American Education Week October 23-27

American Education Week will be observed throughout the nation October 23-27. Clarendon Public Schools will observe the week by opening their doors to visitors Monday, October 23 through Friday, October 27 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Superintendent Arling Cordell has announced that other activities will be Parent-Teacher conferences and special assemblies. American Education Week has been observed annually since 1921 to encourage local citizen support and active participation in the improvement of education. Teachers' organizations, Parents' groups, and civic groups all work for school improvements but there is no substitute for parents and teachers working together to improve the educational opportunities for their children. This cooperation of parents and teachers enables them to have a close, constant, meaningful, personal relationship that benefits children. If children are to feel secure and confident, parents and teachers need to have the same standards and expectations and goals for them. Otherwise they may be working at cross purposes, and the children are the victims and the losers. You are invited to visit your own school during American Education Week, October 23-27. Learn more about ways in which you may work with teachers and your children to build a better future for themselves and for the society of which they are a vital part. Your are always welcome, and especially so during this week. Please consider this as a personal invitation from your teachers, your Board of Education and your administrators, stated Superintendent Cordell.

DC Hospital Board Reorganization

The Donley County Hospital District Board met in regular session Tuesday night at which time the three recently appointed directors were seated at the direction of the District's lawyers and J. S. Hinds of Hedley, new board member, was sworn in by County Judge Billie Christal. First on the agenda was the re-election of officers at which time Bright Newhouse was chosen as the new president of the board to replace O. C. Watson who has given many, many tireless hours in the planning and construction of the new medical center. Mr. Watson was elected vice-president and Mrs. Jane Bownds was re-elected secretary. Cula Jo Trout was named Tax Assessor-Collector for the District and Mrs. Mary White was named as her deputy. A discussion was held in regard to the procurement of doctors to staff the hospital. It was noted that a group of doctors in Missouri, a doctor from Dallas and two from Eason, Arizona were being contacted with three fly-in doctors from San Antonio. The Leader was questioned as to why we did not carry a story on the dismissal of the law suit of local citizens against the appointment of the three new board members. We would like to state as of Wednesday noon, Oct. 18, no signed order by District Judge Robert Montgomery had been filed as public record at the courthouse. Motions had been made by lawyers representing both parties that the portion of the suit dealing with the said illegal appointment of the three men, had been filed but no action taken. It is the Leader's policy to print only the facts which are backed up by public record and not from a lawyer's office which we understand was the source of information to another news media last week. Since no order of dismissal has been signed and there is always the possibility of changes, we feel that we are still reporting correctly when we say "There has been No Dismissal of any suit to date in this regard."

Bronchos Defeat Valley High 57-0

The Clarendon Bronchos ran rampant over the Valley High team in the homecoming game here last Friday with a total of 57-0 on the scoreboard at the end of the game. Bronc reserves played a greater portion of the game against the young team from Valley High. This is their first year as a team and practically all of the boys have had very little or no previous experience. Tommie Shields was the workhorse again with four touchdowns and kicked or ran 6 extra points and a 25 yard field goal. Croslin accounted for one score, Elray King, Jerry Holland, Scott Hamilton for one score each and Johnny Gerner and Russell both plunged over for two extra points on different occasions. The Broncos really needed some stronger opposition in preparation for their game with Memphis but the game did afford the coaches a better chance to study the boys and also give the reserves much needed action.

Bronchos Travel To Memphis For Crucial District Game Friday Night

The Clarendon Bronchos will travel to Memphis Friday night for their old rivalry game and the most crucial game in district play so far this season. Memphis is considered the top team for the Broncos to beat if they want to stay in the district running and the Cyclone is considered as the strongest and more aggressive team as an opponent. They have speed, weight and power, Coach Noonkester stated. Noonkester reported the Broncos in fair shape but they will be starting without the services of Rodney Hicks and Johnnie Gerner. Reese may be able to play some this week though, he added. We are just going to play the game as it comes and do our best, the coach added. A host of local supporters are expected to be at the game giving the Broncos one hundred percent backing. Be sure to make your plans to be among that group as we certainly need this victory. Noonkester reported his probable starting lineup would be Croslin, QB; Carter, FB; Shields, TB; Elray King, Wingback; John Holland, Center; Barbee and Floyd at Guards; Palmer and Danny Holland at Tackles; with Grady and Leeper at Ends. On defense Monroe will be playing Lineback and Keown, Guard.

C. to present the plans for the center which will include a nursing home, pre-retirement training for the aged, social and library services, Mall, lodges, new upcoming churches and medical clinic. No private dwellings will be permitted in the area. Howard said SBA has announced a million per year low interest rate loan program which is under investigation and will create job opportunity facilities for both young and old. Howard pointed out that there were a number of government programs available to the counties and he would be working full time to get as much for Donley County and the City of Howardwick as possible.

Lions Code of Ethics

Members of Clarendon Lions Club continually strive to live up to the Lions Code of Ethics. And through their efforts living their lives by this code, the entire community has benefited. Following is the Lions Code of Ethics:

- To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.
- To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.
- To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself. Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellowmen, to resolve such doubt against myself.
- To hold friendship as an end and not as a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.
- Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community and to give to them my unwavering loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.
- To aid my fellowmen by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.
- To be careful with my criticism and liberal with my praise; to build up and not to destroy.

1926 Book Club met Tuesday afternoon, October 17, at Patching Club House with Mrs. J. R. Brandon as hostess. The social hour preceded the program and during this time refreshments of cake squares, ice cream, candy, nuts, coffee or tea were served.

Entertaining rooms were decorated with fall flowers, berries and foliage. Meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. S. Ballew. Mrs. Joe Ritter presented the program reviewing "The Shape of Illusion" by William E. Barrett. This is a story of the life of an artist who painted a picture of Christ just before the crucifixion, and, in the mob scene each person who looked upon the picture saw himself. The story told of the changes this brought about in the life of these people.

Attending were Mesdames Weldon Rives, Jack Clifford, E. S. Ballew, K. K. Day, Richard Delaney, Harold Phelps, W. C. Thornberry, W. N. Poole, Frank White, Jr., Joe Ritter, and J. R. Brandon.

Members of Pathfinder Club and their guests were present for a Guest Day program at Patching Memorial Club House Friday afternoon, October 13. Hostesses were Mabel Mongole, Mrs. Pete Kunz, and Mrs. Walter Lowe.

Mrs. Kunz, president, presided and welcomed those present. She then introduced Mrs. Joe Ritter who gave a delightful review of "The Diary of Mrs. Cordelia Adair."

Mrs. Ritter told of Cordelia Wadsworth's young life in Genesee Valley, New York, of her marriage to Mr. Adair and of their homes in England, Ireland, and at the J. A. Ranch. She told of the background of the J. A. Ranch and how Mr. Adair improved his cattle by bringing Herefords from England. He later brought heavier cattle. Mrs. Adair died in 1921; however, prior to her death she provided the area with the Adair Hospital.

All enjoyed this historical account as related from Mrs. Adair's Diary. About fifty members and guests were present.

Service, Main Theme Of Local Lions Club

Service is the main theme of The Clarendon Lions Club as it is with all Lions Clubs particularly in the fields of youth, the blind, the handicapped and the less fortunate.

The Lions motto "We Serve" carries out the goal set by one of the founders, Melvin Jones of Chicago, who, in 1917 conceived the idea of forming an organization of business and professional men who would put their skills to work for the betterment of the community. From its Chicago beginnings Lionism has spread across the world to become Lions International.

The president of Lions International, George Friedrichs, now heads an organization made up of more than 25,000 Lions Club on the six continents of the world. There are more than 975,000 members worldwide, each dedicated to community service, loyalty to church, and participation in civic affairs.

The first convention of Lions International was held in Dallas in 1917 with delegates attending from 23 clubs. Three years later clubs were organized in Canada; in 1927 there were clubs in China and Mexico; and this year clubs are rendering their services in 6 continents.

The 55th Convention of Lions International was held in June, 1972 in Mexico City. Over 35,000 fellow Lions and their Ladies attended from 111 countries over the world. Clarendon Lions were especially happy to have Boss Lion and Mrs. Dennis along with Secretary and Mrs. Maurice Riskey representing them.

Ex-Students Meet For Homecoming Social

One of the largest groups ever to attend a Homecoming social following the Homecoming football game at Borchon Stadium Friday night enjoyed visiting and refreshments in the Old College Gym across from the High School. Maroon and white streamers were used in decoration along with several floral arrangements.

Sandwiches, cookies, cake, coffee, and Cokes were enjoyed while visiting.

In the absence of the Alumni President and Vice-President, Mrs. Doris Louise Smith Hays, secretary, of Amarillo presided over a short business meeting, at which time the Alumni voted unanimously to meet at Homecoming thus rejecting the proposed Easter meeting. The next regular Homecoming meeting will now be in the fall of 1973.

When Lions Club First Organized

Clarendon Lions Club will be holding its 50th Anniversary Banquet Tuesday evening, October 24, 1972 at the College Cafeteria. What was life like back in the early days of Lionism?

Those were the really "good old days" when the roller-top desk was a necessity in every office. Men wore removable collars and cuffs on their shirts. Speakers waxed eloquently into oratory. There were few if any electric refrigerators in the average home and the women's business thrived in every community. Crystal set radios were popular. Television was a far-away dream.

The dress in those days — men attending special functions with their wives most likely wore black patent leather shoes and to keep them in best of shape frequently rubbed them with Vaseline. Bread was baked at home and what was bought was not wrapped. Crackers were sold bulk. Relatives were kind-folks and their visits were enjoyed to the utmost.

Girls entertained their boy friends on Sunday afternoons in the parlor playing Edison records. Automobiles were flat and curtains had istinglass. Flat tires were a common occurrence. Movies were silent. Guest rooms had a wash stand with basin and a large bar of homemade soap. Girls had a best and second best dress and neither were worn to school.

