

Drennan Cited As Clarendon's Citizen Of Year

R.E. Drennan, venerable educator and civic personality, was honored Tuesday night, October 28, at the Lions Club Ladies Night by the presentation of the Citizen of the Year Award.

After finishing high school in the first decade of the 1900's, Mr. Drennan took a teacher's examination, passed it and began his teaching career at 18 years of age. He taught school in Tulsa, on the south plains, where he finished high school, for six years.

When his sweetheart finished high school they were married and went to Elmore City, Oklahoma where he taught from 1914 to 1920.

Elmer and Minnie Drennan moved back to Texas and he joined the school system at Lelia Lake in Donley County. Drennan replaced one of several teachers who had been run off by the students. He decided to stay and subdued the rebellious element by whatever methods he felt were most appropriate at the time. Soon the school became an institution of learning again and he remained there for several years before going to Jericho.

Clarendon Draws 2nd In TIL

At the University Interscholastic League contests in Canyon October 28, the Clarendon Band was one of four to win a second place.

Mark Mauldin, band director said the judges were very strict on their rating and he was proud of his students. In all fairness to the band members he believes they had reached their peak performance several weeks ago and it was a difficult thing to maintain that peak.

The ratings were five for first place, four for second place and five for third place. Clarendon had 65 students present at the contests representing Clarendon's Band.

The judging panel was composed of three judges. One of these gave Clarendon a first place rating and the other two gave a second place rating.

Rock, Roll Concert On Tap Here

The Music and Drama Department of Clarendon College are presenting the popular rock-and-roll performance group "CHRISTOPHER" in a special concert on Thursday, November 6, 1975 at the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center on the campus. The two-hour performance will be in concert style and will begin at 8:30. With one brief intermission, the concert will be over around 10:30 p.m. Tickets will be available through the Bookstore at Clarendon College and also at the College's Main Office. Ticket prices are $1.75 for general admission seats. College students are admitted for $1.00 with their activity card. Tickets will be available at the door.

"CHRISTOPHER" is a four piece band based in Portales, New Mexico. They have been performing for about ten years and are well-known throughout the southwest for their stage concerts. They are noted performers of rock-and-roll and progressive country music.

This concert, if well attended, will be the first in a continuing series sponsored by the Music and Drama departments of the College in an effort to bring top-quality performers to the youth of our area at reasonable prices.

We Want Your Old Photographs

In keeping with the bicentennial theme old pictures are being used in the Clarendon Press.

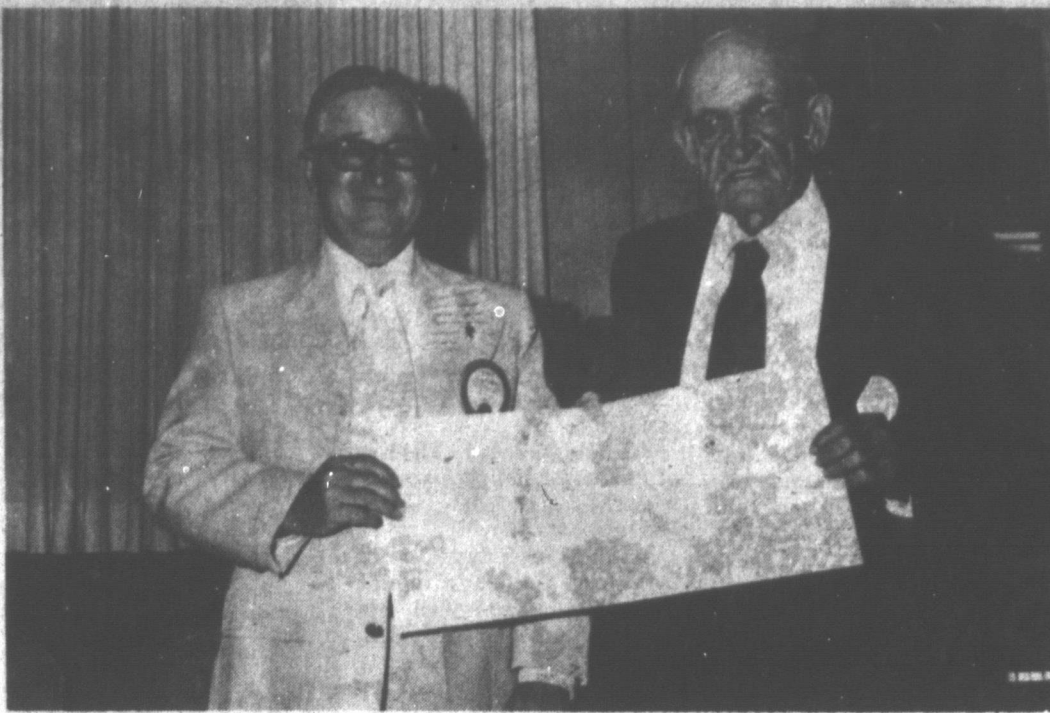

Anyone having pictures of this nature they would like to see printed may contact the Press. The pictures would be on loan for a short time and returned.

Currently the series is being sponsored by the Donley County Bank.

Teaching was not his chosen profession as yet and while he taught in Jericho, he enrolled in Clarendon College, a Methodist school. He returned to the Lelia Lake school for the second time and taught there until the Clarendon school system hired him.

Clarendon schools had the same problem the Lelia Lake school had when Elmer Drennan went there the first time. The school was run by a group of roughs who ran

BRONCHOS TO TRY "WHEELER-DEALER"

The Clarendon Broncos will be looking to up their District standing to 6-0 when they journey to Wheeler Friday night to tangle with the Mustangs. Wheeler stands 2-2 in District play and 3-4 for the season. The Broncos are 4-0 in District play and 5-1-1 for the season.

Wheeler was the Cinderella team of the Panhandle last fall. After being picked last, they finished in a tie for the District runner-up spot with a 6-4 record.

The Mustangs All-District selection Jim Verden (6-3, 234, Jr.) is a prominent figure in the Mustang attack this season. Verden scored touchdowns last fall and rushed for 960 yards. Joining Jim at the other tackle will be Ricky Markham (5-10, 166, Jr.).

