An Open Letter to Donley County Citizens Concerning Our Annual July 4th Celebration & Barbecue

We, the officers and directors of the Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association wish to take this opportunity, and this method, to get the opinion of Donley County Citizens on our celebration.

So that we may get your opinion, sign and mail the blank form adjoining this column. In years past we have always prided ourselves on having the best rodeo and celebration in Texas. We think this is true. This reputation has been hard to live up to. It takes a lot of work and cooperation from everyone in our community. We feel that we will get this cooperation and have a bigger and better 4th of July this year and every future year.

The Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association owns several acres just east of the City. We have our rodeo grounds, County Show Barn and baseball diamonds there.

We would like, in the foreseeable future, to build a public swimming pool and a park area on some of the unused acres there. Everyone knows the need for a public swimming pool in Clarendon. The merchants lose a lot of business every summer as people carry their children to pools in neighboring cities to swim. Of course they are going to shop while they are there.

A swimming pool will cost a lot of money to build. We, the Outdoor Entertainment Association propose to go about it in the following manner.

Our annual rodeo and celebration in years past has done well to break even and to pay for our land and pens. We feel that our annual free barbecue last year fed 10,000 people, and has gotten too big.

We want your opinion on the following idea. We propose to charge $1.00 adult, and 50c per child for each person passing through our barbecue line. When they pay for the dinner they will be given a free ticket to the rodeo that afternoon. We would still have it on the court house square on the 4th at the usual time.

We, in years past, have fed up to 10,000 people at dinner on the fourth. That afternoon maybe 600 of these people would be at the rodeo. It seems to us that a good barbecue dinner prepared by Breedlove and his crew and a top-notch rodeo that afternoon would certainly be worth the admission price.

We talked to the ranchers last year, who have been so generously donating the beef each year, and they were in favor of our proposal.

We will need the support of everyone. The barbecue crew, the team captains, the serving people, the merchants that donate the money and their time and efforts.

We could go along as we have, just breaking even and getting by or we can try to raise enough money to build a pool, and a park area and improve the rest of our land and equipment.

Please let us have your opinion on this matter. Board of Directors, Clarendon, O. E. A., Wm. M. Porter, president, Ray Palmer, vice-president, Dick Shelton, Bud Knorpp, Bill Todd, C. A. Pitts, Pete Borden, W. J. Adams, G. W. Estlack, Pete Bromley, and Lee Palmer.

DEBORD TO PLAY IN ALL-AMERICAN CLASSIC

Ray DeBord, star of the Clarendon Junior College Bulldog Basketball team the past two years, has been selected to play in the Fourth Annual All-American Basketball Classic this weekend in Lawton, Oklahoma.

Flag Tourny This Week End at Golf Course

The Flag tournament sponsored two weeks ago by the Donley County Golf Club met with such success that another flag tourny will be featured again this week end with an even larger number of entrants anticipated. For the information and benefit of players, a definite set of rules are being listed and must be followed if a golfer plans to participate.

Players who reach the 18th green in the number of strokes allotted or less will be winners of the tourny. Therefore, this will give each player a better chance to become a winner. Each player will be allotted a specified number of strokes for a handicap whereby the average golfer can compete with the best on more equal terms.

There will be no "gimmies" on any putts, and putts must be made on drag nearest to location of ball.

Each player may pick up their paddles at Phelps and Hicks Barber Shop and pay their entry fee of a new ball which is $1.25.

Each player participating must be accompanied by a club member when playing and they must turn in their properly signed score card after play is completed.

The players must use the 18 holes they play "back to back." You may play 9 on Saturday and 9 more Sunday but it must be the last 9 holes played on Saturday and the first 9 on Sunday or you can play 18 consecutive holes either day.

It's a lot of fun to see just how far you can make a specified number of strokes go, so if you enjoy golf, regardless of the type of player you are, you will enjoy this tourny.

City Election to Be Held Tues., April 3 To Elect Two City Commissioners

City voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect two city commissioners to serve a term of two years. The commissioners are elected one year and the Mayor the next.

The election will be held in the City Hall with voting from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. George Benson is the election judge and election clerks are Mrs. A. T. Cole, Katherine Kent, J. G. McAnear and Dick Kennedy.