Gas in the automobile tank was measured by a wooden ruler. Every home had a living room called a parlor. An automobile trip of a 100 miles in a single day without car trouble made the news. Fish were caught with a 5 cent pole and a wedding ring on "her" finger was all the security a girl needed to keep the flirts away.

Then there was the little red school house, and a fellow who wouldn't work was called "a no good lazy tramp or bum". It was respectable to appear embarrassed at the sight of a lady's ankle.

In 1921 the silver spoon was the universal gift for the sweet girl graduate. Folks attended an occasional "Punch and Judy" show; every parlor had a center table with a stereoscope and views and everyone who had crossed the ocean was considered distinguished.

Fifty years ago, Uncle Sam was setting a better example by living more nearly within his income and without so much of ours. Trips were trying ordeals with the changing of trains. A telegram was referred to as a dispatch. In those days the highest compliment paid to a man was, "he is a good provider," and for the woman, "she sets a good table." Calories weren't counted. Home cooked bread and fresh churned butter were a vital part of each meal.

And to think, in those days parents were so daring as to use paddles and switches instead of psychology. Youngsters got a long very well without weekly allowances. Soda Pop bottles had rubber or wire spring caps opened by slapping with the palms of the hand. To ask for a Popsicle at the corner drug was a calamity and one was referred to the hardware store.

To recall all or many of these "different times" is a reminder that one is not as young as he or she once was but there has been a lot of living and a heap of fun.

Pride And Dignity In Club Emblems

Lions Clubs throughout the world have a number of emblems and awards all designed to represent the pride and dignity that each member takes in being a Lion. These you will see in this issue of the paper.

Internationally there is the International Flag Set which is a colorful display of 4 inch by 6 inch flags of all Lions Nations with ebonized staves, gilt spearheads, a walnut finished wooden base with metal Lions Emblem and a small plate for engraving. Then, there is the Lions Club Banner used Internationally, Nationally, and by local units. The banner is made of purple felt with sewed official Lions Emblem in 5 colors. Lettering is in gold and includes the club name, crossrod, cord, and tassels to present the Lions colors of purple and gold.

An Emblem for the Speaker's Stand is mounted on a portable wood stand and will fold to a small size. This is often used in wall decoration, also. The official Gong and Gavel set is of highly polished bronze surmounted with the official Lions Emblem, generally a Charter night gift from the sponsoring organization or club. The gavel is of hardwood and may be engraved.

There are several placards and shields of differing design bearing the Lions Emblem and stating the meeting place and time of meeting. These are generally placed in the meeting place. Awards are made in recognition of service, differing in accordance with the service rendered. These include the Lions Club Button, pendants, and keys. Awards may be for perfect attendance, membership, etc. J. Roy Bartlett perhaps received as many awards as any member of the Club. Mr. Bartlett, recently deceased, was the last of the Charter members.

Community Action Reports Activities

The Donley County Community Action Program is progressing in all areas. Vocational Training classes are going well.

G.E.D. Tests will be given this month. All students will be notified.

Many have responded to the need for Volunteer Workers. This is greatly appreciated. Others are still needed and anyone interested in doing Volunteer Work is asked to contact Mrs. Edna Osburn, coordinator. Someone is needed to work in the Youth Department and help distribute clothing to needy families. Baby and small children's clothing is badly needed and anyone who has clothing to donate should bring it by the Center across from the Fire Station.

October 19 is Free Immunization Day. The Community Action Office is referring you to Dr. Smith, County Health Officer, for immunization.

FOR THE RECORD
As of July 31, 1972, Lions International had 972,502 members in 25,744 clubs in 147 countries and geographical areas.

IRS Answers To Taxpayers Questions

Q—How do Price Commission regulations control a business's profit margin?

A—A firm may not increase prices if it would result in an increase in its profit margin over the average profit margin which prevailed during the firm's best two out of the past three fiscal years ended prior to August 15, 1971. This is true even if the firm had allowable cost increases that would otherwise justify a price increase.

Q—Do Pay Board regulations treat merit plans written into union contracts any differently from those plans not covered by collective bargaining agreements?

A—No. Similar treatment is afforded each group. Under new Pay Board regulations merit plans in existing contracts and certain non-union merit programs may continue to operate without regard to the 5.5 percent standard — subject to challenge — until they expire. To qualify for this treatment, the contract or merit program had to have been in effect on Nov. 13, 1971. In the non-contract case the total sum to be expended for merit raises must have been finally determined prior to Nov. 14, 1971 and communicated to management personnel charged with implementing the pay adjustments or the employees affected. These conditions must be adequately documented.

The new regulations also provide for a special exception for certain qualified merit plans which permits increases up to 7 percent. This exception relates to merit plans which are carried over in successor labor contracts or pay practices. In either case, to qualify for the 7 percent exception, the contract or pay practice must have been in writing on Nov. 13 1971 and must meet several other conditions. Increases through merit plans which do not qualify for special treatment under Pay Board regulations are subject to the 5.5 percent general wage and salary standard.

Q—Do you have any publication describing what controls have been placed on construction industry pay increases?

A—Yes. Write your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication S-3012, "Construction Industry Pay and Price Controls."

Q—Must a department store with a candy department post the prices of all its candy?

A—Yes. Candy is a food product and a department store,

Recently Congressman Bob Price visited shoppers in an Amarillo grocery store to discuss the prices of food products and effects of price increase on take home pay. Price voted this week to support Nixon's Debt Limitation Bill. The President had said the bill was necessary to avoid a tax increase next year.

Price who has fought against increased appropriations that might lead to a future tax increase, has said take home pay must not be burdened with more taxes. Price said that, "in the whole Texas delegation only two Congressmen were absent for the vote . . . Dowdy and Purcell."

even though not a food retailer, must post the prices of all such items.

Q—Is there any requirement for a minimum amount of money in controversy in order to get into Federal district court to file a treble damage suit for a price or rent overcharge?

A—No. Under the Economic Stabilization Act, any person who has been victimized by an intentional violation of price or rent regulations may sue in the appropriate U. S. district court regardless of the amount of money in controversy. For more information on legal actions under the Economic Stabilization Act by private citizens, see IRS Publication S-3008, "Enforcement Provision of Economic Stabilization." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Intra-Club Visits

Lions Clubs are interested in visitation and often a number of local Lions visit other Clubs in the area and these clubs visit the Clarendon Club. This is always a pleasant experience. Not only do these Lions enjoy the fellowship with members of other Lions Clubs but new ideas and enthusiasm is brought into the local club.

Texas Lions League Aids Handicapped

Texas Lions have formed a League, Incorporated, non-profit, and charitable, to aid the handicapped. Headquarters for the organization is at Kerrville, Texas. Three programs are operated there without cost to those served. Since 1953 the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children has provided two weeks of summer fun to the blind, deaf, mute, and crippled youngsters of Texas at their camp in Kerrville. Since 1957, in cooperation with the Texas Commission for the Blind, the League has operated a Rehabilitation Center for the Adult Blind during the other months; and in 1971 the League established its newest program, a Camp For Diabetic Children, using leased facilities of Camp Manison at Friendswood, Texas.

Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children serves any blind, deaf, mute or crippled child in Texas between the ages of 7 through 16 who are physically able to participate in modified camping activities at the Camp three miles southeast of Kerrville on Highway 27. There are 17 permanent buildings on 504 wooded acres. The summer sessions begin the first Sunday in June with five sessions each summer. Camper applications are submitted to the Camp by local Lions Clubs of Texas.

The Rehabilitation Center for the Adult Blind is open to legally blind adults of Texas 16 years of age and up and who are considered eligible by the Texas Commission for the Blind and the Rehabilitation Center. Here a training program is offered designed to help blind adults adjust to their handicap and to learn new skills. At the Kerrville Camp these people begin training in September and continue through May each year. Trainees stay at the center for 3 months, more or less, depending on individual need. Admittance to this training center is made through the Regional Office of the Texas Commission for the Blind in the local area.

Texas Lions Camp for Diabetic Children serves children ages 6 through 16 within the State of Texas. A three-week camp to provide FUN and to teach these children to live happily a normal life by following good health practices is its purpose. Facilities of Camp Manison, Friendswood, Texas are used for this program.

Clarendon Lions Club contributes to these projects through their various fund-raising campaigns throughout the year. A league is about three miles.

Lions Hold Weekly Meeting Each Tuesday

The Clarendon Lions Club holds a luncheon meeting Tuesday noon of each week at their Hall which has been remodeled including the movement of a partition to make a larger kitchen; paneling has been installed; the ceiling lowered, and new light fixtures and woodwork painted. The building is used for many purposes by adults under specified conditions. The club hires its own cook. Through the years many fine cooks have prepared food for the luncheon meetings and the family style serving and hot rolls are always looked forward to by both members and their guests. Mrs. Bill Mears (Rosa) is the present cook. Any who rent the building or use it and the kitchen facilities must make arrangements with Mrs. Mears, hiring her to be present to keep the kitchen in order. Bookings or scheduling for use of the building is done through G. W. Estlack, House Chairman. Proper forms are filled out and rental paid when the building use application is made.

Heading the Club this year is Boss Lion Dennis Rattan. A fine group of men hold membership in the Clarendon Club and make it possible to contribute to many projects. Among their fund raising projects are the Broom and Mop Sale for the Blind, the Light Bulb Sale, the annual Pancake Supper, Carnivals, earlier years, Rodeos, annual Pancake Supper, and others.

In addition to contributing to the many State and National programs, the local club supports many civic projects as well as providing services on an individual basis. All of this work is done to make our community a better place in which to live.

The federal government requires that the environmental impact — including noise effects — be assessed before proceeding on federally funded construction projects.

