OLD SETTLERS PICNIC BY LOIS LAIR

The Annual Old Settlers Picnic of Donley County is now held each year in the Lion's Club building on Main St. Hedley on Friday at 2 p.m. during the Cotton Festival which is held on the second weekend of October each year.

I checked the registration book at City Hall and the first year registered was 1931. The first picnic was organized by Aunt Josie Adamson and Mrs. W. I. Raines. Mrs. Oscar Culwell and Mrs. J. B. Masterson came riding up on side saddle. They did recieve an ovation. Also Cal Farley was our M.C. for several years and always brought some good entertainment with him. One I remember was Stuttering Sam.

Now I am told they held a picnic on the Finch Ranch about 1930. Then decided to organize and meet each year. If any one has dates and information, we would appreciate if you send it to Lois Lair, Hedley, TX.

What year did they decide to join with the Hedley Cotton Festival which started in 1952.

the City of Clarendon: the community center is ready to be used!! The Outdoor Entertainment Association of Clarendon Texas proudly announces a dance to be held Saturday, February 6 from 8 p.m. until midnight. The music will be provided by a disc-jockey from Memphis. That is not the sweetest news: there is no charge! A hat will be passed to pay for the DJ, but this is just an "open house" affair so you can see what your hard-working men have been doing this The Outdoor Entertain-

The Community Center Committee will meet in a special meeting next week to establish the rules governing the use of the building. The Outdoor Entertainment Assn. will approve these rules and then the doors are opened to all of us.

ballot slots Friday

There will be three double candidate races in the Democrate Primary election to be held Saturday, May 1st at the designated election sites. The offices with two filing candidates are: County Judge: Billie Christal and Truett Behrens; County Commissioner, Precinct 2, Bob Kidd and Dude Cornell: and Justice of the Peace: Allie Mae Maxie and W.W. Lovelady.

Placement of the candidates on the ballot is important to the election since many uninformed voters will simply select the first name they see without considering any nominee qualifications. That is a fact, sad and dismaying though it may be. Don't be one of those type voters, be informed about your candidate choices and their qualifications.

Drawing for ballot placement will be held Friday. February 5th at 1:30 p.m. in the County Judge's conference room in the courthouse annex building.

Local positions up for grabs

Election time is hard upon us as filing dates have closed Monday for county offices, but Monday was also the first day to file for city, college board of regents, medical center and school board positions.

Long-time resident, Barry Hudson is the new Clarendon Country Club manager. Barry's aunt and uncle, Patty and Willard Hudson, his two sisters, Mrs. Monte McAnear and Becky Hudson and his grandmother who resides in the Medical Center Nursing Home, all welcome him home after his 81/2 year absence from Clarendon.

During that time away, Barry received his BBA from West Texas State University. He put that degree to work in the banking field for awhile and then worked in corporate management and in various other capacities until his decision to return to rural living brought him home.

Barry intends to make Clarendon his permanent home and is living in his Grandmothers house. Hudson is no longer married at the present time, but finds plenty to do to keep him very busy at the Country Club.

We want to change the Club, to turn it into a family oriented atmosphere," Hudson said. There will be more and more planned activities, game nights, things for the kids to do, special dinners, a wild game dinner will be served next fall, "plenty of things that the entire family can come to and enjoy.'

There are over 3000 squre feet of unutilized floor space in the basement. Hudson plans to take this untapped resource area, turn it into a 'soda bar, kids room and recreational area." This will be a place the kids can go when they are tired of swimming in the summer or where they can call their special 'club'' while the folks are on the golf course.

This summer there are 25 or 30 activities planned for the kids and the family.'

Changes other than scheduling of activies include landscape cleaning up and renewal. Repairs of broken fences and faulty construction and general repair are the major projects. "We have gone through 5 gallons of 409 cleaner just cleaning up and we have a long way to go yet," Hudson said rue-

"We also plan to institute a realistice price structure. You will be able to feed the family and enjoy an activity and not go broke." There are not enough things to do in Clarendon for families and youth, but the new management at the Clarendon Country Club intends to remedy that situation. Watch for the development, it may be a family affair.

RON SLOVER

Slover announces

A former congressional candidate, Ron Slover of Amarillo, announced that he will again seek election to Congress. Slover, in a press conference in Amarillo, called for committed and predictable conservative leadership for the 13th Congressional District of Texas. Slover will enter the Repube lican primary.

