The Bronchos

Clarendon Faces Kress in Home Opener

Opener

The Broncho fans will get to see the team at home this Friday night as the Bronchos take on the mighty Kress Kangaroos at 8:00 p.m.

The Kangaroos are coming into town as the reigning 1981 3-AA district champions with a season record of 7-4 and much like the Bronchos this year with on 0-1 record after New Deal pounded the 'Roos 37-0 this past Friday.

The Kangaroos are the largest team the Bronchos will face this year as they will average in the lines around 215-16 per man, and about 185 in the backfield. The Kangaroos play a new type offense and a 5-2 defense with a monster.

They do an outstanding job on both sides of the line. They have outstanding people in the pack.

Lester Young (6'0" 200

lb FB/LB) Kevin Cheek (6' 190 lb TE/DE) Rudy Galvan (6' 160 SE/Monster) are several names along with Lyn Freeman (6'0" 197 Lb G/DE) that you will hear several times this Friday.

The Bronchos are coming home in an embarrassing situation, they were not mentally ready to play a very good Canadian team. Through the week they have prepared very well and the fans should see an extremely more physical and intense team against the Kangaroos.

The Booster Club will be selling their Broncho caps for $6.00 each and the Broncho jackets are also being sold for $10.00 each. These will be on sale at the J.V. game Thursday and the varsity game. Buy these so they will be lots of maroon in the stands. Support the teams.

Wildcats claw Bronchos

Winners of fourteen regular season games in a row. Ranked fifth in the state in AA football. Impressive winners of two pre-season scrimmages this year. Poised to create another marvelous season to match last year's 11-1 performance. The Clarendon Bronchos.

But a not-so-funny thing happened on the way to added glory. The 1982 maroon marauders stumbled out of the starting blocks and tripped over the first hurdle last Friday night at Canadian. They were ambushed by an unruly pack of Wildcats. The score was 21-19.

To their credit, the Canadian team proved again an old cliché of sports that there is always another day. Crushed and humiliated last season by Clarendon (51-7), they vowed revenge and got it in this season's opener, which could be called an upset even though the Wildcats have just moved up to the AAA classification and were predicted to be much improved over last year's 5-5 team.

The game's outcome was foreshadowed early. Clarendon received the opening kickoff and on the first play from scrimmage fumbled the ball away to Canadian on the Bronchos' 30 yard line. The Wildcats then scored on their very first play, an off-tackle run by fullback Darren Morris, and before the game was a minute old the home team was ahead of the favored visitors, 7-0.

It was clear that the Wildcats had done their homework. They handled Clarendon's vaunted veer offensive attack by regularly stunting a defensive end inside to tackle the Broncho quarterback quickly and by sending a cornerback to hit the pitch man before he could even catch the pitch. This technique resulted in enough pressure to force four Broncho turnovers: three fumbles and an interception.

After the Bronchos' disastrous, one-play opening series and the lightning wildcat touchdown, Clarendon received the second kickoff, hoping to return to form. An 8-yard run off-tackle by senior fullback David Weatherton looked good, but on second and third down both avid and junior tailback Glenn Weatherton were stopped for no gain.

A punt by junior guard Arlis Thomas gave the ball back to the Wildcats, who were determined to prove that the first touchdown was not a fluke.

They promptly drove 57 yards to score. Tailback Doug Freppon followed good sweep blocking across the Broncho goal line from 4 yards out to make the score 14-0.

The Bronchos' third attempt to generate an offense also failed. Junior quarterback Dyron Howell was again hit quickly as he attempted to pitch the ball on an option play. The pitch was fumbled and recovered alertly by Glenn Weatherton, but the loss further dampened the visiting fans' spirits.

A pass from Howell to senior quick end and captain Kelly Hill earned 5 yards, but that was far short of a first down and Arlis Thomas again dropped back to punt the ball shortly before the end of the first quarter.

The Broncho offense warmed up in the second quarter. Though behind two touchdowns, the Clarendon players showed they were not about to give up despite their misfortunes thus far.

Howell completed a 6-yard pass to senior strong end Ray Crump. "Curly" Weatherton ran twice for 8 yards and 5 yards, and then Howell again hit Crump, who took the screen pass behind the line of scrimmage and made a fine run for 17 yards to midfield.

With confidence returning Howell dropped back and threw an excellent long pass, under pressure, from on rushing tacklers, to Hill, who had raced behind the Wildcat secondary. But it was not to be. The ball fell through Kelly's hands, and Thomas was forced to punt for the third time.