There are six candidates in the race. V. P. (Pete) Darnell and Lloyd McCord are the present commissioners running for reelection for a second term. Other candidates are F. O. Naylor, R. O. Thomas, J. R. Allen and W. M. Pickering.

The names of the candidates will appear on the ballot in the following manner as all six candidates were present to draw for their respective place on the ballot: Naylor, Darnell, Thomas, Allen, McCord and Pickering. Everyone qualified to vote in the City Election is urged to go to the polls Tuesday and vote for the two candidates of their choice. Voters should weigh election promises closely for there is a difference in whether a promise can be fulfilled or even whether a promise will even come under the jurisdiction of the office for which the candidate is seeking. City Commissioners handle city affairs only and it takes the vote of both commissioners or one commissioner and the Mayor to pass an order of any nature. The main thing is to be sure and go vote for the two men you think best qualified to serve the City of Clarendon in a harmonious and progressive manner.

Sixty Boys Register for Little League

The Clarendon Little League baseball organization opened their 1962 season last Monday night with the registration of approximately 60 prospective players. However, we're hoping we can double this number by the time the season begins in May.

The first workouts will be held this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Little League diamond. Those boys who are to be playing in the Little League (Majors) are to be at this first workout. Then on Monday at 5:00 p.m. also at the Little League Diamond, the younger boys (Peewees) will have their initial workout.

Everyone try to attend, and if you didn't sign up Monday, you may do so at these workouts. Here's hoping that each youngster of Little League age may be able to participate in Clarendon's Little League program. Tell your friends about this, and if you didn't register Monday night, try to do so as soon as possible.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA GIVEN $1,971.00

J. R. Brandon, Manager of the local Paymaster Gin, presented the local school a check in the amount of $1,971.00 last week to go into the School Cafeteria operating account.

This check came from the sale of cotton which was collected throughout the ginning season by the Paymaster Gins in the form of green bales or unginable cotton at the time the remainder of the cotton was being ginned. This cash donation is actually a gift from all the farmers who had their cotton ginned by Paymaster and the gin itself.

This gift each year is most welcome as the Cafeteria has a hard time trying to keep out of the red.

LIBRARY NOTES
EDITH BARNES

A memorial gift has been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Mr. Don Tomlinson.

The following is a quote from an editorial in the February 17th issue of The Saturday Evening Post . . . "The trend in fiction is doubtless a reaction against the Victorian prudery of the last generation, which certainly did harm."

It is easier to explain the present state of affairs than to prescribe for it. Nevertheless, two points are clear. First of all, no one is suggesting that we should return to the "nice-Nellyism" of our grandparents. Today's frankness has swept away a lot of undesirable hypocrisy and falsehood; these new values should and must be preserved.

It is also clear that censorship is not the answer. Almost always censorship creates more problems than it solves. Usually it gives wider circulation to the work it seeks to suppress, and often it is executed by people whose intellectual standards make it doubtful that they can distinguish between pornography and the candor that is the essential quality in a masterpiece. The strong force in driving out the undesirable is still public selection. If we would abstain from buying offensive books and periodicals, if we would tune out the vulgar or violent TV programs, reformation would be rapid."

It is as simple as that. Too many of us seem to want no simple solution to a problem. We just have to go into a complicated rigamarole, but we would see how quickly bad books, TV programs and movies would disappear from the scene, if each of us refused to have any part of them.

When the day comes when there is no market for trash it will disappear almost as fast as fog does when the sun comes out.

It would be well for each of us to spend more time being our own censor and not so much trying to do our neighbor's for them, and remember this about good books, "Book love, my friends, is your pass to the greatest, the purest and the most perfect pleasure that God has prepared for His creatures. It lasts when all other pleasures fade. It will support you when all other recreations are gone. It will last you until your death. It will make your hours pleasant to you as long as you live."—Anthony Trollope. Remember National Library Week!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

J. T. (Red) Hill and His Great Plains Contract
Last fall the Soil Conservation Service personnel at the Clarendon office learned that Red had purchased his old home place from his Dad, Mr. J. F. Hill. Mr. J. F. Hill has lived and worked on this farm for many years. This farm which consists of about 240 acres has raised a large family as all of you know who are acquainted with the Hills. Over one-half of this farm has been in cultivation for many years and used hard in order to provide cash income for a large growing family. After purchase of the place Red decided that it needed a rest and that he would seed it all back to grass as soon as possible. Red and an SCS technician went over the place thoroughly, field by field and planned the needed treatment. The Great Plains Conservation Program was explained to him and he chose to use it for government cost-share in carrying out needed treatment which is range seeding and brush control followed by deferred grazing and proper grazing use.