The end positions will be handled by two Senior lettermen in Ken Elliott (5-10, 153, Sr.) and Robert Wills (5-11, 158, Sr.).

Centering duties for the Mustangs will belong to Bill McIlhenny (5-9, 162, Sr.).

Tommy Weaver (5-10, 143, Sr.), Mark Barker (5-9, 136, Jr.), Jeff Davis (6-2, 177, Soph.) and Kervin Frankenberg (5-6, 133, Jr.) will be for the starting guard position.

Wheeler returned four backs, each with a considerable amount of playing time. They are quarterback Don Brown (5-11, 166, Jr.), fullback David Massick (6-0, 185, Jr.), wingback Terry Tidwell (5-4, 135, Sr.) and tailback Danny Helton (5-11, 162, Jr.).

The Mustangs defeated LeFors, Claude, McLean, this season, losing to Canadian, Groom, Wellington, and Shamrock.

"The Mustangs are a much better team than their record shows," states Wilson. "We're gonna have to play well to win." Game time 7:30.

REV. GORDON OGLESBY AND POODLE the little silver gray dog lost in Clarendon in June of this year.

The Dog-Gondest Tale!

Lost Poodle Finds "Good Samaritan"

Last June a woman traveling with two young girls and a small silver gray poodle stopped in Clarendon at a service station and a Juniors Food Store before continuing the journey to Idabel, Oklahoma unaware of the dog's absence.

After driving for some miles it was discovered that the canine member of the party was missing and the three travelers returned the one hundred miles to Clarendon in an effort to find their dog. It was to no avail and with heavy hearts the trio once again started for Oklahoma.

For the next three and a half months the small dog getting dirtier and more unkempt by the day, managed

"Doll Up" For Bicentennial

Necklaces, chains for the bicentennial coins have been delivered and may be purchased from either the Donley County or the Farmers State Bank.

The necklaces come in gold or silver and sell for $5 each.

Bicentennial coins are selling well and the Donley County Historical Commission is realizing a profit on the coins. There are some still available if you want one and have not as yet made your purchase. These are also found at either of the banks selling the necklaces.

to forage for himself enough to stay alive.

His plight became apparent when he was seen constantly and efforts were made to catch him. Somehow he eluded everyone and the women at the Charm Beauty Shop began to put out food and water for the little vagabond.

There is no way of knowing what may have happened in a strange and frightening place to make the little Poodle wary of humans but he became a familiar sight down town and at intervals other attempts were made to apprehend him. Once Bob Kidd and his wife almost managed to get him but the fleet footed animal got away. Soon cold weather would be coming and any out of the way place or open building would not provide much shelter for a small dog accustomed to all the comforts of home.

It seems fate intervened and Debbie McCright, employed at Wallace Monument finally caught the errant canine and took him to Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Oglesby to care for. It was about September 15, more than three months from the time the dog was separated from his owners.

Things began looking up right then for Poodle, that was the name on his dog tag, and kept getting even better. He was cleaned up, fed, given his own place to sleep in the bedroom and had the run of the house.

Rev. Oglesby took the information from Poodle's tags called Dr. Charles Deyhle DVM and got the number of a licensing agency and placed a telephone call to Sweet Home, Oregon. The James Collins family, Poodle's owners, had moved out of state according to the information Rev. Oglesby received.

A letter was written to the old address of the Collins family with a request to forward and Rev. and Mrs. Oglesby waited for developments. Meanwhile little Poodle had made friends with Jerry Hicks and the two dogs played together although the play was some times a bit one sided. The Oglesbys discovered Poodle's fondness for hot buttered popcorn and took him to Shamrock for a grooming. He no longer looked the little tramp he was when they got him.

Communication had finally been accomplished when a letter came about the little dog, and Mrs. Collins asked to be contacted by telephone on October 21, and arrangements were made to ship Poodle by Morgan Express to Clarksville, Texas. Because of an embargo he could not be shipped across the state line to Idabel, Oklahoma where the Collins now live. At 8:00 p.m. October 22, Rev. and Mrs. Oglesby sent the small dog they had become so fond of to the family who had missed him acutely since he disappeared in June.

Proposed State Constitution Vote Set Here Tuesday

A move to get out the vote in what has been termed one of the most important elections for Texas in recent history will be concluded next Tuesday when voters go to the polls to make an electoral decision on the proposed Texas Constitution.

While state elected officials have chosen sides and staged an emotional-packed campaign for or against the proposed new state document, voter reaction has been on the negative side and predictions for a light or medium vote.

Voters, most of whom have remained silent about their feelings, will have the opportunity to vote for or against each of the eight separate articles of the proposed Constitution.

Where To Vote

Polls will open at 8:00 a.m. and close at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday November 4.

Business of the Week

Foxworth-Galbraith, Historic Business Here Since Early 1900's

For three quarters of a century Foxworth-Galbraith, venerable Texas organization, has provided its customers with building needs for home and business.

In the past 75 years mules and wagons have been replaced by trucks, boom towns have grown into cities paint has found its way into aerosol cans and less than one company in 10,000 survived 50 years much less 75 years.

Due to the keen perception of the founders combined with the adaptability to necessary two-thirds majority for submission.

Then the 64th session of the Legislature voted in 1975 by a two-thirds vote to submit the new Constitution to the voters, thus giving Texas voters their first opportunity in 100 years to vote on a new Constitution for Texas.

Support for the Constitution is split down uneven lines, and does not necessarily follow any political philosophy.

Both urged voters to get copies of the Constitution and become familiar with it before voting. It is estimated that the state spent more than $4 million in getting the proposed Constitution ready to present to the voter and in

Absentee Voting

Absentee voting will continue through October 31 with 11 votes cast absentee to date. If this is any indication the voter turnout for Election Day November 4 will be very light.

An estimated 52 of the Clarendon voters are likely to vote with a slightly higher percentage, 102 expected for the county wide total.

Brice Church Anniversary Service Sunday

An anniversary service and gospel singing will be held Sunday November 2, at the Brice Baptist Church at the Brice community south of Clarendon on highway 70.