Hill soon made up for the error, though, when he caught another Howell strike on a 38-yard touchdown play which culminated with fifth Clarendon offensive possession.

This drive had begun on the wildcat 38 yard line when senior tackle and captain Brad McGuire made a jarring tackle which separated a Canadian runner from the football. senior linebacker and captain John Smith alertly recovered the loose football.

The scoring drive was sparked by a 10-yard off-tackle blast by David Weatherton and a 15-yard run by David following a screen pass from Howell. But a 15-yard penalty moved the ball back to the Wildcat 38, and the Broncho threat appeared to be ended. Not so.

Howell drilled a quick look-in pass to Hill on the next play, and the tall senior then made a nice reverse spin that left on Wildcat tackler eating grass while the others were outrun to the goal line.

The Broncho defense, meanwhile, had perked up and started playing, shutting out the Canadian team since the early minutes of the game. One outstanding play was provided by junior safety Richard Gaines, who quickly lunged into a pile of bodies to recover another Wildcat fumble at midfield.

Such hustle was matched on the next offensive play, in which sophomore tailback Rodney Smith zoomed off-tackle and outside for 30 yards, sprung loose by the crisp blocking of quick guard Arlis Thomas, and senior quick tackle, Todd Muse.

On the next play David Weatherton capped the drive when he took a screen pass from Howell and raced 18 yards into the end zone.

This made the score 14-13. Broncho Coach Ted Allen, remembering Knute Rockne's immortal line that "a tie is like kissing your sister," chose to go for a win instead. But the 2-point conversion attempt failed.

In the third quarter the Bronchos came roaring back, though, to take the lead. Arlis Thomas punted the ball 46 yards to the Wildcat 27, where senior flanker Brett Bryant recovered a Canadian fumble on the punt reception. Soon thereafter, quarterback Dyron Howell threw this third touchdown pass of the evening, this time an 18-yard strike to Kelly Hill again. The kick failed, leaving the Bronchos ahead, 19-14.

But Canadian, remembering last year's fiasco, was not to be denied, its revenge. When opportunity presented itself in the form of an interception of a Howell pass at the Broncho 42-yard line, the Wildcats seized it. They drove to the Broncho 5-yard line, mostly on sweep plays.

Then a Clarendon off-side penalty moved the ball inside the 1-yard line.

From that point, Canadian fullback Darren Morris punched the ball over the goal line behind a block by his left tackle. He winning points were on the board.

Clarendon still had time. But a Howell fumble on the Broncho 45 yard line killed one drive, and the Wildcats used up precious time as they drove toward their fourth touchdown.

There never was a fourth touchdown for either team, however, Glenn Weatherton prevented a Wildcat score by racing across the field to make a saving tackle at the Broncho 10-yard line. And Richard Gaines made a tackle that crushed a Canadian runner and knocked him back 4 yards, ending the final threat to the Broncho goal line.

Clarendon then took possession of the ball 90 yards from victory, the team drove the ball valiantly to the Wildcat 35 yard line, thanks largely to a 30-yard explosion by David Weatherton. But they got no closer.

Thus the Broncho season began in disappointment. But, as they say, if you must lose, as everyone does sooner or later, it's better to lose sooner.

The players realize that they need more experience and hard work if they expect to reach their season's goals, says varsity coach Dudley Kelm, and they are not overly discouraged.

There were a number of bright spots on the bleak night. Dyron Howell completed 8 of 15 passing attempts for 117 yards and 3 touchdowns. David Weatherton gained 78 yards on 17 carries and caught 2 passes for 33 yards, making his total offensive output 111 yards and one touchdown.

Kelly Hill made 3 receptions for 60 yards and two touchdowns. And Arlis Thomas punted 5 times for a 41.2 average.

But the Bronchos still have a 0 for the most important statistic - wins. That condition, hopefully, will be corrected this Friday night at 8 p.m. when the Kress Kangaroos come to town.

The 1982 Bronchos also want to prove that cliché about another day.

An estimated 1.9 million acres of Texas crops are covered by All-Risk Crop insurance Legislation which would enable the State of Texas to further reduce insured grower's premium cost for All-Risk crop insurance will be introduced in January, according to Senator Bill Sarpalius of Hereford.

Sarpalius, Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture, announced that his committee has begun drafting such a bill.