Slover cited three problem areas for the Republican party in 1982. They were social security, the windfall profits tax bill, and the farm program.

Regarding those issues, he

Beau Boulter, Amarillo attorney and City commissioner, announced for U.S. Congress Wednesday, January 27, 1982. In news conferences in Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Boulter said he felt that the people of the 13th District deserve a representative who reflects their conservative views.

"The 13th Congression District is one of the most conservative in the nation and we deserve a Congressman who will fight for what we believe in. I am a conservative first and a Republican second. I supported Ronald Reagan in the Presidential Primary in 1980, served as Reagan-Bush Chairman for Randall County, worked as Co-Chairman of the Panhandle Residential Inaugural Commitment '80. I can make the needs and convictions of this District known to the Reagan administration.

"I am running for this office because I have the desire to serve and can gain broad-based support as evidenced by the more than 500 petition signatures obtained in just three weeks. I think I am the best candidate because I have the will and the ability to win. I believe that I can further the principles that made America great and made us the leader of the free world. I believe that the only source of real power and justice, at home or abroad, lies in these principles. They alone attract the minds of freedom-loving people and provide a rallying point in troubled times for people everywhere."

remarked that social security must remain solvent in order to meet the retirement and disability needs of those who actually contributed taxes to it. Slover said social security funds should not be used to prop up the welfare system. or be diverted to wasteful programs.

He said the "Windfall Profits Tax" bill, which he described as the "worst piece of legislation ever passed by Congress'', must be totally repealed.

Concerning agriculture, Slover stated that "as producing state Republicans, we must relate to the Republican Administration the realities of agriculture. We cannot continue to pay high costs to produce valuable commodities, in demand throughout the world, then treat farm products as throw aways".

Slover said the Economic Recovery Act of 1981, if Con't P2

He has filed officially as a candidate in the Democratic Primary.

'President Reagan received a nationwide mandate to reverse spending policies which have driven the nation into excessive debt while imposing high taxation on the people," he said. "This is a bipartisan program and I believe it is imperative that Democrats and Republicans work together to restore our economic strength."

At the same time, Hightower pointed out that "I disagree with the disastrous agricultural policies of the Reagan Administration just as I disagreed with the Carter Administration." He also said he will continue to oppose any effort by the administration to reduce Social Security retirement benefits.

Hightower said his experience in local, state and national government, his seniority in Congress and his key committee assignments have enabled him to effectively influence decisions in Washington. He is a ranking member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee which played a central role in reducing government spending this year. He also serves on the appropriations subcommittees for the Agriculture, Commerce, Justice and State Departments and the Judiciary. Hightower listed interest rates, crime, immigration, social security and farm problems among his 1982 priorities.

"One of the keys to bringing down interest rates is to reduce the impending budget deficit in the next few years," he said.

Hightower pledged he "will continue to fight to make the government serve the people and not the other way around."

and not tell but one trusted friend where we were going. "The family can make it for a few days," I said. "Let's not have any destination in mind, go with the wild goose. Leave a general direction-east. Period."

He wasn't comfortable with the idea, but the powers of persuasion, you know.

The third day we got lost somewhere in the piney woods of East Texas. (I still don't know where we were. We took another one of those short cuts.) When we finally did come to a little town it looked like an oasis. A bit rum-dum from being in a car that long we staggered into a restaurant half-starved and more than a little frumpy

"I think we ought to call back and check," he said, as we sat down in a booth. "They could have been looking for us." "Don't worry," I said. "If anything had gone wrong the Highway Patrol would have got us.'

He worried anyway. "We've been too well hidden today for them to find us. I think we should make contact with Louie."

A newspaper flapped slightly in the booth behind Hubby. I raised my head and my eyes locked pupil to pupil with those of a distinguised looking man in horn rimmed glasses. Like the flit of a moth his eyes flew back to the paper.

Oblivious to the man, Hubby said, "Well, I'm glad to be lose from a hot car for a few days. (The airconditioner had gone out on ours.) This looks like a nice little town to hole up in for a few days."

Farmland Maple River Band

There is a quirk in my nature that won't allow a ripe situation like that alone. It is comparable to seeing a dollar in the street and not bending ove to pick it up. "We'll lay low for a few days," I let my voice slip into a low tone.

