OUR NEW RESOURCES.

Living way up in this part of the big state of Texas almost seven hundred miles from the coast, we hardly realize what is really going on "down south" among the folks who refer to us as "dumyankees." At any rate, we are interested in anything that is bringing money into the state. Whatever helps Texas, helps us.

A new industry is the growing of Tung oil, a drying oil for which there is no substitute. This oil is used in the manufacture of varnishes, linoleum, printing ink, electrical goods and for water-proofing paper and fabrics. Seven southern states are growing tung trees, it being semitropical. The production for 1932 was 150,000 pounds and for 1938 over 4,000,000 pounds. Oil is extracted from the seed pods.

Whereas one thousand acres of flax was planted in south Texas last year, 20,000 acres is ready for harvest this week in south central Texas.

Coming nearer home we have an even greater surprise. South plains farmers are interested in growing Safflower. Tests show the climate suited and the soil satisfactory. The plant is drought-resistant being chiefly grown in India and Egypt at present. The beautiful orange-red blossoms are a source of high grade vegetable dye. The seeds resemble somewhat that of the sunflower, and are used in the manufacture of varnishes, paints and soaps. The crop may be harvested with an ordinary grain binder.

Soy beans grown extensively in this state, are now being ground into a flour which may be purchased at most any first-class grocery in the larger towns, and many of the smaller towns. Henry Ford introduced the soy bean to the south after the Japs took over Manchuria, his source of supply at that time. The soy bean is used in more than two thousand manufactured articles today, besides being an important source of food supply.

CARD OF THANKS

We come at this time through this means to thank our friends and neighbors for every kind thought and deed. God in his mercy gave us consolation in placing us among friends who shared our grief in the passing of our dear husband and father. We are deeply grateful for that christian spirit in which you each helped when we needed words of comfort. May God bless you, is our prayer.

JOAN CRAWFORD STARS IN SPECTACULAR 'ICE FOLLIES OF 1939' ON PASTIME SCREEN

The problem of careers versus marriage finds an answer against the glamour of a back-stage romance of Hollywood in "The Ice Follies of 1939," starring Joan Crawford with James Stewart, Lew Ayres, Lewis Stone and the famous "International Ice Follies" troupe. The new picture opened last night and will show again tonight.

Portraying a singing role for the first time since embarking on a musical career, Miss Crawford is seen as Mary McKay, a singing skater who marries James Stewart only to find that she cannot acknowledge the union due to a "no marriage" clause in a motion picture contract signed in an effort to keep the team of Stewart, Lew Ayres and herself from starving.

The couple separate when Stewart realizes that he is proving a hindrance to her career. She soars rapidly to stardom and Stewart, reunited with Ayres, works on tangible plans for the staging of a spectacle on ice to be known as the "Ice Follies."

Called to New York for a personal appearance, the star arrives on the same night that Stewart's "Ice Follies" is opening. The two are reunited for a brief moment but quarrel and depart for their respective theatres. Stewart's "Ice Follies" wins acclaim as the hit of the season.

Stewart, in the meantime, discovers that his own wife is the mysterious baker of his show and upon verifying this truth renounces all interest in the company. The complications which follow prove thrilling and end with a shot of lights to the east of the "Ice Follies."

In addition to the popular stars of the picture is the entire troupe of the original "International Ice Follies," headed by Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson. Elaborate ensemble numbers and specialties form an integral part of the picture which was directed by Reinhold Schunzel.

More Safeguards Along Highways

Ten years ago there were 18,034 miles of State Highways being maintained by the State. Today there are 21,870 miles, and, in maintenance, our highways are second to none. A high standard of maintenance is demanded by the traveling public and furnished by the State Highway Department. Where formerly maintenance consisted of keeping drainage ditches open and a satisfactory riding surface, now many kinds of traffic service are furnished.

There are over 130,000 signs and markers on State Highways, and, of these, 65,000 show the US and State Route number; 32,810 are yellow caution signs of various types, and the balance is made up of signs indicating the distance to cities and towns; city limit markers; county line markers; speed limit signs, and others. Many signs have been re-lected for night driving, and soon 75% of all the caution signs will have been reflectorized.

A recently adopted practice is to install reflector buttons in the guard posts around the outside of sharp curves, and at night these buttons show up like a row of lights, indicating the curve.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Palmer and Mrs. Alfred Estlack were in Amarillo Wednesday where Mr. Palmer attended a Ford sales meeting.

AUTO TAGS ARE MADE IN PRISON

Now that we have all bought our 1939 Motor Vehicle License Plates and put them on, we sigh and say, "That's taken care of for another year," and proceed to forget about it. But in the Highway Department at Austin, their work begins all over again. The 1940 plates must be designed, ordered, manufactured, and delivered to County Tax Collectors by February 1, 1940. The order must be placed early so the Prison System at Huntsville, where the plates are manufactured, may buy the steel and paint used in making the plates. All the forms used in registering motor vehicles must be ordered and delivered to the counties; and shipping lists revised annually, for movement of oil field traffic from one field to another, causes changes in the number of plates sent each County.

The white background paint of 1938 did not prove durable and many plates rusted. So the Department's paint chemist who has had years of experience with paint for center stripping, equipment, guard fence, bridges, etc., was called on to write complete specifications governing the manufacture and application of paint. An inspector representing the Department was present at the factory while the paint was manufactured, and at the prison while the plates were being made. This procedure was started with the 1939 plates and will be continued.

Sample plates of other states are checked and often a color or style used by another state is adopted. Several color combinations are necessary to take care of the various classes of license plates that make up the million and three quarter pairs ordered annually. Some colors provide contrast and better visibility than others, and are used to aid enforcement officers in easily reading license plates. Flat paints that will not glare in the strong Texas sunlight are used, and designs that will add strength to the plate, as well as aid in visibility, are adopted. The cost of license plates, determined by the State Board of Control and ta-
