Garage and auction sale to benefit baseball teams

This Saturday, May 1st, beginning at 8 a.m. there will be a community garage sale on Bylow's parking lot next to Guys & Dolls, across the street from the post office. All proceeds will go to help our kids in the Little League Baseball Program. Please donate clothes, furniture, tools, fishing equipment etc. We will furnish you with a receipt on the value of your donation for your tax purposes. This car, 1973 Pontiac, with 54,000 miles on it was donated to the Clarendon kids by "Top of Texas New & Used Car Dealer", Doll and Von Nita Douthitt owners. This is a real slick car, yellow and white in color with good white vinyl upholstery. It is a four door, V8 engine, with good tires. This car plus other GOOD items will be auctioned to the highest bidder. The auction will begin at 1 p.m. There will also be some furniture items auctioned, donated by Osburn Furnitures and Stavenhagen Furniture. Plus a fisherman's package donated by Gibson's. An Oil Painting by James Ivey Edwards will also be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Many items at the garage sell will just be sold at the price you offer for it, such as clothes, etc. But - on the auction and other things you purchase - remember that ALL PROCEEDS GO TO Little League, and whatever you pay for the items will be a tax deductible donation. So pay accordingly. The chair lady over the garage sell will be Mrs. Norman (Marty) Leffew, phone 874-2292. Phone her for special information. Please do one of two things with items you donate for the sale. Either bring them to the Tom Harguess home, corner of Fourth and Goodnight, Friday evening or deliver it to the Bylow Parking lot Saturday morning by 8 a.m.

If a red check appears by your name your paper has expired. Subscription rates for Donley County $9.00 outside of County $12.00. Mail Box 1110, Clarendon, Texas 79226.

Girls track Regional Champs

As expected, the Clarendon Girls Track Team added another trophy to their cluster of outstanding achievements. The Regional Championship is probably second only to a State Championship in all of Sports because you are competing for a title against more than one team, they are all there at the same time. This is truly an outstanding feat for a group of young ladies.

As we were going to Odessa, the weather began to cool down and by the time we arrived in Odessa, there was nearly one inch of rain on the track and still raining. The jumping pits were soaked, and the throwing rings were slippery. But by the time we were ready to work out, the rain had stopped and gave us our break.

Friday was about the same with out the rain. It was cool but warming as the day progressed at a regional meet, there are some highs and some lows. People will be able to perform under Con't P. 12

Doing MORE...With LESS!

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

MOTHER'S AMAZING FIN PRESS

Here's a simple-to-build device that'll enable you to construct all the heat-catching fins you'll need for most any homemade solar water heater... out of free-for-the-gathering tin soda or soup cans! (Actually, even if you decide to make your sheeting out of more expensive copper, you'll still want to use our research staff's clever invention—MOTHER'S Fin Press—to help you establish the maximum heat-transferring surface contact between your water pipes and your collector's fins.)

MOTHER'S Amazing Fin Press was invented to help those people who want to build homemade sun gatherers achieve good efficiency without having to hire a machinist to groove the fins. The bottom section of MOM's two-piece unit consists of a seven-inch length of 3/8" copper pipe (or 1/2" wooden dowel) that's been set—to a depth of slightly less than half its diameter—into a side-walled block. The top piece is little more than another block that's been grooved to fit over the baseboard's projecting pipe. To work the fin shaper, simply position a flat, pre-cut piece of copper or tin on the base, put the cap over it, and push down. Presto! You have one grooved fin ready to cradle a bit of collector pipe!

MOTHER'S Fin Press can be made in only a few minutes out of scrap pipe and lumber bits, and is simplicity itself to construct. The accompanying illustrations show you what the "Fin Form" looks like so you can construct your own. However, if you need a more detailed diagram, the free reprint mentioned at the end of the column will provide you an in-depth plan for constructing the fin form (as well as directions for actually using the fins to make a solar collector!).

To turn free soup or soda cans into sun-snagging fins, just cut both the lids and the end rims off your scrounged cylinders with an electric—or manually-cranked, wall-fastened—can opener (hold the tins in a horizontal, rather than vertical, position when you do this). Then—using steel wool or a propane torch—buff or burn off the metal's protective coating. Cut each can down the middle (see illustration 1), trim the sheet to a flat 5-1/2" X 6" shape... and groove it on the fin press (see illustrations 2 and 3).

When you're ready to secure a fin to some pipe, just lay the shaped tin on two fire-proof boards (or blocks, or bricks) placed side by side with a pipe width's space between them (see illustration 4). Nestle the fin's curved center section into the gap, set your collector pipe into position, hold it in place with any heavy—nonflammable—weight (to increase sheet-to-pipe contact), and then solder the two metals together. Add more fins to your pipe—by laying out the grooved sheets, weighting, and soldering—until you've completed your platemaking... then buff off any extra flux along the length of the pipe.

When all that's done, you'll have finished a crucial (and often the most expensive) step of your home-designed solar collector assembly... and the cost for all your fins will be a grand total of zero dollars and zero cents!

"The best music should be played as the best men and women should be dressed—neither so well nor so ill as to attract attention to itself."
Samuel Butler

consumer. Though most of those in the home improvement business are honest, an alarming number use lies and deception to defraud millions of dollars from unsuspecting consumers every year.

