JOE McMURTRY

This years rodeo dedicated to McMurry & Fuzz Fain

This year's rodeo is dedicated to two long time residents and ranchers who have joined those "Riders in the Sky", J.H. (Joe) McMurry and R.B. (Fuzz) Fain. Joe McMurry was the 7th of the McMurry brothers in a row to streak toward grassland of West Texas, arriving in Clarendon in 1916. He worked for his brothers, Jim and Charley until 1925, then leased land south of Ashtola with a bunch of cattle of his own. He has been in and around Clarendon for the most part, at one time operating a nice spread of country in the Antelope Flat. Joe was mostly a calf and yearling man. He ran around a thousand head of cattle on some ten thousand acres or ranch land. He married Archer Van Eaton in 1919 in Clarendon. Mrs. McMurry is a resident of Medical Center Nursing Home. Fuzz Fain was born August 27, 1934 in Childress. He married Avis Johnson in 1934 at Memphis. The Fains moved to Donley County in 1941 from Estelline where they have lived for 11 years. He went to work as a cowboy for the Molesworth and Craft Ranches in 1937. He worked for them until his death March 23, 1983. Mrs. Fain lives on the Craft Ranch southeast of Clarendon.

Happy July 4th

The Deereslayer.

A lot of farmers like John Deere tractors, and it's hard to argue. Deere makes a good product. But when you compare a Deere four-wheel-drive with a Steiger some really important differences stand out.

More drawbar horsepower.

For example, look at the Steiger Panther CP1360 versus the Deere 8850. Although the Deere is rated with 10 more engine horsepower @ 2100 rpm the Steiger puts 19 more horsepower to work at the drawbar. And at lower rpm the Steiger gives you up to 27 more drawbar horsepower.

With the Steiger 12-speed full power-shift, you clutch only to start up. With a Deere Quad-Range, you have to clutch 8 times to cover all the gears.

Greater fuel efficiency.

There are other differences. The Steiger is 25% quieter in the cab, has 8.4% greater fuel efficiency, and a rugged state-of-the-art, in-line six-cylinder engine that gives you more torque rise than the Deere.

We invite you to compare.

Because all arguments aside, when you look at performance and specs, it's evident why Steiger is the best value in four-wheel-drives.

CAROL McCLELLAN

Carol McClellan's family moved to Clarendon in 1910

Before moving to Clarendon with their two daughters Nina and Carol, Anna and Rich Holder lived in Lefors. The year was 1910.

They moved to a farm just outside the city limits of Clarendon on the road to the JA Ranch. The house has been torn down and the Clyde Slavin home has been built there. Mr. Holder was one of the first feedlot operators in this county.

Clarendon was quite different in those days, the road leading to the high school and college was a boulevard, divided by trees and flowers.

Nina and Carol attended the grammar school, which was located on the corner where the post office is now. Kids in those days made their own entertainment. They roller skated up and down the city sidewalks, the courthouse and the Methodist church instead of making the drag in their cars as they do now. Carol stated, "We used to ice skate in the winter on Johnson's Lake, the winters were much colder than they are now." Johnson Lake was located between Clarendon and Lelia Lake.

Nina married Frank Gardinhere and they now live in McLean. Carol married John McClellan in 1936. They continued to live in Clarendon with the exception of a few months after they married, returning in 1937. They raised their two daughters, Vanetta (Tookie) and Jackie here. John and Carol made a living farming and ranching.

Jackie married William Clark and they live in Miami, TX. They have two children, a boy and a girl. Tookie married Don Thornberry. The Thornberry family ranches in Donley County and they have three sons, Mac, Lance and Drew.

Carol took painting lessons from Mrs. Avans and she has some beautiful paintings hanging in her home. Pointing to one of the paintings, Carol said, "I gave that one to Mac when he has a home." Mac is the oldest son of Don and Tookie. He graduated from the University of Texas Law School and lives in Washington, D.C. The twins, Lance and Drew are students at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

John passed away several years ago but Carol continued to live in Clarendon. She does not paint anymore but keeps busy with her job, children and grandchildren. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Eras of history

by ALICE HOOD

I am hoping someone will remember these important people in our history of Donley County. I do not remember the exact dates or years or when they died but I do remember a doctor, Strickland, Dr. B.L. Jenkins and his son, Dr. Oscar Jenkins. This was back in the 1920's and a very special nurse, Mrs. Ruth Teat, who worked in the Adair Hospital when it changed from the Adair Institution to the Adair Hospital, after it came under county sponsorship in 1929. Mrs. Teat, R.N. was in charge and was placed at the head of her profession in the Texas Panhandle by those who had an occasion to become a patient of this worthy, skilled, experienced and talented lady. My brother, John Oscar Rowe, (named after Dr. Oscar Rowe) was a patient of Dr. Oscar and Mrs. Teat. He broke a leg at the age of 21 months and was in the hospital. Mrs.

Carlton and Jewell Nance of Hobart, Oklahoma attended the funeral of Cara Bass, and visited with Joe and Margaret wells. The Wells and Nance's are long-time friends. Also visitors in the Wells home were Eileen and Jerry Frank of Turon, Kansas (a cousin). All enjoyed a nice visit.

Teat was one of the most kind, patient, and dearest persons I've ever known. In the 1940's Drs. Lural and Lowell, a man and wife team, and Dr. J. Gordon Stewart were the doctors in the Adair Hospital. It was during that time I worked there as a trained practical nurse under Margeret Kidd. She was head nurse (R.N.). I worked with my aunt, Ina Robertson, Florene Hill, Letha Smith and Mrs. Wiggins.

I would like to see more history on these wonderful doctors and nurses of past era's.

Throughout our country's history, "Old Glory" has stood as a symbol of our patriotism, our national unity...a rallying point for all who would protect and preserve our way of life.

We believe, therefore, that each of us should reaffirm our patriotism and fly the flag on Independence Day. We should be reminded of our country's beginning...of Thomas Jefferson, who prepared the original draft of the Declaration of Independence, and whose spirit, personality and high ideals are so much a part of that document. We should be reminded of all those determined patriots who joined with him in this first step toward establishing governments that secure the happiness of the people and derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. They started the country in the right direction; it's up to all of us to keep it moving in the right direction!!

State's history older than many countries

Texas has been ruled by Governors the past 325 years

First Governor was Spaniard, Domingo Teran, who ruled the State during the year 1661.