"In 1980, Congress authorized, for the first time, the Federal government to pay up to 30% of the premium cost to farmers and ranchers insured under the USDA All-Risk Program," the Senator said. "The bill also authorized any state to further reduce the cost to its agricultural producers by paying an additional portion of the true risk premium cost."

For the 1982 crop year an estimated 1.9 million acres of Texas crops are covered by All-Risk crop insurance. Maximum liability on these acres exceeds $200,000,000.

Senator Sarpalius feels the additional assistance would make Crop Insurance programs more attractive to more farmers. "Increased participation helps spread insurance risk and strengthens the Crop Insurance programs for all farmers involved," he stated.

All-Risk Crop Insurance is administered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and marketed through private insurance firms. It guarantees a specific yield per farm for each insured crop. That yield is established prior to planting based upon either area average yields or the farmer's own production yield history. Crops are guaranteed against most unavoidable causes of loss. If the insured's production is less than the guarantee, a payment will be made for the production lost at a price selected before the growing season. No disaster designation nor any other special conditions are required for claims to be paid under the

Make it a Safe Harvest

All harvesting equipment is not alike. Yet there are enough similarities so that the following guidelines can help make September a safe harvest.

- Read and follow operator's manual for each harvester.
- Make sure workers are trained and competent.
- Keep shields in place.
- ALWAYS turn off engine before unclogging, adjusting or servicing.
- Watch where you are going. Adjust ground speed to conditions. Avoid ditches, steep slopes, etc.
- Keep riders off and away from harvesters.
- Wear appropriate personal protective equipment.
- Take breaks to maintain alertness and reduce fatigue.

crop wheat. All-Risk Crop Insurance Field Operations Director F.W. "Ted" Crouch, Jr. says that a list of local agents who offer the insurance can be obtained by contacting the county ASCS office.

Crouch says that the number of applications received to date and the interest expressed by wheat growers suggests that the amount of insurance in force will be a record high. "One major reason," Crouch notes, "is the continuing increase in crop production costs. Many wheat growers simply do not have the necessary cash reserves or additional borrowing capability to take a chance on losing the money that they will have invested in their crops."

"Another reason is the reduced cost of purchasing insurance." The federal government, in an effort to encourage participation in the program, pays up to 30% of the cost of the protection. Anticipated sign-up also is expected to be higher because a growing number of lenders are requiring or suggesting that borrowers carry at least enough coverage to provide for repayment of production loans.

Generally speaking, area school enrollments are down since last year. Hedley schools had an enrollment in 1981 of 107 but this year they have dropped five to a total enrollment in 1982 of 102. Clarendon High School dropped from 195 in 1981 to 171 this year. The grade schools went up, however, from 405 in 1981 to 416 this year.

Clarendon college has not completed their enrollment, it will continue until September 17th, but so far classes have been filled and it looks promising.

Wheat stocks on hand increased by 506 million bushels

Grain prices have been generally depressed due to an oversupply of wheat. President Reagan's decision to permit the US to export more grain will be a major step in resolving a serious problem. Wheat stocks on hand have increased by 506 million bushels in the past year. That represents a one-year increase of 15.4 percent. The price for wheat took a significant drop. Whereas the average price for wheat in June 1981 was $3.70 a bushel, the price dipped to $3.41 per bushel this past June.

The total supply of wheat as of June was 3 billion, 784 million bushels. According to the USDA projections, the American need for wheat this year will be 872 million bushels. That means the US has more than four-year supply on hand to meet its domestic needs. Wheat export projections for this year are one billion, 850 million bushels. Wheat export projections for this year are one billion, 850 million bushels. The average prices for corn and grain sorghum, likewise, have plummeted during the past year. Corn in June 1981 was selling for $3.17 a bushel as compared to $2.56 a bushel this past June. Sorghum sold for $5.03 per hundredweight in June 1981, but dropped to $4.36 a hundredweight this past June. The American Farm Bureau Federation contends that long-term agreements with the Russians tend to limit sales, but the Russians have been a large purchaser of American grain and a continuation of that relation is "necessary to our economic area of agriculture."

Supreme Court Upholds City Mobile Home Controls

The Texas Supreme Court has affirmed the validity of municipal ordinances regulating the location of mobile homes. The decision favorably affects hundreds of Texas cities which restrict such units to mobile home parks.

In mid-1978 Homer Comeau requested a permit from the City of Brookside Village to install a mobile home on his property, which was situated in a neighborhood of conventional site-built houses.

