Are you getting the most out of your Crops? Do you have to have a bigger tractor to pull your implements? Does the rain run off instead of soaking into your soil?

Mulch is a real tonic. It is nature's wonder drug. It can make all these claims: Retards run-off; filters water into the soil; cuts down evaporation; keeps the soil cool; keeps the surface covered from wind; feeds soil organisms and helps keep plant foods and minerals available and in balance.

Can you do all this with fertilizers alone? Have you given stubble mulching an honest try?

Seven out of ten leading causes of death and crippling disease are associated with obesity, which is usually caused by a diet of high-calorie, low-protein foods. Eat beef for health, the Council recommends. It is high in protein—low in calories.

No rest for this Chevy... round the clock the engine never stops!

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thrift-master 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action. The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability—in any weight class—at any price.

LIBRARY NOTES
EDITH BARNES

Tom Goodner's mother sent her regular memorial gift on the anniversary of Tom's going away, June the fifth, for books that boys will enjoy reading. Books from Tom's memorial shelf are among the most widely read in the library. Friends of the library gave us ten books and a box of pocket books. All of these nice gifts are certainly appreciated. Mrs. Barrow, Mrs. Donald, Mrs. Gilbreth and Miss Mongole gave their pupils a Summer membership in the library. This is a wonderful thing for them to do. Mrs. Walter Ferguson, who writes a column for the Fort Worth Press, said and I quote, "One of the greatest gifts you can give your child is the love of reading." Unfortunately she doesn't tell us how to give or develop the "Love of Reading." Maybe some of you know the answer but so far not even half of the children have taken advantage of their membership.

I realize you don't always find the answers in a book, but you might be surprised how many times you do. I have ordered and received "Child Growth in Reading" by Guy Bond and Eva Wagner. Some of the suggestions in this book may help and I know they won't hinder.

I have heard people wonder why we Americans are so disliked in the foreign countries we are giving aid in the form of loans and out right gifts. "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick answers this question in no uncertain terms. It also gives us a good account of the extensive training the Russians make their Civil Servants undergo before they are allowed to represent Russia in any other country. "The Ugly American" is fiction and very good reading but the incidents written about did actually happen. One of America's best friends in the Far East, Carlos Romulo, spoke of this book when he talked in Amarillo a few weeks ago.

If you like, "The Ugly American" you will also like "Friend to Friend," by this same Carlos Romulo and Pearl Buck.

Detachments of Marines were detailed for the protection of Naval Bases obtained from the British through lend lease in 1941.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS
By Uncle Zeb

Our new found friend from down Memphis way, Mr. Tomie Potts, sends us his latest Moron story; This one is about the little Moron who drowned in bed - - - According to Mr. Potts; The Pillow slipped, The Bed spread, And he fell into the Springs.

We were glad to meet again so many of our Donley County friends at the organization meeting of the new group known as the Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association. So many which we have known through the years as readers of Plowin' Out The Corners. It is always good to enjoy your hospitality and friendship. Speaking of the above organization we are predicting great things judging from the backing that it is getting from so many ranchers.

Speaking of our column we hope that you Donley County friends are reading it in the Amarillo News. We wouldn't mind at all if you should feel like dropping the editor of the Globe News a little note now and then.

These big rains at planting time is getting to be a habit. But I remember last year when so many of you never gave up, and came out with a record grain sorghum crop in spite of high water. You'll win again. We are betting on you.

we can see a Creator who loves us as the pride of all His creation. "Sambo, doesn't that mule ever kick you?" "No Suh", said Sambo, "But he frequently kicks the place where I recently was."

I believe it was Patrick Henry who said; Give me liberty or give me death." Now, just one hundred and fifty years later most every one just says, "Gimme." It does just about "Beat a hen a-peckin'" how that the whole world is on the gimme list. Overseas they want our money. Over here we want each other to help pay our way. In Washington everything is going out except our taxes and everything is going up except our prestige in the world. Political promises are more plentiful, and devotion to duty has dwindled to the danger point. Small wonder folks are asking for "A man with courage."

We hear a lot of talk these days as to what is wrong with this old world and about the things that might make it a better place on which to live. One thing for sure which we believe would help more than just about anything would be more neighborliness, more friendliness for our fellowman, and more love toward all of human-kind. If we could do more talking to each other and less talking about one another then beginning with our small part of the world the whole would gradually become just a little bit better. As the good book says; "A little leaven leaveth the whole lump."

Most of us have a ready excuse for just about every thing we do. If we are real good thinking up excuses sometimes they can be made to sound like reason for why we do what we do. One that we shall never get was the excuse we heard about which the farmer gave not ever greasing his wagon was afraid that when he started downhill the wagon would over his mules.

My wife and myself were riding along the Midway when one of the barkers exclaimed; "Your daughter in and let her have a prize." One of us felt like had already won.

Death and taxes are supposed to be two of the most certain things to happen. We can't help but happen a lot quick worrying about the latter.

My brother-in-law like old saying; "A dog that brings a bone will carry one."

For one who never knows she wants, today's woman is quite apt at getting it.

