Spray Now For Worm Free Fruit

There's really no secret to producing peaches which are worm-free at harvest time. But if you want them that way, now is the time to take action.

The insects which produce the worms can be controlled, explains County Agent Ronald Gooch, if a good spray program is carried out. Once the insects get a start and worms get into the peaches nothing can be done.

To do an effective job of controlling peach insects, trees should be sprayed the first time in the pink bud stage (just before bloom) and again when 75 per cent of the petals have fallen from the blooms. Then 10 days later when the shuck splits; then three more spray applications at two-week intervals should follow the shuck-split spraying. This makes a total of six spray applications.

As for the spray, Gooch suggests using malathion or methoxychlor. These materials are readily available from feed and seed stores, drug stores or other firms which handle insecticides.

A control program for one tree in the backyard or many in an orchard is not only feasible but very practical, points out Gooch. For further information on spraying fruit trees, fruit growers can pick up a copy of "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases on Fruits and Nuts", (Leaflet 245) at the local county agent's office. All insecticides should be used in accordance with label instructions and with care.

Vehicle Registration Deadline Tuesday

With the deadline for motor vehicle registration only six days away, a Texas Highway Department spokesman today predicted long last-minute lines and warned motorists of the problems involved in failing to get their license plates in time.

"Registration is going somewhat normally," the Department spokesman said. "The majority of drivers seem to be registering their vehicles the last two weeks."

Motorists have until midnight next Tuesday (April 1) to get their license plates and get them on their vehicles. There can be no extension of the deadline since it is set by law.

What happens if a motorist fails to get his license plates in time? He still must obtain plates and at a 20 per cent increase in fee as a late penalty. If he should drive his vehicle without the new license plates, he can be fined up to $200 for operating a vehicle without current license plates.

Motorists may obtain license plates at the county tax office. State law requires each owner to register his vehicle in the county in which he resides and to present his title as evidence of ownership. Besides the vehicle title, motorist will need last year's registration receipt, current address and correct ZIP code to obtain license plates.

It is more important that the correct residence address appear on 1969 registration records. Texas motor vehicle registration records are being computerized. This will result in greater registration convenience next year.

In 1970, vehicle owners will be mailed a special pre-prepared registration form, which eliminates most of the time-consuming typing by the registration clerk. Motorists will need only to bring the form to the county tax office or registration station, pay the fee and have the form validated with new license numbers.

This will minimize waiting in long lines next year. But to avoid standing in line this year, motorists should obtain their registration plates as quickly as possible.

Pesticides Require Careful Handling

Today is not only the Space Age; it is also the Chemical Age.

The most effective pesticides are often the most toxic and precautions against them the most difficult to enforce.

With the increased use of these highly toxic materials, both at home and in industry, it is essential that we stress safety measures at every opportunity. Listed below are some important State Health Department recommendations to remember when handling and using toxic insecticides.

Follow the instructions on the manufacturer's label to the smallest detail.

Store toxic sprays and dust away from children and irresponsible individuals, as well as livestock, foods and animal feeds.

All regular handlers of phosphorus insecticides should have cholinesterase tests at intervals not greater than 10 days during the periods they are working with the materials.

All applicators should avoid breathing dust, vapors, or spray from the insecticides.

Respirators which meet the specifications of the U. S. Bureau of Mines or Department of Agriculture should be worn when handling or working around highly toxic insecticides.

Freshly laundered protective clothing and gloves should be worn when sprays and dust are being applied.

If toxic insecticides are spilled on the skin or clothing, work should be suspended and the person involved should bathe and change clothes.

Individuals handling toxic insecticides should bathe and change clothes immediately after completing jobs or during an extensive break.

Here's Another Batch From the Grab-Bag

Here, once again, are a few tips and items of interest I never got around to mentioning during 1968.

About 70,000 deer are killed by autos in the U. S. every year. Watch those deer-crossing signs. The life you save may be that of a deer - plus your own!