A contract was drawn up and signed by Red and the USDA-SCS and work was ready to begin. He has just completed seeding 89 acres of grass in old rangeland. A mixture of Sand bluestem grass, Indian grass and Side Oats Grama were used. The same 89 acres will be sprayed sometime between May and June 15 to control infestation of Sand Sagebrush and weeds. All other fields are scheduled to be worked on through 1965 and by this date all of the farm will be back to grass. It is planned that by this time all of the 240 acres will be established to good grass and will be capable of carrying 10 to 12 grown cows with calves year long.

If any of you have need for such an operation, contact the Soil Conservation personnel in Clarendon, Texas.

Donley County Soil Conservation District Supervisors to Sponsor Training Session for Supervisors in Surrounding Area

Cap Morris is proud to announce that the Donley County Soil Conservation District Supervisors will sponsor a Training Session for other District Supervisors in surrounding districts. The meeting is scheduled for March 29, 1962 from 10:00 a.m. till 3:00 p.m. in the new Clarendon High School. Noon meal will be served to invited guests in the school cafeteria, courtesy of the Donley County Supervisors. Cap Morris, local district chairman and Aubrey Dalrymple and Lee Scrivner with the State SCD Board are in charge of the program arrangements. Guest speakers will be here from as far away as Lubbock. About 30 to 35 people are expected to attend.

HUNTERS PAY FINES AFTER SEASON'S END

Too many Texas hunters just couldn't put their guns away after the close of the hunting season. This was disclosed with the release of the February report of game and fish law violations, as issued by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Of the 209 arrests made during February, there were 139 for shooting violations. Headlighters again topped the list, with 47 arrests made for night hunting.

The game wardens made 209 cases during the month, which resulted in the collection of $8,309.28 in fines and costs.

Fines for violations ranged from $25 to $200, with licenses revoked on most of those arrested for hunting violations. One woman was fined $150 for killing a deer in closed season.

Another hunter who refused to permit a search of his automobile was fined $50 for that offense and another $50 for having in his possession a deer with evidence of sex removed.

Phillips also warned fishermen to be sure to get licenses for this season before going out this spring. A license is required of all persons between the ages of 17 and 65 who fish outside their home counties, or who fish with any kind of winding device regardless of their residence. A universal fishing license for either resident or non-resident, for both salt and fresh water, sells for $2.15.

Not many months ago a farmer from someplace up north lost his temper with all the programs and controls placed upon him. His name was Stanley Yan- kus and he was "front page" for several weeks. Finally, in a rage he pulled up stakes and headed for Australia.

 We thought then that he was making a mistake, which is almost always the case when we "blow our stack." At the time we wrote him a letter, but not ever having his address we didn't mail it. Yesterday, we read it again and decided to use it as an open letter in our column. If Stanley reads it, which we doubt, it would be nice to know how he is making out...

Dear Stanley,
 Somehow we hated to hear that you were pulling up stakes and moving to far off Australia. We feel so certain that you are making a mistake that we write and ask that you reconsider.

We know that you must have been surprised to find that it was not proper to grow certain kinds of chicken feed on your own farm for your own chickens. It does sound rather shocking but it is all a part of our so-called programs in the search for security that for the last quarter of a century has seemed so tempting to us.

There was a time when we thought that the only security to be found was in jail, in the cradle, or in the grave. In jail, all your needs are provided for; you are told when to eat and what. You are advised to sleep, if you can, and you don't have to worry about being run over by a hot rod or a thousand other fears. You have a measure of security.

In the grave things are even better; you have only one problem and that is the Judgement Day and you are not inclined to worry about that. You don't need anything, and you don't have anything, even any wants. That is perfect security.

