SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Range Seeding

Nearly any expert can tell us what should not have been done in connection with much of our wind blown Great Plains land. Some of it should never have been plowed. The fact remains that it has been plowed and it is up to us to try to correct the mistake and return this land to a stable condition covered with useful plants.

To begin a systematic procedure of re-establishing grasses in this area, it is necessary to recognize certain factors of nature, namely very high wind velocities and long periods of drought. So in planting grass, we must bear these factors in mind. A good dead litter cover is a must in grass seeding in order to get maximum protection from wind erosion. Also, a good litter will gather and hold more moisture which will be available for the young grass seedlings when sown. When planting grasses one should plant a mixture that was formerly adapted to that type of soil. Short grasses generally grow better on deep, fine, and medium textured soils and the midgrasses generally do better on deep, moderately coarse textured soils. For deep, coarse textured soils, the tall grass group is best adapted.

Your local Soil Conservation Service can assist you in working out a good sound grass mixture to fit the needs of the land.

fifteenth century the Bible was "The best seller," and now in the twentieth century, even though it competes with approximately 7500 new books each year, it still remains the best seller.

Bella Dodd, a prominent New York attorney and educator, wrote recently in Guideposts magazine that she believed that this crusade to take God and prayer out of our schools was a part of a conspiracy against God. Their goal is to be the making of our country into a Godless Nation. She speaks with authority as she was once both a member of this crusade and also of the Communist Party. His reason being that he had been borrowing from this column for years. He ends his letter "Keep on Blowin' Unk." We consider it an honor to be quoted by Mr. Foehner, and I guess after all this time we might as well keep Blowin'.

LIBRARY NOTES:

EDITH BARNES

Mrs. Goodner sent her usual generous check for Christmas for books for Tom's memorial shelf.

A memorial gift has been given to the library to be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Self, mother of Mrs. W. R. Christal.

It is not too late in the New Year to make a resolution, this one would be practically painless to keep, "I will quit practicing useless and stupid practices."

Doctor Alvarez in his "Incurable Physician" has this to say: "Nothing sticks harder or longer in this world than a stupid and useless practice. Even we learned physicians will sometimes fight for our right to follow some 5,000-year-old bit of stupidity."

One of the better books to be written about Texas lately is "Come To The Bower" by J. Y. Bryan who got his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Arizona and his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa. Whether or not he was ever in Texas, before he came here to get the material for his book, I could not say.

His historical background is correct and ever so much more interesting than most that we get from history books. A for instance is that the battle of the Alamo we are all familiar with was the second one. In the first one we won and drove the Mexicans out.

"Come To The Bower" is first and foremost a love story.

Quoting: "Thus the opening of this large scale, richly eventful novel leads into a drama of great conflict, on the battlefield and in the human heart. The flaming events of the Texan war for independence, from the Alamo to the final struggle at San Jacinto... are magnificently detailed."

"The peerless excitement of the novel lies in several things: the sense of historic truth about what really happened, in human terms, during those desperate months; the feeling of identification with the thoughts and actions, the manner of life, of the many characters, both real and fictional, that crowd its pages; and the total involvement with the spirit and the ideals of a time and misery and glory."

Burt Lancaster's new movie "The Leopard" is making quiet a name for itself. The book, the only one written by the author and published after his death is in the library.

Shanghai Pierce, a giant Texas cattleman known for his unusually loud voice, could stand on the front porch and bellow orders to the men at work at the cattle pens, a mile away.

Beautiful floors will lose their bloom if not cared for properly, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension Service home management specialist. All floors cannot be treated alike, and the trick is to learn and use materials and methods which are effective for each type of floor.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Austin has settled back to being just the capital of Texas after nearly two hectic weeks news-wise as the vacation White House.

Dozens of top cabinet officers, military leaders and federal agency heads followed German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and his advisors to the LBJ Ranch for conferences with President Lyndon Johnson.

Encouraging predictions of progress toward world peace emerged from the President's international discussions. The federal budget and economy were spotlighted in the domestic talks.

Before he departed, White House sources gave these insights into the President's thinking:

He does not feel the U.S. can drag its feet until after elections this year before pressing for new peace breakthroughs.