There will be regular services beginning at 10:00 a.m. and after church lunch will be eaten at the church before the afternoon program.

Each family is asked to bring their own lunch to be served from 12 to 1 o'clock.

Rev. Bryan Knowles, pastor will deliver the sermon at the morning service. For the afternoon the Pounds Family of Memphis will provide music along with some other special guests. An old time gospel singing is planned for the enjoyment of those present.

The singing will end early enough for everyone to attend evening services at their own church.

Everyone who enjoys good singing is invited to come and join the Brice church group for fine gospel music.

A special invitation is extended to ex-Brice Church members to visit with friends and enjoy the afternoon.

changing trends by the executives of the organization Foxworth-Galbraith has kept abreast of the times and weathered the trying eras our country has endured since 1901 when the first yard opened for business.

Unusual initiative was shown by W.L. Foxworth, one of the founders, when he was a quarterback with the University of Mississippi. Foxworth weighed 125 pounds the next smallest player weighed 205 pounds and the players on the opposing team were large too. He devised a way to equalize the evident disadvantage. One day he sat down and sewed a suitcase handle on the seat of the big center's football uniform. In close formation in the next game quarterback Foxworth called signals and the center thrust the ball into his hands. With the football in his left hand Foxworth grasped the suitcase handle with his right hand and hung on while the 230-pound center dashed through the line to victory. Foxworth graduated from Mississippi in 1890 and his football days came before modern-day rules and regulations. However resourcefulness is still the name of the game for Foxworth-Galbraith.

H.W. Galbraith, another of the founders was the son of an Episcopal rector who left his home in Carrickmacross, Ireland for the opportunities of America and Texas and thereby presented his son, H.W. Galbraith with the chance to become another business giant.

Texas school children have studied in their economics textbooks about this company Clarendon High School classes have toured the Clarendon store to see the booking system and inventory control in operation. Although building materials for domestic and commercial construction do not vary to a great extent from one yard to another the stock does vary greatly as to industrial or agricultural requirements. Grants, New Mexico Berger and Clarendon yards have very diversified materials for mining, oil and agriculture customers who patronize the

Annual Arthritis Meeting Set For November 8

The Annual Meeting of the West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, the Fifth Annual Physicians' Arthritis Symposium, and a Symposium for Allied Health Professionals in West Texas will all be held Saturday, Nov. 8, 1975 in the beautiful convention facilities of Amarillo's Best Western Villa Inn.

The Annual Meeting of the Arthritis Foundation will start at 9 a.m. with registration. Following will be workshops on volunteer organization along with reports from the Chapter's Planning Committee. The noon luncheon will be followed by a panel of doctors, physical therapists and patients who will discuss and answer questions on arthritis from the members. The annual business session will include election of board members.

Concurrent with the Annual Meeting, doctors from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma will be attending the Fifth Annual Arthritis Symposium on Arthritis in Office Practice, Both Juvenile and Adult Problems. This Symposium will be co-sponsored by the WT Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation and Texas Tech University School of Medicine. The program has been accepted for seven elective hours by the American Academy of Family Physicians and for Category 1 credit on an hour-for-hour basis toward the A.M.A. Physicians Recognition Award. Harold E. Paulus, M.D., associate professor of medicine and head of the Arthritis Clinic, University of California, will head an impressive guest faculty.

Previewing this year will be a separate symposium for all Allied Health Professionals in West Texas. The participants from all three meetings will meet together at 5 p.m. for a social hour which will include an art show and auction. The art show will feature oils, watercolors and copper enamels. One of the large, beautiful oil paintings on display by Mary Hamilton Mitchell, along with other paintings, will go to the highest donation bid to the Arthritis Foundation.

Hiked Legislative Powers Seen In New Constitution

AUSTIN — The chairman of Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution says the campaign to defeat constitutional revision in the November 4 election is gaining ground rapidly with the help of Governor Dolph Briscoe. State Senator Peyton McKnight of Tyler said the Governor's decision to oppose all eight propositions on the ballot "came after his own careful analysis which convinced him the present Constitution is far better than the revised version written by the Legislature."

Citing reports of voter apathy, McKnight called upon Texans to familiarize themselves with the issues and vote next Tuesday. "I believe that most people who study the proposed new constitution will vote against it," he said. "But if a voter hasn't had time to examine every controversial provision, then I think he or she should play it safe and keep our present Constitution by voting no."

In expressing his opposition to the new charter, Governor Briscoe pointed out that Texas has a low per capita tax burden and is the only industrial state without an income tax. He said that annual sessions of the Legislature, as proposed in Proposition One on the ballot, "would make it more difficult to hold the line on new taxes and would lead us down the road to a state income tax."

Briscoe added: "I do not believe that we should move even a small step in the direction of patterning our state government after the federal government, where Congress is in session the year round, accomplishes very little, where accomplishments are slow to come by and where spending is completely out of control."

Proposition Two, revising the judiciary article, has drawn fire from many lawyers because it would put both criminal and civil case appeals in the Supreme Court and would give the Legislature broad new authority to change the election process for judges. Presiding Judge John F. Onion, Jr., of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals says the overall effect of the revision will be to "intensify the traffic jams in our courts, instead of alleviating them."

Other provisions in the new constitution automatically restore voting rights (and the right to hold office) to ex-felons without any administrative or judicial proceeding, abolish the $80 million annual ceiling on welfare, restore the ad valorem tax for the state building program which the voters recently decided to end, and allow cities and counties to incur greater public debt without voter approval (which McKnight called "the little New York" provision).

The Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association and numerous other organizations are opposing the new constitution. The Texas Association of School Boards is against the finance article (Proposition Five), which State Comptroller Bob Bullock describes as "a spook which will haunt us many years." The Texas Association of School Administrators opposes both the finance article and the education article (Proposition Four).

McKnight declared: "The document we will vote on November 4 was written by the Legislature and it increases the Legislature's own power at the expense of the people's presently solid constitutional guarantees. It overturns voter decisions including those in recent years rejecting annual sessions and letting the Legislature set its own pay. It invites costly, lengthy lawsuits in a new overhauled court system to determine what the new laws mean. It changes our basic governmental concept to rule by the Legislature, and can lead only to more government, more spending and higher taxes.