Reflector tape attached to both sides of the collar of a night-roaming hound could save his life if he should dash across a busy highway.

No matter what you've heard, never treat frostbite by rubbing it with snow or packing it in ice.

Instead, soak the area in warm water or cover it with a warm hand so it will thaw out slowly. Outdoor sports such as shooting are apparently an effective preventive against juvenile delinquency. A prominent juvenile court judge, while presiding over some 45,000 cases during a 20-year period, found that not one of the youngsters involved had a wholesome outdoor hobby. The above would seem to apply to adult delinquents, too. Of the 10,000 inmates of one of our large penitentiaries, less than 2% had ever owned hunting or fishing licenses!

Mrs. W. W. Jones and others and visited Mrs. Richerson at St. Anthony's Hospital. Mrs. Richerson fell and broke her hip and arm.

NEWS FROM

Congressman Bob Price

18th District, Texas

The following is a statement of my position regarding the Congressional pay raises and my efforts to prevent enactment of what I consider unwarranted increases for Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Members, Congressmen, and other high ranking Federal Officials.

The authorization for the proposed increases were included in the Postal Revenue and Federal Pay Act of 1967 which included a three-stage salary increase for civilian Federal employees that was intended to close the so-called "comparability gap" between salaries of private employees and Government workers. Another provision of pay for judges, Administration executives and Members of Congress.

In a roll call vote, I opposed the establishment of the commission but the proposal carried and was enacted into law.

The commission, known as the Kappel Commission, made its report to the President who in turn scaled the recommendations down considerably and submitted them to Congress on January 15, 1969. In accordance with provisions of the Act, the increases became effective after thirty (30) days unless disapproved by Congress.

I and several other Members introduced resolutions to disapprove the increases and to bring the issue to a vote on the House Floor. But the House Rules Committee by a vote of 12-3 refused to send the proposal to the Floor so the House membership had no opportunity to vote at all. The Senate did bring it to a vote but voted against disapproving the pay raises.

I also voted against the resolution to recess Congress from Friday, February 7, to Monday, February 17, during which time the pay increase would become effective. That resolution was offered by the House Democratic majority leader and was objected to by Rep. H. R. Gross, a Republican of Iowa who also opposed the pay raise.

Actually, 199 Members, including myself, voted against establishment of the Kappel Commission on October 11, 1967, when the bill was passed.

On February 4, 1969, I introduced the two resolutions to disapprove the pay increase and bring it to a vote on the House Floor. On February 5, 1969, I voted against the resolution to recess Congress for the period during which the increase would automatically become effective. A total of 125 Members opposed that resolution.

AMERICANS EAT MORE

Americans are using and eating more food yet the number of pounds of food and calories has decreased. This is possible, according to the Extension consumer marketing specialist, chiefly because we eat fewer bulky items such as cereals and more refined products such as frozen orange concentrate and instant coffee.

More processed foods are being used as consumers switched from fresh to processed fruits, vegetables and potato products. They also are using vegetable oil products rather than animal fats.

From nutritional consumption levels, researchers were able to point out deficiencies in the diet as well as the relationship to consumption.

For example, decrease in the amount of ascorbic acid and vitamin A used was blamed on Americans not eating as much potatoes and sweet potatoes.

Americans can choose from a variety of 6,000 foods in fresh, canned, frozen, concentrated, ready mixed or other forms.

Food Takes 18 Per Cent Of Income

Each year, Americans spend less of their incomes on food. In 1960 the average spent was 21 per cent. Today the average is 18 per cent of disposable income.

This varies, according to Labor and Agriculture Department studies, from 12 per cent to families with incomes of $15,000 or more to at least 50 per cent for families with incomes below $1,000.

The per cent of income spent on food has gone down because disposable income has increased faster than food expenditures and prices.

Nearly $1 billion worth of food was consumed on farms where it was produced. Farm families, according to 1960 survey, spent 26 per cent of their income for food, including the value of home-produced foods. This compares with slightly less than 21 per cent for urban families.