The board of aldermen denied the permit, citing a city ordinance providing that: "Parking of mobile homes... for use as a residence outside of a mobile home park shall be prohibited."

Comeau then sued in state district court, contending that the City's mobile home ordinance was invalid, and seeking an injunction prohibiting the City from enforcing the ordinance. In his suit, Comeau alleged that the ordinance arbitrarily deprived him of the use of his property, and represented an unconstitutional exercise of municipal police powers.

Comeau's suit was largely based on a 1926 case, Spann v. City of Dallas, in which the Texas Supreme Court held that:

"Since the right of the citizen to use his property as he chooses, so long as he harms nobody, is an inherent and constitutional right, the police power cannot be invoked for the abridgement of a particular use of private property, unless such use reasonably endangers or threatens the public health... safety... or welfare. (Emphasis added.)"

According to Comeau, the City's mobile home ordinance did not meet the test enunciated in Spann. Comeau argued that the appearance, quality of construction and other aspects of modern mobile homes made them comparable to conventional homes. Therefore, he asserted, the City could hardly justify using its police power to limit mobile homes to certain locations on the basis that they threatened the health, safety or welfare of the community.

Comeau also claimed that the City's ordinance violated the Equal Protection Clause of the U.S. Constitution, because it discriminated against mobile homes and in favor of conventional homes. And finally, Comeau contended that the ordinance was invalid because the City's authority over mobile homes had been preempted by federal and state law.

The district court ruled against Comeau, and upheld the validity of the City's mobile home ordinance in all respects. However, the court of civil appeals reversed, so the City appealed to the Supreme Court.

Subsequently the Texas Supreme Court, in a unanimous May, 1982 decision, reversed the appellate court and affirmed the decision of the district court.

The Court rejected Comeau's assertion that the City's ordinance was an invalid use of the police power. While mobile homes and conventional homes may resemble one another, the Court said, their similarities are not such that cities are prohibited from enacting ordinances distinguishing between the two.

"Mobile homes, by definition, are manufactured to permit movement," the Court noted. "The inherent structural differences in such manufactured housing can make them vulnerable to windstorm and fire damage; and their mobile nature may lead to transience and detrimentally impact property values if scattered throughout a municipality."

Moreover, the Court observed, "It is well recognized that mobile homes are properly subject to regulation under the police power of towns;... and other jurisdictions which have dealt with the question of restriction of mobile homes to designated areas generally have upheld such ordinances."

"The primary reason for restrictions on mobile home locations," the Court added, "has been that cities... found it easier to provide police and fire protection and to regulate health conditions, as well as to provide necessary services such as water, sewage, and lighting."

The Court also refuted Comeau's claim that the City's ordinance violated the Equal Protection Clause.

"As recognized in several jurisdictions, mobile homes are different and thus may be classified separately from other residential structures for purposes of regulation," the Court said. "We find such classification reasonable, as bearing a substantial relation to the preservation of public health, safety, morals or general welfare."

And last, the Court rejected Comeau's allegation that municipal controls had been preempted by the federal Manufactured Housing Construction & Safety Standards Act¹ and the Texas Manufactured Housing Standards Act.²

While it was true that federal and state laws overrode city regulations relative to mobile home construction, safety and installation standards, "we find nothing in the statutes that creates a conflict with... ordinances regulating the location of mobile homes," the Court said.

Accordingly, the Court concluded, the City's ordinance restricting mobile homes to parks "is upheld as compatible with federal legislation."

Copies of the Supreme Court's opinion in Comeau v. Brookside Village are available from the TML office at no charge.

¹Spann v. City of Dallas, 235 S.W. 513 (1921).

²The City noted in its pleadings that Brookside Village did not have a municipal water or sewerage system, these services being provided by individual wells and septic tanks. In combination with the conditions peculiar to local soils, which were of poor absorption capability, the necessity for close control of mobile homes spacing (which could be facilitated by aggregating them in mobile home parks) was cited by the City as a major reason for limiting the location of mobile homes. The City also cited the higher incidence of fire in older mobile homes—which were the dominant type in the community when the ordinance was first adopted—as a concern addressed by the ordinance.

Fish Tales

By KATIE DVORAK

A recent study by an independent research foundation appears to confirm what Texas Parks and Wildlife Inland Fisheries personnel have observed for some time that supplemental stocking of largemouth bass into lakes which already have standing populations of bass usually is a waste of money.