Accent On Health

NOISE

Noise comes in many forms, and it is described by many people as unwanted sounds. But whatever the definition, noise is a problem — one that has been creeping up on all of us over the years.

Noise pollution is fast becoming recognized as great a public health problem as is air or water or land pollution. The increased use of machinery has resulted in a growing assortment of industrial situations which threaten the hearing capabilities of workers. But noise goes far beyond the confines of plant sites.

The sounds of our cities are the result, not only of elevated plant noises, but of the roar of traffic, the blare of horns and sirens, construction noise-makers such as jackhammers, and the roar of jet airliners. No one anywhere is immune to these noisy, irritable influences.

Noise can actually surround you. It travels in pressure waves from its source, like the ripples caused by a rock tossed into a pond. Invisible, it is usually carried by air, but it can also be conducted by the wood walls of a home, the steel floors of offices, by the glass in windows, and by the metal bodies of autos and airplanes.

Within our own state, members of the legislature have asked the State Health Department to study measures available for control of noise in the general environment.

The State Health Department's Industrial Hygiene Program has long been involved in noise control. Operating out of the Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, the program has routinely worked with members of industry to implement recommended noise control measures.

The Program is assisting in the research of legislation enacted by and under consideration in other states. On the basis of exposure and experience on noise problems, consideration may be given for expanding the legal support for the Department to include environmental noise control.

The Informed Consumer

by Attorney General Crawford Martin

BUT MY CAR IS STILL IN WARRANTY

The best advice and protection concerning automobile warranties is to buy from a dealer whose reputation you know and trust. It does not take much effort to determine how local auto dealers have handled warranty type work for your friends and acquaintances.

Many problems which arise concerning "warranty work" are caused because the automobile owner does not read the warranty he receives at the time of purchase. Until 1971 some automobile manufacturers gave a five year or 50,000 mile warranty on the power train. Now most automobile manufacturers provide a warranty of 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. How do you go about seeing that you get all that is coming to you under the warranty that came with your automobile?

First, you should be convinced that the work to be done is covered by the warranty. Assuming that it is covered by the warranty, it must be within the time period and amount of mileage specified in the warranty. Next, you should take your automobile to an authorized dealer. It should be remembered that most automobile warranties are valid only if the repairs are made by authorized dealers. Therefore, be sure that the repair facilities you have taken your car to are factory approved.

If any authorized dealer or repair facility informs you that the repair is not covered by the warranty, ask why. If you don't receive a satisfactory reply, ask to speak to a factory representative. Don't be afraid to speak up. All automobile manufacturers have representatives in regional centers to receive and handle complaints from owners. These people are authorized to approve questionable warranty work. Many times this complaint to the factory representative is all that is needed to get the necessary repair work done under warranty.

It should be remembered that, on occasions, the dealer probably has experienced difficulty obtaining reimbursement from the manufacturer for previous warranty repairs. If there is any question in the dealer's mind as to whether the work to be done will be covered by the warranty and paid for by the manufacturer, he usually will insist that the work be approved by a representative of the manufacturer before commencing. If the factory representative and dealer both refuse to do the repairs under the terms of the warranty, ask for a written refusal setting forth the reasons the work will not be done.

Now is the time for a certified letter to the manufacturer's consumer relations department. Be specific and go into detail concerning your complaint. Give names and dates. Attach a copy of the written refusal by the dealer and factory representative. If you still do not get satisfaction, the 62nd Legislature passed an act creating the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission. The address of this agency is P. O. Box 13287, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. They are equipped to look into matters such as this.

The Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act gives the Attorney General's office power only over false, misleading or deceptive acts or practices in the conduct of any trade or commerce. We generally do not have authority to act in cases of breach of contract, poor workmanship or defective products. However, you should probably write our office so that we can look into the matter to determine if there has been a violation of our Act and if legal action a-

Veteran News

Q—My husband, who was formerly married, says it is not necessary to change the beneficiary on his $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy since VA automatically pays insurance proceeds to the wife of the veteran. Is this true?

A—No. VA must pay the designated beneficiary of record. Therefore, your husband must name you as beneficiary if he wants you to receive the death benefits on his NSLI policy.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran who died in 1969. Shortly after his death I applied for a widow's pension, but was denied because we had been married only three years. May I now reapply?

A—Yes. Under current law, a widow who had been married to a veteran at least one year before his death (formerly five years) is eligible for pension.

Q—Do veterans using the current GI Bill receive more money than veterans under previous GI Bills?

A—Yes. Measuring payments in constant dollars, the current GI Bill is slightly more liberal. Proposed legislation during the 92nd Congress to increase benefits would give today's veterans an even greater advantage.

Q—My husband, a veteran, is in a nursing home for a condition not related to military service. Will VA pay for his nursing home care?

A—No. VA is permitted to provide nursing home care only for a limited time for such veterans who have received maximum benefits from VA hospitalization. There is no time limit for veterans who were hospitalized primarily for service-connected conditions.

Social Security

By TRAVIS C. BRIGGS
Q—My brother was covered under Medicare. At the time of his death, he owed a large doctor bill which I intend to pay. Can I file a claim for the reimbursement that would normally have been paid to him had he lived?

A—After you have paid the doctor and obtained a receipted bill, you should phone or visit the social security office. The people there will be glad to assist you in filing the special claims form necessary so that payment can be made to you.

Q—I have heard that women can collect some social security payments at the age of 60. Is that correct?

A—Yes, a widow may receive reduced benefits at age 60. The amount is 13 1/2 percent less than the widow's benefit at age 62, and the amount is not later increased. A widow who is disabled for work may receive payments as early as age 50. In this case, her payment is only 50 percent of her deceased husband's amount figured at the time of his death. This applies to widows only.

Q—Under what conditions can a wife receive payments on her husband's earnings record?

A—If her husband is a beneficiary, a wife can be entitled to payments after she is age 62. Of course, a mother of any age can receive benefits if she has a child under 18 in her care and her husband is insured as a retired, disabled or deceased worker.

Q—I was hospitalized in January 1972 and was required to pay $68.00. I was told that this was my deductible. I had already had several doctor bills this year and had met my deductible. Why did I have to pay it again?

A—Medicare is divided into two parts, Part A or hospital and Part B or supplemental—sometimes called doctor's part. There is a deductible for each part. The deductible for Part A is $68.00 and for Part B is $50.00. You had met the Part B deductible, but not Part A.

Q—I understand that Part A of Medicare pays all covered charges in the hospital for the first 60 days after I have paid the first $68.00. What happens if I am hospitalized for 70 days?

A—For the 61st through the 90th day you pay $17.00 a day and Medicare pays all other covered charges.

Q—My mother is over 65 and she has the Medicare insurance. Due to her age, she can no longer live alone. Her doctor recommends that she be placed in a nursing home as the nursing home is best equipped to take care of her. If she does go to a nursing home, can Medicare help pay for her room and board?

A—If your mother needs custodial care in a nursing home, these services are not covered by Medicare. Medicare could pay for some extended care services for your mother only if the following conditions were met: (1) Her medical needs require continuing skilled nursing care; (2) A doctor determines that she needs extended care and orders such care for her; (3) She has been in a hospital for at least 3 days in a row before her admission to the nursing home; (4) She is admitted within 14 days after she leaves the hospital; and (5) She is admitted for further treatment of a condition for which she was treated in the hospital. The extended care facility, of course, must be approved by Medicare.

Q—I was told by a neighbor that if I kept up with my drug bills and they were more than $50.00 a year I could get a refund from Medicare. Is this true?

A—No. Drugs that are self-administered or that could be self-administered are not covered under your Medicare insurance.

Q—My husband gets a social security check. I have always been a housewife and I have recently become disabled. I am 56 years old. Can I receive benefits based on my husband's record?

A—No. There is no provision in the social security law for a disabled wife to receive benefits from her husband's record.

Q—I am self-employed. My wife does not work. We file our tax return jointly. Does she receive credit for social security the same as I do?

A—No. Filing jointly only keeps a husband and wife from completing two tax returns and has some income tax advantage. She does not receive any social security credit from your earnings.

I received a form from Baltimore asking me to fill it out and sign so they can give me a social security number. My claim number is my husband's social security number plus the letter "D". Why do I need a number of my own?

A—This request goes to all wives and widows over age 64 who are receiving dependents' benefits under social security. Regulations now require that all beneficiaries have an account number of their own. Please complete the form even if you already have a social security card; your account number may not be in your claims file.

Q—I have been unable to work since January 11, 1972 because of stomach ulcers and arthritis. Should I apply for disability payments?

A—Yes. However, you must have a physical or mental impairment severe enough to keep you from working for at least twelve months to qualify for benefits. You should apply now unless you expect to be able to return to work before next January. If you qualify, benefits can begin with August, six months after you became disabled.

Q—I have heard that school teachers may receive social security benefits even though they continue working and earn quite a bit over the $1680 limit. How is this possible?

A—Social Security benefits are payable for any month in which a person does not earn over $140 in wages or work substantially in a business. This is true no matter what amount is earned in the year. Beneficiaries who are teachers may be entitled to checks for some months if they do not work in those months.

IRS Answers To Taxpayers Questions

Q—Is the charge made by a bank to depositors for checks drawn on accounts with insufficient funds a price and thus subject to the Economic Stabilization Regulations?

A—Yes. Price is defined as any compensation for the sale of any service and includes fees, charges, etc., regardless of form. The charge is question is the price which a bank charges its customer for the additional service provided when the check of a depositor is presented and there are insufficient funds in his account.

Junior's Food Market

On Saturday afternoon one won't have to travel very far down the street in any direction to find a neighbor's television tuned to the Lawrence Welk Show. He has long been one of our favorites. This week we have been reading his book Wunnerful, Wunnerful. The book filled with the ups and downs and the courage that finally led to his success seemed highlighted by the following paragraph written after one of his "Downs" when all his hand had walked out on him.