In the cradle we had it pretty good. A loving mother took care of the weather, our food and clothing. We had only to hold out our hand or cry and someone would come running.

Most folks seemed satisfied with the cradle age. The jail has never been too popular, and no one has ever wanted to meddle with the grave stage. But, suddenly we decided to do something about the security from the cradle to the grave. We began adding little things here and there to make life more secure. We began removing a fear here and a hardship there. Some we paid for with taxes, and we might add that the price was pretty high because we had to pay for the Santa Claus that would see that we got them.

But the worst part was that we paid for some of the Security by giving up some of our freedom. We had just seen the hunger marches and the broad lines and we wanted above everything else Freedom from Want. Like the fish eyeing the worm we couldn't resist so we exchanged our freedoms one by one for a measure of security. Sometimes we would forget that just 150 years before this our forefathers had died for each freedom.

Now some of us are beginning to worry; have we traded away too many of our rights for some kind of protection. Can we be happy with less freedom and more security? Do we have a real and lasting security or will it be just a mirage? No doubt we have made mistakes Stanley but there is still time to correct them if we all get busy. We still have a country that is the best in the world. We can still say what we think and sell out and move if we want. We can still worship God as we wish, and tell our government off, if we want.

So, we are dead serious when we ask you Stanley to re-consider your decision. We sincerely believe that you are making a mistake and that you will regret it. This thing we are dealing with involves more than chicken feed. It takes in principles for which men have already died to uphold. Because they were given to us we should be willing to live and defend them until the last.

Out here in the Panhandle it is said that, "If you wear out a pair of shoes here, you will never be satisfied anywhere else."

To coin a similar phrase we say, "If you raise a family in America you will never be happy in another land..." Yes Stanley, here's hoping that you will change your mind. Let us hear from you.

Sincerely,
 Uncle Zeb

Two million Red Cross volunteers give proof to the ARC belief that the greatest service that can be done for anyone is to give them useful things to do for others. One of these is Mrs. Melitta Krueger, a Milwaukee Gray Lady who works with VA hospital and County Asylum patients. Gray Lady work, she says, "is something you do because you really want to help those less fortunate." Those she and other ARC volunteers help, she adds, "do more for you than you do for them."

An ice-covered Ohio highway played havoc with the Christmas plans of Pfc. and Mrs. Raymond Parks and their two small daughters when their car skidded into guard rails on the road near Youngstown three days before the holiday. Repairs took all the young soldier's cash, but they had enough to get them to Pittsburgh.

There the Red Cross chapter provided food, toys for the children, and enough money to see the family to its destination, Ft. Eustis, Va., where Mr. Parks was stationed.

The question of failing is not so important as whether one is content with failure.

Laws of Good Citizenship Challenged And Often Misrepresented In This Age

At no time in the history of mankind has it been more important for people who love and cherish the blessings of democracy and freedom to instill in themselves and in the younger generation the high ideals of character than at this particular time. We need to appreciate the basic principles of freedom and to build within us a determination to preserve the blessings of the free world for posterity. Every one of us needs to re-examine the values, ideals, and virtues of our forefathers which enabled them to bring about the spectacular rise of our democratic republic on a foundation which is sturdy and strong.

In an era when all of these things are being challenged and often misrepresented, it is important that the fundamentals of our form of government be in the forefront of our thinking. This will help us to evaluate ideas that come to us. It will help us to speak and write clearly and forcefully. And it will help us pass on to future generations an understanding and appreciation of freedom as we know it. Part of the difficulty of defining democracy arises from the fact that many different governments have been called democracies. However, the real difficulty springs from the fact that democracy is both a form of government and a set of ideas and practices, a way of life. Perhaps the key to our explanation lies in the meaning of the two Greek words from which we get the term "democracy." These two words add up to give us the idea of "rule by the people" in contrast to rule by the few or by one. Generally, there are two ways in which the people rule—by direct democracy and by a representative democratic republic.