The food dollar of a nonfarm family is split up like this: 32 cents for meat, poultry and fish; 16 cents for fruits and vegetables; 15 cents for dairy products; 13 cents for cereal and bakery products; 8 cents for fats and sugars; 5 cents on non-alcoholic beverages; and 11 cents for other foods.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Mahaffey of Amarillo visited Monday with Mrs. Edith Longan.

Your kind expressions of sympathy for our beloved Daddy is gratefully acknowledged and deeply appreciated.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

If there is anything that will start an argument among fishermen it is the color of the lure a bass will strike when it's hungry.

Of course, there still is the old school of anglers who believe that a bass strikes only when it is mad. Perhaps this is true sometimes. But a bass has to eat and he's not mad as often as he's hungry.

Same is true of other fish, too. For instance, there is the lovely rainbow trout. About the only time we see them in Texas is when trout ponds are provided at some of the sport shows. Then the fishermen (usually the youngsters) get 10 minutes time to try to hook them for the price of a half-buck. Usually these trout are brought in from Arkansas or Missouri.

Now comes a new philosophy. Paul McAdams, who spends his winters in Austin, enjoys the coolness and summertime fishing of Livingston, Montana. He comes to Texas in Mid-November then returns to Livingston about mid-April. There he operates a huge trout hatchery and several "catchout" ponds. He stocks these ponds heavily with catchable-size trout, then charges anglers for the fish they land.

When Paul first started he had a problem. He had stocked the ponds well with trout, but the visiting fishermen couldn't tempt them. Anglers would toss flies and spinners into the cool clear waters, then watch the fish disdain them without striking. Finally Paul solved the problem. It was their feeding habits!

His fish had grown fat eating especially prepared food pellets. They knew nothing of natural foods. So, for a solution McAdams turned to his neighbor and friend Dan Bailey, a noted fly tier of the northwest. Bailey made a few samples of lures in pellet form. These they tossed at the trout. And—bang it worked!

Now the fishermen have no trouble catching all the trout they want. So, these trout probably will never have the opportunity to strike a natural bait.

McAdams' trout catchout ponds have proven to be real success for summer tourist business. Many of the 5-million plus tourists through Montana and Wyoming each year have never caught a rainbow. But they can now! And it is quite a thrill for the children.

Cost? It's 10 cents per inch for the trout they catch.

A nearby restaurant will cook the trout, or the tourists can take them to their own campgrounds for fresh-caught trout cooked in the open. Ummmm. Naturally, most of the trout are small... usually about 10 inches long. However, occasionally there is a big one, and that really causes consternation among the anglers.

McAdams calls his place the Jumping Rainbow Ranch, and that is just what it is.

are stocked each season with catchable size trout. So, the visitor can take his choice of fishing one of the streams, where he might catch a fish, or go to one of the commercial ponds, where the catch is certain.

Food Demands Change With Populations

Changes in demand for food are associated with growth in population changes in prices of substitutes and shifts in food preferences.

In the United States, the most important reason for increase in quantity of food demanded from producers is rising population. U. S. population grows about one per cent a year.

Since 1950, demand apparently has increased for beef, veal, poultry, processed fruits and vegetables, vegetable oil products and total sugar and other sweeteners.

The research points out that demand apparently has declined for pork, eggs, all dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables, cereal products and coffee.

A proposal that would permit Texas cities to lend each other police officers in emergencies has gone to a subcommittee of the House Urban Affairs Committee. Rep. Felix McDonald of Edinburg is sponsor of the bill.

A bill backed by chain optometrists (TSO, Lee and others) to limit the state Board of Optometrists' law-making powers has Senate committee approval.

Proposed constitutional amendments to lower the voting age to 18, knock out annual voter registration requirement and grant old folks a $3,000 overall property tax exemption found its way to the Senate calendar.