"Some of the bewilderment and pain began to lift the moment I returned to Yankton, and a day or so later when I dropped into a church for some quiet reflection I had a sudden flash of insight that helped me very much at the time and has helped me greatly all my life. I realized that we are all vulnerable human beings, and when we put our love and trust into another human being we are open to hurts and disappointments. That's just part of life. We all hurt each other completely unintentionally at times. The only one to trust completely is God, and once you can understand that, and learn not to bear any malice or resentment in your heart, your life will be much happier. I never again took anything quite as personally. I realized that the only important thing in life is to live it as best you can. Everything else is secondary." We have the book borrowed and enjoyed it so much. His father warr'd him that he wouldn't make a go of music and would come back to the farm someday. Most of us would have given up.

Speaking of the Dakotas reminded us of something we were told by a recent visitor to South Dakota. It seemed that some enterprising anti-McGovern enthusiast had come out with the following bumper sticker: "First the flood, now McGovern."

Applications Taken For Patrolmen

The Texas Department of Public Safety is seeking applicants to fill the ranks of its uniform services. The training school for cadet patrolmen will begin November 23. This announcement was made by Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety for this area.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants must be males between the ages of 20 and 35; a height of not less than 68 inches nor more than 78 inches; a weight of not less than two pounds nor more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height; visual acuity no less than 20/40 correctable to 20/20; at least 30 semester hours of college credit; in excellent physical condition; good moral character; and a citizen of the United States.

EMPLOYMENT

Applicants are urged to contact any Texas Department of Public Safety office or patrolman for an application. After completing the application take it to the nearest regional, district or sub-district Texas Department of Public Safety office for verification and certification. If all is in order then the written test will be administered which will qualify or disqualify the applicant for further consideration. Successful applicants will be given an agility test, a character investigation, and a physical examination. Those accepted for employment will be notified prior to the beginning date of the next training school.

TRAINING

Cadet patrolmen will be assigned to the Texas Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, Texas for a 12-week training period. The training is designed to equip the cadet to handle any of the various situations he may encounter as a patrolman. The training of a patrolman is a test of an individual's intellectual, emotional and physical stamina. It is also an educational process which prepares him for a rewarding career in law enforcement.

In addition to classroom work the cadet is taught self-protection by means of judo, boxing, wrestling, and other police-protection methods. The salary during training is $600 per month.

BENEFITS

Upon being commissioned a patrolman, the salary is automatically raised to $743 per month. Patrolmen receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to a maximum of 25 years. Uniforms, vehicles, weapons, ammunition and necessary equipment are furnished. They are also granted a monthly uniform clearing allowance and receive travel expenses when away from their assigned station. Group life and hospitalization insurance are available at reasonable cost. The patrolmen become members of the Texas Employees Retirement System and the Social Security System. Vacation, holidays, and sick leave are also provided for the patrolmen.

ASSIGNMENT

Assignments will be made to one of the four uniform services—Texas Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection, or Driver License. These assignments are made according to the individual's preference, his aptitude, available vacancies, and the Department's needs. Requests for a specific home station will be given every consideration.

After two years of experience each patrolman is eligible for promotion to Sergeant in the uniform services and also eligible for transfer into the Narcotic and Intelligence Sections.

All interested young men who feel like they meet these requirements are urged to contact the nearest Texas Department of Public Safety office or patrolman for an application and details.

The Clarendon Broncho Victory Bell rang out loud and clear again this year for Homecoming. The score at the end of the game was 57 to 0. The boys will be getting ready for Memphis this week. The game this week is probably the most important game of the season for the BRONCHOS. I feel confident in saying the BRONCHOS will bring home another victory. Let's get behind the boys with a lot of spirit this week.

The cheerleaders did a great job on the hall's for Homecoming. They again did a fine job this week. Our cheerleaders put a lot of time in fixing the halls. They also spend a lot of time preparing for the skits. The one last week was one of the best so far, and probably one of the funniest. Carrie N. lost her pants, Jennie B. lost the door but found the wall, and Debbie R. just plain ole lost her way.

Micky G. did you really learn how to western dance?
E. Wayne B., Ward P., and Jimmy F., always have a pose for the camera.

Pat R. had no trouble in finding his way to Camile M.'s house but it was quite a problem getting home. Need a map Pat?

Poor Daphne W. she can't seem to keep her boy friends from showing up at the same place at the same time. Four did you say?

Mr. Nance, do your tests always embarrass everyone so much? Will someone please tell Andie E. and Carolyn S. that basketball is a non contact sport?

Rodney H., Johnny G., Kenneth R. all seemed to get the same leg disease. Hope its not after all Quarterbacks.
I hear Johnny G. and Debbie R. do great imitations. Ever thought of show business?

Danny R. seemed to enjoy himself Friday night even though he didn't know what was going on.

Isn't it nice to have a T.V. personality for a School Supt. Alan H. and Terry E., were you really lost over the weekend? Cathy H. you really should teach Alan H. to drive better.

Hope your foot is better soon Johnny G.
James E. had a pretty little lady with him at the dance. Any one find out her name?

Two dances were held Friday night after the football game. One a Cat Daddy and the other a Western as a few couples couldn't make up their minds where to go like Steve E., Nita L., Steve C., Carrie N., Jerry C., Tommy H. and their dates and a few more. They did the next best thing and went to both.

There is a need for furniture, dishes and clothing to help keep the sales going. Last week's said well.

You are invited to come by each week as new items are continually added.

Mrs. Holloway donated a couch for use in the dining room of the Medical Center Nursing Home. Other furniture such as comfortable chairs, small tables for games etc. can be used there. If you have furniture to donate for this use, please call Mrs. Neta Harmon, 874-3313 after 4 p.m.

Toys games and items that may be used for Christmas can be used in rehabilitation work. Repair can be done. These items may then be used for distribution at Christmas time. Medical Center will be glad to have any of these items. They may be left at the garage at the County jail.

COMMUNITY

PLAN

DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS

You are urged to study this information and keep it where you can locate it at any time. Follow the instructions outlined in the brochure in order to minimize the effects of gamma radiation in event of nuclear attack.

This Plan Approved By:

County Judge, Donley County

Mayor, City of Clarendon

Mayor, City of Hedley

Mayor, City of Howardwick

COMMUNITY PLANNING IS ESSENTIAL FOR SURVIVAL

YOU
CAN

IF . . . YOU KNOW YOUR COMMUNITY SHELTER PLAN

Suppose it is 9:30 P.M.

You and your family are at home.

Suddenly, you hear Civil Defense warnings. A bulletin flashes on radio and television: "Radar has detected missiles approaching the United States. Take shelter immediately." Would you know what to do?

A nuclear attack may never come. But it may come. Certainly you want to be prepared . . . just in case.

This Civil Defense Community Shelter Plan outlines the present status of fallout shelter protection in your area. It has been prepared and approved by your local, state and federal governmental officials.

By reading and understanding this PLAN now, you and your family can learn what to do and where to go for maximum protection in case of nuclear attack.

You owe this preparation to yourself and your family.

FOLLOW THIS PLAN — IT GIVES YOU THE MAXIMUM CHANCE FOR SURVIVAL.

YOU
CAN

IF . . . YOU RECOGNIZE THE DANGER

Should the United States come under nuclear attack, radar detection equipment would alert the United States defense command and the warning would be sounded as soon as possible. At that time, it would not be known where nuclear blasts might occur.

But even if there were no actual blasts in this area, local residents could be endangered by radioactive fallout.

WHAT IS FALLOUT

If a nuclear weapon explodes on or near the ground, tons of earth are drawn up with the "fireball" produced by the explosion. They mix with the radioactive materials produced by the explosion and eventually fall back to the ground as particles of "fallout." This radioactive dust may fall as far as several hundred miles from where the weapon exploded and may arrive within minutes or hours depending on the distance from the point of explosion and the velocity and direction of high atmosphere winds.

*The primary danger from fallout is caused by the "gamma rays." Like X-rays they can harm living things exposed to them.

*You can protect yourself from fallout by getting heavy material (shielding) between yourself and the fallout particles giving off the gamma rays. The heavier the construction of a building you may be in, the better protection it gives you.

*Persons exposed to radioactive fallout do not become radioactive. They are neither contagious nor infectious. People who have fallout particles on their bodies or clothing probably would not carry enough to endanger other people, but should brush themselves off for their own protection.

*Food and water are contaminated only to the extent that they contain the fallout particles. Exposed food can be eaten after washing or peeling.

*Radioactive fallout decays rapidly. Seven hours after an explosion the radiation level is only one-tenth as high as it was an hour after the blast. Two days after a blast, radiation is only one-hundredth as strong.

YOU
CAN

IF . . . YOU RECOGNIZE THE WARNING

This Community Shelter Plan was developed with one idea in mind: to inform you, in advance, what to do in case of nuclear attack.

Warning to residents will come in a matter of seconds after the National Warning System detects an attack.

Sirens will sound the warning.

Wavering tone: (3 to 5 minutes) ACTION — GO TO SHELTER IMMEDIATELY. Attack on U.S. has been detected.

Steady tone: ACTION — LISTEN TO LOCAL RADIO FOR INSTRUCTIONS.

Local Civil Defense officials will be on radio to broadcast the facts of the crisis and to give instructions.

PURPOSE OF THIS PLAN

This PLAN of action was developed by professional engineers and planners to offer maximum protection from nuclear radiation.

The local PLAN is part of the nationwide Civil Defense Program, and is designed:

1. To utilize shelter facilities in existing buildings by determining the shelter space available in such building, and the population that can be accommodated in that building.
2. To give instructions on ways to improvise shelter at the homes or offices of those persons who cannot reach public shelter in the specified time.
3. To determine the need for additional shelter in areas where it is not now available.

If you find you live or work in an area where shelter is not available, you can improvise shelter with materials at hand.