The report by the Bass Research Foundation is entitled "Stocking Bass to Improve Your Fishing... Is It the Key to Better Fishing?"

Ernest Simmons, head of the Inland Fisheries, said the report's findings indicate that while stocking bass into a new reservoir can be a tremendous boon to fishing, older lakes which have already reached their peak in fish production are less affected by introductions. "It's like overstocking a pasture with too many cows," Simmons said. "except that while cows starve slowly, stocked fish perish quickly when the habitat won't support the extra numbers."

NEW TEACHERS at CJC [l to r] Dan M. Molone, Electronic; Eleanore M. Lamplin,

Librarian, Joburta Helm, Music, Alta June Davis, LVN, Janyth Bowers, Busse, Pampa Center, and Larry D. Gilbert, Director, Pampa Center new College teachers.

There are some exceptions, however, in Simmons' view. The department has had excellent success stocking the Florida strain of large mouth in new reservoir and in some cases placing the Floridas into lakes with existing populations has proven beneficial because of introduction of the Florida gene for faster growth.

While stocking bass in older reservoirs has limitations, non-native species often can give fishing a boost. "Example of this are smallmouth bass, striped bass and walleyes, which occupy habitat different from that preferred by largemouths," he said. "Many lakes which have declined as producers of largemouth bass have proven to be excellent for these other species. Joe Kraai, Inland Fisheries Biologist in Canyon, said that the bass stocked in our little nursery pond are the Florida strain and "will be like adding a new bull to the herd" to help increase the size of our bass.

"Some of the fingerlings in the nursery pond are already over 6" long," Kraai said, "most of them are 4" or so. We may be able to drain the pond and put them into Greenbelt some time in October."

This project may take 10 years before any bass of great size show up at the lake. "The largest bass ever taken at Greenbelt was taken this year," Kraai reminded us so there could be some affects already.

From 1944 through early 1982, veterans obtained over 10.8 million GI home loans totaling $197 billion. The Veterans Administration guarantees part of a bank or other loan to help a home-buying veteran get a mortgage, often with no down payment and at lower than market rates.

Current high interest is preventing many young vets from buying a home, even with this government guarantee. Last year, a veteran needed a gross annual income of $28,000 to meet the $910 monthly payment on the average new GI loan of $54,000 at 16 percent interest.

Veterans can get more information and assistance from any American Legion Post or Veterans Administration Office. — Jack Flynt, National Commander.

Branded deer help studies

Branding is certainly the fastest method to identify a critter quickly and from a distance. The method used for marking deer is somewhat different from the traditional hot-iron branding of cattle. Dry ice is used to chill the iron which is applied to a shaved patch of skin on a deer's shoulder. The hair usually grows back white, creating an identifying patch which can be observed at long distances.

From the more than 1,100 fawns freeze branded in 1975 data has been returned which has led to some conclusions on deer distribution and movement.

102 fawns freeze branded in 1977 on a 14,000 acre ranch in Matagorda County have provided the following data: 49 buck, 53 does were branded and 2 percent of the bucks and 26 percent of the does remained on the ranch after 4 years of observation. 21 percent of the bucks were taken by hunters, 46 percent of them died in some explainable manner with only 33 percent unaccounted for. Does tend to remain close to their birthplace throughout their life, bucks have ranged up to 6 miles, often returning to their residence for the rutting season.

MAKE YOUR OWN TASTY WINES!

It's possible to make wine from almost anything that grows... and that includes carrots, dandelions, parsnips, blackberries, tomatoes, apples, potatoes, and more. You don't need lots of expensive equipment either, or a great deal of room. In fact, Gary Miller makes his favorite wine—from honey—in his one-room apartment in the city.

Furthermore, though Gary's super-simple directions might drive an experienced winemaker up the wall, they do work. Here's how he does it.

First, get a gallon jug, preferably glass but plastic will do. Try to avoid containers that have held acidic products like vinegar. Wash the jug with soap (not detergent), rinse it with baking soda and water, and finally, rinse it again with clear water.

Then put a pint and a half to two pints of honey in the jug (the more honey you add—within these limits—the stronger the wine will be), fill it with warm water, and shake the container.

Now, add a pack or cake of yeast—the same type you use for making bread—and leave the jug uncapped and sitting in a sink overnight. The solution will foam out and get pretty sticky at this point.

After the mess quiets down a bit, you'll need to put a top on the jug. This cover must be a device that will allow gas to escape from the jug without letting air get in.