Houston legislators have offered bills to strengthen the state's open meetings law, to require posting of advance notices of all government agency sessions.

San Antonio Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to divide Texas into two states—North Texas and South Texas.

LEGISLATION ADVANCES—In the sharpest debate of the session, the House passed a tough bill to control disruptive activities on Texas school campuses and sent it to Senate.

Earlier the House approved a long string of bills including creation of a new medical school at San Antonio, changing the name of Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches to Stephen F. Austin State University, and lengthening the minimum time between local sales tax elections from two years to one. Later, representatives passed a law requiring eggs to be labeled as Texas or out-of-state products. A bill to increase city employee retirement benefits was dropped after an amendment excluded the Texas Municipal League staff.

An earlier House showdown was expected on the $3.5 billion water bond constitutional amendment.

Senate voted authority for separate State Commission for Rehabilitation Service to Handicapped, approved a $468,931 emergency appropriation to rebuild the old fire-damaged gymnasium at Southwest Texas State College, changed the name of Corpus Christi State School to Bruce Reagan State School (in honor of former senator), and passed a bill to allow Texans to buy long guns and ammunition in contiguous states.

Both Houses agreed on bills creating a commission to administer the Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Memorial Museum in Fredericksburg, and to designate an Animal Health Commission to prescribe tick-dipping material and regulations.

Governor Smith signed into law a bill by Rep. Bill Clayton dissolving the Earth-Springlake Hospital District.

AG OPINIONS—Although state employees, covered by 1966 amendments to the federal fair labor standards act, have valid claim for overtime pay, the claim does not apply where the worker has been granted compensatory time off the job at time and a half pay. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Other recent opinions concluded that:

Annexation of Briggs Independent School District by Burnet Independent School District is valid.

A card distribution pyramid plan constitutes illegal lottery. Those which make misrepresentations are in violation of the Texas Consumer Credit Code, and those relying on price fixing or exclusive dealing violate the anti-trust act.

Eminent domain power proposed for the State Water Development Board under a new bill would be superior to that of local water districts.

General or perimeter enclosure around tract which surrounds another tract under different ownership and control does not constitute such boundary marker necessary to sustain trespass conviction. Opinion request was prompted by Hardin County hunting club leases.

COURTS SPEAK—Texas Supreme Court invalidated Houston's annexation ordinances of 1962 and 1965 over Pasadena land, and upheld the smaller city's 1965 ordinance taking in 5,000 acres in the same general area.

High Court refused to recognize Amalgamated Transit Union as the bargaining agent for the Dallas Public Transit System. Decision, upholding the intermediate court, said that Dallas is authority in ownership, control and operation of its own bus system.

Court ordered the trial in a medical malpractice suit brought by Leslie Bond against two doctors in Taylor County.

Electrical Supply Corporation of Dallas got a favorable ruling in its suit against Mercantile National Bank for accepting a $21,124 forged check. Court also backed the lower court verdicts favoring Mercantile in its suit claiming Fort Worth National Bank was liable because it endorsed the check first.

APPOINTMENTS—In a surprise move, Governor Smith named former State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer to the State Highway Commission.

Thwarted in one effort to keep down the size of the 1970-71 tax bill by school fund diversion, Gov. Preston Smith took a new approach.

He called on Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to rush an opinion as to whether income from state-owned submerged lands (bays, river banks etc.) can be used for current school spending.

Martin earlier held unconstitutional the governor's plan to get $71.6 million in state land revenue bound for the sacrosanct permanent school fund for educational financing during the next two years. Only investment income from the permanent fund can now be spent.

Smith accepted Martin's original opinion, but noted that revenue from submerged lands was not dedicated to the school fund by constitution but by statute in 1939 and 1941. So, if the Legislature can dedicate money from those oil-rich lands, Smith feels it can "undedicate" as well.

"If 72 and a half per cent of the royalties involved were utilized it would mean approximately $52 million which the taxpayers would not have to produce to meet anticipated revenues needed to finance state government during the coming two years," Smith maintained.