THIS PLAN TELLS YOU HOW!

If you are in an area where shelters are not available when the warning sounds, use this time to improvise shelter until otherwise directed by local officials. If, following the warning, it is determined that more time is available to reach shelter, instructions will be broadcast on local radio stations.

If you follow this PLAN, less confusion will result and the maximum number of people can be protected.

You owe it to yourself and your family to read this PLAN. Know in advance what to do and where to go when the warning sounds.

YOU
SURVIVE

. . . YOU ARE PREPARED

Licensing a building makes it eligible for emergency supplies. Most licensed shelters are clearly marked with the familiar sign seen here. As eligible buildings are licensed, they will be so marked.

Some shelters will have a trained Shelter Manager in charge. He will need your cooperation throughout your stay.

Most licensed shelters have limited emergency Civil Defense supplies are furnished by the Federal Government and are constantly being stocked in other shelters when authorized by building management, during the continuous Civil Defense preparedness program.

THERE ARE SOME ITEMS YOU SHOULD BRING WITH YOU.
SEE THE LIST ON PAGE 6.

MORE ABOUT FALLOUT

If caught in the open during fallout, for your own protection and the protection of others, remove all of the dust from your clothes and hair by washing and brushing. This should be done as soon as possible after entering the shelter.

— Symptoms of three degrees of radiation sickness are:

— The especially sensitive person will show some nausea, lack of appetite and fatigue within a few hours after exposure. He should rest but can continue normal activities. Recovery will be rapid.

— The same symptoms appears as above but well within two hours of exposure, and most markedly. Vomiting and even prostration may occur. By the third day, recovery may seem complete, but symptoms may recur in the next days or weeks.

— Again, all the early symptoms show up and may vanish after a few days. But after a week or more, fever, mouth soreness and diarrhea may appear, gums and mouth may ulcerate and bleed. In about the third week, the patient's hair may start to fall out. Recovery may take seven to eight weeks. When exposure has been overwhelming, death comes in hours or weeks.

TREATMENT OF RADIATION EXPOSURE

Treat Symptoms in this way:

General rest; aspirin for headache; motion-sickness tablets for nausea; liquids as soon as possible for diarrhea and vomiting, but not until vomiting has stopped (ideally; one teaspoon of table salt to one quart of cool water, to be sipped slowly). This solution can be used for a mouthwash for sore mouth also. Radiation sickness is not contagious or infectious.

SPECIAL MEDICINES — for radiation exposure.

Although experiments have been conducted, there is little likelihood that a pill or any other type medicine will be developed that can protect people from the effects of fallout radiation.

FOODS AND FALLOUT

All foods that have been well packaged or canned may be consumed safely if their cover is washed clean before opening. Even green vegetables from the garden are safe if they are washed clean. The main safety precaution is to avoid swallowing any of the fallout material. Exposure to gamma rays alone will NOT contaminate your food. A publication entitled FALLOUT PROTECTION is available free at your local Civil Defense Office. Every family should have a copy of this book and keep it with their shelter plan.

FALLOUT SHELTER

OFFICIAL SHELTER

For your protection and survival the government has designated buildings in your area that can provide fallout protection for you and your family. These buildings have been thoroughly surveyed and analyzed by specially trained architects and engineers for their fallout protection capability.

FALLOUT ONLY

The FALLOUT SHELTERS included in this plan are to be used ONLY in the event of a NUCLEAR ATTACK or NUCLEAR ACCIDENT and NOT used for tornado shelters unless specific permission is requested and received from the building owner or his representative.

SUPPLIES

You should read the instructions printed elsewhere in this brochure which tell you what to take to a shelter.

SHELTER RULES

On entering, or while in the shelter, you will be asked to register because a record must be kept of all persons in the shelter. You must OBEY THE ORDERS of the SHELTER MANAGER and his assistants. Law enforcement officers, and possibly military personnel, will be present to assist in enforcing shelter rules. THESE RULES ARE FOR YOUR PROTECTION. You MUST NOT LEAVE the shelter AT ANY TIME WITHOUT PERMISSION from shelter authorities.

TORNADOES

This plan is not intended to replace any plans you may have for protecting your family from natural disasters such as tornadoes. Many structures that afford some protection against fallout afford little, if any, protection from natural disasters.

PETS

Every pet owner has a special responsibility when conditions require your family to take shelter. A great deal of research and experience has established that the minimum shelter floor space per person is only 10 square feet. In some of the larger Public Fallout Shelters there will be many thousands of people. The problems of minimum food, water, and sanitation can be overcome with the help of the trained shelter managers and the cooperation of those in the shelter — but there are no accommodations for pets in the public shelters.

The purpose of the Shelter Plan is to save as many human lives as possible. This does not mean that pets should be abandoned to the fate of an overdose of nuclear radiation — it means that added loving care by the owner is necessary. Much of the pet's protection will depend on the owner's ingenuity. The illustrations and explanations herein will be of help. Be sure the pet has plenty of water and enough food for several days.

Be fair with yourself — your neighbor — and your Pets.