The easiest way to fill this need would be to buy an inexpensive fermentation lock at a winemaking supply store. A lock comes complete with a cork, so get the right size to fit your jug's opening. As an alternative, you can simply buy a cork (most hardware stores have a variety of sizes) that fits your bottle, drill a hole in it that will just allow a 1/2" to 3/4" plastic or rubber hose to pass through, stick the hose through the hole, and stop up the jar with this apparatus, letting the loose end of the tube hang down into a glass or bowl that's filled with water.

Now, put your jug of brew away for about two weeks or until it's finished "working". It's ready to bottle when the bubbles stop coming to the top.

Old wine bottles are best. You must use corks (not too tight!) to seal the wine... since they'll allow small amounts of gas to escape. Honey wine is ready to drink just about any time.

You can use the same process with fruits (and some vegetables), except that you'll have to extract the juice and, maybe, add some sugar. You'll also find that most fruit will start to ferment without the help of added yeast and will be better that way. Fruit and vegetable wines generally taste best after at least three weeks of aging. Most are even better after six months and up to two years.

Here's a recipe for an old-timey favorite, dandelion wine.

Early in the morning when the dew is on the flowers, pick one gallon of perfect, open dandelion blossoms. Put the washed flowers in a two-gallon or larger open crock or new plastic bucket, and pour boiling water over them. Cover the receptacle with cheesecloth or a towel, and let it sit at room temperature for three days. Then squeeze all the juice out of the flowers, throw them away, and save the liquid.

Put the wine-to-be into a big pot and add 3 pounds of sugar... 3 or 4 lemons, chopped (include the skin, seeds, juice, and all)... and 3 or 4 oranges, chopped. Boil the mixture for 30 minutes in the covered pot, cool it to lukewarm, pour it into a crock or clean bucket, and add—stirring with a wooden spoon—1-1/2 to 2 packages or table-spoons of yeast.

Cover the container with cheesecloth and let the brew sit for two or three weeks, or till the bubbling stops. Filter the liquid through the cheesecloth to strain out any chunks. Then pour it into clean bottles and cork it tightly. Dandelion wine is best when left for two or three months before first tasting.

Antelope populations up for hunting this year

Rebounding pronghorn antelope populations in West Texas and the Panhandle have prompted officials to predict a good hunting season for this fall.

Charles Winkler, big game program director for the Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept. said hunting permit issuance rates will be higher than anytime in the past seven years. The season this year will be October 2-10.

"We have observed outstanding fawn productions and survival this year virtually throughout the pronghorn range, but the biggest improvement was in the Panhandle where herds have been down in populations for the past few years," Winkler said.

More than 1,900 permits are expected to be issued to landowners statewide. In the panhandle, where low pronghorn populations caused officials to not issue permits last year, landowners will get 117 permits.

"The Panhandle herd had a 30 percent fawn crop this year," Dave Dvorak, project supervisor for the area remarked. "Last year the rate was only 14 percent with poor survival. Herds in Dalham and Oldham Counties had as high as 45 percent fawn crops this spring."

Ample rainfall and resulting good range conditions account for the excellent production this year.

4-H-Fun for Everyone

How would you like to join 4-H? You can, you know, if you really want to, and we'd be glad to have you.

4-H is a national youth program for all youth between the ages of 9 and 19 regardless of race, color, ethnic background, economic status or cultural differences. The Texas 4-H program is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, a part of the Texas A & M University System.

The purpose of 4-H is to develop leadership and character in young people. 4-H'ers learn by doing through actively working on projects and participating in club meetings and 4-H activities, says Cheri Brown, county Extension 4-H program coordinator.

4-H clubs are organized in such places as rural, suburban and urban neighborhoods. Groups may be organized among neighborhood families in one or two city blocks, housing complexes or anywhere they are needed.

Youth can participate in a variety of projects in 4-H, such as foods, clothing, animal projects, electricity, photography, arts and crafts, and many, many others. In fact, almost anything you want can be a project, points out Brown.

Most important of all, 4-H is a lot of fun! Where else can you get together with other people your age and have fun while you learn? Where else can you get together with other people your age and have fun while you learn? Boys and girls in 4-H are always on the move doing something and participating in various activities.

For instance, the 4-H shooting, sports project attracts numerous youngsters each year who are interested in learning to shoot and observe gun safety.