"I don't think the people want to give future Legislatures a blank check, which is what these eight propositions do."

Problems With Proposed Constitution

State Representative W.S. "Bill" Healy of Paducah said today the proposed new State Constitution would create more problems than it would solve and urged Texans to vote against all eight propositions on the Nov. 4th ballot.

"We do not need a full-time legislature," declared Healy. "I think that would cost the taxpayers just about as much, on a proportionate basis, as our full-time Congress. And that really is what Proposition 1 on the ballot would mean."

"Proposition 2 would abolish our Court of Criminal Appeals and force the Supreme Court to hear appeals in both civil and criminal cases. That can only result in slowing down the judicial process."

"You can go down the list, and if you study each proposition carefully, you will discover that this entire rewrite of the Constitution is designed to reduce the people's control over their State Government."

to vote for this proposed Constitution. And even if I did trust the present Legislature with all of the massive powers this Constitution would give to it, I would have to balk when I realized that the complexity of the legislature can be changed by the voters every two years."

"We have the best State Government in the Nation now, in my opinion. I do not think we could improve it by changing the Constitution to remove the ceiling on Welfare spending, to remove the ceiling on taxes required to finance the debts of Local Government, to remove the ceiling on the State's contributions to state employee and teacher retirement funds — and, most of all, to remove the right of the people to set the ceiling on the salaries of Legislators."

"If we really do need to do some of the things this new Constitution would authorize, such as relaxing the present prohibition against lotteries, let's do them one at a time — not in one fell swoop."

"I don't think the people of Texas are ready to turn over to the Legislature the power to call itself into Session and set the salaries of its own members and at the same time give it almost unlimited authority to regulate health care, environmental projects, land reclamation, navigation, recycling of wastes, energy resources, gambling, and state employee and teacher retirement funds."

"The present Constitution has been construed and interpreted by the Supreme Court of Texas and we know what it means. If the new one should be adopted it would cost a tremendous amount of money and we would be a half-century before we would know how the Supreme Court would construe and interpret the new Document."

"This is why I agree with Governor Briscoe that all eight propositions on the November 4th ballot should be defeated," said Mr. Healy.

Good Farm Management Vital Today

The farmer who mismanages his finances may be forced out of business, cautions Ronald Gooch, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

It is much easier to go broke today than it was some years ago because the keys to success are shifting from land and labor to capital and management.

Farmers today rely much more heavily on purchased inputs and heavy machinery investments, points out Gooch.

And, financial statements play a vital role today. These should include net worth, profit and loss, and cash flow statements. Gooch explains that most farm financial problems arise because too little cash is generated after expenses to cover both living costs and current debt commitments.

A general financial picture requires the farm's current net worth analysis and profit and loss statement.

CC Student Sees Indian Culture As Christianty

Stephen Wilson, a member of the Cherokee Indian Nation and the Katoo Clan has chosen the study and rehabilitation of persons of his own ethnic background as a career.

Like the majority of Americans today, Steve is not of pure blood but inherits his Indian blood from both his mother and father. He is entitled to vote for the Cherokee tribal chief in the state of Oklahoma in Indian Territory and to free hospitalization in the state of Oklahoma.

At an early age Steve became interested in his historic ancestry and his father told him much of the background of their Indian culture and helps keep the heritage alive. Steve explained with pride that Katoo means 'long keeper of the old ways' in the Cherokee language.

When he was six years old Steve visited an Apache reservation where his uncle was a Baptist Missionary, became vitally interested in his own lineage, accepted Christ and joined the church. The experience was the most momentous of his life. Paradoxically the setting among the Apaches, considered by early settlers in this country to be one of the most aggressive tribes, was the place where Steve found tranquility of mind at such a tender age.

An illustrious ancestor was Sequoia, (the teacher) who wrote the Cherokee alphabet. Sequoia was called the Indian Moses and he used his influence to keep the peace on the terrible march from Georgia when 98 percent of the Cherokee Nation was moved to Indian Territory in eastern Oklahoma in 1831.

Wilson has lived, talked and studied on the Wennebago, Navaho, Apache, Sioux, Rosebud, Santee, and Omaha reservations in the summers. While there he took part in some ceremonies. The result is an

By JEANICE WEATHERLY awareness of ones self, of others, the environment and life in general.

"My conclusion is," stated Steve, "that Indian culture is Christianity, the tenets of Indians are so much like those we learn from the Bible—treat your enemy as a brother, practice respect of everything, other people, the land, flora and fauna."

This philosophy has been summed up by a friend who is a full blood Cherokee Indian in a beautiful way. "When the sun goes down each day, remember the things you have learned and experienced."

The ancient craft of horn jewelry is one of Wilson's principal interests. This art is an exacting and for Steve a rewarding one. One of the oldest arts forms of primitive man, horn and bone jewelry predates the silver and turquoise variety by many many years. Wilson makes his jewelry from thin slices of raw horn which is soaked in water over night before the center is painstakingly hollowed out by hand with a sharp knife. Some of the slices are only smoothed enough to remove rough edges before being combined with colored beads, also hollowed out by hand, and strung on leather thongs to become unique necklaces. Other horn beads are given more buffing and when the weathered stain is removed the beads look like ivory. This procedure requires a lot of time, 45 minutes to an hour for each one, but the results are worth it.

Of particular interest is Wilson's own medicine necklace, fashioned from points of the European Red Stag and containing 58 rings at present. The rich ivory colored rings are in graduated sizes and strung on a slender leather thong and took something like 58 hours of work. The Indian medicine necklace has great significance since the Indian believes it contains the strength of the animal from which its components are made. For that reason it is understandable that bear claws, eagle talons and elk horns are used so much.

Steve has a medicine pouch too, made of powdered bone, eagle feather, bear claw, and rattlesnake bone. A medicine pouch varies from one individual to another.