He asked Martin for an early ruling in preparation for a supplemental message the governor will deliver to the Legislature, in which he will spell out alternative sources for the $71.6 million item invalidated by the attorney general's March 3 opinion.

Smith first said he has two alternatives: budget-cutting or a reinforced revenue plan. He decided he didn't have much fat left to trim in his budget and settled on alternative money raisers.

LEGISLATURE ACTS—Legislature finally reached its full complement, with the election of Rep. John H. Poerner of Hondo, a Republican, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rep. D. C. Howard of Uvalde. And the lawmaking process continues.

Legislators have completed action on the workmen's compensation reform bill which raises benefits to injured workers from $35 a week maximum to $49. Measure went to the governor for his signature following House passage 146 to 1. (Senate acted earlier.)

One of the session's most important measures, a proposed constitutional amendment raising the water bond ceiling to $3.5 billion to finance the state's share of the $10 billion Texas water plan, passed the House 131-15 and went to the Senate.

In their liveliest action, both Houses voted out a bill to provide maximum fines of $200 and jail sentences up to six months for disruptive activities on school and college campuses. Bill went to conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Another bill cleared by both Houses would permit Texans to buy rifles, shotguns and ammunition in adjoining states despite the federal gun law. Similar legislation is being considered in other state.

Senate passed a variety of bills including a Texas Meat Inspection Law (which is necessary to prevent federal regulation of meat), a trailer house uniform standards act, a 45-minute daily planning break for school teachers and extension of time for homecoming Vietnam servicemen (90 days after return) to renew their drivers' license.

House approved bills allowing persons between 19 and 21 to be licensed as cab drivers, protecting the rights of developers of new varieties of cotton, and requiring the labeling of eggs as to their state or country of origin.

BILLS INTRODUCED—Legislators kept dropping more and more bills in the House and Senate hoppers, including:

A bill to require telephone companies to maintain a business office in every county seat where it provides telephone service.

Creation of a 50-member Governor's Committee on Human Relations "to recommend programs of action designed and intended to promote and obtain a better understanding and relationship between the various groups."

Establishing a Texas Board of Examiners in the Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids to license and regulate all persons in that business.

Allowing haulers of agricultural products to get a permit to operate without having to prove their service would fit the "public convenience and necessity," which other truckers must show.

Creating the Legislative Modernization Committee to study and improve the legislative process.

Closely regulating when and how and for what purpose state law-enforcement agencies can use electronic eavesdropping or "bugging".

Requiring all elections in Texas to be with the use of voting machines, which the state would furnish but which would be stored and maintained by the counties.

Allowing school districts to increase the length of their school terms from nine to 10 months.

Increasing the penalty for the crimes of rape, armed robbery and murder.

Providing state support for kindergarten programs voluntarily operated by local school districts for five-year-old children.

Requiring door-to-door salesmen to return a customer's money, if the customer demands it within three days after buying something which he did not solicit.

Establishing a Texas presidential primary to replace the existing system of a series of conventions and prorating the state's national-convention delegate votes according to the returns in the primary.

APPOINTMENTS—Former State Rep. Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville was named by Governor Smith to the Texas Liquor Control Board for a short term extending until November 11. He succeeds O. R. Crawford of Jasper who resigned.

Smith named Leslie R. Neal of San Antonio to succeed William E. Berger of Hondo on the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Governor appointed Tommy V. Smith of Austin as Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Governor Smith appointed Dr. Albert B. Spires of Taylor to the State Board of Medical Examiners; James W. Tarngmorton and Daniel J. Bromley Jr. of Port Arthur as branch pilots for Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries.

He reappointed Laurence R. Melton, Dallas, as chairman of the Committee for the Employment of Handicapped.

COURTS SPEAK—Supreme Court listened to arguments of two banks over which bank is entitled to administer $300 million estate of Sarita Kennedy East pending a decision on which will of the South Texas ranch owner is valid. Will contest itself will be heard in Kennedy County district court near Kingsville.