"There'll be the dickens to pay if anything does go wrong," Hubby continues to fret.

I slit my eyes, glance at our listener. One ear is turned in rapt attention: paper lowered slightly.

'We can serve our time when we have to go back," I

"I don't like the way you look," Hubby says suspiciously. "We have an interested party," I incline my head a "So?"

"So he knows about the Highway Patrol, the hot car and serving time."

"You dummy!" Hubby raised his voice. "Someday you're going to get us in a mess we can't get out of." "Think what a story it will make!" "I don't want to be in the paper!"

'If we can get to Mexico and make contact, think of the loot..."

"LISTEN MA BARKER!" Keep your voice down", I cautioned. "We're not out of the woods yet."

I thought it was all great fun, but Hubby is forever wanting to right things, so when the man started to leave Hubby was going to show him he was really a nice guy. "Sir," he blurted out, "if you're through with your paper I'd like a quick glance at the headlines.."

GTE proposes rate increases again belong to the local rate band which means directory

Telephone services are one of those many things we take for granted...until the bill comes in. We wonder that we could possibly make so many long-distant phone calls, that our average bill could possibly be so high and how on earth can we cut down? But the cost of providing services to customers is going up along with everything else. If GTE were an exception, we would all be blessed. However, since GTE has decided to submit another request for another rate increase to the Public Utilities Commission in Austin, we must sit back and consider why they feel this rate increase is necessary. The increase for one party business phones will jump from $18.30 to $22.00 if the proposal passes. Increase for one party residence phones will go up from $6.95 to $8.30 for those of us in Clarendon. Hedley, Howardwick and numbers for a community of between 1 and 3200 numbers.

"When you take all the new equipment and facilities added statewide between Sept. 30, 1980, the average intrastate investement of $1,031 per customer line, the average cost for each new customer line added to the network is about $2,497,' GTE President E.L. Langley said, "The difference between this figure and the $1,031 on which we are charging rates, multiplied by over 51,000 customer lines added in Texas during the same period, results in a $75 million investement on which we are not earning the return allowed in our last rate

Richard Funk, vicepresident of revenue requirements for GTE explained how the company determines what rates it will seek for particular services in the rate request, taking into consideration the evolving competitive environment. "First, the company determines the level of expense and investement required to meet the customer needs and then determines the level of revenue needed to meet these needs," Funk stated. "We then know how many new dollars are required; in this case, a total of $110 million. We then examine services, other than local basic service, to determine if the rates being charged for these are enough to cover the actual costs of providing the services. If not, we propose new rates for these particular services."

GTE is trying to increase their current long-distance charges as well as begin to charge individuals for "free" services such as directory assistance, pick-up of phones for repair, and paying for newer equipment such as electronic switching services.

To avoid a charge in phone repair, a customer may bring the phone to the service office for repair and avoid the charge of pick-up and return of the faulty phone.

To avoid charges of newer equipment, however, is unavoidable and desirable if you live in an area with such equipment, and the long-distance rates go up regardless of anything you can do except stop calling long-distance.

Directory Assistance, however, is another matter. The proposed rate charge will be 35c for each time you call for a local number, available in your phone book for a number say in Clarendon if you live in Clarendon or Howardwick. If you live in Hedley, the charge would be for numbers in the Hedley prefix only. You will be allowed THREE free calls for directory assistance locally. After that, you will be charged 35c per call for that month.

If you call for directory assistance for a long-distance operator, however, you will not be charged unless you make the directory assistance call and then don't make a long-distance call. If you call for directory assistance long-distance 10 times and make 10 long-distance calls, regardless of which number you call, there will be no charge for the service. If, however, you make 10 directory assistance longdistance calls and make only 5 actual calls, you will be charged 35c for each of the 5 long-distance calls.

If you have any opinion about these charges, the best thing to do would be to call your city alderman and tell him. Each city has the opportunity to voice the city's opinion for or against each utility rate increase proposal. Do more than complain about your utilities, let your utility company know and your city alderman know how you feel.