Horns used in the jewelry making come from a local source. Steve Wilson is the nephew of John Lee Bell of Pampa, owner of the Horn B game preserve a few miles from Clarendon. All of the horns from Fallow Deer, Sika, European Red Stag and others come from the shed, broken or dehorned horns of animals on the refuge. There is a fairly rare variety of black horn that is used also.

The necklaces have proved to be extremely popular with the college and high school students and other persons lucky enough to have seen them. Steve has displayed his craft at the Indian Store at Tahlequah, Oklahoma and at Whitman's Store in Vian, Oklahoma. One sale was made to some young persons from Muncie, Germany who had been looking for something out of the ordinary to take back to Germany.

Several offers have been made for the medicine necklace, one for $75 which Wilson declined. He plans to add more beads to it as time permits. A museum has a similar one made by a Sioux of domestic elk horn measuring 16 feet and taking 14 years to complete.

Detroit, Michigan was Steve Wilson's birthplace. His father was stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base where he was a pharmacist. For the past 18 years his parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Wilson have made their home in Pampa. Steve is a sophomore student at Clarendon Junior College.

Upon completion of his Sophomore year at Clarendon Junior College he plans to enter North Eastern State University at Tahlequah, Oklahoma. There, Steve will be working with the Cherokee Rehabilitation Center, representing the five civilized Indian Tribes. This has been a life long ambition, to be able to help those who are his brothers and with whom he has felt so comfortable from childhood, whose problems and aspirations are also his.

Friends Are Wonderful

Friends are so wonderful. They are the icing on the cake of life. Uncle Zeb...

Anyway, this is what we were saying as we opened our mail the last few weeks and read the things folks said as we heard from many that had seen our little book of "Uncle Zeb's Memories." Uncle Zeb loves The Cake of LIVING, and you our Readers are the ICING...God Bless You...

A friend from Clarendon didn't sign the note, but sent the following, their favorite and ours from the pen of Edwin Markham, and closed with this "Thanks For Sharing Memories."

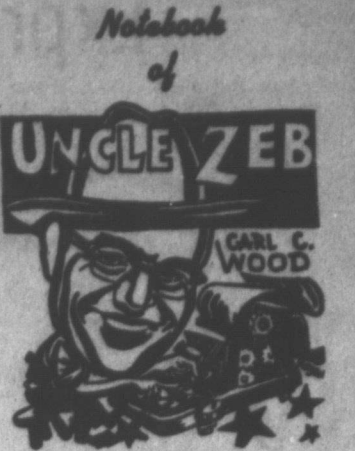

"There is a destiny that makes us brothers None goes his way alone. All that we send into the lives of others Comes back into our own....."

Wish you had signed it... A nearby friend handed me this—"We the willing, led by the unknowing are doing the impossible, for the ungrateful...We have done so much for so long with so little...We are qualified to do anything with nothing!!! I almost know folks like that..."

We found the following between the leaves of my wife's Christmas Card address book: "I heard a bird sing in the dark of December; A magical thing and so sweet to remember." And also this gem: "Time changes, and we with Time, But, not in the ways of FRIENDSHIP...She loved her friends, so do we..."

My 85 year young retired preacher who printed all of us so many pretty book marks is in a Rest Home...Do write to him....He says: "Memories" is our best... Write him Rev. Evarett Mills, 347 W. Hickory St., Lancaster, Wis. 53813....He is a dear one. He tells me he loves me and prays for me. Thanks to God.

I love my home town. Part of my love for it is because it is small. When I said some thing like that the other day we almost ran head-on into an argument with the Chamber of Commerce...I don't want that...I would love for all my friends to live near me...All my loved ones so close by, but if I should suddenly become extra large, I would want to move to a small town. Please help me...Just how large can a Small Home Town be and still seem small, for the best letter we will send one of our books....

Texans:

If you are tired of bigger government and higher taxes, vote NO on the proposed new constitution November 4.

Don't give future Legislatures a blank check.

The Houston Chronicle calls the new constitution "a dangerous document." Governor Dolph Briscoe warns it will "lead us down the road to a state income tax."

Governor Briscoe says: "It is my personal view that the current Constitution under which Texas has grown and prospered for a century is preferable to the proposed new constitution. Accordingly, I believe it is in the best interest of Texas that all eight propositions on the ballot be rejected."

Play it safe. Keep our present Constitution by voting NO on Tuesday, November 4.

The Pre-Halloween Dance last Saturday night drew a good crowd and marked the beginning of the holiday season. We are planning more of these special nights throughout the fall.

Don't forget these two important dates—Thursday, Nov. 6 and Wed., Nov. 12. The first one is next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the night that our meeting with the FHA officials comes off. We need all the stockholders we can get so make it a point to attend and hear our future plans. Then Wednesday, Nov. 12 is Family Night with a buffet and games in store for you. Come out and enjoy this get together.

Y knot twirlers

The Y-Knot Twirlers danced October 21 to Freddie McKee. George and Rita Shields provided refreshments.

The class will not be held at this time. Numerous conflicts dictate a later date. Announcement will be made when we'll have lessons.

Dance time will be 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday evening.

No dance will be held October 28. We resume November 4 to Freddie McKee. He's got lots of new records so come on down and let's dance at 8:00.

Bronchos Nudge Memphis 14-13

Clarendon Bronchos defeated the Memphis Cyclones, 14-13, last Friday night in what was Clarendon's most impressive showing of the season. The Bronchos won the coin toss and elected to receive.