What you want done: It's your home - you're the boss! The contractor works for you. The kinds of improvements, large or small, must suit your needs, so plan ahead. Know what you want done. It's your decision, not his! Beware of door-to-door sales or the contractors who want to "sell" you improvements that you don't need or want for your home.

Who does the work: You're the boss; know whom you are hiring. Demand references such as other jobs and local suppliers; give them a call. Check to see if the contractor is licensed or bonded. Know where to find him, address, phone, license number, etc. Beware of the contractor who is reluctant to talk to you about his business or his former customers.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—For many people today, dieting is a way of life. Some consumers go to diet clinics to maintain their diet and most diet centers are reputable and helpful. But the consumer who does not choose a diet center wisely can lose a great deal of money or enter an unsafe program.

The first concern of a consumer wanting to go to a diet clinic should be that of safety. The consumer should first study the kind of diet program the clinic offers and have his or her private physician evaluate the program. This is especially important for the consumer with health problems other than obesity, such as diabetes or heart trouble. For these patients, an ill-planned diet program without doctor supervision can be extremely dangerous.

If you use a diet clinic be prepared to ask questions. You have a right to know if there is medical supervision. If so, how many doctors and nurses supervise the program and how often are they available to the consumer? Is emergency service available after hours? Who are the doctors and nurses supervising the program? Are they licensed to practice medicine in Texas? If this information cannot be obtained from the clinic, write the State Board of Medical Examiners for whatever information they might be able to give. Furthermore, the Attorney General's Office and the local Better Business Bureau will be able to tell you if they have received any complaints against that specific clinic.

They cannot comment on the validity of the complaints, but the numbers may help the consumer decide what is best for him.

Finally, a consumer should be careful about the payment plan with the clinic. Some consumers have paid the full amount to a diet clinic on one day, only to come back the next day and find the clinic closed. Others have paid, become ill from the program, and been unable to continue, and on notifying the clinic discovered they could not get their money back. It cannot hurt the consumer to ask, "How long have you been in business?" or "If I become ill on the program and cannot continue, will my money be refunded?" or "I need approval from my doctor before I begin the program. Do you have a prospective program that I could show him?" It is even better to get the clinic's answer in writing. If the answer to any of these questions is suspicious or if any answer is refused, the consumer should reconsider that program. Furthermore, if the clinic has lied in answering any of these questions, it may be the basis of proving a violation of the Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

If a consumer has a problem with a diet clinic, he can always complain to the Attorney General's Office after the consumer has lost his money or become ill. However, it is much more advisable for the consumer to check out a clinic before a problem arises in order to save time, money, and trouble.

Nursing reunion

The 1968 graduating Class of John V. London schools of Vocational Nursing held a reunion in the home of Maxine Bennett in Pampa April 24. This was the 14th year the class has met for their yearly reunion.

Six ex-students enjoyed a very pleasant get-together. We couldn't believe it had been 14 years. Some of the women tried to make it 10 or 12 years, but it just couldn't be done.

Attending from Clarendon was Willene Judd. Billie Hicks would like to have attended but was unable to come.

Our former instructor Betty Wells of Pampa was unable to attend. She was in the hospital at Pampa. She had a big surprise when her ex-students went trailing into her room at the hospital. She is doing fine, will be released to go to her home in Lefors Monday. It was a very nice day. We are hoping to get everyone to attend next year for our 15th year.

Happy Birthday

I want to express to all the people in this community my appreciation for the work that has been done and the enthusiastic support we have received as a candidate for State Representative.

I am confident this kind of "grass root" support from the rural communities will result in a victory for me, and the people of the 84th district.

As we vote, may each one of us fully appreciate the freedoms we enjoy in this country. Freedoms that are guaranteed by our Constitution and Administered in the democratic process of government.

Among the Freedoms of Speech, Religion, Assembly, and the Press, remains the most precious freedom of all, and that is our individual rights to choose, to vote our convictions, and to make our own personal decisions.

Pastor Roger Gray invites you to come and worship God.

Because linoleic acid isn't fabricated in our system, it is called an essential fatty acid or EFA. Therefore, we must get it from the foods we eat.

Metabolically, linoleic acid works with other nutrients to perform vital functions such as manufacturing prostaglandins. These substance influence body functions such as reproduction, muscle activity, blood vessel constriction and nerve impulse transmission.

An easy way to maintain a good intake of linoleic acid is to incorporate polyunsaturated fats into your diet.

A tablespoon of polyunsaturated vegetable oil in salads, margarine or other foods in a normal diet will satisfy an adult's daily requirement for the EFA.

Meat and dairy fats contain some linoleic acid but it represents less than 10% of the fat present.

Summer time diet time

There are two paths to a lean life. One is the fat diet path. It's for persons who don't mind wasting time, throwing away money and jeopardizing their health.

The other path is a narrow one. It's for persons who are serious about losing weight and staying healthy. It requires self-discipline and common sense.

Calorie-counting is a MUST if you're on a weight-loss diet. Your body counts calories even if you don't.

