her brothers, Glenn Drake of Midland, and Norman Drake of Abilene, wore a floor length gown of gardenia white tissue silk fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined by Alecon lace which also trimmed the fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves.

The windswept skirt, accented by lace motifs, fell into a chapel length train accented by a large bow. Her finger-tip veil of imported pure silk illusion caught on a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis and white satin streamers tied in lovers knots atop a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Wilda Drake of Midland, maid of honor; Miss Barbara Jackson, Dallas, bridesmaid; and Miss Gwendolyn Drake, Midland, junior bridesmaid and niece of the bride. They wore street length dresses of baby pink silk organza over tafeta fashioned with scoop necklines, elbow-length sleeves and satin insets at the midriff accented by shoestring bows at the waistline and to the back. They wore picture hats of the same material and matching shoes. Each carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses with streamers tied in love knots.

Mr. George Thompson III, Lubbock, attended the groom as best man. Mr. Wesley Knorrp of Dallas was groomsman, and ushers were Mr. Tom Cook of San Antonio and Mr. Frank White III of Lubbock.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Drake chose to wear a dress of beige silk organza over tafeta designed with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Lace appliques accented the bodice and straight skirt. She wore matching shoes and hat. Mrs. Alderson, mother of the groom, wore a dress of smoke blue silk organza fashioned with a V-neckline, fitted bodice, and flowing skirt. Her shoes were matching and she wore a feathered hat.

Mrs. Gene Earl Alderson

Each wore a corsage of orchids.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held in the banquet room of the First Baptist Church. The couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. V. R. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alderson, Miss Wilda Drake, Miss Barbara Jackson, and Miss Gwendolyn Drake.

Assisting in the reception houseparty were Mrs. Glenn Drake, Mrs. Frank Drake, Mrs. Floyd Rhoden, Mrs. Raymond L. Gwaltney, and Mrs. W. L. Drake, all of Midland; Mrs. Norman Drake of Abilene; Miss Jeanne Baggan and Mrs. Ted Falconer of Dallas; and Mrs. George Thompson III of Lubbock.

For traveling the bride wore an Italian pure silk suit in cocoa, matching leather shoes and bag, white gloves and a straw pillbox hat. Her corsage was of white orchids.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, New York the couple will be at home in the Blocker Apartments, Clarendon, Texas.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Alderson was a secretary with Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company in Dallas. She is a graduate of Midland High School and North Texas State College where she received her BBA degree. At North Texas State she was a member of Chi Omega and Pi Omega Pi.

Mr. Alderson is a graduate of Clarendon High School, Clarendon Junior College, and Southern Methodist University where he received his BBA degree. He was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and was on the SMU Dean's list. He will be associated with Alderson Chevrolet Company, Clarendon, Texas.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Knorrp, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Heckman, Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Falconer, and Mrs. Nick Lund of Dallas; and Mrs. Luther White of Vernon.

What makes one fat is not the minutes spent at the table—but rather, it's the seconds.

Wedding Vows Read For Miss Wilma Elliott, Mr. Darrell Leffew

Miss Wilma Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Othel Elliott, Clarendon, became the bride of Darrell Leffew, son of Mrs. Claris Leffew, June 3 at 8 p.m. in a candlelight ceremony.

The Rev. Harold Elliott, Arlington, brother of the bride, read the double ring vows in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jones.

Baskets of pink gladioli and greenery with white satin bows decorated the home. Traditional wedding selections were presented at the piano by Mrs. Norma Elliott, Arlington, and Carolyn Wallin, soloist.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Otha Dean Stout, Lubbock, sister of the bride. Best man was James Ward, Sulphur Springs. Candle lighters were Danny Cearley and Kenneth Elliott.

Specialist Advises on Roughage Mixtures For Dairy Cows

COLLEGE STATION — Just what is the optimum forage-concentrate ratio for dairy cows? Interest in this question has been stimulated by reports that research on feeding producing cows large quantities of concentrates with limited forage is being conducted in other states.