The following "tabulation" of the Governors of Texas was clipped from the Kerrville Times of June 2, 1932, together with the first paragraph of introductory comments - excepting our own addition to the gubernatorial list which brings it down to date. We do not agree with our contemporary in his recital that Texas has been under only five flags; for LaSalle of the French came in 1685, as is well understood by every student of Texas history, and while during his brief stay in Texas he left but little of the impress of the French upon what is now the area of our State, yet it is a fact that for a brief period the flag of France was the symbol of governmental authority over a large area of what is Texas today. So we admonish our readers not to allow the commonly accepted teaching that "Texas has been under six flags" to be overthrown by the statement of our contemporary (perhaps inadvertently) to the contrary. The article follows:

Most Texans are well enough informed upon the history of their state to know that five flags have flown over its imperial domain since American was first discovered by Columbus. First, was Spanish, then the Mexican, then the Lone Star Flag of the Texas republic, followed by the flag of the United States of America, which was replaced by the flag of the Confederacy when Texas seceded from the Union in 1861, and now again the Stars and Stripes of the United States of America. But comparatively few know that Texas has been under some form of government for the past 270 years. The first governor of Texas was Domingo Teran, away back in the year 1661. After holding office for only a few months, Teran gave it up, and for several years, Texas, then largely a wilderness, was without any form of government. In 1718, Don Martin de Alarconne became governor, and since then someone has continuously been at the head of Texas' government, either as a governor or as a president. The following list of governors and presidents, from 1661 down to the present was secured from records on file in the State Capitol by L.J. Burns, State Representative for the 93rd District:

1661-Domingo Teran.

EVEN WHEN YOU'RE AWAY...YOUR HOME KEEPS RUNNING

You may naturally expect your home to use less electricity while you're away for a week or more. The reduction may not be as great as you think, however. That's because there are many factors that can affect your usage: weather conditions, billing periods and even vacation preparation.

- Very hot weather before you leave and after you return means increased use of air conditioning; this makes it difficult to compare your bill with a previous month of milder weather.
- Hot weather causes your refrigerator/freezer to run longer, particularly if your home air conditioning is turned off while you are away.
- If the time you're away falls within two billing periods, the reduction you expect will be split between two bills.
- If you didn't turn off your electric hot water heater before you left, it continued to keep your water hot 24 hours a day, even though you weren't there.
- And don't forget...when getting ready for a vacation, you often use more electricity than usual for cleaning, washing, drying, ironing, cooking and general preparations. The same is true about your return.

Check your meter.

If you learn to read your own meter, you can find out just how much electricity was used while you were gone. And, you'll see just how much energy you're using during the summer, the heaviest electricity consuming season, with your air conditioning operating most of the time.

Texas residents should be conscious of the threat of fire at all times. But, according to the Building Advisory Council of Texas, certain times of the year are especially hazardous in residential areas. The upcoming July 4th weekend is one.

"If you live in neighborhoods with homes and apartments roofed with readily combustible wood shingles, you should be even more alert over this holiday weekend," says H.V. "Corky" Moss, President of the BAC. "Such roofing can easily be ignited by sparks or embers from other fires," adds Moss.

The BAC recommends that all residential roofing materials meet a III, Class A fire rating.

Although many city ordinances in Texas prohibit the sale of fireworks, people can and do find a source for fireworks during the July 4th holiday. The BAC suggests that fireworks enthusiasts enjoy the holiday by attending a public fireworks display in their area.

Regardless of what type roofing material you have on your home, you should still be especially cautious over this holiday weekend. The Building Advisory Council of Texas offers the following advice:

*Cut dead foliage from last winter's freeze around your home. If you live in an apartment, request that the maintenance people do this. This will eliminate a potentially combustible source of fire near your home.

*Do not burn trash without first checking with your local fire department. Many Texas cities have ordinances prohibiting your doing this. They also would have a central dump or special trash pick-up service you could use.

*If your lawn is dry, water it well. This will eliminate a potentially combustible source for fire near your home by moistening the grass' root system to create a "buffer fire zone" around your home.

Vacationing on the road

The summer season is approaching fast. The Department of Public Safety reminds Texas motorists that the most wonderful part of the year is upon us and hopes all Texas drivers will be driving next fall.

Texasans will be traveling to various parts of our state to enjoy the hospitality and sunshine. According to Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, "We want the summer of 1984 to be the safest yet for the Texas motoring public."

He noted that summer brings out the best and worst driving habits of Texans because alcohol consumption will be on the increase days and with added tourism, our highways can become more dangerous if alcohol is consumed."

Texas Dept. of Public Safety

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said, "Fifty percent of all traffic deaths are alcohol related." During the holidays, this percentage is considerable higher because some drivers think the best way to celebrate a holiday is by drinking and driving, whether on vacation or at the area lake.

This 4th of July Holiday lives will be lost and people will be injured in traffic accidents.

"The best way to have a safe accident free holiday this 4th of July is by not drinking and driving, observing all traffic laws, and not trying to pack a weeks vacation into a 2-day holiday," Major Cawthon stated.

Be especially watchful for the other driver and remember that your safety and the safety of your family depends on you.

GONE FISHIN'

You can find many a place in this part of the country where the loudest noises are made by a lonely cricket chirpin', a mosquito buzzin', and a couple of fat frogs kickin' ripples across an otherwise calm creek.

It's that kind of peace of mind we work to give our customers here at Vernon Savings.

So we stay strong. Plunge in headlong. We take long, hard looks at every opportunity to make sure you never let the big ones get away.

And before we call it a day, we make sure that we have done everything we can to keep your money working for you. So relax. Go fishin'. We'll mind the store.

New from the two women walking around the United States

The Press did a story last winter on two senior citizen ladies, Jan and Louise Rose who were walking around the United States. The two ladies from Las Vegas, Nevada were wanting to make people aware of the fact, that just because a person becomes a senior citizen, is no reason to give up and do nothing.

They spent several days in Clarendon resting and waiting for their mail to catch up with them before continuing their journey. The paper received two letters from them. They are as follows: Niagara Falls N.Y. Hi Helen:

Guess I'd better take time to write you about our experiences in Washington and before. We left Columbia S.C., took Rte. 1 from Camben S.C. thru N.C. and up to Richmond, Va. The people of the Carolina's treated us great- we both gained weight from that southern home cooking! We met one lady and her daughter at Cassatt S.C. who said they would bring us a fried chicken dinner out on the highway wherever we were at 4:30 and here they came with everything including cold drinks, apple pie and a bag of candy. Another lady had us in for butter beans. We had to walk seven days in N.C. because of rainy weather-(the ground was too damp to lie around on all day) and we were tired so when we stopped at a Pizza place to get water we asked if they knew of any place where we could rest out of the rain. Well, Bertha Newcomer looked at her husband, he took a key off the wall and said we were there guests as long as we wanted to stay. Later they asked us to go to Easter services with them and she outfitted both of us in her clothes. They bought us orchid corsages to wear to church. We stayed from Saturday afternoon until Tuesday morning, were driven all over the country and taken out to eat several times. Bob's mother was there visiting them from Arizona (Dorothy Newcomer). These people were almost as nice to us as you and J.C. were.