Calories represent the energy your body needs to work, grow and repair itself from sickness and injury, so you do need some calories to stay healthy.

In addition, you need water, protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. The best way to obtain these is to have a variety of foods every day from the four food groups.

Diet also includes exercise. Everyone should exercise, particularly persons on a weight-loss diet. Exercise will help you burn calories and shed unwanted pounds.

Following the narrow path is hard work.

Large onion crop expected this spring

AUSTIN—The largest crop of spring onions since 1979 is expected in Texas this year, with growers anticipating 19,400 acres for harvest.

"We're right on schedule. Harvest usually begins in mid-March, providing the country with its first taste of fresh green onions since the previous summer," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said.

Brown added that the quality has been "very good" and yields are average or above.

Texas is the country's second biggest producer of onions. Most of these are harvested in the spring. Valley growers will pick around 16,400 acres this year. Growers in San Antonio-Winter Garden and Laredo in South Texas will begin harvest around April 1, adding another 3,000 acres to production.

Texas neighbors give helping hand

ARTHUR SHIELDS BIG TRUCK USED TO PUT DOWN FERTILIZER AND CHEMICALS.

Neighbors are a golden commodity in our area. Especially when things are going tough. Sheila and Larry Wade know first hand what a truly wonderful thing is neighborly love and help.

Farmers are indeed a hard working lot. They plant their crop, then start to worry if they will get enough rain, if the worms will eat their crop, if they can get enough money together to spray their crop, and get a good harvest in, or if the price will drop. If they do have a drought or worms do eat their crop, the price inevitably goes up and the farmer doesn't have anything to sell.

But let one of these farmers have worse problems than the normal kind, such as a fire, an injury or, as in the case of Larry Wade, a ruptured appendix, neighbors will gather together and bring that farmer up to where they are, so they can all worry at the same level.

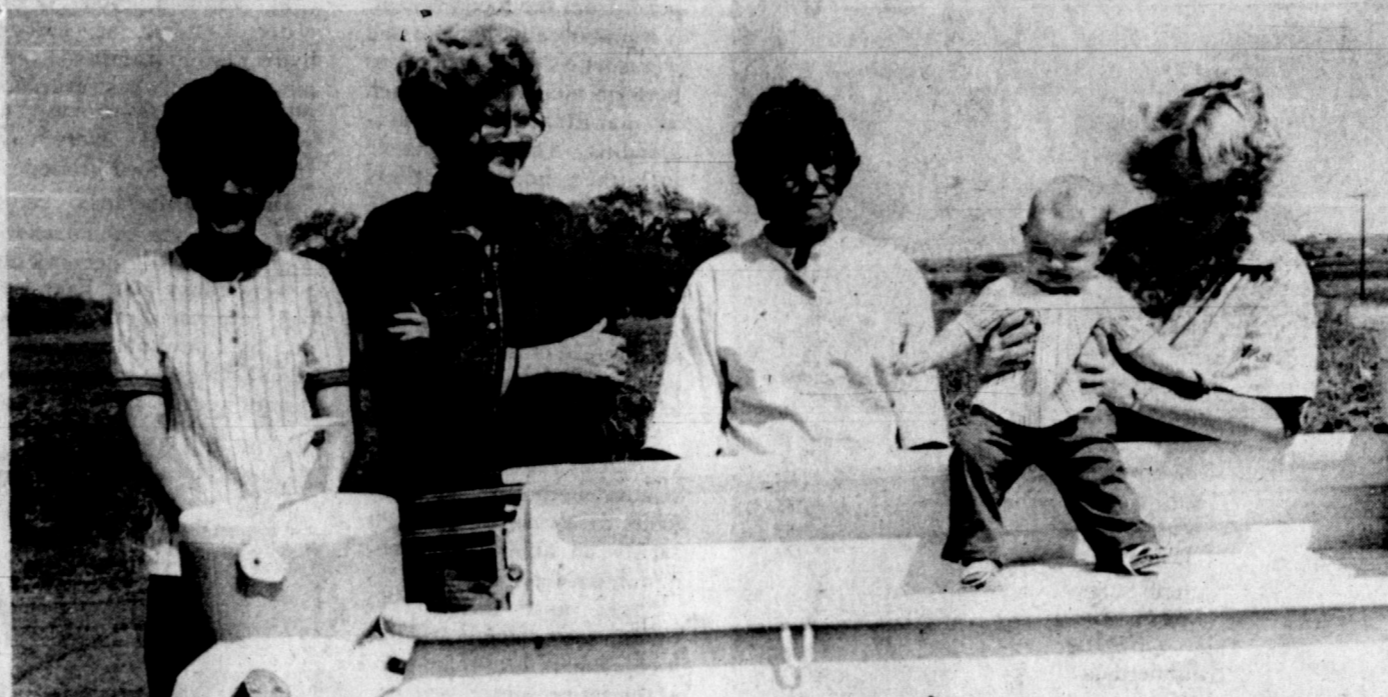

After Wade's appendix ruptured Wednesday night, his neighbors brought them tractors and went over the 452 acres, putting down fertilizer and chemicals. Arthur Shields used his big truck, and they got Wade's field done.