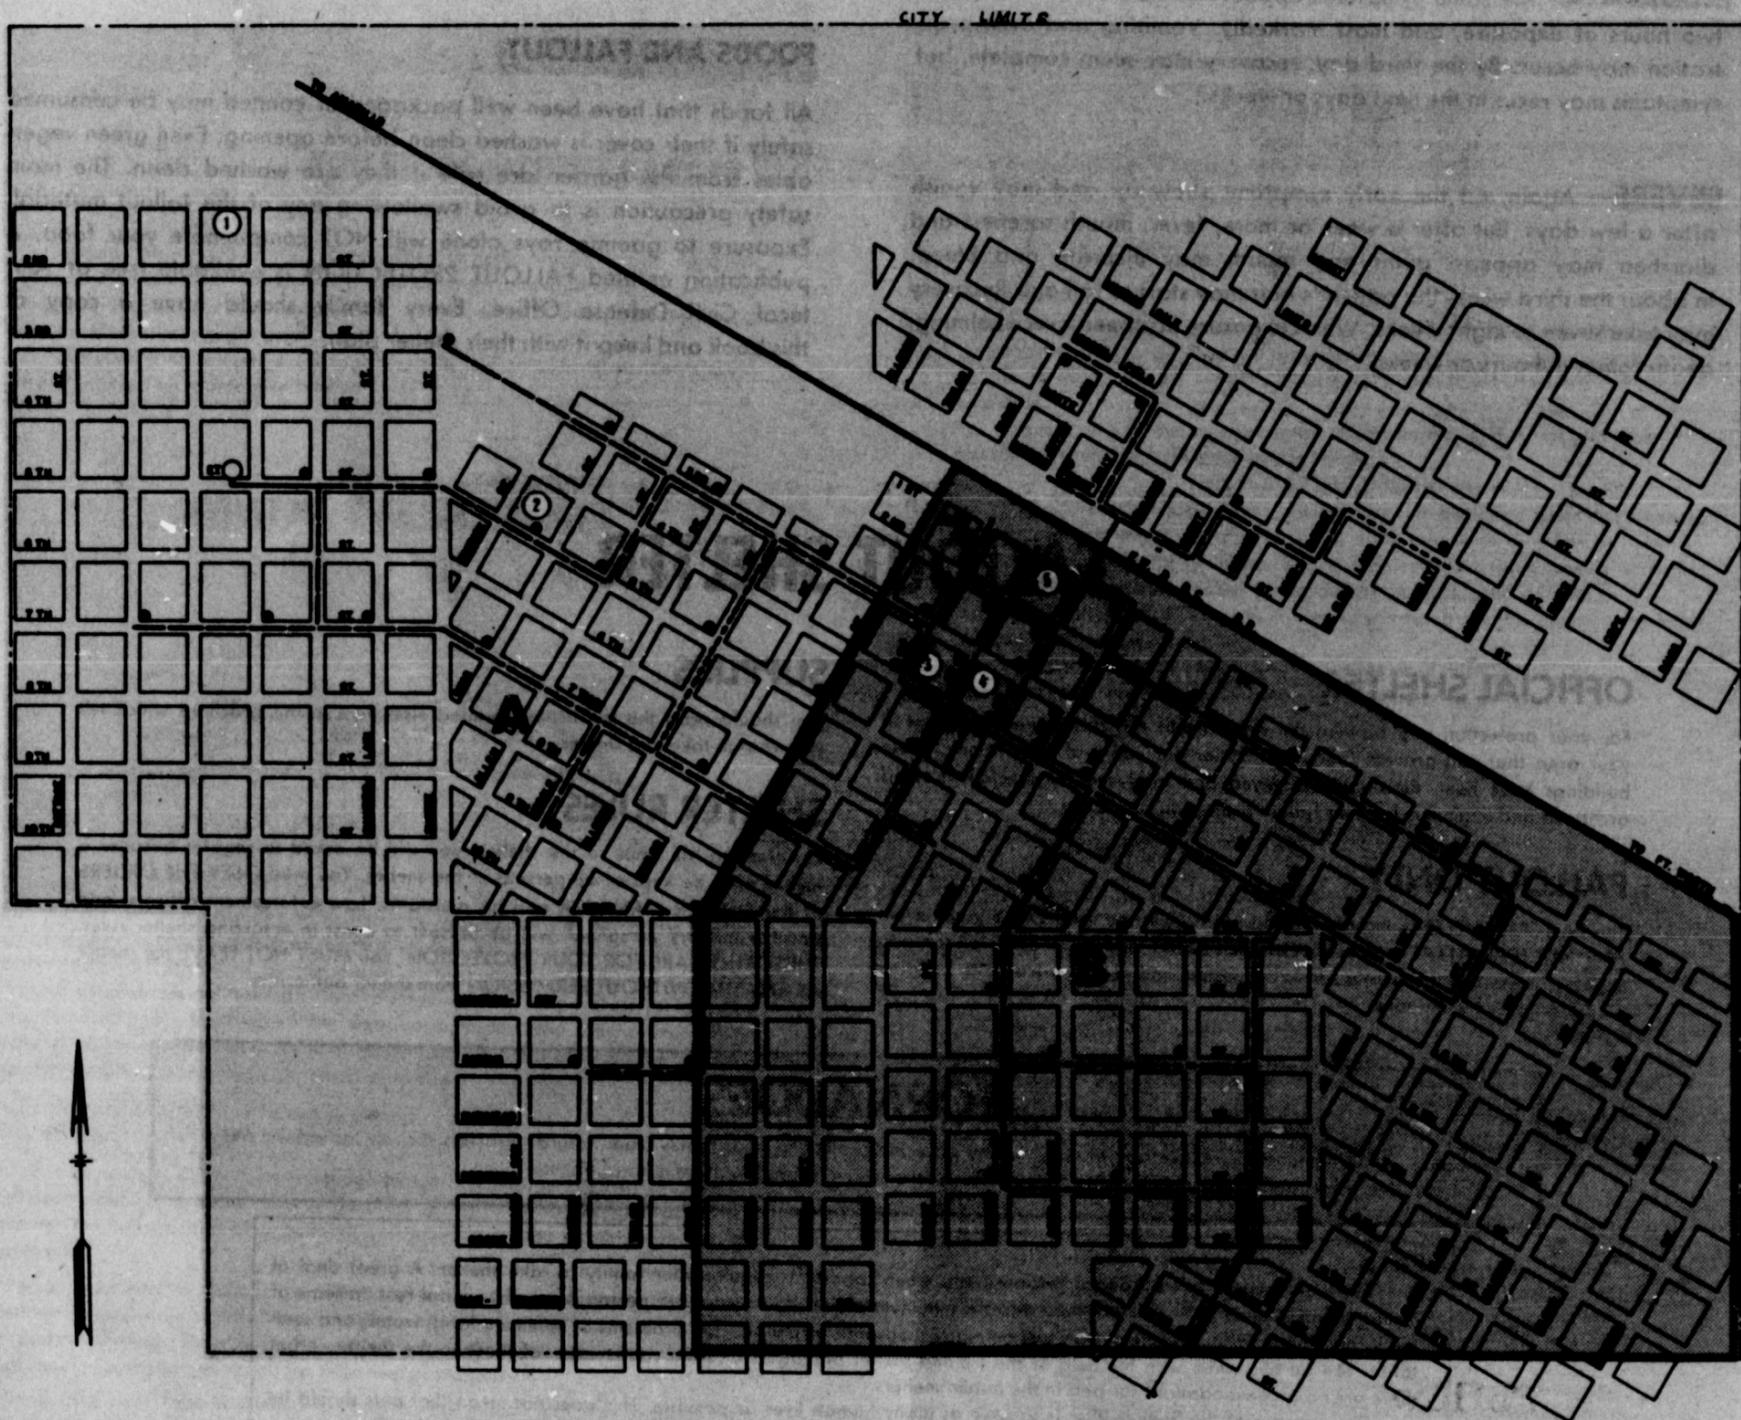

COMMUNAL SHELTER PLAN

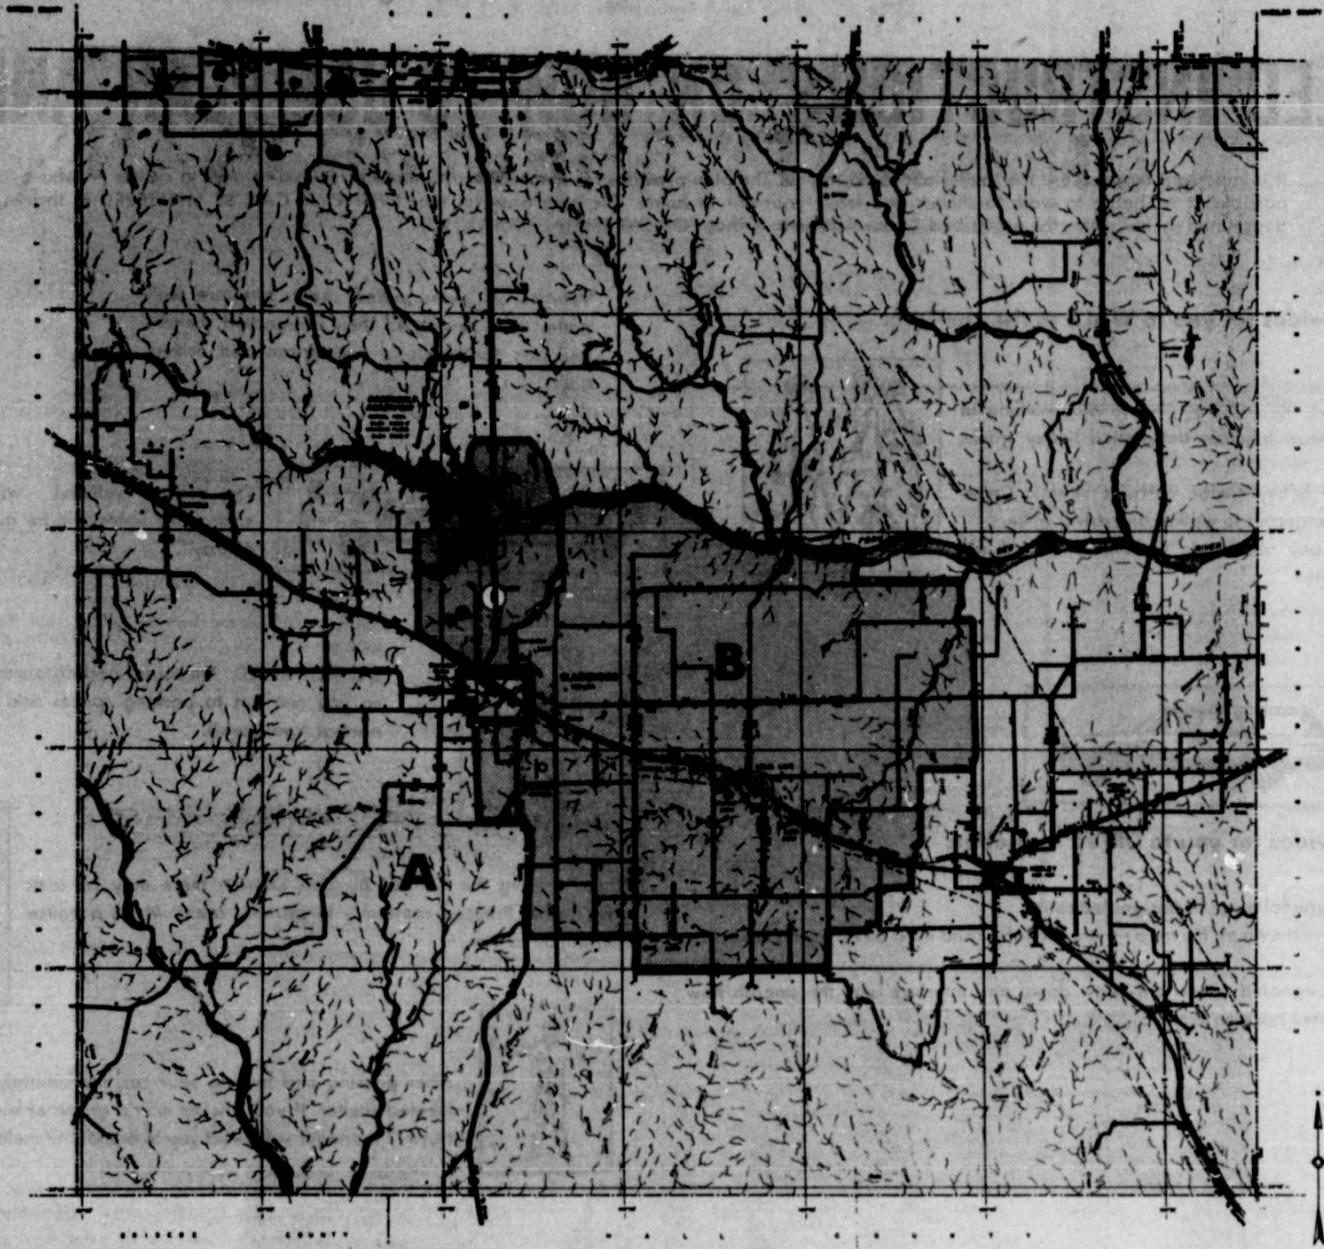

NOTICE...

There is enough public fallout shelter space in Donley County to shelter all county residents. Although some of the shelter facilities have been partially stocked with emergency supplies, the quantity of supplies is limited and individuals using the shelters will have to take additional supplies with them. A list of suggested items to take to public shelter is given on page 6 of this publication.

HOW TO LOCATE YOUR FALLOUT SHELTER

Notice that the maps have been divided into areas and assigned a letter (A, B, etc.). Find the area in which you reside. To locate the shelter available to your area, examine the "Shelter List" which designates the facilities and their addresses. Also, the list assigns a number to the shelter facilities. On the maps, the shelters have been displayed by their assigned numbers circled in red. Using the facility nearest your home, plan to park as close to shelter as possible and walk. If you live within ten blocks of your shelter, walk!

DETAILED INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO USE PLAN AND MAP

It is important that you use the shelter allocated to you. The plan provides for the maximum number of people to walk to shelter — where possible, it is better to walk to shelter and leave your car at home. The plan provides that EVERYONE CAN BE SHELTERED in their designated shelter within the prescribed 1-hour time limit, IF THEY FOLLOW THE INSTRUCTIONS.

If the plan provides for you to WALK to the shelter:

The City is laid out into areas so that people walking to shelters will not have to cross designated heavy traffic corridor streets.