We slept out every night in S.C. and most nights in N.C. and it was great but it had warmed up when we reached Virginia and we got into ticks. Four nights of that was enough so we bussed out of Richmond to Springfield, walked to Arlington, waited several days while our appointment was being arranged with President Reagan. We saw him Tuesday May 8th. Louise told me "When we decided to make this journey for senior citizens we wanted to see the number 1 senior of America, you, President Reagan! This seemed to surprise him. I don't think he knew he was a senior citizen. I told him that I'd talked to seniors all across our country and the message most of them sent was to please keep the needs of the senior citizens in mind as he governed this great country.

Next day we met with our senators from Nevada, Paul Laxalt and Chic Hecht, also our Congressman Harry Reid. They couldn't have been nicer to us. Then we visited Claude Pepper-Congressman from Louise's home state Florida. He has been in Washington for 48 years. His office walls were filled with democratic history. He had a letter written to him personally by FDR 3 days before he died. He had campaign buttons from all of FDR's campaigns. I was fascinated by all the history and would like to have stayed there a week just reading and looking. Of course we had many pictures taken with the president and all the rest. We were on T.V. in Washington and interviewed by someone constantly it seemed.

We visited our nephew's grave at Arlington cemetery-had a great VIP tour of Washington and the White House and Capitol Bldg. I fell in love with the Rotunda. Louise loved the oval office where we met with President Reagan and he presented us with gold pins with the presidential seal on them. The box they came in had his autograph in gold on the top.

We were advised not to walk in any of this congested area so we bussed thru N.Y. city to Buffalo. We came on to Niagara Falls today and played like tourists as we'd never been here before. The falls are spectacular. WE go across to Canada tomorrow-have already been told we cannot walk there thru highways some may have to bus part of the way from there. Will keep in touch. Will go to Bay City, Michigan then to Ludington and ferry across to Manawatow, Ws. Appleton, Ws. down to Dubuque, Iowa, then straight west thru Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, California, and Las Vegas. We will visit my son in Winston, Or. Dr. John Rose and then Louise's son and daughter in Pomona and El Monte Ca. Thanks for everything. Hope you can read this. So pooped after sight seeing all day I'm lying down trying to write.

Hi Helen and J.C. and all:
Left D.C. went to Buffalo, N.Y. then to Niagara Falls- acted like tourists there. Then to Toronto, Canada- got in a snow storm in London, Canada and another one in Michigan. We sent all of our winter clothes home in S. Carolina and it was fine until we hit Michigan. Almost froze to death. Had to buy us each a new sweat suit to wear over our levis. Walked across Michigan from Bay City to Ludington, bucking a headwind 40 miles an hour all the way. Ferried across lake Michigan to Ke-waunee, Wisconsin walked to Green Bay then to Appleton, called Jan Sport, manufacturers of our backpack and they rolled out the carpet for us.
Love,
Jan and Louise

Plains are freed from Indians threat in 1874

Three Battles Fought Against Tribes in That Year

Published in The Donkey County Leader, June 24, 1937.

Only 63 years ago the Panhandle was freed from the threat of Indians. In that year 1874, three battles were fought against the Cheyenne, Kiowa, Comanche Indians who seemed to choose that year as the time to drive out the palefaces.

On June 26, occurred the Battle of Adobe Walls; on September 12, the Battle of Buffalo Wallow, and on November 8, the battle between the Cheyenne warriors led by Chief Greybeard and soldiers commanded by Lieutenant Frank d. Baldwin, on McClellan creek.

Adobe Walls was situated in Hutchinson county in a beautiful Canadian river valley. Here buffalo hunters had established a trading post. Hundreds of Cheyennes, Kiowa and Comanches attacked the post, held by 28 men and one woman.

Quannah Parker, famed in Texas history, was one of the chiefs that led his tribe against the fort. Despite repeated charges, the whites repulsed the red men. The Indians' total loss was unknown. Three of the whites were killed.

After the battle Adobe Walls was abandoned as a trading post.

Concrete markers have been placed at each corner of the six-acre tract, corners of the buildings have been marked, monuments erected over the graves of the men who lost their lives in the battle, and near the center of the grounds stands a 10-foot high Oklahoma granite marker, on which is inscribed the names of the 28 men and the one woman who were in the fort on June 27, 1874. The fiftieth anniversary of the battle was the occasion of a two-day celebration held near the battle grounds. Three thousand persons participated.

Six Whites against 126 Indians. Even more dramatic than Adobe Walls is the story of Buffalo Wallow, which took place September 12, 1874, at a spot between the Washita river and Gageby creek in what is now Hemphill County, 22 miles southwest of Canadian, between two government scouts and four soldiers and 125 Kiowa and Comanche Indians.

After the Adobe Walls battle, U.S. troops under General Nelson A. Miles were ordered into the Panhandle. While in camp on McClellan creek, supplies ran low. The supply train was overdue. Miles called Scouts William Dixon and Amos Chapman to carry dispatches to Fort Supply, notifying the commander there of his plight. The scouts were told they could have all the soldiers they thought necessary. They took four: Sergeant Z.T. Woodall, and Privates Peter Rath, John Harrington and George W. Smith.

On the second day out of camp, as they neared the divide between the Washita river and Gageby creek, they found themselves surrounded by 125 Kiowa and Comanche Indians. Their horses were tired, and the white men knew a running fight was impossible. They dismounted on the hillside. Private Smith was shot down by the first volley. The horses he had been holding leaped away and disappeared among the yelling savages.

Buffalo Wallow made into trench. The scouts and soldiers dashed to a buffalo wallow several hundred yard distant. The wallow was 10 feet in depth. By this time, all the men were wounded and four were disabled. All except Smith and Chapman were able to drag themselves into the wallow, which they immediately began to improve as a defense by using their knives to throw up an earthen breastwork.

A courage of despair. Remembering the mangled bodies of Indian captives they had seen, the group determined to fight to the end. Tortured by thirst, the men lay there all through the hot September day. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, a thunderstorm arose in the west, a blinding rain fell, water collected in the wallow. The men drank from the muddy and bloody pool.

The Indians' dislike for a cold rain was salvation for the group. They gathered out or range, huddling in their blankets. When night came, they withdrew. No one knows why they gave up a siege.

Until midnight of the second day after the battle the men waited for help. As soon as General Miles learned of the situation he lost no time in sending relief. All the wounded were sent to Camp Supply. Amos Chapman was wounded so badly that a leg had to be amputated.

The body of Smith, who died at 11 o'clock on the night following the day the group was attacked, was wrapped in an army blanket and buried in the wallow.