Paymaster Gin in Lelia Lake furnished the dinner for the crew at noon. Then around 3:30 p.m., Lavita Klennert, Dorothy, Barbara and Joberta Helms, and Lindy served refreshments to these men.

Farmers who had their own fields to think about but who came out of respect, love and neighborly concern were: Roy Lee and J.W. Helms, Lacy Noble, Earl Shields, Dan and Doyle Hall, Eddie Helms, Johnny Jaramillo, Raymond Sanchez, George Shields, R.O. Nelson, J. B. McDaniels, Delmer and Jerry Kooztz, Julio Sanchez, Arthur and Gary Shields, Bruno Schwertner and Horace Brock.

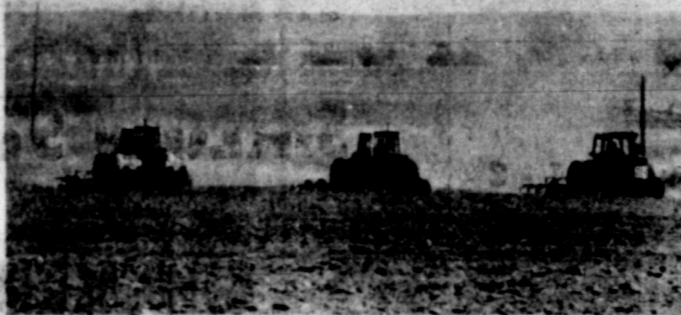

The Lord has blessed all of us with strength to do our own work and with the desire to help others. Lelia Lake neighbors have shown us all that this strength and desire are strong in their hearts.

GOOD NEIGHBOR LADIES ARE (l to r) Lavita Klennert, Mrs. Dorothy Helms, Barbara Helms, Joberta Helms and Lindy served refreshments about 3:30 to the workers.

FISH TALES

BY KATIE DVORAK

Introduction of the Florida largemouth bass started in Texas during the early 1970's according to Higginbotham, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Florida subspecies is known to grow larger than our native largemouth. Research has indicated that it's ability to grow larger is also genetically influenced.

The Florida and native bass are very similar in appearance and are difficult to distinguish with the untrained eye. However, Florida bass appear more golden-brown in color as compared to the greenish hue of the native bass.

In waters were both fish occur, hybridization is common and from available information, highly desirable. The resulting offspring, called the "superbass", is probably superior to either parental strain in growth and survival. The current state record, a 15 1/2 pounder taken in 1981 from Lake Echo, has been verified as a hybrid.

The Lions Tale

BY GENE ALDERSON

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday at the Lions Hall. There were 23 members and Lion Sweetheart Jessie Adams present. Following the regular opening ceremony, Boss Lion McCombs read a letter of thanks to the club for our recent help on the purchase of a pair of eye glasses. He also presented a request from the school nurse for the additional pairs of glasses. This request was tabled until we get a current report on the clubs finance including bills now due.

Our program today was presented by Lion Rattton. He explained how the new-satellite receiving system for home TV's works. The program was both interesting and informative. Thank you Lion Rattton.

fire ants

AUSTIN — "Trying to destroy fire ants with Amdro is like trying to kill an elephant with a b-b gun," State Representative Dan Kubiak (D-Rockdale) said today.

Kubiak, Chairman of the Select Committee on Fire Ants, said Amdro was at best a stop-gap measure that might provide temporary relief. "The fire ant spread has reached epidemic proportions and there is currently no known remedy to totally destroy them," Kubiak said.

The fire ant has spread across more than 100 counties in Texas. Birds, bees, livestock, earthworms, and humans are susceptible to attack.

"I believe that the key to destroying the fire ant on a permanent basis is a coordinated, concerted effort by all of the nine states that are infested," Kubiak said.

Kubiak added that, in his opinion, biological controls will be the best solution. "We need to find the natural enemies and predators of the fire ant," Kubiak said. People using Amdro should carefully follow instructions on its application. The chemical should be used in very small amounts, sprinkled around the mound so as not to disturb the ants. Also, Amdro should only be used on a dry day with a temperature above 60 degrees. Amdro should be used within five days of purchase in order for it to be at peak effectiveness. Only a tablespoon per mound is needed.

TEXAS IS GOING TO NEED A GOOD LAWYER.

Texans are being sued by the federal government and private individuals. Losing those suits could cost us over $5 billion. That's about one thousand dollars per family. Texas needs a good lawyer and we couldn't do any better than hiring Max Sherman.

Friends in the Houseparty that altered registering guest and serving were Lacreia Petty of Clarendon, Deena Mays of Amarillo, Lynn Skaggs of Hedley and SuLynn Ariola of Brice.

Beautiful silk corsages were presented the Bride, the Mothers, the Grandmothers and the girls in the houseparty.

The serving table was laid with a beautiful handmade cut work cloth in candlelight shades. Centering the table was a silver candelabra, filled with shades of apricot silk roses and bearing candlelight tapers. Continuing to carry out the bride's chosen colors, apricot punch, cookies and mints were served.

Many guests called during the afternoon and Karen received a lovely array of gifts.