A 19-year-old San Antonio youth his by a taxi while trying to help a girl hurt in a previous traffic mishap, is not entitled to damages awarded him by the trial court, says the High Court.

A merchant seaman seriously injured when he fell on an unsecured plate on a catwalk should recover $4,264 judgment, the Court found.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—To nobody's great surprise, Attorney General Martin declared unconstitutional Governor Smith's proposed diversion of money earmarked to the permanent school fund for current educational spending.

Will bring peace into our life.

They tell us that one third of the people make things happen, one third let things happen, and another third don't care what happens.

Dear God we thank you so much for the blessings we get each day. We thank Thee for Thy Loving Care, And for teaching us to pray.

If we have made someone a bit happier today, then we have planted a tree beside the road of life.

Tis' good to have a dear neighbor. One just across the way, The kind that always listens

To what we have to say.

We tell them when the news is good And also when its worse. We tell them when the harvest's good Or nothing is in our purse.

We so often regret the things we say, but so seldom the things we leave unsaid.

Too many folks spend all their life And never see the good. They see the bad on every hand Just as complainers would.

The Bible is our daily guide To that we know it right. And if we seek its guiding ways We'll keep within the right.

Soil Conservation District News

This is the second article on a series that deals with the uses of the Soil Survey now taking place in Donley County.
John Brown was a good farmer. He knew his land and knew how to make a living off of it. His neighbors respected his judgment on most any farm problem and justly so.
John wanted to expand so he bought another farm one day. One of the first things he did was to plant a field of alfalfa. He prepared, fertilized, and seeded the field just like he had always done. The alfalfa came up, but before long it turned yellow and didn't make a crop.
The alfalfa didn't grow because the soil in that field was wet and sticky right under surface. John knew alfalfa wouldn't grow under these conditions, but he didn't know the soil was like this before he bought the farm.
A Soil Survey would have told John these things about the soil.
The primary purpose for the Soil Survey in Donley County is to provide basic soils information for farmers and ranchers. Almost all of the land in Donley County is privately owned. So it is the landowners that do the actual work and make the decisions of farming. The job of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) is to give these people technical help based on the Soil Survey, among other things.
Good family communications help make a happy family. A family life specialist at Texas A&M, advises family members to listen with a "third ear." The first two ears hear what is being said; the third ear hears what is not being said.

THE LEGISLATIVE LOFT

By Rep. Tom Christian

During the past week it was my pleasure to successfully carry a bill which was written by State Senator Jack Hightower, through the House?

The bill has passed both the Senate and House and now awaits the Governor's signature. It amends the uniform act regulating traffic on highways by allowing the use of tires with protuberances on any vehicle traveling on public highways, providing it doesn't harm the roadway. As the regulation now reads only farm machinery can use such tires.

By amending the present act, Texas is uniform with bordering states that already allow use of the new tire which is designed for ice, snow and other hazardous driving conditions. Thus, the out of state motorist is, under the present law, subject to fine.
Senator Grady Hazlewood's bill, which passed the Senate, establishing a separate Board of Regents for West Texas State University also has passed the House. We were extremely pleased to know other lawmakers throughout the state realized the importance of this bill. The bill now needs Governor Smith's signature.
Although the Tort Claims Act passed the House by a substantial margin, my vote was cast in opposition to the bill. The final vote was 107-39.