In a direct democracy, the citizens themselves meet in an assembly to make decisions of government. In a representative democracy, representatives elected by the people meet and make the decisions. A representative democracy, such as we have here in the United States, is called a republic or a democratic republic. Both in direct and representative democracies, the citizens speak and decide—they are the source of power. This brings us to the first important aspect of democracy in action as government; that aspect is citizenship, which is complete membership in the nation. If this membership is not complete and legally recognized, we have a body of second-class citizens—a condition which is not democratic. Greek democracy suffered from this. In the time of Pericles, Athens limited citizenship to men whose parents had been citizens. Women had no part in government, foreigners could not become citizens, and there were many slaves.

Every thinking American must have been disturbed, from time to time, by the growing evidence that we are in danger of losing, through default, our hard-won sovereign rights. The abdication of the citizen in favor of an ever-growing bureaucratic leadership has resulted in a crisis which we can no longer ignore. It is somewhat difficult for us to understand how in a little more than a generation the rights of the individual citizen could have been usurped as they have been. Increasingly, the individual American seems to be shifting his responsibilities of citizenship to the state. In so doing, he is destroying the precious rights and rewards of his American heritage. It seems that when we grow tired of exercising some of our individual rights and freedoms, we just create another bureau to exercise them for us. We must realize that a strong, dedicated, rugged national individualism has been the key to America's greatness from the beginning. The acid test of successful democratic government is the degree of effective liberty which it makes available to the individual.

There are many aspects of democracy in action, and the responsibilities of citizenship in a representative form of government such as we have in the United States are many.

Here are some fundamental concepts proposed for placing emphasis on individual responsibility:

The good citizen respects the dignity and worth of every individual; the well-being of every individual is vital within itself. Every person, regardless of race or position in life, has the right to expect to be judged on his own merit and without interference with his rights.

America is built upon a fundamental belief and trust in God; the good citizen believes in the power of truth to dispel ignorance, fear, and superstition in all areas of life. The good citizen constantly seeks the truth. He respects and contends for the preservation of the right of every man to worship as he chooses.

The good citizen takes part in the affairs which concern him. He is actively engaged in worthwhile pursuits, and he is not satisfied with letting others do what he himself is supposed to do. He understands that by failing to use his liberties and privileges, he may lose them. He avoids the "something-for-nothing" attitude, and is not content to be merely a spectator; he participates in life with enthusiasm and with all his might. He joins in the affairs of his family in a worthy manner, rejoicing in its successes and sharing humbly in its failures. The good citizen takes part in the affairs of government—local, state, and national. He pays his taxes, serves as a public servant when called upon, and votes intelligently. He realizes that the ballot is the most effective weapon for insuring good government and that our right to vote was bought with a great price.

The good citizen conserves natural and human resources. He realizes the dangers and evils of waste; he knows that it will lead to want and poverty as well as threaten the nation's welfare. He makes an effort to use his time profitably and intelligently rather than squander it. He thinks creatively and constructively. He respects public and private property and works diligently for economy and conservation in all areas of life. He strives to be at all times a prudent and skillful purchaser and consumer.

The good citizen is a responsible person. He realizes that he must make a genuine effort to live up to his obligations and that he must constantly be on guard to maintain his own self-respect and the confidence of those with whom he associates. He is responsible to his country to serve it, to obey its laws, and to protect it against its enemies. He is responsible to his fellow man to uphold and safeguard his rights and privileges. He is responsible to God, realizing that with God there is always majority and that no good thing will be withheld from His obedient followers.

The good citizen works to improve. He understands that improvement is the gateway to progress—the road to perfection and greatness. Through acquiring a firmer belief and respect for the ideals and concepts of his heritage, the good citizen tries to improve his country, working always for understanding and good will among individuals.

The good citizen is vigilant. He appreciates the fact that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. He is alert to the dangers which threaten his liberties and freedoms lest they be wrested from him by crafty conspirators who seek freedom's destruction and his own enslavement. He does not take liberty and freedom for granted but intensifies his efforts to preserve them. He examines the sources of his information that he may not be led astray by clever propaganda. He investigates propositions presented to him. He watches his words and avoids making promises which cannot be fulfilled.

The good citizen appreciates the things that are worthwhile. He appreciates his country and the liberties and freedoms which he enjoys under this great Republic. He appreciates his American heritage.