He regards civil rights and the $11,000,000 tax cut as legislative "musts." Also, he has expressed support for the medicare program of aid to the aged.

Reducing the budget to save money for essential human needs, including education, is regarded by the President as of concern to all Americans. He hopes cost cutting will serve as a pattern for future years.

Slum clearance and "a home for every American" are seen as goals of his administration. Some newsmen interpreted this as a likely 1964 campaign slogan.

Johnson hopes to steadily improve American preparedness. But he is strong for elimination of military obsolescence, particularly old bases and installations retained in the budget for political reasons.

Congressional leaders will run their own legislative show. But the new President won't hesitate to ask old congressional friends for what he thinks is needed.

Johnson hopes to draw on the talents of both business and labor to render public service.

He is concerned about unemployment and is calling for new solutions.

PRISON POPULATION REDUCED — For the first time in 18 years, the number of prisoners in the Texas Department of Corrections shows a decrease.

Department Director Dr. George Beto reports that the December 31 count was 12,150, compared with 12,203 the year before. Since 1945, there has been a steady climb in number of prisoners.

Beto cited these reasons for leveling off: more adequate parole supervision; opening of a new first-offender unit; a pre-release program of preparing prisoners for freedom; an expanded trusty program; and overall improvement in the prison treatment program.

Prison chief said the reduction not only will save money on prison care, but also in welfare funds spent on families of inmates, not to mention restoring prisoners to productive lives as citizens and taxpayers.

PRISON SYSTEM INCOME — Farm products and livestock produced more than $6,500,000 of the prison system's 1962 income, according to the auditor's report just released. Other sources were: manufactured products, $3,704,616 oil and gas leases, $39,237; miscellaneous, $3,287,167.

Report placed total income from farms and farm industries at $10,144,773, with expenses of $14,304,734 for a deficit of $4,159,961.

Manufacturing operations include license plates, shoes, textiles, clothing and other products.

SCHOOL INCOME THREAT — Texas school income will be drastically reduced unless the Federal Power Commission sets an adequate price for gas in the Texas Gulf Coast area and the Hugoton-Anadarko area of the Texas Panhandle, Attorney General Carr contends.

Carr has filed a petition to intervene in price hearings ordered by FPC to determine reasonable rates for sale of natural gas in the areas.

Earlier he filed briefs requesting FPC to set the price of all gas in the Permian Basin area at 21 cents MCF. The FPC staff sought a nine cents MCF rate for casing-head gas and 13.7 cents MCF for gas well gas.

Attorney General noted in his brief that Texas levies a 7 percent occupation tax based on market value of the gas at the well head to help support state government.

He also pointed out that the University of Texas system owns more than 4,700,000 acres of land in the Permian Basin area. Bonus money and royalty income from this acreage goes to the permanent school fund for Texas education. More than 18,000,000 acres of state land are involved in the Gulf Coast hearing.

IMPORT PROGRAM "INEFFECTIVE" — Basic structural deficiencies in the mandatory oil import program have rendered it "both ineffective and politically inappropriate," according to a Texas representative to the Sixth World Petroleum Congress. Sen. Charles Herring of Austin so concluded in his report to Gov. John Connally.

The time has arrived, Herring stated, "for a comprehensive review of the program, leading toward the evolving of a whole new approach."

The Senator found "evidence of a serious monopoly trend within the petroleum industry" and no basis for assuming that corrective forces "will emerge from within the industry itself."

Herring said Texas is suffering "grave economic damage" from its attempts to balance supply with effective demand and to "serve as a balance wheel to world oversupply."

HAY FREIGHT HIKE SOUGHT — Although the hay shortage has showed prices up to double the normal, hard-pressed Texas ranchers and dairymen may have another cost increase in sight.

Railroad Commission already has been asked by the Livestock Carriers Association of Texas to increase truck freight rates on hay and cottonseed hulls.

A hearing on the application has been set by the Commission's rate division for January 20. In some cases this would mean a rate increase of more than 100 percent.

HIGHER EDUCATION — Governor Connally is expected to decide soon whether to designate an existing state agency to administer an estimated $11,600,000 worth of Federal grants for college construction facilities in fiscal 1964 or create a new State commission on higher education.