The scene of the magnificent courage of these men is today marked with a granite monument made possible by donations from nearly every state in the Union. An acre of ground has been deeded to the Panhandle-Plains Historical society.

On the monument is the inscription: "Buffalo Wallow Battle Ground. Here on September 12, 1874, two scouts and four soldiers defeated 125 Kiowa and Comanche Indians. Stand silent! Heroes here have been. Who cleared the way for other men."

Battle in central part of Gray. While Adobe Walls and Buffalo Wallow have received much attention from those interested in the history of the Panhandle, a battle that occurred in Gray County in November of 1874 was given scant notice until a year ago. A monument has been erected on the site of the battle between soldiers led by Lieutenant Frank D. Baldwin and 500 Cheyennes under Chief Grey Beard. The battle scene was on the north branch of McClellan creek 16 miles southeast of Pampa.

War tanks of 1874. Two facts made this battle sheer drama. First of all, it resulted in the rescue of two little white girls, Julia and Adelaide German, survivors of an Indian attack near Fort Wallace, Kan., when the girls' parents, brother, and two sisters were slain. General Miles had heard of the massacre and he and his men were constantly on the alert to rescue Julia, Adelaide, Catherine and Sophia German. Catherine and Sophia were held by another band of Indians.

Second, the wagons served as 1874 model tanks in the tactics employed by Lieutenant Baldwin who had been sent on a scouting expedition with a wagon-train detachment of 23-mule teams, a few cavalymen, and a detachment of infantry. The group had a mountain howitzer. The orders were to proceed north and east toward the supply camp in what is now Hemphill county and look for Indian signs.

When the soldiers discovered Grey Beard's camp Lieutenant Baldwin sent his infantry-filled wagons charging down the hills. The surprised Indians stampeded, then made a stand. Another charge of the "tanks" was hurled against them, with success. They mountain howitzer was utilized for the final thrust when the Indians again grew stubborn.

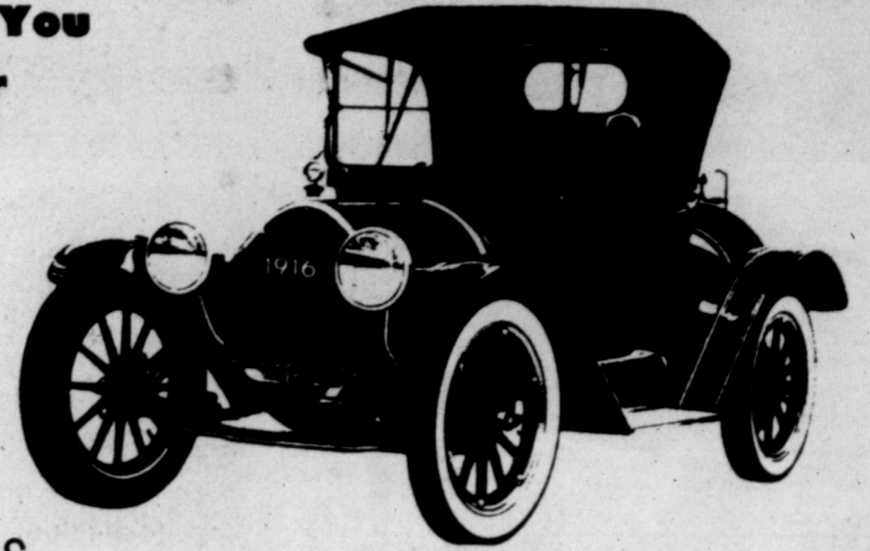

Discovery of the captives. During the heat of battle, an Indian made a daring attempt to reach a pile of blankets, at which he fired with a rifle. He was killed, and from the blankets crawled Julia German - in rags, sun-burned almost black, thin to the point of emaciation, a sight so pitiful that soldiers wept as they beheld her. Adelaide was found in a nearby lodge, terrified. The girls were placed in the care of officers' wives at Camp Supply.

The other white captives, Catherine and Sophia, were surrendered to government troops on the following March 1 after long negotiations with friendly Chief Stone Calf, who had great difficulty in persuading Grey Beard's band to give them up. The girls became charges of the government, were later married, and two of them were guests of the late T.D. Hobart of Pampa while passing through the Panhandle a few years ago.

First CC reunion 1938

Homecoming of Clarendon College exes at Clarendon Nov. 11-12—Heavy Attendance and Interesting Program Assured
Published in The Clarco, November 1, 1938.

The first reunion for Clarendon College ex-students will officially get under way Friday morning, November 11, when registrations open at the administration building at 9:30. The program committee according to Clyde I. Price, Chairman, has endeavored to leave sufficient time for former classmates to visit and, working toward this end, no further entertainment is listed until the football game between Clarendon High School and Vega High School at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

However, Price said, if any individual or group wishes to entertain, the committee will aid in any way possible. Friday night at 7:30, a buffet supper and open house will be held at the girls' old dormitory. All exes and their husbands and wives, and the present students of Clarendon Junior College are invited to attend. Bright and early Saturday morning, the old campaigners of C.C. gridiron wars will gather at the Antro Hotel at 7:30 to talk over old times and to breakfast.

At 9:30 old Clarendon College will live anew when chapel exercises, depicting former C.C. days, are held at the college auditorium.

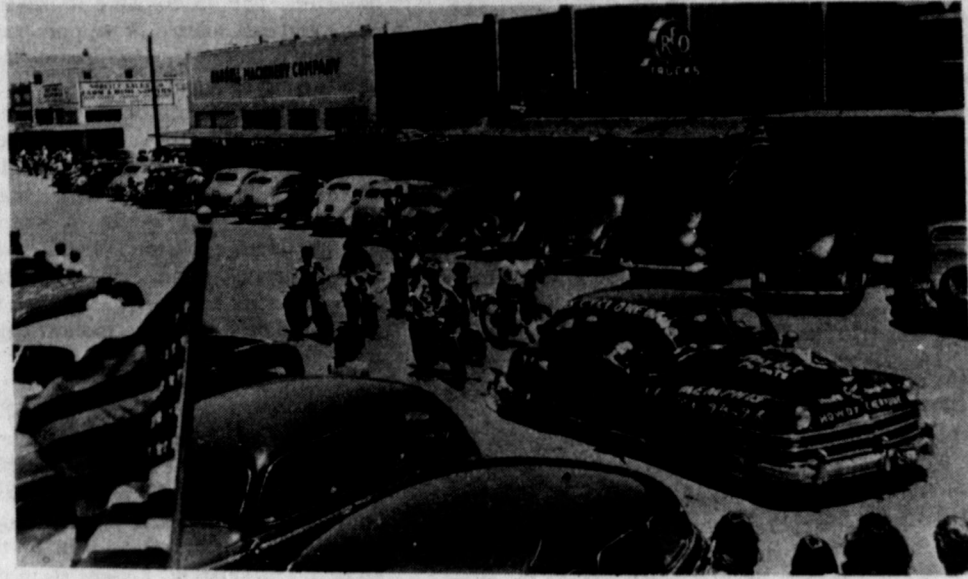

The Clarendon Junior College royal parade, with the college queen and attendants, will be held shortly before noon and at 12:30 an outdoor barbecue will be held for the exes.