"I think the voters made it crystal clear last November," Santiesteban said. "that they aren't going to approve a statewide water plan which doesn't show them just what dams, reservoirs, canals and other facilities will be built as well as how much all of this is going to cost and where the money is coming from. Cotton ginning grinds down

There are still a few stragglers bouncing along in the lonely cotton fields, pulling cotton from late-producing stalks, but most of the county has completed this year's disasterous, disappointing cotton picking season. Weather, pests and low market prices all contributed to problems for area cotton producers. Many folks were lucky if they broke even this year, many more are looking at other crops in lieu of cotton for next year.

In spite of the poor market prices and boll worm infestations, the gins reported a slightly higher than last year number of bales brought in to date.

Donley County Farmers Co-Op Assn reported 8067 bales to date, a little below last year. Paymaster Gin in Lelia Lake reported 7000 bales to date, slightly up from last year. West Texas Gin in Hedley reported 5510 bales to date, slightly more than last year. The price of cotton ran from 35c to 48c, considerably lower than last

4-H Leaders-People who

4-H, the youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service in Texas and across the nation, owes much of its success to a dedicated legion of volunteer leaders. They devote their time, energy and resources to support the nation's largest youth organization and its motto--"To make the best better."

Texas boasts some 22,000 volunteer leaders who work closely with county Extension agents in helping about 140,000 youth engage in some 60 different project opportunities and in organizing clubs in virtually every community in the state.

Leaders must take time from their jobs to make sure that the youth and their animals get to the various livestock shows across Texas and help them get their animals ready for the show ring.

The leaders also lead various project groups, teach youth certain subject matter and provide facilities, equipment, supplies, recognition and awards.

ongy haman Tower accepting s applications from Texas Senior Citizens

Senstor John Tower (R-Texas) Thursday, Jan. 28, 1982 announced he is accepting applications from Texas senior citizens who wish to participate in an interm program in his Washington office May 17-21.

The two citizens selected from the applicants will spend a week in Tower's Washington office observing the legislative process, meeting with representatives of departments and agencies, and participating in the operations of a Congressional office. Tower said the interns' demanding schedule of activities will include meetings with various agency, department and committee representatives, and the opportunity to attend committee hearings. Plans also include a private tour of the White House and social activities with the Congressional staff and other interns.

Tower said the applicants should be senior citizens, 65 years of age or older, active in their own communities, spend an average of 15 to 25 days a year supporting various educational programs and activities geared to youth aged 9 to 19. They each contribute an average of $1,000 a year in time and resources because they care about the future of young people.

4-H was born in the early 1900's to teach the latest principles of agriculture to club members, it now provides learning opportunities for youth in all walks of life. giving them a chance to grow and develop to their full potential.

It is a toss-up between who benefits the most from 4-H. the leaders or the youth. One thing is for certain, the bond that ties the leaders and youth together is one that is lasting and golden.

Collins praises state of union message

President Reagan's new federalism means less government and taxes for Americans, according to Collins. Under the federalism approach we could "delegate better to the local areas so many of these functions the Federal Government now controls. What this means is less duplication, fraud and waste in programs like Aid to Families with Dependent Children and food stamps. This will be particularly advantageous to Texas because we don't abuse welfare."

Under the President the increase in government spending has been cut by nearly 50% and the largest tax decrease in history has been implemented, noted Collins. Of key importance was the President's decision not to ask for a tax increase. Collins said the Reagan initiatives will promote savings and investment to create capital, provide millions of jobs and allow businesses to modernize machinery and become more competitive again with foreign produc-"We simply have to get the growth of Federal spending under control. With statistics showing that only 1 in 20 Americans could afford to buy their first home and food costs up almost 300% in the last 15 years, it is clearly time to put the reigns on wasteful Federal spending,"

"We are on the road to economic recovery," said Collins, who stated his unfledging support for getting the Federal bureaucracy off the backs of the working people of America. held on

Alaska No pie in sky

Alaska's Commissionr of Labor, Edmund N. Orbeck. urges that job seekers in other states not come to Alaska unless they have a firm offer of employment. Orbeck says that economic conditions across the country have led many workers to leave their home states to seek employment; and that national publicity concerning proposed construction of the Alaska Highway Gas Pipeline is resulting in large numbers of job seekers coming to Alaska.

"Unfortunately," Orbeck says, "many of these job seekers have based their decision to come North on inaccurate or incomplete information, and find that no jobs are available in Alaska where their limited food and housing dollars disappear at an accelerted rate becasue of the cost-of-living is high."