Although the Texas Commission on Higher Education is responsible for the administration of State senior colleges and universities, junior colleges — which would get some $2,700,000 of the grant money — come under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education. There is no State agency for private colleges.

The construction-aid program is designed for both public and private colleges. Connally's decision must meet with the approval of the U.S. Commissioner on Education and be confirmed by Attorney General Carr.

A viewpoint on public education, recently advanced by a subcommittee of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, was expressed by the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators. Commission recommended that American youths receive two more years of free education after high school.

System proposed is much like that in operation in California. There any high school graduate may pursue his tuition-free education in a public junior or two-year college.

RAIN-MAKING — John Carr, hydrologist for the Texas Water Commission, has been making local talks on what other states have done about legislation on rain-making.

A major in the Air Force Weather Service, Carr has been gathering information on rain-making and hurricane-breaking as it applies to the Texas climate.

STATE SCHOOL MEETING SET — Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools' Site Selections Committee will meet January 13 to discuss site proposals for locating a newly-authorized West Texas State School for the mentally-retarded.

The school, to be located somewhere "West of the 100th Meridian," has been offered a "home" by many West Texas communities, including El Paso, Lubbock, Plainview and others. All the cities are involved in ardent community campaigns for the industrial stimulation brought about by such an institution.

ARBOR DAY SET — Governor Connally has proclaimed January 17 as Arbor Day in Texas. In a special observance, the Texas Forestry Association will plant several pecan seedlings on the Capitol grounds.

The pecan is the State Tree of Texas.

DINNER DECISION — Texas Democratic party will share with the national Democratic Committee $270,000 contributed for tickets to the November 22 Kennedy-Johnson "welcome dinner" which never came off. Donors will get a record album of Kennedy's last speeches and souvenir programs which had been prepared for the event.

SHORT SNORTS — Application for a charter for Texas State Bank at Abilene has been filed with the State Banking Department. Irregular behavior of the business barometers in November support the belief business may be leveling off and approaching the end of the current upswing which began in February, 1961, UT Bureau of Business Research concludes. Texas Water Commission will hold a hearing on January 28 on proposals to rebuild Tyler State Park Dam. It broke last summer, draining the 1,000-acre foot reservoir

Howard Dodgen, former executive secretary of the old Game and Fish Commission, will join the National Wildlife Management Institute in Texas to do research and development work. The organization is supported by sportsmen's endowment contributions. John M. Hoyt of Longview has been named a Texas Ranger. He will be assigned to the Houston company of rangers, known officially as Company A.

LOAN OFFICES LICENSED — Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell issued a total of 1,630 licenses to be displayed by consumer credit companies which make loans up to $1,500. Licensing was the first major step under the Texas Regulatory Loan Act which went into full effect on December 21.

All of these licensees — ranging from a single lender in New Boston to a 60-office Family Finance chain — now will be under state supervision. A lot of "loan sharks" who could not, or would not, meet the new state requirements were flushed out by passage of the law.

Loan lobbyists estimated earlier in the year that there were 2,200 loan offices in the state, but only 1,895 filed letters of intent to file application for a license. Then some 265 never followed their letters with applications.

Commissioner Miskell refused to license 30 applicants, and nine of these have suits against the state pending in federal and state courts.

RAILROAD DISPUTE — Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers believe a Texas law requiring "full crews" for trains will keep firemen here on the job in spite of a recent national arbitration board ruling aimed at elimination of some firemen from railroad crews.

But the Texas Railroad Association does not believe the state law will prevail. Furthermore, it estimates the ruling will not immediately affect more than 20 of the 1,800 railroad firemen in Texas.

INDUSTRIAL EFFORT CITED — Texas Industrial Commission won the 1963 professional trophy award of the Society of Industrial Realtors for its efforts to bring industry to Texas.

Society, which headquarters in Washington, presents the award annually to the State or Canadian Province with the most effective industrial development program. Award will be presented at a banquet in Washington on January 31.

During the last year 317 new plants and warehouses have located in Texas. Texas ranked second only to New York in these locations during the first half of the year. For the last five years, the annual average of new locations in the state was 294. Manufacturing employment increased 173.4% between 1939 and 1962.