Opponents argued that loss of immunity from damage suits could prove expensive to schools, water and other districts, as well as the state, cities and counties. The Texas Plaintiff's Attorneys Association was the main force behind the bill.
Another bill which has my opposition is House Bill 697 relating to licensing of ambulances, ambulance drivers and attendants.
It is my opinion that a bill of this nature will virtually take all the volunteer life out of ambulances by forcing rigid regulations that can't be met in the small communities.
The bill is designed to raise the standards of ambulances, ambulance drivers and attendants. In the small communities, however, the ambulance service is operated on a volunteer basis by people that many times are called out of bed at 3 a.m. to make a 30-mile run.
An amendment will be written and hopefully attached to the bill which will exempt all communities, 25,000 and under.
The Governor's report on education is expected to go before committee this week. It too has my opposition. The primary opposition is against the consolidation of the school districts and the areas of taxation.
According to the report all the land will be placed under one evaluation. The Texas Education Agency will determine a portion of the amount by setting values by a system of spot checking, picking out a piece of land and taxing it.
I would like to solicit your opinions on any legislation.

Plant Pathologist Suggests Controls For MDMV

Control of Johnsongrass in and around your field may be the most means of control of the maize dwarf mosaic virus, says Dr. C. Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M University.
MDMV overwinters in rhizomes of Johnsongrass. As the young shoots emerge in the spring, aphids begin feeding and acquire the virus. They then transmit the virus to susceptible corn and grain sorghum.
Symptoms vary depending upon type host plant and its stage of growth, said Horne. Most plants show a mild chlorotic mottle. Grain does not develop normally in virus infected plants. On corn only a few grains may form on the cob while grain sorghum heads may be practically sterile.
The virus can also be controlled by the use of resistant or tolerant hybrids, noted the pathologist. Some hybrids can tolerate infection quite well, while others are severely damaged. Losses will be dependent upon the percentage of infected plants and upon the susceptibility of the hybrid to the disease.

Children do not "naturally" develop responsibility, according to Extension Family Life Specialist Jennie Kitching. For the most part, children adopt the sense of responsibility which their parents show and encourage.

how do they stand the ritual?

Monday night, Jim Farbush wore a feathered headdress to a boys' meeting with his son.

Tuesday, for the neighborhood backyard cookout, he donned an apron embellished with funny slogans.

At the Wednesday civic-club, he kept things lively ... shaking coins noisily in a coffee can as he assessed fines from derelict members.

Thursday was lodge night. No special rites, so a simple fez sufficed.

Friday? High-school home-coming game. In a coonskin coat, reeking of mothballs, Jim chanted the traditional incantations: "Two, four, six, eight ... who (sic) do we appreciate?"

Saturday chores found him bedecked in a rather gaudy uniform-of-the-day: silky-shiny coveralls in chic burnt-gold hue.

And on Sunday, as he passed his acquaintance, the Episcopal rector, in front of the church, Jim chuckled: "How do those crazy Episcopalians stand all the robes and ritual?"

Maybe you, too, wonder what makes Episcopalians tick. They have some rather interesting thoughts on religion. Your nearby Episcopal minister would be flattered if you'd ask him to discuss them with you ... and he'd likely be the last person in the world to "twist your arm."

Texas Dept. Of Public Welfare New Approach

A new approach in determining needs of families with dependent children will be taken by the Texas Department of Public Welfare on May 1.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Harkney said the new method is a fairer way to spread limited state assistance funds.

The new concept has two chief aims: a more equitable distribution of funds to provide aid where it is most needed, and a revision in the method of budgeting a family's needs.

Caught in a money squeeze, the Welfare Department last September reduced its maximum grant in the program for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) from $135 to $123 a month for a family with four or more children. This tended to hurt most those who could least afford to lose part of their grants.

The new system will eliminate maximum grants in the AFDC program.

Harkney said the department will hold meetings throughout the state this month in an attempt to give community representatives and every AFDC client an opportunity to hear an explanation of the changes.

The new program will mean higher grants for many families, lower grants for many others, and denial of grants to some.

In developing the program, discussions were held in several cities with interested groups, which included representatives of the Office of Economic Opportunity local service agencies, housing authorities, community councils, and legal aid attorneys and recipients of AFDC grants.

The department has 36,125 AFDC families on its rolls, representing 126,540 children.

Budgeting under the new method will make it easier to determine a family's needs, requiring fewer items of information from the applicant. This will relieve caseworkers of much detail, allowing them to spend more time helping families through social services in the areas of education, training, and family life.