Colds: Unwelcome Visitors

In winter, many homes are invaded by an unwelcome visitor—the common cold. Although it is described as "common," more than 100 different viruses can be blamed for spreading colds, and about the same number of misconceptions exist about its cause and cure. A cold is a mild upper respiratory viral infection that usually runs its course in 7 to 10 days. Symptoms include nasal congestion and discharge, sore throat, headache and low-grade fever.

Becoming overheated, being in a draft or getting your feet wet do not cause colds. While these factors may lower resistance, only viruses can cause a viral infection.

Because cold viruses are so easily spread, a disposable tissue should be used when sneezing and coughing.

The hands also should be washed frequently. Many of the viruses are contagious on contact (as when hands touch) as well as through breathing contaminated air.

Treating the symptoms of a cold is the best way to survive the discomforts. Otherwise, the body needs a certain amount of time to fight off the infection. Antibiotics generally are not recommended unless a secondary infection occurs.

Other helpful suggestions:

-Drink at least eight glasses of liquids daily to help loosen lung secretions and replace fluids lost because of -Take aspirin or acetaminophen (Tylenol) to relieve general aches and pains and reduce fever. -Use decongestants, antihistamines and cough medicines to ease a stuffy or runny nose and coughing. Multipurpose capsules are of questionable value. -Forget vitamin C as a deterrent to colds. Taking excessive doses of any vitamin can be harmful. -Seek medical attention if fever continues, throat pain increases or white or yellow spots appear on the tonsils or throat

Measles & Rubella-Don't get them

Clarendon Press, Thurs., Feb. 4, 1982

Many people confuse measles and rubella-perhaps because a popular term for rubella is "German measles". This is misleading since rubella is not measles but a different virus, says the Texas Medical Association. Rubella was first identified by doctors in Germany and this is probably why the misleading name "German measles" took hold.

The confusion wouldn't matter if it were not for the fact that both diseases can produce serious complications. Because of these complications, medical authorities urge vaccination against both, ideally at age 15 months.

Before the vaccine became available, measles was an almost inevitable disease of childhood. It lasts about 10 days. At the onset the disease is characterized by a dry scratchy cough, running nose, inflamed eyes and an irregularly elevated temperature. At the end of the first three days the temperature may peak at 104 degrees, at which point a rash will appear. Although the measles rash usually covers the entire body, itching is seldom severe. After another three or four days the rash begins to fade. Complicating pneumonia or ear infections may require antibiotics. The most serious complication of measles is encephalitis, which can be deadly or cause severe brain damage.

Rubella is often so mild a adults may either have forgotten their childhood illness or had an illness which was not recognized as rubella. Many adults, therefore, have naturally acquired immunity against rubella.

The disease usually lasts about three days. A rash often accompanies rubella but may be so faint that it goes unnoticed. It usually causes painful swelling in the glands at the back of the neck disease in both children and adults that there would be no cause for alarm were it not for a tragic exception--the danger of severe physical and mental damage to a pregnant woman's unborn child if she acquires the disease in the early months of pregnancy. Since boys and girls in early childhood are the most common carriers of the infection, most doctors recommend that they be immunized to reduce exposure of mothers-to-be.

Women should be immunized before becoming pregnant, and they must avoid any possibility of pregnancy for two to three months afterwards. While the risk of the vaccine to the unborn baby is not known, it should be avoided.

Young women can be tested for immunity to rubella at the time of their premarital exams or a test can be given during the prenatal examination.

NAUSEA AND VOMITING

Nausea and vomiting can occur by themselves but usually occur together. Nausea is the feeling of the imminent desire to vomit and vomiting is the expulsion of materials of the stomach and intestine through the mouth. Most of us have experienced both nausea and vomiting at several times in our lives.

But why does nausea and vomiting occur? Medical textbooks tell us that vomiting is controlled by two areas of the brain...the chemoreceptor trigger center and the vomiting center. Together, these areas of the brain respond to materials in the blood (including many drugs) and contents of the gastrointestinal tract. When sufficiently stimulated, nausea and then vomiting occurs.

Several medicines are available to reduce or eliminate nausea and vomiting. Antihistamines are expecially valuable in helping to control nausea and vomiting that occur with motion sickness. Cyclizine and dimenhydrinate are available without prescription. The antihistamine hydroxyzine is available only on prescription for oral and injectable use.