Short Snorts
Former State Sen. Bob Baker of Houston, who ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1962, picked up official filing papers here and said he will be a candidate for statewide office again. Speculation is that he will run for lieutenant governor or land commissioner.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Minerals Production Reflects Economic Strength

The economy booms and the effects are felt right down the line to the smallest business firm on your Main Street — and by you personally. The economy lags and the effects also spiral down to affect your earnings, the vitality of your business, the future of your town. No segment of the American economy is separated from the effects of boom or bust in the economy generally.

One of the best pieces of news to cross my desk this week was a report from the Department of the Interior summarizing mineral production in the United States last year. Couched in the welter of statistics was the encouraging word that as the general economy had prospered in 1963 so had the minerals industry — and new records were set in production and value.

The value of minerals produced by United States industries in 1963 totaled a record $19.7 billion — some $800 million above the previous high established in 1962. The 1963 total represents the largest value increase since 1956 and continues an upward trend begun in 1959.

Of direct interest to Panhandle residents are the figures as they relate to crude petroleum, natural gas, and helium. The position of these industries is vital to our area.

Crude petroleum production continued to expand in 1963, reaching 2,760 million barrels, and topping the 1962 record by 3.2 percent. Total value of crude petroleum at the well increased by 3 percent to approximately $8 billion. The average value at the wellhead was $2.89 per barrel, compared with the 1962 average of $2.90 per barrel. Total demand for all oils in 1963 averaged 10,745,000 barrels daily, or 3.3 percent higher than 1962. Marketed production of natural gas in 1963 with an average value at the wellhead of 15.7 cents per thousand cubic feet. This represents a gain of 4.6 percent in production and an increase of 0.2 cents per thousand cubic feet in average value compared with the 1962 figure. Value of natural gas output rose 6 percent to nearly $2.3 billion. Natural gas processing plants increased their output of natural gas liquids at the unusually high rate of 7 percent in 1963 to attain a total of 16,700 million gallons. Most of the gain was in the production of LP gas and ethane. Average value of all natural gas liquids was 5.2 cents per gallon, an increase of 0.1 cents per gallon compared with 1962. Helium shipments for consumption during 1963 reached a record volume of more than 600 million cubic feet. Helium output not shipped to consumers was stored underground in the Cliffsfield field northwest of Amarillo for later withdrawal and use. More than 1,300 million cubic feet of helium was purchased from five industry plants under the government-industry cooperative long-range helium conservation program and added to the volume in underground storage, bringing the total volume in storage to slightly more than 2 billion cubic feet.

The figures as they relate to crude petroleum and natural gas reflect the general soundness of the total U.S. economy. The production of crude rose as did that of natural gas because of the rising demand for these fuels. More cars were on the road, more Americans had more money with which to take vacation trips, more highway mileage was constructed. The level of factory production continued high with the resultant high demand for heating fuels. The level of housing construction was high, and again the effect was felt in an upward demand for fuel for heating. Electric utility companies, major users of natural gas in the generation of electric power, enjoyed a rising demand for electric power to turn the machines of industry and run domestic appliances, and this bounty was passed on to those who produce the natural gas to fire the turbines.

For the first time since 1956, Pennsylvania anthracite production showed an increase over the previous year — and anthracite registered a remarkable 20 percent value increase. Heavier industrial demand and the settling of labor difficulties were among factors contributing to increased output of such materials as iron ore, bauxite, molybdenum, lead, and zinc, which accounted for most of the growth in metal output. Silver prices continued to rise and, as a result, the production value of that metal gained 13 percent.

In his State of the Union address, President Johnson noted that the Gross National Product has reached the $600 billion annual level but that "it easily could and should be $30 billion higher." It is obvious that strengthening the economy to this extent would mean another round of new records in 1964 for the production and value of minerals.

JUNEAU, ALASKA, ALASKA EMPIRE: "...communism alone is the enemy of freedom and dignity and good will. The enemy is hatred wherever it festers. Hatred is the enemy of man and of God—hatred which may have been created by unjust and prolonged oppression, hatred calculatedly stepped up as a force behind violence, contagious hatred glorified and spread as only modern man can spread ideas and emotions."