Clarendon Junior College will crown their queen in an impressive ceremony at the football field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to mark the final entertainment of the program.

Class of 1935 Last Will and Testament

Be this remembered that we, the Senior class of 1935 of the Clarendon High School being supposedly of sound mind and memory, but knowing the uncertainty of this school, life, revoking all former wills do make this our first and last will and testament.

After having made the down payment on our commencement dresses and suits, we bequeath the Juniors the remainder of the installments and the following advice:

Don't chew Dentyne Gum, because Miss Harris can detect the odor.

Don't throw paper wads, unless you are sure of your aim.

Don't run up or down the steps, you might fall.

Don't play hooky unless you are sure you can get by with it.

And what ever you do don't spark in the halls, Mr. Drenman eagle eye will be upon you.

Because we know that Clarendon High School would be at a loss without our many sterling qualities.

Two his colleague, Jimmie Bourland, Sam Barrow bequaths his 1891/4 pages of debating arguments and his manner of winning a fair maiden's heart.

Eugenia Nolan has been left all we wish, there were more, of Georgia Lutz's mildness, meakness, and modesty.

Dorothea Watson receives Jimmie Lee Cole's and Avis Lee McElvans tendency to laugh at their own well used jokes.

Leota Rampy leaves her good natured smile and sunny disposition to the future Huey Long, Randall Acord.

Frank Holtzclaw leaves his ability to make touchdowns for the Bronchos, a four 1/4 forty yard dash, and his name "Horse" to Allan Patman.

Catherine Brown leaves her place on the Ashtola school bus to Dolittle Baker, we just wonder how much longer he'll need it.

Roseada Reid leaves her brilliancy and calmness to Virginia Dumb Cluck and we all hope it helps her.

Bobby Boston adverdupois to John Howard Gilbert.

Wilson Kutch who wants to be a Francis Sanford.

Harold McDaniels wills his favorite recipe for making hot dogs to Tillie rratt who can pass it on to Price Whitlock.

Eugene Butler has been left Vivian Taylor's boisterous laugh and the two of biology memory work assigned to her for talking in quiet period.

Nicky Stuart has been given Royce Turnbow's best girlfriend and his nickname "Buttercup."

Marie Carlyle bequeaths her blond curly locks and the understanding with which she studies physics to her sister, Pauline.

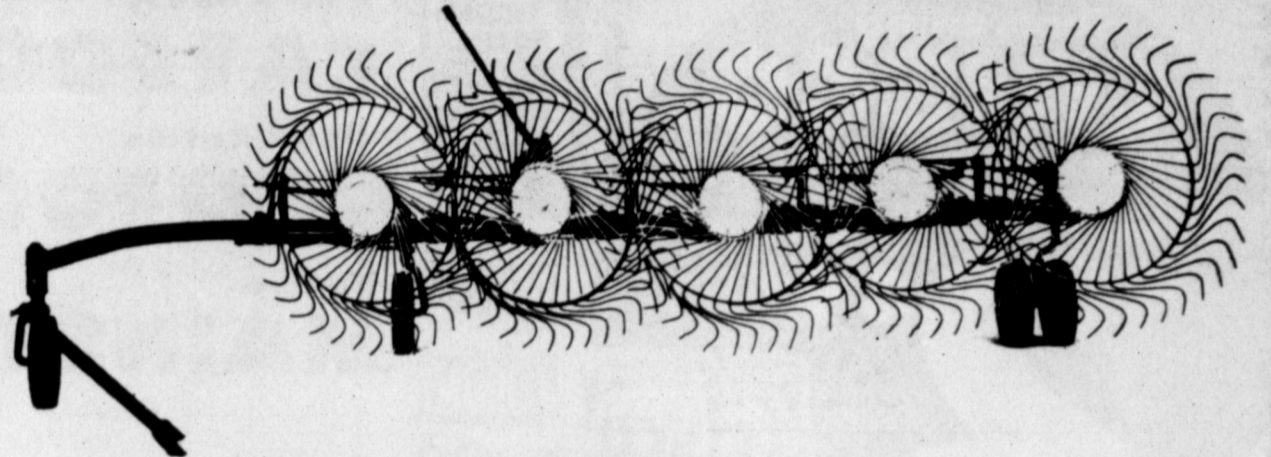

Bobby Wilson leaves his share of the loving cup recently won for dear old C.H.S. to Wesley Powell.

Bob Word's dignigled manners with which he presides over a class meeting whether dignified or not is willed to Jo Montgomery.

Beatrice Garmon leaves her venus form and insult remarks to Micky Ferrell.

In testimony whereof we, the Senior class of Clarendon High School, declare this our last will. On this twenty-sixth day of April in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

July 4th 1898

Our Fourth 1898
Industrial West, July 8, 1898

Our national holiday was spent in loyal holiday style, and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. There were people here from Amarillo, Claude, Swisher, Gray and Hall Counties, the latter furnished nearly a hundred.

The parade, headed by the Clarendon Brass Band, Masonic, Odd Fellows, Woodmen and Circle societies, decorated buggies and uniformed boys on donkeys all made an imposing appearance.

At the courthouse after singing "Star Spangled Banner" Rev. Sherman lead in prayer. then Attorney Ware of Silvertown read the Declaration of Independence and commented very patriotically upon it. After more music Judge Veale, of Amarillo, was introduced and made a fine speech. The part that struck us most favorably was his position in opposition to a war of conquest as now being advocated by the national administration and many leaders in both parties.

Dinner was next served of which there was an abundance that all enjoyed with the exception of the barbecued beef, much of it being spoiled from being killed so long before hand and the warm, rainy weather.

The chief attraction after dinner was the ball game between Clarendon and Memphis, umpired by Editor Johnson of Memphis. Clarendon won, scoring 11 to their 9.

A wrestling match between Roy Galbreth of Memphis and Nath Bozeman of Clarendon was won by Bozeman.

About the only thing to mar the pleasure of the day was an accident to Nora Lane, a 12 year old niece of H.W. Taylor, who was struck in the face by a ball. While severely hurt, she is recovering.

Goodnight Ranch sells

Published in Clarendon News, Jan. 29, 1925.