Of prescription medicines, the barbiturates are sometimes effective. The phenothiazines of which prochlorperazine is an example are highly effective and widely prescribed.

PHARMACISTS:

It's The Law!

The Texas Legislature has enacted a law that requires you and all other Texas motorists to carry automobile liability insurance beginning January 1, 1982. Bodily injury coverage of at least $10,000 per person and $20,000 for two or more persons per accident must be in force at all times. Property damage coverage must be at least $5,000 per accident.

Failure to maintain the coverages required by this law will result in a fine of at least $75.00 for the first offense and a minimum of at least $200 for any subsequent offense. If you are convicted you may lose your drivers license and motor

After January 1, 1982 law enforcement officers in Texas will ask to see proof of your insurance coverage when investigating a traffic accident or violation. The Department of Public Safety has advised that the following are acceptable forms of this proof:

-Your automobile insurance policy.

-A photocopy of the declarations page of the policy which contains the policy number, limits of liability, term of the policy, etc.

-A special identification card that some insurance companies may provide. Even though many more Texas motorists will purchase and maintain liability insurance coverage as the law requires, hundreds of thousands of motorists will intentionally violate the law and remain uninsured.

For this reason we urge you to continue to carry uninsured/underinsured motorist coverage on your own policy. This important goverage will give you added protection should you be involved in an accident with an uninsured or un-

Roundball Roundup 20-20 entering the second quarter. There, the Brones

By SPENCER HAYES

In a game that neither Clarendon nor Memphis fans will soon forget, Brad Woodman hit the winning shot with one second/remaining as the Clarendon Broncos took the first-half district crown along with a 58-56 triumph over the Memphis Cyclones last Friday.

That win coupled with an 83-47 trouncing of the Shamrock Irish earlier in the week gave Clarendon the title to the first half of the two-part district race. If they win the second half, Clarendon moves undisputed into bidistrict play. If not, they play the second half winner for play off rights.

The Memphis contest, however, was set up at Shamrock, where Brad Thompson and John Braxton boosted the Broncs to an easy win. Thompson had a game and season high 28 points along with twelve rebounds, while Braxton was nothing less than awesome with 23 points and 20 rebounds. Every member of the Bronco team scored while the team shot 52% from the floor and hit 17 of 19 free shots (87%). The Broncs began to dominate in the second quarter, outscoring the Irish 23-11 in taking a 39-21 halftime lead. From there it was all downhill as Clarendon tallied their highests score of the season and upped its season record to 14-4 and 4-0 in district.

That victory brought on Memphis, who was also 4-0 and looking for the first-half crown. This was to be the game that every basketball fan waits a lifetime to see. For this game showed Brad Woodman drive the length of the court in six seconds and hit an eight-foot shot to give the Broncs a come-from-behind win. In the first period, both teams were hot. Each team Lady Bronco basketball By SCOTT NEWLAND What could be better to scored a career high 27 points in a 66 to 56 victory over Shamrock last Tuesday. Shamrock fell behind 12 to 6 in the first quarter, and never came closer than 5 points the rest of the game. Broncs wrapped up the first half title with an impressive victory over the Memphis Cyclonettes. This game was a super team effort, proven by the fact that all but two Lady Brones got into the scoring. Vanessa Callaway totaled 22 points for the winners as she saw most of the action of all the starting five. The Clarendon girls showed good depth with outstanding play from re-serves like Sulynn Ariola, Kristen Walker, Rhonda Butler, Dorothy Braddock and Connie Garman. While some may be look-

Republican in Democrat clothing?

Election day, and those few of us who are registered Republicans line up outside the polls with a sense of futility in our hearts as we face the ticket dominated by Democrat names. Could it be that there is no justice? Is there no hope for the conservative side of the family? Is it really true that folks vote strictly party tickets without regard to race, creed, plat-form or qualifications?