Howard Weatherston received the kick off and returned it to the Clarendon 34 yard line. From that point, with the offensive line opening gaping holes it took the Bronchos only five plays to reach paydirt. The touchdown came on a 35 yard keeper around the right side by quarterback Gary Jack. Jack added the extra point with 9:42 still left in the first quarter. After an exchange of punts the Cyclones cranked up a 8 play 28 yard drive which terminated when they fumbled on the Clarendon 15 yard line. Bronchos could maintain possession only four plays when they returned the favor and fumbled the ball back to the Cyclones on their own 27 yard line. The Cyclones picked up a first and goal on the 9 yard line and 2 running plays moved the ball to the three. It was one of the best defensive efforts of the season, the Broncho defense stopped Memphis on two consecutive running plays and gained possession of the ball. The Bronchos, however, failed to move the ball and were forced to punt. The kick traveled only 23 yards before going out of bounds and the Cyclones were in offensive business again. Not to be denied, it took Memphis only six plays to move 23 yards for their first tally. The score came on a fourth down 6 yard run around the right side. After the extra point the score was deadlocked with 7:00 to go in first half. Following the Memphis kickoff Clarendon failed to move the ball and was forced to punt. The Cyclones made one first down and punted the ball back to the Bronchos. With the clock running out in the first half it took the Bronchos just three plays to score. The touchdown came on a 14 yard run by halfback Barry Shaffer. Jack added the extra point making it 14-7 with just 1:20 left in the first half. Although both teams were able to move the ball well during the third quarter, most of the offense was in the middle of the field and the third quarter ended with the score unchanged. Clarendon was moving the ball well at the beginning of the fourth quarter. The Bronchos had a fourth down on their own 27 when they decided to try a field goal. The attempt which would have just about iced things at this point failed just short and Memphis gained possession. Memphis got the ball with 6:53 left to play. At this point Memphis began a 16 play 71 yard march to a touchdown that left them trailing 14-13 with 40 seconds left in the game. After a Cyclone time-out with the game riding on their decision, the Memphis team lined up for a 2 point conversion. On what appeared to be a busted play, the Broncho defensive held and the game was decided. Memphis tried an onside kick, which Clarendon recovered and all that remained was for quarterback Jack to receive two snaps from center and run out the remaining time. In the post game interview Coach Wilson had this to say, "We were so pleased with everyone. It was a great victory." Wilson cited Ricky Mooring, John Hall and Eddy Eads as defensive standouts along with Barry Shaffer and Gary Jack for their fine offensive efforts. Jack rushed for a total of 91 yards in 15 carries. The Bronchos next outing will be Friday night when they travel to Wheeler looking to up their District standing to 5-0. Game time 7:30.

Stray Dogs Kill Ag Farm Pigs

In two separate incidents within the same week, dogs killed four head of swine at the Clarendon High School Agriculture Department farm on the north side of town.

On the first night one of the animals was killed and two nights later the three remaining pigs were also mutilated and killed by the dogs.

There was no insurance carried on the animals and the loss was borne by the Ag. Students themselves. These were to have been show animals and the initial cost was $75 per animal. Milton Mann, agriculture teacher, estimated the boys would have broken if they had been able to feed the project animals out and sell them for 140 to 150 dollars a head. Had one of them become a champion the loss would have been much greater. All of the animals had been purchased in Iowa one Poland China, one Chester White and two Berkshires and any one of them had the potential for breed champion.

The FFA chapter owned one of the pigs and the others belonged to Steve Rives, Keith Floyd and Bob Berry. This is not the first time the agriculture department has suffered such a loss, three years ago the same thing happened to animals at the farm.

Recently 20 or 30 dogs had been destroyed in the vicinity and it was hoped the danger from them was gone. It is not known whether the dogs were running as a pack or not since no one was around to view the slaughter, but it is definite that several were involved.

FHA Making Emergency Loans To Farmers In Panhandle Areas

The Farmers Home Administration is now making emergency loans in Armstrong and Gray Counties in Texas. This action is possible because these counties were declared a natural disaster area by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. J. Lynn Futch, state director of FMHA, said adverse weather conditions this year have caused extensive damage to local crops and farm production.

Farmers or ranchers in the designated counties who have suffered losses may be eligible for Farmers Home Administration emergency loans to cover actual physical or production losses. Other loans under the emergency program can be made for annual operating expenses or to make major adjustments to the operation.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home until December 22, 1975, for physical losses and July 23, 1976, for production losses.

Loan funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts, or to replace damaged or destroyed buildings, including homes.

Emergency loans are repayable as soon as possible consistent with the repayment ability of borrowers, Mr. Futch said. Loans beyond actual losses have various maturities, depending upon the purpose of the loan. Loans covering actual losses are repayable in their entirety at an interest rate of five per cent. Other loans will be made a current interest rates for long-term or short-term credit.

To be eligible for a loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from this disaster and have no other means of recovery or sources of credit.

Loans are made through offices of the Farmers Home Administration serving designated counties. Mr. Robert A. Keown is the County Supervisor for Gray and Armstrong Counties and his office hours are as follows. Pampa office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon on the second and fourth Thursday of each month at the Courthouse Annex. Claude office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon on the first and third Wednesday of each month at the Courthouse. McLean office hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon on the fourth Wednesday of each month at the City Hall. In addition, office hours in Clarendon are from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. each Friday afternoon at the Agricultural Building.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F.O. Hodge last weekend were their daughters Lovelle Parker and sons of Irving and Sue Cosper and children of Hereford.

Miss Sharon Grady of Amarillo spent the weekend in Clarendon with her mother, Mrs. Johnny Grady. Florence Baker returned Saturday from a ten day trip. She went home with a niece from Omaha, Neb., and drove along the Plate River. From there she flew to Las Vegas, Nev. with her niece and husband where they attended a national convention for retarded children.

While they were at the convention Florence made a tour to Hoover Dam and attended two good shows, Andy Williams and the Lennon Sisters at the Caesar's Palace.

From there she flew to Grand Junction where she visited a nephew, Bill Hams. While she was there it snowed. She returned home Saturday convinced that everyone should go to Las Vegas once, but once is enough.

E.V. Quattlebaum has returned home from the Hall County Hospital and is doing very well.

Rock And Roll Group To Be Here In Special Concert

Joe Robinson and his son Jim Robinson of Clarendon have consigned bulls to become part of the 140 day feed test under way at the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo (Pantes.)

Eighty-eight bulls, representing Herefords, Angus, Santa Gertrudis, Charolais and cross-breeds have begun the feed test.

There are 26 Herefords, 23 Angus, three Charolais, one Santa Gertrudis and 35 cross-bred bulls which began the test Oct. 9, according to Nolan Poteet, director of the annual performance test.