The Goodnight ranch, consisting of 12,000 acres, located west of Clarendon and known throughout the Southwest, has been sold by the owner, Charles Goodnight, to J.L. Staley, wealthy oil man of Wichita Falls.

Staley announced the purchase Tuesday morning and stated that the deal included all the personal property on the ranch with the exception of approximately 500 head of Black Poll cattle, which were retained by Col. Goodnight.

The purchase of the ranch and the property includes the 75 head of American bison, 10 head of elk and eight head of deer. Staley stated that he would retain the wild game on the ranch and that his plans would be to increase all three herds.

It was stated that the consideration in the deal, which transfers the ownership of the ranch from Col. Goodnight, who has resided there for 52 years, was approximately $180,000.

Col. Goodnight will retain his residence on the ranch having expressed the desire to spend the remainder of his days on the place that has grown dear to him. Col. Goodnight will assist in the operation of the ranch, which includes approximately 1,500 acres of land under cultivation.

Staley announced that W.S. Burnett of Tarrant County, a nephew of Burk Burnett, would assume charge of the ranch and operate it.

Although he has not yet completed his plans with reference to the operation of the ranch, Staley stated that he would stock up some time during the summer. He intends to stock it with thoroughbred cattle and in all probability will start a herd of registered Herefords.

Staley is the owner of another big ranch consisting of 5,000 acres, located near Las Vegas, N.M., where he has a flock of over 10,000 sheep. Prior to closing the deal for the purchase of the Goodnight ranch, Staley visited the New Mexico holdings and found that despite 20 degrees below zero weather the flock had not been decreased by a single head. An inspection of the ranch, he said, revealed, however, that five wolves had frozen to death.

On his return home he stopped at the Goodnight ranch house and made a complete check of the personal property and closed the deal.

In discussing his plans for the operation of the ranch, Staley said that he would continue the cultivation of the 1,500 acres and would raise cotton and wheat.

Staley is the owner of a 12-story office building in Wichita Falls and in addition has large holdings in the various oil fields in the Wichita Falls district.--Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Two schools consolidate

Published in the Clarendon News, May 4, 1933.

Organization of the school board of the new Midway Consolidated school district, No. 1 was effected last Monday night, following the unanimous vote of April 22 to consolidate the Pleasant Valley and Hackberry common school districts.

H.S. Mahaffey was elected president; Nelse Robinson, vice-president; Miss Katie Meaders, secretary. Other members of the board are M.W. Meaders, P.O. Thompson, A.A. Pierce and P.L. Arnold, all of whom were appointed by the county school board.

Taking its name from the fact that the new location is almost exactly midway between the old school buildings, a new Midway school building will be erected this summer on three acres of the J.A. Meaders farm. It will be a two-room frame structure. A teacherage is also planned. Funds for the new buildings will be provided by a bond issue of $2,000 to be voted on at as early a date as possible.

The unanimous vote given to the consolidation testifies to the 100 percent satisfaction that the people of the newly formed district feel over its consummation. The Midway school will offer instruction next up to and including the eighth grade.

Grammar School wrecked

by R.F.C. Workmen

Published in Clarendon News, June 1, 1933.

The red brick school building, known for many years to Clarendon citizens as "the grammar school building," will soon be but a memory.

Purchased a few years ago by the city, with the ultimate intention of using the location for the erection of a municipal auditorium, the city commission this week accepted the proposal of the Donley County Relief committee to furnish the labor for its demolition and salvage of material at no cost to the city.

All the lumber in it will be carefully removed and all nails drawn and the material stored to dimension and quality. All bricks will be cleaned and stacked. It is the intention of the city commission to sell all the salvaged material as soon as possible according to Mayor W.P. Cagle, in whose hands the commission has placed the salvaging of the materials.

"We believe that the proposal made by the committee is a worthy one, as it will give employment to deserving labor and will enable the city to realize more net money out of the building than could have been obtained any other way," said Mayor Cagle. The work of wrecking the building is expected to begin at once, he stated.

Historical

The building is located on the block southeast of the courthouse square, which was originally the site of a frame school house. On April 10, 1901, bonds were issued in the amount of $9,500, bearing 5 percent interest, the proceeds of which were used for the erection of the building which is now to be torn down. The bonds were signed by Geo. F. Morgan, president of the board, who now lives at El Paso, and W.B. Ware, secretary of the board. The last of these 20-year bonds was paid April 10, 1921.

For twenty-seven years the hallways and rooms of the building resounded with the happy voices of the children whose education began within its walls and, for many of them ended there. Hundreds of Clarendon citizens, still living here, attended its school sessions. Other hundreds have scattered throughout the United States. Many of them will read of the dismantling of the old building with a limp in their throats as they recall the happy days which they spent under its roof and the contacts with the faithful and patient teachers who were quick to commend earnest effort and equally as quick to reprimand - and even to punish - improper conduct.

In 1913 the crowded condition of the building made it necessary to provide additional school housing and the brick building now known as the Junior High school was erected, a bond issue of $25,000 providing funds.

Again, in 1921, it became necessary to provide another building. The handsome brick building adjoining the then High school was erected at a cost of $75,000. It was still necessary to use the original brick building, making three buildings in use.

The abandonment of Clarendon College offered an opportunity for the purchase of the college buildings in 1927 which was done by the issuance of $42,000 of bonds. The addition to the plant enabled the school board to launch its Junior College as municipal institution - giving Clarendon the distinction of being one of the smallest cities in the United States to operate a Junior College.

Its graduates are able to enter the Junior classes of any of the universities of the State, which secures for Clarendon citizens educational advantages which are unequalled by any city of like population. Its presence enables its students to obtain the first two years of college education in their home town, and that they do so is attested by the fact that a representative of the University of Chicago, here recently, stated that the percentage of Clarendon high school graduates taking college work was far higher than usual.

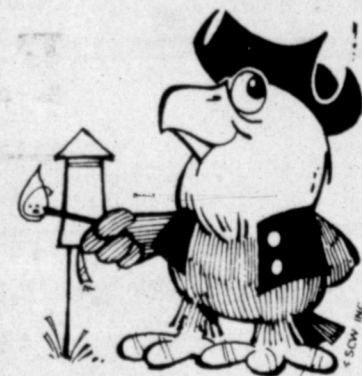

The story of the growth of the school system of Clarendon is offered in connection with the announcement of the final disposition of the oldest building for the purpose of emphasizing the steady growth of Clarendon during those years when growth was normal. The fact that no growth has been recorded during the past three years has nothing to do with the growth that may confidently be expected when "the growing season" begins. The time will come when all the present buildings of the school system will be inadequate. Change may be expected in the general "set-up" of the curriculum. Subjects may be taught in the future which are not now in the minds of the trustees and faculty. It is enough to predict that whatever is taught - the subjects will be increasingly applicable to the problem of living - not merely making a living but living in the broader sense of the term.