The new budgeting method will be used in the department's other assistance programs — aid to the elderly, the blind and the disabled. However, little if any effect will be had on the amounts of present grants in these programs and the current maximum grants in the "adult programs" will be maintained. Because of the fund limitations in the AFDC program, the department's ability to meet needs of families with dependent children will have dropped by May 1 to about 50 per cent.

With removal of maximum grants in the AFDC program, a new method of grant control will be applied. The family budget will determine total recognizable needs. The percentage factor then will be applied, reflecting the extent to which money is available to meet those needs.

As the AFDC case load increases with no additional state money available, the percentage factor will drop. If more funds become available, the percentage will rise.

Studies by the department show that the family which must depend solely upon AFDC grants — those with no income at all — will fare better under the new system. Many families with income would not fare as well; however, they would have as much money to live on as the family without income.

On the other hand, the new system includes provisions to encourage AFDC recipients to work, through certain exemptions on earned income and credit for work related expense. The reduction last fall in AFDC grants resulted from increases in the number of families on the rolls and the failure of Texas voters in November to approve a constitutional amendment raising the state's total welfare ceiling from $60 million to $75 million annually.

The constitutional ceiling on assistance payments limits all four programs — for the elderly, the blind, and the totally disabled as well as for dependent children.

An increase in the ceiling — or its removal — would enable the department to receive more federal matching funds for its assistance programs.

Do Vitamins Insure Good Health?

Is a vitamin a day insurance of good health? Not necessarily. Vitamins are needed for good health, but excessive amounts can be dangerous. When daily food intake is adequate, an Extension nutritionist says you don't need to take vitamin pills.

Individuals differ in the amounts and types of vitamins needed and a doctor can prescribe the type to suit individual needs. A Texas A&M University specialist advises seeing a physician if you feel you need vitamins.

Excess amounts of Vitamins B and C are easily disposed of by the body without harm. However, too much Vitamins A and D can be dangerous because the body has no way of getting rid of excess.

Good food sources of Vitamin A are liver, egg yolk, dark green and yellow vegetables, deep yellow fruits, whole milk, cheddar-type cheese and ice cream. The nutritionist notes that most people do not get enough Vitamin A.

Symptoms of excessive intakes of Vitamin A include fatigue, abdominal discomfort, bone and joint pain, loss of body hair, headaches and yellowing of skin. Excessive Vitamin D leads to nausea, frequent urination and diarrhea. It can also cause weakness and depression, explains Miss Reasonover.

Foods high in Vitamin D are fish liver oils, egg yolks, liver and milk fortified with Vitamin D.

A well-balanced diet is the best insurance for good health, emphasizes the Extension specialist.

Brush Control Program Planned

A new organization has been formed to provide funds for increased research on range improvement and brush invasion of pasture lands, one of the state's major agricultural problems, according to County Agent Ronald Gooch.

The organization, called the Brush Control and Range Improvement Foundation, hopes to obtain 1 cent per acre from each cooperating landowner each year for five years. Money collected will permit more basic research and education on brush control.

Foundation funds will support basic experiments and field trials on the various methods of control. There also will be follow-up studies on range improvement. All such activities will supplement intensive studies already underway at Texas A&M University, Texas Technological College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

John Matthews, prominent Abilene area rancher, is foundation chairman. Bill Donnell of Marathon is vice chairman and Robb Brown of Throckmorton is secretary. The group already is selecting district chairmen and county leaders eventually will be named to organize local efforts.

In announcing the foundation's formation, Gooch said that nearly 82 per cent of Texas range has been invaded by brush. That reduces animal carrying capacity by half or more, he said. Brush also affects the prosperity of many Texas communities that depend on agricultural income.

Gooch said that the program already has the enthusiastic support of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Farmers Union. Until now, no organized effort among stockmen has been developed to help in the attack on brush.