Minimize crossing heavy traffic corridor streets. Crossing a corridor is dangerous to walker and driver alike. Walking time to any allocated "walk-in" shelter is not more than 30 minutes.

Vehicles on undesignated streets interfere with pedestrians moving to their designated shelters and are dangerous to pedestrians and drivers alike.

Emergency vehicles with operating emergency lights will be given the "right-of-way".

If the plan provides for you to DRIVE to shelter:

It is important that you follow your designated route. Designated routes — shown on the map — are the safest and most direct routes and cross traffic is minimized. Vehicles using undesignated streets only slow down and interfere with the smooth flow of traffic to designated parking areas.

DO NOT SPEED. The routes and distances are planned so you can get to parking spaces and shelters at a normal legal speed.

When entering the Central Business District, there may be some cross traffic. Proceed cautiously to parking areas where a policeman will direct you.

After parking and locking your car, immediately walk to your allocated shelter. If your shelter is in a group of buildings, a "shelter cluster" manager will direct you to one of the shelters in the cluster.

IF YOU LIVE IN AN AREA WITHOUT PUBLIC SHELTER. . .OR IF YOU CANNOT TAKE YOUR PUBLIC SHELTER SHOWN ON MAP STUDY THE FOLLOWING ON HOW TO IMPROVISE SHELTER

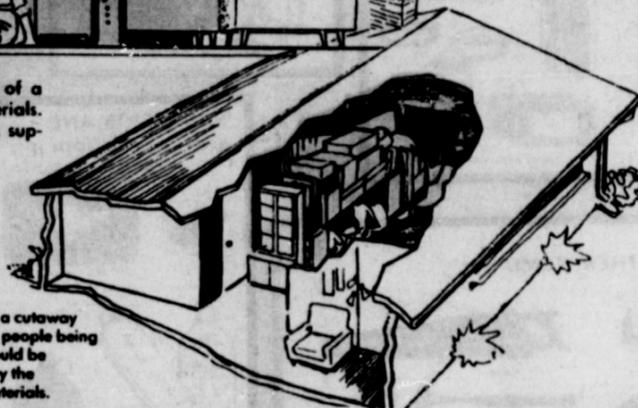

WHAT TO DO NOW:

- (1) Study the sketches below and decide which is applicable to your situation and select a shelter location. The area selected should provide 10 sq. ft. for each person to be sheltered.
- (2) Take note of available shielding materials such as bricks, concrete blocks, sand or loose earth which could be moved quickly. If no shielding materials are presently available, obtain and store some in a convenient location.
- (3) Take note of non-perishable foods normally kept in the home. If these are not sufficient to maintain your family for two weeks, increase the supply.
- (4) Decide on an emergency plan and familiarize your family with the details.

FIRST FLOOR OF HOUSE WITHOUT A BASEMENT

Place boxes or drawers on top and around the sides of a sturdy table or workbench and fill them with heavy materials. Often a makeshift table can be made by using doors supported by cabinets or other pieces of furniture.

NOTE: This is a cutaway drawing. The people being protected should be surrounded by the protective materials.

STORM CELLARS

If the existing roof of the storm cellar is made of wood or other light material, it should be covered with one foot of earth for overhead shielding from fallout. More posts or braces may be needed to support the extra weight. After the roof has been shielded, better protection can be provided by blocking the entranceway with concrete blocks, sandbags, bricks, earth or other shielding material, after all occupants are inside the shelter. A few inches should be left open at the top to provide ventilation. If shielding material is not available for the entranceway, shelter occupants should stay as far away from it as possible.

IF YOUR HOME HAS A BASEMENT

PICK OUT THE CORNER OF YOUR BASEMENT WHERE THE GROUND LEVEL OUTSIDE IS HIGHEST. THIS IS THE SAFEST PLACE IN THE BASEMENT.

Place boxes or drawers on top of a sturdy table or workbench and fill them with heavy materials, such as dirt or sand. If the sides of the basement away from the shelter area have more than 2 feet of outside wall exposure, materials should also be placed around the open sides of the table. Be very careful not to overload the table to the point of collapse.

IMPROVISING OUTSIDE THE HOUSE OR BARN

Dig a shallow ditch (6 inches deep, 6 inches wide) parallel to and about 4 feet from the outside wall. Remove the doors inside the house from their hinges. Place the bottoms of the doors in the shallow ditch (so they will not slip) and lean the doors against the outside wall. On the doors, pile all the shielding materials that they will support. Stack other shielding materials at the ends of the doors. If there is time, make the shelter deeper by digging out more earth inside it. Dig out shallow trenches to allow rain water to drain off away from the shelter. Shielding materials can also be placed on the other side of the wall.

YOU CAN SURVIVE

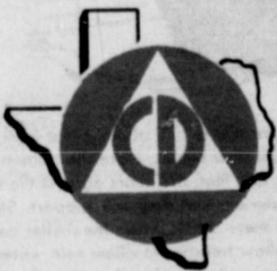

IF... IF YOU KNOW WHERE TO GO

This publication tells you where to go and what to do in case of a nuclear emergency. It is a community shelter plan based on a 90-minute warning period before fallout would reach the area. Therefore, if a warning does come, you would have a 20-minute time period to leave your place of employment and return home if necessary. During this time period there will be controlled traffic on all major streets. At the end of this time period traffic will generally be limited to one-way movement to shelters. Regardless of where you may be when a warning is received, go to your allocated shelter, for this plan has been designed to keep families and neighbors together. This plan has been developed to provide protection from radioactive fallout, and in no way should be interpreted as being effective against blast and tornadoes.

LOCAL OFFICIALS ENDORSE COMMUNITY SHELTER PLAN

There are many variables involved in determining criteria to be used in a Community Shelter Plan: Time of warning of missile strike; location of strike; weather conditions; time of day or night; location; vehicle control and travel time analysis and others. Those responsible for this PLAN utilized all of talent available to arrive at a solution that would be logical, practical and would shelter the maximum number of people.

“Cowboy” to Congressman Boy to Man--Texas' Bob Price Sits Tall in the Saddle

When a fellow grows up on the back of a horse, he finds it more familiar than a lot of folks when he eases down into the cockpit of a jet fighter for a high-flying trip at 2200 miles an hour (three times the speed of sound). Altogether, it's mighty good experience because that kind of background produces the tough-mindedness that's needed to hold down a seat in Congress these days.

That's the kind of man Bob Price is — a tough-minded Texan who holds his own with the best of them when the interests of his District are at stake. He's a Texas Congressman who has earned the respect of other Texas Congressmen because they know his purposes are honest, his principles are sound, and his positions don't change under pressure.

Tall in the saddle was the way they talked about him as a boy and a young man — and now that he's 44, they still talk that way about him among the folks who know him best.

Bob Price today is the product of his heritage. An early life on the land — where he experienced a first-hand acquaintance with many of the agricultural problems he's trying to cure today — caused him to enroll at Oklahoma State University for a degree in Agriculture. After graduation he moved to a ranch in Gray County and settled down in Pampa, where he owns his home with his wife Marty and their three children.

As a boy, Bob Price roped his share of beef on the hoof and harvested his share of grain. As a man, Bob Price has made the decisions that mean profit or loss in his own business of ranching and farming.

In short, Bob Price “has been there.” He knows what he's talking about when he deals with legislation that affects the economic backbone of this District.

In the House, Bob Price is the senior Republican in the Texas delegation. He serves on the Agriculture Committee, and on the Livestock and Feed Grains Subcommittee and the Cotton Subcommittee. He is also a member of the House of Representatives Space Committee.

“Sitting a saddle” seems a long way from “sitting a chair” in Congress, but Bob Price has shown — in six years as a Congressman — that it isn't hard to do if a man knows what he's doing.

Price Supports Defense Legislation

With many Americans and many members of Congress raising pertinent questions about the dollars being spent on military research and weaponry, it is particularly significant that a member of Congress (Bob Price) is qualified to provide competent firsthand information and evaluation of this aspect of America's military strength.

In the Congress, Bob Price serves on the House Space Committee and has three subcommittee assignments dealing with these matters: Manned Spaceflight, Space Science and Applications, and NASA Oversight.

He is qualified as a pilot for virtually every jet fighter the Air Force has put into service. It was for this reason that Bob Price was given a special invitation recently by the Air Force to make an airborne test flight of the SR-71 reconnaissance aircraft.

In extending the invitation, the Air Force wrote, in part:

“Your extensive personal experience as a jet pilot and your continued interest in remaining intimately familiar with military aviation will provide both the Congress and the Department of Defense with valuable insights in these important aspects of our national security . . . We appreciate the time and effort you have been devoting to these matters and look forward to your comments on this program.”

His ability to consider problems on the basis of personal experience — experience gained while flying as high and as fast as few Americans have — is a valuable asset for a common-sense approach in supporting national defense legislation.

Rancher-Farmer-Businessman Has A Common Sense Approach

Person to person. Eyeball to eyeball. That's the way a Congressman ought to keep up his contacts with the folks he represents. And that is exactly how Congressman Bob Price works with the people in this District.

Bob Price will sit down for a cup of coffee with you at the corner cafe, or the drugstore down the street, and help you work out a problem individually. Or, he'll set up a Town Hall meeting for everyone in town, where all are welcome to come for a discussion of the issues and to ask questions.

Bob Price will tell you how he plans to vote on a particular bill. Better yet, he will tell you his reasons for the way he voted or plans to vote in the Congress.

Real quick, a message starts coming through:

Bob Price, not a professional politician, is a man who doesn't stammer or beat around the bush or give you a lot of double talk about the way he feels about something.

Bob Price is a confident Congressman because he does his homework. He listens carefully to the people back home; he has a hard-working staff to provide him with good research and additional information; and he's always prepared to cast an intelligent vote when the time comes.