July 1903 - Top prices last Thursday: steers $3.00; cows $2.50; calves $3.75; hogs $-... Receipts were cattle 1500, hogs - calves 300, sheep 500 - Fort Worth market.

County Fossil Wealthy

JAKE, BEN AND WILL Chamberlain 1905.

Published in Clarendon News, 1931. Few individuals in the State of Texas know that our state has some of the richest Fossil deposits in the world, and Donley Mammal Fossil beds compare well with the finest in North America. Every year for the past 35 years, some of the foremost scientists from the different Universities and Museums have led expeditions into this County after fossil bones of both ages, Reptile and Mammal.

Among the most noted men who have worked and studied the Panhandle in the past are Dr. J. W. Gidley of the National Museum, Washington, D.C.; Dr. Lull of Yale University, Bannum Brown and Floyd Johnson of American Museum, N.Y. City.

Dr. W.D. Matthew, University of California; Drs. Case and Buttner of University of Michigan.

Every one of the above mentioned men have made a number of very important discoveries in this county.

Texas has been unusually generous out of the state Museums, but why not, no one seemed to think of building a depository for our Fossil specimen, and every rain little by little destroyed whatever was exposed while hundreds of skulls have been destroyed through ignorance, now knowing how to prepare a find in the field.

So these men have been spending thousands of dollars preserving for the world and us, valuable specimens that we were not taking care of.

For the past 25 years Mr. Floyd Studer, Amarillo businessman, has spent most of his spare time to the study and exploration of Archaeological and Paleontological sites and deposits in North and West Texas.

He has helped nearly every Archaeologist and Paleontologist coming into North West Texas to making his expedition a success and in return they have helped him to compile the most perfect record of Fossil discoveries in the Panhandle of Texas.

Last summer our Legislature set aside $25,000 to be used with an equal amount raised by the Panhandle Plains Historical Society for the construction of a Museum building at Canyon, this will be the first in the State of Texas.

This Museum can become one of the most interesting and educational institutions in the State and we can get most of our material in North West Texas.

This is not a Canyon project but an entire Panhandle project and should be supported by every citizen, even though you are not a member of the Society.

THE WAR IS OVER...This photo was taken in November 1918, when the World War I was ended. These people gathered in downtown Clarendon to hear the news. Patriotic people raised their American flags to show their approval and loyalty to their country. [Clarendon Press Collection]

Please see that my family hears of this letter and knows I am doing fine. One machine gun bullet left hip. One left side and a splash of mustard gas on my right buttock has about 19 big blisters turning to boils. They have sure made me cuss the Boche from the agony suffered.

I want you to remember me and boys to all our friends. These boys certainly made a record. The famous Marines said they never saw their equal. One gunman officer we captured spoke English and he asked where we were from and said he never saw such wonderful marksmanship exhibited. My love to you and Leta and regards to your wife. I would appreciate a letter. Your friend.

"soldier's special," bearing the Amarrillo company, arrived, amid an outburst of cheers from the train and those assembled here, and without any ceremony and with characteristic American railroad efficiency the three coaches and baggage of the Clarendon company were added to the train and to the accompaniment of cheers and hurried words of farewell, the train hurried on southward. At Childress another company was added, after which no stops were made except those made necessary by the schedules of passing trains.

WELCOME

Clarendon bids their soldiers farewell

Published in Clarendon News, 1917.

At last a serious realization of the war has borne itself upon the minds and hearts of the Clarendon people. Heretofore the presence of the members of Company H upon our streets has lent more of a gala and romantic atmosphere to our city than that of war. But the seriousness of war began to grow when early Monday morning orders came to Capt. Simpson to hold the company in readiness to entrain at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in special cars left here Monday for their transportation to Camp Bowie, Fort Worth.

Brothers feigned composure while they bid brothers good-bye. Fathers offered a short word of advice to departing sons, gray haired mothers wept as they clung to their sons, whom they had offered in sacrifice to our great Government, sisters and sweethearts lingered for last words and kisses with guardsmen near and dear to them, the handshaking of friends reminded one of the closing scenes of an old-fashioned camp-meeting.

Letters written to Joe Warren

A Village in France August 23rd, 1918

Mr. Joe Warren, Clarendon, Texas

Dear Joe: In a few minutes intervening between drill hours I will send you a line. We are all fine and dandy. We are quartered in a little French village about thirty-five miles behind the lines and far from a railroad. There is absolutely no form of amusement in the town nor any sort of place to spend even dime so we furnish all our own recreation by meeting each evening and having singing, dancing (buck and wing) boxing and some of the boys recite and I read some good story. We were lucky enough to catch two professional vaudeville men in the draft and an accomplished so we really have a little show each day. The boys are all fine. Harry is indispensable to us. The thing that I have preached to my non-commissioned officers all the way is proving true. They are the ones who make or break a company.

They certainly make shifts rapidly here among officers. Over forty commissioned officers from Majors and Lt. Colonels down to second Lieutenants have been sent away since we landed. If a fellow makes one little bobble off he goes to a reclassification camp and if they cannot find some other kind of work he is sent home. Our Lt. Col., two Capt. and one first Lt. have already gone. So far I am holding on, am so darned scared all the time that if they don't get me I will never be worth anything any way.

This country is two hundred years behind the U.S. They have the finest country roads on earth but no automobiles only bicycles and two wheeled one horse carts. They cut their grain with hand cradles and bind it by hand. Their threshers are run by a horse walking up an incline revolving board. It is a pretty country. The people live in tiny villages nestled away in valleys. The country is very mountainous and every hill side is covered with intensely cultivated. I never dreamed so many grapes grew on earth. Wine is the universal drink here. Water is used for laundry purposes and to run under bridges as a drink it is unknown. The wine is light and almost non-intoxicating, however they have a cognac that will turn down the damper of the most confirmed booze head. You know I do not drink at all but I have sure seen some shows since I came here. Champagne that would cost you $15.00 to $20.00 a bottle in American can be had here for $1.25 per bottle.

I have seen lots of German prisoners and many evidences of the war and you people over there cannot imagine what it is like. There is a slogan over here "Hell, Heaven or Home by Xmas" however we will never make it. However I do believe we will end it by the Fall of 1919. I think we will start big fire works this Fall and I certainly hope that I am lucky enough to stick so that I can lead this bunch of boys into real action. I have the finest company of men on earth and they are loyal to me.

Give my regards to all the bunch. Jim and Will Patman, Chase, Mulkey, White, Sam Dyer, Mr. Patrick, Mr. Beville and all the rest. Chamberlain and all others. If you fellows could realize even faintly what a letter from home means to a fellow over here you would all write me good newsy letter once a week and I could read it to the boys. Answer. I give you, yours and all my friends my best regards.