Many folks in Donley County voted for Republican presidents, senators and congressmen in national races: Yet, when you look at the number of registered Republican voters in Donley brought by Mr. Lawrence County, that would mean Neece who is the librarian for that no one save Republicans the Burton Memorial Library voted in the national elechere in Clarendon. Mr. tions. Carpetbaggers slipped into the war devestated south and began to pull the pieces together in a Republican manner, in the shadow of a Republican President, as a result of a Republican war. The Southern Democrats resented it and the idea of Republicans became offensive, to say the least, to voters. Southern Democrat. Southern Aristocrat became synonomous. Therein lies the problem. In spite of the true beliefs an individual may espouse, he is unwilling, and unable, to change party affiliations because of family traditions. Clarendon Republicans are probably stronger than registration numbers show. If some folks ran on a Republican ticket, they could possibly win because of their qualifications, and personality just as surely as if they ran Democrat. There are many responsible voters in this county who, regardless of their Party Affiliations, would vote for the best man (or woman).

Here are a few hints to help you test out that used four-wheeler that's caught your eye.

WITH THE TRUCK ON THE RACK: Grasp a front wheel top and bottom, and try to work it back and forth. More than an eighth of an inch play could mean a kingpin replacement bill. Spin all four wheels with the truck out of gear ... a metal-to-metal sound on any wheel will likely indicate worn or badly adjusted brakes. The muffler and the tailpipe should be sound.

Check the frame for bent, warped, or welded spots . . . and the inside of all the tires for streaks of hydraulic fluid. (These could indicate a leaky wheel cylinder in the

WITH THE TRUCK ON THE GROUND: Pull out the engine oil dipstick and check for grit (a sign of excessive engine wear). Watch, too, for oil with a foamy, grayish appearance. It means that water is present, and that's an almost sure sign of a cracked head or block.

Remove the radiator filler cap and dip in a finger. Oil in the water is just as bad as water in the oil. Look over the cooling system for signs of leaks.

If the pickup has been driven just before your inspection, wait as long as possible before starting it again. You can't tell as much from an engine that's already been warmed up as from one that's started cold.

WITH THE TRUCK RUNNING: As you start the vehicle, listen for any unusual noises from the starter. The engine should idle quietly and smoothly.
With the powerplant still idling, walk around to the exhaust and have someone race the engine. A puff or two of black smoke—caused by carbon—shouldn't be considered to the considered that the consider sidered important. White smoke, on the other hand, probably means the old jalopy needs rings . . . and that can be expensive.

Climb in the cab and let out the clutch. Do you hear a faint (or not so faint) jingle?

If the noise disappears when you let the clutch in, it's a worn ring gear.

Test the lights, turn signals, hand brake, horn, and windshield wipers.

THE TEST DRIVE: Ease into gear and pull away gently. Even with your foot off the throttle, the truck should lug along on the level without bucking and jumping. Apply the brakes. You should not have to pump the pedal.

If you can find a steep hill, drive up it. Then, on the downhill side, in high gear, take your foot off the throttle. If the truck picks up speed, it's probably low on com-DEALING: Your best bet is to buy a one-owner truck from a private party. But if you do find an exceptional machine offered by a dealer, don't hesitate to bargain with the salesperson. Be tough. Drive the price down.

Furthermore, if you can find a truck with an excellent body and running gear, but with a blown engine, it might well be a good buy. Before you make that sort of deal, though, shop around for the necessary parts and have a good mechanic give you an exact estimate of the repair costs. If the total is reasonable, within your budget, and less than you'd have to pay for a secondhand truck in supposedly good condition . . . buy the vehicle!

CABBAGE SEASON is here and the Texas Department of Agriculture food specialists have created a tasty and decorative salad combining Texas cabbage, oranges and pecans.

Citrus Cabbage Salad

- 1 hd. red cabbage sm. hd. green cabbage
- 2 grapefruits 2 oranges
- 1 apple
- 1 C diced celery
- 1 C. pecans 1/2 C. sour cream 1/2 C. mayonnaise

With a small sharp knife, cut leaves around core of red cabbage. Starting from the top, loosen large outer leaves and remove as many as needed to line a salad plate or bowl. Soak leaves in ice water for about an hour so they can be easily shaped. While leaves are soaking, slice cabbage very thinly. Section or dice grapefruit and oranges. Slice unpeeled apple in thin wedges. In a large mixing bowl, toss together grapefruit, oranges, apple, celery, and pecans. In a separate bowl, mix sour cream and mayonnaise. Add only enough sour cream-mayonnaise dressing to salad to moisten. Spoon salad into 'bowl' of red cabbage. Serve immediately. Serves 8.