The bulls are tested for their ability to gain weight on feed. They will be sold at the annual field day and performance tested bull sale at Pantex to be held at the center east of Amarillo March 11, 1976.

Records are kept and provided for prospective buyers on all animals which tell their daily gain, weight at the beginning and end of the test, and other information pertinent to their ability to convert feed into meat.

"All bulls are in good shape and have had no problems other than minor stress," Poteet said. "Weather has been good and they are on feed good. I feel that the quality of the bulls is much better than any year that I have been associated with the test."

The bulls are consigned to the center by "cooperators" for the test and are auctioned at the sale.

Herefords have been consigned by Bob Andrews of Olney, the Barber Ranch of Channing, Bankwright and Son of Hereford, Batem Rancy of Dalhart and Clarence Mason of Muleshoe Angus by Worth Jones of Hart, Harold O'Neal of Panhandle, Patrice Shadid of Panhandle, Henry Leven of Panhandle, Hinkson-Lust of Lubbock and Duane Jenkins of Higgins; Santa Gertrudis by Bryon Thoms of White Deer; Charolais by Vernon Wilhelm of Happy; and crossbreeds by Henry Fields of Claude, Circle J Cattle Company of Claude, Joe Robinson and Jim Robinson of Clarendon, Champion Creek Cattle Company of Colorado City, Harlan Barber of Hereford, Barbour and Howell of Tulsa, Adams Simmentals of Bard, N.M., and Charles Burk of Panhandle.

STAR-SPANGLED HISTORY

HISTORICAL DRAWINGS BY JOSEPH BOGGS BEALE (1841-1928)

"BALBOA DISCOVERS PACIFIC"

The Spanish explorer, Vasco Nunez de Balboa, was the first European to set eyes on the Pacific Ocean. Balboa and his group of men first sighted the body of water from a mountaintop in what is today Panama. They reached the waters four days later on September 29, 1513. Balboa named the South Sea and claimed all of its shores for Spain. (It was Magellan, on his round-the-world voyage, who named the ocean "Pacific.") company at these places. Springing up like mushrooms after a shower company yards appeared all over the panhandle and in the oil fields during the oil boom and the rapidly growing area in the Texas panhandle. When the boom was over the need for so many yards was gone and the company closed or moved the facilities to other lucrative locations. On occasion the same yard was opened again if business warranted. This practice is the result of the farsightedness of the management personnel.

Clarendon has had a Foxworth-Galbraith yard in Clarendon since the early 1900's and the original store stood on the location where Clarendon Meat Company is at present. Wm. Cameron & Co. sold their yard here and Foxworth-Galbraith bought the property and moved to that location, the present site of Foxworth-Galbraith.

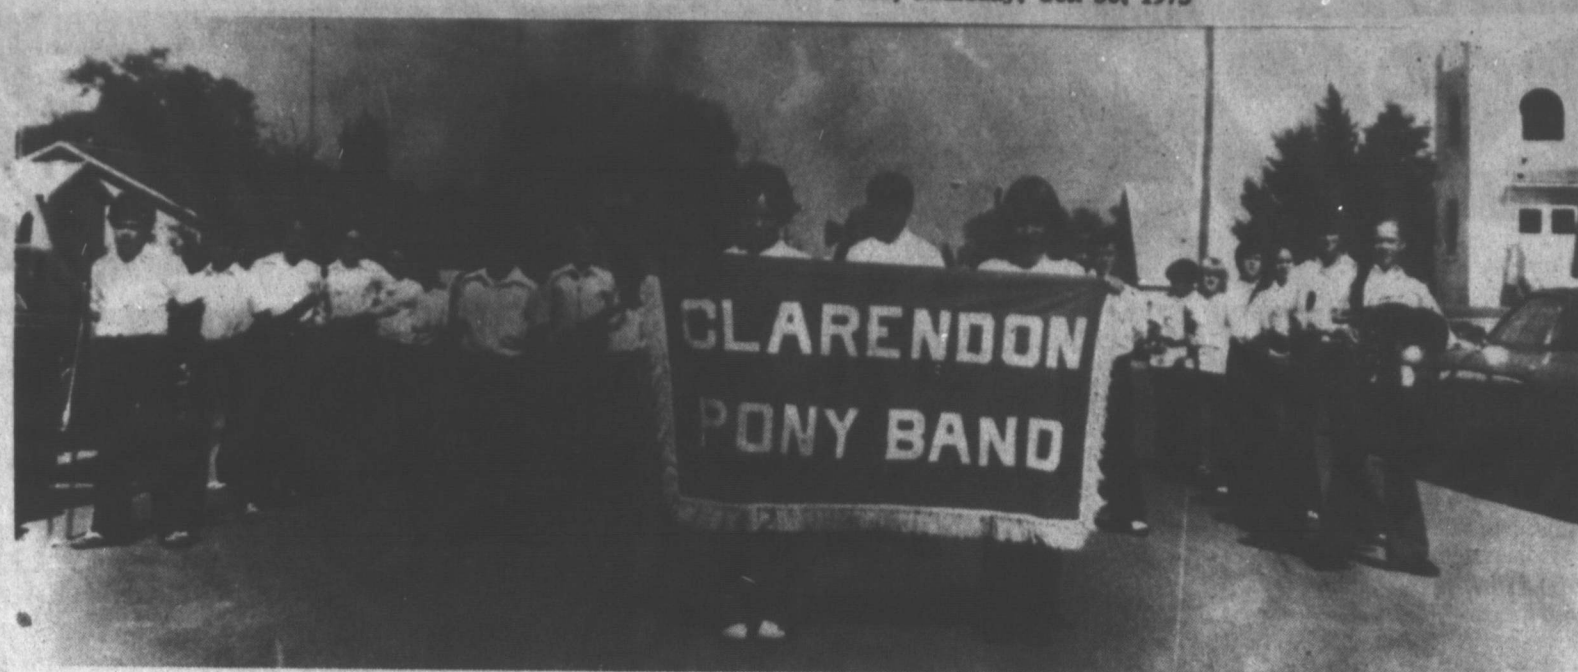

One of 50 outlets the Clarendon store is best described as a "Building Materials Center" and is one of "the people helpers" in this community as it has been for a long time.