In addition to a field representative who is his traveling “listening post” Bob Price has established offices throughout his district. Through the years past, these offices have provided much valuable service for people who need quick information or want to drop in just to express an opinion. Bob talks by telephone with his staff people in these offices every day, so you can be sure your opinions or your problems get his attention quickly.

As another way to keep people in the District informed about the issues that confront America, Bob also has a newsletter which he prints at his own expense and sends out on a regular basis.

What is the result of all this activity? Hundreds of letters come pouring into the office of Congressman Bob Price — letters asking questions, giving a point of view, urging a vote one way or another, or asking for help with a special problem.

It sounds like a busy life, and it is. But that's what being a Congressman is all about: making government responsive to the people it serves. It's just common sense to do it that way. Bob Price is a common-sense man who does that job well.

Price Commended on Obtaining New Industry

When you're looking hard for new payrolls and the competition gets rough, it helps to have a Congressman who understands the problem and will go “all out” to try to do something about it.

Bob Price is that kind of Congressman.

Through no fault of its own, the future for Dumas suddenly turned mighty bleak when American Zinc announced the closing of its plant there. This meant that 400 industrial jobs would disappear almost overnight. Congressman Price set wheels in motion to get an eligibility for special government industrial financing for Moore County.

The result? Six months after

American Zinc said it was closing its operations, civic leaders in Dumas could announce with pride that American Beef Packers would build a $10 million plant in their community which would hire 1,000 employees. Congressman Bob Price has helped provide tangible economic benefits for communities in our District.

"Farmer not to Blame For Higher Food Prices"

Bob Price came out swinging hard within an hour after a large national grocery store chain advertised recently that it was urging a housewives' boycott in an effort to drive down the price of beef.

Charging that food chains are "self-serving" and are making arguments that are not supported by the facts, Bob Price was quick to establish the fact that beef carcasses were selling for $54.00 a hundredweight on August 13, 1971, the day wages and prices were frozen.

On March 24, 1972, a little more than seven months after wage-price controls were put into effect, beef carcasses were selling for $53.25 per hundredweight — actually 75 cents less than when price controls became effective.

Price argued that it is the retailer who is chiefly responsible for the rapidly-widening spread between what the producer receives and what the consumer pays and said, "It is totally unfair to make the farmer the scapegoat for high meat prices and high food prices. The farmer gets only one-third of the price the consumer pays for food."

And, he added, "There is no reason for anyone to expect the farmer to live with 1952 prices when no one else is willing to do that."

Price Leads In Survey

A random sample telephone survey conducted by the Childrens Index showed Congressman Bob Price leading his opponent by a substantial margin. The respondents were asked, if the election were held today, which candidate they would vote for, or if they were still undecided. The results showed Price 60, Purcell 36. The survey showed 32% of the respondents were still undecided, a smaller percentage than in the survey conducted two months earlier.

Price Takes Stand Against Foreign Aid

One of the most significant votes in the new session of the 92nd Congress was the one on the "Foreign Assistance Act of 1971" — in other words, the foreign aid bill. Congressman Bob Price voted against it.

The Texas Congressman stated, "I voted against this foreign aid bill as I've voted against all foreign aid bills since coming to Congress. The only type of foreign aid I am in favor of is military aid to our proven allies in order to maintain a strong strategic defense in the face of the Soviet Union's continual buildup."

"Most of this foreign aid bill was not for military assistance to our allies, however, and I seriously question giving money to 'allies' who act more like enemies than friends."

"Of the $3.7 billion included in this bill, more than $2.2 billion is for 'economic assistance.' I simply cannot support that kind of expenditure . . . especially this year when we have just experienced the largest balance of payments deficit in years. I did not feel that we should have passed it, but it passed the House over my objection by a vote of 203-179."

"No Additions To Beef Imports" ---Price

Congressman Bob Price wired the Director of the Cost of Living Council to urge the Council not to allow more beef imports into this country than are already authorized.

Calling on Donald Rumsfeld, Director of the Cost of Living Council, not to ease beef import quotas in order to hold down meat prices, Price said that it was only fair for the cattleman who has suffered severe economic loss during downswings in the cattle market to be allowed the balancing rewards during an upswing in the market.

Text of Price's telegram to Rumsfeld follows:

"I understand that the Cost of Living Council is considering easing beef import quotas in order to hold down meat prices. That such action is being considered is cause for grave concern to me and to cattlemen throughout the United States."

"It is absolutely essential to bear in mind that the cattle industry is not subsidized by the Federal Government and is free of government control. Cattlemen in this country historically have wanted it that way and have worked to keep it that way. Even when the cattle industry suffered severe economic loss — with cattle prices at catastrophically low levels and cattlemen going broke — they still did not ask the Federal Government to step in and help. It seems to me terribly unfair for the government, now that the market has swung to a higher level, to consider tinkering with it in order to keep prices down."

"Another item that is of critical importance in considering whether to ease meat import quotas is that the old law of supply and demand will function if it is allowed to do so. Especially relevant to the current situation is the inevitability of the market's leveling off due to last year's large grain crop and the record number of feeder cattle presently in lots."

"Of equally grave concern to me is that once an import law is liberalized, it is next to impossible to tighten it up. Once the flow of imports has been turned on, it is very hard to turn it off. Imports, once begun, seem always to increase and never to decrease."

"I call on you in the most serious way I know to treat the American cattleman with equity and fairness. He has already paid the economic price during periods of low prices on the cattle market; he is entitled to the economic rewards during a period of upturn in that market."

Congressman Comes To Rescue In Air Emergency

Thanks to the flying skill of a Texas Congressman, two Amarillo men are alive today — a little shaken, but alive.

Jim Blackwell, of KIXZ Radio, and Wayne Hughes, of KGNC News, took off for home from Paducah Thursday night in their light plane. Blackwell, who was piloting the plane, suddenly found himself wrestling the craft through the crosswinds of a violent Panhandle dust storm. The fuel gauge dropped dangerously as the plane fought stiff headwinds. About one o'clock in the morning, the Amarillo control tower received a distress call from Blackwell — the plane might not make it to the landing strip. Fuel was running out. The headwinds were stronger, still laden with dust; an emergency landing would deposit the plane, none too gently, in a pasture — that is, if they managed to avoid the high-tension power lines strung in their path.

But someone else heard the pilot's "May Day." Congressman Bob Price, in another plane. Price, who as a jet fighter pilot flew 27 combat missions in Korea and was awarded an Air Medal. Price who at the invitation of the Air Force, recently piloted the SR-71 at three times the speed of sound at altitudes above 80,000 feet.

Bob Price heard the distress call, and he banked his plane on a heading for Blackwell's position.

He turned on his landing lights to guide Blackwell toward a divided highway, the only relatively safe substitute for a landing strip in the area, with a grassy median dividing the four lanes.

Price, battling the unabated crosswinds, made a dangerously low pass over the area, checking for obstacles.

Then his landing lights illuminating the empty highway, he guided Blackwell to a safe landing — with a dry tank — on the median.

Not too long ago, a certain politician referred to Bob Price as a "Korean Retread Pilot." There are two Amarillo newsmen, back at their jobs today, who are more than grateful to that retread veteran.

Price Battles Forced Busing Of Children

Congressman Bob Price testified before a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee on the issue of forced busing of school children for the sole purpose of racial balance.

Exerpts from Congressman Price's testimony are as follows:

"The people want neighborhood schools, the people want local control of their schools through their own locally-elected school boards. And when I say 'the people,' I mean all of them — black and white. As a matter of fact, I have received from my own district more signatures on petitions and letters from blacks than I have from whites opposing forced busing."

"From the outset, I would like to clarify exactly what I am referring to as well as what I am not referring to when I talk about 'busing.'"

"What I am referring to when I talk about busing is forced, compulsory, involuntary busing solely for the purpose of achieving some sort of racial balance in school population."

"I am not referring to the busing of school children that has been taking place for many years in rural areas like so much of my West Texas district, nor am I referring to the normal kind of busing that takes place in the city."

"Despite loud outcries to the contrary, I want it understood unequivocally that this issue of busing is not an issue of race. Opposition to busing in order to achieve racial balance in public schools does not constitute an attempt to perpetuate segregation in those areas where it may still exist. Busing is not a method at once embraced by blacks and rejected by whites — on the contrary, it is, in my Congressional District, at least, uniformly shunned by blacks and whites alike. I have received much mail on this matter of busing, as have all my colleagues, and the will of the people is clearly ascertainable on this issue."

"... I believe that two major reasons for the bedrock on which the outcry of opposition to busing is based. First, the people simply do not accept the underlying principle that a mathematically precise distribution of students is necessary for quality education, which is what the federal courts are trying to tell us. And, second, the people absolutely reject the mandatory aspect of this Court-directed homogenization of human beings."

"What the courts are trying to do — and what the people do not want done — is to take some more of the freedoms of the people away from them."

"In summation, let me say that the vast majority of people do not like forced busing; they do not want it; they are determined not to have it; and, if the people are to be served, we, as the Representatives, must work to conform the policy of this government and the law of this land to the will of the people."

Price Supports Water Planning

Bob Price has been known for his vital interest in water long before his election to Congress. He has now become one of the most aggressive champions of water conservation and utilization in Congress.

As one of the most ardent supporters of the Texas Water Plan, Price was instrumental in carrying the Northwest Texas vote in favor of this plan in 1969.

In the Congress he has supported resolutions requesting the Corps of Engineers to participate in studies to determine the advisability of improvements for importing water from the Mississippi River System to water-deficient areas of Texas. Price also worked with U. S. Senator John Tower in research to determine the feasibility of importing water from the far northwest.

Congressman Price introduced H. R. 14447 which provides for investigation and study of the feasibility of diverting water from the Missouri River to the water-hungry areas of North and West Texas.

"What I want to know is, when are them experts gonna git around to improvin' this end of the beef business?"