Hostesses for the shower were: Beth Johnston, Charlene Mays, Floy Barrow Frances Johnson, Geneva Johnson, JoAnn Brown, Barbara Cosper, Tiny Alderson, Nita Manning, Marie Bell, Jean Chamberlain, Carolyn Hamilton, Barbara Morrow, Wilma Lindley, Kathrine Ariola, Sharon Tipton, Datha DeMoss, Lynn Daniel, June Topper, Pat Wilson, Dorothy Butler and Shirley Petty.

JV Bronco runners-up at District meet

The Clarendon JV Bronco Boys Track Team finished second at the District 2-AA meet in Shamrock on April 21. The JV Broncos scored 130 points in a fine effort and were only 3 points behind the Wellington JV team which won the meet. The Broncos lost 26 points in disqualifications which could have provided the margin of victory. The 400 meter relay team which finished second was disqualified for failing to make the exchange within the passing zone and a first place in the intermediate hurdles was lost when it was ruled that a Clarendon hurdler ran out of his lane on the curve for more than 3 consecutive steps. The JV Broncos did not let these problems hinder them in later performances and almost overcome these unfortunate mishaps to claim the team title. Once again these young men displayed talent, character and determination as each individual competed to the limit of his abilities. This was the final meet of the year for the JV Boys but their improvement throughout the year makes for some exciting prospects for future varsity track teams in Clarendon.

JV Broncos who competed at the District Meet and that efforts are as follows:

Broncos claim track title 5th consecutive yr

The Clarendon Bronco Varsity boys track team claimed their fifth consecutive district track title by outdistancing the rest of their district rivals last Wednesday in the District 2-AA meet held in Shamrock. The district track championship also allowed the Broncos to hold claim to the triple crown of Dist. 2-AA athletics as they had previously secured championships in football and basketball. These championships coupled with the girls championship efforts in basketball and track made this Clarendon's most successful overall year in athletics.

The track championship was captured by the Broncos by using the same formula that has been a Bronco trademark throughout the year: team effort and competitive desire. The Broncos scored 160 points in the meet as they scored in all 15 events. Wellington was the nearest competitor with 124 points. Broncos who participated in the meet and their efforts are as follows:

MEDICINE PATCH

A unique method of delivering medicines to the body was approved last summer by the Food and Drug Administration. This method involved the use of the transdermal patch that is applied to the skin. In the patch is a medicine that is capable of being absorbed through the skin into the bloodstream. The patch is held in place on the skin via an adhesive and, to the casual observer, may appear to be a small bandage.

There are advantages with this method of drug delivery as compared to the more traditional use of oral tablets, capsules, and liquids. For example, the patch may release medicine for 24 hours or longer as compared to a few hours for many medicines taken by mouth.

The first drug to be approved for marketing as a transdermal patch was scopolamine... an atropine-like medicine used to prevent motion sickness. The small patch may be placed on the skin behind the ear and affords protection for up to three days. During the same three day period, it would take several tablets of scopolamine to provide similar protection. Recently, three manufacturers have introduced transdermal patches containing the anti-angina medicine nitroglycerin. Nitroglycerin delivered via medicine patches may provide long-term protection against chest pains associated with angina.

pressure and some people can not. That is a part of life.
It was good to see our girls perform because they had several places to fold up and go home but they gave a super effort and came through to win the points on Friday in the field events and then qualify in the running events.

Friday in the prelims of the running events Clarendon gave this effort:

400 M RELAY
Gardner, Hardin, Thompson, and Calloway 1st in heat 49.46

100 M HURDLES
Thompson 2nd 15.34

100 M DASH

heat 12.49

ton, and Calloway 1st in heat

1600 M RUN

Shields, Hardin, Thompson, Weatherton 2nd in heat 4:07.5

In the field event finals, the girls had some real disappointments. Angelia Gardner has really improved in her discus and we felt as though she would be about to place but conditions were not right. But—in the shot put, Angelia was determined to help our team make up the points we needed to stay on our projection. There were five girls that had better throws coming into the meet, and we need a fifth place in it to pick up for our discus.
Angelia released a throw of 37 1/4" to win the event and help our team. Vanessa and Linda were in the long jump and we had the 2nd and 6th best jumps qualifying to the met. Vanessa had a 17' 11 1/4" to qualify for the state meet and one jump left. She came down the runway and hit the board real solid and landed 18' 3" into the pit. Linda was the 8th in a field of 8 to qualify for the finals, then came back in the finals to jump 17' 0" for a 5th place.

Vanessa and Susan were on entries in the triple jump and finished 3rd and 6th.
Vanessa jump 35' 10" and the second place jump was 35' 10 1/2" - just 1/2" of an inch. Susan jumping 34' 10 1/2" for her top effort.
Kelli was the only Clarendon girl in the high jump and was 7th of the field of 16 with a jump of 5' 0".

Paula Noble was also entered in the shot put and threw 31' 7"—not bad for a freshman at the Regional meet.

Saturday, the sun came out and the air warmed up.
The girls were ready to run with any one. It took for ever to run the 3200 m. run before the sprint relay. But finally we got on the track in lane 5 and the gun fired someone jumped—not us. Angelia was very calm on the outside.
The gun fired again and we were in good position on first exchange, second exchange, and 3rd exchange. Vanessa brought the baton across in 49.5 sec. in second place.