Lloyd McCord has been an employee of the company for 17 years acting as assistant manager much of the time prior to December 1, 1967 when he accepted the managership for Foxworth-Galbraith when the manager was transferred to the Spearman yard. The Clarendon store has enjoyed steady growth in the past eight years and the prospects for many more years of customer service are certain.

McCord is married to the former Frances Hearn and they have three children, Mary Louise Price of Santee, California, Sue Hardy, of Floydada and Lloyd Lynn of Clarendon and five grandchildren.

Kenneth Jones the other employee of the company has been with the firm two years and came to Clarendon from Memphis.

CLARENDON PONY BAND newly organized this year appeared for the first time at the Hedley Cotton Festival.

conducting the state-wide elections.

The major points of the new Constitution to be considered have been stated as follows:

ANNUAL SESSIONS

Legislative sessions on odd numbered years would be 140 days and on even number days would be 90 days. Those for insist Texas is large enough that it needs yearly planning, especially in financial and budget matters. Those against say the added expense of yearly session would be too high and local government don't need the added rules from the state.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

The new Constitution allows voters to add, eliminate or combine local elected offices, mainly on the county level. Those for say one taxing agency could be created, or certain local officers done away with. One of the strongest voices against this article is the association of county judges and commissioners.

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Implementing the new constitution is expected to cost several million should it pass. Opponents also insist the daily operation under the new constitution will be much higher. Persons for it insist the state government will be more efficient and thus save money and provide better services.

TAX CHANGE—the new constitution would allow the Legislature to set a standard for taxing farm and ranch land whereby the land would be valued on its productivity, not to exceed its actual market value. Also to be exempt under the retail sales tax would be feed, seed, fertilizer and farm machinery as is in the present constitution.

"SELF DESTRUCT" for state agencies—Under the new Constitution all state agencies would last only 10 years and have to appear before the Legislature for renewal each 10 years. Those for say many state agencies are not accountable to anyone and thus become too independent because offices are for life and they need to be responsible every 10 years to make them more responsive to the people. Persons against insist this puts too much power in the hands of a few legislators.

LEGISLATORS' SALARIES—Would be set by a Salary Commission and approved by the Legislators. Could be lowered but not raised by the Legislature.

The question and answer session lasted about two hours and Laney announced another one would be held in Plainview at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Hale County State Bank Centennial room sponsored by the Altrusa Club.

Short School Board Meeting

Short and sweet might best describe the October 9 school board meeting according to information from the office of the superintendent of schools.

Current bills were disposed of and it was voted to run an ad for the sale of some property before the meeting adjourned.

off every teacher who came.

They needed R.E. Drennan.

The solution was simple. All that was necessary was for Drennan to prove he was rougher and tougher than the boys. It took some fighting, bruising and other unorthodox methods to accomplish this but in the end there was no question as to who the boss was, it was Elmer Drennan.

Not only was he the boss but he possessed an amazing ability for running. He has been reputedly matched against a race horse, locomotive and a professional speedster. According to all accounts the outcome did nothing to diminish his reputation.

Still not converted to teaching as a career Drennan entered Oklahoma University as a pre-med student. He received his B.S. degree but found he was not fitted for a medical career. He returned to Clarendon and resumed his teaching and spent the summers working toward his Masters.

The following years were spent in dedicated service in the educational profession as a teacher, Dean of Clarendon Junior College and friend of high school and college students.

Mr. Drennan has earned and received all of the certificates available to public schools, and studied regularly to keep abreast of changing policies within the educational system. He was a dedicated educator and a Phi Theta Kappa.

After his retirement from the educational field in 1958 he served as county judge of Donley for 12 years. As long as he was in office he never had an opponent. Drennan retired as county judge December 31, 1970.

Today his "office" is down town in the mornings and he reads the paper and visits with friends. In the afternoons he goes to the farm and tends the cattle he runs, doing the feeding, fence mending and whatever chores happen to need doing at the moment.

Mr. Drennan is a member of the Board of Regents of Clarendon Junior College having served on it since its formation.

Other awards were given for perfect attendance and included Billy Ray Johnston, P.C. Messer and George Wayne Estlack, two years award; R.E. Drennan, four years award; Allen Estlack, five years award; J.H. Spier, 22 years award; Homer Estlack, 29 years award; and Carl Allmond, 31 years award.

Mr. Drennan received the Citizen of the Year Award from last year's award winner, Homer Estlack.

Darell Harper and other sales personnel at Chamberlain's have made it work beautifully. At Chamberlain's our sales representatives do not really "sell." We are simply the guys who get you together with the car you really want. Training is a big part of the picture because the staff at Chamberlain's makes it a point to know every car we sell, every new feature not only on our cars but other makes and models as well. We make it a point to see that you get exactly what you want, down to the exact color of paint and the trim on the back door. Here's how we do it:

(1) ON THE SPOT DELIVERY—At Chamberlain's we carry just about as big a selection of cars and pickups as you will find anywhere. At the peak of our inventory you can select from some 150 new models and as many as 50 good, clean used cars. They are here for your personal inspection and test driving.

(2) COMPUTERIZED CAR LOCATER LIST—If the car you want is not on our lot, we have access to literally thousands of cars available for immediate delivery. Our sales staff will take all of the information you provide and more than likely our computer will find "your car" from another dealer in this area of the Southwest.

(3) CUSTOM ORDERS—If you still have something more specific in mind, we have the ultimate answer—a custom order from the factory. This way, you can have exactly what you want down to the most minute detail. Delivery requires about five to six weeks but many times if you can anticipate your wants, we can still have it on the day you want it.

CUSTOMERIZED SERVICE—This is why Chamberlain Motor Co. has satisfied customers coming back year after year. Many times they return to the same salesman who over the years has come to appreciate the kind of car they want. With our own "follow through" system, our salesman will not only help a customer make his or her selection but will follow through with the necessary paper work and even financing if needed. In this way the customer has every detail in purchasing a car handled by one person.