Livestock projects give youngsters a chance to be responsible for an animal and enter stock shows where they learn competitiveness and sportsmanship. 4-H'ers can even learn to make their own clothes through clothing projects.

Besides projects, other activities such as the share-the-fun give youngsters a chance to participate in organized recreation, Brown says. County 4-H Fun Day, Day Camp or Rally Day is the time for playing games and making new friends. Members in 4-H can go on trips, take tours of interesting and educational places and help finance their college education with scholarships awarded through 4-H.

Boosting the 4-H program is the private sector which provides great resources of money, personnel and materials for the advancement of 4-H. The many business and industrial leaders who support 4-H give significant testimony that 4-H is a valuable educational program for America's youth.

Remember, you are what you want to be in 4-H, emphasizes Cheri Brown. It is educational, interesting, challenging and lots of fun.

Sesame Street not for kids only

Television is helping older adults stay in closer touch with the world than elderly people of the past could. As older adults with visual and hearing impairment find less satisfaction with just books or radio alone, television can step in to fill the perceptual gap, explains Judith Warren, a family life education specialist with A & M.

IN AND AROUND HEDLEY

Hedley News

Mr. and Mrs. Adamson's grand daughter from Canadian, sang Sunday at the Methodist Church. Mrs. Boatright had company from Boys Ranch superintendent Lamont Waldrip during the week. Louise and Dottie Bogue went to a wedding, Louies great niece in Denver, CO. the Bogue's were gone a week, visiting relatives and enjoying themselves. Cotton Festival meetings are being held every Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the Lions Den. Any one interested in welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nevins and Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Ball went to Boys Ranch on Sunday and saw a real good rodeo and had lots of barbecue. The stadium was packed full of people from all over.

The Gardenhires had a nice vacation to Colorado and New Mexico.

Dorothy Crawford and Pauline Kaufman gave an 85th Birthday party and family reunion in honor of their father, J.D. Morrison. Guests and family came from Arkansas, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Missouri and from Texas including cities of Ft. Worth, Winnsboro, Graham, Dimmitt, Midland, Houston, Memphis, Amarillo Dallas, Levelland, Clarendon Plainview, Vega and Austin. A great time visiting and picture taking was enjoyed by all.

Hedley Lioness

Club roars into

1982-1983

While most people might be aware of the Lion's Club and it's functions, few may be aware of what their female counter-parts known as the Lioness Club. The Lioness Club, was founded in December of 1975 and there are only 3,000 Lioness organizations in 70 countries to date. Hedley is the only town to have a Lioness Club withing District 2TA. The charter for the Hedley Lioness Club was granted in February of 1978 and Sue Weatherly is the club's fifth president. Hedley, though small, is progressive enough to recognize the need of a women's service organization help better the community.

Hedley can ask the Lioness organization to help support the Lion's Club, to help donate time, material and money to the community and to individuals in need within the community, to help support the school and community projects. And the Lioness Club will cheerfully and wholeheartedly respond.

This year is a land mark year for the club because this year the membership has almost tripled. From a small nucleus of less than ten members, there are now 26 Lioness'. Among those members, the following were present at the first meeting held Sept. 1: Eva Canada, Mary Kay Clubb, Mahdeene DeBord, Katie Dvorak, Betty Jo Gilcrest, Lura Hounds, Helen Lamberson, Evelyn Messer, Sue Nivens, Nina Riddlesburger, Patty Springer, Zora Stevens, Louise Stewart, Mary Tarbert, Jean Taylor, Sue Weatherly, Ruthie White, Betty Williams, Mylinda Word and Belinda Avery.

Our 1982-83 officers are: President Sue Weatherly; Mahdeene DeBord is Treasurer; and Louise Stewart is Secretary. There are, of course, many vice-presidents and members of the board and our official motion-maker, Marty Tarver. But we list only the three major office holder.

Several of these new members received their beautiful little Lioness pins. They were: Sue Nivens, Helen Lamberson, Eva Canada, Mary Kay Clubb, Lura Hounds, Nina Riddlesburger, Mylinda Word and Belinda Avery. We certainly welcome these beautiful women into the "pride". Anyone interested in becoming part of this group of civic minded women, contact any of the ladies listed above and they will certainly extend an invitation to you to attend the next meeting.

Cotton Festival time approaches faster than a speeding ticket. In spite of the crop disasters and the fact that there are only 8 senior girls, the Hedley Cotton Festival will go on as usual. The Lioness activities include setting up a food booth to serve pie slices and perhaps other delicious tidbits. They will also have a Sue Weatherly float special in the parade.