GILLESPIE, ILL., AREA NEWS: "The United States is a wealthy nation, but even a wealthy man can dissipate his wealth and die a pauper. We have spent billions of dollars to improve the world, but what is happening in our country? ... While bettering conditions abroad, or attempting to, our morals at home are sharply dropping, with an ever growing crime rate. These range from high levels to petty thievery. There are murders and senseless beatings and maimings, rape of women and even little girls, many of these to be found in the Capitol City, even in the shadows of the Capitol Building. City streets are unsafe by night and often by day. Let's consider the United States for awhile. It is a great country — let's keep it that way."

RIVERTON, WYO., RANGER: "It shouldn't take the sacrifice of a President to jolt people out of slovenly ways. But since the President has been slain, let us hope that the decay has been purged from the soul of America and that the new national resolve to do better will be long-lived."

REYNOLDS WITHDRAWS FROM D.A. RACE AND ANNOUNCES FOR JUDGE

Charles L. Reynolds, County Attorney of Childress County, who previously had announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney, withdrew his announcement this week, and has authorized The Donley County Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of District Judge. In making this announcement, Mr. Reynolds stated:

"When I announced my candidacy for the office of district attorney two weeks ago, I keenly anticipated the possibility of serving as your district attorney in Judge Gribble's court, but the unfortunate death last week of Judge Gribble necessitated this change in my plans. Being 42 years old, I am mature enough to assume the duties of the district judge, and my 13 years of administrative experience as an executive officer in veterans' affairs, and after graduation from Southern Methodist University School of Law, my more than 10 years of legal experience, trying all types of cases in our state courts, particularly in district courts, well qualifies me for the office of district judge.

"Since this district is composed of five counties I may not be able to visit with each of you personally prior to the primary election, but I would like to suggest to those of you who do not know me that, before you cast your vote, you consult with your personal attorney concerning my qualifications, character and integrity."

Vehicle Inspection Deadline Soon

AUSTIN — The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., reminded Texas vehicle owners that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline will soon be upon them.

He reported that some 60 percent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed and only 20 percent of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas experienced its worst traffic fatality record in 1963 and vehicle defects were involved in some of these fatal accidents. He urged all Texans to begin the new year with safe vehicles and to keep them safe throughout the year. He added that vehicles involved in traffic accidents should be re-inspected after repairs have been made.

"Some 5,000 official inspection stations over the state are waiting to inspect the four million vehicles which will have to be inspected by April 15," the DPS director said. "There can be no extension of time, and after the deadline date of April 15, vehicles which come under the provisions of the Inspection Act which do not display the 1964 inspection sticker will be operating in violation of the law."

A recent survey by the Census Bureau shows that 16.8 percent of the families in the nation plan to purchase one major household appliance during the next few months, reports Mrs. Eula J. Newman, home management specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University. Washing machines apparently top the list of anticipated purchases.

NINE ALOUDADS ARE BAGGED IN PALO DURO

AUSTIN — The first public aoudad sheep hunt ever held in Texas took place December 13, 14 and 15 in the Palo Duro Canyon southeast of Amarillo. Sportsmen bagged 6 rams and 3 ewes. The largest ram weighed 230 pounds on the hoof according to Henry Burkett, regional director at San Angelo.

The aoudad sheep were released in the Palo Duro Canyon back in 1957 and '58. The herd grew from the 44 released at that time to several hundred. Since the animals were introduced on an experimental basis, biologists recommended that hunters be allowed to go into the canyon and remove some of them for research purposes.

Each aoudad killed was measured and weighed at a check station. The wildlife scientists took food samples and gathered other information for the records. The general condition of the animals was noted. All this data will aid the Parks and Wildlife Department in the proper management of this new species of big game animals in the Palo Duro range.

Reports indicate that hunters had a rough but enjoyable time shooting and then recovering the mountain climbing sheep. The permits for taking the aoudads were turned over to the landowners who then passed them out to the hunters.

New uses for corn syrup are continuing to be reported. One of the latest applications of the product concerns its use in the sterile screwworm fly program. The flies are now being fed corn syrup from a small paper cup prior to their release. Entomologists working on the screwworm eradication program have found that syrup-fed flies have a better chance to survive and perform their job.