How much sugar, not what kind, is important

Nutrition-conscious consumers of canned fruits should realize that "sugar is sugar," and that the amount consumed not the form of sugar is what is important, according to a food industry research

"Consumers should buy foods that give them the nutritional value and taste they want, with no more sugar than needed or desired," said Dr. Dee M. Graham, director of central research for Del Monte Corporation.

Scott leaves Hedley

Once in a rare while, a man can fill a mighty big hole n a community, such a big hole that when he leaves, it takes two to fill the vacancy and even then the warmth he has generated is lacking. Vernon Scott, school superintendent at Hedley is just such a man.

Not only is he a large man with a heart as big as all outdoors, but he is generous with his time for the twin communities of Hedley and Quail. He became totally involved with the Lion's Club and has served as President of that highly active organization. Any activity associated to the Lion's International. Vernon Scott devoted his entire attention and purpose to achievement of those goals. In addition to being a Chairman of the Cotton Festival one year, Vernon has been one of the motivating forces behind the scenes both in earnest hard labor, eager eating, and especially telling hearty jokes. The Cotton Festival has benefited from the spirit of communal involvement Scott has helped create.

Scott is the Treasurer of the First Baptist Church in Hedley. He has devoted his life to bringing his family up in the church and being an active member in his church. The Hedley/Quail schools have benefited from the six years Scott has been in charge. He is Chairman of the Scholarship Fund, he is pep-rally qualified, he is willing to be a fat Indian maiden in melodramas for the youth, his participation in any and all school activities has been an example to youth and adults alike.

Since Scott has been in Hedley, there has been a historic consolidation of the two schools, Hedley and Quail. This was done with a smoothness and good fellowship that Scott helped bring about by spreading his balm of Gideon about generously.

There has been some construction and some changes in teachers, but over-all the changes have been for the better and will reflect the spirit of growth Scott encour-

Glendol Holland will have a difficult time without Scott to steer the wagon, but the situation will be handled smoothly and efficiently when Scott leaves this

Scott will report to Highland Park school in Amarillo by March 1st. The family has already found a home in the area. Steve is at WTSU and John at Grayson County, so the boys have already flown the nest and found new

A graduate of Wayland Baptist University, Scott has his BS in social studies and physical education. He later earned his MA in secondary education from Eastern New Mexico University and he is currently doing additional work at WTSU.

We have really enjoyed this community here. Hedley will always be our visits and any time the home. The folks are just like family and it will be really dinner! hard to leave them. But we will be back on the regular basis for Cotton Festivals,

I missed you all last week. Our youngest was a sick little boy last Monday and Tuesday, so Mommy didn't have time for phoning. Chet is better now and back to school this week. The only other newsworthy item at our home, was one of our dogs visited with a porcupine, yes. You guessed it, Daddy was called upon to get the pliers. All went well, she's recovering fine and we're hoping she learned her lesson well.

The Gary Shield's home is making some adjustments. Renee is working at the ASCS office. While at work, Roxanne Shields is keeping the girls, Carrie and Heather. Renee's niece Holly White returned home from tests made in Lubbock. There will be some surgery in the future and they would appreciate everyone's prayers for Holly's good health. Our love to you Holly.

Allene Leathers, our local run-about, has been to Brownwood with her daughter, Katrina and Cherri Brown our Extension agent.

We are so pleased they had a good and safe trip.

know she is better this week.

J.B. and Yvonne Belle McDaniels had a busy and pleasant week last week. They enjoyed lunch with a long time friend of J.B.'s, Woodrow Tacker from Vernon on Thursday. That afternoon J.B.'s niece, Romaine Gauge from Levelland came and they had a lovely visit.

Mrs. R.O. Nelson enjoyed meeting her daughter, Jean Petty, in Amarillo last Wednesday. They enjoyed a visiting and shopping day together.

All the parents that were involved in planning the Halloween and Christmas parties need to meet this next Saturday night to plan further activities. There has been some interest in a Valentine's play or talent show. Your suggestions and ideas are needed. So, come over to the community center at 7:30. Bring sandwiches and chips for your family and join in the fun.

Any questions, call Bruce and Roxanne at 2673 or Gary and Renee at 2035.