Susan had to run all the way to the other end of the stadium for the strat of the hurdles. She was in lane 5 and got out of the blocks real good and at the 8th hurdle was in 2nd place, but the 100 m relay took its toll on her and she faded to 3rd just .24 sec. of a second from going to Austin.

Our next event was the 100 m. dash, we had Vanessa and Angelia in here, counting on big points. They did not let us down — 10 points in the event. They both had very good starts and were out with the leaders. As they came closer to the finish line, it was a fact of who was leaning forward the most.
The winner ran a 12.50, Angelia a 12.54, Vanessa a 12.50—.06 of a second was the difference between 1st and 4th.

The 1600 m run was a very fast field and Dyanne placed seventh.

Linda was in the 200 m dash with the second best time behind the leader who has the state's best time. She got an excellent start and held her stagger in second place for 8 very important points. She was timed in 26.14 finishing into the wind.

The points were tied at 83 to 83. The team from Hamlin was through competing. We still had our mile relay with the 3rd best qualifying time.
Patrice lead us out with a 62.1 sec. 400, then Kelli pull us to second with a 62.0 sec.
400. Susan ran a 62.9 leg and we were in 4th behind Hale Center, White Deer, Panhandle. Linda was our anchor leg and she held our 4th place until the last 55 yards, she put on a burst of speed and out leaned the Hale Center girl at the tape for the 3rd place points with a time of 4:06.4. Linda was in time in 58.82 for her leg of the relay.

This was what we had been waiting on the Regional Championship, our kids have set the goal of winning a state title and with the kind of effort they are made of and some luck we will get it.

Mooring-Branigan Greek Saga

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Mooring and Mr. Branigan.

The people around the area knew of the legend, but would not believe in it as true. There was no evidence of anything of which Homer had written. This rich German, Heinrich Schliemann, began excavation in 1874. He discovered the ancient ruins of old Mycenae and proved it was first Greek about 2000 B.C. The Mycenaean period began in the 16th Century B.C. and ended in the 11th Century B.C. Then began the geometric design of the Greek.

Many treasurers were found in the tomb of Aga-mmon, the most famous king of the Mycenaean Prehistoric time. The tomb is in perfect condition—not reconstructed at all. The shape of the tomb is beehive style and from the floor to the top of the dome is 40 meters. Many treasurers of jewels and personal effects were found in the excavation by Schleimann during 1874-1876. Digging has continued during the years and is still being done today. The treasurers are in the museum of Mycenae and in Athens. In this tomb, the bodies were not embalmed nor placed in caskets—just laid to rest on the floor around the walls.
Those buried there were only of the royal family. There is a smaller room just off to the right of the door with the same type opening, with nothing to be found but ashes on the floor. Theory has it was used for sacrificial burning of animals in honor of the dead. Evidence of smoke can be seen on the walls and ceiling.

We left the tomb and walked quite a distance uphill toward the ruins of the city. At the entrance in the wall is the Lions Gate—The doors were massive, but long gone. Above the opening were reliefs of two lions reared on their hind legs facing each other. The heads were gone, presumed to have been made from ivory or gold and taken away at some time as treasure. One could say Ancient Mycenae could be called an Acropolis as it was built on a high hill. The reason for building on the highest level around provided security and look-outs for invaders. In any Acropolis, the royal family was quartered in the center of the area, all around the walls were homes of the other inhabitants. The rocks in the walls are huge. Mythology has that it was built by Cyclops, who was very strong. How the stones really were placed in such high walls remain a mystery.

Leaving to go to Nauplion, we traveled a narrow highway, passing apricot orchards. At a railroad crossing a wild pepper tree grew, which resembled our China Berry tree. There are many road-side stands selling produce, right against the road-passed a farmer going home riding a donkey. He sat near the head of the donkey and saddle-baskets were near the hips of the donkey and were full of groceries.

This area is much like the Hondo Valley in New Mexico, very rich soil and they make two crops a year. We passed a small limestone quarry much like the small coal mines in southern Colorado north of Raton.

There are Eucalyptus trees, orange groves and lemon trees. Caralee told us the crops should be gathered before it snows.

The irrigation wells are approximately 200 feet deep.
The farmers do not use any fertilizer, just return any unsold produce to the land and turn it under. However, through this valley the land looks very rich.

In the cemeteries, it appears they place marble crypts above the ground which are about the size we would use for a vault underground. Each has a cross as the headstone.

There are continuous villages and groves all along from Mycenae to Nauplion.
We passed the ruins of the Acropolis of Tiryns about 16 kilometers from Mycenae on a small mound. Such large stones are used to build the fortification, legend has it Cyclops help build it as well as the walls at Mycenae.
Tiryns was destroyed by fire around 1200 B.C.

We passed by the Castle of Palamidi, built on top of a very high hill. There are 900 steps going up to it. The steps are made into the rock and ever so often, there appears to be something like a landing, a short level place, then another series of steps.
Each series of steps have a covering right straight up resembling a covered bridge.
The castle is so high up, it is hard to visualize the size of it. Lunch was at the Victorian Hotel in Nauplion, which is a peninsula. The ships come right up to the docks for loading. The Port of Nauplion is on the Aegean Sea and exports are products as lemons, oranges, perfumes, ceramics, marble and lime. A Russian Freighter was anchored in the port.