Within certain limits, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, the levels of concentrates and roughages in the dairy ration should be determined by the cost of nutrients in each type of feed. If a good concentrate mixture, containing 70 per cent total digestible nutrients, can be obtained for less than $3 a hundred and good alfalfa hay is costing over $40 a ton, the concentrates may be the cheaper source of nutrients.

Under economic conditions favorable to high concentrate feeding, the quantity of hay or hay equivalent that is fed may be limited to one per cent of the liveweight daily. Meekma continues. When less than this amount of unground forage is fed to producing dairy cows, the dairyman runs the risk of lowering the butterfat test.

Drastic changes in the ration should be made gradually, and increases in the amount of concentrates fed above 20 pounds daily should be made slowly. Recommended rates of increase are one-half pound or less per day. There is a real danger of causing the cow to go off feed, resulting in a serious loss in milk production, if the concentrates are increased too rapidly. When the cow is licking the feed trough clean it is safe to increase the amount of concentrates offered.

In addition to the factors mentioned, the upper limits of concentrate feeding will be determined by both the cow's ability to respond with higher milk production and the relative prices of feed and milk, Meekma concludes.

The Congo Valley of Africa has a locust that grows 6 inches long, and often devours birds and mice.

FARM NEWS

from the County ASC Committee

FEED GRAIN SIGN-UP SHOWS 16,821 ACRES DIVERTED IN DONLEY COUNTY

The grain sorghum base acreage on farms signed through May 31 is about 35 per cent of the preliminary base of 31,093 acres for grain sorghums for Donley County.

The corn base acreage on farms signed is about 79 per cent of the average 1959-60 corn plantings of about 88 acres. The number of grain and/or corn farms signed up in the 1961 grain program is 67 per cent in Donley County.

For all farms signed, advance payments permitting about half of the payments to be made this spring come to about $41,153.97. We estimate that total payments will probably be more than double the value of the advance payments.

The 1961 grain program provided payments to farmers in the form of certificates for diverting corn and grain sorghum acreage to conserving uses. Producers received grain or the cash equivalent of grain for their certificates. Diversion of corn and grain sorghum acreage from production this year is expected to achieve a better balance between production and utilization of these grains. Payments to producers will maintain their income this year.

There are a number of very important points which you should remember.

1. Select from cropland devoted to intensively cultivated crops in 1958, 1959 or 1960 on the farm the acreage to be considered as diverted acreage under the program in 1961 and be prepared to identify such acreage at the time performance is checked. 2. Devote the acreage thus diverted to one or more of the approved conservation uses.

3. Not permit grazing of the diverted acreage in 1961 after May 31.

4. In addition to the diverted acreage, devote the conserving uses on the farm in 1961 an acreage equal to the average of the acreages devoted to conserving uses in 1959 and 1960, and;

5. See that all farms in which he will share in the production of corn or grain sorghum in 1961 will either be in compliance with the provisions of the program or that the feed grain base will not be exceeded.

If there are questions concerning the 1961 Feed Grain program, please come to the ASC office and we will answer them for you.

CONSERVATION RESERVE

The destruction of the vegetative cover during the last six months of the contract period for the purpose of planting a crop which matures for harvest in a later year or preparing the land therefor, or the destruction of the vegetative cover during the last six months of the contract period for the purpose of carrying out summer fallow operations, shall not be considered a violation of the contract.

MEASURING CHAINS

We have loaned chains for measuring land to farmers and you have not returned them to this office. When you have completed using the chain, please bring it back so other farmers may use the chain.

this year which will be held on the morning of the fourth in the Mulkey Theatre building. Kent is an old hand at entertaining the old timers and is planning an entertaining program for this portion of the celebration.

Two new saddles will be given again this year to the top roper and top rider. These are being donated by the Farmers State Bank, Donley County State Bank, Chamberlain Motor Co. and Knorpp Insurance. Just as soon as the saddles are completed they will be exhibited in the window at Greene Dry Goods Co.

Shelton reported that as time draws nearer, more helpers are going to be needed and he and the directors will certainly appreciate the cooperation of everyone called upon to do a job, to accept the responsibility and help make this the best celebration ever.