He believes in the rights of ownership and will not deprive anyone of his property in an unjust or unethical manner. Above all, the good citizen has the courage to stand for what he believes in. Candidates for governor now are quarreling over legislative redistricting... which would give the metropolitan cities more strength.

Poll tax payments indicate that these cities actually have the voting strength.

But final figures are not in on all counties. Official figures plus some estimates reveal 1,250,249 qualified voters in the 12 counties which contain cities of 100,000 or more. Offhand this would indicate that have more than half the votes in the state.

But the "big 12" are not as well prepared to vote this year as they were in 1960. That year they had 1,362,173 voters. It was a presidential year. However, declines are reported for 1962 elections in all of the 12 big-city counties except Travis, where the State Capitol is located.

One notable thing about the poll tax figures is the growing number of those with exemptions from the poll tax because they are 21 years of age and vote free—or they are over 65 and don't have to buy a poll tax in order to vote.

Indications are that there will be more exemption certificates this year (those in cities of 10,000 or more) than ever before, even in record-setting 1960.

Another fact to consider is that rural people go to the polls regardless of the weather, while inclement weather keeps many city folks home.

Motorcade Increases

Texas Department of Public Safety statisticians figure an accident occurred in Texas traffic every 97 seconds last year, with someone killed every three hours and 47 minutes.

When the department closed its 1961 "death book," it reported a motorcade total of 2,314—60 more traffic deaths than 1960 held. Drivers of 324,149 motor vehicles sustained 132,570 injuries.

December 22 was the most deadly day... 23 people were killed in 15 fatal accidents.

War On Screwworms

Governor Daniel promised to transfer $25,000 from emergency funds to the Texas Animal Health Commission to buy materials and employ personnel for the fight against the screwworm fly.

Contract has been signed for construction of a plant at Mission, where up to 75,000,000 sterile flies will be produced each week for use in the eradication program of the commission and the Southwest Animal Health Research foundation.

"President Kennedy made a strange request in asking for a 10 billion dollar INCREASE in the ceiling on the national debt. Why strange request? Well, because his record 92½ billion dollar budget was tabbed as a 'balance' one, yet in order for it to balance, a variety of NEW taxes are requested, including a major increase in postal rates. And, in addition, in order for the budget to 'balance,' the nation's economy had to show a 'giant stride' forward."—San Juan, Calif. Mission News

Sterile Fly Airdrop Opens Screwworm Eradication Effort

Sterile screwworm flies are being airdropped and facilities for producing them are being enlarged in southern Texas, as a Federal-State-Rancher effort to eradicate screwworms from a large area of the Southwestern United States gets under way, Spencer Sitter, chairman of the Donley County Screwworm Control program.

Inspections begun in mid-January have uncovered screwworm infestations in livestock in thirty southern Texas counties. Finding these destructive pests overwintering farther north than was anticipated has accelerated the pace of eradication efforts. Temporary sterile-fly production facilities at Kerrville, Texas, are being enlarged, and a permanent sterile-fly "factory" is under construction near Mission. Inspection and treatment of animals within and entering the eradication area have been intensified.

The campaign is a joint effort by United States Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service, the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation (an organization of stockmen), and The Texas Animal Health Commission, with the cooperation of state extension services and many other public and private groups.

Essential for eradication are (1) production and airdispersal of sexually sterile screwworm flies, (2) establishment of a fly-free barrier along the Mexico-Texas border, (3) prompt treatment and reporting of all suspected screwworm cases, and (4) maintaining a ground inspection line to prevent movement of screwworms on infected livestock into fly-free zones.

Screwworm flies are reared by the millions in an artificial medium and made sexually sterile by exposure to radioactive cobalt. They are released by airplane over screwworm-infested areas. The sterile male flies mate with native female flies, which then produce eggs that do not hatch. Thus the species is eventually wiped out. In 1958-59, this technique eradicated screwworms from Florida, where they overwintered and annually moved northward to infest livestock in the southeastern states.