After lunch, we headed for Epidaurus where we visited the most perfect theater in the world due to the acoustics. The Theater is located at the foot of ancient Mt.
Kynortion and is the best-preserved ancient Greek theatre. It was built by Poly-kleitos Junior who was also the architect of the Tholos.
The seats are separated by a girde passage which separates it into a lower and upper area. The lower seats were built first and the upper tiers added later to enlarge the capacity. It has the appearance of an enormous fan from a distance. The orchestra, approximately 10 meters in diameter is circular with a floor of trodden earth. In the center of this area stood an alter to Dionysos. The chorus stood in the orchestra where the actors played their parts.
Behind the orchestra was the long, narrow stage, on a raised level and directly in front of the forestage, which was used for scenery for the various plays. Only plays of Comedy and Tragedy were portrayed in the theatre with the exception of a special presentation by Mario Callas, given just before she died. In the center of the orchestra area is a small disk commemorating honor to the God, Asklepios, the son of Apollo and Koronis, the god of healing. According to Homer, the most ancient literary source, it was learned that Asklepios was a splendid physician. There is quite a legend to Asklepios that he had a serpent as his constant companion, thus the serpent has become a symbol of medicine, the caduces used by the medical profession today. A coin dropped on this disk can be heard even to the highest of the seats in the theatre. The location in the natural cavity in the landscape, the seats being hewn out of rock give this theatre the perfect acoustical effect.

In Classical times, there were hospitals and hotels built all around the area and we would call it a health resort. All this was built in the 4th century B.C. The theatre had a capacity of 14,000 seats. Two large doorways are entrances from either side of the entrance near the forestage, but the wooden doors have been rotted.

As we left Epidaurus, we saw some tobacco growing which looked a lot like our cotton stalks with the leaves near the top. The leaves were longer, however. The road was very narrow and the curves very sharp, luckily, the traffic was light. As we rode toward Corinth we passed through an interesting village with ornate center street lights hanging from what seemed to be the buildings on each side as we would hang Christmas decorations. On each side of each light were curlicue ques with small lights on them also, very fascinating—

We saw people harvesting olives and gathering vegetables. They would spread a large tarpaulin around the olive tree, then use ladders to gather them into baskets.
The cabbages are huge.
The artichokes were not matured yet.

Coming into Corinth from this direction, we were on the same level as the water in the Corinth Canal, however, the highway began to climb steeply before coming into the city. We stopped for another coffee break at 5 o'clock, then back along the sea coast. There is continuous civilization along the way, either villages or homes. We arrived in Athens around 6 o'clock p.m., tired but happy. The visit to Ancient Corinth was inspiring and we felt we had attended Church.
Jan. 31, 1982

Awake about 6 a.m.— couldn't sleep thinking about the luggage and having misplaced the claim sheet. about 7:30, the desk called to say British Airways called and the luggage had arrived—there wouldn't be any problem about not having the claim as by this time, they certainly knew who I was at B.A. Hurriedly, I dressed and took Tassos' taxie to get it. When we got back to the hotel, the whole dining room was full—You have never heard such a cheer as they gave when we pulled in that suitcase.

Daddy is feeling better—I am feeling better—everything is looking up. I was asked when the style show would be held, and I assured them I didn't have that many clothes, just was happy I could wear something different from time to time.

Wendell and Reva Cleveland called about 5:25 p.m.
They were getting ready to go to Sunday School. We really appreciated hearing from them. Then, immediately following, Olive called, she was also getting ready for S.S. and knew the folks at home would be asking how we were—It's been a great day. Fel really dressed up in Olive's black suits all afternoon. Now, it's time for bed.
We are sending these four envelopes by Sally and Bill Fritts from Illinois. They are leaving in the morning—they have lived just across the hall from us and we have enjoyed them. Bill and Daddy came over here with hats alike, except Bill was more bald.
We send our love with these letters, and we don't know if they are proper for printing.
Love to each and all,
Mother and Daddy

RE-ELECT

State Representative FOSTER WHALEY

DEMOCRAT 84TH DISTRICT

Meet the Whaley family...

Left to Right, Wayne, Houston, a 1979 graduate of Texas A&M University; Karlette, a 1982 senior at Texas A&M Univ.; Lois and Foster; Christie, Houston, a 1977 graduate of Texas A&M.

Lois and I have turned down and returned thousands of dollars of unsolicited campaign funds from the Austin and down state special interest groups. We are proud of our children, and want to set a proper example for them. We want no shadows cast on a reputation it takes a lifetime to build.

We've tried hard to meet every citizen possible in this big 12-county district during this campaign. We are sorry if we missed you but hope to meet you in the near future.

Vote for a record—not a promise!

Re-Elect Foster Whaley May 1st Democratic Primary

Pol. Adv. Pd. by Foster Whaley, Rt. 1, Pampa, Texas

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Our children are our future. It is for them that we work to make the world better. We count on them to carry on the good that we do, and to correct the mistakes that we make.