Rabbits For Meat Increasing In Texas
College Station — Raising domestic rabbits for meat is becoming increasingly important in Texas.
While rabbit production in the state does not compare with that of some areas in the United States, annual production of fryer rabbits in volume is expected to result.
The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has published a bulletin entitled "Rabbit Raising." Author is Edwin H. Cooper, extension wildlife management specialist.
Cooper points out that rabbits can be produced in a small space and with inexpensive equipment. They can be raised on a back lot where space is limited or they may be raised on farms. With the medium and large meat breeds, under good management, it is possible for one rabbit doe to produce four and sometimes five litters per year or 60 to 75 pounds of dressed fryers.
The bulletin offers suggestions and advice on such topics as selecting a breed, housing and equipment, care and management, feeding, slaughtering and preparation and diseases. It is available free of charge from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for B-128.

Graham - White

Miss Betty Ruth Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen Graham of Ashtola community, became the bride of Paul Henry White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse White of Lelia Lake in a pretty service read in the First Methodist church at Lelia Lake June 12th at six p. m. Double ring vows were read by Rev. Molane, pastor of The First Baptist church in Lelia Lake.

Mrs. Doyce Graham, pianist, presented traditional nuptial selections and accompanied Billy Ray Johnston, vocalist, who sang "Always".

The church was decorated with bridal baskets of white gladioli and white stock backed by white bridal tapers in wrought iron candelabra. Green foliage plants completed the setting.

Miss Linda Kay Hardin was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length gown of pink eyelet fashioned from batiste and designed with a sweetheart neckline. The fitted bodice was attached to a full bouffant skirt lined with taffeta. Her headpiece was an organza half hat in matching pink, trimmed with flowers. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations.

Best man was Rodney Seago. Serving as ushers were Chester Mann and J. R. Graham.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of white Nylon rose point lace and silk organza. The strapless bodice of rose point lace was highlighted by a fitted jacket featuring tiny covered buttons down the front with long fitted sleeves coming to a point over the hands. The bouffant lace skirt lined with silk organza tulle and worn over a matching taffeta slip was edged in ruffled net. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion, edged in lace, was attached to a jeweled lace sweetheart cap. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis topping a white Bible.

For the wedding, Mrs. Graham, mother of the bride, chose a blue figured voile dress with white accessories. Mrs. White, mother of the groom, wore a navy crepe dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception at the grade school followed the ceremony. Mrs. Clarence White registered the guests. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli. Other decorations carried out the bride's chosen colors of pink and white. High point of beauty was the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom beneath an archway. Mrs. Warren Hardin baked and decorated the cake. Miss Jessie Lee White served it, and Miss Linda Kay Hardin ladled punch.

For her wedding trip to New Orleans, La. the bride wore a blue sheathe dress with a mushroom collar in summer cotton with white accessories. Upon their return, the couple will live in Clarendon where he is associated with Koetting Oil Co.

Dairy Profits And Production Go Hand-In-Hand

College Station — Production and profit usually go hand-in-hand—that is, the highest producing cows are usually the most profitable, points out J. W. Davis, extension dairy husbandman. Dairy Herd Improvement Association figures show that as production increases, the return per dollar spent for feed climbs. This is true only up to the point of diminishing return, but few dairymen have to worry about reaching that point.

For example, a cow producing from 2,500 to 3,499 pounds of milk returns only $1.85 for every $1 spent for feed. This compares with the 5,500-6,499 producer, returning $2.20, the 8,500-9,499 producer, returning $2.36; the 10,500-11,499 producer, returning $2.49; and the 13,500-14,499 producer, returning $2.67 for every feed dollar.

But there is another important consideration, Davis cautions. Regardless of how well a dairy cow is fed and cared for she can't produce more than her inheritance or "breeding" will allow her to produce. That is, a dairyman can't make a 10,000-pound producer out of a cow with an inherent producing capacity of only 5,000 pounds per year.

The only way to be absolutely sure which cows are the high producers and which ones are transmitting his trait to their offspring is to keep records, Davis emphasized. With production records, the dairyman can pick out long-time, consistently high-producing cows that transmit their inherent capacity to their daughters and sons. He also can evaluate his herd sire by comparing daughter-dam records.

There are three record-keeping plans to choose from—standard DHIA, owner-sampler and weight-a-day-a-month. Davis recommends consulting your county agent, who can describe the advantages of each system and help you inaugurate the one which best fits into your operation.

Combining business and pleasure often spoils the pleasure.

DONLEY COUNTY FARMERS

"The future belongs to those who prepare for it." That's an old saying and a true one - because Donley County has farmers who are trying to benefit from Conservation Programs which are offered to them. The farmer knows that conservation costs something in cash, materials, power, and labor. They know that it often takes a farmer a long time to realize a return on his conservation investment. Below are a list of a few farmers in Donley County who have benefitted from conservation practices:

Joe McMurtry, Grass seeding.
 Mrs. Ora Bray, Terracing.
 Bob Ayers, Grass Seeding.
 Herlie Moreman, Bindweed control.

Clyde Slavin, Grass Seeding.
 Maurice Risley, Control of Mesquite.

These are only a few names as you know there are many who are participating in the practicing for conserving the soil.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russell and Charlene of Sublette, Kans., also Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Grant, Teresa and David of Liberal, Texas were recent visitors in the J. R. Allen home.