Your friend, E.A. Simpson

October 23rd, 1918

Mr. Joe Warren, Clarendon, Texas

Dear Joe: Just a line let you know that H Company went over the top on October 8. I got a machine gun bullet in the left hip breaking or rather slightly fracturing the pelvis bone and another one in the left side. I am doing nicely and able to sit up and write. Your Harry was my right hand when I went over. He was hit in the shoulder. Just before I was hit in the hip I ordered a bugler to crawl back and have some Marines come and pick him up but Harry, Plucky, Devil insisted on carrying on with it although he was hit in the shoulder and I in the hip. We went about 300 yds further and I got one in the left side knocking me out. Harry got a single sniper bullet through the upper edge of the lung and a little later and we came here to this hospital. Harry is doing fine and I look out for him. I see him every 2 or 3 hours. I give him cigarettes, milk, lemonade and fruit. Things we wounded officers get the men don't. Joe I am going to recommend Harry for a Distinguished Service Cross for his bravery. I may add my company were all heroes. I can add my Colonel told me I was recommended for a majority. Joe believe me Harry is going to pull through. Don't worry. He and I send love to you and yours.

Your friend, E.A. Simpson

October 28, 1918

Mr. Joe Warren Clarendon, Texas

Dear Joe: I am 29 years old today and will celebrate by sending you a line. My nurse made me some chocolate fudge for a birthday present so I got the orderly to wheel me down to Harry's ward and gave him some. He is doing splendidly. I had a French barber come shave him and he felt fine. I think there is absolutely no doubt but that he will move along to complete recovery all OK. His wounds are healing nicely, no fever and no pain. He sleeps well and eats all he can get.

Joe please tell J.J. Hanson his son Ira is all OK recovered from his wound. Paul Murff was a fighting friend and unhit the last I heard of him. Star Johnson of Brice, Jack Biggerstaff, James S. Stewart were all OK only slightly wounded all from Brice. Tell Mr. Moreland, Lloyd was dandy and unhit so far as I know. Alvas Simmons was OK. He is at Hedley. Arthur Greer from there was OK. George Taylor was at school and not in the fight. Lindsey was a brick and unhit so far as I can hear. Aubyn Clark as noble a boy as every lived was killed. Clarence Hudson from Goodnight was shot through calf of leg and is doing dandy. Matthew Lane is a hero and was unhit as far as I can learn. By the way I saw Lt. Harry D. Davis. Dr. J. W. Carhart dies

Published in Clarendon News, Jan. 1913. News reached Clarendon a few days ago that Dr. J.W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas passed from this earth to a better life on Monday, Dec. 21. In the early days Dr. Carhart was manager for the J.I. Case Cattle Co., located on Carroll creek, near this city, and was well known and highly esteemed by a large number of the old timers here. He was a cousin of our townsman, Capt. I.W. Carhart, and was the father of Ed Carhart, banker and capitalist of Panhandle.

The following item, taken from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, tells a portion of Dr. Carhart's life history, and will be read with interest by Clarendon people:

George Nies, 815 E. Annie street, Fort Worth, knew well Dr. J.W. Carhart, 83, who died Monday in San Antonio. Carhart was the maker of the world's first automobile, but he never pushed his claim to the title, however. Nies never saw Dr. Carhart's automobile, but he heard him describe it many times.

"Dr. Carhart was a young Methodist preacher in Wisconsin then," Nies said Wednesday. "He was of an inventive mind, and was always making something or other and getting out of a patent on it.

"Anyway, it was Dr. Carhart who conceived and built the world's first automobile. He was living in Wisconsin then and it was in the early seventies. He built a good strong buggy, rigged out a steering gear for the front wheels, then attached a miniature boiler and steam engine on the rear.

"With that 'automobile,' Dr. Carhart would go to and from his church and make his neighborhood calls. It worked well. Of course it looked more like a locomotive than anything else and was a coarse contraption, yet it paved the way for the auto. Carhart left his automobile in Wisconsin when he came to Texas more than thirty years ago. He took up the practice of medicine here. I knew him well in San Antonio."

The American Automobile Manufacturer's Association recently honored Dr. Carhart in resolutions for the part he played in inventing the auto.

Clarendon now has City Library

Published in Clarendon News, November 21, 1929.

How many Clarendon people know that the city now owns a library?

Mayor H.W. Taylor announced the colmination of plans next week whereby the city of Clarendon is the recipient of the Pathfinder Club Library, and which the city is now operating under a citizens Library Board composed of three ladies and three men, with the Mayor as ex-officio chairman. As provided by the action of the city commission in taking over the library, the board is appointed by the mayor and his selections have been made of the first year as follows: Mesdames C.A. Burton, Paul Shelton and J.T. Sims; Messrs. W.H. Patrick and Sam M. Braswell.

The board held its first meeting Thursday afternoon of last week and elected Sam M. Braswell as secretary of the board. W.H. Patrick was elected treasurer.

Mrs. C.A. Burton was elected as librarian, she having been the librarian for the library since its inception five years ago. The library will continue to be opened on Saturday afternoon as before until the first of January, 1930, when the opening may be increased to twice a week, if the board deems advisable.

Inaugurated five years ago the Pathfinder Library has been open to the public during that period and has grown until now it has over eleven hundred volumes of fiction, history, art and other research works, and has become a valuable adjunct to the cultural life of this community.

For some years the library has been provided quarters in the municipal building and when the building was remodeled last year still better quarters and built in facilities were provided. Along in June of this year the Pathfinder Club voted to tender the library to the city with the provision that the city would set aside funds for operation and maintenance. The city commission voted to accept the tender of the library and appropriated twenty dollars a month for the upkeep and further voted to provide quarters, water, gas and lights.

Mayor Taylor feels that the city commission got a bargain for the citizenship of Clarendon in accepting the library and it is his expressed aim to see the institution grow and expand until it has many thousand volumes and is kept open every day in the week with a full time librarian, although this is some years in the future.

For the present membership in the library will continue at $1.00 per year per family, with privileges of four books per family per week. A fine of five cents per book per week will be charged for all books kept longer than the two weeks' period.

Yes, Clarendon has a city library, and the entire citizenship of the town and community is urged to avail themselves of its benefits.

August 6, 1926 - There was an increase of 67.5 percent of the cost of living in the ten year period from 1914-1924. You can't convince anybody that they have gone down any, yet.

THE PIONEER DRUG STORE

... was a place where necessities in filling prescriptions were kept.

The front wasn't much different from the prescription room. Rows of ground glass-stoppered bottles filled with drugs of every description and labels that would stump a Latin scholar. Today the modern drug store is a vastly different institution. Merchandise has been improved, values are greater.