Other business included the decision to give the Borger Girlstown a kitchen shower this year rather than to sponsor a girl. These girls have little cottages which they must furnish with all of the necessities in bed, bath and kitchen. They prepare their meals in these little cottages and must have all of the utensils, foods and niceties that any kitchen has to have to function smoothly and beautifully. The Hedley Lioness Club will begin to collect new and used articles to be found in the kitchen, including pots, pans, utensils dishes, ornaments and linens and even foods. If you would like to participate in this adventure, drop any of your articles off at the Hedley Security State Bank to Sue Weatherly. You will receive a thank you note from Girls-town and the warmth of knowing your little bit will be a big help to these girls.

Out of the dwindling fund, $100 was donated to the Hedley scholarship fund. The minds of Hedley's youth are more important than the bulging pocketbook of the club. We also purchased our usual half page ad in the Owls yearbook. Money was also given to help a family in Hedley that the city had brought to the attention of the club.

We enjoyed a delicious supper prepared by Eva Canada who brought a wonderful mexican casserole Lura Hounds brought fried chicken; Mary Kay Club brought a fresh, crisp salad; Betty Jo Gilcrest made a super moist cake and Mahdeene DeBord brought a gooey jello dish and someone brought no-lead beans.

NON-NEGOTIABLE

All-new Ice Spectacular comes to Amarillo!

Ice Capades celebrates with a festival of lights in their dazzling new extravaganza "Light Up The Ice" opening Thursday, September 23 through Sunday, September 26 at the Amarillo Civic Center for 6 terrific shows.

Opening the show with all the glitter of a glamorous Broadway opening night and the excitement of a Hollywood premiere, the Ice Capettes and Ice Cadets will "Light Up The Ice" with a brilliant balance of exciting skating and theatrical effects. Spotlights illuminate the ice and focus on the unique skating talents of Tommy Miller.

For kids, Ice Capades brings to life "Alice At The Wonderland Ball," an adaptation of the famed fantasyland of Lewis Carroll. Through the looking glass steps Alice, into Danceland, where she meets the Queen of Hearts, the White Rabbit, the Mad Hatter and all the storybook characters of the famous fairytale. Featuring Carrie Rugh as Alice, and the Corps de Ballet as giant playing cards, Ice Capades lives up to its reputation for presenting beauty and the best in live entertainment.

A feeling of frosty fantasy is fashioned by Jennifer Eckman as the Crystal Star, Robert Wagenhoffer as the Comet, Tony Paul and Terry Pagano as the Space Visitors as well as glacial gods and goddesses in luminescent silver and turquoise space creations in "Journey To The Ice Age."

From the future to the past, Ice Capades takes a musical trip to the 40's, 50's and 60's in "Juke Box Jamboree." Jivin' gals and guys get the joint a-jumpin' with up-beat skating to the lively tunes of yesteryear. Ice Capades is 'at the hop' with the world's largest jukebox and dancers strutting atop a stack of 78's. "Juke Box Jamboree" generates a display of exciting skating by Ice Capades' stars Richard Ewell, Judy Shaull and the adagio artistry of Tony Paul and Terry Pagano.

With the enthusiasm and skill of drum majors and majorettes, the Ice Capettes and Ice Cadets are assembled for "Precision on Parade." With the excitement of a passing parade, the Corps de Ballet cheers the entrance of U.S. National Junior Champion Carrie Rugh.

Voila! For a breathtaking finale, Ice Capades presents the enchantment of "Paris By Night." Stalk the star-lit streets of the magic city; gaze on the twinkling lights of the Eiffel Tower; and, capture the fantasia flight of a flock of doves as they soar to the Arc de Triomphe. The exciting new pair team of Frank Sweiding and Beth Flora take us on a "Paris Holiday" and the entire cast of Ice Capades is on hand for a special "Au Revoir".

Providing comedic counterpoise throughout the show is the slap-stick humor of those capering clowns Biddy and Baddy. One of the newest members of the Ice Capades family is World Champion juggler Danny Rosen who is sure to delight audiences and Tommy Miller's brand of comedy will definitely leave the audiences in stitches.

Tickets for the lavish new edition of Ice Capades are available at the Amarillo Civic Center Box Office. Prices are $6.50 - $7.50 - $8.50 with substantial discounts for youths and senior citizens at certain performances. For more information, call: 378-3096.