Air release of sterile flies produced at Kerrville began February 14. Ten million a week are now being airdropped in the pest's overwintering area in southern Texas. This area includes Bandera, Bastrop, Bee, Brooks, Burnet, Calhoun, Cameron, Duval, Frio, Gillespie, Goliad, Hays, Hidalgo, Jim Hogg, Kenedy, Kerr, Kinney, Kleberg, Live Oak, Llano, Maverick, Medina, Refugio, Starr, Uvalde, Victoria, Webb, Willacy, Zapata, and Zavala Counties, where screwworms are reported active. Present facilities for rearing and sterilizing flies at Kerrville will be doubled when a new temporary building is completed. Construction began in February.

Buildings at the former Moore Air Force Base near Mission, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, are being remodeled into a permanent headquarters for the eradication effort. Construction of these facilities has been accelerated, and they are expected to be ready July 1 to produce 50 to 75 million sterile flies a week.

Florida is making available the state-owned equipment used at Sebring to produce flies for the successful eradication of screwworms from the southeast. Agricultural Research Service equipment will also be transferred from Sebring to Mission, and the Florida plant will be closed. Production of sterile flies at Kerrville will be discontinued when the Mission facilities are open.

Agricultural Research Service

Animal Inspection and Quarantine activities along the Mexican border have been intensified. Year round inspection is normally carried on; there to prevent animals carrying ticks and diseases from entering the United States. Now, efforts will be intensified to prevent screwworm-infested animals from entering.

Stockmen, county agents, predator-control workers of Texas and the United States Department of the Interior, and other volunteer observers are cooperating by promptly reporting screwworm cases found in domestic and wild animals.

Livestock producers are urged to take several measures to cut screwworm cases to a minimum: Inspect all livestock frequently for wounds and possible screwworm infestations.

When infested wounds are found, collect and submit worms to local authorities for identification; treat the animals with an approved insecticide.

Move no animals from any area unless all wounds are treated with a recommended insecticide. If screwworms have been reported in the county, spray animals before moving them.

Accept or move no animals from infested states without previous inspection and treatment.

Know the screwworm status of your county—and state—at all times.

HOW TO TURN THE TIDE

The taxpayers who now shell out better than 30 per cent of their income to various levels of government, much of it going to pay for "benefits" — most of which should be tended to by the individual or at the local government level — should have every possible reason to kick at further needless growth of government.

The federal budget director has said that no one should be surprised to see the annual budget hit the $100 billion mark — we don't have far to go. A good part of the increase will continue to be for welfare state schemes which have nothing to do with essential governmental functions or national defense. One thing is sure. Further needless venturing of government into purely commercial enterprise should be stopped in its tracks.

Here's a case in point: In 1960 the four investor-owned electric companies in Kentucky paid 14 times as much in taxes as the TVA, 23 rural electric cooperatives, and 22 municipally-owned systems in Kentucky combined. The figures were $26 million for the private utilities — $1.8 million for all the public outlets. The savings invested in the taxpaying private utilities and the public money (taxes) put into tax-exempt, government-owned power projects were about the same.

The editor of the Malheur, Oregon, Enterprise sums it up this way: "If we are to turn the tide there is only one method. A strong protest at the polls and turning out of office of those lawmakers who are more interested in maintaining their own privileged place in politics than they are in the welfare of the people. We view a hundred billion (dollar) budget with alarm. But even more we view with alarm a populace of voters that will allow such continuing waste and inefficiency."

PLASTIC COVERS FOR PLOWS AID SOIL SHEDDING

Ever have trouble with soil sticking to your plows? In tests conducted at Auburn, Ala., moldboard plows covered with sheet plastic did an excellent job of shedding soil. Two plastics, Teflon and H. D. polyethylene, were effective in turning sticky, difficult-to-plow clay soil.

The plow covered with Teflon required 23 percent less pulling power than a conventional steel moldboard plow.

terest of the court at all times. Personally I believe the minutes of each meeting of the court should be published in the Donley County Leader. I also think the commissioners should solicit the desires of the county as a whole and their precinct in particular.

The court should cooperate with all county offices in seeing that the public receives a fair and honest deal.

Each county office or officer has regulations to govern their actions and since they are elected by you to fulfill these duties, your desires should be their prime interest.

This giant is fast becoming the master of its creators and whether we admit it or not, it was created through our own selfishness, greed, and ignorance. Like the tentacles of a giant octopus, bureaus, departments, agencies and commissions are slowly but surely imprisoning the American people." — Hampton, N. H. Gazette.