Yet, even though we view the children of this land as its most precious resource, thousands upon thousands are the victims of abuse or neglect.

Up to two million children are abused or neglected each year; five thousand of them will die. These are senseless, needless deaths.

Yet, relatively few cases that do not end in death are ever reported to authorities. Concerned neighbors or relatives may fear retribution if they report a child abuse offense. Often, they merely do not know to whom they should report the situation. Fright or shame keeps many parents who love their children from getting help.

Many times, a parent who abuses or neglects their child was also the victim of child abuse. They and their precious children are caught in a vicious cycle, not knowing where or to whom to turn.

In short, lack of public awareness of the extent and the solutions to child abuse inhibits efforts to stop the mistreatment of our children.

Luckily, many communities have good local programs which seek to protect the victims and prevent repeat offenses. Churches, social agencies, local governments and even individual concerned private citizens pitch in to help.
There are several organizations which exist solely for the parent who is trying to stop their cycle of abuse.

The contribution these types of programs make to the fight against child abuse is to be highly commended. Many times, they have literally stepped in to save a child from further abuse, helped the distraught parent and brought a family together to work on this troubling, frightening problem.

However, more needs to be done. There are many ways in which a private citizen can help. I would urge all of my fellow Texans to look in their own local communities for ways in which they can become involved.

As a means of focusing attention to this severe problem, I am co-sponsoring a bill to designate June 6-12 as National Child Abuse Prevention Week.

Texans are compassionate, and truly care for their fellow citizens. No one among us can accept the abuse of a helpless child. We must care for children who already have had too many shattered hopes, frustrations and disappointments. They must be given the help and guidance to understand why mommy or daddy hurts them, and they must be given the hope for their future so they do not carry-on the abuse cycle.

If we begin now to look for solutions, we may find that many communities can mark National Child Abuse Prevention Week with effective, innovative solutions. But organized efforts are only one means to ending the problem. Each of us must be sensitive to what is happening around us. We must be prepared to reach out and help in any individual situation which confronts us.

Our children are, indeed, our future. We must protect them today for all of their and our tomorrows.

Sarpalius cracks down on drunk drivers

Senator Bill Sarpalius needs support from elected officials and you, the voter, to help pass the proposed bill dealing with drunk drivers.

Some of the points of the bill include dealing with the first offender in a more stern manner to prevent them from becoming second offenders. A first offender will receive a fine of at least $300 up to $1,000. He will receive 72 hours to 2 years in jail and will attend a DWI school and only be allowed to drive for occupational purposes for 90 days. If there is no repeat DWI offense, this will be taken off of his record.

Penalties for a second offense will be a $500 to $2,000 fine, 72 hours to 2 years in jail and 90 days to 6 months suspension of drivers license except for occupational use and they will receive no probation and will have to spend at least 72 hours in jail.

Penalties for a third offense will be a fine of $500 to $2,000, a jail term of 30 days up to 5 years in prison, suspension of drivers license for 6 months to 1 year.

The real thrust of this legislation is that it will allow the first offender to be convicted of DWI in the first place. This will be done by giving the prosecutor the evidence he needs to convict with the use of breath, blood or other scientific tests within the hour of the arrest, use of video camera footage of the defendant after his arrest and to take evidence of refusal to take the test to court.

Ronald McDonald House

Amarillo is the center of medical activities for the Texas Panhandle, Eastern New Mexico and the Oklahoma Panhandle. The Medical Complex with its many diversified services, and now with the Harrington Cancer Center, can provide services here that in recent years were only available in larger metropolitan areas.

Great strides are being made enabling the treatment of seriously ill children in Amarillo; for newborns, cancer, leukemia, heart disease and other serious illnesses and for therapy. Motel accommodations are available, but quality space is minimal. For a long stay it's expensive, it's some distance from the medical treatment center's and it does not lend itself to the emotional needs and understanding of parents, brothers and sisters.

A Ronald McDonald House would give special aid and help to families of children requiring special long term care.

A feasibility study of this area's medical need has been performed by Children's Oncology Services, Inc., a volunteer organization based in Chicago that assists and provides information to communities interested in

THE PEACE OF PRAYER
"Do not worry about anything; but in everything with prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God and the peace of God, which surpasses all human thought, will stand sentinel over your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:6,7.

Paul stresses that we can take everything to God in prayer. There is nothing too great for God's power. Let's make prayer a daily practice in our lives, believing that prayer changes things for the better.

A Message from the Staff and Residents of Medical Center Quality care is... Dedicated Nurses.

A nursing home is only as good as its nurses. And nurses in our nursing home are very, very good. As professionals, they have the knowledge and experience to perceive any symptoms immediately, in order to relate them to the doctor. And as people, they are warm, patient, and understanding. We are not alone in being proud of our nurses. Directors of Nursing in nursing homes across the country feel the same way: "Our young nurses are very idealistic. I think their quality is excellent." "We draw an excellent quality of nurse. I think our nurses are certainly above average." "I think the respect the doctors have for our nurses gives them a lot of satisfaction." These are typical of the responses from Directors of Nursing. But, most importantly, these are typical of the responses we get from our residents. Come and visit. Hear these good words from the people in our nursing home, and you will understand what professional dedication means.