DAIRY CATTLE NEED SALT TOO

Dairy cattle, like humans, need salt in their food. In fact, they can develop a salt deficiency if they do not get enough in their ration, says Shannon Carpenter, area dairy specialist at Tyler.

Continuous use of a salt deficient dairy ration will cause loss of body weight, failure of appetite, decline in milk production and will eventually result in death of the animal.

Some cows will consume more salt than others, points out Carpenter. A cow producing 50 pounds of milk per day need about two and one-fourth ounces of salt per day. This would require her to eat 14 pounds of a grain ration containing one percent salt to get her daily salt requirements.

Carpenter says the herd at the Tyler Experiment Station is fed a grain mix containing one percent salt and also provided loose salt in a protected box. This allows the cows to eat as much as they need.

FARM NEWS
from County ASCS Committee

1962 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

All farmers and farm owners having a feed grain base are reminded that March 30, 1962 is the final date to sign an intention sheet to participate in the program and divert acreage from the production of grain sorghum and corn and place such acreage to conservation use. The choice of participation in the feed grain program is left entirely up to you. Most provisions are similar to those in 1961. If you desire to participate and do not understand the program you should come in and let us explain the program to you. Remember, if you are interested in the program, tomorrow — March 30th — is the last day to sign up.

ALL PRODUCER LOANS ON THE BASIS OF SEDIMENTATION VALUE

In the case of hard red winter wheat of the 1962 crop, sedimentation value rather than protein content will be used as a quality factor in administering the price support program. Sedimentation test values will be used for all loan and settlement purposes with producers of the designated classes of 1962 wheat testing 40 and above. The price support premiums will be at the rate of 3 cents for wheat testing 40-42 and 1 cent per unit for each additional unit of sedimentation test value above 42, with a maximum premium of 25c per bushel.

FARM STORED

Price support on 1962 crop wheat of the designated classes on the wheat stored on the farm will be on the basis of a sedimentation analysis made by ASCS at no cost to the producer. In determining the value of farm stored wheat, the County Committee will take into account all quality factors, including sedimentation, authorized by the price support program.

Settlement with producers on farm stored wheat, delivered to CCC at or subsequent to the program maturity date, will be on the basis of sedimentation and other quality determined at the time of delivery.

WAREHOUSE STORED

Producers desiring to obtain warehouse stored price support loans and purchase agreements on 1962 crop wheat will be offered such loans and purchase agreements on the basis of sedimentation values recorded on the storage documents by the warehouseman.

FALLOUT PROTECTION—NUCLEAR ATTACK AND BETTER FARM PROGRAMS

The Federal Government is undertaking a number of activities — involving guidance, technical assistance, and to encourage the development of community fallout shelters and better farm programs.

For farmers in America, 1961 was the best year in nearly a decade. A fresh start has been made in 1962 toward better lives for rural people and toward better farm programs. We approach the challenge of further improvement with optimism and gratitude. Having not only enough food and fiber—but too much at a given time or place is less a problem than an opportunity.

At this time we would like to invite you to come by the ASCS office and take home with you three pamphlets, titled "Fallout Protection," "Family Shelter Designs" and "Food and Agriculture." Take one or all three of these pamphlets home with you and study them thoroughly.

DATES TO REMEMBER

April 13—Release of unwanted cotton.
March 30—Final date to redeem grain loans from CCC

May 1—Final date for grazing diverted acreage and destroying excess wheat acres.

March 30—Final date and sign-up under the Feed Grain Program.

BAIRFIELDS NAMED TO MEMBERSHIP IN AMERICAN HEREFORD ASSN

Chas. and Thelma Bairfield of Clarendon were today (March 19) named to membership in the American Hereford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

Eighty-nine Hereford breeders were placed on the Association's official roster during February. The Association maintains active accounts for more than 80,000 breeders of registered Herefords over the nation.

The Hereford Association during the last fiscal year recorded 475,846 purebred calves. The year's total recordings were the eighth highest on record, and almost twice the combined registrations of other major beef breeds.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spencer of Amarillo visited the first of the week in the home of an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green.

Nearly four out of every 10 male workers are veterans.

Cairo is the largest city in Africa.
